Pat, who heard from 12 former AFS students last year, thought it would be nice to publish the letter, which follows:

Dear all the members of AFS Kewaskum Committee:

How have you all been? I've been doing just fine and enjoying my school life. As you know, I graduated from high school last March and entered the Unv. in April. Since then I've been very busy and I've failed to write to you. Please forgive me for not writing you sooner. My studies are fine. I'm in the Faculty of Foreign Affairs and my major is studies of Hispanoamerica. Our teachers are very strict and we really have to study hard, but they are, at the same time, very much concerned about us, and we are lucky to have such good teachers.

I have got involved in AFS Japan Association recently. AFS Japan is run by voluntary activities mostly of college students, and one of my friends who had already worked for a year for AFS asked me to join them. I worked to raise subscriptions from companies.

I realized how much work has been done for exchanging students among countries, and learned that there were always many people working as volunteers.

You are also those great people who give us opportunities to live in U. S. Thank you very much for working for AFS. And I'm sure I was one of the luckiest students to live in Kewaskum.

This card is very late. So I'd like to wish you all a Happy New Year and hope your Christmas was a wonderful one! Please say hello to the AFS students of this year.

Vil. Board Approves Cable TV Ordinance by Unanimous Vote

By GERRY MUELLER Statesman Staff Writer

By unanimous vote Monday evening, the Kewaskum Village Board moved to adopt the revised cable television ordinance presented by Village Administrator Dan Schmidt.

President Gerald Stollenwerk noted that adoption of the ordinance did not constitute any formal agreement with any specific company. The ordinance simply set regulations which are to be followed by whichever company supplies cable service to the village.

Schmidt will contact River Bend and request they present their formal proposal at the next meeting.

Wastewater Superintendent Pete Albers asked for and received approval to have the five sludge pumps rebuilt at a cost not to exceed $12,000.00. Albers noted the pumps have been running for 25 years and are so worn he can no longer re-pack them.

Paul Blumer, Public Services Chairman, presented the new garbage and refuse collection ordinance. Adoption was tabled until the board's next meeting since Trustee Jeff Rohrer received his copy late and wanted additional time to review the and the ladders attached. Rohrer also noted the new bleachers for the ball diamonds had arrived.

Rohrer gave a short summary of the meeting regarding Tax Increment Financing programs. Stollenwerk requested the trustees review and evaluate the TIF project list so a formal list can be formulated as soon as possible for presentation to the Plan Commission at its next meeting January 27.

The board approved issuance of a bartender's license for Morris Belger upon payment of proper fees.

1980 a Good Year for County Soil And Water Conservation District

The Washington County Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) saw an increase of interest toward soil and water conservation in 1980, as verified by comparison of progress in 1979 and 1980. As some examples: There were 29 farmers who became new district cooperators in 1980, as compared to 25 in 1979. The district also serviced more landowners in 1980 than in 1979, increasing from 379 in 1979 to 397 in 1980. Conservation plans were developed on 5,574 acres of land in 1980, as compared to 4,545 acres in 1979, an increase of over 1,000 acres.

Application of several conservation practices was also on the increase in 1980. There were 405 acres on contour stripcropping laid out in 1980, as compared to 229 acres in 1979. One practice which is rapidly gaining popularity around the county is the use of minimum or conservation tillage, rather than the conventional mold board plowing. In 1980, 3,215 acres of cropland were tilled with some type of conservation tillage, as compared to 1,278 acres in 1979. Construction of terraces and diversione increased drastically from 125 feet total in 1979 to 2,725 feet in 1980. The construction of grass waterways was down in 1980 due to a very rainy summer. Many waterways were started but not finished because of the muddy conditions.

The Washington County Soil and water Conservation District is established to serve the citizens of Washington County in solving soil and water problems, and will continue to serve the public further in 1981.

Ag College 'Sneak Preview' Attended By Area Student

More than 100 outstanding Wisconsin high school seniors with farm backgrounds spent two days, Dec. 29-30, getting a first-hand look at the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences (CALS) at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, as well as a sampling of the many career opportunities open to them.

A student who attended the CALS "Sneak Preview" from this area is Susan Schaub, 4991 St. Kilian Dr., Route 2, Kewaskum.

