Michael Spector, representing the District, presented its initial proposal which, among other items, includes a change in the health and dental insurance area, whereby the District would pay 90% of the dollar amount premiums and the teachers 10%. (Presently, the District pays 100%).

Spector also discussed a "Management Rights" clause covering eight points ranging from the hiring of all employees, to the right to plan, direct and control school activities.

Prices for Ice Skating Rink Lighting Sought

By GERRY MUELLER Statesman Staff Writer

We will be getting quotes on lighting for the new Kiwanis Park ice skating rink, Trustee Richard Schmidt told the Kewaskum Village Board at its meeting Tuesday night.

Schmidt, Chairman of the Parks and Recreation Committee, told the board his committee was looking into installation of lights at the rink in time for this winter's skating season. Response to the new rink was excellent last year even without the benefit of lights, noted Schmidt. The new lights and poles would also be adapted to River Hill Park.

The board also approved Schmidt's request to purchase a new line striper at a cost of $200.00. Schmidt told the board the new striper is a "dry" type, making it easier to clean and maintain. Public Works Superintendent Augie Bilgo noted the present striper, beside being very old, was "shot." "It was purchased second-hand to begin with," said Bilgo.

The board approved two building permits for Marigold Foods. One permit will cover the placement of a portable office to be used in the truck investigating last week's vandalism of a large tractor owned by Loren Ketter of Route 2, 2180 Highway D, Campbellsport.

The incident, which occurred on Auburn-Ashford Drive just west of Highway G, about two miles north of Kewaskum, in the early morning hours of Tuesday, August 30th, resulted in substantial damage to the four-wheel drive, 180 hp, Case tractor. The tractor had been parked in the field near a home.

A resident near where the tractor had been left, heard the tractor start up at approximately 3:30 a.m. but thought someone from Ketter's operation had come to finish working up the field before morning chores.

When two of Ketter's employees arrived at the scene at approximately 9:00 a.m. they found the tractor missing. Lookits engine still running.

Someone had started the tractor, which was facing south, and made one pass down the field. They then turned the tractor north toward Auburn-Ashford Drive, raised the disk and drove it toward the road. A few hundred feet from the road. the vandal jumped out, leaving the tractor engaged to travel across the road and approximately 50 feet into the stand of pines which are about 20 to 30 feet tall. The tractor eventually stopped when some of the downed trees became lodged between the wheels and in the disk. The tractor remained in gear, with the wheels spinning, digging themselves down about 3 to 4 feet into the ground. The tread on one tire was worn almost completely off.

Ketter noted whoever did this was familiar with tractor equipshoulder preventing the tractor from crossing the road.

Officials found tracks in the field where the individual jumped from the tractor and ran toward the road.

Anyone who has been following contract negotiations such as Miller Brewing, and Briggs and Stratton locally, or AT & T nationally, will recognize that these are two points which are being looked at very closely by both public and private businesses in contract negotiations with their employees.

After hearing the KEA's presentation, Spector commented he would have to review the KEA proposal more thoroughly as well as the present contract, noting he had not looked into the 1982-83 contract in depth, since he was not sure whether or not he was really working for the District. (Spector was referring to the legal controversy surrounding Gerald Kiefer's firing and his hiring as District lawyer and negotiator). Attend AMPI Women's Convention

The promotion of dairy products is a key to the future of troubled dairy industry a according to Ardath DeWall, dairy farm wife from Shannon, Illinois, and President of the Associated Milk Producers, Inc. Mid-States Women. "The current dairy situation in this country is very discouraging. But if each dairy farmer does his part in boosting the promotional efforts of dairy products, we can only make progress. It won't be a miracle cure, but a solid program proclaiming the positive nutritious benefits on a more widespread basis can only be beneficial.

