Kewaskum 1984 Budget Approved

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

At its Public Hearing Monday night, the Kewaskum Village Board approved the budget for 1984.

No further changes were made in the $983,009 budget which had been presented earlier in the month. Village Administrator Dan Schmidt said the village's portion of the 1984 tax rate will be $6.65 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. The gross total rate will be $21.53, less the State Tax Credit of $2.10 for a tentative net tax rate of $19.43 per $1,000. Schmidt stated the net tax rate was up 5% over last year due to the approval of Governor Earl's recommendation that the 1983 State Tax Credit be reduced by 25%. The net tax rate will not be official until after December 1st, since final state revenue figures will not be mailed until some time this week.

The board also approved February 29th as the date the first payment of split tax payments are due.

The Federal Revenue Sharing will be divided with 15% going to Parks and Recreation and 85% to Street Lighting.

KHS Sophomore Dies From Gunshot Wound

Roman Muckerheide

Roman G. Muckerheide, Route 1, Adell, a 16-year-old Kewaskum High School sophomore, was fatally wounded Sunday evening in an accidental shooting at his home.

According to the Sheboygan County Sheriff's Department, the accident occurred at approximately 6:03 p.m. Sunday evening, Nov. 27, when the department received an emergency call to the George Muckerheide residence on County SS, one mile west of State 28 in the Town of Scott, R. 1, Adell.

Investigating officers established that George R. Muckerheide, 30, was cleaning a 16-gauge shotgun when it accidentally discharged, fatally wounding his younger brother, Roman. The Random Lake ambulance transported Muckerheide to St. Nicholas Hospital in Sheboygan where he was later pronounced dead as a result of a gunshot wound to the abdomen.

The two had finished hunting earlier Sunday afternoon, and decided to clean their guns, according to a family member.

The younger Muckerheide had made his home with his older brother and family for the past several years. Both parents are dead.

The death was the only fatality in Sheboygan County during the deer hunting season this year, according to the Sheriff's Department.

Cedar Lake Home Corp. to Develop Retirement Center in Town Wayne

An innovative satellite village-apartment retirement center will become a reality as a result of a recent unanimous decision made by the Benevolent Non-profit Corporation Board of the Cedar Lake Home Campus, West Bend.

The Corporation will begin the first one-hundred acre development of a two hundred acre natural Kettle Moraine retirement campus two miles east of Highway 41 and three miles northeast of Allenton in the Township of Wayne, Washington County.

The development, named Havenwood Campus (Retirement Center), is being made possible through a donation of the two hundred acre site.

The master plan for the campus includes providing a gerontological medical center with doctors and therapists to serve both the campus and community plus an educational program to serve the community on an inter-generational basis. Residents will live in individual homes, innovative cabins and apartments. A central building will facilitate nutrition, general activities, craft areas, recreation and education. Preservation and enhancement of the natural beauty of the rolling hills, wooded valleys, creeks and wild life ponds will be foremost in the development of this visionary environment for those who wish to be purposeful and maturing in their golden years.

All residents of Havenwood Campus will be continuum-care

Braun Receives Mention On AP All-State Team

Jim Braun

More honors continue to roll in for Jim Braun, ace running back of Kewaskum High School's undefeated Eastern Wisconsin Conference football champions and Class A, Division 3, WIAA State Championship playoffs runner-up.

Braun, 5-11 and 180-pound Indian senior, received honorable mention on the Wisconsin All-State football team selected by the Associated Press last week. Braun was also chosen to the offensive unit of the All-District VI team selected by the Wisconsin High School Football Coaches' Association.

Defensive back Rick Peterson of Two Rivers' EW team was named to the AP All-State second team on defense.

Braun was the leading ground gainer on the Indians' 11-1 squad. Overall in 12 games, including three non-conference and three championship playoff games, he rushed for 1,302 yards. In conference play he rushed for 757 yards in 100 carries for an average of 7.5 in six games. He scored 10 touchdowns and two extra points for 64 points to win the conference scoring title and had a 20.2 punt return average on 12 chances.

Braun was a unanimous first pick in the backfield and also the coaches' choice for offensive player of the year. Together with his first team honors he was selected as second team linebacker. He was a dominate figure in the conference and was named Eastern Wisconsin offensive player of the year.

Braun was a consistent player. He had 200 yards rushing against Kiel, a 70-yard punt return for a touchdown against Two Rivers, a 69-yard run against Chilton and 100 yards against Plymouth.

The champion Indians dominated the all-conference team, placing five players on the first team, three on the second team, and three more were given honorable mention.

Locker Plant Victim Of Weekend Burglary

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

A robbery at Kewaskum Frozen Foods over the weekend netted thieves $150.00 in cash.

The break-in was discovered at about 5:15 a.m. Monday morning by David Nigh, one of the co-owners, when he arrived to open the business. Nigh's partner Bob Beisbier arrived shortly after Nigh and the two men then notified the Kewaskum Police Department of the crime.

Nigh stated the crime must have occurred late Sunday night because Beisbier had been at the store Sunday night around 8:30 p.m. and nothing had been disturbed at that time.

Besides the missing money, the intruders ruined the cash register in their efforts to remove the money which had been placed in it to be used in conducting the next day's business. A fireproof file cabinet was also damaged, apparently in a search for other valuables or money.

Nothing else was stolen said Nigh, but the case is still under investigation.

Kewaskum Nature Trail Receives Endowment

Dan Schmidt, Kewaskum Village Administrator, accepted a $500.00 check from the Kewaskum Jr. Woman's Club, to be placed in an account for future upkeep and maintenance of the Jr.'s Nature Trail in the Kewaskum Kiwanis Park.

On hand at the November 21st regular village board meeting were KJWC club president, Mrs. Beth Stoffel, treasurer Mrs. Jane Jansen and Conservation chairman Mrs. Nancy Malvick, who presented the check to the village.

The club's donation was a direct result of the outstanding success of the nature trail grand opening and "Art in the Park Festival" held earlier this fall. Others who wish to contribute to the nature trail account may do so at the Valley Bank in Kewaskum.

Winter Parking In Effect Dec. 1

The Winter Parking Restrictions and Snow Emergency Parking Restrictions go into effect December 1, 1983.

Municipal Code Section 7.04 (3) Night Parking Restrictions, reads as follows: Signs have been erected at or reasonably near the corporate limits as provided in Section 349.13, Wis. Stats., no person excepting physicians or licensed emergency vehicles on emergency calls, shall park or stop any vehicle on any public street or highway within the village between the hours of 2:00 a.m. and 6:00 a.m. from December 1, to April 1, of each year; provided that, notwithstanding such restrictions vehicles may be parked for a period of time not longer than 3 minutes for actually loading or unloading of passengers, and provided further that no other regulation restricting parking as to place, time, or manner is violated thereby.

