Police Apprehend Suspect In Jewelry Store Break-in

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Kewaskum Police Chief Donald Hlavaty said, late Wednesday afternoon, his department has a suspect in custody in connection with the week-end robbery of Bier's Jewelry Store at 129 Main Street in Kewaskum.

When the Statesman spoke with the Chief, he stated he was on his way to the District Attorney's office to file burglary charges against an eighteen-year-old Kewaskum youth.

Hlavaty said his name would not be released until formal charges were made.

The burglary was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Bier, store owners, at approximately 9:20 a.m. Monday morning when they arrived to open the store.

The theft took place over the week-end, probably Saturday, said Bier. Entrance was gained through the back side of the building on the second floor. Storm windows and two doors were broken to gain entry.

Hlavaty said his department has also recovered what they believe is all the stolen jewelry which consisted of approximately $10,000 to $15,000 worth of men's and ladies' stone rings and a watch. Bier said he was still working on an inventory to determine exactly what had been taken.

Christmas Concert at High School

The music of Christmas is perhaps the most beautiful music of all, and the Kewaskum High School music department wishes to share some of this music. Wednesday, December 15, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium has been selected as the date for the annual Christmas concert.

The concert will consist of the Concert Band playing JOYOUS CHRISTMAS SPIRIT, conducted by senior Andy Eisenmann, WE THREE KINGS OF ORIENT ARE, WINTER FROLIC, and VARIATIONS ON AN ECHO CAROL. The Girls Chorus will follow with SONG OF THE LITTLEST ANGEL, COME YE FOLK, SHEPHERDS AWAKE, and SILENT NIGHT, sung in Swedish. The Triple Trio will sing SLEIGH RIDE. Musicians in the Symphonic Band will perform AN OLD FASHIONED CHRISTMAS with slides, TOY SHOP with slides and narration, A NORWEGIAN CHRISTMAS OVERTURE and selections from THE NUTCRACKER SUITE. The Mixed Chorus will sing THE FESTIVE HALLS OF CHRISTMAS, MASTERS IN THIS HALL, IN NATALI DOMINI, JESUS, JESUS, REST YOUR HEAD, and A CHRISTMAS SAMPLER. The final number of the program will be the singing of the HALLELUJAH CHORUS, with both choruses and accompanied by the Symphonic Band. Everyone is invited to sing along in this masterpiece of the Baroque era.

As an added bonus, Santa Claus will be at the concert with treats for all the children. Coffee, punch and cookies will be served by the boys' varsity basketball team and a good time should be had by all in attendance.

Directors are David Bertelsen, choruses, and Larry Ammel, bands.

Further Marigold Development In Kewaskum Possible

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

In a phone conversation Tuesday morning, Larry Gergens, General Manager of the Milwaukee office of Marigold Foods, producers of Kemp's dairy products of Marigold Foods, confirmed his firm is considering further development in the Kewaskum area.

The Statesman questioned Gergens on whether or not Marigold has made any moves to take over the recently vacated Sentry Food Store. Gergens said the firm is still interested in the property along with six other alternatives in the Kewaskum area, however, no offers have been made or the property ruled out of consideration.

When asked if these were long or short term projections, Gergens noted he hoped to have some plans developed within the next six to nine months, and possibly finalize something in the next three months.

Gergens said present expansion work at the plant on a new loading dock and remodeling in the freezer and refrigerator areas is right on schedule with work expected to be complete by late spring or early summer.

According to Barbara Hinz, Town Clerk, tax bills for the Town of Kewaskum will show a 7% reduction from last year's bills. The gross tax rate went up 23c, but the State of Wisconsin's Property Tax Relief, received annually to reduce the tax rate, increased 52.8%.

State Tax rate will be 44c per thousand dollars of assessed value. Washington County tax rate fell to $5.79/thousand ('81 $6.22), Kewaskum School tax rate is $21.92 ('81 $21.94), Moraine Park Technical Schools rate is $2.90 ('81 $2.78), and the township's local tax rate is $3.38, compared to '81's rate of $2.81, a 16.8% increase. Deducted from the gross tax rate is tax relief rate of $4.81/-thousand, leaving a net tax rate of $29.62 ('81 $31.93).

