St. John of God Church Complex Added to National Historic Register

St. John of God Catholic Church complex near Kewaskum has been added to the National Register of Historic Places. It is located on County Trunk H east of Kewaskum.

The complex is set in rolling open countryside near the northern unit of the Kettle Moraine State Forest. All structures on the property date from the 19th century and are little altered, although the convent and school are severely decayed.

According to the State Historical Society of Wisconsin St. John's buildings are significant to the history of the Boltonville area as historical remnants of the Irish agricultural settlement that became established there in the mid-19th century. Their history is an interesting example of parochial and public cooperation in providing the children of a pioneer era with an education.

The convent and school buildings are architecturally significant as examples of pioneer architecture using indigenous materials. The church building is interesting as a good example of rural 19th century small church architecture, using locally made cream-colored brick. The combination of the church, cemetery, convent, and school on a single property, all retaining their essential historical integrity without modern intrusions increases the historical value of this entire property.

Properties and areas of historical, architectural and archaeological significance may be listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Once listed, they are eligible to receive federal matching grants for rehabilitation, and are protected from federally assisted or permitted projects. Commercial properties listed on the National Register may be eligible to receive income tax benefits under the Tax Reform Act of 1976.

Wisconsin properties are nominated to the National register through the Historic Preservation Division of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin. Persons interested in the program should write to the Historic Preservation Division, State Historical Society of Wisconsin, 816 State Street, Madison 53706, or call (608) 262-1339. The Division also has available lists of current National Register properties in Wisconsin.

Several historic sites in Wisconsin have been added to the National Register of Historic Places, according to Richard A. Erney, State Historical Preservation Officer and Director of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin. This brings Wisconsin's total entries to 439.

Board of Education Supports Charging Some Student Fees

By Dan Meilahn
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Board of Education at Monday night's meeting supported charging some student fees within certain categories but unanimously rejected charging a general instructional fee for supplies and books.

Superintendent of Schools, Floyd Brenholt, wished to have the board members "philosophically" assert if they wanted to charge fees. There was only discussion and general agreement that only certain types of fees may be charged before any specific recommendations of dollar amounts may be made to the board for future official action.

The board did agree that fees for products that the students buy, like athletic tickets and yearbooks, are acceptable.

They also agreed that an excess cost fee was feasible. Here only excess cost for consumable supplies, not equipment or apparatus, could be charged. Brenholt noted that at the high school level, the average cost of a course is $10 per student per year when supplies only are considered.

Some examples of course costs are: graphic arts - $22.50; foods - $21.81; chemistry - $15.12; business ed. courses - $3.00; art courses - about $11.00; and chorus - $16.82.

Brenholt said that only charges in excess of the $10 here might be considered or a maximum of a $7 fee per course. Mainly electives would involve fees, as basic courses generally do not involve as many supplies. The board requested a

Blood Unit Coming Feb. 26

On Tuesday, February 26, the Milwaukee Blood Mobile Unit will be at the Kewaskum High School gym (old) between the hours of 1:30 and 6:30 p.m. All past donors who have been donating on a regular basis will be sent reminder cards. New donors, walk in at your convenience. Co-chairmen Mrs. Sandy Rimmel 626-2210 and Mrs. Gloria Rodenkirch 626-4021 will be glad to answer any questions that new donors may have.

You may donate at age 17 if your parent or guardian signs a consent form which will be available at the school. If you are 18 or older, you can make your own decision to give. You may donate to age 66 if you have been a regular donor (at least one a year); if not a regular donor, then to age 60. You may donate once every 10 weeks, or five times per year.

Although most people have blood to share, many are not donors because they have not experienced the need for blood or they are apprehensive about the needle. However, millions of individuals are living today because of donors who have overcome their fears and realize the importance of giving blood. Blood donors are special people. In the past three local blood drives, the number of donors has lessened somewhat, but the demand for blood has increased. Make a date with your local blood bank now. Don't wait — donate!

PEACE CHURCH POTLUCK DINNER DATE CHANGED

School Meeting

breakdown of costs in each area to know the specific "excesses."

The board members for the most part opposed charging a general fee, since they felt the school's business was public education and a charge for this would be unfair. Ironically, most surrounding communities charge a general fee, even at the elementary level. Kewaskum has never done this.

The board also endorsed possible project fees for items that are created in art or industrial arts classes and taken home.

A towel fee was generally favored by the board.

Behind-the-wheel drivers' education training was another area that board members had no qualms about increasing the fee. Presently the charge is $5.00.

A fee or charge for using school equipment, particularly expensive band instruments, was also acceptable to the board.

The board did not accept the notion of fees for rental of uniforms.

At most, the fees would bring in about $6,000 to $8,000 for the district.

Kewaskum Education Association President Bob Getter pointed out that it was mainly the good students who took the electives and were in extracurricular activities. He felt that these families could really get "socked," and students might have to decide against certain beneficial courses or extracurricular activities.

Board member Jean Goeden, in a quick calculation, determined that her own family might have to pay $181.00 in fees.

Several summer school programs were once again approved: Behind-the-wheel and classroom drivers' ed.; summer band to keep the musicians in tune; kindergarten screening; and agriculture programs involving farm visits and county fair projects.

Board member and veterinarian Charles Ogi noticed that some animals from the ag program that appeared at the fair seemed either overweight or underweight. High School Principal Clark Pearson was asked to investigate the procedure for checking out the animals that go to the fair.

