Supt. Brenholt Resigning to Accept Hartford Position

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

After eleven years with the Kewaskum School District, Superintendent Floyd Brenholt has decided to continue his career in the employ of the Hartford School District.

Brenholt stated Tuesday he will submit his resignation at the end of June which coincides with the end of the 1981-82 term of his contract, with three years of that contract left.

Brenholt will be replacing Hartford's Superintendent Donato, who resigned to move to Florida where his family is already living.

Brenholt stated the position he has accepted is basically that of Superintendent with some principal's responsibilities. Brenholt noted the principal's duties would be on a lesser scale since the Hartford District has three assistant principals, a business manager and accountant.

Brenholt accepted the job during a meeting of the Hartford School Board Thursday night. Brenholt's salary with Hartford will be $38,500.

When Brenholt came to Kewaskum, his duties included that of superintendent and business manager. Later he was assisted by a services manager, a position which was not state certified. Four years ago Robert Borch was hired as business manager allowing Brenholt to concentrate his time and efforts as superintendent of the Kewaskum School District.

Many people have said they are sorry to see Brenholt go. One district resident stated, "he (Brenholt) must have something going for him, Hartford sure snapped him up in a hurry." Board member Jean Goeden stated she knew nothing about the workings of a school system when she was first elected to the board. "Through Mr. Brenholt I learned an awful lot about schools and how they work and I feel that he has helped me to serve the district better," said Goeden. When asked how he felt about Brenholt's resignation, a Kewaskum resident stated, "I think it stinks, I like Floyd Brenholt and I think he was doing a good job for the District. I hate to see him leave."

With Brenholt's resignation, the School Board will be faced with the problem of finding a replacement who is not only available but also qualified to accept the position.

Father Budde Leaving Holy Trinity Parish

In keeping with the policy of Archbishop Weakland of Milwaukee, Rev. John T. Budde, pastor of Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Kewaskum, and St. Bridget's Mission Church, Town of Wayne, will be leaving here effective July 13.

Father Budde will be moving to his home town of Beaver Dam. He will live at the Budde homestead, one mile from Beaver Dam, with his brother, Richard Budde and family. He will assist Father Walsh at St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Beaver Dam.

Father Budde came to Kewaskum in June, 1958, replacing the late Rev. F. C. LaBuw, who had been pastor since 1941, and who was transferred to St. Mary's Church, Racine, at that time.

While Father Budde was pastor, the congregation celebrated the one-hundredth anniversary of its founding at a Solemn High Mass on Sunday, September 30, 1962.

The congregations have grown throughout his 24 years as pastor here and Holy Trinity now has over 400 member families. St. Bridget's has over 60 families.

Archbishop Weakland will announce the replacement for Father Budde. Father Herbert Waldkirch will remain as assistant at Holy Trinity.

Father Budde, a dedicated pastor, will always be remembered here for his generosity and love of children. We shall all miss him and wish him good health and happiness in his semi-retirement.

Board Okays Preliminary Work For 1983 Village Re-assessment

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

In response to a recommendation by the Kewaskum Board of Review, the Village Board has directed Village Administrator Dan Schmidt to begin the groundwork for a complete revaluation of all real and personal property within the village for the 1983 assessment year.

Schmidt said the last re-assessment was done in 1976-77 and became effective in 1977. The Department of Revenue presently suggests communities re-assess every five years. President Jerry Stollenwerk noted the village had been contemplating such a program when funds for the survey could be worked into the budget. Schmidt stated the last prices he had gotten for assessment work was $8.00 to $30.00 per parcel, depending upon how busy the assessors were. With 804 parcels in the village, Schmidt said the board would be looking at a cost of $16,000 to $24,000.

The Review Board's letter also stated, "the village board should also be made aware of the fact that effective January 1, 1986, it will be a statutory requirement that all local assessments be maintained at a 90% to 100% level to equalized valuation." Schmidt also stated that as of 1986, it will also be a mandatory part of this same law that property be assessed on an annual basis. Schmidt said the original legislation called for mandatory assessment every five years, however, that was line-vetoed and changed to annually.

Schmidt said the taxpayers should not become alarmed that this will result in a large increase in their taxes, but rather a more fair and equitable appraisal of all the properties throughout the village.

In other action, the board opened bids for electrical work at Kiwanis Park for the service distribution center, walkway lighting and power to the existing concession stand.