The tax bill on a $50,000 property assessment will drop from approximately ('81) $1,596 to ('82) $1,481. The tax bills are being prepared by the Southeastern Regional Planning

Village Commissioner Position to Be Eliminated

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

As of December 31, 1983, the position of Village Commissioner will be dropped by the Village of Kewaskum.

At Monday night's meeting, the Village Board unanimously approved the action by adopting Ordinance 82-4, which replaced the term "Village Commissioner" with "Village Administrator" in the charter ordinance, thereby transferring all responsibilities including those of clerk and treasurer to the Village Administrator.

William Martin, who has served as Commissioner since the position went into effect on November 28, 1950, will be retiring in November of 1983, after 33 years on the job.

Public Works Superintendent Augie Bilgo informed the board that the village had three watermain breaks in the last three weeks. Bilgo told the board the Village had not had any problems in almost four months prior to these breaks.

The board was also informed that the village garbage truck suffered a breakdown Monday. If it is down for repairs more than a day or so, Bilgo said crews would finish trash collections with the dump trucks.

The trustees heard presentations by two financial consulting firms regarding borrowing programs for Kewaskum's Tax Incremental Financing District (TIF).

Ms. Marilyn Dittlof, Investment Officer of First Wisconsin National Bank, Milwaukee, presented a plan which would lean toward TIF financing through long-term General Obligation Bonds. With the village considering borrowing approximately $1.2 million to finance the various projects, Dittlof said the cost of First Wisconsin's services would be approximately $7,400.00. Various other costs incurred such as possible Paying Agent Fees, travel and expenses for village employees, etc., would also have to be paid by the village.

Dittlof noted changes which may occur after the first of the year, one being a 15% sur-

KHS Students Enjoy Tour to D.C. and New York

Thirty-two members of the junior and senior classes of Kewaskum High School spent their Thanksgiving vacation recess on a guided tour of Washington, D.C. and New York City.

The students and their chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wangerin and Mrs. Linda Bastable, left the Milwaukee airport via Northwest Airlines Thursday afternoon, November 25, and arrived one and a half hours later in the country's capital city. That evening they visited such places as the Library of Congress, the Lincoln Memorial, the Jefferson Memorial and the Marine Memorial.

Up early on Friday, Nov. 26, they started the day with a visit to Mount Vernon. Next they toured Arlington Cemetery, the National Archives and the Smithsonian Institution. They ended their busy day with a visit to the Air and Space Museum and the Wax Museum.

Saturday's agenda included a tour of the Supreme Court.

However, the usual visit to the White House was canceled due to the KKK demonstration. In the afternoon, the students boarded buses and were off to New York City and all of its notable sites. Included in their stay in New York were tours of Radio City Music Hall, the United Nations, the Empire State Building and a leading Broadway play "Annie." Side visits also included such interesting places as Fifth Avenue with its Macy's and Korvettes, Millionaires Row, Central Park and Lincoln Center and the Bowery, Chinatown and the garment district, not to mention a ferryboat ride to the Statue of Liberty.

Monday at 4:00 p.m., the students boarded Northwest flight No. 352 and with a brief stopover and change of planes at Cleveland, finally arrived back home around 10:20 p.m. - tired, broke, but much richer for their experience.

charge, may make General Obligation Bonds less attractive to prospective buyers. This could end up raising the interest rates. Another proposed change is the requirement of a "Paying Agent" which would see a substantial increase to municipalities in the cost of issuing certificates and dividend checks. Bonds issued within the last few weeks have been averaging 9% to 10%.

Paul Thompson, Assistant Vice President of Clayton Brown and Associates, Milwaukee, made his presentation looking at Kewaskum's borrowing picture on an initial short term basis, using Tax Incremental Bond Anticipation Notes for the first few years when TIF increment returns are at their lowest. The short term loans would show a lower interest rate. Stevens Point has just issued such notes bearing 7.25% interest. After the first four and six years, the village could then look into a long term borrowing program with GO bonds said Thompson. Trustee Richard Schmidt questioned whether going that route would not result in Kewaskum paying higher rates at that time than it would if it went right into long term financing now. Thompson said that was a possibility.

Thompson stated fees to the village would be about $7,600.00 for his company's services.

The two presentations will be carefully studied by the board. Since the two firms are approaching the project with somewhat different plans, making it a little more difficult to make comparisons, the trustees will review both presentations.

Trustee Jeff Rohrer told the board he was not planning on filing papers for re-election to the Village Board. Rohrer said he hoped this would encourage others to consider running for the positions.