Ogi also suggested the possibility of an anti-drug program within the schools. He wished to have the principals report on any present drug situation.

Ogi observed that "... we're probably better than a lot of schools," but he wished to bring the subject more into the open and "... not pretend like it doesn't exist, because it does exist."

He wished to have someone, possibly from Washington County, speak at the next board meeting so that there might be more parental involvement and legal cooperation in the matter.

Heroism Awards To Be Presented By Sheriff

It was announced this week that Sherriff Clarence A. Schwartz and Gary Carpenter, President, Washington County Deputy Sheriff's Association, will be presenting eight awards to citizens who were nominated for having displayed acts of heroism during 1979.

The awards will be presented at the Washington County Bar Association dinner meeting, being held at the Washington House Hotel at 6:00 p.m. on February 19.

Seven of the awards will be presented as a result of the fatal car-truck accident on June 4, 1979, on US 45 near Mile View Road which claimed the life of six-year-old Travis White, son of Bruce White, Rt. 1, Eden, who was the operator of the vehicle struck by the trailer being towed behind the gravel truck. The White boy died as a result of burns suffered in this flaming accident.

The award recipients aided in the rescue of Bruce White and one-year-old April White, also occupants of the car, with Travis White, in spite of fire enveloping the car.

Another recipient of the award is a Menomonee Falls High School teacher. Her quick thinking saved the life of a 19-year-old Milwaukee man from drowning in Friess Lake, Town of Richfield, on June 20, 1979.

Sheriff Schwartz stated that many life-saving acts occur each year. Unfortunately, not all are brought to our attention. The rescuers at the White accident were nominated by the two Washington County Sheriff's Department Deputies who arrived on the scene.

The teacher who rescued the swimmer was recommended by a resident of the Friess Lake area who witnessed the heroic act. The facts of this incident were verified by Sheriff's Deputies investigating the near-drowning.

A drunk seated near a man and his wife at a bar suddenly came forth with a tremendous burp. "How dare you belch before my wife?" demanded the husband angrily. "A thousand pardons, sir," said the drunk. "I didn't know it was the madam's turn."

Farmington Pupils Filling Red Cross Friendship Boxes

The Red Cross is sponsoring a program involving elementary school children's participation. The students at Farmington Elementary School are filling Friendship Boxes with items that will be of use to other boys and girls in our country and throughout the world.

Locally, boys and girls in schools may use friendship boxes in children's homes and hospitals, disaster shelters where children are victims, or in special group situations, such as at disadvantaged area day care centers.

Internationally, the boxes serve as tokens of friendship from American boys and girls to children all over the world. They are sent through the Red Cross to be used as kits for children who have been affected by some natural disaster, school boxes for boys and girls in places where school supplies are scarce, or as aids to develop and strengthen the societies' youth membership.

The West Bend Chapter American Red Cross has empty cardboard Friendship Boxes for interested schools, clubs and other organizations to participate in the program. Some suggestions of items favored for various regions of the world are as follows:

-In the Near East & Europe: educational and health articles, training games and small toys, and a personal item, such as a homemade article, snapshot of himself or classroom, etc.

-In Asia: educational and health articles, toothpaste, small games, such as jacks (with instructions) and pictures, craft materials, colored pencils.

-In Latin America: educational and health articles, toys, and a personal gift.

-In Africa and Pacific Ocean Trust Territories: health and educational items, toys skipping rope, small rubber ball.

Filing the Friendship Box for another child in a faraway place is a heart-warming experience. For more information, please contact the Red Cross Office, 334-5687.

Woman's Club Has Program On Philippines

The Kewaskum Woman's Club met February 9 at the Peace Church. Mrs. Leo Lange, Campbellport, presented a fascinating lecture and slide travelogue on her visit to the Philippines. Her family had been the AFS host family, both in 1963 and 1969, to Jose' and Ike from the Philippine Islands. She skillfully wove her personal comments and stories along with telling the history and customs of the Philippines. She visited in the homes of both former students.

One of the things that made a lasting impression on Mrs. Lange was the desolation of our old army barracks and installations from World War II. On the other hand, she has many pleasant memories of a marvelously warm hospitable people, beautiful gardens, and wonderful restaurants. Because of being surrounded by water, they eat a lot of fish.

She stressed that the Philippines is a land of contrasts. The very modern on the one hand, and the primitive on the other. For example, there are beautiful homes (with yard boys and maids) across the street from open drainage ditches.

The lack of water amazed Mrs. Lange. The homes that have plumbing seldom have running water. The faucets just don't work. She never really found out if this was because of faulty installation or lack of water pressure.

They still wash clothes by slapping them against rocks and drying them on the grass.

Mrs. Lange also showed many lovely things she brought back from her visit.

Mrs. Phyllis Bade, president, reminded the club that election of officers will take place at the meeting on March 8. The program will be given by Kewaskum's AFS students. Bassma Marji is from Amman, Jordan, and Mirjam Sibbel is from Zaandam, in the Netherlands.

The Library Discussion Group will meet at the Kewaskum Library at 9:30 on Tuesday, February 19. We welcome anyone who would like to join us for these monthly discussions.

from Tom Leitzke, R.P.H.

