Heavy Vote Here

Tessar, Theusch Returned As School Board Members

Despite the fact that there was no opposition for the Kewaskum Village Board and County Supervisor Charles Miller was unopposed, with the only contest being for School Board Member, there was a heavy village turnout at the polls in Tuesday's Spring Election. A total of 711 votes were cast, which is about 75% of the eligible voters. Apparently the Presidential Primary brought out the voters.

Even though the scattered totals from the towns of Scott, Mitchell and Ashford had not been reported yet Wednesday morning, in the Kewaskum School Board race, incumbents John Tessar and Richard Theusch were obviously the winners. Unofficial totals gave Tessar 1,709 votes and Theusch 1,637. Challenger Margaret McFadden came up with 1,106 for a good showing.

In the village Tessar led with 531 votes, followed by Theusch with 441 and McFadden with 365. Tessar was also high in the Town of Farmington with 442 votes, compared to 430 for Theusch and 267 for McFadden. In the Town of Wayne, his home area, Theusch led with 279 votes, as he did in the Town of Barton with 261. Tessar had 264 and 261 respectively.

Theusch will be starting his fourth three-year term and Tessar won a second full term.

Village Board members who were returned to office for

KHS to Present Musical Review

Kewaskum High School will be presenting a musical review called "Do you remember?" The show will present highlights from the musicals: "Music Man," "Sound of Music," "Godspell," "My Fair Lady," and "Fiddler on the Roof."

The show, which will be presented May 16, will also use slides as part of the presentation. The cast is looking for pictures or slides from "Music Man" and "Godspell." If anyone has materials which could be used would you please contact Bob Getter at 626-2846. Copies of your picture will be made so you will have the originals.

Tryouts have been held and the following children have made the show: Jim Philips, Mitzie Nigh, Toni Weisinger, Bridget McKenna, Shelly Staehler, Julie Strancke, Brad Dieringer, Kim Poling, and Tom Strigenz. These children will join a high school cast of 45 to present an original show written by Getter. Joining him in the show's direction will be Dave Bertelsen and Terry Bertelsen.

two-year terms without opposition were Raynor Herriges, Donald Mlodzik and Carl Spoeth, Jr. Herriges was the top vote getter with 636. Mlodzik was close behind with 620 and Spoeth received 607. The veteran Herriges will start his seventh term and Mlodzik won his second term. Spoeth will start his first full term, having been appointed last June to fill the spot vacated by Daniel Schmidt when he took over as village administrator. There were several write-in votes.

Charles Miller, who was unopposed for County Board Supervisor, received 628 votes. He will be starting his 10th year on the County Board.

On the Democratic ballot, local voters favored President Jimmy Carter in the Presidential Preference vote. Carter received 115 votes to 69 for Edward Kennedy, 39 for Edmund G. Brown, Jr. and 1 for Lyndon LaRouche. On the Republican ticket, Ronald Reagan won by a slight margin over George Bush, 179 to 169, while John B. Anderson got 111 votes, write-in candidate Gerald Ford 9, and John B. Connally and Howard H. Baker, Jr. 1 each.

For Justice of the Supreme Court Louis J. Ceci received 379 votes in the village, compared to 284 for Donald W. Steinmetz. But statewide Circuit Judge Steinmetz won a narrow victory over Milwaukee Judge Ceci.

For Court of Appeals Judge, Burton A. Scott won heavily over James Rector locally, 437 to 158. In the state voting Scott also defeated Rector.

In the Towns of Kewaskum and Wayne presidential candidates fared as follows:

Town of Kewaskum
361 votes cast

Democrat - LaRouche 1, Kennedy 41, Brown 25, Carter 71, Republican - Bush 100, Anderson 26, Reagan 86, Stassen 1, Ford 4, others 1.

Town of Wayne
377 votes cast

Democrat - LaRouche 5, Kennedy 43, Brown 23, Carter 72, Republican - Bush 58, Anderson 35, Reagan 129, Connally 2.