KHS Students Visit College Fair

On Wednesday, December 1st, 50 junior and senior students from Kewaskum High School and guidance counselor, Dave Wiator, attended the Eighth Annual Milwaukee National College Fair at the Milwaukee Exposition and Convention Center.

Students were able to talk with representatives from approximately 160 post secondary institutions from across the country as well as representatives of the American College Testing Program and the College Board to answer questions about testing programs and other services. Students also attended a General Financial Aid Session which covered application forms, procedures, deadlines and types of aid available.

The trip to the College Fair is sponsored annually by the KHS guidance department and is especially helpful for today's potential college bound students.

Thefts, Attempted Break-in Reported

Kewaskum police are investigating the disappearance of a purse which was taken from the Statesman office, 250 Main St., last Wednesday night, Dec. 1. A young man, approximately 17 to 19 years of age, came into the office about 8:15 p.m. that night and asked to place an ad. The owners of the paper, Mr. and Mrs. William Harbeck, told the man he was too late for their deadline and they were just finishing making up their paper for printing. The man left and about 20 minutes later when the Harbecks were leaving for home, Mrs. Harbeck noticed her purse was missing. The purse and its contents were valued at $384.

The same night Jim Boegel, owner of J & N Liquor, 355 Main Street, reported a bottle of liquor was taken from his store by a man who answered a description similar to the one who entered the Statesman office.

The police are also investigating a window which was broken in the front door of Bier's Jewelers at 129 Main Street, sometime the same night. They are not sure whether the broken window was the work of vandals or if there was an attempted robbery which may be foiled by a passerby.

Dr. Wesenberg, Kewaskum Native, and Associate Produce New Device Which May Cut Dangers of X-rays

A Calgary, Alberta, Canada, radiologist and a Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada, physicist have teamed up to produce what they claim is the world's first system for accurately measuring the radiation soaked up by patients during X-ray examination.

The method — dubbed Computerized Radiation Dosage System — was two years in the making and is now operating in prototype form at the Alberta Children's Hospital.

"This is a world first, not just a Canadian first," an obviously elated Dr. Richard Wesenberg, head of radiology at the Children's, said in a recent interview with Mark Tait, Calgary Herald staff writer.

Dr. Wesenberg, a Kewaskum native, is the son of Mrs. Elverena Wesenberg of Kewaskum and the late Walter Wesenberg.

While expert observers are withholding comment pending full publication of his results in scientific journals, Wesenberg touts the system as the best method developed so far for minimizing exposure to potentially harmful rays.

Current X-ray machinery, he says, does not have the ability to constantly tell radiologists how much they are delivering, and there can be wild variations between dosages delivered by different machines in the same hospital.

"I think that if it gets widely used, there will be a tendency for radiologists to keep their radiation dosage down," he says, suggesting many radiologists use more radiation than they really need.

And that's important, he explains, in light of new evidence that all levels of radiation — even the lowest — carry some risk.

"Most — when they see what they are actually delivering when they are fluorizing (a type of X-ray exam) — will find it just disturbing."

The new system gives a continuous readout of radiation levels through an illuminated counter, as well as a cumulative total for the patient's record.

The trick, Wesenberg says, was to answer the question that has dogged radiologists for years: How do you measure the radiation without interfering with the X-ray beam itself, ruining the "picture" the doctor is trying to get?

Rudy Hummel, medical radiation physicist for the Saskatchewan Cancer Foundation, designed the computer software, or intelligence that makes the system work.

In an interview, he explained the solution was to gather information on everything that happens in the machine to produce the radiation — the amount of electrical current used, the voltage, the "geometry" of the X-ray beam, and so on.

This information is then passed on to a relatively inexpensive, commercially available computer which has been taught to predict from these measurements just how much radiation the patient gets a split second later.

Accuracy, Wesenberg says, is within five per cent based on a multitude of dry runs and use during examination on roughly 1,000 patients at the Children's.

He calls that "spectacular" compared with conventional monitoring methods which he claims can miss radiologists by as much as 100 per cent.

Wesenberg and Hummel are preparing their results for publication in scientific journals for review by fellow scientists.

In the meantime, a thorough assessment of the system and a decision on whether to build it commercially will be made by General Electric Medical Systems Ltd. The company is a maker of X-ray machines and has underwritten the estimated $100,000 cost of the development.

