Increased School Tax Levy Approved Gina's Pizza Moving To New Location

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

On a four to one vote, during a special meeting, the Kewaskum School Board approved a final revised tax levy of $2,961,200.00 for 1984, up $41,200 from the original levy of $2,920,000, presented to the Annual District Meeting in July.

Business Manager Baird Stouffer explained there were two factors involved in the board's decision to increase the levy. First, since the Annual Meeting, the board approved the hiring of three additional staff members. They were a half-time kindergarten teacher, an aide for the Farmington kindergarten and a special education aide. The additional cost in wages and benefits for the three positions was $21,200. The second factor governing the increase was the anticipated cost of a settlement in the teacher contract negotiations. Stouffer said that when the original budget was prepared, the district included a 6½% increase to cover the anticipated hike in teacher salaries for 1984. However, wage settlements in neighboring school districts are running from 7½% to 9%, stated Stouffer.

In an effort to offset some of the salary shortage, the board voted to include an additional $20,000 in the levy.

The final mill rate will go up from $10.12 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, calculated on the July levy figure, to $10.51 per $1,000 on the final adopted levy.

Stouffer stressed that the increased levy was not the reason for the rise in the mill rate. When the district worked on the original budget, an estimate of a 3% increase in equalized valuation was used to calculate the mill rate. Stouffer noted, however, actual figures show the equalized valuation rose only .59%, almost 2½% lower than expected. "Even if the board would not have touched the levy itself, the rate still would have gone up," said Stouffer.

Stouffer noted that the low increase in equalized value was common throughout the state, but Kewaskum's .59% was still well below the state average of 1.4%. This shows the slow

Gina's Pizza Moving To New Location

The former grocery store, appliance store, pot and pan store, shoe store, and game room, among others, at 143 Main Street, is getting a new interior and a new tenant, Gina's, in early November.

Virginia Haney will be moving her pizza shop from 230 Main, to its new location about a half block west. The building is now owned by David Stern and Kenneth Panko. The two partners are completely redoing the interior of the building to provide a beautiful setting for Gina's pizza and subs.

The new eating place will have seating and an expanded menu offering. Gina's will be carrying Happy Day Inc. ice cream, an unusually good, hard ice cream. Rolls and other baked sweets will be added along with luncheon suggestions and a salad station.

A small video game room will be separated in the rear of the building.

Mrs. Haney wishes to encourage groups interested in the pizza shop operation to make arrangements for a guided tour. School classes, homemaker clubs, scout groups and senior citizen groups are all welcome.

Pro-Lifer Addresses Kiwanis

Ann Enright

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Fifteen million unborn babies have been killed, that's 4,000 a day, since the Supreme Court allowed the abortion law to go into effect ten years ago. That statement was made by Ann Enright, 1320 Scenic Drive, Kewaskum, President of the Kettle Moraine Chapter of "Wisconsin Citizens Concerned For Life" and President of the Board of Directors of "Friends For Life," as she addressed the Kewaskum Kiwanis Monday evening.

Enright presented some startling facts during her 30-minute talk and presentation of slides. She asked how many people knew abortion was legal any time during the full nine months of pregnancy. It is, she told her audience, as long as there is a doctor willing to do it. Do you know, a minor girl can have an abortion without her parents' consent, yet she needs it to have her ears pierced.

Enright told the group, life begins at conception. A heart-beat can be detected after 18 days, and a baby will already have fingerprints seven weeks after conception, the same prints it will carry for the rest of its life.

Enright told the Kiwanians, she became a part of the anti-abortion movement after six years of miscarriages and attempts to have a baby. There is just no reason for abortion, there are hundreds of agencies and thousands of parents begging for babies to adopt. It's no longer a valid excuse to say, I don't want it, I can't support it, I don't want to give it away to strangers to raise. Enright said young women should ask themselves which it would be harder to live with, the fact that you killed your child or that you gave it away to someone who will love and take care of it. "Abortion is more than a word, it's dead babies," stated Enright. "If wombs had windows, we could stop abortion."

Enright had been asked to speak at the meeting by Doctor Edwards. He said he was introduced to the cause "when a chiropractor in town put a rose on my lapel." He told me it is the symbol of the right to life. When I was asked to get a speaker for this meeting I thought of this young lady.

Enright explained the cloth rose and the pin with tiny feet were used to raise funds and also remind people that every baby has a right to live.

Any woman who wants our assistance can get it, from medical to financial, legal and emotional help, all they have to do is contact us at our office in St. Joseph's Hospital, West Bend. Our job is to intercept women who want an abortion.

Enright said her greatest thrill was when a young woman came to her office with her baby. She told her, Ann, if it hadn't been for you this baby wouldn't be here.

Local Jaycee Haunted House Is Biggest Ever!

This year's Kewaskum Jaycee Haunted House features the theme "Two Stories of Terror." This year's Haunted House plans to be the biggest and best ever, as the Jaycees have used the upstairs of the old feedmill building at 1411 Railroad Street in Kewaskum.

A special feature of this year's Haunted House will be that a free pass for admission to Skate Country in West Bend will be offered to every person going through the Haunted House. This free pass to Skate Country, has a regular value of $1.50.