Parade Theme for Picnic Announced

The Kewaskum Firemen and Legion picnic committee has already started work on the 1980 picnic scheduled for July 12 and 13. The committee wishes to announce the 1980 parade theme "Looking Towards the 80's." The committee extends to all interested parties an invitation to build a float to help us make this a super parade and to kick-off the 80's.

'Tiny' Retires From Miller's

"Tiny" Terlinden

After 41 years of faithful service, Sylvester "Tiny" Terlinden is retiring from his work at Miller's Furniture, Kewaskum. "Tiny" began his duties at the store back in 1939, several years after he graduated from Kewaskum High School. His career was interrupted for three years while he served with the U.S. Armed Forces in the European Theater with the 94th Division in World War II.

Then he came back to Kewaskum where he resumed working. While at Miller's, "Tiny" performed a variety of duties including unpacking new furniture and preparing it for delivery, furniture repair, art work and picture framing, drapery installation, and delivery work.

"Tiny" has a hobby, his music. He played the organ at a number of Washington County supper clubs and still plays on Friday night at Hon-E-Kor Country Club.

Now that he is retired, "Tiny" plans to concentrate on his hobbies - playing the organ and working in his garden. He and his sister, Ione, live at 232 Forest Avenue in Kewaskum.

Terlinden is a longtime member of the Robert G. Romaine American Legion Post No. 384 in Kewaskum. At one time, he served as commander of the post. He is also a member of the Peace United Church of Christ and is a retired member of the Kewaskum Auxiliary Police.

Terlinden is a valued employee of the Miller organization. He always was very particular in doing his work, which was greatly appreciated by Miller's and their valued customers. The entire Miller family wishes him well on his retirement.

Memories...

The Statesman welcomes readers to submit photos for the "Memories" feature. Photos should show life in the olden days in this area. Deliver or mail to The Statesman, 250 Main St., Kewaskum, WI 53040. Photos can be picked up again after publication.

The above photo was taken during the flood in August of 1924 by Edw. C. Miller, showing the old steel bridge on lower Main Street. Driving across the bridge was not permitted as a safety precaution against the bridge collapsing. Milk deliveries had to be carried across the bridge.

WEEKLY Health Tip

from Tom Leitzke, R.P.H.

Heard the expression, "My feet are killing me"? One suggestion - be sure your shoes are correctly fitted. High heels cramp your tendons and cause imbalance of weight on your toes. Wear high heels only briefly. Switch to lower-heeled shoes that don't jolt the body with every step.

For 'burning feet' realize that nylon stockings or imitation leather shoes retain heat and burn the feet. Change to cotton stockings and real leather shoes which 'breathe' thru natural pores.

BY THE YEAR 2000, MILLIONS OF AMERICAN FAMILIES WILL HAVE ONE OF THESE.