The American Medical Assoc. estimates 250,000 products used in the home are potentially harmful. In a recent year there were 60,000 cases of accidental poisoning of children by chemicals resulting in the deaths of 1000 children under 5 years of age. For example, chemicals used to clean out sinks and drains are clearly labelled as poisonous, yet they seem to get into food and are ingested, requiring expensive medical aid.

Keep poisonous substances to a very minimum in the home--lock them away from children--get rid of them when not needed.

The year 1905 will be notable for having 53 Sundays. The year began on Sunday and will end on Sunday. Some one has said that this will not occur again for 110 years.

August Staeger of Boltonville has been making a snow shovel to be fastened at the back of a sleigh. It works to perfection but too bad it can't go ahead of the team.

The Kewaskum Merchants basketball team defeated Spatz Miller's New Gang of basketballers by a score of 21 to 28, at the High School gym last Sunday afternoon, February 9. Had it not been for the sensational basket shooting of Ralph Kohn, star center for the locals, who made four consecutive field goals from the center of the gym, our boys would probably have met defeat.

The marriage of Frank Kreutzer of the Town of Kewaskum, to Miss Augusta Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Schmidt of Forest Lake, took place on February 12.

Luscious Cherries—They're Not Just for Dessert Anymore!

A long-time favorite for festive desserts, bright, delicious cherries can now perk up an otherwise ho-hum breakfast or ordinary brunch menu. What a lovely sight to behold—rich, red cherries crowning hot, cinnamon waffles topped with whipped cream. So tempting...and so delicious.

Next time you want to create something really special for early or mid-morning appetites, serve scrumptious, picture-perfect cherries and sweetly-spiced waffles. Add your family or friends (or both!) and you have the makings of a truly gala event.

|-------------------------------------|---|
| 1-3/4 cups sifted all purpose flour | 1-3/4 cups milk |
| 3 teaspoons baking powder | 2 egg yolks |
| 2 tablespoons sugar | 1/4 cup butter, melted |
| 1 teaspoon cinnamon | 2 egg whites |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | Whipped cream or whipped topping |
| | 1-pound, 5-ounce can cherry pie or cherry fruit filling |

Sift together dry ingredients. Beat together milk, egg yolks and butter; stir into dry ingredients. Beat egg whites to soft peaks; fold into batter. Bake. Makes 8, 4-1/2-inch square waffles. In a double boiler, heat cherry filling and serve over waffles topped with whipped cream.

Gas Saving Tips

Your car can't get its best gas mileage if it's sputtering, missing and running roughly because it's out of tune. Keep your car in peak operating condition urges Donald Woodruff, Executive Director of the Wisconsin Division of Tourism, and you'll help conserve gas and lower your fuel bills.

Did you know one worn spark plug reduces your mileage 7% at 55 miles per hour? Two plugs misfiring will reduce your mileage by a whopping 20%. Too high an idle speed simply eats gas when you're idling or coasting; have your idle speed set as low as possible.

A regular tune-up can save your fuel money and reduce engine wear. Here's what should be done:

- install new spark plugs, ignition points and condenser,
- inspect the choke for proper operation, a sticky one wastes your gasoline,
- set the timing to the manufacturer's specifications,
- replace the air and fuel filter elements,
- check for fuel leaks at carburetor, fuel pump, gas line and gas tank,
- check radiator thermostat, if it's defective it will increase fuel consumption,
- check the ignition advance mechanism (mechanical and vacuum types),

--check electrical ignition circuits and connections for voltage drop and resistance, then clean, tighten and replace as necessary,

--check the exhaust system for blockage (you should also do this as a safety precaution).

Keep your car in tune, and keep your gas bill in the black.

Feb. 10-16 Vocational Education Week

"Know How--Vocational Education Serves the Nation," is the theme for this year's Vocational Education Week. The week of February 10-16, has been proclaimed National Vocational Education Week, and Governor Lee Dreyfus recently signed a similar proclamation naming the same week as Wisconsin Vocational Education Week.

During this week, many of Wisconsin's Vocational Technical and Adult Education campuses will be scheduling activities for the public.

The purpose of these public displays and open houses is to emphasize the importance and self-satisfaction of learning skills taught through Vocational and Technical Education.

Dr. Robert P. Sorensen, State Director of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education, said:

"The growth of Vocational-Technical Education in this state has been excellent. More than ever, Wisconsin residents have come to realize the value of Vocational-Technical Education in shaping the future. The real challenge for us as educators is to maintain excellence in our Vocational Program offerings."

In urging people to learn more about Vocational Education, Dr. Sorensen pointed to a clear message from state business and industry leaders.

"The supply of skilled workers must be maintained," Sorensen said.

"It is the responsibility of Vocational Education to provide that supply to and for Wisconsin business and industry."

State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Barbara Thompson, has announced that many state high schools having vocational programs will be scheduling events.

Vocational-Technical students and educators throughout Wisconsin will be planning activities during the week of Vocational Education Week and Dr. Sorensen joined Dr. Thompson in urging all state citizens to contact either their community high school guidance counselors or their local Vocational, Technical and Adult Education campus for details.

Hanaway Co-Sponsors Bill to Exempt From Taxes First $1,000 of Income From Savings

Legislation that would encourage Wisconsin residents to save has been among the first bills introduced this year in the Wisconsin State Senate, according to Senator Don Hanaway, R-De Pere, a co-sponsor of the measure.

