Former AFS Student From Japan Writes

The following letter was received by the Kewaskum AFS Committee from Kumiko Onuma, AFS student from Japan, who spent the 1977-78 school year attending Kewaskum High School:

Dear Kewaskum AFS Committee Members,

I'm sorry for not having written for such a long time. How have all of you been? I hope everyone has been fine. The reason why I haven't written for a long time was partly because I have been very busy preparing for the college entrance exam. But now I don't have to be so busy any more. Because, I finally passed it! I was admitted into Sophia Univ. in Tokyo. As some of you may know, the universities here usually give out entrance exams either in February or in March. But some of them have the special system of taking some students on the recommendation of certain high schools all over Japan ahead of the regular exams. And I was lucky enough to have been recommended by our high school for Sophia University. There were many other students who wanted to get recommendation, but because I have had higher grades than they throughout three years in this school, I was hopefully selected. All the students who were selected in many high schools got together at the University on 9 and 10 of November, and were given an English exam, a composition test, and personal interview. Then about a half of them were admitted into the Univ. I was very delighted when I heard my success. I felt as if all the pressure that had been on my heart was completely taken off.

Right now I am still in high school, since they did not count the year I spent in America. Our graduation will be held on March 1st, 1980, and I will be a college student from next April.

My view towards the world has been quite changed since I came back to Japan, after having spent a whole year in America surrounded by the completely new culture and customs. Since I returned, I have been observing in turn my own country with the just eye. I have read several books written about the differences of customs or characteristics between Japan and other countries, and have seen many TV programs reporting about other countries. My mind has become a sort of cosmopolitan. I have become interested in the world affairs, and came to want to know more about the world. In this respect, the year in America was very beneficial for me. And I'd like to thank you very much again for letting me have such good opportunities and experiences.

Sophia University was founded by the several foreign priests on accordance with their Christianity. And it is famous for its education of foreign languages and international affairs now. I'm going to major in Spanish and International Affairs. I would like to get a job which has something to do with the international cooperation in the future. I will also continue studying English, and am planning to obtain an interpreter's certificate while in college.

I wonder what kind of plans you have for this year's Christmas. The town of Kewaskum must have been all decorated beautifully. When I close my eyes, the sight comes into my mind, and I can even feel its atmosphere—very lively, joyful, and happy! I often remember the wonderful white Christmas I had in Wisconsin.

I heard that Kewaskum is hosting many exchange students this year. I am sure they are all enjoying their year.

Please say hello to them. If any one of you may have a chance to travel across the Pacific, please let me know ahead. You are all always be welcomed to Japan! Please take good care of yourselves, and I wish you all a Merry Christmas and a very happy New Year!!

Love always,
 Kumiko Onuma

MPTI Offers Heating Homes With Wood

Wood as a heating fuel has many advantages. Were the furnace to fail, leaving the pipes in danger of freezing, wood is an attractive hedge against disaster. Fuel transportation costs are cut when wood locally available is burned. Pollution problems are reduced, too, since there's little difference in emissions between wood burned and wood left to rot on the forest floor. When compared with other fuels, wood has almost no sulphur or ash content.

There are also disadvantages.

Wood will never be as convenient to burn as oil or gas. It is bulkier and less efficient. Heating with wood is a part-time, underpaid occupation.

There's no question, though, that money can be saved. Most people who enjoy heating with wood like saving the money, or enjoy the independence it permits them. Wood-burning may become even more attractive as oil prices continue to rise and the technology of wood-burning becomes more advanced.

If you are thinking of burning wood or have already installed a stove or a furnace, or want to get some extra heat out of that fireplace, Moraine Park Technical Institute is offering a practical course in "Heating Homes with Wood." Instruction begins Monday, January 21, at 7:00 p.m. Tuition for the eight week course is $7.00.

Pre-register for "Heating Homes with Wood" by calling 334-3413. All registrations are accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. Course fees are payable the first night.

Our season's total thus far was over 60 inches, well over the season average of 43.3 for the entire winter.

