Pay Hike Approved for Board

Board Appoints Cable TV Advisory Committee

By DAN MEILAHN
Statesman Staff Writer

At Monday night's Kewaskum Village Board meeting, President Danielsen appointed a cable TV advisory committee.

The chairman of the committee which would help draft an ordinance concerning cable TV is Joe Harlow, a teacher at Kewaskum High School. The school district will be represented by Supt. of Schools Floyd Brenholt. Trustee Paul Blumer will represent the village board. The Chamber of Commerce will be represented by its President, Paul Behring. Diane Buchel was appointed to the committee as its citizen-at-large.

The committee will examine ordinances from other communities along with a forthcoming survey from Green Bay. Bids will be taken for the service after the ordinance is completed.

Danielsen said each person contacted was willing to serve, and he referred to them as a "very enthusiastic bunch."

The board unanimously approved pay hikes for the village president and the trustees. The new salaries will be $800 annually for each of the six trustees and $1350 annually for the village president. Previously trustees received $600 and the village president received $1000.

The last raises were in 1975 when trustees' pay was increased from $500 to $600. In 1972, the president's pay was increased from $600 to $1000.

President Danielsen initially suggested a $200 raise whereby the president would receive $1200 and each trustee would get $800.

Trustee Jerry Stollenwerk proposed that if this 33% raise was given to the board members, the president's raise should also "be on an equal percentage basis," bringing that amount to $1350.

Most of the trustees agreed that this would make sense. Trustee Dave Nigh had a figure of $750 for trustees and $1200 for the president, but went along with the proposed 33% increase.

Village Administrator Dan Schmidt had compiled a comparison sheet of various communities' wages for officials. All or most were above Kewaskum's rates. For example, Mayville paid $1500 to its president and $1000 to its trustees in 1979. Horicon paid $1800 to the president and $900 to the trustees. The average pay of 18 communities surveyed was $2231 for the municipal presidents and $960 for trustees.

Dan Schmidt and Supt. of Wastewater Treatment Pete Albers had checked into the means of enforcing a village ordinance which prohibits clear surface water from entering the sanitary sewers. Schmidt reported that all the communities contacted claimed, "It's very hard to enforce" and that the citizenry had to be constantly needed on the issue.

Communities are hesitant to have their own personnel inspect residences for down spout runoff or sump pumps that drain into the sewer. Some places had CETA workers or even college students do the inspection.

Schmidt reported that several engineering firms said they would be willing to inspect.

Schmidt said another method was to send out surveys with brief questions as: Where does your sump pump drain? or Where do your down spouts drain?

It was agreed that more information was needed before the village proceeds in more strict enforcement of the ordinance.

The board approved the transfer of funds from a municipal building remodeling account to pay for topographical maps of Section 16 and 1/4 of Section 15 on the south edge of the village.

Alster, Ayers, and Associates of Madison already have the necessary aerial photos and would be doing the "topo" for $5650. Along with this, the

Change Date for Kewaskum Night At Brewers Game

Place your order early for groups or individuals. Tickets are available at Behring's Market, 626-2164, and Orv Behnke, 626-2155.

Receive UW-Oshkosh Master's Degrees

Seventy-nine graduate students at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh were awarded master's degrees at the close of the semester in January.

Among those receiving these degrees were: Master of Science in Curriculum and Supervision, Thomas E. Larsen, 302 Forest Avenue, Kewaskum, and Master of Science in Education (Guidance), David F. Wietor, 1175 Riverview Drive, Kewaskum.

Blood Donor Unit Coming Next Tuesday

On Tuesday, February 26, the Milwaukee Blood Mobile Unit will be at the Kewaskum High School gym (old) between the hours of 1:30 and 6:30 p.m. All past donors who have been donating on a regular basis will be sent reminder cards. New donors can walk in anytime. Any person who has moved to the area recently that would like information on the drive can call 626-2210.

You may donate at age 17 if your parent or guardian signs a consent form which will be available at the school. If you are 18 or older, you can make your own decision to be a donor. You may donate to age 66 if you have been a regular donor (at least once a year); if not a regular donor, then to age 60. You may donate once every 10 weeks, or 5 times per year.

If you have a medical history of heart disease or cancer you may be unable to give. You will be unable to donate at this time if you do not have at least 6 hours of sleep the night before or weigh 110 pounds. You will be unable to donate for 6 months after: pregnancy, travel to a country with a malaria problem or major surgery.

The next person to need blood could be you! You may use 20 pints or you may use two. Regardless, your need is just as great. Unless more people become donors, the supply will not keep pace with the growing demand for blood. Someday your life may depend on its availability.

"You must give some time to your fellowman. Even if it is a little thing. Do something for those who have need of man's help. Something for which you get no pay, but the privilege of doing it."

DRIVERS ESCAPE

2 Area Vehicles Break Through Thin Ice on Mauthe Lake

Thin ice on some areas of Mauthe Lake northeast of Kewaskum resulted in two vehicles owned by area fishermen to break through the ice last week.

A truck owned by Edward Dorn Jr. of West Bend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dorn Sr. of rural Kewaskum, went down Sunday and quick thinking by two young men nearby probably saved his life. Dorn was in his truck when the front end went down. He got out of the truck and the two men, Bruce Fleischfreiser and Dave Rose, both from Fond du Lac, pulled him out of the water. It was reported that there was approximately six inches of air left in the truck before Dorn freed himself. Others in the area left without helping.

On Thursday a van owned by Sylvester "Smokey" Keller of Kewaskum broke through the ice and completely submerged and tipped on its side according to DNR officials. Much of the lake has from 12 to 18 inches of ice but near where Keller's van went under the ice tapers off to just two inches. Keller was able to jump free from his vehicle.