The bill (SB 489) would exempt, from state income taxes, the first $1,000 of income from any savings account, deposit account or time deposit at any bank, credit union or savings and loan association. The measure, which needs approval in both the Senate and Assembly along with the Governor's signature to become law, would be effective this year.

Senator Hanaway said the measure would encourage state families to save a portion of their earnings because the income gained from savings would be tax free up to the first thousand dollars. "Low and middle income families would realize the tax advantage would be money in their pocket and certainly would be encouraged to save," he continued. "Today with interest earnings taxable and a soaring inflation rate, there is little incentive to make a concerted effort to save and that in turn has created higher borrowing interest rates."

Senator Hanaway pointed out the savings would make more funds available to financial institutions for both short- and long-term loans as customers could more readily borrow money for major purchases.

"This is an area where the state can play a role in encouraging citizens to save for the future and effect a reduction in our high mortgage interest rates. I believe it is a move in the right direction," Senator Hanaway concluded.

While the tax exemption would apply only to state income taxes, Senator Hanaway said Congress has discussed a possible federal income tax exemption of $250 interest gained from savings. There presently is a $100 exemption for stock dividends earned.

Public hearings on SB 489 are expected to be scheduled early in the upcoming 1980 legislative session.

The AMA points out that contrary to popular belief, shaving does not affect the texture, color or rate of hair growth.

Brownies Enjoy Skating Party

On Saturday, February 2, Brownie Troop No. 222 from Wayne had a skating and sledding party. It was held at the home of Sheila Susen, one of the girls in the troop. The sun was shining, the ice was perfect for skating and there was enough snow (believe it or not) so they could go sledding, too!

Afterwards Mrs. Susen served hot chocolate and cupcakes and popcorn. The girls had time for a songfest, and a friend of the Susen's even did magic tricks for the girls.

The leaders and girls would like to express their appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Susen for making the day a wonderful experience.

Fitted Window Coverings Can Reduce Cold Air

Chilling drafts are caused when room air contacts cold surfaces and flows downward. This circulates the cooled air through the room and brings yet more warm air into contact with cold surface. Windows will be the coldest surfaces in your home and therefore are the greatest cause of drafts.

Use of well-designed or adapted window coverings can reduce this problem. Window treatments which separate and seal the traditional double pane window from the home's air, moisture and occupants are highly recommended. The seal is the most important factor in designing to save heat.

For example, consider conventional, loose draperies hung away from the window and open about 3" on the top and bottom. They offer almost no energy savings. While these drapes may increase comfort by screening you from the cold glass surface, they increase the movement of the air in the room. A chimney effect is created as cooled air falls to the floor and warm air near the ceiling rises in to replace it. This actually increases the rate at which the room air is cooled beyond what it would be if there were no drapes at all.

These same draperies can be modified to make an effective barrier to heat loss. Hang shades and draperies as close to the window as possible, and seal them to the frame at the sides and bottom. Cold air doesn't rise, so it has a hard time escaping over the top.

A good seal is easily accomplished by mounting the shade or drape within the window frame. Or, you may want to consider building a frame or box around the window. This extends the options available for mounting and storing a variety of window treatments and adds a touch of architectural character to the room.

The bottom of drapes can be sealed against the sill by a close friction fit or by using velcro tape, snaps, magnetic tape, upholstery snap tape, weights, or ties. A cloth tube filled with sand could also be constructed for a bottom seal.

Draperies can usually be tacked right to the edge of the trim and a large overlap at the center seam can form an effective friction fit.

Improve shades performance by hanging them inside the window frame and pulling them down so the bottoms rest on the sill. Products should soon be on the market which will act as a channel for the shade to travel in, thus sealing the edges. The top can be sealed by attaching a semi-flexible material across the top of the window with the riding on the shade.

4-H Home and Family Projects Help Parents, Youth Share

Over three-fourths of 4-H members and parents surveyed recently said that 4-H helps a family do more things together.

Thirty-one counties were included in a random study to identify the strengths and the areas for program development or improvement in the 4-H Home and Family projects and 4-H in general. The 4-H Home and Family Projects are Clothing, Foods and Nutrition, Food Preservation, Child Development, Crocheting and Knitting.

The data is still being analyzed. It will probably provide the basis for future state-wide planning. Information of this kind improves leader and agent training and helps choose directions for the Home and Family projects and literature.

Approximately one hundred older 4-H members and two hundred parents of 4-H'ers of all ages took part in the survey. They evaluated the lifeskills they or their child had learned in the Home and Family projects. They told where they get their information and estimated their level of participation.

Nearly all the members pooled said they put to use the information they learned through the Home and Family projects.

In addition to gaining information about the home, nearly all the 4-H'ers saw 4-H as a way to increase their social skills. They mentioned skills such as getting along better with others, making new friends and developing leadership. Also, most felt 4-H increased their self worth, helped develop responsibility and independence, and helped them gain skills for living.

Parents of younger members said their children showed considerable progress. However, parents of older members generally saw greater development and learning over their child's complete 4-H experience than did parents of younger members. It appears that 4-H can be a continuing learning experience for a period of years.

4-H is a program of the University of Wisconsin-Extension. It provides literature, programs, and other resources for parents and other adults so they could help their children learn things that are important to them.