February 2 — About 150 persons, most of them youngsters, attended the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce Milwaukee Brewer Night in the high school cafeteria January 29. The main attraction of the evening was the appearance of the two winning pitchers on the Brewers' pitching staff, aces Mike Caldwell (above, left) and Lary Sorensen (above, right).

June 8 — A shot of a portion of the record 540 Kewaskum area baseball fans that were in attendance on "Kewaskum Night" at the Milwaukee Brewers game on May 31. Co-chairman Dan Filzen, Chamber of Commerce president, said the 540 total was 170 more than attended Kewaskum Night last year and it appears as if the community may be in for another attendance trophy.

July 13 — Regal Ware Inc. won first prize for the float they entered in the Kewaskum Firemen-Legion parade. The annual parade and picnic probably set a new high in attendance and gross receipts. Thousands of persons filled the park Saturday night and Sunday and lined the streets for the parade, which lasted over an hour.

August 24 — Despite rain, the Kewaskum Lions Club Chicken Bar-B-Que, Kettle 20 + 2 foot and bicycle races went off on schedule on Sunday, August 19. The Lions Club served around 1,470 chicken dinners in the newly built permanent shelter. The Kewaskum Historical Society's fifth annual Early Farm Days Exhibit was also held Saturday and Sunday on the west side of the river in the park on Parkview Drive.

June 8 — Only a sophomore, Kewaskum High School's ace runner, Barb Wilson, who won the Girls' State Class B mile last year in 5:22.8, earned her second state championship in as many years on Saturday, June 2, when she ran 2:19.74 to win the 880-yard run in the WIAA State Track Meet at Madison. Participating in three events, Wilson also placed sixth in the mile run this year and her team placed sixth in the mile relay. As a team, Kewaskum tied for 13th place.

June 22 — Kewaskum Village President Bob Danielsen, left, and former Village President Charles Miller cut the ribbon during ceremonies Saturday morning, June 16, marking the official opening of the Kewaskum Kiwanis Community Park. The 34-acre park is the culmination of six years of fund-raising efforts by Kewaskum officials, residents and civic groups. Built at a cost of about $483,000, the park includes a 1.4 acre swimming pond, bathhouse with showers and restrooms, tennis courts, two baseball diamonds, basketball and volleyball courts, playground equipment, wildlife trail and parking for 200 cars.

October 5 — Former village president Charles Miller and his wife Mary, who served on the library board for thirty years, were honored Sunday afternoon, September 30, at "Charlie Miller Day" ceremonies in the Kewaskum High School gym.

B-4-79 Div.

the Kiwanis Club of Kewaskum at the Bar-N Dude Ranch Sunday, September 16, was another fine success. A total of 520 turkeys were taken on the line, pistol, bow and arrow and trap shoots.

September 28 — The Salem United Church of Christ of Wayne will celebrate its 100th anniversary on Sunday, October 14.

November 2 — A second suspicious barn fire within two days last week in the Town of Farmington occurred early Friday morning on the Earl Zimdahl farm at 926 State Highway 84, a short distance east of Boltonville. Firemen and state fire marshals sifted through the ashes but provided no official word on the cause of the blaze but arson was suspected. Boltonville Fire Chief Joe Enright's department had fought a similar barn fire just two days before on a farm only a half mile away at the Donald Mueller farm at the corner of Kohler and Fillmore roads in the Town of Farmington early Wednesday morning. The Zimdahl fire was the fourth in the area within the past month. The two other suspicious fires occurred in the Beechwood area in the Town of Scott. One was at the Floyd Klug farm on Route 1, Kewaskum, three miles east of New Fane, and the other at the LeRoy Muench farm 8/10 of a mile west of Beechwood.

Red Cross Appeals For Disaster Funds

George F. Kasten has been the local chapter's two-week emergency fund drive being launched immediately by the Greater Milwaukee Chapter of the American Red Cross to raise $150,000.