The fine for violating this ordinance is:

$5.00 if paid within three (3) days of the issuance of the parking citation.

$10.00 if paid after ten (10) days, but before 28 days.

After 28 days, the amount is $20.00 and a notice will be sent to the Motor Vehicle Department to suspend your vehicle registrations and refuse renewals until the citation is satisfied.

An important fact is the owner of the vehicle is responsible for the payment of the citation whether or not he was the operator.

Municipal Code Section 7.04

(4) Removal of Illegally Parked Vehicles. This section covers the issuance of citations to and possible removal of such vehicles in violation of this ordinance. In addition to other penalties provided by Section 7.04 (6) of this code, the owner or operator of a vehicle so removed shall pay the cost of the towing and storage.

KHS Guidance Department to Host Financial Aids Night

On Tuesday, December 6th, at 7:30 p.m. the Kewaskum High School Guidance Department will be hosting a Financial Aids night in the high school cafeteria.

The program is designed to inform students and parents of the various types of financial aid available to those wishing to attend post-secondary institutions. The program is not only designed for college-bound students, but also intended for students wishing to attend trade school or technical schools.

The program will last approximately one hour and a question and answer period will follow the presentation. Mr. Roland Baldwin and Mr. Mike Murphy from UWVC in West Bend will be the main presenters.

Refreshments will be served following the program and Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Murphy, as well as the high school guidance staff, will be available to answer individual questions.

This program will be extremely beneficial in understanding financial aid and in filling out the Financial Aid Forms.

After the crowd had dispersed, the janitor came up to the speaker who had been badly heckled all night and sought to console him. "Don't let them bother you, sir. That bunch here tonight included every ruffian in town. Anyone with an ounce of sense stayed home!"

Citizen Involvement Sought for Youth Drug, Alcohol Abuse Program

By GERRY MUELLER

More and more, people are becoming aware of the serious and growing problem of alcohol and drug abuse being faced by the young people of today's society.

Those who are, in most cases, the first to see the signs of such problems are the teachers. In other instances, it may be a parent who realizes something is wrong but cannot pinpoint the cause or, if they do, they do not know how to handle the situation or where to go for help.

In an effort to make more people aware of this increasing problem, and hopefully develop a help program, three Kewaskum citizens have gotten together and discussed the creation of a Citizens Task Force. In a phone conversation with Thor Otto, Director of the Exodus House, a half-way house for recovering alcoholics, he said it was the feeling of High School Guidance Counselor David Wieter, Kewaskum Police Youth Officer Richard Knoebel and himself, that a public informational meeting be held. "The whole idea is to get information out to the public and decide if there is enough citizen interest to form a task force," said Otto. Otto stated that while he and the other two men were willing to actively participate as advisors, they were reluctant to become members of the actual task force itself. He stressed their reasons were not because they did not want to be involved, but rather that the men did not want to be accused of having a vested, or professional, interest in the task force. We want citizen participation. We want parents and friends to become involved in the effort to beat this problem.

Recent meetings entitled the "Chemical People" have drawn attention to the increase in abuse cases and the need for action. More people are becoming aware and concerned with the problems among young people, and the efforts being made to find solutions to the problem. As a follow-up, Otto has set up a meeting for Monday, December 5th, at 7:30 p.m., in the Kewaskum High School. Guest speakers will include Deborah Brandt, Alcohol and Drug Abuse Coordinator for Washington County, who will talk on the flow of money and services available, Jodi Hoffmann, Prevention Specialist for the Council On Alcoholism and Other Drug Abuse, who will discuss the prevention programs available for all school systems in Washington County and Otto, who will talk on the progression of addiction as he sees it. David Wieter will act as moderator.

Everyone is invited and urged to attend this program which could help someone they know.

Give Credit Where Credit Is Due

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Almost everyone now knows what the logo will look like on the village's new #3 well, and swim patrons who have used the Kiwanis Park pool recognize it from their swim passes. But, does anyone know who designed it? Village Board President Gerald Stollenwerk noted at Monday night's board meeting that the new "K" logo has come to represent the Village of Kewaskum, however, no one has bothered to give its designer the credit and recognition he deserves. Well, "better late than never," the board wishes to publicly recognize and thank former trustee Jeff Rohrer for his work in creating Kewaskum's new symbol.

Club's Last Act Provides New Lease On Life for Neglected Animals

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Wisconsin Hoofed Animal Association is better off by over $2,000 thanks to the concern and generosity of the Wayne Wranglers Saddle Club.

Like many organizations, the Wranglers, which has existed for over two decades, has seen a decline in membership over the past few years and soon the club will cease to be. The reasons are varied, from members moving away, to older members no longer riding and declining interest of still others. All things which result in the eminent demise of many clubs. Because of these factors, the remaining members have decided to disband the club.

Although the Wranglers, a social club, was best known for its annual appearances in parades throughout the Kettle Moraine area, its members were also involved in community oriented projects over the years. Their annual dances have raised money to help a young boy who lost his leg in a farm accident, to provide funds to build a boxstall at the Fond du Lac County Fairgrounds, for the money needed to construct the Announcer's Stand at the Washington County Fairgrounds outdoor riding arena, as well as purchase trophies awarded in horsemanship classes at the Dodge County Fair. The club also participated in various "rides" to raise funds for veterinary research.

Now the club has decided to disband and donate the money left in its treasury to a worthy non-profit organization, The Wisconsin Hoofed Animal Association. The association is a state-wide organization which investigates animal neglect cases, providing feed, veterinary care and/or temporary homes for neglected animals or mistreated animals who are taken from their owners until new homes can be found for them. The association receives no funding other than private donations, and works in conjunction with the Sheriff's Departments. While its treasurer's office is located in Seymour, funds are distributed throughout the entire state for animal care.

As their last official act as a club, the Wranglers donated their entire treasury of $2,126.91, to help the association carry on its work to aid and protect animals throughout the state.

residents of the Cedar Lake Home Campus with a mutual sharing of all programs, services, and facilities. This includes priority to skilled bed care at the Cedar Lake Home.

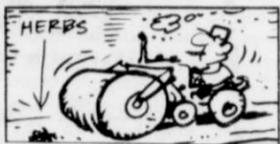

Cedar Lake Home is a 245 acre campus located on the shores of Big Cedar Lake in the Town of West Bend. It provides residential and skilled nursing care in its 415 bed facilities, a specialized building and program for those afflicted with Alzheimer's disease, independent living, adult day care, outpatient services, retreat facilities and educational programs for people of all ages and walks of life.

Before deciding on the Wayne site the Benevolent Corporation intensively studied the feasibility of three other

Washington County sites: two in Barton Township, and one in the Town of West Bend.

The Campus will be developed over a number of years. The first phase of building is scheduled for this spring.