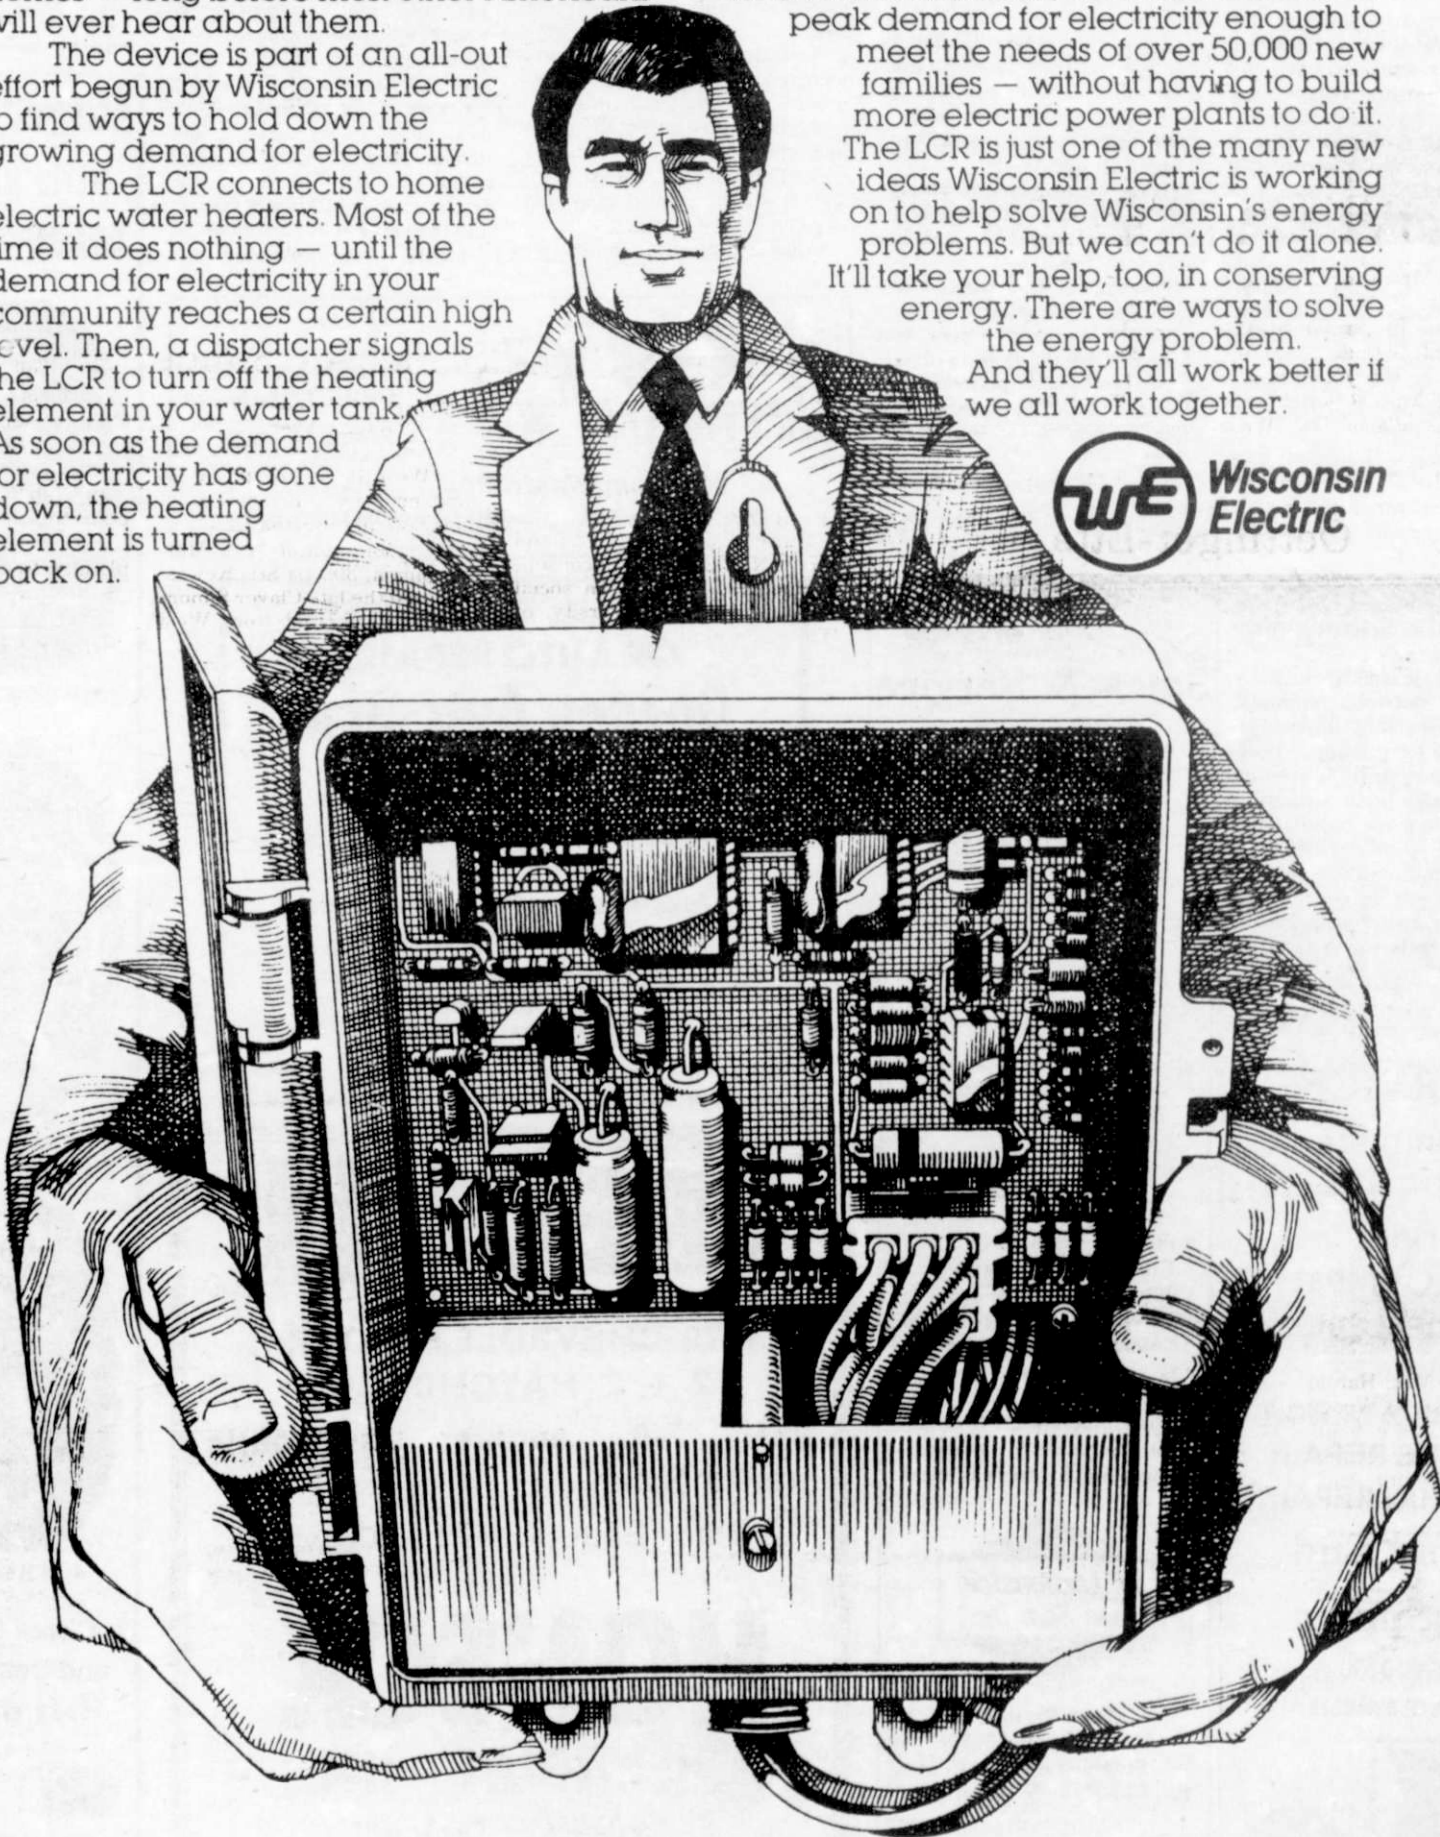

The device is called a Load Control Receiver, or LCR for short. And right now, in one of the first programs of its kind, thousands of Wisconsin families are volunteering to have them installed in their homes — long before most other Americans will ever hear about them.