"It is unfortunate that the 15c per hundredweight promotional fee currently included in the pending dairy legislation in the U.S. House of Representatives is packaged with a price support cut and a 50c per hundredweight milk assessment. Under the Dairy Compliance Plan, a program promoted by AMPI and National Milk Producers Federation, the 15c per hundredweight promotion would have been more palatable since it could have been readily accepted as a positive investment in a producer's own future. Now, instead the promotion part is just another negative aspect in a dairy farmers fight for economic survival.

DeWall addressed the 9th annual women's convention held at Devil's Head Lodge, Merrimoc, WI. June 15-16. Attending the convention from District 7-D were: Nancy Rodenkirch and Janet Panzer of Kewaskum.

The leaders have held their first meeting to set-up a program to help make this a better and more exciting year than ever.

As the leaders gathered around the table it was a great feeling to welcome a few new leaders and also to say 'welcome back'' to our returning leaders.

As roll call was taken for each troop a sad and depressing silence fell across the room. The numbers for two Junior troops were called and there was no reply.

Yes, it is true there is an urgent need for two leaders for those young girls. It is sad to think in a growing community like Kewaskum that there wouldn't be two people willing to share a little love and time with some super girls.

There are only two requirements to being a leader - age (18 to 100) and the willingness to love and share. If you can say "YES," please call 626-4284. The Scout Troops and

McCALLUM WILLING TO LEAD FIGHT AGAINST LEGALIZED GAMBLING IN WISCONSIN

State Senator Scott McCallum (R-Fond du Lac) said today that he is "willing to lead the fight against legalized gambling' when the State Senate takes up the issue later this fall.

'I've heard all the arguments in favor of pari-mutuel betting and a state run lottery, and I remain convinced that the odds are against Wisconsin coming up a winner," said McCallum. 'What's more, many of my colleagues feel the same.

The veteran state legislator noted that a recent straw poll conducted by his office indicated that a majority of Wisconsin's State Senators opposed both forms of gambling. Of the 29 senators who responded to the informal poll, 14 were against the proposed measures, were in favor, and 9 were undecided.

'Many lawmakers share the concern that the progressive, clean government image of Wisconsin will be damaged if gambling is legalized, McCallum said. "In addition, the resulting revenue everyone has been talking about may not necessarily be the answer to our prayers.

McCallum explained that we should first ask why we want to can say is good luck! That approach has been tried before and hasn't been successful," McCallum commented.

The Fond du Lac lawmaker noted that other revenue raising ideas, such as temporarily raising the sales tax in order to reduce property taxes, haven't lasted long. Recently, the 5% sales tax became permanent to help support the increased spending found in the 1983-85 biennial budget.

'Aside from the revenue question, we must also ask ourselves if Wisconsin should legalize gambling simply because other states have done so," said McCallum. "Wisconsin has always been a leader. not a follower. Why should we abandon this tradition now?'

Inheritance Tax Reform Needed, Panzer Reports

(Madison)...With inheritance tax reform looming on the horizon, Wisconsin is on its way to becoming just as good a place to die as it is to live, said State Representative Mary Panzer (R-West Bend)

Panzer said she was elated with the recent announcement by a bipartisan trio of legislators that the Assembly's Subcommittee on Inheritance Tax Reform will be presenting its inheritance tax reform bill to the full Revenue Committee in September.

"The Subcommittee's bill provides for the abolishment of Wisconsin's inheritance and gift taxes, which will be replaced with a minimal pick-up estate tax," said Panzer. "We're finally on our way!"

The proposal would abolish the gift tax in January of 1985. and phase out the inheritance tax over a five-year period, beginning in July of the same year. This would minimize the state's short-term revenue loss, although the state coffers won't be empty by any means. Panzer said, "Although the inheritance tax would bring in about $70 million to the state in the 1985 fiscal year, this won't all be lost because there will still be revenue coming in from all the people that will now stay in Wisconsin, instead of moving somewhere else to retire. And the pick-up tax, which is a substitute tax equal to the amount of money the federal government would've let you deduct from your income taxes if we did have an inheritance tax here, will also put some money in the tills.