The Cedar Lake Home corporate decision to develop Havenwood Campus was guided by its genuine concern for the needs of the handicapped and the 27 million older people in our country today, plus the medical needs of the community. Havenwood Campus will respond to those needs, the desires of the older and handicapped adults and provide choices of living environments compatible with their preferred life-style.

Electric Co., Other Utilities Honored for Help to Low and Fixed - Income Citizens

MILWAUKEE — The White House today honored Wisconsin Electric Power Co. and other utilities for their continuing efforts to help low-income and older adult customers.

U.S. Vice President George Bush and the White House Office of Private Sector Initiatives held the ceremonies at the Old Executive Building in Washington, D.C. to "highlight the positive role utility distributors have taken to assist low and fixed-income citizens."

WE Chairman Charles McNeer was one of three electric utility executives asked to speak to the more than 100 persons invited to the ceremony.

"Wisconsin Electric is committed as a neighbor helping our other neighbors in the community," McNeer said. "We believe this is a responsibility of all business and industry and we want to do our part."

He added that the contribution of the private sector is important, but that "the private sector cannot assume the entire responsibility. We also need continued government funding to states at adequate levels for fuel assistance and weatherization programs."

The WE program cited by the White House was the company's Good Neighbor Energy Fund. It was started earlier this year with a $100,000 contribution on behalf of WE stockholders.

That fund grew to $268,000 in its first year with contributions from 1,200 WE employees and about 12,000 WE customers who made voluntary donations. Through the end of September, the fund had distributed nearly $150,000 to 1,120 households.

Funds collected by the company are administered by charitable organizations in the WE service territory both in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan to help low-income and older adult customers in need to pay for any energy bill — electric, gas, oil, propane, wood or coal.

McNeer noted that WE's Good Neighbor Energy Program also includes telecommunications services for the hearing-impaired, identification of life-support equipment, low-income weatherization assistance, and personal energy advisers for older adults, "all designed to help older adults, customers with disabilities and low-income customers better manage energy use and energy bills."

Applications Sought for Kids From Wisconsin

Applications are now being accepted for the 34 positions in the musical group, the KIDS From Wisconsin. "Our 1983 summer tour was the best in our 15 year history. We played 78 dates in 64 days," said Mark Azzolina, producer and director of the KIDS.

Students, aged 15 to 19, who sing and/or play a band instrument are encouraged to apply for a position with the KIDS. An original tape must accompany each application. Deadline for the applications and tapes is January 15. Live auditions will be staged in Milwaukee on March 10, 1984.

The KIDS program includes a two-week music camp in June at Wisconsin State Fair Park. From there, this talented group tours the midwest as musical ambassadors for Wisconsin. Their wholesome, energetic music and dance entertains capacity crowds wherever the summer tour takes them.

Application forms and further information can be obtained by writing to: The KIDS From Wisconsin, Wisconsin State Fair Park, West Allis, WI 53214.

BONE WEAKNESS

Aging men and women tend to lose calcium from their bones. This bone-thinning [osteoporosis] causes collapse of the spine, with loss of height, backache and a bent-over posture. To prevent osteoporosis, Geriatrics magazine advises aging men and women to take 2 grams of calcium carbonate [3 tablets, 650 mg each] daily. If this much calcium tends to constipate, take bran, prunes, etc. to overcome it. Consult your doctor about this treatment.

Cascade Meats, Inc. Charged for Selling Uninspected Meat

Dr. E. D. Baker, meat inspection division administrator with the Wisconsin Dept. of Agriculture, Trade & Consumer Protection, reports that the president and vice president of Cascade Meats, Inc., of Cascade, have been ordered to spend their non-working hours in jail for 90 days and they were placed on probation for two years. The two men had entered guilty pleas to charges relating to selling uninspected meat products.

According to Dr. Baker, Sheboygan County Reserve Judge F. H. Schlichting recently handed down the sentences for Wilmer G. Falk, of Rt. 1, Plymouth, president of the Cascade Co., and David L. Maas, Rt. 3, Sheboygan. Falk and Maas pleaded guilty to misdemeanor charges following a plea bargain in which similar felony charges were dropped. Falk was also found guilty of a felony count of being involved in the cutting up of a calf which died by means other than slaughtering.

The action was brought by Sheboygan County District Attorney Ed Stengel, assisted by DATCP inspector Art Shallock.

According to the original complaint, the men were charged with taking about 20 pounds of meat per animal from cows and steers they slaughtered for private individuals and placing the uninspected meat for sale in their retail store.

They were also charged with the theft of meat, which they allegedly replaced with 11,000 pounds of beef hearts. They allegedly ground up the beef hearts into hamburger to replace the missing meat. The actions allegedly took place over a three-year period, the complaint said.

"Administrative action by the department to revoke the license of Cascade Meats, Inc., is pending," Dr. Baker says.

'Golden Retreat' At Samaritan Home

When the word "retreat" is mentioned, we think of a refuge from the world's cares. The Samaritan Home's "Golden Retreat" is just that, the title referring to not only a room, but a spirit of fellowship and love. In this room, monthly dinners are held, providing an evening during which residents join their loved ones in a beautiful setting created by the Samaritan staff and volunteers.

Those living at the Samaritan may invite up to three guests: sons, daughters, spouse or friends. A total of thirty people can be accommodated at one dinner, with reservations being made far in advance of the date of the dinner. The November sixteenth dinner featured a Thanksgiving theme with gold and brown as the key colors in the decor. The golden lace tablecloths at the ten circular tables provided a striking background for the table settings, similar to those one would find in an expensive restaurant. The atmosphere was further enhanced by autumn table decorations, muted lighting, and soft background music.

After the wine had been served, guests were given their soup, along with dinner rolls and a dish of country coleslaw. The main course, as described in the menu cards were given, consisted of turkey with stuffing, gravy, mashed potatoes, autumn squash, and cranberries, all in generous portions. Either pumpkin or mince pie could be chosen for dessert, which was served with coffee. The atmosphere of the dinner and the delicious food combined to make the evening unforgettable.

Residents thus are given a chance to entertain their loved ones in a restaurant-like setting at a minimal cost. As at a restaurant, the waitresses are accommodating, efficient and friendly, contributing to the general enjoyment of the guests. Those attending will long remember the evening as a pleasant interlude in their lives and an opportunity to strengthen the ties that link all of us to our friends and relatives.

Long after the room has returned to its utilitarian use as a meeting room or a chapel, long after the taste of the turkey and cranberries has faded from memory, residents will continue to profit from the love and concern they have discerned in the eyes of those they have gathered around them at the "Golden Retreat."

Eight Members of County Cancer Unit Attend Annual State Society Meeting

The 1983 Annual Meeting of the American Cancer Society/Wisconsin Division was attended by eight members of the Washington County Unit. As part of the meeting, volunteers examined the way scientific research and knowledge about cancer are exchanged through international channels. On hand to describe these activities was Gerry DeHarven of New York, Vice president for International Activities from the Society's National Office.