The device is part of an all-out effort begun by Wisconsin Electric to find ways to hold down the growing demand for electricity.

The LCR connects to home electric water heaters. Most of the time it does nothing — until the demand for electricity in your community reaches a certain high level. Then, a dispatcher signals the LCR to turn off the heating element in your water tank. As soon as the demand for electricity has gone down, the heating element is turned back on.

People won't be inconvenienced because the hot water in the tank is enough to get most households through those periods when the heating element is turned off.

If most electric water heaters in this area had an LCR installed, we could reduce the peak demand for electricity enough to meet the needs of over 50,000 new families — without having to build more electric power plants to do it. The LCR is just one of the many new ideas Wisconsin Electric is working on to help solve Wisconsin's energy problems. But we can't do it alone. It'll take your help, too, in conserving energy. There are ways to solve the energy problem. And they'll all work better if we all work together.

4-H Livestock Projects Will Be Discussed at West Bend Meeting

There's more to 4-H livestock projects than dollars and cents. Every livestock project member should learn about keeping track of income and expenses, but members, parents and leaders should also consider the many other lessons to be learned from a livestock project. Carl Hirshinger, UW Extension livestock specialist will be discussing livestock project on April 10. It will be at 7:30 p.m. at the 4-H Office in West Bend.

Four-H livestock projects often involve a one-to-one relationship between a project member and a parent or leader. This close relationship provides many opportunities for both youth and adult to learn.

Often people focus only on such areas of 4-H livestock projects as buying the animals and weighing them for performance traits, and training, fitting and showing, which are considered fun. Many times, however, the real learning experiences in livestock projects aren't so much fun.

The daily routines of feeding, watering and otherwise caring for animals may not be fun, but they do teach responsibility. That assumes the member does the work and does not leave it all to his or her parents.

Learning to handle responsibility prepares youngsters for the working world.

Parents and 4-H leaders can help members learn about proper animal nutrition, health care management and animal growth.

County rate-of-gain trails help members learn how management and selection play roles in growth.

Members learn to identify differences between animals, which are especially important. Researchers have found a positive relationship between animal frame—bone structure—and ability to grow rapidly.

Livestock project members can learn about marketing. This is the weakest area of most Wisconsin youth livestock programs. There is much more to marketing than selling animals at a local fair auction, often above real market values. Members may learn more when their animal doesn't make county fair auction requirements and is sold through regular market channels.

Livestock projects develop patience in 4-H members. Anyone who has taught an animal to lead has learned about patience.

Members can learn about the livestock industry. They can participate in various livestock associations and often get involved with people raising the same kinds of animals.

Members can also learn about science and technology. They discover and learn to appreciate the role research plays in meat animals production.

Livestock project members can learn about food production. The main reason for livestock production is to produce high quality meat from forages and grains.

Livestock projects can involve the entire family. Families learn to divide responsibilities and to work together.

Showing at the county fair highlights the year for most livestock project members, but shouldn't be an end in itself. Shows are a good opportunity to compare skills and animals, to make friends and to learn from others.

Whether a youth raises a big beef animal or a small rabbit, a 4-H livestock project can be a good learning experience which can draw the family closer together.

Recycled Materials — A Way to Save Energy

by Beth Stoffel
Recycling Chairman
Kewaskum Jr. Woman's Club

This article is the third in a series of four articles on recycled materials.

The Kewaskum Recycling Center has been taking in glass since it opened in 1974. In that time 56½ tons of glass have been recycled. In recent years the clean, color-separated glass has been sold to Re Com Inc., a glass recycling firm of Brookfield.

Re Com takes our glass and using a patented process removes the metal contaminants and labels and crushes the glass into chunks no larger than ½ inch. This product, called "cullet" is the material that is sold to glass manufacturers.

Common glass is made by heating a mixture of silica, common sand, limestone and soda ash to 2900 degrees F. in a glass making furnace. It can also be made by leaving out the soda ash and heating to 3000 degrees F. This is where the recycled "cullet" comes in.