The Haunted House, which is an annual Halloween treat for kids of all ages, will be open on Friday and Saturday evenings from 6:00 to 10:30 p.m. and on Sunday afternoon from 4:00 to 8:30 p.m. The Haunted House is open the last two weekends of this month, October 21, 22, 23 and 28, 29 and 30. Admission to this year's house is $1.50 per person.

This will be the eighth annual Jaycee Haunted House and each one continues to draw more people and has more scenes. For the first time, this year, we will see the upstairs of the old feedmill being used and this expanded space allows for more ghoulish and frightening effects. Last year the Kewaskum Jaycee Haunted House had the number one sound system of all houses in the state and for the last two years has had the number one scene in the state (these rankings are done by statewide Jaycee officers as they go and visit houses throughout the state and rank the different houses and individual scenes). Last year the house ranked number four overall in the state. Of course, this year's house will be even better.

Two Stories of Terror features four completely new scenes, and updated soundtrack, a slide from the top story to the bottom story, and many new fiendish monsters and terrifying effects. You will also receive the above-mentioned free pass to Skate Country, which is a value that is equal to the price of admission. You cannot go wrong by visiting this year's Kewaskum Jaycee Haunted House, which is located in the old feedmill across the street from the Municipal Building in Kewaskum. We hope to scare you and your friends there!

Village Offered $46,055 Grant From the DNR

The Village of Kewaskum, Washington County, has been offered a $46,055 grant from the Department of Natural Resources.

The grant is for modifications to Kewaskum's wastewater treatment plant to meet permit requirements. The estimated cost of the project is $76,759.

The grant was made under the Wisconsin Fund, established in 1977 to provide money for the construction of water pollution abatement projects. Additional information on the Village of Kewaskum project is available from Daniel S. Schmidt, Village Administrator at (414) 626-4060.

Village Board Begins Work on 1984 Budget

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Village Board began work on a preliminary budget which is expected to be just below the $1,000,000 mark for 1984.

Village Administrator Dan Schmidt presented a budget of $985,936, up 5% over 1983's figure of $938,987. Schmidt told the board, he and all the department heads were making a cooperative effort to hold the 1984 increase to as close to 5% as possible. He noted, however, that Monday night's presentation contained only anticipated expenditures for 1984, and the final budget will probably change somewhat once he received the village's revenue figures. Schmidt felt the budget would not vary by much, since the 5% increase figure had been kept in mind from the beginning. Schmidt hoped the village could maintain that plan. Schmidt noted every department was working to hold down costs but not to the point where services would have to be cut or reduced to the residents.

Schmidt indicating the village will be receiving $343,000 in State Shared Aids for 1984, up 4.2% over 1983, and $37,027 in State Transportation Aids, up 3.7% over 1983.

Schmidt point out some expenditures which appeared to be out of line compared to 1983. Public Works Outlay will include funds budgeted for the purchase of a new dump truck. Garage and shed budgeting includes approximately $20,000 for repair work at the fire station which includes replacement of three doors and either repair or replacement of a block foundation wall.

Police Chief Don Hlavaty asked Schmidt to clarify the fact that the Police Department budget is not higher or out of line in comparison to other departments. "Every year I get blasted about the size of our budget," said Hlavaty. Schmidt agreed with Hlavaty, noting that on budget sheets almost all of the department's expenditures fall into one account whereas the other departments expenditures are spread through several other accounts. When you add up the various accounts, then you can compare department costs accurately, noted Schmidt.

In other action, the board approved 1984 fire contracts for the Village, Town of Kewaskum and Town of Auburn. Schmidt went through the various points in the formula used to calculate the contracts costs. They include the department's budget, costs for new equipment and buildings, the number of fire calls to each township over the last three years and the equalized valuation of each township.

The village's fire contract for 1984 will cost $45,976, down 10% or $4,541 from 1983. Schmidt noted the large drop was due to a drop in the village's equalized valuation and number of fire calls for the last three years.

The Town of Kewaskum's figures remain basically the same. Their 1984 contract will go up .8%, or $277 over 1983 to $35,994.

The Town of Auburn will be hit with the largest increase in fire protection costs for the fifteen sections serviced by the village. Due to a recently completed re-assessment of the township resulting in a higher equalized valuation, and increase in the number of fire calls, Auburn's contract costs will be $18,854.00, up 51.7% or $6,422 over 1983's contract.

The board also approved the request of Chief Hlavaty to advertise for bids on a 1984 replacement of a police squad. Bids will be opened on November 7th, with delivery to be accepted after January 1st.

Parks Committee Chairman Richard Schmidt reported that no input had been received from village residents regarding the new five-year plan for the parks. "We placed a book in the library for ideas and comments," noted Schmidt, "and either they don't care what we do or they're satisfied because nothing was placed in that book."

The board approved Dan Schmidt's request to advertise the newly created position of Bookkeeper-Records Coordinator as recommended by a study of Arthur Young Associates. Schmidt said new applicants as well as present village employees may apply for the position.

"Life is a jigsaw puzzle with most of the pieces missing."