The five bids ran from a low of $10,400 from Kirchner Electric of West Bend, to a high of $15,880 from Kettle Moraine Electric of Kewaskum. President Stollenwerk asked the village's electrical consultant to review the bids and make his recommendations to the board at its June 21 meeting.

Dan Schmidt informed the board that he had contacted Lynn's Waste Paper of West Bend regarding their supplying a truck to the Kewaskum Lions Club for their paper drives. Lynn's requested the Lions consider pickup only every other month due to the decline in paper collected. Lynn's informed Schmidt they no longer own their own trucks and it

16-Month-Old Infant Girl Suffocates in High Chair

A 16-month-old Kewaskum girl, whose parents reside at 1353 Fond du Lac Ave., died of suffocation Wednesday, June 2, after she slipped down and choked while eating lunch in her high chair at the home of a babysitter at 501 East Main St. The infant was found hanging by her chin against the tray of the high chair.

Jessica Flynn was dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Community Hospital in West Bend, where she was conveyed by the Kewaskum rescue squad.

Jessica Jean Flynn daughter of James and Deborah, was born Feb. 2, 1981, at St. Joseph's Community Hospital.

Survivors include her parents; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Flynn of Townsend, Wis. and Mrs. Irene Kiesner of Campbellsport; and other relatives.

Visitation at Miller's Funeral Home, Kewaskum, was Thursday from 6 to 8 p.m. Funeral services were Friday at 10:30 a.m. at the funeral home. The Rev. Paul Hoenecke officiated and burial was in Lutheran Memorial Park, Kewaskum.

Please - Don't Take the Flowers

That's the request of the Kewaskum 4-H'ers Four-H Club.

As an annual community project, just before Memorial Day, the youngsters of the club plant flowers in the flowerboxes located throughout the village. With the help of the Kewaskum Floral Shop, it is has been the group's way of helping to beautify the community and mark Memorial Day. However, the last few years, the members have found people have been removing the plants after the Memorial Day parade.

Mrs. Dennis Seideman stated the children have gone back and re-planted the boxes only to find a short time later the plants have again been taken. The children take pride in their project and ask that the public please leave the flowers for everyone to enjoy for the entire summer, not for just a few days at parade time. Thank you.

Schaub Receives Fellowship to Serve As Program Assistant at National 4-H Center

A Wisconsin 4-H alumnus, Michael Allen Schaub, Kewaskum, has been named recipient of a fellowship from Farmland Industries, Inc., Kansas City, Mo., to serve as a program assistant on the Citizenship-Washington Focus staff at the National 4-H Center at Chevy Chase, Md. June 6-Aug. 14.

The summer program will attract more than 5,000 teenage 4-H members from 44 states to the nation's capital for week-long sessions to study and observe our national heritage and system of government. Special emphasis will be placed on citizenship and leadership skills to address contemporary issues each week.

Under his fellowship, Schaub's special focus will be on food and agriculture.

An eight year 4-H'er, Schaub is studying agriculture education at the University of Wisconsin - River Falls. As a 4-H member, his projects included swine, woodworking and dairy. He also helps manage the family's dairy farm business.

Schaub is one among 18 alumni and others from 16 states and Switzerland who will serve on the Citizenship-Washington Focus staff, helping young people understand the structure and function of our systems of government, the heritage of our country's development and the importance of active participation as citizens.

Four Washington County Youth will participate in the Citizenship Program at the National 4-H Center July 25 - 31. They are Karen Doll and Patty Hupfer, West Bend; Emily Schroeder, Hartford, and Jane Weix, Richfield.

Using the nation's capital as a classroom, the program includes a day on Capitol Hill to meet with members of Congress, visits to federal agencies and organizations, as well as to historical and cultural sites, and intensive seminars on ways, skills and knowledge gained can be applied to 4-H programs in local communities.

Citizenship-Washington Focus is conducted by National 4-H Council in support of the 4-H program of the Cooperative Extension Service of the State Land-Grant Universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Seek Sponsors For Parade, Picnic Bands

Notice is hereby given by the Kewaskum Firemen and the Robert G. Romaine Legion Post that if anyone wishes to sponsor or co-sponsor a marching band or parade group for the upcoming July 11 parade, they may do so by contacting Dan Schmidt at 626-4060. Also the bands performing on the bandstand and in the beer garden may be sponsored or co-sponsored as well. It is asked that the minimum required to sponsor a group is $100.00 and to co-sponsor a group is $50.00.