In the absence of published data on how the system performs, radiologists consulted last week were reluctant to comment.

The president of the Canadian Association of Radiologists, Dr. Gordon Bray of Saskatoon, said he couldn't pass judgement until he has seen Wesenberg's results in detail.

However, a spokesman for the federal Department of Health and Welfare said that if the system works as its creators claim, it could eventually become required equipment on all X-ray machinery sold in the country.

"I'm not aware of anybody doing this before," said Dr. Peter Waight, chief of the division of consumer and clinical radiation hazards.

"I think it is a very interesting development and, if it is not too expensive, maybe it should be incorporated in the design of future machines."

Wesenberg thinks cost should not be a major stumbling block.

The commercial computer used on his model, he says, is cheap.

"It's not adding a whole lot to the price of the equipment."

"He who has his thumb on the purse has the power."

Dr. Rumsey Attends Seminar in Florida

Dr. H. L. Rumsey, Kewaskum Chiropractor, recently attended a four-day post-graduate seminar in Hollywood, Florida.

Dr. Rumsey joined more than 3,000 other Doctors of Chiropractic, their spouses and assistants from the United States, Canada and several foreign countries to participate in a postgraduate educational seminar. The most recent research and developments in advance patient care and modern X-ray methodology were presented in the seminar. This was the 262nd seminar sponsored by the Parker Chiropractic Research Foundation of Fort Worth, Texas, in the past 31 years. Keynote speaker for this seminar was Professor George Walter, former dean, English professor and educator at Lawrence University in Appleton. Professor Walter delivered an informative and inspirational talk on the topic of making serious, continuing education fun, too.

An additional 52 lecturers presented classes on all aspects of clinical Chiropractic and patient management, concentrating on quick pain relief without pain medication. Some of the doctors and classes included: Arlan Fuhr, D.C., activator methods; Richard Yennie, D.C., chiropractic reflex techniques; Janis Kimble, D.D., principles and procedures for programming patient care, consultations, examinations and X-rays; and Robert Mawhiney, D.C., scoliosis correction procedure.

Another course which proved of particular interest to many was taught by Dr. Russell Erhardt, who conducted six hours of intensive X-ray techniques, training in X-ray interpretation, basic bone pathology, disc degeneration, rupture and herniation.

AUTOS and CHILDREN

Auto accidents are the leading cause of death and injury among children. In a crash, or even a sudden stop, children can go flying about inside the car. It happens so fast, not even the strongest parent can prevent a youngster's violent impact. Holding a child in your arms can be most dangerous. Even in a low-speed crash, the adult may be thrown forward, crushing the child. A pamphlet comparing child-restraint devices is offered for 25c plus stamped, self-addressed envelope from Physicians for Auto Safety, 50 Union Ave., Irvington, N.J. 07111. Consumers Union also reports on child restraints.

TRIPLET CALVES BORN

A rare phenomenon occurred at the Charles Garbisch and Sons farm at 3311 Boltonville Road, near Boltonville, when triplet calves were born on Saturday, Dec. 4. The calves, two heifers and one bull, weighed an unbelievable 80, 83 and 85 lbs. Mother and "babies" are doing fine.

Coincidence was the birth of twin calves, also born the same day at the Garbisch farm, but one died. They weighed 100 and about 110 lbs.

Channel 2, Green Bay, is expected to come to the Garbisch farm and film the triplet calves for viewing on their Channel.

David and Todd Garbisch, along with their father, run the farm. Todd does the artificial semination for the breeding of their animals, and assisted in the delivery of the third calf.

Dr. Swanson of Random Lake is their veterinarian and stated since he is in practice he can recall only three sets of triplets born and only one calf of all three sets lived.

Seminar Students at KHS Complete Major Home Economics Projects

The Home Economics seminar students under the direction of Mrs. Froehlich, caught on to the "quilting craze" this year. These projects required many additional hours of work, and a great deal of patience. All three of the girls got a head start by starting their projects over the summer. Lisa Halfmann chose a Mexican Star quilt in earth tones which required hand quilting. She made coordinating throw pillows and pillow shams. Gina Ruplinger selected a red, white and blue color scheme to make her Martha's Star quilt.

The popular log cabin machine quilted pattern was chosen by Renee Schneider in neutral prints and solids. While learning the age old art of quilting, they enjoyed the feeling of accomplishment as their projects came to a completion.