The fund raising goal is the local chapter's quota as part of the national Red Cross effort to raise the $15 million needed between now and the end of its fiscal year, June 30, 1980, to replenish the hurricane drained disaster relief fund.

This is the local chapter's first special fund raising effort since 1969.

Kasten, former chairman of the board of the First Wisconsin Corporation, has headed a number of fund drives in the community, and is a former chairman of the Greater Milwaukee Chapter.

In announcing the fund drive, Kasten said, "Between July 1st and September 30 this year, the Red Cross spent $23 million on 21 national disasters, including hurricanes Frederic and David.

"Locally," Kasten said, "we're concentrating our appeal on the major companies in the Milwaukee area, but will welcome donations from all companies and individuals. The United Way, our primary source of funding for ongoing Red Cross services, has endorsed this special effort."

Of the $23 million committed by Red Cross in July, August and September this year, about $16 million was spent in the aftermath of hurricanes David and Frederic and tropical storm Claudette. Most of the money was spent on direct disaster relief in Florida, Texas, Mississippi, the U.S. Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

Nearly 400,000 people were fed and sheltered in these operations.

The summer and early fall period also saw a series of nearly 20 other disasters including floods, tornadoes and fires. The $23 million committed to this unusual spate of disasters exhausted the Red Cross budget for disaster relief.

Services provided by the American Red Cross in time of disaster are aimed at meeting the emergency needs of victims and providing additional assistance to individual families with urgent and verified disaster-caused programs for which government needs are not available. All assistance is in the form of outright grants. Help to individual families can include food, clothing, essential furnishings, rent and health needs.

THE THRESHOLD THANKS ITS STAFF, COMMUNITY AND SPECIAL FRIENDS

The Threshold wishes to take this opportunity to thank the community and the many people who contributed both money, food or other in-kind services which enabled it to provide its 1979 Christmas program, for those enrolled at its facility.

Our program started with a late morning, free roast beef dinner for our clients, staff, and members of The Threshold Auxiliary. Staff members prepared and served the meal, with the help of auxiliary volunteers and parents. They also washed all of the dishes for the 242 people that were served. Cookies were donated by clients and/or their parents.

At noon we were hosted at West Bend High School auditorium. A very pleasant and artistic, musical Christmas selection ensemble was presented by the joint high schools (East and West) orchestra under the direction of Harold Schneider.

We would also like to thank East High School's "Channel" with assistance of student, Jim Skretney, coordinator of the school's Christmas program for The Threshold. Also Lisa Weber, who made available Christmas cards with the slogan "No fear, Santa will be here!" for the clients. The cards were made at school and all hand signed by the individual representatives of Channel, the student government body of East.

The Threshold Follies this year had the theme of the TV show "Real People." Staff of the various departments "starred" in many zany skits which were very entertaining and well done. Our staff is to be acknowledged for their continued dedication as "Hollywood stars" to make Christmas something extra special for those with whom they daily instruct and train. Chris Albert, Recreational and Leisure Time Therapist coordinated the staff's involvement in the 1979 Christmas program.

Santa (Harry Kiekhaefer, Threshold staff member), arrived to present individual gifts of either jewelry, caps, or gloves to the 160 adult clients. Special thanks to Bob and Carol Steiner, owners of Steiner Electric in West Bend, for the $500.00 cash donation. This enabled us, per their wishes, to purchase the gifts for the 160 adults and eighteen pre-school children. The Steiners have annually, since 1970, donated the funds to purchase gifts for our clients. Many other cash donations from board members, parents, and other interested individuals were again used to defray the cost of the luncheon.

The Blessed Twin Mother Club of West Bend again made knitted mittens for the pre-school children.

Yes, the Christmas Party of 1979 was again a culmination of a happy and joyous year. A something extra made possible, not only with all the contributions from so many at Christmas time, but throughout the year.

1979 was again a year of community response to a concern for those we serve. We are indeed indebted and appreciative to our staff, our board, our donors of sub-contract work, and all those who contributed support, whether in-kind or by cash donations.