The inheritance tax reform bill will be a boon to nearly all Wisconsin citizens, Panzer said, but especially to small businessmen, farmers, and senior citizens.

'The present inheritance tax set-up is counterproductive, said Panzer. "Take the small farmer who dies, leaving his family little money, but a bit of land. Wisconsin steps in at this point to levy a large inheritance tax on the family because the land is fairly valuable, and the family has to sell half the land to pay off the tax! It's ridiculous.

Panzer said she's wholeheartedly behind the proposal, and will be pushing for its passage in the Assembly. "It's time we changed the old saying they have about Wisconsin--it's a great place to live, but you don't want to die here.

Social Security

By David Becker, Social Security Branch Manager in West Bend

BENEFITS IMPROVE FOR WOMEN

The new Social Security amendments go a long way towards closing the gap in the protection the Social Security program provides women. Although the provisions are not based on sex, they are aimed at situations generally encountered by women as retired or disabled widows and divorced spouses. These type of benefits are paid on the earnings of a retired, disabled, or deceased worker. Men are more likely to collect benefits on their own earnings rather than as widowers or husbands.

A major change provides for the continuation of benefits to disabled widows or widowers who remarry before age 60, just as it has been for widows or widowers who remarry at age 60 or older. Under prior law, disabled widows or widowers, who may receive benefits as early as age 50, had their benefits terminated upon remarriage before age 60. The change also applies to surviving divorced spouses who would have their benefits terminated upon remarriage at any age. The change is effective for benefits payable after December 1983.

Another change increases the benefit levels for disabled widows and widowers 50-59. Now, the rate ranges from 50 to 71.5 percent of the worker's benefits depending on the person's age. All disabled widows and widowers will receive 71¹/₂ percent of the workers benefit. This provision is also effective for benefits payable after December 1983.

Beginning January 1985, divorced person's will be able to get retirement benefits at age 62 on their former spouse's earnings if he or she is eligible for benefits regardless of whether the former spouse retires or applies for benefits, as was required under prior law. The applicant must have been divorced for at least 2 years, and the marriage must have lasted at least 10 years.

Yet another change will apply to people who are affected by the government pension offset. The offset causes a reduction in Social Security spouse's or surviving spouse's benefits for people who receive a pension based on their own work for a Federal, State, or local government which is not covered by Social Security. Under the change, two-thirds of the pension will be applied against the Social Security benefit for people who first become eligible for a government pension after June 1983.

Currently, the Social Security spouse's benefit is reduced dollar for dollar by the amount of the pension. For the affected group, the spouse's benefit will be reduced $2 for every $3 of the pension.

Finally, a provision has the effect of generally increasing the benefits of widows and widowers who apply for benefits on the earnings of a spouse who died before reaching 62. The change updates the earnings levels by indexing the earnings to increases in general wages up to 2 years before the application for benefits or 2 years before the deceased spouse would have turned age 62. whichever is latest. The new method of computing benefits will se used only where it results in a higher benefit. The provision is effective for widows and widowers newly eligible after December 1984.

As I indicated, the great majority of those affected by these changes are women. However, the benefits are available to both men and women so everybody should take the time to become familiar with them. For more information, call any Social Security Office.

West Bend Savings Develops Commercial Lending Division

West Bend Savings and Loan Association announced the expansion of its commercial services to include commercial lending, a direct result of broad new powers recently granted by Congress.

Association president, Richard A. Larson, stated, "the ability to provide commercial credit means the association's business services list is now complete." Prior to the expanded authorization, West Bend Savings' commercial services were restricted to commercial checking accounts and business investment services.

The association's business solicitation and call programs will operate under the supervision of Ronald E. May, Senior Loan Officer. May, who joined the association in 1981, has past commercial customer contact and commercial lending experience. The overall commercial lending division will operate under the direction of Naomi R. Engeleiter, Senior Vice President.