United Way Fund Drive Reaches One 3rd of Goal

As the midway point in the Kewaskum Area United Way Fund Drive is reached, about one-third of the goal has been attained or about $6,000. The goal is $20,000, which means captains and other volunteers are still working hard to bring in pledges and contributions. The solicitation of the industrial sector began this week.

The American Red Cross "way" is to provide food and shelter for victims of fires, tornadoes, and blizzards. Volunteers are training citizens to respond helpfully for heart attacks, choking, bleeding, and drowning, through CPR, First Aid, and water safety programs. Aid is provided for military personnel, as well as courses on health care, parenting, babysitting, and infant care.

Help in emergencies for local residents and transients is provided by the Salvation Army.

The United Way has provided funds when needed by the Kewaskum Chapter of the Special Olympics - athletic competition for the handicapped.

One of the newer agencies is NOVA Services, which provides specially for juveniles who require shelter care, long term group homes, project Payback, and truancy programs.

The cooperation of all members of the community is needed in order to reach our Fund Drive goal. Please help!

trend in construction, noted Stouffer.

Board President Jean Goeden noted she had voted for the increase not because of the possibility of a higher than anticipated contract settlement, but rather in the hope that the additional $20,000 would help to reduce the amount of money borrowed in June because of deferred property taxes.

Stouffer said he had been informed the district will have 8% of its 1983-84 state aids deferred due to the increase in the amount of taxes being deferred or not paid by property owners.

The 1984 levy reflects an increase of $181,738 over 1983.

Board members Tom Brigham, Neal Weare, Lynn Dieringer and Goeden voted for the revised levy, Ralph Horner voted no, Charles Ogi and John Spoerl were absent from the meeting.

Dear friends,

We heartily endorse the UNITED FUND DRIVE. This 'one-fund' drive, to replace the numerous individual funds is more efficient. Let us all get solidly behind the United Fund with our work and contributions. This is the major opportunity each year for the fortunate to show true charity for the less fortunate.

Tiger Cubs also provide an introduction to Scouting for both the boy and the adult. The hope is that the boy will go on into Cub Scouting and that the adult may decide to become a volunteer in the Scout program.

Four to eight Tiger Cubs are organized into Groups which meet on a regular basis. The Groups may meet at times too with the Cub Scout Pack. And at the end of the year the Tigers "graduate" into Cub Scouts.

UWWC Presents 'The Diary of Anne Frank'

"The Diary of Anne Frank" will be performed again this weekend in the University Theatre at the University of Wisconsin Center-Washington County, 400 University Drive, West Bend.

The play is based on the book, "Anne Frank: Diary of a Young Girl." Anne, a 13 year old Jewish girl, kept a diary while hiding from the Gestapo for two years in a narrow Amsterdam attic during World War II. The stage adaptation retains much of its freshness, simplicity, and lucid awareness of the human condition. Anne's indomitable straight forwardness and open-eyed affirmation of human existence makes the play, as it did the diary, a tribute to the beauties of life rather than a testimony of man's injustice and cruelty.

This performance by UWWC's Theatre on the Hill is one of the best efforts by the group to date. Each actor turns in a compelling performance. The intricacies of the set draw the audience into the cramped, dingy attic and makes each playgoer feel as though he/she were living in this tiny apartment.

"The Diary of Anne Frank" will begin at 8:15 p.m., Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, October 20-23. Tickets are available at the door or reservations can be made by calling 338-5208.

Legislation Would Eliminate Mandatory Retirement for State Senior Citizens

State Senator Carl Otte (D-Sheboygan) called legislation passed by the Senate Oct. 11 which would eliminate mandatory retirement laws "a major victory for senior citizens in Wisconsin."

In unanimously passing the legislation (Senate Bill 116), the Senate also adopted an amendment introduced by Otte to make the legislation go into effect 90 days after it is signed into law by the Governor, rather than having a 6-month waiting period.

"I didn't see the reason for that long of a delay," Otte said. Current law forces most workers to retire at age 70, Otte said. Senate Bill 116 would prohibit that type of age discrimination except in certain specified circumstances.

"Many of our senior citizens are qualified, productive and very able to work," Otte said. "They have a right to employment and the state should not arbitrarily force anyone to retire simply because of age."

Otte said senior citizen groups he had talked with have made this legislation their No. 1 priority. Otte said final legislative approval could be given to the bill as early as the end of October.

Otte also praised State

Senator Russ Feingold (D-Middleton) who authored the legislation for bringing this issue before the Senate. "Senator Feingold, while one of the youngest members of the Senate, has done a fine job in articulating the interests and needs of senior citizens," Otte said. "I am pleased to have had the opportunity to work with him on this important legislation."

October 23-29 Is Disabled American Veterans Week

Governor Earl has proclaimed "Disabled American Veterans Week," October 23 to October 29, in recognition of the services rendered by the D.A.V. to the disabled veterans and to the communities of Wisconsin. Thanksgiving Day Seals from the Disabled American Veterans will be arriving in the homes of Wisconsin residents during D.A.V. Week. State Commander David Schilling of Wausau said that through the contributions received from these seals, the D.A.V. is able to carry on and expand its rehabilitation services maintained in Wisconsin since 1927. Commander Schilling also stated that no promoters or solicitors are used, and all money received is expended within Wisconsin to help disabled veterans and their dependents.