Flu Season Precautions

With winter and the flu season now upon us, State Medical Society of Wisconsin joins the State Division of Health in recommending annual immunization against flu for the chronically ill and older persons.

Flu vaccine is advised for persons with diabetes and other metabolic disorders, diseases of the heart, lungs, and kidneys, anemia, cancer, or any other condition which lowers the body's resistance to the flu virus.

The real worry comes when flu leads to possibly fatal complications, primarily pneumonia. Because flu deaths occur mostly among older persons, those over 65 should also be immunized.

There are two basic types of flu prevalent in Wisconsin: Type A and Type B. Besides causing widespread epidemics, they have the unique ability to change their chemical make-up almost yearly. The degree of change in a virus effects the type and severity of the epidemic.

Natural immunity to a particular virus is built up by exposure to it, giving protection when the same virus (or a similar one) shows up a few years later. However, about every decade when a virus undergoes a change such that its basic chemical properties are greatly altered, existing immunity (and existing vaccines) no longer protect against the changed virus.

The vaccine offered this year will protect against both the Type A and B flu viruses expected to occur in the United States.

Since flu vaccine is made with killed virus, it will not produce flu in the recipient, although mild flu-like symptoms—fever, fatigue, and muscle pain—may be felt by 1 person in 100 receiving vaccine. Symptoms appear about 6-12 hours after immunization and last about a day or two. Rarely, welts and redness may appear around the immunization site.

A flu shot may not work if you become infected right after receiving it, since it takes about two weeks for the vaccine to generate effective immunity against the flu bug.

The immunity from the shot will last about 1 year—less in children because they have no natural immunity to boost.

The flu virus is transmitted by direct contact with an infected person or is airborne in crowded buses, dorms, theaters, etc. The period of incubation is short—usually 24-72 hours.

Flu, along with pneumonia, is nothing to sneeze at. In the U.S. during the 1957-58 Type A flu epidemic, 60,000 persons died, and 10 years later, almost 28,000 persons died of A Hong Kong. Recently, 22,000 deaths occurred from an A Victoria epidemic.

The new lady barber was administering a shave to her first male customer and doing pretty well, thank you. Doing well, that is, until a frightened mouse scurried across the floor. Then she screamed and leaped into the air. Witnesses report that her customer had a very, very surprised look on his face when his head stopped rolling.

Brucellosis Infection Being Watched Closely

A brucellosis infection discovered in Belgium Township in Ozaukee County has caused some concern among state veterinarians, who have adopted a modified emergency control program to handle the situation.

That's the word from Dr. Sarah Hurley, brucellosis staff veterinarian with the Wisconsin Dept. of Agriculture, Trade & Consumer Protection, who points out that two herds of cattle have been condemned to slaughter in the area during the past six months. She says there is concern, "because it is unusual in a Brucellosis-Free state to remove more than one or two reactors from a herd under the State-Federal Brucellosis Eradication Program."

The emergency control program was adopted because of the proximity of the two herds, the extent of the infection within each herd and because field strains of the disease were isolated from reactors sent to slaughter.

From January 7 through 18, blood samples were collected from the cattle in all neighboring herds and contact herds of the two infected premises, and bulk milk samples were collected from all dairy herds in Belgium Township. The milk and blood have been tested for antibodies in an effort to locate other infected animals.

As a result of the extensive testing, a reactor cow has been identified from another herd and sent to slaughter, and animals which have suspicious test results were found in seven additional herds.

"Suspect animals will be tested regularly and any changes in the blood reaction will be dealt with as the circumstances warrant," the staff veterinarian emphasizes.

The source of the infection has not been identified.

WHAT'S NEW FOR THE 1979 FEDERAL INCOME TAX RETURN

[First in a series of five articles]

Although there were no major changes in the income tax law for individuals last year, a number of previously enacted changes will come into effect for the first time on our 1979 federal income tax returns.

The Wisconsin Institute of Certified Public Accountants has reviewed these federal income tax changes to alert taxpayers on what to expect when preparing 1979 income tax returns.

A key change is the loss of the general tax credit--the greater of $35 per exemption, or two percent of the first $9,000 of taxable income. To compensate for that loss of up to $180--or even more for larger families--the personal and dependency exemptions have been raised from $750 to $1,000.

The zero bracket amount (ZBA)--once known as the standard deduction and available to taxpayers who don't itemize--has been raised to $2,300 for singles and to $3,400 for those filing jointly. If the deductions you claim don't exceed these amounts, consider using the convenient form 1040A, and taking the ZBA.

The deduction for political contributions has been abolished, but the credit for contributions has doubled. You can now get a credit of up to $100 on a joint return ($50 on a single return). Gasoline tax is no longer a personal itemized deduction on your federal income tax return, but it is still deductible as a business expense. The mileage rate has been increased from 17 to 18 1/2c.

Some previously untaxed income will be taxed for the first time this year. Part of any unemployment or disability benefits that take your income past the $20,000 mark ($25,000 on a joint returns), now are subject to taxation.

The refundable maximum earned-income credit for parents in low-income brackets has been increased to equal 10% of the first $5,000 of earned income. If you have no tax liability because you do not meet the income requirements, you may still be eligible for the credit, simply by filing a tax return. And, if your tax bill is less than your credit, the difference is refunded. The credit starts decreasing, however, as your income increases beyond $5,000 and is completely phased out at $10,000.