"Washington County lacks practical commercial lending for intermediate and smaller businesses," Larson said. "It is this niche that our new commercial lending division is interested in serving."

The association's service delivery and commercial growth strategies are based on an already existing county-wide office network, streamlined operating procedures, competitive interest rates, competitive cost structures and a complete understanding of Washington County business needs. "We are," Larson said, "in every respect, positioned to serve the commercial needs of Washington County businesses efficiently, effectively and immediately." According to Larson, the association has already, for a short time, been actively engaged in granting commercial credit and has successfully developed a substantial commercial loan volume.

"Until now," Larson said, "sources of commercial credit were limited mostly to commercial banks." "Today, businesses are finding many more benefits and options available as a result of increased competition from the savings and loan industry." According to Larson, "This can only lead to an increased availability of improved and more cost efficient commercial financial services to Washington County businesses."

The types of loans currently available from West Bend Savings' commercial lending division include: loans for Page 12, Friday, Sept. 9, 1983

1983 STATE 4-H HORSE EXPO

The 1983 State 4-H Horse Expo will be held at the Dane County Fairgrounds in Madison September 8-11. Notice, that it is called a Horse Expo rather than a horse show, because there are many more activities in addition to a horse show.

To qualify to participate in the horse show a 4-H member must have won a blue ribbon at the county fair. All of the other activities are open to any 4-H horse project member. The Expo includes the horse show, horse bowl, judging contest, poster contest, demonstration contest, hippology contest and horsemen's display

The horse show begins Thursday afternoon and is every day and evening until the show is completed on Sunday afternoon. The horsebowl will be Thursday and Friday forenoon. It is a competition between teams in their knowledge of horse science.

The judging contest is on Saturday afternoon. Each participant is judged on his ability to evaluate the quality of a horse. In the demonstration or speaking contest the members show and tell about information on horses. The hippology contest is where an individual shows his skill and knowledge in horse science. All 4-H horse project members are invited to participate in any of the activities. The public is invited to see the show

The purpose of the 4-H horse project is to teach young people about the care of horses, learning to ride and train a horse is also very important. This is the time of year when 4-H clubs are reorganizing for the coming year. If you are interested contact your nearest 4-H club or county 4-H office or you may be interested in attending the county 4-H saddle club meeting on Wednesday, September 14, 7:00 p.m. at the Polk Town Hall.

Clarence A. Schwartz, Sheriff

Motorists Suffer 'Blind Faith'

Have you ever noticed that we usually blame "the other guy" for traffic problems and dangers but regularly put our lives in that "other guy's" hands? We do, you know, says Sheriff Clarence Schwartz. "As foolish as it may sound, we do it every day," he adds. Think about the last time you went through an intersection where cross traffic had to stop. Did you slow down just in case the other guy coming from the side didn't stop as required?

Chances are, you "boomed" on through the intersection, feeling safe in the knowledge that the other guy was supposed to stop.

You'd be surprised how often drivers fail to notice signs or even other traffic, especially in familiar territory, Schwartz notes. If you doubt that, consider the number of people who have been killed at railroad crossings near their homes. They certainly knew that the crossings were there, but had grown accustomed to not seeing trains there very often, the

Or, there are people like a Chicago motorist who hailed a traffic officer over near Madison one day to ask him how much further it was to Flint, Michigan. Seems he took a wrong turn leaving home and hadn't paid any attention to road signs. Didn't even notice that he was in Wisconsin instead of Michigan. The man was cold sober according to the officer, but had been paying more attention to conversation in his car than he was to the road. If you feel comfortable in your trust that the "other guy" will always do the right thing at the right time in traffic, decide if you want to put your faith in him - or in sharpening your defensive driving skills.

If you find yourself relying too much on "BLIND FAITH, you might also like to enroll in a defensive driving course, Sheriff Schwartz suggests - just to sharpen your evasive techniques and learn how to avoid guys like him, before they get you!