The sponsors or co-sponsors are responsible for their own banners or recognition tool. There are several groups and bands to choose from - the Hartford Municipal Band, Georgie Girls, Wausau Story Drum & Bugle Corps, Wisconsin Lutheran Cadet Band, Janesville Fife & Drum Corps., West Bend High School Band, Random Lake High School Band and the Elm Youth Band of Sheboygan. Also if anyone is interested in sponsoring Gary Cross & The Cedar Creek Band, Syl Groeschel Band, Bernie Fechter Band and Ida Red, for live music at the park, they may do so.

Just a reminder there are picnic tickets available from all firemen and Legionaires. We have 83 great prizes to be given away. The theme for the parade for those that may have missed it is "When You Say Wisconsin, You've Said It All."

THE CHIEF SEZ:

Beginning immediately all bicycle ordinances in the Village of Kewaskum will be strictly enforced. We have received many complaints about riders not stopping for stop signs, signalling for turns, riding double and not riding on the proper side of the road. For the safety of the riders as well as the citizens in general this action will be taken. Anyone under 14 will have their bicycle confiscated for up to 2 weeks for repeated violations. Anyone over 14 and not yet 18 will face a $25.00 fine. Adults will face fines in line with normal traffic bond schedules. We hope everyone will cooperate and most of these measures will be unnecessary.

HAY FEVER

Hay fever sufferers sometimes report 'miraculous' cures due to eating honey. Unstrained honey contains pollen particles [that cause hayfever]. Some are taken into the bloodstream unchanged by digestion. This tiny irritant triggers the system to build up resistance to the foreign substance. So by eating honey produced locally, the body just may build immunity to the runny noses and sneezes of hay fever.

Conservation Teachers Selected

Barb Flees [right] being congratulated by Principal Michael Hohner.

Karen Scharinger [right] being congratulated by Principal Dick Daggett.

Barb Flees and Karen Scharinger have been selected as Washington County's Outstanding Environmental Education Teachers for 1982, by the Washington County Soil & Water Conservation District.

Barb Flees has taught grades 2 and 4 at Allenton Elementary for the past 5 years, while Karen Scharinger has taught grade 7 at Silverbrook Middle School in West Bend for the past 17 years. Marlene Domasky, who has been very active in environmental education at Farmington Elementary, was runner-up this year.

Examples of educational activities used by Barb Flees include the development of a nature center at Allenton Elementary. Trails were laid out through the wooded areas with teaching stations at points along the trail. A one thousand square foot prairie area was developed with students helping plant the various prairie plants.

A weather station was established on the school roof with the students recording weather data and giving weather reports over the school broadcasting system. Barb was responsible for instructing other teachers on ways in which to use the outdoor teaching facilities.

Other projects of her classes included insect collections, study of animals and birds, soil profiles, wetlands and watersheds and Field English. Presently, Barb and others are working on developing a science curriculum which further incorporates outdoor activities into the science program for each grade level. One of her goals is to "establish life-time values in students through their learning involvement and active participation in the (school's) nature center development."

Like Miss Flees, Karen Scharinger also believes that environmental education should be "an integral part of every curriculum area throughout the educational life of the student." In teaching 7th grade Life Science, Karen covers a wide variety of environmental concerns. Six to eight weeks are spent in the study of trees, including tree identification and the important role of trees in the environment. Ten weeks are spent in studying the entire animal kingdom.

Other areas studied include endangered wildlife species, the plant kingdom and the various biomes of the world. A field unit exercise is usually conducted during the Spring.

Karen has involved her students in writing letters of concern to various organizations regarding critical issues, such as limiting the number of whales being killed each year. In addition, students research environmental topics and make presentations daily to the entire school via the PA system. Students have also held fund raising activities to collect money to send to several wildlife organizations. Karen also calls upon many local resource people as guest speakers to her class.

Both teachers have built their outstanding educational programs around a wealth of experiences for their students both in and outside of the classroom. Students in their classes have obtained a strong sense of value and respect for the environment as a result of their dedicated instructions.

Another First For Kewaskum

A children's day care center for tots 2½ years old to school age is being planned to be opened the latter part of August.

The daily program will be a planned agenda of different activities with time for play and self expression to help each child develop.

Center hours will coincide with the working hours of parents and will be open five days a week.

Fees will depend on the amount of time a child spends in the center.