Wally Ketter, Natural Resource Office with the DNR, said that the thin areas are near the inlet and outlet to the lake. Because of the mild weather and light snow cover this winter there are varying depths of ice on the lake. The DNR has tried to discourage people from taking their vehicles on the ice by placing trees in the ice near the danger areas with flags on them and posting signs warning of thin ice.

Roger Strack, Dan Espen and Dave Schmidt of Roger & Dan's Service, Kewaskum, got the vehicles out of the lake.

Ceci, Steinmetz Nominated; 62 Votes Cast Here

Only a handful of voters turned out for Tuesday's primary election in the Village of Kewaskum.

Milwaukee County Circuit Court Judges Louis J. Ceci and Donald W. Steinmetz were the victors in the Supreme Court primary race.

Dane County Circuit Judge P. Charles Jones trailed Steinmetz by more than 13,000 votes in the three-way race for the two spots on the April 1 general election ballot with about 99% of the vote tabulated.

Unofficial returns in 3,417 of 3,425 wards were:

Louis J. Ceci, 142,379.

Donald W. Steinmetz, 89,871.

P. Charles Jones, 76,046.

Only 62 persons bothered to go to the polls and vote in the village. They gave Ceci 35 votes, Steinmetz 14, Jones 12, and there was one blank.

Village Board

County Surveyor, Ron Greve, would be setting five section corners at a cost of $150 each.

The area to be mapped includes Bel-Ric subdivision and the proposed shopping center area, and is the last portion of the village to be "topo'ed" before an official village map can be completed.

This mapping would also facilitate a Land Use Plan for Kewaskum which would be done by the Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission.

There presently are not enough funds to adequately remodel the municipal building, so the board felt this amount would be better spent as a prerequisite to the Land Use Plan.

The board also approved the disposition of some obsolete or unused village property. The items would fit well with an auction the West Bend School District is sponsoring on April 19. Among the village's exotic items up for grabs will be a 1938 Austin Western road grader, an O'Brian sewer rodder and engine, a 275 gal. fuel tank, several transformers, outdoor light fixtures, and two West Bend Lithia beer taps. President Danielsen agreed these items should be turned into cash.

Park and Recreation Committee Chairman Carl Spoeth reported that the committee had considered a basic outline for a reference manual clarifying rules and regulations for Kewaskum's recreational facilities. This should be finalized next month.

Spoeth also said the committee approved purchasing three pieces of climbing playground equipment at a cost of $1500. Two pieces would be in the new Kiwanis Park and one in the old park on the west side of the river. The board also approved this.

Spoeth also mentioned that the committee was checking into the construction of a fitness trail, most likely in the new park, and an obstacle course, probably in the old park. The fitness trail would be composed of 10-12 exercise apparatus made from logs with galvanized metal handgrips. A push-up log, a pull-up bar, and a climbing wall may be featured.

Unfortunately, Raynor Heriges was not present to move to adjourn as usual, since he had an emergency furnace call. The honor fell to Dave Nigh.

Junior Jargon

Good food, good company and good music was the theme at the February 14 Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club meeting. A pot luck supper with husbands as guests was served. Excellent spiritual, hand clapping music was provided by guitarist Gary Cross.

The nominating committee placed the names of the following women as candidates for office for the 1980-1982 club year: Vice-President, Joan (Mrs. Dan) Stoffel; Recording Secretary, Marilyn (Mrs. Karl) Brath and Cindy (Mrs. Richard) Knoebel; Corresponding Secretary, Kathy (Mrs. Wayne) Kannenbert and Kathie (Mrs. Robert) Borch; Treasurer, Beth (Mrs. Lee) Coffer and Wendy (Mrs. Dan) Stouffer. The present Vice-President, Karen (Mrs. Harlu) Keller, will automatically become President for the 1980-1982 club year.

Projects club members will work on for the next few weeks include visiting Beechwood Rest Home, an Inter-faith Bible study, a creative writing contest, a poisonous plant booklet and a poison prevention puppet show. Scholarship applications are at the high school and the Easter Bunny Lunch will again be held. The Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club is a very diverse club and includes a variety of activities to interest many people. New members and guests are always welcome.

WEEKLY Health TIP

from Tom Leitzke, R.P.H.

Experiments indicate that skin contact between a new-born and its mother immediately after birth (instead of the usual hospital lag of several hours) may be beneficial in stirring strong maternal attachment for the baby. Such touching also is known to be important for the well-being of the baby. Follow-up studies one and two years later showed that early contact fostered a stronger attachment of mother and child.

Help Wanted for 1980 Census Here

Census takers are needed in this area, according to Kala Mueller, District Manager of the area's 1980 census office.

The Census Bureau welcomes applications from persons who will be able to work 40 hours a week, including many evenings and Saturdays, calling upon householders who have not returned their census forms. The work will begin soon. Before being hired, applicants will be tested for their ability to understand printed instructions and do simple arithmetic.

The manager says census takers must be physically fit to be on their feet for long periods and to climb stairs; must have good eyesight for reading small print and good hearing for normal conversation. Most should have a home telephone and many will need a car for their work, but mileage will be paid.

Census takers will receive a fee for their training and will be paid a piece rate for the number of household listings completed. Earnings can average $4 an hour or more. Most jobs will last three to five weeks.

The Census Bureau is an equal opportunity employer.

"We're counting on you," the manager said, "to apply for work as a census taker."

Applicants should call one of the following places to schedule the written test:

Your local Job Service in Beaver Dam 887-7161 or West Bend 338-1867 or the District Census Office at 633-4930.

AMPI Members Of Area Honored

Seventy-one members of the Mid-States Region of Associated Milk Producers, Inc., were honored February 12 in Fond du Lac for their volunteer work in membership. They represent five states, including Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Robert Beck, Fond du Lac, membership director, said the following members of this area were installed in the co-op's "6000 Club."