May 1980 and the future year be a happy and joyous one. A special thanks and blessing to all of you for your many acts of giving which enabled us to grow so as to provide services, and programs to make life meaningful, productive, and happy for those we serve.

Very truly yours,
Horst D. Wagner

Add Family Fun To 4-H Fine Arts Festival

The "Family Fun" category has been added to the 4-H Music and Drama Festival. The festival, conducted by Washington County 4-H clubs, is planned for April 13 and 20 in the theater of the University of Wisconsin, Washington County Campus, in West Bend.

This year, as for many years, 4-H clubs will be presenting one act plays and musical groups in the festival. Each club can present a one act play of about 15 to 30 minutes and one or more musical talent numbers. The members select and practice their play. They have a dress rehearsal March 28 and 29 and then put the program on for the public April 13 and 20. All of the participants are 4-H members.

With the new family fun category, parents and other members of the 4-H family may participate in the plays and musical ensembles. It could be only one family or it could be several families. It might be several members with only one parent in the group. Any combination of people in 4-H families in addition to the members is possible. A club could have an entry in the family fun category instead of the regular plays and musicals, or it could be in addition to the plays and musicals presented by the members of the club.

The musical and drama committee planning the event felt that the addition of the family fun category would make it possible for some family groups to perform. It will also make it possible for parents or other members of the family to participate with the 4-H members in their plays and musicals. It could be a lot of fun.

More information on this may be gotten from the 4-H office or the local leader of the club or from any member of the 4-H Fine Arts Committee. The members include Diane Bordeaux, Linda Groth, Ann Huffer, Sally Krueger, Marge Slaughter, Cheryl Weinert, Chris Weinert, Dolores Bruni and Tim Indermuehle. The committee is making plans and arrangements for the festival.

Health and Safety Tip

Your Home May Be Hazard to Health

Safe at Home? Not really. In the "safety" of the American home there are more than 4,000,000 disabling injuries and 27,000 accidental deaths every year. They're called "accidents," but many of them could have been prevented.

Appoint yourself a committee of one to do something about accident hazards in your home, the American Medical Association advises. Heading the list of home accidents are four causes — falls, fire, poisoning and suffocation.

Falls produce almost half of the home accidents, mostly in older people. To curb falls, start a family pickup campaign — toys, shoes, newspapers and general litter around the house. Use solid ladders or step stools, not chairs, for climbing. Light up dark and shadowy areas. Clear and salt icy walks and steps in winter. Have stair railings, even for short stairways. Keep stairs clear of all litter. Slip-proof your rugs.

To prevent fires, provide ample ashtrays. Don't smoke in bed, watch candles carefully and make certain fireplace screens fit snugly. Treat the kitchen stove with caution. Blousy sleeves and frilly aprons invite disaster.

Try to avoid, or handle with care, flammable fabrics. Keep children and pets away from the stove area while cooking.

Keep only safety matches in the home. Clean out attics, basements, closets and garages regularly. Discard old newspapers, boxes, clothes and stuffed furniture. Check extension cords for fraying or loose connections and broken insulation. Learn how to replace a fuse, but also find out why it blew. Have furnaces and water heaters checked regularly.

Poisoning is a problem for adults as well as children. Proper labeling is vital in poison prevention, plus making every effort to keep poisons out of the hands and reach of children. Under-the-sink storage areas for detergents and bleaches are an open invitation to youngsters. Carbon monoxide poisoning is an ever-present danger, especially in closed autos with the motor running. Keep one window open. Furnaces and heaters improperly adjusted also can become carbon monoxide sources.

Suffocation is a serious killer for infants and very young children. Sometimes the children will choke on food or some small object. Sometimes they will be smothered in the bedding of a crib. Keep small toys, beads and other such items away from infants. Check the solid food for lumps and foreign objects. Make certain the crib is designed to prevent strangulation.