Because there is a limit to the number of children that can be accommodated in the present space, enrollment will be on a first come, first serve basis.

would cost them $32.00 to provide a truck for the Lions. Schmidt said he had committed the village to pickup for June since it would still be cheaper to pay Lynn's the $32.00 for pickup compared to the village's cost of between $40 and $60 for using their own truck and landfill site. Schmidt noted that if Lynn's picked up over six tons, they would waive the $32.00 charge.

Pete Albers, speaking on behalf of the Lions Club, said the group was considering purchasing their own trailer and hauling the paper somewhere since they cannot guarantee there will not be any magazines or catalogs with the paper. Lynn's will not accept any paper that has magazines, catalogs, etc., mixed in.

The board approved a building permit for the construction of a generator building for Regal Ware, Inc. The backup generator would provide temporary power to the company's computers in the event of a power outage.

The board also approved renewal of nine Class 'B' and two Class 'A' liquor licenses in the village.

The board granted permission to the Fire Chief and Assistant Fire Chief to attend the Fire Chiefs Conference in Eau Claire and the Commissioner to attend a seminar in Oshkosh.

Dan Schmidt

STEVENS POINT — Dan Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schmidt, Kewaskum, has been selected as the outstanding physical education major in the junior class at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point. He received a certificate and a book at the annual awards banquet held by the physical education department's Safety, Health, Athletics, Physical Education, and Recreation Club (SHAPER). Schmidt, a 1979 graduate of Kewaskum High School, was also selected as one of two students to receive a $100 Kim Counsell Scholarship, an award given to students who have distinguished themselves in work with youth in physical education programs.

The SHAPER banquet is held annually to salute the outstanding student physical education majors.

Sherry Foerster, a graduate of Kewaskum High School, was among several UWWC students who were guests of the Rotary Club of West Bend.

Foerster has been active in the music and theatre program at UWWC. She played the part of Francesca in Theatre on the Hill's production of West Side Story. She plans to transfer to a four year university and major in

Local Memorial Day Address

An eloquent address was delivered by Richard A. Kellow, Director of Advertising at Regal Ware, Inc. at the Memorial Day Services sponsored by Robert G. Romaine Post 384 of The American Legion. A member of the American Marketing Association, he is a former director of the West Bend Chamber of Commerce, a member of the West Bend Safety Commission, and a member of the University Council at UWVC. He is active in the Bay-Lakes Council of the Boy Scouts of America, having previously served as District Chairman, and a Vietnam veteran, having been in the Marine Corps from 1952-1955 and was honorably discharged with the rank of sergeant. It was suggested that we publish Kellow's address, which was as follows:

Oh say, does that star spangled banner yet wave?

Yes it does, yes it does. But not like it could. Not like it should.

Patriotism, you see, isn't "in" these days. It isn't fashionable.

Flags aren't "in" either.

And I'm sorry, but this just isn't a big year for veterans. No sir, veterans aren't in fashion this season.

They used to be. Why, some of us remember when veterans were heroes - almost like astronauts or something.

Now they're just some old men in funny hats and funny coats who march a little - and not very well - in an occasional parade that's part of a three-day weekend.

Maybe you have to be closer to a war. Not just a war, but an understandable war.

It used to be a lot easier when we had good guys and bad guys.

In the Spanish American War the bad guys blew up the Maine. In World War I it was obvious - we wore the white hats and the Kaiser and his Huns wore the black hats. In World War II the bad guys overran Europe and attacked Pearl Harbor.

Boy, the Star Spangled Banner sure waved back then! And there were heroes. And parades.

But those days are gone, perhaps forever. Lord, I hope so.

Oh, we've had a couple of dandy wars since then, but they just weren't the same, were they?

Korea was rather confusing. Vietnam was totally confusing. The purposes and goals weren't as well defined. The black hats weren't quite as black to some, and there were smudges on some of the white hats. There even seemed to be a lot of gray hats, and we couldn't tell if they were friends or enemies.

Vietnam was not a popular cause, or a popular war.

But it was a war, and to the people in it there wasn't quite as much difference as to the people back home. You can get shot just as dead in an unpopular war. There's no such thing as a popular bomb or a popular bullet if you're the one who gets hit.

Veterans came home from Vietnam and asked: Where was I when the parade went by?

What do we need then, to instill patriotism once again? A nice popular war?

There's one going on right now, on a couple of cold, stormy rocks called the Falkland Islands. And the people of Great Britain, and the people of Argentina, are flying their respective flags. And each country is unified in its hatred for the other.