During the July 13-14 New York City "blackout," when the city lost all electric power, a record eighty million phone calls were made.

Today's Medicine

Hormonal changes during pregnancy cause many alterations in the condition of the mouth. Increased levels of female hormones throughout the body cause an overreaction of the tissues to irritants. Thus, slight gum irritations may become bleeding gums, with added redness, tenderness, or even soft tumor-like growths between the teeth. A tooth that has a beginning abscess will tend to become more painful during pregnancy.

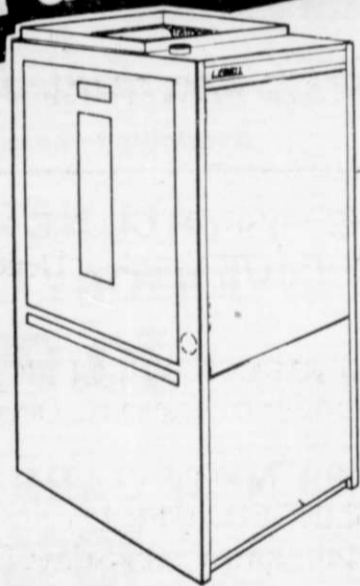

Inflammation of the gum tissue, known as gingivitis, is caused by a reaction to debris collected at or under the gum margin. Since the gum tissue overreacts during pregnancy, this gingivitis is exaggerated. Preventive treatment for gingivitis is a thorough cleaning of the teeth by brushing and flossing. A professional cleaning at the start of pregnancy and again during the middle trimester will generally keep the gum tissues healthy, if good home care is also practiced. Similarly, if routine dental work including all types of fillings and root canal therapy can be completed before pregnancy, painful toothaches can often be avoided.

There are some procedures which should be avoided during the first three months of fetal development. These would include excessive amounts of radiation through X-rays and major oral surgery. If necessary for the health of the mother, most routine dental work can be performed during the middle trimester. At this time, fetal development has slowed, and the mother is still comfortable sitting in the dental chair.

There is a false "old wives tale" which indicates a mother will lose one tooth for each child born. Extremely poor dental health can be exaggerated during pregnancy. However, keeping the mouth in good health at the start of pregnancy, and maintaining good oral hygiene practices throughout the term, there should be no such tooth loss. Knowing what to expect and how to control oral changes is critical in maintaining good oral health during pregnancy.

Area Youths Attend AMPI Conference

Tony Alsberg, West Bend and Tom Stoffel, Kewaskum, attended the second annual Associated Milk Producers, Inc. Junior Cooperator program at Madison, December 3-4-5. Some 90 young people from seven Midwestern states attended the three day conference held at the Yahara Center, north of Madison. The event was co-sponsored by the AMPI Mid-States Member Relations Department and the AMPI Regional Women's Committee.

"The purpose of the program was to educate our potential future dairymen, teaching them about AMPI, about the function of cooperatives in agriculture, and about the importance of promotion and marketing of their dairy products," said Arath DeWall, President of the AMPI Mid-States Women and farm wife from Shannon,

Illinois. "Our young people are exposed to considerable information about producing dairy products and aids in management of a dairy farm," continued DeWall, "however, we seem to spend less time concerning ourselves with where these products will be consumed. Certainly the current situation in the dairy industry proves my point with excess dairy production in government storage. We hope that the young people attending the conference leave with a better understanding of how the dairy industry functions."

While at the conference the young dairy leaders heard reports concerning milk marketing, milk quality standards, AMPI structure, cooperatives and their place in today's economy, and dairy promotion and the increasing need for it.

From the School Board President's Desk....

What exactly are the courses that students have to take during their four years at Kewaskum High School? How many credits does my child need to have?

Students, in order to graduate from Kewaskum High School, must have earned a minimum of twenty course credits which must include credits in required areas. Two credits of Science are required, as are two credits of Mathematics. Two credits of Social Studies are required, with one and one half of those credits being from the United States history area. A Health course which carries one half credit is required of all freshmen. Three credits are required in English which include English I for freshmen and English 2 for sophomores. One and one half credits in Physical Education are required (a state mandate). While satisfactory completion of Driver Education is required, no credits are given for it.

As you can see, the required courses count for eleven of the minimum twenty credits necessary for graduation. Students make their own selections in order to complete their high school education. I would like to stress, however, that twenty credits is a bare minimum, that students should expect to graduate with more than twenty credits.