The D.A.V., whose membership consists of veterans who have been wounded or injured in service, has service officers available in 60 chapters throughout the state, whose services are free of charge to all veterans and their dependents, to help them process their claims for Veterans Administration benefits. These service officers are under the supervision of the National Service Officers at Milwaukee. A Service Officer's School was held in Rhinelander to acquaint them with new laws, procedures, rehabilitation and employment opportunities available to all disabled veterans.

With the help of the D.A.V. Auxiliary (wives, mothers, daughters and granddaughters of the D.A.V. members), a Christmas Store is conducted at Tomah Veterans Hospital, where over 1200 veterans are able to send gifts, gift wrapped and mailed free, to their loved ones. Programs are also conducted at the Madison and Wood VA Hospitals and State Veterans Home at King.

Your contributions to the D.A.V., Box 1113, Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53201, will be greatly appreciated and used to expand and continue our services.

Friends for Battered Women Offers Sexual Assault Services to Residents of County

Friends for Battered Women is announcing the availability of sexual assault services to the residents of Washington County through their new crisis intervention and advocacy program for victims of sexual assault. Nationally, the FBI estimates that only 10% of sexual assault victims ever report the crime. It is hoped that with the new program, a larger percentage of the victims will report.

The purpose of the program is threefold: 1) to help the victims emotional needs; 2) to provide short-term counseling to the victim and family if requested; 3) to explain the legal and medical process the victim will go through after reporting and to offer support during the processes. FBW is also working with a sexual assault survivor to provide an on-going support group to allow other survivors the opportunity to share experiences and concerns they have had since the assault.

FBW has received local law enforcement support and county-wide support from Sheriff Clarence Schwartz. They have also received support from the county hospitals, St. Joseph's Hospital in West Bend and Hartford Memorial Hospital. FBW has also arranged a referral process with the Washington County Mental Health Center for sexual assault survivors with long-term mental health needs.

The sexual assault services will be funded with increased United Way support, donations and fundraising. FBW has also written a grant for Preventive Health funding from the State of Wisconsin. This grant will be reviewed in October and organizations will be notified in November as to the results.

FBW will be training volunteers to respond to crisis calls from sexual assault victims. The training will be held in West Bend in October. For more information on volunteering, please contact the office at 334-7298.

Friends for Battered Women is a United Way agency.

New Eyes for the Needy

Steve Allen

Steve Allen, the entertainer and humorist, took off his glasses the other day. It wasn't to get contact lenses, or a new pair of glasses or even to clean the glasses he has.

"I just spent a few minutes looking at a blurry world," Mr. Allen said, "so I could understand what it's like not to be able to afford to see."

Social service agencies estimate that there are millions of people throughout the world who need glasses but lack the money or access to get them. Thousands of these people are Americans.

Steve Allen, who has worn glasses for "almost a century," has decided to help. He recently volunteered his services to New Eyes for the Needy, Inc., a charity group devoted to providing eyeglasses for those who can't afford them. As New Eyes for the Needy spokesman, Mr. Allen is leading the Short Hills,

New Jersey, group's appeal for donations.

"We don't want your money," he said. "That's what's so unique about New Eyes. All we want is your old glasses."

New Eyes for the Needy collects discarded eyeglasses, along with old watches, jewelry and silver, and sells the precious metal to a refiner. This finances the group's entire operation, which last year provided new glasses for more than 8,500 Americans.

Over 200,000 pairs of plastic-framed glasses were catalogued and sent overseas.

According to New Eyes president Joan Daeschler, the group has brought better vision to over 2 million people worldwide since it was founded 51 years ago. More than 200 volunteers currently work at the organization, sorting, testing, and cataloguing eyeglasses. Others open the mail, which sometimes includes thank you's for eyeglasses sent to places as far away as Sierra Leone and West Cameroon.

Mr. Allen, with his glasses back on, summed up the group's feeling. "It's one of the few ways you can really do some good in this world," he said,

"for the price of a stamp."

Donations of old eyeglasses and jewelry, as well as requests for information, may be sent to New Eyes for the Needy, Inc., P.O. Box 332, Short Hills, New Jersey 07078.

Albert G. Hron has announced his retirement from active service with Regal Ware Inc., Kewaskum, according to J. O. Reigle, president of the firm. Mr. Hron, who has a distinguished career covering a span of 47 years in the aluminum cookware industry, has been in charge of product research and development for Regal Ware and will continue his association with the company as a consultant. He began his career with what was originally the Kewaskum Aluminum Company when ground was broken for its first factory building on October 1, 1919, and was superintendent and in charge of engineering, as well as a member of the board of directors. At that time the original factory was a 50 x 180 foot two-story structure with 40 employees and Mr. Hron notes with pride that it has grown to Regal's modern facilities that now cover almost four acres. He recalled the impact of war on the cooking utensil industry, and how his firm helped to develop the 75 mm. steel cartridge case and was the first to make 81 mm. mortar shells and 57 mm. smoke shells out of cold drawn steel during World War II. During the Korean War, Regal Ware was among the first to successfully produce the 105 mm. steel cartridge case for the U.S. Army and Mr. Hron was author of an article on this accomplishment which was featured in "Machinery" and other national trade magazines. On October 11, Mr. and Mrs. Hron were honored by Regal Ware with a testimonial dinner at the South Hills Country Club. The law firm of Schloemer, Stoltz and Merriam of West Bend, which maintained an office in the Kewaskum theatre building, has discontinued their practice here effective October 15.