Daniel Rodenkirch, Kewaskum.

Andrew Schnitzler, Theresa. William Schroeder, West Bend.

Appoint Panzer To Committee

MADISON — Newly-elected State Representative Mary Panzer (R-Brownsville) has been appointed to the Assembly Committee on Tourism, Recreation and Economic Development. Panzer was recommended for the post by Assembly Republican Floor Leader John C. Shabaz.

Panzer said she was pleased with the appointment because "with tourism being one of the state's leading industries, I will be involved with decision-making affecting the economic well-being and development of this money-making enterprise."

The committee, which recently expanded its membership from 10 to 13, has played an active role in the area of recreation. The committee is currently working on proposals relating to DNR hunting regulations and admission sticker requirements for state recreation areas and use of fees.

"I look forward to working on issues affecting the people of Wisconsin, especially issues insuring the natural and recreational aspects of the state for future generations," concluded Panzer.

Board of Education Meeting on Monday

The Kewaskum Board of Education will hold a special meeting on Monday, February 25. The meeting will be held in the district administrative offices and will begin at 8 p.m.

A question on transportation and action on student fees will be on the agenda under old business. New items will include action on two teacher resignations to be effective at the end of the school year. The board will also look at staffing requirements for next year, payroll and vouchers payable and other business which may arise.

Following the open meeting, the board will meet in closed session to act on letters of consideration of staff non-renewals under Wis. Stats. 19.85 (1)(c) and also to consider further action on a grievance.

Nationwide FFA WEEK Celebration

February 16-23, 1980

The National Emblem of the FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA is significant and meaningful in every detail. Used by members in all recognized units of the organization, it is made up of five symbols: the owl, the plow, and the rising sun, within the cross section of an ear of corn, which is surmounted by the American eagle. Upon the face of the emblem appear also the words, "Vocational Agriculture." and the letters, "FFA." The owl is symbolic of wisdom and knowledge; the plow is the symbol of labor and tillage of the soil; the rising sun is emblematic of progress and the new day that will dawn when all farmers are trained and have learned to cooperate; the cross section of an ear of corn represents common agricultural interests since corn is native to America and grown in every State; and the eagle is indicative of the national scope of the organization.

The emblem and the letters "FFA" are protected by trade-mark registration No. 996,642 and No. 998,731 in the U.S. Patent Office, and by Public Law 740, 81st Congress. Official policies regarding the use and authorization for use of the name and emblem of the FFA will be found on page 110 of this Manual.

FFA OFFICERS FOR 1979-80

This year's officers are as follows: Barb Schulz, President; Mark Hupfer, Vice-President; Susan Schaub, Secretary; Jeff Nigh, Treasurer; Andy Ruplinger, Reporter; Joe Hoerig, Sentinel, and Wes Haug, Historian-Parliamentarian. Mr. David Rizzardi is the FFA Advisor.

"I set before you this extraordinary challenge, asking every FFA chapter in this country to get involved in this basic question of energy conservation..." That was President Carter's unique call to FFA chapters all across the country. Carter, a former FFA chapter secretary in Plains, Georgia, was speaking to the state FFA association presidents, above. "I will give recognition... to the one FFA chapter in the nation... who does the most outstanding job in carrying out this response to the energy crisis. I'm going to depend upon the FFA to take the lead in energy conservation... I know you will do this, and it's a solemn commitment between me and you."

Washington The Farmer

George Washington Is Honored By Future Farmers of America For His Role In The Nations Agriculture

Students in grades 1 — 3 from Wayne Elementary School were given a tour of Widmeyer's Cheese Cellars in Theresa as part of the "Food for America Program." Here the students are sampling cheese made at Widmeyer's after the tour.

Everyone knows that George Washington gave seven years of his life without pay to command the Revolutionary Army and eight more to serve as the new country's first president. What isn't so well known is that he would have been much happier "under his own vine and fig tree." By his own admission, George Washington's first interest was farming.

It was because of his interest in farming and his accomplishments as a successful farmer that FFA WEEK is celebrated during the week of George Washington's birthday. In addition, George Washington has been labeled the patron saint of the organization and has come to symbolize the FFA Treasurer.

Actually it was a small inheritance that launched

Washington's career as a farmer, he was 11 when his father died. According to custom, Lawrence — as the oldest son — got most of the estate including Mt. Vernon. Washington's small inheritance was only a 280-acre Cherry Tree Farm plus a share of land at Deep Run.

Washington started accumulating land with money he earned as a surveyor. At 16, George had bought 550 acres.

Washington resigned his military commission when he was 26 and soon married Martha Custis, a wealthy Virginia widow. At that time he owned about 5,000 acres of land which included Mt. Vernon's 2,500 acres inherited from his brother Lawrence.

Washington began to take farming seriously! He had a keen business mind, an eye for detail, and a searching curiosity about anything new.

Washington divided his huge estate into five farms. Each farm's overseer made weekly reports which Washington used for his notes, diaries, and account books. He made exacting notes on planting, harvest, and sale — a trait that is recognized in the FFA.

As early as 1766, Washington realized the error in continued tobacco cultivation. He practically abandoned tobacco, the major colonial crop.

Some have called Mt. Vernon one of the earliest "experiment stations" in America. It's true that Washington tried various manure and water applications under controlled conditions. He experimented with countless new seeds, fertilizers and management practices.

Washington called the life of a farmer "most delectable." "It is honorable. It is amusing, and, with judicious management, it is profitable," he said.