Maybe that's what we need. It's kind of an old fashioned war - almost like Crimea, where people could stand on the hills and watch the Charge of the Light Brigade, or the Civil War in this country. "If you're not doing anything Sunday, let's get in the buggy and go watch the war."

The Falkland Islands are a little inaccessible, so we're watching it with TV cameras.

War is a whole lot better if it's remote.

Cold wars aren't the answer. Besides, they've been going on for so long that the sense of danger wears off.

And World War III is unthinkable. The guns are getting too big.

Oh, we've had a few little bits of patriotism forced upon us in recent years. There was the hostage situation in Iran. There were good guys and bad guys there. The bad guys burned our flag, and that made us mad. And the good guys were heroes, and were welcomed home with parades.

Is that what we need, every now and then?

Do we have to get pushed around, and shot at, and hurt, and killed, for us to be patriotic? Perhaps we do.

We take our country for granted. That's too bad, in one way.

But in another way it is perhaps the greatest tribute we could pay. For we can take our country for granted. We have a quiet, passive, deep-seated belief in our country, and love for our country, that doesn't require brass bands and speeches and flag waving.

We aren't really being threatened, at least not in a direct, obvious, immediate way. There are missiles pointed at us, but there have been for a long, long time. And we have missiles pointed at them, too. And nobody, we all hope, wants to shoot.

So we take our country for granted, and complain a lot about the economy and the taxes.

But which of us would willingly live anywhere else?

I don't mean "our country, love it or leave it." We aren't perfect. Lord knows

But it should make us think, shouldn't it, when countless thousands of people, from all over the world, are trying to get to the United States every year? Like we did, one or three or five or ten generations ago?

There are people from Indochina who walk for months, and get into little boats, and lose half their families to starvation - just to come here, to a strange land. They come with nothing, because they have lost everything they had.

There are thousands of people from Poland waiting now, in Austria, for a chance to come here.

There are people from Afghanistan.

There are the people from Cuba and Haiti, who came crowded in sinking, stinking boats. They came illegally, and caused problems in Miami. We read about them in terms of the masses of them that came, and the problems they cause. We don't hear too much about their individual stories, because there are too many stories, and they are often the same.

Just another story, just like the last one, about people who have gone through a sort of hell that we cannot really imagine.

Can we really relate to these people, who left everything behind in a desperate escape to freedom?

Can we relate to people who walked for months, and watched children die, and left husbands and wives behind in the terrible confusion?

Can we relate to people who crowded with 50 others into a little boat and tried to cross 100 miles of ocean - or, as in Indochina, just headed out to sea in the hope that a ship might pick them up before they all died?

These people don't take the United States for granted.

Nor did our fathers, or great-grandfathers. They came here, 50 or 100 years ago, to seek freedom, and a better opportunity. And they found it.

And we take it for granted. No, we don't need a war. And we don't want a war. That can't be the only way to learn, to remember, what this country is all about.

But we need a lesson. Perhaps each one of us should walk a few days through Cambodia, carrying a child, with a handful of rice to eat.

Perhaps each of us should crowd into a little boat in Cuba, and try to reach Miami.

Do you have a vacation coming this summer? How about taking it in Poland, or Afghanistan, or El Salvador?

May I make a more realistic, more pointed suggestion?

There are refugees coming every day. Meet some of them, talk to some of them. Welcome them, because that is what America is all about.

Refugees need sponsors and helpers and people who are willing to give them a few hours of transportation and orientation and friendship. Very few of them are looking for handouts or welfare. They simply need a start - a new start in a new land.

Talk to them. Find out what they went through to get here, to this land that we take for granted. Find out what they went through before they made the decision to leave everything that they have ever known.

Ask them why. And then maybe you'll thank God that you can take all this for granted.

This is Memorial Day. A day to remember those who have died for this country.

The problem is, so few of us do remember. It's hard to get misty-eyed about history.

Five score and 19 years ago Abraham Lincoln gave an address at the battlefield at Gettysburg, in which he said:

"The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here."

Abraham Lincoln was wrong. The world has noted and remembered his words. And the men who died at Gettysburg, and in the trenches of France, and on the beaches of Normandy and Iwo Jima, and in nameless villages and rice paddies of Southeast Asia, are all too quickly forgotten.

Popular war or unpopular war, Americans died to preserve freedom. Freedom for all people. Freedom like we have here. So much freedom that we take it for granted. So much freedom that we don't understand what it is like to be without it.