Parents who claim child-care costs incurred in order to hold a job, may now pay a relative to provide child care, so long as that relative is not a dependent.

In an effort to offset the affects of inflation on any salary increase you might realize, Congress broadened the tax brackets, making it possible to earn more money without going into higher tax bracket. This doesn't work completely, however, because if the dollar keeps shrinking, and the tax rate is not shrinking--then we aren't really staying even.

Employers will want to note that the jobs credit, intended to encourage the hiring of the hard-core unemployed, has been modified to place emphasis on the hiring of specific types of individuals: Vietnam veterans, certain welfare recipients, the handicapped, the young and some ex-convicts. The investment credit has been made permanent and has been liberalized. It also has been extended to cover the purchase of certain buildings--mostly used in agriculture--and the rehabilitation of some buildings that have been in use at least 20 years.

The rules covering tax-qualified pension plans have been simplified to make it easier for a small employer to take care of his employee's retirement needs through contributions into Individual Retirement Accounts. Where the employer does make such contributions into an IRA, the limits have been raised on how much can be invested in a plan each year; it's now 15% of earned income, up to $7,500.

(A second article in this series, explaining tax brackets, will appear in our next issue.)

Proposals for Changing Soil and Water Conservation Program Available From USDA

In its resource appraisal, USDA found that the nation's cropland and forestland has been decreasing at a rate of two and a half million acres a year. Those acres are being converted to housing and industrial developments, highways, and other nonagricultural uses. The appraisal also shows that two billion tons of topsoil erode from the nation's farmland each year and that nearly half the sediment in the nation's waters is soil that has eroded from cropland.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is seeking comments from the public on seven proposals the department has made for possible changes in the nation's soil and water conservation programs. These proposals are based on a two year appraisal of the nation's soil and water resources. The conservation strategies that USDA has proposed are based on the findings of that appraisal.

Included in USDA's proposal for changes in the conservation program is a possibility of federal and state laws that would require farmers to control soil erosion. Also included is a suggestion that farmers might be required to protect their land from excessive erosion before receiving crop insurance, price support payments, low interest loans, and other assistance from USDA's farm programs.

Another of USDA's alternative strategies is that farmers could be offered stronger incentives to practice soil conservation. Such incentives could include tax reductions, cash bonuses, and low interest loans.

According to Don Kurer, SCS, more information about these proposals is available in USDA field offices, 2395 West Washington Street, West Bend, or the University of Wisconsin Extension Service, 515 East Washington Street. Written comments can be sent to the RCA Response Analysis Center, USDA, Box, 888 Athens, Georgia 30603.

The resource appraisal, the proposals for changing conservation programs and the provisions for public comment are all results of a 1977 law, the Soil and Water Resources Conservation Act (RCA) of 1977. A 60-day public review period began January 28, 1980.

Taxpayer Assistance Provided by State

The Wisconsin Department of Revenue will again provide taxpayer assistance to anyone with questions on the filing of Property/Rent Tax Credit Claims and State Income Tax Forms.

Nearly 200 Department of Revenue employees are available at various locations throughout the state to answer questions, either via phone or personal contact, about Property/Rent Tax Credit, Homestead Credit Claims and Individual Income Tax.

FACSIMILE BALLOT NOTICE OF SPRING PRIMARY ELECTION FEBRUARY 19, 1980

OFFICE OF COUNTY CLERK
TO THE ELECTORS OF WASHINGTON COUNTY:

Notice is hereby given of a Spring Primary Election to be held in the several wards in the County of Washington, on the 19th day of February, 1980, at which the officers named below shall be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, together with the questions submitted to a vote, in the sample ballot below.

INFORMATION TO ELECTORS

Upon entering the polling place, an elector shall give his or her name and address before being permitted to vote. Where paper ballots are used, the initials of two ballot clerks must appear on the ballot. Upon being permitted to vote, the elector shall retire alone to a voting booth or machine and cast his or her ballot. An election official may inform the elector of the proper manner for casting a ballot, but the official shall not in any manner advise or indicate for whom to vote.

At a nonpartisan primary, the elector shall place a cross or other mark in the square at the right of or depress the button or lever next to the candidate's name for whom he or she intends to vote, or insert or write in the name of his or her choice for a candidate.

The vote should not be cast in any other manner. If the elector spoils a ballot, he or she shall return it to an election official who shall issue another in its place, but not more than three ballots shall be issued to any one elector. If the ballot has not been initiated by two ballot clerks or is defective in any other way, the elector shall return it to the election official, who shall issue a proper ballot in its place. Not more than five minutes' time shall be allowed inside a voting booth or machine. Unofficial ballots or a memorandum to assist the elector in marking his or her ballot may be taken into the booth and copied. The sample ballot shall not be shown to anyone so as to reveal how the ballot is marked.

After an official paper ballot is marked, it shall be folded so the inside marks do not show but so the printed indorsements and ballot clerks' initials on the outside do show. After casting his or her ballot, the elector shall leave the machine or booth, and where paper ballots are used, give his or her name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand the inspector his or her folded ballot to be placed in the ballot box, and shall leave the polling place promptly.