Perhaps his far-reaching vision and love of farm life are best expressed in his eighth address to Congress: "It will not be doubted that with reference either to individual, or National Welfare, Agriculture is of primary importance. In proportion as nations advance in population, and other circumstances of maturity, this truth becomes more apparent; and renders the cultivation of the soil more and more, an object of public patronage."

Future Farmers of America

LEARNING FROM THE PAST

America's agriculture has a rich heritage that is the backbone of our Nation's history. The desire for an adequate amount of good food has always been paramount among the people.

Thus came the program of vocational agricultural education. Agricultural education was brought into the classrooms of America's high schools. A way to educate, motivate, present new techniques to the young men in farming.

But no one was willing to completely relinquish the time-proven method of "let a kid do it — under the watchful eye of an adult — and he'll learn from his experience." So shortly came an organization — The Future Farmers of America — providing educational opportunity beyond the classroom.

For the 500,000 future farmers, future ranchers, future agribusinessmen currently enrolled in the vo-ag FFA program, the Learning By Doing principle is still used.

There have been some drastic changes though in agriculture's classrooms. More than text books and a little room in the back of the school, vo-ag goes out into the local agricultural community, onto the farms, into the laboratory or greenhouse, in the dirt and among the animals, on the machines.

Like the basic industry of agriculture, vo-ag also has a rich heritage. The program has trained millions of young men and women for careers in agriculture. That heritage will continue in the 8,500 vocational agricultural classrooms in America.

Agriculture's Youth In Action

One of the best examples of youth in action on the American scene today is the FFA, the national organization for students studying vocational agriculture in the public high schools. It is an organization run by the student-members under adult guidance.

Soon after vocational agriculture became a subject in many of the nation's high schools in 1917, instructors became aware of the need to provide practical training beyond the traditional classroom approach. Their idea was to make the instruction more interesting by making practical work experience, competitive livestock judging, and agricultural leadership development activities part of the instruction. Vocational agriculture instructors and students eagerly accepted the learn by doing principle.

The FFA was founded nationally in 1928 after similar organizations had started in several states. Right from the beginning, the FFA has stressed leadership, cooperation and citizenship — all vital to success in modern agriculture.

Today the FFA has a membership of 494,000 with chapters in approximately 8,000 high schools throughout the nation. The organization has state associations in all states and in Puerto Rico.

Vocational agriculture or agribusiness programs are funded in part by the National Vocational Education Acts through the U.S. Office of Education, state departments of education and the local school systems. The FFA operates under a federal charter granted by an Act of Congress in 1950 (Public Law 740, 81st Congress). The charter provides for a national board of directors and a board of student officers elected from the membership.

FFA activities are specifically designed to be a part of the instructional program in vocational agriculture. Members learn through active participation how to conduct and take part in public meetings, how to speak in public, and how to take a leadership role in their school and community.

Each local chapter and each state association elects its own officers each year. In all cases the teacher of vocational agriculture is the advisor of the local FFA chapter and the state supervisor of agricultural education is the advisor of the state association.

FFA members have full opportunity to practice the principles of democracy in conducting the affairs of their organization by exercising their privilege to vote at chapter meetings, serve on committees, and otherwise assist in carrying on the work of their organization. Elected delegates to the state and national conventions, held each year, are asked to decide on major issues facing the organization.

Advancement through the degrees in the organization from the Green hand through the Chapter Farmer, State Farmer, and American Farmer or Agribusinessman is based on achievement in farming, ranching, or agribusiness careers.

Nearly 8,000 public high schools have FFA chapters. One of the requirements for membership in FFA is that a student be enrolled in vocational agriculture. Students may retain their membership until they are 21.

Competition is a key element of the FFA from the chapter to the national level. Each year the FFA recognizes more than 80,000 members at local, state and national levels for outstanding achievement in activities related to agriculture career and leadership development.

Funds for awards are provided by more than 800 businesses, organizations, and individuals that sponsor FFA programs through the National FFA Foundation, Inc. The Foundation provides nearly half a million dollars to make the incentive awards available to deserving FFA members in the following

FFA MEMBERS ARE PREPARING FOR PROGRESS

A good seed bed. A crop rotation plan. A crossbreeding program. An organized marketing approach. A supply of spare parts. A well built foundation. Knowing where to get the answers. All signs of being prepared.

Fortunately, being prepared, planning ahead and getting things off to a good start are "a way of life" in agriculture. Without this preparation, our bountiful agricultural production—and thus the food for America and the world—might never be produced.

Likewise the people in agriculture know that before they can be personally successful in their agricareers they need a "good seed bed" or "firm foundation" of their own. They need to be prepared with the knowledge and skills of agriculture like decision making, asking questions, finding answers, trying new methods, speaking and listening.

And that is what vocational agriculture education and the FFA is all about. It is preparing young men and women in high school vocational agricultural classes with the skills they will need for careers in agriculture — an industry at the heartbeat of the world, providing food and fiber for all people. An industry offering diverse career opportunities for students with interest in horticulture, crops, livestock, agribusiness, marketing, sales, chemistry, taxes, law, mechanics, vet medicine, plant genetics, soil science, conservation, accounting, personnel management or landscaping.

Add to this classroom instruction the powerful learning-by-doing experiences and leadership development of the FFA. In FFA the 494,000 student members are molded by a local chapter advisor, motivated by incentive awards from the American agribusiness community, challenged by competition among themselves; committed to participate and get involved in their community; disciplined by a desire to succeed in the great American agriculture tradition.

They emerge Prepared. Prepared for Progress.

In fact the Future Farmers of America is noted for its 50 years of "progress" in agricultural leadership. But it is in the "preparing" that we find the heart of the story.