Should some changes be made? Have you some recommendations? Personally, I don't care for the three years of Physical Education, but what do you think? Write to me, Dr. Charles Ogi, P.O. Box 201, Kewaskum, Wi. 53040.

MAKING ENDS MEET

By Joyce Albrecht, Extension Home Economist

NOW IT'S VENISON

So you got that deer! Are you able to cook venison so that your family enjoys it? There are several factors which will probably affect the quality of the venison.

About 2/3 of the deer harvested in Wisconsin are 1 1/2 years old or less. As with other animals, you can expect the younger animal to be more tender than the older ones. One theory holds that deer that run hard or are wounded before being taken are more likely to have a gamey taste. The gamey taste is attributed to the build up of metabolic waste products in the muscle tissue. A build up does not occur when a deer is taken with a sudden kill.

Field dressing is extremely important and should receive special consideration. If you wish additional help, call the Extension Office and ask for the bulletin "So You Got A Deer."

Venison rates equally with other meats as a nutritious protein food. Generally, venison is lower in cholesterol than beef, depending on the amount of fat. The liver and brain would be high in cholesterol as it is in other animals. Venison has about 1/3 less calories than beef.

Venison is likely to be drier and less tender than domestic meat. Therefore, you need to pay special attention to preparation of the meat.

Venison is at its best when properly dressed and cooked. The rules of modern meat cookery apply to venison. There are two easy rules to follow.

Always cook at low to moderate heat for juicy, tender, evenly cooked meat and vary the cooking method according to natural tenderness and flavor.

Venison should be cared for in the same manner as domestic meat. Do not soak venison or any other wild game in soda or salt water. Store uncooked venison in the coldest part of the refrigerator, no longer than two or three days.

In preparation of venison, it is usually best to use the long, slow, moist cooking method that tenderizes tough meats. Another way to tenderize game is to baste it with an acid such as orange juice, tomato, lemon, sour cream or cooking wine.

It should not be necessary to attempt to conceal the flavor of venison. Cook venison in the same manner as beef. Since the characteristic flavor is concentrated in the fat, trimming away excess fat will help if the flavor is strong. Generally, venison is a dry meat and so you may add suet, butter or other fat in cooking.

The following is one of the recipes from the Extension bulletin "Now It's Venison" which is available from the Extension office for 25c.

Smothered Venison

- 3 lbs. venison, round or rump salt and pepper flour
- 1 tsp. celery seed
- 2 tblsp. prepared mustard or horseradish
- 1 cup strained tomatoes

Season venison with salt and pepper and roll in flour. Place in Dutch oven or heavy covered pan. Brown on all sides in melted fat. Add the celery seed, prepared mustard or horseradish, and strained tomatoes. Cover and simmer 3 hours or until tender.

Remember, in cooking venison that little can be done to improve the flavor of game meat that was not handled and cared for properly during the first hours after the kill.

PREPARE YOUR CAR FOR WINTER DRIVING

If you haven't already done so, "winterize" your car now to avoid motor and mechanical difficulties in the cold weather season ahead, motorists were urged today by Washington County Sheriff Clarence Schwartz.

"Getting ready for winter calls for checking the battery — and replacing it if necessary; checking tires — and switching to snow or all-weather tires; checking brakes — adjusting to get equal pull on all four wheels; checking the exhaust system — replacing the muffler if it's in poor shape; checking the windshield — making sure the defroster is working well, replacing worn wiper blades; and putting antifreeze solution in the washer tank," Sheriff Schwartz advised.

"Engine tuneup, oil change, and an inspection of all lighting also are in order," he declared.

"You'll be glad you tended to these matters when you face drastic drops in temperature, longer hours of darkness, and the hazards of freezing rain, snowfalls, icy roads and occasional blizzards," the Sheriff observed.

Roy Esser, Local Coordinator, Receives Information on Vocational Education

Measured in 1982, unemployment rates for secondary vocational graduates who completed a senior occupational preparation course (capstone) are 5.5 percent one year after graduation and five percent three years after graduation. These percentages contrast sharply with a national unemployment rate of over eight percent and a teenage unemployment rate of 24 percent according to the Department of Labor statistics of July, 1982.