An elector may be assisted by 2 election officials of different political parties in casting his or her vote if the elector declares to the presiding official that he or she is unable to read, has difficulty reading, writing or understanding English or that due to physical disability is unable to cast his or her ballot. Alternatively, an elector making such declaration may have another elector of the county assist in marking the ballot or operating a voting machine. The presiding official may administer an oath to a person making such declaration.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

This past Sunday our grandchildren were sled riding behind our house near the high school. They had to come into the house a short time, so they left their 2 red poly sleds near the tennis court and when they went out again their sleds were gone.

We would appreciate very much if whoever took the two red sleds return them to our house at 372 3rd St.

County Sheriff Issues Reminder To Snowmobilers

With the snowmobilers hoping for some snow Clarence A. Schwartz, Sheriff of Washington County issued a reminder to users of snowmobiles within Washington County.

By state statute, the Sheriff has the duty to enforce snowmobile laws (Chapter 350.00) within his jurisdiction. The snowmobile patrol of the Sheriff's Department is prepared to patrol the lakes and trails as soon as snow conditions permit.

Snowmobilers are reminded to check that their machines are properly registered and that registration numbers are properly displayed. Sheriff Schwartz further suggests that each machine operator review their snowmobile law pamphlets to avoid any enforcement problems.

Washington County has over 39 miles of public trails, funded by DNR registration fees. There are many miles of private trails also, for club members to enjoy the sport.

Sheriff's officers remind snowmobilers to stay on the marked trails. If you leave the marked trail, you are probably trespassing on private property without the owner's consent and could face prosecution. A property owner's failure to post their land does not imply consent for snowmobile use.

Sheriff's officers will also be alerted for any vandalism to trail signs or private property. Because of the popularity of ice fishing and ice sports, snowmobilers are reminded that they must stay 100 ft. away from a person not in or upon a vehicle, or 100 ft. away from a fishing shanty unless they are operating their machine at 10 mph. or less.

Sheriff Schwartz states that the deputies will also be particularly alert for such violations as: Operating under the influence of an intoxicant, unreasonable and improper speed, operation on the roadway, equipment or safety infractions, while they are patrolling the trails. The officers will be patrolling to offer assistance and encouraging safe snowmobile operation.

Reservation

Requests for Campsites Up 40%

Advance campsite reservation requests from Wisconsin residents continue to pour into state park and forest offices according to Wisconsin state park officials — apparently an indication that campers will be staying closer to home this year and utilizing state parks to a greater extent than ever before.

Loren Thorson, chief of recreation for state parks, said that a random sampling of state parks indicate that advance reservation requests are running about 41 percent ahead of the same period last year.

The majority of requests are coming from Wisconsin residents, he noted, citing the instance of Northern Highland-American Legion State Forest where 450 reservation requests have been confirmed so far and only six of that total are from out-of-state. And, of the 701 campsite reservation requests processed at the Northern Unit of the Kettle Moraine State Forest, only 14 were from non-residents.

"It appears," Thorson added, "that the rapidly escalating gasoline prices are changing the recreational travel patterns of many people." "An excellent way to cut back on travel is to camp at a state park near your home," Thorson said, "and if you make an advance campsite reservation, you are assured of a place to stay when you arrive and you eliminate the need for further travel to find available camping accommodations."

Peninsula State Park is one of the parks which has been deluged with campsite reservation requests. Gary Patzke, Peninsula Park superintendent, estimates that about two-thousand requests for campsite reservations have been received there. "We expect it will take us two to three weeks to process what we have on hand now," he said.

Favorite periods being requested by campers are the Memorial and Labor Day weekends and the July 4th holiday the most popular month judging weekend. The month of July is by requests received thus far.

Cross Country Skiing on State Lands

MADISON, WI — More than three-hundred miles of developed and maintained cross-country ski trails are available to the public in Wisconsin state parks and forests, according to C.D. Besadny, administrator of the Division of Resource Management in the Department of Natural Resources.

"Marked and groomed trails for ski touring are provided in parks and forests located in all areas of the state," Besadny said, "and provide the ever increasing numbers of cross-country skiers with an opportunity to enjoy their sport in some of the most beautiful outdoor areas in Wisconsin."

Besadny noted that the trails may vary in difficulty requiring different levels of cross-country skiing skills. He advised, "before skiing in a state park or forest, stop in at the office and obtain information about the trails."

State parks and forests where cross-country ski trails are provided are listed in the popular Visitor's Guide, which is available at DNR offices.

Indians Roll Over Pewaukee, Lose to Unbeaten Hartland

Rated Arrowhead Ties For Title

Coach Jim Westphal was able to clear his bench and give his entire squad much playing time as the Kewaskum Indians breezed past hapless Pewaukee's winless, last place Pirates here Friday night by a one-sided 95-62 score. With more playing time for the starters, the Indians could easily have gone over the 100 mark.

Kewaskum jumped to a 29-8 lead after one quarter, then coasted as it improved its record to 6-4 and maintained its third place tie with Mayville. After three toughies in their last three outings, the Indians had a breather in front of a Parents' Night crowd.

The Indians would have been ahead, 31-8, at the quarter but a late basket from half the length of the court by Jim Rohlinger was not allowed by the referee because it came after the buzzer.

The Pirates made just 3 of 13 shots in the first period while Kewaskum hit on 10 of 21, and the game was as well as over. From then on the coach kept shuffling in starters and reserves for the remainder of the game. At the end of three quarters the Indians were on top, 71-37, and it was just a question of how many points they would score.