Freedom to complain and criticize.

So much freedom that we cannot relate to the desperation of those who walk and starve and swim and die in an attempt to achieve it.

People are still willing to die for the freedom we take for granted.

They aren't Americans. Many of them want to be.

Perhaps that is the best way we can show our love of country - by welcoming these people, and helping them become Americans.

For they can do something for us that we can no longer seem to do for ourselves. They can remind us of what we have here. They can bring with them, and share with us, a new appreciation for America.

Rally round the flag, boys, rally once again.

Oh say, does that star spangled banner yet wave?

It does, friends, it does, but only if we remember to wave it. Only if we remember what it stands for. Only if we remember those who fought for it, and died for it.

Long may it wave.
God Bless America.

Thank you.

PETS PROVIDE MANY BENEFITS

By Dr. Charles Ogi

Ask any shut-in, nursing home patient or lonely retiree what day he or she looks forward to most, the answer is likely to be, "The day the family comes to visit." This response has been almost universally recognized in institutions and homes for the elderly around the country, according to the American Animal Hospital Association.

The family visits, but it's only that - a visit. Who or what can fill the lonely hours when there is nothing to heal the spirit but four blank walls?

The American Animal Hospital Association, and various other groups think they have the answer: pets for people. Ever increasing amounts of scientific evidence show that the presence of pets can help heal human infirmities and, in some cases may even increase life expectancy.

One study showed that 94 percent of heart patients who owned pets were able to survive the difficult year following a heart attack, as opposed to 62 percent who survived and did not own pets. Pets seem to have a profound influence on our ability to survive.

Studies suggest that pets can play a positive role in the treatment of mental disorders and physical rehabilitation. Pets provided unconditional love and forgiveness. Many people are discovering that pets satisfy some of their greatest emotional needs. Companion pets are being used as therapy for disturbed patients. Some states are using "hearing dogs" - dogs have been trained to help the deaf in the same way that Seeing Eye Dogs help the blind. Horses are even playing a role in helping the handicapped. A person's health may improve - most notably, coordination and balance, when a disabled person is taught to ride horseback by a properly trained instructor. More studies are needed in this vital area of companion pet programs.

WISCONSIN'S NEW DRINKING/DRIVING LAW

DRUNKEN DRIVING LAW 'GRANDFATHERS' PREVIOUS CONVICTIONS

[Fifth in a series]

Drivers who have been convicted of operating while intoxicated during the past five years should be aware of a provision of Wisconsin's new drunken driving law that went into effect May 1.

Under Sec. 343.307 of the new law, these previous convictions are "grandfathered" in, so that a conviction after May 1, 1982 will be considered a second conviction and the penalties include a mandatory jail term of not less than five days, plus a six month revocation.

While a first conviction is costly, time consuming and embarrassing, the second OWI conviction is far more serious.

The penalties for a first conviction are in the traffic "misdemeanor" category, including a forfeiture totaling around $440, including the forfeiture itself, court costs, 12 per cent penalty assessment for law enforcement training, and a $150 surcharge which has been in effect since Jan. 1. There is a mandatory 90 day driver license suspension (reinstatement is automatic with payment of the $20 reinstatement fee).

A second conviction is a traffic "crime," with a fine ranging from $300 to $1,000, plus court costs, 12 per cent penalty assessment and the $150 surcharge. There is a mandatory jail term of not less than five days, up to six months, and a mandatory revocation of six to 12 months. Reinstatement after revocation requires payment of a $35 reinstatement fee, and passing all written and road tests as well as the vision screening. Proof of identity will be required in the form of a birth certificate, and drivers will be required to furnish proof of financial responsibility in the form of insurance.

Penalties are higher for third and subsequent convictions.

All persons convicted of OWI are required to go to an assessment facility for a professional appraisal of their drinking problem, and to have a driver safety plan developed. Failure to go for assessment, or to comply with the plan, results in automatic suspension. Drivers must pay the assessment costs, as well as the treatment/education program which may include in patient or out patient treatment, traffic safety school or combination.

Penalties have also been increased substantially for drivers convicted of driving after revocation or suspension for OWI or refusing the chemical test for intoxication.

IN MEMORY

in memory of Jake K. Bruessel, who passed away June 16, 1982.

It hardly seems possible that ten years have gone by since God called him home, but the memories of the love and the life we shared grow stronger with each passing year, and shall remain in our hearts forever.