Soda ash acts as a flux allowing the mixture to melt at lower temperatures. But since soda ash is mined in Wyoming it is becoming increasingly expensive to use as transportation costs rise. In glass making furnaces, cullet acts like soda ash in that it also allows melting at lower temperatures. So with the costs of natural gas (to heat the furnaces) and soda ash rising, glass manufacturers are using more cullet to replace some soda ash.

According to Brenda Norris, mix and melt supervisor of Anchor Hocking Glass Co., their company used to run about 5% cullet in its glass making furnaces. It is currently using 35% cullet in its amber glass furnace and 15% in its clear glass furnace. She said, one furnace runs at 2770 degrees F. and the other at 2720 degrees F. Cullet picks up heat and carries it throughout the melting raw material, reducing its operating temperature. Also using less soda ash reduces air pollution.

So using the cullet saves energy at the furnace, saves energy used to transport the soda ash from Wyoming and saves energy it takes to mine the raw materials. As energy becomes more and more precious in the years ahead any way to save by reusing available resources will put us ahead and make us more competitive.

My last article will deal with recycling tin cans.

civic responsibilities will not be able to afford adequate functioning, just to list a few cases.

The telephone companies may try, in the face of opposition, to give us a watered-down version such as that they are already pushing on Wisconsin businesses. The best policy is to not allow this service in any form to be introduced. We do not want to lose our inherent right to use phones in necessary everyday functioning as members of our communities.

In my research I have discovered that AT&T, the largest company in the world (and that netted $5.67 billion last year), has had a master plan for promoting and setting up LMS since before 1977! Throughout the U.S. people are fighting it. For instance, Virginia passed legislation prohibiting the phone companies from giving businesses LMS.

Wisconsin will not benefit from LMS, because it will add to our inflation in at least three ways: (1) prices and services (to help pay for businesses' phone bills), (2) taxes (to help pay for institutions' phone bills), and (3) our own phone bills. Please make your voice heard on April 10!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

March 21, 1980

Dear Editor,

How much does your phone mean to you?

Did you know that the Wisconsin Public Service Commission is considering Local Measured Service (LMS), which is, really, every call a toll call for all Wisconsin residents?

One of the last chances you will have to say anything about it will be April 10 beginning at 10:00 a.m. in the P.S.C. Hearing Room, 4802 Sheboygan Avenue which is just off University Avenue on the west side of Madison (look for the "Hill Farms State Office Building" sign).

The Wisconsin Telephone Company and its followers, without using figures, claim LMS will be cheaper for 60% of the people and more expensive for 40%. Actually, it is a new way for these companies to get their feet in the door for later rate raises. People will be confined in communications more than ever, forced to make an economic determination each time the phone is picked up. (Please note: Wisconsin Telephone Company has "limited calling" available to customers for a cheaper rate already, so who needs LMS?)

Wisconsin Telephone Company claims it will make LMS optional, and those who want flat rate service can have it. We now know that they plan to eventually double or triple the flat rates, creating an atmosphere whereby people will eventually choose LMS.

LMS sounds fair enough: everyone pays for what he or she uses. The problem is: those who are confined depend heavily on the phone, and community volunteers who use the phone in

Split With Plymouth, Lake Mills

Girls Third, Boys Fifth in Scenic Moraine Indoor Meet

Kewaskum High's track teams split last Tuesday, the girls winning easily, 61-39 over Plymouth and the boys losing, 73-45.

In the high hurdles, John Czoschke and Tom Kern went 1-2 in identical times of 7.3. Jeff Decker took the lows with Czoschke close behind. Mike Pettit took the 45 meter dash in 5.5. In the pole vault, shot put and 1600 meter race, the Indians earned just one point while the Panthers scored 26. Pettit doubled in the long jump with 19-10. Plymouth had good depth.