Prepared to face the future. Prepared to lead America's agricultural industry. Prepared to be on the team to feed the world. Prepared to be somebody. Prepared to progress.

award programs: Star Farmer and Star Agribusinessman awards, 19 agricultural proficiency awards, public speaking, national chapter awards, national chapter safety, Building Our American Communities Awards, national judging contests, establishment in agriculture awards, and through state initiated programs for improving agricultural leadership.

Recent food shortages in this country have reaffirmed the need for continuing a strong program of vocational agriculture and the FFA. Thus there is a bright future for trained agriculturists ready to serve America.

THANK YOU

Vocational Agricultural Education And Future Farmers Of America

The Future Farmers of America, or "FFA" as it is commonly known, is the national organization of, by, and for students of vocational agriculture in public secondary schools which operate programs under the provisions of the National Vocational Education Acts.

The FFA is an intracurricular activity. Its origin and roots are a definite part of the school curriculum—vocational agriculture. As an integral part of vocational education in agriculture, the FFA has become well known. Among other things, members learn through active participation how to conduct and take part in a public meeting; to speak in public; to buy and sell cooperatively; to solve their own problems; to finance themselves; and to assume civic responsibility. The foundation upon which the Future Farmers of America organization is built includes leadership and character development, sportsmanship, cooperation, improved agriculture, organized recreation, citizenship and patriotism.

The National FFA Center of the Future Farmers of America is located on 37 acres near Mount Vernon along the Potomac in Alexandria, Virginia. The property was originally part of George Washington's estate. The Center houses the national FFA staff, the FFA Supply Service and The National Future Farmer Magazine. National conventions are held annually at Kansas City, Missouri, just prior to the American Royal Livestock Show.

The Future Farmers of America exists today because of a cooperative spirit and a desire on the part of young people 14 to 21 years of age, preparing for an occupation through vocational agriculture. They wanted to have a national organization of their own in which they could secure practical business experience, act as their own instructors and enjoy the fellowship of one another.

The First National Convention was held in November of 1928 and since that time the Future Farmers of America has extended into the fifty states, and Puerto Rico. The Organization has grown rapidly in numbers of chapter and membership, and is now recognized as the largest rural youth organization in the world. The "Future Farmer" idea has already been carried into several foreign countries including Japan, the Philippine Islands, Colombia, Panama, Costa Rica and Thailand. Student exchange programs have been conducted between FFA members and rural youth of many countries.

On August 30, 1950, the 81st Congress of the United States passed Public Law 740. This law granted a Federal Charter of incorporation the Future Farmers of America organization.

FFA Foundation, Inc.

Business and industry in the United States give their wholehearted support to vocational agriculture and the FFA through the FFA Foundation, Inc., which sponsors a wide variety of awards for FFA members. All awards are designed specifically to stimulate the interest of the students in their study and work, and are provided on national, state, and local levels. More than 100,000 FFA Foundation medals are awarded to students locally each year.

How The FFA Operates

The FFA is composed of chartered state associations which, in turn, are made up of the local chapters and departments of vocational agriculture. The students enrolled in such courses constitute its active membership but provision is also made for alumni and honorary membership.

There are four grades or degrees of active membership — "Green Hand," "Chapter Farmer," "State Farmer," and "American Farmer or Agribusinessman." Specific levels of attainment with respect to agricultural work experience, earnings, investments, leadership, community service, and scholarship, ability are set up for each degree.

Student officers for each unit of the FFA — local, state, and national — are selected annually. There are approved procedures of conducting meeting and impressive rituals for passing members to the various degrees. Teachers of vocational agriculture serve as local chapter advisors and state supervisors of agricultural education serve as state advisors.

In addition to a Board of National Officers, there is an adult National Board of Directors and the head of agricultural education serve as state advisors.

In addition to a Board of National Officers, there is an adult National Board of Directors and the head of agricultural education in the Office of Education, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, who is National FFA Advisor, is Chairman of the Board.

The FFA Creed

I believe in the future of farming, with a faith born not of words but of deeds—achievements won by the present and past generations of agriculturists; in the promise of better days through better ways, even as the better things we now enjoy have come to us from the struggles of former years.

I believe that to live and work on a good farm, or to be engaged in other agricultural pursuit, is pleasant as well as challenging; for I know the joys and discomforts of agricultural life and hold an inborn fondness for those associations which, even in hours of discouragement, I cannot deny.

I believe in leadership from ourselves and respect from others. I believe in my own ability to work efficiently and think clearly, with such knowledge and skill as I can secure, and in the ability of progressive agriculturists to serve our own and the public interest in producing and marketing the product of our toil.

I believe in less dependence on begging and more power in bargaining; in the life abundant and enough honest wealth to help make it so—for others as well as myself; in less need for charity and more of it when needed; in being happy myself and playing square with those whose happiness depends upon me.

I believe that rural America can and will hold true to the best traditions of our national life and that I can exert an influence in my home and community which will stand solid for my part in that inspiring task.

The creed was written by E. M. Tiffany, and adopted at the 3rd National Convention of the FFA. Revised at the 38th Convention.

The Motto consists of only four lines but these lines are filled with practical philosophy reflecting spirit and sincerity.

What Becomes Of FFA Members

Study the product of an organization to determine its effectiveness. Is the FFA actually training for rural and agricultural leadership? To answer this question one has only to observe and review the records of former members who are making good in agricultural occupations and in leadership roles in their home communities spread over the nation. Thousands have passed on into the ranks of the farm organizations, as well as other agricultural and civic organizations, and fill places of trust and responsibility while still in their youth. Go into local communities where FFA chapters are located. Observe the interest and achievement of FFA members in improving the communities in which they reside.

A growing number of former members are becoming very active leaders in the National FFA Alumni Association which lends outstanding support to agricultural education and FFA at all levels.