Price Per Gallon Must Be Posted

"If a Wisconsin service station sells gasoline by the liter, or if the gasoline pump is set to compute the price by half-gallons, state law requires that the price per gallon must be posted on the pump."

So says Robert W. Probst, weights and measures bureau director with the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection, who adds that if a service station has a street sign the price per gallon should always be posted. "This will allow price comparison by motorists," he says.

Under current Wisconsin law, if a service station posts the liter price on a street sign the price per gallon must also be prominently shown. One half gallon prices may not be posted on a street sign.

According to Probst, several Wisconsin service stations are now selling gasoline by the liter. "We expect more stations will use this method, which adds to the computing capability of pumps, as gasoline prices go above $1.00 per gallon," he points out.

Motorists are advised that they can convert liter prices to price per gallon very easily by multiplying the liter price by 3.785.

Probst says that the majority of gasoline pumps in Wisconsin do not have the capability of computing prices above 99.9 cents per gallon.

Congressman
JIM SENSENBRENNER
Reports

The Government, Taxes and Charity

As we conclude another year and another Christmas season, many of us are thinking often of charities and our contributions to them. It is sad that in recent years, voluntary contributions to charities have declined, the blame for which must largely lie with the federal government.

Through changes in income tax laws, Congress unintentionally has reduced tax incentives for charitable giving. Unless that is reversed, the consequences for all of us will be serious. Let's look at the figures.

In 1970, about half of all American taxpayers used the standard deduction in computing their income taxes. By 1977, however, that has increased to three-fourths. In that same period, it is estimated that charitable giving declined by $5 billion as a result of the increased use of the standard deduction.

The expanded use of the standard deduction could prove devastating to the voluntary sector. Without tax incentives, charitable gifts are certain to continue declining, making it more and more difficult for charities to meet the increasing demand for their social services.

Most charitable giving is done altruistically, but tax incentives have helped and have been appropriate. I think we should all be concerned with protecting this sector and the programs it has provided without tax dollars.

If we don't, two things will happen. One, the voluntary sector will die out, eliminating a strong, viable alternative for meeting human needs that has greatly benefitted this country. Two, the social programs supported by charitable giving will most likely have to be taken over by the government and our tax dollars, or their services will be lost to us forever.

It boils down to whether we believe it is right and appropriate for the government to finance, and inevitably to control the content and policies of, these now voluntary programs. If we do not, we had better reverse the trend of recent years and turn back public policy toward a position of support and encouragement for the voluntary sector through reasonable tax incentives.

Winter Driving May Be More Hazardous Due to Salt Shortages

The state department of transportation is concerned that winter travelers will get an unpleasant taste of what driving was like in the "good old days" before winter maintenance was started in the 1930's.

The reason is that many Wisconsin communities have been unable to contract for road salt, while others have only small stockpiles that could be exhausted early in the season. While the state and county highway agencies have signed commitments for salt, they are not certain that suppliers will be able to deliver all that they have promised.

The bottom line, according to G. T. Landsness, chief maintenance engineer for the department, is that motorists are going to have to exercise more caution, anticipate that maintenance may be "spotty," and even reduce non-essential driving if conditions turn out to be as bad as feared.

The situation is expected to be most critical in urban areas, Landsness said. Among those communities which have been unable to find salt supplies at least initially are La Crosse, Wisconsin Rapids, Sun Prairie, Middleton and many others.

Those communities without salt will be forced to try to make do with sand, which may increase traction but does nothing to melt ice. If ice cannot be melted and plowed at intersections, accidents are bound to increase, Landsness said.

The problem is complicated even further by the fact that highway dollars are becoming increasingly scarce due to inflation and declining fuel tax revenues. "Machinery rental agreements just negotiated with the county highway departments for performing winter maintenance on state roads call for a 25 per cent increase," Landsness said. "If snow and ice removal costs exceed the amount budgeted, we will have to cut back even further than we already have," he added.

Landsness said salt contract costs are running 40 to 60 per cent higher for 1980 than last winter.