The visiting students, from high school throughout Wisconsin, spent much of their time discussing degree requirements and career opportunities with CALS administrators, faculty members from the College's 20 departments and centers, and recent graduates. Opportunities for financial aid and for participation in the College's "worklearn" internship program were also outlined for the students.

"Today there is a greater need than ever in agriculture for men and women with farm backgrounds," explains Rick Daluge, the CALS assistant dean who arranged the event.

Daluge adds that the "Sneak Preview" is designed to recruit the much-sought-after students with farm backgrounds. But more important, he says, the event gives the students a chance to see the personal side of UW-Madison and its programs, which often does not come through in informational brochures.

Besides getting acquainted with academic opportunities, the seniors toured the UW Arlington Experimental Farm, American Breeders Service, De-Forest, and attended the play, "The Sound of Music."

While in Madison, the students, who were selected from hundreds of applicants, were the guests of Bradford Richmond Trust Fund, Cargill, Inc., and CALS.

Change Driving Habits to Save Fuel

By Dan A. Wilson Resource Agent UW Extension, West Bend

Unless drivers can voluntarily cut gasoline use in the months ahead, the problem of rising fuel cost may be compounded by recent OPEC crude oil price increases.

How difficult would it be for the average driver to cut fuel use by five per cent? Not hard at all! In fact, some simple changes in driving habits can improve mileage by 30 per cent or more.

In traffic around town, watch the road well ahead to spot traffic lights, tie-up or other problems that lead to fuel-wasting stop-and-go driving. A light touch on both gas and brake pedal will help you maintain a steady, moderate speed, squeezing the most from every gallon of gas.

Beyond the basic rule of moderate but steady speed, there are several other ways to cut fuel use.

*Avoid long warm-ups. Even on cold mornings, your car should be ready to go after just 30 seconds to a minute! Drive slowly the first 15-20 miles until your car has warmed up completely.

*Use the brake, not the gas pedal, to hold your car in place when stopped on a hill.

*If you're going to be stopped at a train crossing, drive-in window or road construction area for more than 30 seconds, turn off your engine. An idling engine burns about a half-pint of gas every six minutes. It will take less gas to restart the warm engine than to leave it running.

*Don't rev the engine just before shutting it off. That not only wastes gas—it could damage the engine. Raw fuel washes away the protective oil film that coats engine cylinders, increasing engine wear.

*During the summer, use your air conditioner sparingly. It can cut 20 per cent off your mileage at urban driving speeds.

As you head for the open road, accelerate smoothly but quickly. Move through the lower gears briskly to get the engine up to efficient operating speed.

On the highway, don't drive faster than 55 miles per hour. In fact, 50 will save even more fuel. and even on long trips, won't add more than a few minutes to your travel time. As a rule of thumb, every mile per hour over 50 cuts mileage for the average car by about one mile per gallon.

On holiday or vacation trips, start early in the morning to avoid rush-hour traffic near urban areas. (You might try stopping for meals during those peak traffic periods.)

Other tips for saving fuel on the open highway:

*Keep windows closed at turnpike speed; use fresh-air vents or your air conditioner instead. Open windows increase air resistance at highway speeds, cutting mileage.

*Clean out your trunk before you leave. Every 100 pounds of extra weight cuts one to oneand-a-half mile's per gallon off your mileage.

*Pack all luggage inside the car if possible. Stacking it on the roof increases air resistance, cutting fuel mileage.

A fuel safety tip: do not carry spare cans of gasoline in your car. One gallon of gasoline contains the energy equivalent of 50 sticks of dynamite, and spilled fuel could turn a minor fender-bender into a real tragedy.

A flying honeybee beats its wings 250 times a second.

WINTER ESCAPE ALONG LAKE MICHIGAN

Madison, WI - An exhilarating Wisconsin winter outing offers great rewards according to Don Woodruff, Executive Director of the Division of Tourism. "All you need is warm clothes, warm boots and the desire to have fun," Woodruff said. "Try this trip.

From Milwaukee head north on 1-43 to Port Washington. Stop for coffee and view the interesting harbor. You can buy fresh Lake Michigan fish at one of the local markets, then it's back to I-43 and on north to Sheboygan.