Homecoming festivities are taking place at Kewaskum High School on October 16 and 17. Homecoming king, Ken Theusch, will crown his queen, Joyce Rohlinger, preceding the grand march at the dance on Friday night. The royal couple will be attended by the following girls and their escorts: Freshmen — Roseann Wertz and Ed St. Mary. Sophomore — Duanne Miller and Don Theusch. Juniors — Sue Sengpiel and Jim Schuppel; Pat Edwards and Tom Smith. Seniors — Carol Bier and Ron Backhaus; Pam Nolting and Jim Marx.

About 30 members attended the second meeting of the newly organized Kewaskum Business Association in the municipal building Monday evening. Roger Strack was elected vice-president of the group. Other officers of the association elected at the first meeting included

Mrs. Henry Guenther met with a horrible death at her home in the Town of Wayne last Sunday evening. Mrs. Guenther had gone into the cellar about 8 p.m. and placed a lighted lamp on the steps which was overturned setting fire to her clothing. She rushed out of the cellar and ran toward the barn calling her husband, who was working in the barn, for help. Before he was able to assist her, she fell to the ground enveloped in a mass of flame. Medical aid was at once summoned, but all efforts to save the unfortunate woman's life were unavailing. Mrs. Guenther, nee Emma Guth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Guth of Wayne, was born March 4, 1885. She is survived by her husband, a two-year-old daughter, and brothers and sisters.

Threshold's New Flag

Threshold celebrated its 20th year anniversary with the unveiling and raising of its own flag. Clients and staff observed the outdoor ceremonies held on October 7th.

Original Charter Board members, Doris Fisher and Kathleen Walter along with Board President Jim Hopp, Executive Director Horst Wagner and client representative Nancy Schultz participated in the ceremony.

The flag has a white background, the circle and Threshold's logo (house) are in dark blue. Within the outer blue circle, in gold letters, are the words "The Threshold, Inc., West Bend, WI." The international wheelchair accessible symbol is in the center of Threshold's house logo in white. "Since 1963" in gold letters signifies the founding year of The Threshold. Gold fringe is on the outside perimeter of the flag.

An Auxiliary volunteer, Mrs. Irene Merkowitz (Threshold's Betsy Ross) hand sewed the flag. The indoor flag will be used as a banner at all future Threshold community projects. It is on display in the cafeteria. She also made another flag which flies daily on Threshold's flagpole. The basic flag idea was designed by Chuck Dombruck, a 5th grader from County Line School in Germantown in a county-wide flag contest which was opened to all schools in the Fall of 1981. Threshold staff member, Chuck Stehlik, did the enlarged layout from a 12"x18" poster submitted by Dombruck.

HYPOTHERMIA

Old people have been found dead from hypothermia [chilling of the body] in cool houses at temperatures which would not endanger younger people. Dairy Refund Program Worksheets Available to County Farmers

Dairy farmers have been concerned about the present dairy policy which is assessing dairy farmers $1.00 for every one hundred pounds of milk that they sell. This money is then used to help support purchases by the Commodity Credit Corporation. The program provides that dairy farmers can get a refund on the second of two 50c milk marketing deductions if they meet the requirements of the program.

In order to receive a refund from the 1983-84 marketing year, the period from October 1, 1983 through September 30, 1984, producers must reduce milk marketings by 8.4 percent. The average annual marketings during October 1, 1980 through September 30, 1982 will be the producers base marketing period.

Dairymen need to make a decision as to whether or not it will be profitable for them to reduce production by the required amount, maintain their present production, or possibly increase production. Every situation is different based on production levels, cost of production, and production history over the last two years.

Producers that are interested in the program can contact the County ASCS Office for program details and to establish their base.

The Agricultural Economics Department of the University of Wisconsin-Madison has prepared a worksheet that producers can use to evaluate their dairy situation and help make decisions as to whether or not it is profitable to participate in the refund program. Anyone interested in copies of those worksheets can contact the Washington County UW-Extension Office.

State Awards County Residents $259,054

One hundred and fifteen residents of Washington County were awarded a total of $259,054 from the State's "Wisconsin Fund" for the replacement or rehabilitation of private sewage (septic) systems. This announcement was received today by Paul Mueller, Washington County Land Use and Park Department Administrator. In a letter from Paul N. Guthrie Jr., Director of the office of Intergovernmental Programs for the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, Washington County was applauded for its commitment to clean water and good public health.

Through the efforts of the Land Use and Park Department staff, Washington County was ranked third in a priority listing of County application importance. This priority listing resulted from a competitive process requiring each county to identify special areas of concentrated need. Only 17 of the 39 counties applying received any funding this year.

