Elementary Aide Position to Be Split Between Beechwood, Wayne

No Good Words for School Board

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The members of the Kewaskum School Board got no praise or "slaps on the back" at its meeting Monday night. On the contrary, both parents and school staff indicated their disgust, disappointment and anger with the board and its actions.

The most unpleasant news came from Business Manager Cherna Gorder who informed the board that the district will still end up with an unbalanced deficit budget for 1984-85.

Gorder's report indicated that even after the Annual Meeting addition of $76,000 to cover keeping Beechwood School open and balancing the budget, the district will be short almost $40,000 in revenues. A result of increases between the actual and projected salary figures used to formulate the budget and related expenses in the operation of Beechwood.

Gorder told the board it had a choice of raising the levy increase from 8.6% to 9.93% to cover the deficit, or keeping the present levy limit which would result in the district having to borrow more than it had in the past year. The board voted to remain with the 8.6% and a deficit budget. District Administrator John Long admonished the board, telling it to remember next year what happened tonight when the district comes up short.

As it reached midnight, Mrs.

Ruth Schmitt, a district resident and parent, asked, "I'd just like to know whether or not the four people who voted to keep Beechwood open, are you going to vote against every educational improvement for the rest of the year and refuse to provide the money for programs, because we might as well just stay home?" Board member Tom Brigham asked her, "what in the hell are you talking about, if you take a look at my track record it seems to me I have voted for educational things. I don't want to be included in the 'four'." Schmitt told Brigham, "you're not doing it now, you are handing the buck to everybody but yourself."

Schmitt told the board, "I'd like to see some plans of action here. I'm tired of seeing people pointing fingers all the time. Look at this group tonight, there's two people left. Most of the parents have given up in this community. You people are so busy fighting over money you have forgotten about the education of our children and I am really disgusted with all of you."

Schmitt's statements of frustration came after nearly four hours of discussion by the board. While there were many items on the agenda, it was the budget and funding, or the lack of it, for several programs which roused the anger of several people at the meeting.

The discussion covered the lack of advisors and coaches for several activities, some of which had already been approved by the board, as well as the implementing of other programs.

Jan Hubbell, another parent who has served on school committees, asked the board, "you mean these programs were instituted and money was not included in the budget?" Hubbell was referring to the debate team. District Administrator John Long reminded her that the board had cut $176,000 from the budget in order to get it approved. Long indicated that money would have gone a long way to fund these programs.

High School Counselor David Wietor then got up and addressed the board regarding the problems of getting advisors and other problems related to the various programs. He told the board many of the teachers would like to take an advisory or coaching position but they were afraid of what they might get themselves into.

The board tried to say it needed job descriptions so contracts and salaries could be established. Wietor wanted to know since when was a job description needed for a debate team advisor. The board also discussed two new programs, "Olympics of the Mind" and the Academic High School Decathlon.

Elementary Principal Tom Larsen noted that while he had budgeted some money for the Olympics program, no one had agreed to work with and coordinate the program which is geared to all grade levels. To date, Larsen said he had obtained materials for only the elementary level of competition.

Board member Ralph Horner brought up the Academic Decathlon program which is directed toward high school students. Horner said the cost to the district would be $500 to enter the competition plus the

Ball Game Invitation Includes a New Car

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Streaan, of rural Campbellsport, would probably tell people the moral of this story is, never turn down an invitation to a baseball game.

On September 28th, the Streans were invited to attend the Milwaukee Brewers Fan Appreciation Night game with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schultz of Waucousta. The Schultzes had gotten four tickets to the game and had originally asked Mrs. Schultz's brother "Butch" Gengler, Kewaskum, to attend. The invitation was turned down due to the inclement weather, and subsequently the Streans accepted the offer to go to the game.

Shirley Streaan said, when they got to the game the tickets were still stapled together and she told Harold Schultz to take them apart and pass them out so everyone had their own ticket. Roger Streaan ended up with the ticket for Section 12, Row 5, Seat 12. The end result was that seat turned out to be the lucky ticket drawn in the Brewers' 1984 Bull Pen Car Give-Away.

Mrs. Streaan said she never turned down an opportunity to see a Brewers game. Shirley has more than just a passing interest in baseball, she also happens to be the sister of Brewers' Second Baseman Jim Gantner.