This information was recently received by Roy Esser, Local Vocational Education Coordinator at Kewaskum High School in the form of the Fifth Annual Composite Evaluation Report for Secondary Vocational Education in Wisconsin, 1981-82. The report, published by UW-Stout for the Department of Public Instruction, contains a number of interesting measures of the effectiveness of secondary vocational education.

Because vocational education aims to train high school students for entry level jobs, the employment data featured in the report is significant. It stated that over two-thirds of occupational preparation program graduates, one year after graduation, are employed full and part time. Three years after graduation, over seven out of ten occupational preparation program graduates are employed full and part time.

Employers of graduates were also surveyed and found to be highly supportive of high school vocational training. The report reveals that nine out of ten employers responding indicated preference in hiring vocationally trained high school graduates over those who have not had such training. Reasons for this may be due to high employer ratings on graduates in such aspects as ability to work with co-workers, accepting advice and supervision, quality of work, quantity of work, and understanding the value and importance of work. Employers also rated graduates' attitudes as above average in such qualities as dependability, courtesy and friendliness, personal appearance, responsibility, cooperation, and initiative.

The average annual wage for occupational preparation program graduates after one year of employment is reported as $7,634 and after three years of employment is $8,674. Wages for 1981 female graduates averaged 92% of the male graduates' salary and 1979 female graduates averaged 81% of the males' salaries.

The report also identified a pattern for those students who go on to school. Of the 1981 occupational preparation program graduates, 43% are currently attending school. Almost one fourth of the graduates of 1979 are currently attending school.

The report indicates thirty-six percent of current high school students plan to enter the work force immediately following graduation. However data indicates over half of the graduates actually end up entering the work force immediately following graduation. This points out the need for high school students to have the opportunity to receive vocational training while still in high school. The report also shows a greater tendency of occupational preparation graduates and sequence graduates to go on for further training following high school than those who have taken non-vocational courses.

Data in the Composite Report were collected from 47 schools across the state which participated in a Vocational Education Program Evaluation during 1981-82.

Indians Downed by West Bend West, Random Lake

The short-handed Kewaskum Indians, with three players out with injuries, extended their losing streak to four straight with two more setbacks the past week. Last Tuesday the Indians lost at West Bend West, 88-72, and Friday they were defeated at Random Lake, 75-62.

Tuesday West Bend West scored 20 points or more in every quarter in their shootout over the Indians. The Spartans got off to a fast start with a 9-2 lead which grew to 16 points in the first half and 18 in the fourth stanza.

The Spartans got a solid performance from Bill Albrecht, Brad Burns and reserve Dave Johnson, who scored 22, 22 and 12 points respectively. Burns, a 6-4 junior tallied 15 of his points in the first half. Albrecht got hot in the second quarter, hitting three baskets and four free throws in putting on quite a show.

Three Indian players who were expected to contribute, Dennis Butz, Jeff Squier and Dan Gerhartz, are still out with injuries. The rebounding of Butz is especially missed. And Dan Dean was charged with three quick fouls in the first quarter and had to watch the rest of the half from the bench. Dean came back in the second half to score 12 points before fouling out and Kewaskum was hurt further when Mike Steinhardt was also lost on personals.

Guard Jim Hanrahan led the Indians with 18 points and center Brian Arndt contributed 17. Hanrahan has been a bright spot for the Indians.

West hit on 36 of 87 shots while Kewaskum shot 29 for 70, showing there were 157 attempts at the basket. Although trailing throughout the game, the Indians didn't give up and made some tough shots in the second half.

The early foul situation continues to cause a problem for the Indians but with three players injured they don't have a lot of depth.

The West JVs also won over Kewaskum, 67-49. Tom Herriges was high scorer for the Indians with 18 points.

Larsen's 37 Points Lead Girls to Fourth Straight

By Cathy Schlice

The Kewaskum girls varsity team upped their record to a perfect 4-0 with a 61-41 win over New Holstein in their conference opener at New Holstein Tuesday night.

Linda Larsen again led Kewaskum with 37 points on 15 baskets and 7 free throws. Linda also pulled down 20 rebounds.

Like the last couple of games, the big quarter for the Indians was the fourth, in which they outscored the Huskies, 22-14.

The Indians dominated the boards, outrebounding the Huskies, 40-17.

The big scoring difference was at the free throw line where Kewaskum converted 17 of 28

Random Lake 75, Kewaskum 62

Kewaskum dropped another contest in non-conference play at Random Lake Friday, 75-62.