The Annual Meeting also provided an opportunity to recognize outstanding achievement of volunteers throughout the state. The Washington County Unit was recognized for achieving its 1982-83 Crusade goal of $53,838, and Mel Gullickson received an award for the Tavern League for raising over $18,000 of that goal.

A new patient service for Wisconsin was kicked off as well. This program called Road to Recovery, will recruit volunteers to drive cancer patients to treatment centers. Locally, Lillian Fischer will be working to establish the Road to Recovery Program. Volunteers should call her at 334-3175.

The Annual Dinner featured an address by Allan K. Jonas, of Los Angeles, California, Past National Chairman of the ACS Board of Directors. He shared

Road to Recovery New Transportation Program for Cancer

The Road to Recovery Program is a new transportation program of the American Cancer Society that is designed to provide drivers to get people to necessary therapy who have no other way of getting there. The chairperson for the Washington County Unit is Lillian Fischer.

The new program was developed in Massachusetts and piloted there in 1982, after which time it was adopted by the National Association. It is strictly a volunteer program; there is no reimbursement.

Anyone wishing to volunteer for the Road to Recovery Program should contact Lillian Fischer at 334-3175.

his insights about cancer control acquired during his 28 years of volunteer work with the Society.

Special training sessions were also held to instruct volunteers in how to conduct selected ACS programs and activities. These workshops treated such topics as how to conduct cancer education programs and how to implement the Residential C-Day done on a door-to-door basis to raise funds and educate neighbors about cancer.

For more information about services of the ACS available in your county unit, refer to the white pages of your phone book. All ACS programs are dependent entirely on memorial and crusade contributions from the public.

Washington County attendees at the Annual Meeting were: Bruce Griswold, M.D., J. David Lewis, M.D., Mel Gullickson, Bill Dietzler, Mike Sheppard, Shirley Salter, Ruth Ramel, and Rose Schraufnagel.

On Monday, in Washington County, some 400 men were put to work, and at the present time the full allotment of 505 men have been taken care of. In Kewaskum, work was started on repainting the interior of the village hall and beautifying the school grounds. When these projects are completed, work will be started on others, such as digging a deeper basement beneath the village hall and lowering the first floor, beautifying the river front along the River Road as well as the "Dumping grounds" near the Main Street bridge.

Recipes and Methods Of Preparing Venison

By Shelby J. Maier
Extension Home Economist

The 1983 Deer Hunting is over. If you were one of the fortunate ones to sport a deer, you will be cooking venison this year.

Game meat rates equally with other meats as a tasty and nutritious protein food, but the flavor of game is not like that of domestic animals. Game animals are largely vegetarians that forage for their food; they are generally clean in their habits and living conditions. Wild meat is likely to be dryer and less tender than domestic meats because game animals lead vigorous lives. Since they are not likely to have as much fat as animals that have been raised on the farm, proper handling of wild game is very important in order to have a tasty cooked product.

The rules of good cookery apply to game meats as well as to beef and lamb. Even though deer is tough or has a strong flavor, there are recipes and methods of preparing it for the table that will make it tender and appetizing. The rules are few and easy to follow:

- Always cook at low to moderate heat for juicy, tender, evenly cooked meat.
- Vary the cooking method according to natural flavor and tenderness.

The publications "Now It's Venison" and "So you Got A Deer" are available free of charge at the University of Wisconsin Extension office in West Bend. For additional information call 338-4479, 644-5204 or 342-2929.

Venison Swiss Steaks

- 1 1/2 pounds round steak
- 1 cup tomatoes
- 3 large onions
- Salt and pepper
- 1 medium stalk celery
- 2 Tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

Cut the steak about 1 1/2 inches thick. Dredge with flour and season with salt and pepper. Brown in fat on all sides. Add the other ingredients and cover tightly. Cook in medium oven at 350 degrees F. or over low heat on top of the stove until tender (about 1 1/4 hours). Place the meat on a platter. Make gravy and serve with vegetables.

Venison Salad

- 4 cups cooked venison cut in 1/4 inch slices
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1/2 cup stuffed olives, sliced
- 4 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- Mayonnaise
- French dressing
- Salad greens
- Pickles

Marinate the cubed venison in French dressing for 1 hour in the refrigerator. Stir occasionally. When ready to serve, drain excess dressing. Combine with all other ingredients, serving a few olives and egg slices for garnish, and season to taste. Arrange in salad bowl edged with salad greens. Top with mayonnaise and garnish with hard-cooked eggs, olives, and pickles.

Salvation Army Statewide Service Extension Set at $300,000

The Salvation Army has set its 1983 statewide fund raising goal at $300,000. The figure was announced by Cathy Maassen, director for The Salvation Army Service Extension Program.

"Salvation Army Christmas appeal letters appeared in mailboxes throughout the state on November 15," says Maassen. "Dollars raised through the holiday appeal and through Red Kettle campaigns in some cities are immediately made available to Salvation Army volunteers to further Army neighbor-to-neighbor programs in their home communities.

"Our goal of $300,000 is an increase over the 1982 appeal," adds Maassen. "But we are currently seeing the effects of long-term unemployment on families throughout the state. As more and more people become jobless, volunteers become deluged with requests for assistance from The Salvation Army. It is our hope that this year's goal will be met so that local programs in almost every town can be expanded to assist all those who are in need."

Salvation Army volunteers in over 450 towns in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan work in conjunction with Salvation Army Corps and The Salvation Army Divisional Headquarters in Milwaukee. "Localized neighbor-to-neighbor programs vary with the needs of the people of each community," continues Maassen. "During the holiday season, volunteers provide Christmas dinners to the hungry, toys for needy children and visits to shut-ins and the institutionalized. However, these services are not seasonal by any means. They are on-going programs of assistance to the poor and the troubled provided by The Salvation Army every day and every month of the year."

Some of the programs listed by Maassen include the disaster services of The Salvation Army, summer sessions at Army Lake Camp at East Troy, Wisconsin, for children, mothers with children, older adults and the handicapped, referrals to the Men's Rehabilitation Center in Milwaukee for men with drug and alcohol programs and emergency food, clothing and lodging for the locally displaced.

"Wherever there are people in need, there are Salvation Army volunteers who respond to human suffering with material assistance and spiritual guidance," says Maassen. "Together, the volunteers are a network of neighbors offering the helping hand of The Salvation Army to the people of their own home town."

If anyone knows of families needing assistance, call Mrs. Lloyd Teeselink, chairperson, 626-4312 or 626-2734 or Wayland Tessar, treasurer, 626-2171 or 626-2393.

HISTORY OF THE WISCONSIN DEER HERD

By Dave Weitz,
DNR Public Information Officer in Eau Claire

Wisconsin's annual deer hunt is by just about any definition a major state event, and is reported as such. But there is much background information that the public is not aware of.