Take the first exit, Business 42, and look for one of the many meat markets that feature the famous Sheboygan brats. You can even check with the local people or the telephone book and go right to the sausage maker if you wish.

For a little change of scenery, take County Road LS north out of town. This surfaced road will take you along the lake shore to the twin cities to Manitowoc-Two Rivers. If you follow the lake you'll have a chance for interesting pictures of the ice along the beach and breakwater. Since it will be close to lunch time, seek out one of the many fine short order restaurants or supper clubs and have fresh Lake Michigan perch for lunch. Or would you rather cook your own?

If you didn't buy perch at Port Washington, there are excellent fresh fish markets here too. Follow the sign north from Two Rivers to Point Beach State Forest. Here in the shelter of the beautiful pines are campsites and outdoor grills where the hardy can make their own lunch and really have a gourmet story to tell their friends when they get home. Before you leave the peace and quiet of the forest, walk along the beach before getting back in your car. Then follow 177 back to Highway 42 and it's on north through Kewaunee and Algoma to Door County

Before taking the Door County loop, drive out to Potawatomi State Park. Not only will you enjoy the park and the shorelines, but you can climb the observation tower for a great view of the Green Bay waters. On a clear day you can see the city of Marinette off to the northwest.

Door county is famous for tart pie cherries and apples. Naturally, where there are orchards you will also find excellent honey. Keep your eyes open for stores and orchards to stop at as you take Highway 42 on north all the way to Gills Rock at the end of the peninsula. When you get to Fish Creek take the road through Peninsula State Park which loops along Green Bay and back out at Ephraim. Want a thrilling ride? Park your car and take the ferry across to Washington Island and back, or if time permits, take your car and stay overnight. (Check the winter schedules before making plans).

Now it's back south taking Highway 57 where it cuts off at Sister Bay to drive along the Lake Michigan side of Door County. If you've lingered too long, you may decide to stay in one of the many excellent motels in Door County. The Chamber of Commerce at Sturgeon Bay (phone No. (414) 743-4456) can help locate the right accommodations for you. If it's still early, continue south on Highway 57 to Green Bay and enjoy the nightlife. Get lodging help from the Green Bay Area Visitor and Convention Bureau (phone No. (414) 494-9507) and don't forget to enjoy their many attractions along with a little shopping.

Why not return a different route? Continue south on High-

VOTING BY ABSENTEE BALLOT

Any qualified voter, unable to get to the polling place on election day, may ask to vote by absentee ballot. A qualified voter is one who is a U.S. citizen, will be 18 years of age or older on election day, and who has resided in the ward or aldermanic district where voting is desired to be accomp-lished for at least 10 days prior to the election. If the voter resides in a municipality which requires voter registration, then registration is also a requisite for the voter who is qualified in other respects.

County Wool Program Applications Are Due

Donald E. Sampson, ASCS Washington County Executive Director, reminds wool growers that the 1980 wool marketing year ended December 31. Growers have until January 30 to apply for payment on wool and unshorn lambs.

The USDA announced that the incentive price for shorn wool is $1.23 per pound for the 1980 marketing year. This is based on earlier filed applications for determining the national average price of wool.

If unshorn lambs or wool were sold in 1980 and an application has not been filed, the day before the election in the case of applications made in the clerk's office.

With one exception, the voter who wants to cast an absentee ballot must make a separate application before each election. Voters indefinitely confined to their home or care facility because of illness, age or disability need not file an application before each election; a special statement on the application form can be completed asking that an absentee ballot be automatically mailed to them before each election; if they fail to make and return the ballots sent to them in an election, they must complete another application later on.

later on. Absentee ballots can be voted at home anytime after they arrived in the mail. They can also be voted right in the clerk's office if submitting the application in person. If returning the ballots by mail, the affidavit-certificate must be properly completed and witnessed by two persons. If returning the ballots in person, the affidavit-certificate must be properly completed and subscribed and sworn to by the clerk or the deputy clerk who are authorized to administer oaths. In either case, the marked, sealed ballot must be in the hands of the issuing municipal clerk on or before election day. Any absentee ballot received at the polling place after the polls close or received in incomplete or improper form cannot be counted. counted

Indians Beat Chilton for First Conference Victory

In an oddly scheduled basketball game that was played during the holiday vacation, the day after New Year's the Kewaskum Indians won their first victory of the season in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference at Chilton Friday, 68-61.