Driving is a full-time job, requiring the full time attentin from all drivers. Be certain that you don't become a victim of your own "BLIND FAITH," Sheriff Schwartz warns.

Sheriff went on to say.

RACING NEWS

by Tom Gross

PLYMOUTH - Randy Tracy of Plymouth, Mark Melger of Sheboygan Falls and Steven Schad of Kiel were feature winners Saturday night at the Sheboygan County Fairgrounds on the first night of the 3-night Fair week-end program presented by Eastern Wisconsin.

Tracy, a second year driver in modifieds, trailed the front runner, Chuck Tuschl of Cato, the entire race until the 26th lap of the 30-lap modified feature.

On the lap, Tracy took Tuschl coming off of the second corner on the inside and never was threatened after that. Tuschl led right from the start and was initially challenged by Tim Crimmings of Neosho.

Richard Hed of Sheboygan Falls and Ron Luedtke of Lomira were tangled coming out of the first turn on lap three and the red flag went out with Tuschl leading. On the re-start, Tuschl established his lead once again but Tracy became his main concern.

Tracy was kept at bay by Tuschl both going into the corners and coming out of them up until the 26th circuit when Tracy, coming off the second turn high, swept ahead Tuschl on the inside and took the lead. Gene Erdmann was third in the race.

Frankie Heimerl, current point leader from West Bend and Luedtke started at the back of the pack and were never able to do much. Luedtke and Heimerl are one point apart in the Budweiser Point Series with one week remaining in Eastern Wisconsin racing.

Melger won his sportsman feature after Rick Van Der Vaart of Sheboygan went to the pits on the 17th lap. Van Der Vaart led from the seventh lap on but had mechanical problems and was not able to finish the race.

It was Van Der Vaart, Melger, and John Born of Cleveland the last seven laps until Van Der Vaart went to the pits. Jim Horneck of Sheboygan came from fourth place in the last three laps to take a second in that race.

Making it three in a row, Kiel's Steve Schad led all the way in the 12-lap hobby stock feature. Once again it was Schad and Dave Haag of Plymouth providing the main competition for each other in the race. On the ninth lap, Haag went to the pits and Randy Meyer chased Schad for the last three circuits and won the second place spot.

Ken Schultz led all the way in the modified, A-semi feature and won easily.

Indians Rout Milwaukee Juneau in 52-0 Shutout

The Kewaskum Indians and 38 yards respectively. crushed a hapless Milwaukee Juneau football team here Friday night by a lopsided 52-0 score, before a Parents' Night crowd.

It was the second nonconference victory for the Indians of the young season and also their second straight shutout, having rolled over Horicon there the week before, 30-0. Kewaskum now has amassed 82 points in two games to none for their opponents.

Although playing less than half of the game, Kewaskum junior quarterback Mark Follmann hit on an incredible 80 percent of his passes and threw four touchdown passes. He connected on 9 of 12 attempts in the first half and 3 of 3 in the second half for 139 yards.

Record Inland Water Brown Trout Caught

There's a new state record for a brown trout caught on Wisconsin's inland waters.

Randy Buck of Antigo caught the 15-pound, 15 1/2-ounce lunker in Moose Lake located in southeastern Landglade County Monday evening, August 8th. It broke the previous record for an inland brown, established by Tod Jorgenson of Spring Valley just a year ago this month, by 14 1/2-ounces.

Buck landed his record catch on a six pound test line using a leech for bait. He will receive a certificate from the Bureau of Fish Management later this year noting his achievement.

The Wisconsin record for a brown trout, including fish caught in outlying waters, is 32-pounds, 8-ounces. That fish was taken from Lake Michigan by a Milwaukee man in 1978.

Further information on the new inland water brown trout record is available from: Max Johnson, DNR, P.O. 310, Antigo, WI 54409. Phone (715) 627-4317.