So the following materials and stories would be of interest to you. The stories trace the beginnings of deer management in Wisconsin and explore the development of the tools used by biologists to study deer, as well as the impacts of conditions such as severe winters on the deer herd.

The stories also show what may be in store in the future for hunters and the deer herd in the state.

DEER MANAGEMENT HISTORY [First in a series]

Wisconsin had more than 900,000 deer now, before the 1983 deer season, say the people charged with managing the state's deer. But things weren't always that way; a century ago, as logging was in its heyday and immigrants were carving farms from the forests, the deer were declining.

Actually, for most of the 19th century, people entering Wisconsin had changed things for the deer. Mostly, say experts like Frank Haberland, Department of Natural Resources chief of big game management, the people changed the land and deer were left to adapt.

The best deer territory when European settlers came to Wisconsin was in the southern part of the state where oak and maple forests were interspersed with prairie openings. In the north, mature timber, hardwood, and evergreen forests covered vast areas and such forests shaded the forest floor limiting growth of herbs and underbrush that provide food for deer.

Settlement brought dramatic changes, Haberland says.

"Habitat destruction for agriculture, plus subsistence and commercial exploitation of wildlife... severely depleted deer numbers over the southern two-thirds of the state."

Riches promised by the fur trade spurred the initial exploration of this north country. The fur traders changed the land little, however, exploiting only the fur they traded with the Indians.

Pioneer settlers, arriving after Wisconsin became a territory in 1836, altered the face of southern Wisconsin and by the mid-1800's, another chapter in the history of the state was beginning, according to Wisconsin Conservation Department researchers Burt Dahlberg and Ralph Guettinger, writing in a history of the white-tailed deer in 1956.

The logging era was beginning. Cities were being developed in southern Wisconsin. Lumber was needed and Wisconsin's northern forests were ready for the axe and crosscut saw. "This expanding market for timber, coupled with improvements in railroad transportation, set the stage for exploitation of the great and seemingly inexhaustible Wisconsin forests," the researchers wrote.

By 1870, Wisconsin mills were processing a billion board feet of lumber yearly. The whole effort reached a peak, probably in 1899, and then gradually declined. Fires and logging had changed the face of the north by the end of World War I.

Land development companies followed loggers in the north selling logged-off property as farmsteads to immigrants hungry for land.

Those small farmsteads dotted the north shortly after 1900, according to Jim Davies of the Wisconsin Agricultural Reporting Service. Mostly, he said, they were farms that raised oats, clover, and timothy hay, often with a crop of potatoes. They were subsistence farms. Livestock sales provided the cash they earned.

Just as the loggers changed things for the deer, so did the farmers. At first, eager settlers and land developers counted on turning the vast cut-over area into farmland like that of southern Wisconsin. The short northern growing seasons and limitations of the soils swept aside such visions. By the 1920's, major forest fires had burned millions of acres and taken hundreds of lives. A constitutional amendment in 1924 authorized formation of public forests and attempts at controlling the fires in the north were taken.

"By 1927, it had become clearly evident that all the millions of stumps and brush acres were not suited to the raising of timothy and oats, and a large share of them had best be protected to raise trees once more," reflected Ernest Swift, a former game warden and director of the Wisconsin Conservation Department in his "History of Wisconsin Deer."

With fire protection came more changes to the north. As young trees and underbrush thrived, so did deer. As people from southern Wisconsin visited old logging camps and new summer resorts they valued seeing the deer. The white-tailed deer became more than a table commodity; its sight by tourists took on commercial value.

As the deer had rebounded from times of logging and settlement and fires to times of plenty in the north, the herd in the southern portion of the state was shrinking, says Haberland.

"I think the (hunting) pressure was still on them in the south. Land was pretty intensively farmed and the woods were grazed. What few woodlots there were left were burned and grazed and there just wasn't the habitat to respond to," Haberland said.

After about a century of European settlement, the Wisconsin deer herd had shifted. No longer were deer most plentiful in the southern portion of the state. Now people went north to see the deer. And those tourists spent money in a newly developing tourist industry.

Swift remembered a change in attitudes toward the deer in much of the north in his writings. "When resort owners began to realize that guests placed a premium on seeing deer as part of a perfect vacation, these animals took on a new commercial status never before enjoyed... local pressures were generated in the north to close the season... it was of small moment whether the number of deer in the hinterlands were many or few. It was the roadside deer that counted."

From 1925 through 1935, the state experienced a decade of protection for the deer. Buck seasons were alternated with closed seasons.

The combination of abundant forage, few severe winters, and restrictions on hunting resulted in a steady buildup of deer in the north, according to Bill Creed and Keith McCaffery, Department of Natural Resources researchers at Rhineland.

"They started to build up in the north in the '30s with the one-buck law," Creed says.

The problem showed up in the mid-30s. Conservation Warden Fred Minor and Forest Ranger John Hanson reported deer starvation in the Flag deer yard in Bayfield County and the Brule River yard in Douglas County. Swift, discussing the problem, wrote "Browse depletion in the Brule was evident in the late 20's and rather extensive feeding was commenced in 1934..."

Fires swept through the Brule River area in 1936 and when the winter of 1938/39 proved severe deer died in large numbers. When investigators were called in, pathologists verified the reports made by Minor and Hanson; deer were dying of pneumonia brought on by malnutrition.

McCaffery says the north was an area ripe for disaster. "The summer range was almost an explosive condition (with abundant food) and the winter range was restrictive." Slashings, burns and new regrowth typified most of the Northern Forest and permitted a very productive deer herd. Winter cover (yards) in lowland conifers were no more abundant than at present and limited survival during severe winters.

It was during this time too, according to McCaffery, that the last large logging operations were being finished. Although logging still is a vital north country industry, operations no longer encompass vast cuttings but, instead, are planned harvests.

Now, according to Creed Wisconsin's northern deer herd is less than the herd of the 30's by from one-third to one-half. The herd is nearly stable and, because it is smaller, the herd is less likely to cause severe damage to the browse during winters. Such damage would result in a reduction of the winter food supply and with it a diminishing in the number of deer the area can sustain.

"We've reached a period of relative stability in the north in the last 20 years," Creed says.

The loss of openings in the forests and slow maturation of the overall forest has been offset to an extent by some increased logging and sustained forestry cuttings.

Hunters now are "getting a bigger return from the same-sized deer herd," because of better cropping of the deer, Creed says.

Biologists call the "northern forest" a zone separated from southern Wisconsin largely by State Highway 64. A northern curve in the "border" excludes most of Chippewa, Barron, and Polk Counties on the west and a share of Marinette County in the east.

To the south, encompassing parts of Jackson, Clark, Eau Claire, Wood, Monroe, Juneau, and Adams Counties is the "central forest," a primarily conifer and oak forested area that serves as middle-Wisconsin's "deer factory."