The Indians, who are now 1-2 in the conference and 3-6 overall, won on a 26-point performance by 6-2 forward Brian Larsen. Brian sank 9 baskets and made good on 8 free CHIL throws.

Kewaskum's big 24-13 scor- Bolz ing advantage in the third Mey quarter and their 22 free throws Con-compared to only 5 for Chilton Hert made the difference in the Ried Tota game.

Led by Larsen's 11 points, the Chilt Indians turned a 29-28 halftime advantage into a 12-point lead by the end of the third quarter.

Chilton, paced by center Mike Connors' 19 points, narrowed the gap to 5 points about halfway through the last period but could not overcome the lead, mainly due to the Indians' free throw shooting. Kewaskum hit on 22 of 32 free throws in the game.

To go along with his 26 points, Larsen also snared a game-high 17 rebounds in his best contest of the season.

Indian Girls Win Easily Over Chilton

The Kewaskum girls basketball team returned to action Tuesday night by thumping Chilton here, 55-34

Following the holiday break, the Indians played very well, especially their "man-to-man" defense. All of the 13 girls who suited up saw action in the one-sided contest.

The Indians jumped off to a 7-0 lead and with Linda Larsen hitting for 7 of her 18 points in the first eight minutes, Kewaskum led 12-8 at the quarter.

The Indians continued to increase their lead as they outscored Chilton in every quarter, leading 29-18 at half-time. After Chilton's Connie Piepenberg went out on fouls in the fourth period Kewaskum had things their own way and moved ahead at one point by 24 points.

Center Dale Wodsedalek also did well with 16 points and 14 rebounds.

Following Connors' 19 points for Chilton, were Rieder with 16, Hemauer with 9 and Bolz with 8.

The Indians will be busy this weekend, playing two games on successive nights. Friday they host Kiel and Saturday they travel to Plymouth.

Cold Facts BLIZZARDS OF YORE SANK SHIPS AND HELPED WIN A WAR FOR U.S.

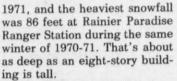

"Where are the snows of yesterday?" asked an American writer named Justin McCarthy, echoing a question first raised several centuries earlier by the French poet Francois Villon.

If McCarthy, who died in 1936, had only looked, he would have found the answer. Those snows-the big ones, anyway-are preserved in history and record books.

The current Christmas issue of National Wildlife magazine takes a look at those books and comes up with some cold facts concerning the most fearsome, frigid winters of yester-year:

The lowest temperature ever recorded in the U.S., according to the National Wildlife Federation's bimonthly, was minus 79.8 degree's at Prospect Creek, Alaska, on January 23,

One of the earliest American blizzards tracked down by National Wildlife was in February, 1698. One New England pioneer called it "the terriblest winter ever" as Boston got buried under 42 inches of white stuff. And that was before the days of snow plows.

Perhaps the granddaddy of all blizzards was in March of 1888. From the Chesapeake Bay to Maine, for four days, an average of 40 inches of snow buried the region. Winds gusted up to 70 miles per hour, and there were more than 400 deaths-200 in New York City alone. Train passengers were marooned and 200 ships foundered.

One historic snowstorm came as a disguised blessing. At 6 p.m. on Christmas Day, 1776, a bitterly cold blizzard struck the East. General George Washington wrote in his diary: "The wind is northeast and beats in the faces of the men. It will be a terrible night for the soldiers who have no shoes. Some of them have tied old rags around their feet, but I have not heard a man complain.

Later that night Washington crossed the Delware with his shivering army of 2,400 men and slipped into Trenton, N.J. After a long night of Christmas revelry, the Hessian mercenaries were no match for the "The ragged Americans. Revolutionary War would not be won for five more years," says National Wildlife, "but the Battle of Trenton was a turning point. Had it not been for the cover of the snowstorm, it might have gone the other way.'