Catholic Stewardship Appeal Goal for Washington County Set for $158,000

The 1980 Catholic Stewardship Appeal goal for Washington County has been set for $158,000.

Leo F. Schaefer, Washington County leader, said the goals for all districts were announced this week by the general chairman of the drive, Norbert J. Stefaniak.

The campaign for funds will be conducted from February 24 to April 1 in the 286 parishes of the archdiocese of Milwaukee. This appeal is the major source of revenue for the archdiocese, enabling it to meet its financial obligations, amortize its debt, and support agencies, programs, and services throughout the ten-county area.

The goal for the 1979 Catholic Stewardship Appeal is $4,200,000. This is a five per cent increase over last year's record-breaking total of $4,082,814.

The goal for the counties and districts of the archdiocese are:
Dodge—$98,000
Fond du Lac—$189,000
Kenosha—$167,000
Milwaukee Northeast—$427,000

Milwaukee Northwest—$640,000
Milwaukee Southeast—$356,000
Milwaukee Southwest—$626,000
Ozaukee—$174,000
Racine—$260,000
Sheboygan—$160,000
Walworth—$77,000
Washington—$158,000
Waukesha—$572,000
Headquarters—$238,000
The campaign headquarters goal represents gifts from individuals, foundations, and organizations which cannot properly be credited to individual parishes, counties, or districts.

The theme of the Catholic Stewardship Appeal is biblical: "Love as He loves. Give as He gives."

Funds raised during the Appeal are the major source of revenue for the archdiocese. Gifts help support 33 agencies, programs and services throughout the archdiocese. These range from St. John School for the Deaf and the Catholic Family Life Program to the Office for Human Concerns and the Catholic Youth Organization.

Recycled Materials — A Way to Save Energy

By Beth Stoffel

The Kewaskum Recycling Center is entering its 7th year of operation and in response to the many inquiries we have received over the years, I have written up a series of articles on recycled materials. I hope to explain to you, our patrons, the processes involved in making these materials into new products. This first article will be about aluminum.

Over the years the Kewaskum Recycling Center has recycled 1073 pounds of aluminum. We take in mostly aluminum cans, TV trays, foil and occasionally some aluminum siding scraps. All our aluminum is sorted, to weed out any steel cans, and placed in large clear plastic bags. It is then trucked to West Bend where Reynolds Aluminum Co. operates a mobile collection site. There the aluminum is weighed and we are paid 23 cents per pound. From this point on I will be telling how Reynolds Aluminum handles the aluminum. The process is basically the same for all the major companies.

The Reynolds mobile collection truck takes its load of aluminum to the recycling plant in Milwaukee. At the recycling plant the metal passes through a magnetic separator to eliminate any stray steel cans. It then moves to a shredder where the aluminum is reduced to popcorn-size chips to remove moisture and reduce its volume. Now the chips are transported to a smelting plant.

At the smelting plant the chips are fed into specially designed furnaces to be melted. During the melting process, the furnace burns off any coatings on the can chips and other foreign matter and turns the chips to molten metal. The aluminum is then tapped from the furnace and poured into large crucibles for transport into the fabricating plant. The molten metal is poured into production furnaces and cast into sheet ingots. These ingots are rolled into sheet for manufacture into new aluminum products.

Recycled metal targeted for new aluminum cans is rolled into a continuous coil sheet for transfer to an aluminum can plant. Reynolds, using a unique draw and iron process, then produces new cans just like those which were brought to our center-only this time at a significant energy and materials savings.

By recycling aluminum over and over, 95½ of the energy required to make it originally is saved each time it is recycled with no loss in quality.

Recycling aluminum is one way we can all help during this energy crisis. Remember 95% of the energy is saved by using recycled aluminum over raw materials. Please next time you are tempted to throw away that aluminum can, think twice and then Recycle It.

My next article on recycled material will deal with recycled paper.

THOSE TAX BRACKETS NEED LOTS OF UNDERSTANDING

[Second in a series of articles]

If you thought you were lucky because your 1979 income kept pace with inflation, you may feel less fortunate along about now, as you consider the effect of that added income on your tax bracket. Finding yourself in, say, the 40 percent bracket for the first time might give you nightmares about the tax collector taking 40 percent of that hard-earned salary, but that is not the way it works.

Such exaggerated fears, says the Wisconsin Institute of Certified Public Accountants, probably result from widespread misunderstanding of our progressive tax system. The system attempts to link tax rates to the ability to pay, but it is not nearly as confiscatory as "40 percent bracket" might suggest.

In fact, says the CPA society, there is so much confusion about the meaning of "tax brackets" that tax practitioners have begun using instead the term "marginal tax bracket" to indicate that your bracket affects only the leading edge — the last few hundred dollars or so, the margin — of your income. The rest of what you make is either taxed at a lower rate or not taxed at all.

(The CPA society says taxes have been rising faster than real incomes because they reflect pay increases that are largely illusory, thanks to inflation, but that is not the result of weakness in the tax system itself.)

Most of us have not just one but many tax brackets, each affecting a different level of income. The first $2300 of taxable income (after exemptions) for a single taxpayer, is in the zero bracket — no tax at all. (That's why what was formerly known as the standard deduction is now called the zero bracket amount). Even if you make millions, your first $2300 is untaxed.

Income over $2300 is taxed at 14 percent until it reaches $3400, when the rate climbs to 16 percent. At $4400 it rises to 18 percent and keeps on going up like that until, when taxable income passes $28,800, you begin paying over 40 percent — but on just a small part of your income.

If that's all tax bracket means, why is so much said and written about it? Because, the CPA Society explains, the highest tax rate one pays applies to the last dollar of income, as well as to the last deduction or adjustment, and that's where the most important action is for a person preparing a tax return.