The rest of the state is primarily agricultural. It is in this area and the central forest that most of the state's deer are taken yearly, according to Creed.

In recent years, some 80 percent of the deer taken during the normal deer season are from south of State Highway 64 although the winter population in the area contains only about 55 percent to 60 percent of the state's deer, he says.

The big difference is that the southern deer are nearly twice as productive as the northern deer and they're hunted much more intensely.

In the north country, deer numbers are controlled by severe winters and the limits of food supplies as well as by hunting. In the south, deer hunting and automobile collisions kill most of the deer. And because in the agricultural areas, soils are rich and food is better, the does bear more fawns.

About 25 percent to 60 percent of fawns born in southern Wisconsin mature quickly enough to produce fawns the following year, depending on annual weather and nutrition. Although some fawns bear young in the northland, less than 10 percent do so.

And in the south, twin fawns are usual for adult does and even triplets are not uncommon.

The result is a deer herd in the south that can more than double in size from April before fawns are born to October. In the south while some limitations of forage and winter weather persist, they are far less significant than in the north country, according to McCaffery.

Now, he says, there are more deer in north than during the late 1800's but less than during the 1940's. The herd is nearly stable there now. And, just as during times before European settlement, deer are thriving best in southern Wisconsin.

Haberland is uncertain if such trends will continue.

What's clear is that deer will be influenced by how people use the land. Increased cutting may occur in the north and that might increase deer populations slightly, Haberland says. Agriculture in parts of the south is becoming more intense. Sandy areas once considered poor farmland are fruitful when irrigated. A report by Donald Last, University of Wisconsin Extension Service Soil and Water Conservation Specialist, says irrigated acres have increased seven-fold during the last two decades in ten central Wisconsin counties. "A doubling or tripling of the amount of agricultural land being irrigated in central Wisconsin seems certain by the end of the decade," his report says. About 42 percent of the central Wisconsin area last studied is woodland. The impact of clearing of the woodlands for irrigated fields has yet to be measured by biologists.

And if expanding intense agriculture alters deer habitat in the south, the maturing public and private forests of the north, unless cut, could result in fewer deer being able to survive during winter. So could extensive pine plantations that may be economically attractive, according to Creed.

Experts know vastly more now about white-tailed deer than ever before but the future of deer in Wisconsin still isn't clear. What does seem certain is that Wisconsin residents' love affair with deer will continue and that the fate of deer will shift as people change the land.

"The two greatest stimulants in the world are youth and debt."

Headlight Use Required at Night
And in Inclement Weather

With earlier arrival of dusk already apparent, and unpredictable fall weather which can bring unexpected foggy conditions especially in lowlands near lakes and rivers, Washington County motorists are reminded that State law requires the use of headlights during hours of darkness and inclement weather.

Hours of darkness are defined as that period from one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise, and all other times when there is not sufficient natural light to render clearly visible any person or vehicle upon a highway at a distance of 500 feet.

This means that the use of headlights is required in fog, rain or snow, or any time in which visibility is reduced by smoke, smog or any other atmospheric condition.

Although most people do not know precisely when sunset or sunrise occurs, or the exact point when weather is so bad that you can't see a distance of 500 feet, motorists should turn on headlights before they become legally necessary, rather than after.

Washington County motorists are also warned that parking lights or amber adverse weather lamps may not be substituted for headlights. Adverse weather lamps may be used only when absolutely necessary in case of rain, snow, dust or fog, while parking lights are to be used only when the vehicle is stopped.

Drivers cited for most lighting violations are required to post a deposit of $33.00 for a first violation, plus three(3) demerit points against the driver's record upon conviction.

Standing tall above its accompanying buildings, the Wind Point Light House near Racine hardly shows its 103 years. Photographed against a cloudless blue sky in the morning light, the white light house is still operated by the U.S. Coast Guard. This Wisconsin scene is captured on the cover of the 1984 Wisconsin Calendar, just published by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin.

These photos capture the spirit of Wisconsin, from the roar of a tractor pull in Tomah, to the solitude of snow laden pines on Ashland County's Madeline Island. These were picked from thousands of shots submitted by photographers from throughout the state.

The calendar also includes 29 black-and-white photos from the extensive Iconographic Collections of the Historical Society in Madison. The Iconographic Collections hold nearly a million photographs, negatives, posters, prints, postcards, drawings and other graphic materials.

Many of the photos used in the calendar have not been seen publicly for a generation. Scenes of joy, such as two girls jumping rope in Milwaukee in 1910, and scenes of sadness, a Winnebago County Relief Station of 1935, fill the calendar.

The convenient format of the calendar provides for plenty of space for notes and messages for the days of the week on pages opposite the contemporary and historic photographs. The calendar also includes 1983 and 1985 calendars and pages for personal address, phone numbers and dates to remember.

Also included is information on membership and publications of the State Historical Society.

The calendar is sold through drug stores, book stores, gift shops and other retail outlets throughout Wisconsin. It is also used as a fund raiser for community groups which take advantage of discounts offered on quantity orders.

The calendar has been published each year by the Historical Society since 1948. Proceeds from its sale help the Society publish other historical information that might not

Sudden Infant Death Syndrome

By R. G. Edwards M.D., Health Officer

It is a parents most terrible nightmare — that of tip-toeing to the crib to awaken a cherished infant and finding the cold pallor of death has replaced the roses in those petal-soft cheeks. For some parents, the nightmare has come true.

Sudden Infant Death Syndrome, also known as SIDS or "crib death" strikes an estimated two out of every 1,000 infants, suddenly, inexplicably, and in almost all cases, entirely without warning. Excluding the first week of life, it is the leading cause of death for infants under one year of age. It usually occurs between the ages of four weeks and seven months.

"The loss of a child to SIDS is a devastating tragedy for a couple or a single parent," states Connie Guist R.N., coordinator of The Wisconsin SIDS Center, an affiliate of the Medical College of Wisconsin. It is located at Milwaukee Children's Hospital in Milwaukee. Ms. Guist further states, "The intense and crushing feelings of loss, depression and shattered dreams are exasperated by feelings of guilt." Also Ms. Guist says, "Many persons in medical and lay circles incorrectly refer to infants who have been revived after life threatening episodes of apnea, where breathing is temporarily halted, as having experienced "near-miss SIDS" or aborted SIDS.

Apnea or the temporarily holding of one's breath, is only considered to be a medical problem when it lasts 20 seconds or more. SIDS is always a post mortem diagnosis. It is not preventable nor predictable. To suggest otherwise places an unfair and unnecessary burden of guilt upon parents of children who have died of SIDS. The incidence of SIDS seems to increase during the "flu" season from November to February, yet at post mortem there are no findings of any pathological diseases.

Dr. Josef Neu, MCW, assistant professor of pediatrics and a neonatologist at Milwaukee Children's Hospital, is coordinating the collection and review of data on SIDS deaths in Wisconsin, in an attempt to further the understanding of this disease.