Since beginning participation in the Wisconsin fund a few years ago, $817,089 has been awarded to residents of Washington County from the Wisconsin Fund for the replacement or rehabilitation of 331 systems. Funding for repair or replacement of several more systems is in the pipeline.

County residents including residents of the cities and villages who desire information about the Wisconsin Fund should contact the Washington County Land Use and Park Department at the County Courthouse. The Department is the sanitation code authority for all of Washington County. Phone 338-4445 in West Bend; 644-5204 ext. 4445 in Hartford/Slinger, or 342-2929 ext. 4445 in Milwaukee Metro phone area.

To School District Residents:

We ask the people of the School District to become a part of the homecoming festivities this week. We need your support on Friday evening. Dear Editor:

We the class of '84 would like to invite back the kings and queens from the last five years, as our homecoming alumni.

This year's festivities start with the traditional homecoming parade which begins at 6 p.m. on Friday. This will be followed by the main event — the football game, where the undefeated Kewaskum Indians vs. the Kiel Raiders.

On Saturday will be the dance which will feature the band Manchester, with the grand march to be held at 10 p.m. The cost for getting into the dance will be $3.00 for a single and $5.00 for a couple.

Hope to see you all there!

Sincerely,

The Class of '84

October 12, 1983

Dear Editor:

Most Wisconsinites probably share a common belief that government exists to protect the people rather than trying to exploit the people. It appears, however, that Attorney General Bronson LaFollette and some legislators are intent on testing that promise by promoting efforts to legalize gambling in our state.

We are, as we open another legislative session, already seeing the initial stages of a full-scale campaign to legalize gambling in Wisconsin. As a State Senator, I stand strenuously opposed to any expansion of gambling activities on the ground that it won't produce the predicted financial windfall and will exploit our citizens.

Rather than looking for new schemes to increase state revenues, we should take the more prudent course of exploring ways to curb state costs. The proponents of legalized gambling, however, appear unwilling to bite the bullet on budget matters and would prefer to legalize gambling as a means of supporting their big-budget, big-spending addiction.

The majority of research studies concerning legalized gambling weigh heavily against approving pari-mutuel betting or a state lottery in Wisconsin. Gambling has not resulted in huge revenues for the states and is often used as an argument for state officials and legislators to continue their excessive spending practices. Gambling has contributed to increased criminal activities. Gambling has contributed to a number of socio-economic problems which ultimately increase welfare costs.

The key problem with the current flurry of pro-gambling sentiment is that supporters are promoting it as a "quick fix" for Wisconsin's budget woes. Worse yet, the proponents are looking at the situation through rose-colored glasses, as if it will create a financial utopia in Wisconsin state government.

The weakness of their argument is that legalized gambling has not produced a financial bonanza for states where gambling has been instituted. The Wisconsin Taxpayers Association reports that lotteries finance less than 2 per cent of the state budgets where gambling exists. Only 7 per cent of the state budget in New Jersey, which has both race tracks and big-time casinos, comes from gambling revenues.

Another argument used by the proponents is that four surrounding states have legalized gambling. They forget to mention that those states, despite gambling revenues, are facing financial situations as bad — if not worse — than the problems we are encountering in Wisconsin. They forget to point out, for example, that Michigan raised income taxes by $38 million this year.

It is time for us to realize that legalized gambling is not the ultimate solution to our budget problems. It is time for us to come to grips with the problem and realize that our goal should be to cut state spending, rather than looking for new ways to exploit our people.

This is not, however, just a dollars and cents problem. The real problem is a general unwillingness by Governor Earl and the legislative Democrats to contain state spending.

When we faced the budget crunch last session, the Democrats responded with the largest tax increase in Wisconsin history. Now, it appears their sentiment is to dilute the quality of life in Wisconsin through gambling to accommodate their government greed.

This is, to say the very least, a ludicrous approach of unproven merit to solve our budget dilemma. Instead of the "quick fix" course, we should be moving forward to put Wisconsin on sound, stable economic footing for the years to come.

The time, however, to stop the gambling proponents and insist that we undertake responsible budgeting practices is now. I encourage each and every Wisconsin taxpayer to write to Governor Earl and their legislators in opposition to legalized gambling in Wisconsin.

Sincerely yours,

Scott McCallum
State Senator

Corn Variety Plot Field Day Oct. 28

Activities will start at 11:00 a.m. with growers being able to see the corn in the field and get yield information. A lunch will be provided at noon, followed by a program at 1:00 p.m.

The field is located on Plainville Road, between County Highway J and Hillside Road. Plainville Road is located one mile south of Highway J in Waukesha County.

1984 Feed Grain Program Announced For Washington Co.

A 10 percent acreage reduction for "acreage conservation reserve purposes" for the 1984 feed grain program has been announced according to Hilbert Scheunemann, Chairman of the Washington County ASC Committee. Program signup period will be Jan. 16 - Feb. 24, the same as for the 1984 wheat program.

The 1984 program will give special emphasis to the acreage conservation reserve. The program will encourage farmers to place more erosive land into conservation uses while continuing to balance supply and demand during 1984. The current payment-in-kind program accomplished this, and our goal in 1984 is to encourage a continuation of this very important conservation practice.