The department has received a federal highway safety grant to conduct an informational campaign to make drivers aware of the serious problem.

Unplowed snow was cited by police officers as a possible contributing circumstance in accidents involving 16,898 motor vehicles in 1978; of these 35 were involved in fatal accidents and 3,454 in injury accidents, the department reported. The fatality rate per total vehicles involved in accidents is only 1 per 482 vehicles when unplowed snow is reported compared to 1 per 191 vehicles for all conditions.

KHS Girls Win Holiday Tournament at Crandon

The Kewaskum High School girls' varsity basketball team had a new and rewarding experience over the weekend when they traveled north for the Crandon holiday tournament and returned home as winners of the four-team meet.

The girls held an early morning practice Thursday before heading north for the tournament Friday and Saturday nights. Coach Mike Theiler took 11 girls on the trip. They included the regular starters, center Jill Yearling, forwards Sue Russell and Diane Bremser, guards Bobbi Schmidt and Janet Matenaer, and Debbie Schlice, Mary Brenholt, Judy Schoofs, Joan Hanrahan, Linda Larsen and Michelle Rodenkirch.

In their opening game against the northern schools, Kewaskum, which is now 7-1 overall, drew Laona as their first opponent at 8 p.m. Friday. In the 6:30 p.m. contest Tomahawk and Crandon led off the tourney.

The Kewaskum girls' style of play apparently confused their opponents from the north country. They are not used to much full court pressing, which Hartland has used with so much success and with which the Indians held Campbellsport without a shot for the first two minutes in an earlier game.

In their opener with Laona the Kewaskum girls had to come from behind but gained an easy 66-47 victory. The Indians trailed by 10 points early in the second quarter, 18-8, while feeling their opponents out, but by halftime they held a comfortable 38-24 lead.

Top scorers for Kewaskum were Yearling with 16 points, Bremser with 13 and Larsen with 12.

In their second round game Saturday for the championship the Indians faced Crandon, winner over Tomahawk the night before. Again Kewaskum had to come from behind to squeeze out a win by a close 49-47 margin.

Behind by 19-6 at one point in the second quarter, the Indians came to life to close the gap and go ahead at the intermission, 25-24. Kewaskum outscored Crandon in the third period, 17-10, and led by as much as 9 points early in the last quarter before Crandon almost caught up with them in the final going.

The girls appeared tired in the first quarter from a lack of sleep, while staying over in homes of Crandon players the night before.

The Indians' youngest players, freshman Larsen with 17 points, and sophomore Yearling with 16, led the way to the victory. Larsen also grabbed 12 rebounds and played a super game. Yearling had 8 of her points in the second quarter.

Getting back to conference action this Friday, Kewaskum travels to Hartland to take on the unbeaten and highly rated Scenic Moraine leaders.

Seeing IS Believing

On the front of every Volcano is an inspection port with a swing away cover, through which the observer sees a sheet of bright orange & blue flame sweeping over and around wide, flat steel surfaces of hollow crossflow baffles. He sees the heart of the Volcano, and the significant difference that makes it the most sophisticated wood burner in the world.

This sheet of flame (gases burning in the secondary combustion chamber) superheats room-heating, fan-forced air ducted around the firebox and through the hollow baffles.

1. A precisely controlled volume of combustion air is pre-treated and ducted evenly through the primary firebox.
2. A sheet of flame is introduced to the secondary firebox to pre-heat incoming gases in a super-hot flame.
3. Sweeping, little, fan-like fins out the chimney.
4. A fan near the floor is fan-forced.
5. Through hot air jacket & hollow baffles and exhausted into room or into hot air system.

This intense secondary burn, observable and fascinating to watch on every Volcano, demonstrates Volcano's lead in woodfiring technology.

When hooked to forced air or hot water systems (hydronic models available), the Volcano literally provides all the heat a homeowner needs with measurably less wood consumption than even the most modern of competitor stoves. Inside, the Volcano is as new as tomorrow, with the outward appearance of the Quaker Box Stove of yesteryear.