For more information and support contact The Wisconsin SIDS Center, whose hot line number is (414)-931-4049.

EARLY DELIVERY OF SOCIAL SECURITY CHECKS

Monthly social security checks which are normally delivered on the third of December, will be delivered on December 2 instead, according to Mr. Becker, manager of the West Bend Social Security Office.

"Benefit checks are mailed early when the usual delivery date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday," Becker said. "In these instances, the checks are dated and delivered on the first day before the third of the month that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday."

Becker stated that this procedure helps reduce the problems that people have when they receive their checks and their banks are closed. These situations occur several times during the year, and Becker advised that SSA would provide similar information about future early check delivery dates as they occur.

WISCONSIN WILDERNESS ACT

Under suspension of the rules, the House passed H.R. 3578, the Wisconsin Wilderness Act before adjourning for the year. The House vote was 402-17, and Senate approval is expected. This legislation designates four new wilderness areas in the Chequamegon and Nicolet National Forests in Northern Wisconsin.

The bill establishes a 4200 acre wilderness area known as "Porcupine Lake" in the Chequamegon National Forest and over a 20,000 acre preserve to be known as the "Headwaters Wilderness" — including three adjacent areas called Kimball Creek, Headwaters of the Pine, and Shelp Lake — in the Nicolet National Forest.

Additionally, the legislation will resolve the status of all other National Forest areas in Wisconsin which has been identified as potential wilderness under Roadless Area Review and Evaluation (RARE II) conducted by the Forest Service in the late 1970s. Two of those areas, St. Peter's Dome and Round Lake, while not designated as wilderness, have a special Forest Service management plan spelled out in the legislative report accompanying the bill. The management plan will assure adequate protection of the areas' unique and scenic values and provide maximum opportunity for the public to enjoy the marvelous beauty of the areas.

All members of the Wisconsin House congressional delegation supported the bill. It represents a compromise agreement worked out by environmental and forest industry group representatives. This legislation exemplifies a consensus which was supported on a bipartisan basis in the Congress.

Finally, this legislation demonstrated the Wisconsin delegation's seriousness about preserving our state's natural resources. It deserved and achieved support, because the decisions we make today will benefit not only our children, but our children's children as well.

Farm and Industry Short Course Begins

Even while the 1983 Farm and Industry Short Course is under way, I've received the information for the 1984-85 short course. The short course is a 15-week course that begins the middle of November and ends the middle of March. It is intended for High School graduates who are interested in a career relating to the farm or industries relating to the farm. The courses range from animal feeding, growing crops and welding on the farm, to farm chemistry and farm marketing. Twenty four different courses are available to choose from.

The instructors are the same as teach at the College of Agriculture in the regular semester courses. Scholarships are also available.

Anyone that is interested in a career on a farm or in a closely related industry should consider the short course. You can get more details from the 4-H office or directly from the Farm Short Course at Madison.

DOT Announces New Toll-Free Number for Winter Road Reports

Motorists planning to travel in Wisconsin will have a new toll-free number to call beginning Nov. 15 to obtain information about statewide winter road conditions, the state Department of Transportation announced.

The new toll-free number is 1-800-ROAD-WIS (762-3947) and is available to state callers from outside the Madison and Milwaukee areas and for the first time to callers from Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota and northern Illinois.

Motorists in the Madison area call (608) 266-7040 and in the Milwaukee area (414) 342-2217 to obtain the same statewide report, available 24 hours a day.

Road condition information is reported by State Patrol and Transportation districts for compilation in Madison into a statewide report of primary traffic corridors. Key counties are contacted routinely to keep condition reports current, while others are contacted as a storm approaches or if conditions are changing rapidly.

The report is updated a minimum of four times during the 24 hour period with more frequent updates if conditions warrant.

Purpose of the toll-free reporting service is to provide condition reports on a statewide basis and to keep telephone lines to State Patrol districts open for reporting accidents or other emergencies that may occur.

The winter road condition reports will be maintained until about April 15.

Panzer Co-sponsors Bill Allowing State Consumers Choice on Redeeming Trading Stamps

Madison . . . The Assembly Committee on Commerce and Consumer Affairs voted 5-3 for passage of legislation allowing Wisconsin consumers a choice when redeeming trading stamps, according to State Representative Mary Panzer (R-West Bend). Representative Panzer, co-sponsor of the legislation along with Senator Carl Otte, hailed the vote as "a victory for the consumers of this state. For too long, Wisconsin has treated the consumers of this state as incapable of making intelligent decisions as to how to best utilize trading stamps offered by many stores as business incentive. This bill is a tremendous step in the right direction towards allowing Wisconsin consumers the freedom of choice."

The bill-Senate Bill 299-allows trading stamps to be redeemed for merchandise as well as cash. Currently, Wisconsin is only one of three states which does not allow consumers to obtain merchandise for trading stamps.

According to Representative Panzer, this bill does more than permit consumers a choice. It also maintains a great deal of employment in the West Bend area especially, as well as benefiting handicapped workshops. Panzer noted that, "both business and labor support this legislation. Not only does it maintain jobs, but some of this area's most famous and prominent businesses will benefit. Among these businesses are Amity Leather, The West Bend Company, and Regal Ware, to name a few. In addition, handicapped workshops such as the Threshold, Inc. also benefit from subcontracting with premium industries in West Bend," noted Panzer.

The West Bend legislator concluded that, "in these times of high unemployment and fewer available government resources, it seems all the more imperative that we do not miss an opportunity to boost our economy, provide additional jobs for our citizens, and allow consumers the right to make their own product choices."

Slinger Edges Lakes Team in Opener, 96-95

Slinger jumped out to a first quarter lead and held on to squeeze out a victory by one point, 96-95, over Kewaskum in the Land o' Lakes League basketball opener at Slinger Saturday night.

The absence of high scoring Clark Eichstedt, who works Saturday nights, was a big factor in Kewaskum's loss.

Al Schieve and Bob Mertz led Slinger with 18 points apiece, while Jeff Wolf scored 10 and Don Mayer nine. Four other players added eight points.

Brian Larsen and Leon Laatsch scored 21 and 20 points for the losers. While Bill Gonwa was next with 17 and Bob Nigh with 14.

Slinger outshot Kewaskum from the line, 66.7 percent to 57.9. The winners led at the half, 44-39.

The other Lakes openers, Menomonee Falls Badgers, again led by veteran Bob Wolf, beat the Falls Stingers, 118-104; Cedarburg bested Thiensville-Mequon, 114-98, and Sussex downed Mayville, 103-88.

This Sunday Kewaskum hosts Port Washington.

Indians Beat Cougars And West Bend West

The Kewaskum Indians, unbeaten to date, extended their winning streak to three games with two more victories the past week in non-conference contests. The Indians won at Campbellsport last Tuesday, 64-49, and shaded West Bend West at home this Tuesday night in a close game, 53-51.