Katie Lightner was held out the girl's competition because of a muscle pull and this hurt. After Plymouth moved ahead 32-27, the Indians came through in their best events, the 400 meter race, the 800 and 200 and ran away with the meet. Freshman Linda Larsen and Barb Wilson took 1-2 in the 400; Diane Bremser and Carrie Dreher were first and second in the 800, and Larsen and Lisa Kempf were 2-3 in the 200. The Indians' 16 lap relay team did great, lapping the Panthers' quarter. All four KHS runners were 1:05 or better.

The girls' team has 13 letter winners back with only two seniors. Diane Bremser and Laurie Wilson have participated in a couple of state meets. Heading the juniors is Barb Wilson, state Class B 880 champion.

Thursday night's Scenic Moraine Indoor Meet at UW-M, Milwaukee, was the last in conference history.

Eleven records were set in the event, 7 by the boys and 4 by the girls, and one more was tied. Hartland defended its boys' championship and Slinger took the girls' title by placing in 10 of 12 events. The Kewaskum girls placed third and the boys fifth.

In the finals of the first event, Kewaskum's Katie Lightner ran the 60 yard hurdles in 8.9 to break her own record of 9.1. Other than Lightner, Kewaskum's only other win was turned in by Julann Zemlicka in the 220 with a 28.5. Jill Yearling picked up second in the high jump and the 880 relay team third. Zemlicka was a part of both relay units and picked up a fifth in the long jump, just missing second.

Among the boys, the Indians' top placer was Jim Geldreich, who jumped 5-10 in the high jump for a second place. Coach Dave Drexler was satisfied with the team effort, however.

Saturday Kewaskum hosted an indoor meet against Lake Mills with the girls winning easily, 57-43, and the boys losing in the final event of the day, 62-59.

Feature of the boys' events were a 45-5 1/2 toss by Mike Pettit in the shot put, his best distance ever, and another 5-10 jump by Geldreich in the high jump. Both took firsts. Pettit also won the 45 meter dash.

Joel Hergiges had another good day after placing in three events in the Scenic indoor with firsts in the 220 and 400 and a third in the long jump. The Indians probably would have fared better but two regulars, Jeff Decker and John Czoschke, were missing. Also Craig Larsen false-started in the two mile.

The two mile girls' relay unit — Barb and Laurie Wilson, Julann Zemlicka and Diane Bremser set a new personal low for the year, a 4:20.0. Laurie Wilson was ill for the Scenic meet.

Tuesday the Washington County Indoor meet was held at West Bend. Details next week.

Kewaskum Splits Two Lakes Games, Loses in Tourney

The Kewaskum Lakes team had a busy weekend, splitting a pair of league games and losing in tournament play.

The team is now in position to tie Hartford for second place in the "B" Division with a win in the season finale at Port Washington Saturday at 7:30 p.m. This would give the team a trophy.

Saturday night in the final home game, Kewaskum used a three-man offense to top Slinger, 135-125. Ken Loest, Clark Eichstedt and Tom Kern led the winners with 44, 38 and 22 points, respectively. Ted Miller scored 3 points in the last 18 seconds and now has a 57-point total for the season. Russ Nehm led Slinger with 33.

Sunday night Kewaskum was defeated by the strong Division "A" team, the Menomonee Falls Stingers, by a close 134-126 margin. Kewaskum led 62-60 at the half before getting outscored 46-32 in the third period. Eichstedt paced the losers with 40 points, while Joe Fox scored 30 for the Stingers.

In addition to playing two league contests, Kewaskum, with key players missing, also participated in the Howards Grove tournament Saturday afternoon, losing a first round game to Dale's Bar No. 2 of Sheboygan Falls, 79-59. The loss put Kewaskum in the consolation bracket of the meet with the next game scheduled for Wednesday against Hagen Construction of Little Chute. With a win they would play another game Thursday. Mike Hughes led Kewaskum against Dale's Bar with 16 points.