If you are in the 40 percent bracket, for example, a nearly-overlooked $10 deduction can put $4 in your pocket. Fifty dollars of income that can be reclassified from taxable to non-taxable is worth about $20 in cash. A $1000 exemption is good for nearly $400 in cash.

Similarly, tacking on a final bonus, commission, dividend or other items of taxable income can mean ringing up 40 cents of taxes for every dollar of earnings. Out on the margin, the stakes are high. Which is a good reason, the CPA organization suggests, for doing a thorough job of checking financial records for the year to be sure you don't overlook a transaction from which your tax advisors might be able to realize a substantial tax savings. It's the tax break you nearly miss — the one you pluck seemingly out of nowhere — that counts the most, bringing the top rate of tax savings available to someone in your bracket.

If the savings are big enough, they can even take you down to a lower bracket.

(A third article in this series, about taxes on part-time business will appear in our next issue).

Infant Screening Program is New Aspect of Kiwanis Hearing Research

In 1975, the Kiwanis International Foundation established its Hearing Research Project, specifically designed to advance the state-of-the-art of hearing-impaired research. Since then, research has yielded definitive testing procedures for determining the exact cause and extent of hearing loss. This data is in turn shared with doctors around the world through scientific journals and meetings. Internationally, therefore, thousands of patients have benefited from this medically significant research project.

As the project's reputation has grown, so has the geographical range of patients referred to it for testing. Patients have come from throughout the United States, and Canada and from abroad. Although people of all ages have been tested at the laboratory, located at Mercy Hospital and Medical Center in Chicago, Illinois, children and infants receive the most benefit since their entire educational future rests upon precise diagnosis. It is with children in mind that the Kiwanis International Foundation plans to expand the scope of its Hearing Research Project.

In conjunction with the American Hearing Research Foundation, the Kiwanis International Foundation is establishing an Infant Hearing Screening program designed to detect hearing impairments in "high risk" infants. A high risk infant is specifically a child known (or suspected) to have serious mental or physical difficulties.

Research has shown that one in fifty of these infants will have a hearing impairment. At the present time, it is not standard procedure for hospitals with intensive care nurseries to test children for possible hearing loss. Your Kiwanis International Foundation believes that it is imperative that a systematic program for testing these infants be introduced in order to provide early information on the type of long-range educational program needed for each child. A child whose hearing impairment goes undetected for several months may always lag behind in speech and learning skills. This lost developmental time may never be recovered.

Since only one in fifty high risk infants will have a hearing impairment, it is not cost-effective to extensively test each infant in a laboratory as sophisticated as the one maintained at Mercy Hospital. Therefore, as part of its Hearing Research Project, the Kiwanis International Foundation has implemented an Infant Hearing Screening program which, by means of a small, portable, automated screening unit, will more efficiently determine probable hearing loss cases.

The portable unit is positioned next to the infant's crib in the intensive care nursery. The unit automatically presents audible sounds on a periodic basis and records the infant's physical responses over a period of hours. The unit keeps score of each response and tallies a final score, indicating whether the child has "passed or failed" this screening.

If a child fails the hearing screening, he or she is referred to a BERA (Brainstem Electric Response Audiometry) laboratory, such as the one maintained by the Foundation. The BERA laboratory will then provide definitive information about how well the baby hears. If a hearing loss is then detected, immediate steps are taken for appropriate hearing and speech management.

LOOK FOR ENERGY LABELING ON MAJOR APPLIANCES

New energy-labeling stickers will be appearing on many major appliances by late spring. Designed to stimulate competition on the basis of energy efficiency, they are required of manufacturers by federal agencies administering the 1975 Energy Policy and Conservation Act.

The new "energy guide" labels will be found on refrigerator/freezers as well as freezers, dishwashers, clothes washers, water heaters and air-conditioners. These appliances account for a sizable portion of American energy consumption.

The federally mandated yellow labels, about 5 by 7 inches, will highlight with an arrow the energy cost or efficiency disclosure (based on the national average energy rate) of the appliance to which it is attached. In addition, each tag will carry a bar graph comparing the labeled product's energy cost or efficiency with that of competing brands and a chart showing how to estimate the cost of running the appliance depending on local rates.

The distinctive black and yellow label will be prominently displayed on each appliance as a sticker, hand tag or flap-tag. Catalogs will carry the same information as do the labels. After May 19, it will be easier for consumers to comparison shop by energy cost.

Indians Belt Kettle Moraine, 82-64, Avenge Earlier Defeat

In their first meeting here, Kettle Moraine squeezed out a 65-64 victory over Kewaskum but it was an altogether different story on the Lasers' court Friday as the Indians hit Kettle with a vengeance to rout them by an 18-point margin, 82-64. The win upped the Indians' record to 7-5 and retained their third place tie with Mayville, which upset second place Grafton, 74-68.

The way the Indians looked Friday, it is hard to figure out how they could lose to the same team the first time around. Behind some hot shooting, they blasted off to a 22-10 first quarter lead and then coasted to an easy victory with a weak defensive effort by the Lasers.

The Indians were making good on their shots. Henry Schilter, Bob Nigh and Jim Rohlinger got the team off to a flying start with eight, six and six points respectively when Kewaskum hit on 11 of 14 shots. With the biggest lead they owned all season except against Pewaukee, the Indians kept rolling along.

In his best effort since the opening game of the season against Plymouth, Tom Kern had a torrid second quarter, hitting on all kinds of shots. He wound up with 17 points, right behind Nigh and Schilter, who scored 18 for the Indians. Rohlinger added 10 and reserve Randy Gust also had 10. Schilter again pleased the crowd with some fancy assists.

It was a fine effort by the entire team and Scott Brendemihl did a good job of guarding Kettle's star, Scott Carpenter, although he scored 20 points but he had to work for every one of them.