All 14 of the Indians played and all scored. Rohlinger was high with 13 points, Scott Brendemihl had 12 and Randy Gust came off the bench for 11. Marc Gerosse of Pewaukee had a game high 17 points and Bob Opie added 12.

Guard Henry Schilter played brilliantly with some super passes and starter Bob Nigh, 6-4, retired after the first quarter from the after-effects of the flu, since he wasn't needed. The JV's also won, 68-62. Dave Donath paved the way with 22 points. The Indian freshmen dropped a 57-30 decision.

Unbeaten Hartland Arrowhead, ranked eighth in The Milwaukee Sentinel's prep basketball poll, clinched a tie for the Scenic Moraine Conference championship Tuesday night by defeating Kewaskum, 78-60, at Hartland.

Veteran John Kaiser scored 16 points and pulled down 15 rebounds to lead the Warhawks, who improved their conference record to 11-0 and their overall mark to 15-0. Kewaskum fell to 6-5 in the conference but held onto its third place tie as Mayville also lost to Slinger in overtime.

Hartland broke it open in the second half with a little pressure. The Warhawks led, 19-16, going into the second period, but they outscored the Indians, 10-2, to start the second quarter and gained control of the game. Junior guard, Jeff Smith, Arrowhead's sixth man, scored all six of his points during the spurt.

Hartland outrebounded Kewaskum by a whopping 49-25 margin.

Mike Weil added 14 points for Arrowhead. Kewaskum was led by Tom Kern with 12 points.

This Friday night the Indians make the long trip to Kettle Moraine, which is 5-6 in the standings in fifth place.

Hartland Wins Scenic Moraine Wrestling Title; Kewaskum 6th

The Scenic Moraine wrestling championships were held at Grafton Saturday and started out with five teams in contention for the conference crown.

Four schools ended the dual season in a tie for first place with identical 5-2 records and any one of them — Pewaukee, Hartland, Kettle Moraine or Grafton — could have taken home the first place trophy. Germantown also had a chance with a 4-3 mark.

But after eight hours of wrestling, Hartland Arrowhead had moved way ahead of the rest with five individual champs and 137 points. This broke the string of four straight titles by Pewaukee.

Kewaskum finished sixth with 68 points. The Indians had the first champ in the finals, Scott Klein at 98 pounds, as he defeated Bill Mader of Mayville. Klein was Kewaskum's only champion. It was the third meeting between Klein and Mader and Scott won the last two. It was expected these two would end up in the finals.

Klein scored two takedowns on moves he had just practiced the day before. Klein wrestled with good intensity to bring his record to 18-2, but may have been upset when there was a delay in the middle of the match to take a bubble out of the mat.

The Indians also got a surprise second from Bob Bastian, 138, who entered the meet with a 52-4-1 conference record. Bastian had to get a two-point near fall in the last minute to beat Garth Rolbiecki in the first round. He decided Steve Lewis of Germantown before losing to Hartland's Kelly Meer in the finals.

The Indians also got thirds from seniors Steve Beck (145) and Andy Strigenz (185) and a fourth from Jeff Gundrum (132).

Indian Girls Beat Mayville, Take 2nd Place

In a battle for second place here Thursday night, The Kewaskum girls' basketball team scored a come-from-behind 53-45 victory. The teams were tied at 37-37 at the end of the third quarter but a 16-8 edge in the final period clinched the win for KHS.

Thus the Indians took over second place with an 8-4 record.

The girls started out flat after Tuesday's big game in which they almost upset unbeaten Hartland (12-0). Kewaskum fell behind 20-12 and would have trailed by 10 except for Jill Yearling's long shot just before the horn at the half.

Things improved in the second half when Coach Mike Theiler came out with a new lineup. Joan Hanrahan came off the bench to score six points and 6-0 Linda Larsen also had six. Janet Matenaer added two baskets and played a good floor game.

Trout Fishing Maps Available

Trout fishermen are something special. They seem to want to get off the beaten track and try new streams and battle the wily Wisconsin trout.

All Wisconsin trout streams have been classified into three categories by the Department of Natural Resources.

Class 1 - high grade trout waters with conditions favorable for natural reproduction. Requires little or no stocking of hatchery fish.

Class 2 - some native trout but not in sufficient numbers. Moderate to heavy stocking required to maintain good fishing.

Class 3 - marginal trout habitat. Stocking legal trout necessary to provide trout fishing.

WISCONSIN TROUT WATERS, provides 58 detailed maps, showing Class 1 and 2 trout waters and surrounding territory and roads. The trout fisherman can pre-plan his trip using the maps and accompanying trout index. The fisherman can spend his time fishing instead of needlessly driving, and wasting gas.

This book can be obtained by sending $4.95 to WISCONSIN TROUT WATERS, Stock Number 775M-1R, P.O. Box 5096, Madison, WI 53705.

Separate from the maps is a complete list of all trout streams in Wisconsin, with notes as to species of trout, stream length and location.

HUNT COTTONTAILS THROUGH FEB. 28

Wisconsin hunters are reminded that the cottontail rabbit season in the state has been extended through February 28.

The 1979 Wisconsin Hunting Regulations pamphlet lists the season close statewide as January 31. There is a footnote in the regulations, however, stating that consideration was being given to extending the season at the time the regulations went to the printer.

The season is extended and the "bunnies" are fair game through February 28 this year.