A 20-point splurge in the last quarter, along with a Cougar scoring drought, made the difference in the Campbellsport contest. The Cougars went cold with two for 12 shooting in the final period.

Indian Jeff Squier came through with two key drives to the basket in the closing minutes which were instrumental in putting the Cougars away. Balanced scoring again was very noticeable in the outcome.

Early in the game the Cougars had trouble loosening up and shot 22 percent for the first quarter. Good defense, however, kept them within range.

The Indians' Jim Hanrahan was a pain for Campbellsport in the early going, with eight of his 16 points in the first quarter. He came out hot with his jumpers as the Cougars plan appeared to be shutting off the middle.

Campbellsport came back to take the lead a couple of times in the second period with improved shooting but at halftime Kewaskum was ahead again, 27-24. The Cougars did a good job in the third quarter with seven for 13 shooting, which kept the game close. Then the party was over in the last quarter with Kewaskum steadily pulling ahead.

The Cougars' Rick Serwe had a game high 24 points, which included 10 of 13 free throws. The losers other guard, Tom Duley, had 10 points. Campbellsport's 6-5 Chris Stoffel was held to five points but had a couple of blocked shots and helped the Cougars on the boards against the taller Indians, who have 10 players on squad six feet or better.

The Indians outthrust the Cougars at times and did an excellent job in hauling down 11 rebounds in the second half.

Mike Steinhardt, 6-4, played another good game with 13 points and 6-5 Brian Arndt worked very hard inside for his 10 points and nine rebounds. Dennis Butz, also 6-4, had a super effort on the boards.

Kewaskum's JVs were also winners, 50-38. Bob Yahr and Tim Rohlinger combined for over half of the Indians' points with 16 and 13 respectively.

KEWASKUM 53, WEST BEND WEST 51

By DENISE LEONG

The Kewaskum Indians remained undefeated as they beat the West Bend West Spartans Tuesday night in Kewaskum by a score of 53-51. The Indians and the previously undefeated Spartans battled in an extremely physical contest where strength and size seemed evenly matched.

In the first half, Kewaskum maintained a slim lead as both teams showed strong defenses. Strong benches also helped both teams overcome some early foul trouble. The first half score reflected the even matchups as the teams went to the locker rooms, tied 28-28.

In the second half, the defensive play continued to be tough. Offensively, the Indians' Jim Hanrahan sparked his team by scoring 10 of his 14 points in the second half. The Spartans, however, countered with Brad Burns, who scored 11 points.

Kewaskum continued to stay ahead but was never able to maintain a comfortable lead. Turnovers by both teams hindered offensive momentum, and the outcome of the game remained in doubt as the game went into the final minutes.

With less than two minutes to play, Kewaskum's Jeff Squier gave the Indians' a 53-48 lead with two clutch free throws. West Bend's last efforts closed the gap to 53-51, but time ran out, and Kewaskum scored their third victory in a row.

The Indians' high scorers for the night were Hanrahan with 14, Squier with 12, and Brian Arndt with 11. The Spartans were led by Brad Burns with 17 and John Rehman with 14.

The JVs also won their game against the Spartans, 73-72. High scorers for the Indians were Bob Yahr with 25 points, Tim Rohlinger with 24 points, and Ron Theusch and Don Menzel, each with 10 points. Coach Perry Koth cited key baskets and good defensive play by Tony Matenaer and Yahr in the closing minutes of the game, which helped give Kewaskum the victory in an extremely exciting game.

All three boys basketball teams will be playing again on Friday night, December 2, in Sheboygan Falls in their first EW Conference games. Varsity Coach Jim Westphal and his Indians will be looking for their fourth win in a row against a very strong Sheboygan Falls team. Come and cheer them on!

Indians Place Second in 4-School Wrestling Meet

As expected, the Campbellsport wrestling team came out on top in a multi-school double Thanksgiving evening tournament between the Cougars, Grafton, St. Mary's Springs and Kewaskum, hosted by the Indians.

The Cougars won all their meets, 53-5 over Kewaskum, 54-6 over St. Mary's and 61-6 over Grafton. Kewaskum came back after their opening loss to the Cougars to defeat its other two opponents, 34-33 over Grafton and 39-26 over St. Mary's. Grafton won one match, 33-24 over Springs.

New Indian head coach John Nell has nine lettermen back, including eight regulars, and is optimistic for a successful year. Back are regulars Mark Fuller at 132 pounds, Tim Landvatter at 138, Brad Dieringer at 145, Doug Miller at 155, Kirk Vogt, who had moved up from 126 to 155, and Chris Harlow at 185, along with soph Wade Jepson who has moved up from 105 to 112. The other returning lettermen are John Swanson, unlimited, and Bob Callison, 119.

Grafton's 98-pound entrant, Joe Herr, pinned all three of his foes in 1:02 or less. He was the runnerup in the Class A state finals at 98 pounds last year. Campbellsport's returning state qualifier Rich Narges also recorded three pins in the 167 pound class.

The Kewaskum team was at a disadvantage since seven regulars had only a week of practice because of the football playoffs.

Indian senior Dieringer won two decisions at 145 pounds, but in his second bout sustained a slight hip injury. Callison also wrestled well at 119 pounds with a pair of pins and a 7-7 draw against Bob Huspen of the Cougars, who qualified for state last year at 105 pounds. Landvatter went 2-1 at 138 pounds, losing only to Campbellsport's Jeff Bengel, 5-2.

Kewaskum opens its conference schedule Friday night, hosting Sheboygan Falls on Parents Night.

Indian Girls Tip Lomira, 51-44, for First Victory

After being trounced by West Bend East the week before, the Kewaskum girls basketball team broke into the win column for the first time last Tuesday with a 51-44 win over Lomira at home in non-conference play.

The Indians had a comfortable 11 point lead in the fourth quarter when the Lions rallied back to come within three points, 43-40. A jumper by Debbie Dittberner, the game's high scorer with 23 points, brought Lomira within range. In return Kewaskum then forged ahead again on two baskets to increase their lead to 47-40.

The Indians' Julie Koepke fouled out in the closing minutes, after each team managed just four points.

Holly Kempf played well for the winners, scoring 14 points and snaring seven rebounds. Koepke, playing in her first game after being ill, contributed nine rebounds and eight points.

Nine Kewaskum girls contributed to the scoring, with Lisa Matenaer hitting eight and Fusek and Secor each six. Secor also had seven boards. Debbie Bastian didn't score much but played well on defense.

Lomira got good games from Dittberner and Raube, who scored 11 points, seven of them in the last quarter.

The girls play their first conference game at home again Sheboygan Falls Thursday night.

The JVs were defeated, 41-24. Michelle Gebheim paced the Indians with nine points. Linda Weninger led Lomira with nine.