Regular Commodity Credit Corporation price support loan and purchase rates, per bushel, will be: corn, $2.55; barley, $2.08, and oats, $1.31.

Other 1984 feed grain program provisions include:

-To be eligible for price support benefits, a producer must agree to limit corn, oats and barley acreage planted for harvest to not more than 90 percent of the farm's feed grain base. Producers planting less than the permitted acreage will put 11.11% of the planted acreage to conservation use. As under the 1983 program, two bases will be established, one for corn and the other for barley and oats.

-The 1984 acreage base will be the average of the acreage planted and considered planted to feed grains in 1982 and 1983.

-Land designated for acreage conservation reserve use must have been devoted to row crops or small grains in two of the last three years. The land must be protected from wind and water erosion throughout the year.

-Offsetting and cross compliance will not apply to the 1984 program.

-No advance deficiency payments.

-Haying will not be permitted on the conservation use acreage.

-Contracts signed by program participants will be considered as binding and will provide for liquidated damages for failure to comply with program requirements.

Clarence A. Schwartz, Sheriff

Driving 'Adjustments' Are Needed

There are more things to adjust than your seat belt and mirror when you get in your car. You should consciously adjust your attitude also, points out Sheriff Clarence Schwartz. When people lose their tempers they have a habit of doing and saying things they later regret. But a lost temper at the wheel of a motor vehicle can often mean a loss of life...or at least a seriously altered life.

A driver who is upset about a family fight, or reprimand from the boss, just isn't paying full attention to their driving. And if another driver does something to add to that upset, chances are good that it could be the proverbial "straw that broke the camel's back," Schwartz added. We can only hope that drivers calm down before some minor little incident really makes them "blow their top." When someone is upset, the chances of a serious crash are far greater than normal.

Consider a recent study which reports the average person "blows their top" over something about six times a week. Sound impossible? Well, not really. These studies just didn't include the ranting and raving upset, they included the more common cases where people get unreasonably upset without showing it to others. The Sheriff says the study shows that men usually get mad at things, rather than people, while women usually get mad at people, according to the studies. If you want proof, the Sheriff reminds us, just observe children. Adults usually learn to control and hide their anger as they mature, but it is still there.

After we have lost our tempers we like to think this "cleared the air," but the report found only 15% of the people studied felt better after losing their tempers, and two thirds were left feeling irritable and fatigued.

Anger is a powerful emotion. At its worst, an uncontrollable temper can lead to murder. What we often fail to realize is that even a little anger can take our minds off the very important business of driving. Sheriff Schwartz cited one in-depth traffic death investigation conducted in Wisconsin disclosed that the dead driver had a violent temper. He also had a lengthy driving record, bad enough that his driver's license had been revoked. Each of the serious violations or accidents on his record had occurred when the young man was mad at someone or something. He vented his anger on the road, to other drivers, but the last tantrum he threw ended his life.

So the next time you are a little upset while in your car, remember, adjust your attitude. There is no place for anger on the highway, Schwartz said. It can kill!

... about your Social Security

By David Becker, Social Security Branch Manager in West Bend

COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENTS

Starting in 1985, the recent Social Security Amendments change the method under which cost-of-living increases for Social Security beneficiaries will be computed.

Under the old law, increases were tied to increases in the Consumer Price Index (CPI). Whenever the CPI monthly average for the first 3 months of a year exceeded the CPI monthly average for the first 3 months of the previous year by at least 3 percent, benefits were increased to reflect that change. Since prices rose faster than average wages, benefits increased faster than did the Social Security taxes being collected. This resulted in a serious drain on the Social Security trust funds.

Under the new law, future increases will be computed on the basis of the smaller of the two items:

- The increase in the CPI, or
- Average wages when the assets in the Social Security (OASDI) trust funds are less than a given percentage of estimated benefit payments for the year.

This percentage is 15 percent for increases payable from January 1985 through 1989, and 20 percent for increases payable January 1990 and later.

The new legislation also provides a way to help make up for any increases that were based on wage increases. When the trust fund ratio reaches 32 percent, any funds available above the 32 percent ratio will be used to provide additional benefit increases.

This provision serves to protect the trust funds without unnecessarily penalizing beneficiaries.

4-H NATURESPACE WORKSHOP OCT. 22

Naturespace is coming. It's an exciting outdoor project for 4-H members and families. To get things under way we are having a workshop for parents, leaders and older 4-H members on Saturday, October 22, at Riveredge Nature Center near Newburg. Call the 4-H office for details and reservations.

The term Naturespace comes from the idea that some space is needed in which to enjoy these outdoor activities.

As an example of what 4-H members do, Paul Braun from the Badger Boosters 4-H club of West Bend, said he likes to learn bird songs by listening to recordings. Then he goes on early morning hikes to enjoy and identify the birds. Jay Johnson of the Kirshayn Trotters 4-H club in Jackson, says he enjoys making fishing lures. He also likes to walk through the forest to learn to measure trees and how much lumber they have. Both Paul and Jay worked at the Naturespace Action Center at State Fair this summer.