Sadly missed by his wife, Audrey, and his children, Joan, Gerald, Ronald, and Cheryl.

Letters to the Editor

June 4, 1982

Letter to the Editor:

On May 1st, 1982 the new "GET TOUGH" drunk driving law went into effect. Since then I have heard many stories on the implementation of the new law. With a lot of the misconceptions that people apparently have, I would like to relate the following.

ROADBLOCKS. The Washington County Sheriff's Department has not and will not set up roadblocks for the express purpose of randomly checking drivers who have been drinking alcoholic beverages. This does not mean that roadblocks will never be set up. There are many reasons roadblocks are used, such as for stolen vehicles, wanted person on warrant, information of a perpetrator of a crime, or even a valid complaint of a drunk driver. Usually in these types of roadblocks Deputies have a description of the person(s) they are looking for or of the vehicle they would be driving.

BREATHALYZER TEST. By law, every person holding a Wisconsin driver's license must comply to a breath sample to determine blood alcohol concentration upon an Officer's request. The suspected drinking driver can request a second test of either urine sample or blood test at their own expenses. Refusal to comply with the Officer's request is a separate violation and an automatic loss of driver's license for six months.

CITATIONS. A suspected driver under the influence can receive two (2) separate citations. One, which is operating a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicant; and two, operating a motor vehicle with a blood alcohol concentration of 0.10% by weight. 0.10% is considered sufficient evidence in determining a person legally intoxicated by law.

ESTIMATING YOUR BLOOD ALCOHOL CONTENT. (See chart below). To estimate the level of alcohol in the bloodstream, find your weight in the column on the left of the chart. Draw a straight line to the ounces of alcohol consumed (second column). Then extend the line to the third column. This will show what you might expect to register on a breathalyzer test if you had consumed the drinks over a one hour period, with no food intake prior to the drinking.

The rate of elimination of alcohol from the bloodstream is approximately .015% per hour. Therefore, subtract .015% from blood alcohol concentration indicated on the chart for each hour after the start of drinking.

DURING A ONE-HOUR PERIOD* WITH LITTLE OR NO FOOD INTAKE PRIOR TO DRINKING

MYTHS.

1. You can't come to harm if you stick to beer.

Fact: Twelve ounces of beer contains as much alcohol as a highball made with one ounce of 100 proof liquor.

2. Alcoholics are mostly skid row bums.

Fact: Alcoholics are people who drink to the extent that it interferes with their health, their functioning on the job, and their relationships with their families.

3. There are magic formulas for sobering up or avoiding a hangover.

Fact: The alcohol is what makes you drunk and gives you a hangover. Until your body metabolizes the excess alcohol, you will be drunk. Coffee may perk up a sleepy drunk, but it won't make the person sober.

4. You'll be okay if you don't mix your drinks.

Fact: Whether you get drunk or not depends on how much alcohol you drink, and it doesn't make any difference whether you drink beer only, wine only, liquor only or mix and match.

5. Alcohol is a stimulant.

Fact: Alcohol is a depressant. A little may loosen you up and make you feel stimulated, but increasing amounts depress the body functions until unconsciousness results.

Hoping this will clear the air of some of the misconceptions of the new drunk driving law. Should you have further questions, please feel free to call the Sheriff's Department. We will do our best to provide the answers to you.

Sincerely,

Clarence A. Schwartz,
Sheriff
Washington County

A Few Questions for the Kewaskum School District -

Mr. Brenholt's leaving our school is very upsetting to many people. Does a fifty year old man leave a job, home, and community to take a job in another community for a little over $1,000 more a year? Could this be a case of our school board making a job so unbearable he decided to leave? Is this only the first of many of our "People-In-Charge" who will be leaving or left go?

Did voting out the in-house computer mean Mr. Borch, Business Manager, is out at the end of the 1982-83 school year?

Does moving Mr. Dickinson, Guidance Counselor, to the grade school position mean he's out along with the position at the end of the 1982-83 school year?

Does putting the Athletic Director's job in Mr. Pearson's lap, High School Principal, mean we are pushing him out the door so Mr. Esser can become High School Principal? Is Mr. Esser a good enough disciplinarian and in good enough health to handle that job?

Does George Allmann, Reading Specialist's leaving the position to teach in the classroom again, mean the position is no longer important, or that current students will no longer receive this help as the position will be eliminated?