Two Ram players combined to score all of their team's points except 13. Paul Paulus set two school records for Random Lake, the first for a new single game scoring mark with 38 points on 15 baskets and eight free throws. The second was for the number of baskets in a game—15. Paulus, a 6-2 junior forward, got a lot of help from 6-4 center Steve Rathke, who scored 24 points.

This pair didn't miss many shots. The score was tied at 49-49 at the end of three quarters of play when Paulus and Rathke took control in leading their team to a victory by 13 points. Paulus hit 15 of 22 field goal attempts and Rathke made good on 11 of 19. These two got together for 24 of the Ram's 27 points in the final period.

The Indians appeared to die in the last quarter. Still without three players, two of them probable starters, the injury bug has eaten into the team's depth. This was again very evident Friday.

Senior Dan Dean was hot in the first half, scoring 14 of the 20 points, 10 of them in the first quarter. When he cooled off guard Hanrahan picked up some of the slack, totaling 17 points for the night. Rod Donnelly and Brian Arndt had nine and eight points respectively but the Indians just aren't getting much help from anyone else.

The Indians made some serious fundamental mistakes in the closing minutes, giving up three rebound baskets and a three point play after missed Ram Free throws.

Coach Jim Westphal praised Random's two game stars. The Rams went the entire game with just six players because of two suspensions and an injury to another player.

The Kewaskum JVs were winners over Random Lake. Brian Ruplinger and Herriges scored 14 and 11 points for their 2-2 team.

The Indians open Eastern Wisconsin play Friday at New Holstein. The Huskies nosed out Plymouth, previous winners over West Bend West, on Friday.

Wrestlers Nip Chilton by One Point in Opener

The Kewaskum wrestlers opened their Eastern Wisconsin Conference season with a narrow one point victory over Chilton there Thursday, 28-27.

The meet was close throughout until the 155-pound match, in which Chilton's Wayne Hoerth, a two-time state qualifier, pinned previously undefeated Stuart Stautz to give the Tigers a five point lead.

With Kewaskum forfeits at both 185 and unlimited, this meant that Steve Seitz would have to pin Dave Criter in the final bout. Seitz took the lead in the second period but Criter came back with a near fall to go ahead. Criter was penalized twice for stalling and took Seitz down in the final period but Criter was disqualified for clasping hands, giving the Indians the win.

Dave Kudek (112), Seitz and Scott Duran (unlimited) are still undefeated with 3-0 records, and freshman Wade Jepson had done a good job. Mark Fuller was also praised by Coach Fran Charland for a lot of hustle, as was Tim Landvatter, an 8-4 winner.

Lakes Team Jolts Slinger For 2nd in Row

The surprising Kewaskum Lakes basketball team won their second game in a row, upsetting Slinger, 107-100, there Sunday night, behind a trio of 25-point performances from Leon Laatsch, Clark Eichstedt, and Mike Maney. The win moves Kewaskum into a first-place tie with Port Washington in the 'B' Division, both with 2-0 records. Kewaskum won only two games all last year.

It was a very close game throughout as only in the final few minutes did Kewaskum pull away from their hosts. Slinger took a 27-25 lead after the first quarter as Al Schieve had eight, but Kewaskum came back with a 26-21 second quarter as Dan Faul got eight, to lead 51-48 at the half.

The teams played even in the third quarter, each scoring 26 points, as Kewaskum took a 77-74 lead into the final quarter. Laatsch had 12 and Schieve eight to lead their teams in the quarter. The game was tied at 88 with about five minutes left when Kewaskum spurred to a 13-point lead with two minutes to go to put the game away, and then coasted the rest of the way. They outscored Slinger 30-26 in the quarter, with Eichstedt getting 11, to win by seven.

Besides the big three, Faul had nine points, Bill Backhaus had eight, Jeff Lehnerz six, and Mike Geidel five, as nine players scored for Kewaskum. Schieve led Slinger with 28 points, followed by Jack Held with 21, Larry Gundrum with 16, Greg Jonas with 14, and Bob Mertz with 11.

Kewaskum won the game from the free throw line, making 21 of 30 for 70.0 percent. Slinger was only 6 of 18 for 33.3 percent.

Kewaskum hosts Port Washington this Saturday at 7:30 in a battle for first place in the 'B' Division.