Steve Falk of the Myraneers 4-H club of West Bend says he likes to identify trees by their leaves and bark. He made a leaf collection and a collection of leaf prints for the County Fair. He also gave a demonstration on maple sugaring.

The Naturespace projects include other outdoor activities such as learning about insects, going fishing, enjoying the wild flowers and much more.

Now is the time to join a 4-H club to be able to do some of these activities. It is also a time for the adults to learn more about the opportunities for their children by attending the Naturespace workshop. Call the 4-H office at West Bend 338-4478 or 644-5204.

4-H AN OPPORTUNITY FOR PARENTS

4-H is a youth organization that belongs to the family. It's an opportunity for parents to become involved with their son or daughter in an organized way.

4-H provides the literature and ideas for activities. Parents and children together plan what they want to do. They might be individual projects like wood-working, crafts, foods, clothing or raising crops or animals. It might be group activities where several families do things together, like a kite making and flying day, or family picnic or tour.

Yes, 4-H is for kids, but it's the whole family that gets involved.

Does your family have children third grade or older? Look into 4-H. Call a local 4-H club leader or the County 4-H office at the Court House Annex. 338-4478, 342-2929 or 644-5204.

DNR Seeks Ideas From Local Governments for Cleaning Up the Milwaukee River Watershed

The Department of Natural Resources is inviting ideas from local governments for cleaning up the Milwaukee and Menomonee River watersheds. Both a comprehensive cleanup program and short-term local pilot projects are being proposed by DNR to reduce nonpoint source pollution of the rivers. Nonpoint source pollution is caused by such indirect sources as city street and construction site runoff and farm field erosion.

An invitation to participate in the cleanup was extended by DNR to about 20 representatives of local governments from Ozaukee, Milwaukee, Waukesha and Washington Counties. They met September 29, along with other agency representatives, at DNR district headquarters in Milwaukee.

"The nonpoint source program really needs a lot of strong support from local governments," Ron Kazmierczak, assistant district director for environmental programs, told the group. "You are the key to restoring these rivers as far as nonpoint pollution is concerned."

The local cleanup projects selected by DNR will be funded by the state as demonstrations of how to reduce stream pollution from nonpoint sources. One specific proposal, suggested at the meeting by a Menomonee Falls representative, would correct a stream-bank erosion problem. Several persons said that their communities had worked to correct point source problems, which trace pollution to a fixed facility, but that they are less familiar with nonpoint pollution. Many persons urged more public education on the issue.

DNR Secretary Carroll Besadny pointed out that non-point pollution comprises half the pollution affecting the Milwaukee and Menomonee Rivers in southeastern Wisconsin.

"Nonpoint source pollution, rural or urban, is much more difficult to get a handle on," he said. "It also reflects total land use practices, and will require strong community cooperation to wipe out."

The department called the meeting to learn how much support exists in the southern part of the river watersheds for voluntary control. The fact that 19 of 22 invited communities sent representatives and that all speakers at the meeting endorsed the cleanup heartened the meeting's sponsors.

The projects selected for implementation will receive funding from a $10 million appropriation voted by the state legislature for this biennium.

A similar meeting is planned later in October for representatives of communities in the northern half of the Milwaukee River watershed. A second meeting of representatives from the southern group also is planned for October.

DNR wants to promote short-term pilot projects as a way of demonstrating to communities what can be done to reduce nonpoint pollution of the rivers. Meantime, DNR and the Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission (SEWRPC) will meet to plan a long-range program for nonpoint sources. This program will call for the state to declare that certain watershed candidates qualify for financial and technical assistance under the Wisconsin Fund Priority Watershed Program. The full cleanup is expected to last 10 to 15 years.

Represented at the September 29 meeting were Milwaukee, West Milwaukee, Menomonee Falls, Mequon, Shorewood, Germantown, Whitefish Bay, Fox Point, Butler Cedarburg, Elm Grove and Brookfield as well as the Counties of Milwaukee, Ozaukee, Washington and Waukesha. Also attending were representatives of the Environmental Protection Agency, SEWRPC, Lake Michigan Federation, University of Wisconsin, Marquette University, and the Milwaukee Metropolitan Sewerage District.

Over 145,000 head of Wisconsin dairy cattle and calves were shipped to other states and international markets during 1982.

Color - Camping,
 Good Combination

Indian summer and fall colorama can provide one of the more enjoyable camping outings of the entire year.

According to the Department of Natural Resources the bright colors of the days plus cool crispness of the nights in a Wisconsin park or forest is an experience that will long be remembered.

DNR's Bureau of Parks and Recreation points out that with the arrival of fall, camping pressure in all state parks eases making it possible for practically all campers to obtain premium campsites. And, many anglers may wish to combine the excellent fall fishing season with the colorama camping experience.

Cyclists and hikers also have an excellent opportunity to enjoy the fall colors from one of Wisconsin's state park trails including the Sugar River, Elroy, Sparta and Ahnapee. Although a few of the seasonal camping areas including Rocky Arbor, Big Bay, Council Grounds, Mill Bluff, Amnicon Falls and Roche-A-Cri have been closed, most other parks will be open and have sites available through October.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT
 QUEEN HITS