Does our school board's decision to tell our Guidance Dept. how to run their department mean we no longer need an administrative staff? Is their pressure, on that department, going to force out some of these people, leaving room for the board's current "outside" advisor, who happens to be a guidance counselor?

When our board begins to look for replacements, are we going to get second-rate people because the news of Kewaskum's power-hungry school board is all over the state? Ask the young Math/Science teacher they hired for next year from Michigan, as he already quit because of our great reputation.

Did we vote these board members in, to help cut taxes by saving money where we can, without hurting our school or the education of our students? Will forcing out hard-working qualified personnel to get second-rate people to head up our school create second-rate students?

Call Ogi, Horner, Spoerl, and Brigham. Ask them if this isn't really what's going to happen.

Parent of students who want a FIRST-RATE education

"The best answer to anger is silence."

By Cathy Schlice

Kewaskum 9, Slinger 3

The Kewaskum Indians traveled to Slinger last Wednesday for the Scenic Moraine game with the Owls.

Kewaskum got things going in the first inning as they scored 3 runs off starting pitcher Tornow of Slinger. They then picked up 1 run in the 3rd and 4th, and finished them off with 4 runs in the 7th.

Slinger scored a run in the 3rd and 2 in the 5th. Junior Rod Donnelly got the win for the Indians and was relieved by Brian Larsen in the 6th, who picked up the save. Senior Steve Straub led the Indian attack, going 3 for 4. Kewaskum scattered a total of 8 hits, while Slinger got 5 hits off of Donnelly. Larsen ripped a triple and scored on an overthrow at third.

The final score was Kewaskum 9, Slinger 3.

Plymouth 5, Kewaskum 3

The Indians entertained Plymouth in an Eastern Wisconsin Conference game Thursday and came up on the short end of a 5-3 final score.

The Indians were plagued with errors which cost them the game. Kewaskum's only runs came in the 2nd when they scored 3. Plymouth started things right off in the 1st and then added 1 in the 4th and 5th and 2 in the 6th.

Bright spots for the Indians included a solo home run by soph Brad Dieringer and Tim Heberer batted 2 for 2.

The Panthers got 9 hits off of Heberer and the Indians got 6 off of Miller.

Winner: Miller. Loser: Tim Heberer.

Kewaskum — Geidel 3-0-1, Donnelly 2-0-0, Straub 2-0-0, Stautz 1-0-0, Larsen 3-1-1, Heberer 2-1-2, Mueller 3-0-0, Dieringer 3-1-1, Braun 3-0-1, Heisdorf 3-0-0; totals 25-3-6.

West Bend East 8, Kewaskum 0

Playing West Bend East here Monday in a Scenic contest, the first 3 innings were pretty quiet for both teams but then the Suns got hot and hit Heberer for 6 runs in the 4th, and added 1 in the 5th and 7th.

Kewaskum was able to get only 2 hits off of starting East pitcher Hesse. Straub hit a hard shot at the third baseman and it took a bad hop right over him. Brad Dieringer had the other Indian hit.

East was only able to get 6 hits off Heberer but a number of walks and errors made up the difference. Steinmetz led the Suns in batting 2 for 2, one of them a triple to right center where Mike Heisdorf dived and tried to make the catch but it bounced in front and hit him. Steinmetz was rounding second before centerfielder Brian Larsen recovers the ball and fired it in to hold him to a triple.

Kewaskum 7, Slinger 6

It took an extra inning and come-from-behind game for Kewaskum to finally down the Slinger Owls here Tuesday, 7-6, in Scenic action.

Slinger scored 3 runs in the 3rd and 2 in the 4th to take a 5-0 lead. The Kewaskum bats finally got hot in their half of the 4th and scored 4 runs and added 1 in the 5th to tie the score at 5-5.

In the 7th Slinger's leadoff batter hit a triple over left fielder Ric Leitheiser's head and ended up on 3rd, scoring later on a sacrifice. Brian Larsen, who came in the 4th inning in relief of Rod Donnelly, picked up the win. Larsen struck out 7 batters in 4½ innings of work. He was really firing some of those pitches. Larsen then hit a double that bounced over the left field fence and scored on wild pitches.

Larsen then retired the Owls in their half of the 8th. Soph Jim Braun started things off in the 8th with a hit. Junior Darryl Tews then dropped a blooper over Charring, the 3rd baseman and both runners were safe. Braun then stole 3rd and Steve Straub hit a shot at the third baseman and it got by him, scoring Braun. The game was over with the final score 7-6.