The JV's took a 71-43 licking from the first place Lasers. Dale Wodsedalek again was top scorer for the Indians with 15 points.

The Indians have a big game coming up this Friday night when they host rival Mayville to settle the third place tie. Both are 7-5. The winner will clinch at least a third place tie. Kewaskum won the first outing at Mayville, 72-63, with well balanced scoring.

Indians Qualify Four Wrestlers for Sectional

In the Regional wrestling tournament at Random Lake Saturday, Coach Fran Charland's surprising Kewaskum Indians qualified four wrestlers for the Sectional at Sheboygan Falls this Saturday and placed second out of six teams behind powerful Campbellsport, which is rated No. 1 in the state in Class B.

This is the first year in which a class system is being tried in the tournaments and Campbellsport, which probably could have won most Class A Regionals, dominated the Class B tourney at Random Lake by qualifying 10 of their wrestlers for sectional action. The Cougars amassed 230½ points to double the score of runnerup Kewaskum with 114½. Next came Random Lake 100½, West Milwaukee 74½, Pewaukee 56 and Slinger 51.

Campbellsport had nine champions and one runnerup and only Kewaskum ace Scott Klein prevented them from a tenth championship. Klein, the Indians' top hope of getting to State, outpointed the Cougars' Ray Del Ponte, 4-0, to win the 98-pound class. Klein, a junior, is 21-2 for the year.

Kewaskum ended up sixth in the Scenic Moraine Conference with a 3-4 record, which makes their showing in the Regional better than expected.

Other KHS qualifiers are Don Goeden at 112, Jeff Gundrum at 132, and Andy Strigenz at 185.

Two others, Bob Bastian and Vance Reif, lost in wrestlebacks. Reif was pinned by Campbellsport's Randy Narges in the finals in 5:33.

Goeden was just 2-12-1 for the season but he came through in the wrestleback and gained the second when he outpointed Slinger's Ted Corey, 7-2. Earlier Corey had beaten Goeden twice this year.

Gundrum beat Campbellsport's Bob Laudoff in the semis but he met his match in the finals where Bill McIntosh of West Milwaukee won 7-0.

Strigenz was a 7-0 loser to Ed Koffman of Campbellsport.

First Place KHS Chess Team Tips Hartford, Now 6-0

The Kewaskum High School chess team avenged its only dual meet loss of last year by defeating Hartford, 38-7. The win gave the Indians a perfect 6-0 record after playing each school in the league once.

The league will now be divided into two groups, the upper bracket, consisting of the four teams with the best record and the lower bracket consisting of the remaining three schools. The schools will play each team within its bracket one more time. The team has now won 13 of their last 14 conference matches.

Dusti Howell has clinched the scoring title again this year with a 6-0 record at board one for the maximum 60 points possible. Howell mated his opponent in 17 moves Tuesday in his shortest match of the season—41 minutes.

Chuck Strancke insured himself of the runner-up scoring trophy with a victory at board two. Chuck is 6-0 and has scored 51 points in the league. His closest opponent could only score 47 points. Strancke fell behind by a knight and two pawns but became even when he pinned his opponent's knight and finally gained a ½ pawn majority.

Kim Manthei boosted his season record to 5-1 with a victory at board three. Manthei, defeated Wayne Nickels, who had won the all-star trophy for 2nd board three weeks earlier. Manthei used a crushing opening attack to win the exchange of rook over knight and kept exchanging pieces to insure his win.

Tom Rosenberger lost at board four in a very close game when his opponent came up with a surprise tow move mate combination.

Steve Yahr, playing at 5th board for the 2nd match in a row had no trouble boosting his record to 5-0. Yahr pinned and won his opponent's rook and went on to win convincingly.

Rob Slegler had the only blow out of the match as his play was far superior to that of his opponent. Slegler is now 4-0-1.

The team must now wait until the rest of the league finishes play at the end of this week to see who their next opponent will be. The team is advised by Roy Peterson.

Second Place KHS Girls Rip Kettle Moraine

The Kettle Moraine girls team, which had won three of their last four games, came to Kewaskum Thursday night and were overwhelmed by the Indians, 63-30.

The KHS girls breezed to a 29-17 halftime lead and then, thanks to seven points by Jill Yearling, blew it open in the third quarter. Coach Mike Theiler was able to give everyone a chance to play.

Yearling who paced the Indians with 15 points, showed she is almost fully recovered from a sprained ankle. Linda Larsen added 11 points and Debbie Schlice nine. Reserve Mary Brenholt came in to score six.

Kewaskum is now 9-4 in the conference in second place and 13-4 overall.

Tournament play begins next week.

Southeast District

Snowmobiling and cross-country skiing conditions are fair throughout most of the district, but would be considered poor in northern Washington County and Sheboygan County. Ice fishing has been generally good for both panfish and game fish throughout the district. Northern pike are being taken on Big Cedar Lake and Pike Lake in Washington county, Random Lake in Sheboygan County, Eagle and Browns Lake in Racine County. A 30-pound northern was taken from Pike Lake in Washington County. Walleyes are being taken from Pike Lake in Washington County, Wind Lake in Racine County, Lake Geneva in Walworth County and Powers Lake in Kenosha county. A 9-pound walleye was taken recently in Powers Lake. Some trout and salmon are being caught at warm water discharge power plants on the shore of Lake Michigan. Rabbit hunting conditions are generally good for the February 28 extension of rabbit season.

Winnebago County — Fishing is generally slow on Lake Winnebago. During the opening weekend only ten sturgeon had been speared. Water clarity on Lake Winnebago varies from 5-10 feet. Walleyes are beginning to hit on Lake Poygan.