Mrs. Streaan said she had tried to call Gantner that day to let him know they would be at the game but she could not get a hold of him. Mrs. Streaan said Gantner was really surprised when the winning ticket was announced and his brother-in-law walked on the field to claim his prize of a 1984 Z-28 Camaro.

cost of an advisor and transportation.

Board President Jean Goeden asked Horner how he could ask the board to approve spending the $500 plus, when he had again voted against the budget that evening. Horner told Goeden, "he would rather go with a worn carpet someplace and use that money for the decathlon program."

Wietor told the board he had discussed the decathlon program with High School Principal Leroy Kopecky several weeks ago. When he (Kopecky) asked me I was going to volunteer because I said, that's a good program and let's do it. And, I started talking to some teachers and we were just going to do it. You see, you start asking about the budget and things and you just don't have any trust in the people who work for this district. You think that everybody is frivolous and throwing money around. That academic decathlon would have been going a long time if we just did it. Now you present something like Olympics of the Mind, and you ask people, come on just do it.

"You've got him (Kopecky) athletic director, you've got him principal, do it," said Wietor. "The whole philosophy of this district is getting to be, don't volunteer for anything because you're going to get hammered with it anyway," he continued. "I think the attitude has to change right up there," stated Wietor (indicating the board) "and I really firmly believe that and I think we can work together. I think if you read all the reports that have come out, they talk about teacher, school board, administration, designing in-services, not being dictated in-services. And, until we get a working relationship here together, you're not going to get programs like those you want for excellence. I really believe that, because teachers have to have that input and they have to be listened to, because they are professionals. And I think we can do you a wonderful job, much better than you're going to see on the test scores if you just let us and trust us."

Wietor said his was kind of a morale speech but he felt "a lot of the feelings of the staff of the district had gone down so far that nobody knows what's coming next and everybody is leery about what they're going to get into."

In other action, the board approved a half-time aide for the Beechwood and Wayne Elementary Schools. A motion to hire two 1/2 time aides died on a 3 to 3 vote, Kim Peterson being absent. Then Horner, after looking at some figures, felt the ratio between aides and students at Kewaskum Elementary was considerably lower than at the other schools so he mentioned to shift one full-time aide position from Kewaskum, splitting it between Beechwood and Wayne.

Kewaskum Elementary Principal Richard Zarling was unhappy with Horner's motion noting Horner's statistics were incorrect. Zarling said his aides work a seven-hour day compared to 7 1/2 hours at the other schools. And, because of that Horner's ratio figures were not accurate. Horner said those were the figures he had been given. Zarling said he may have made a mistake saying his aides worked 7 1/2 hours.

Zarling indicated his aide staff had already been cut two years ago as a budget measure when none of the other schools were cut. Now his staff was being cut again. The board approved Horner's motion to transfer the aide position.

The board also heard reports from teachers Mary Diez, Mark Roth and Joe Harlow on the district computer program and from Wietor on the Alcohol and Drug Abuse program. Wietor said his request for a $19,000 state grant to fund the program was denied. He felt this was possibly due to the fact that approved grants were going to districts which already have committed themselves to a program and gotten them under way.

Jaycee Woman Shares Membership Opportunities

As a charter member of the Kewaskum Jaycee Women, I would like to share with you the many opportunities our organization can offer. Some of them include Community Service, Personal Growth, and Friendship.

Many of our projects are geared toward serving our community. We are given the chance to meet and work with all areas of the community in which we live. Some of our upcoming community events include the Haunted House, helping with Junior Bowling, and Toys for Tots at Christmas. Gaining the respect and admiration of your community by getting involved can be a rewarding feeling!

The Jaycee Women Organization offers many opportunities to work on personally becoming a better person. There are many courses that are available to you as a Jaycee Woman. Some of them are Time Management, Leadership Dynamics, Stress Management, and Family Life. These types of courses are usually held in a certain location and many different Jaycee chapters are invited to attend. This year the Kewaskum Jaycees opened up their CPR course to any Jaycee Women who wanted to attend. I have found many of these courses very informative and helpful in my everyday life.

A very important thing that the Jaycee Women can offer is friendship. Having regular meetings, working on projects, visiting other Jaycee chapters, and taking personal growth courses is an excellent way of making new friends and sharing ideas with each other.

If I have sparked the interest and inquisitiveness in you, please come and spend some time with us. Our meetings are held every third Monday of the month at 8:00 P.M. in the basement of the Kewaskum Savings & Loan. (enter through the back door) If you have any questions, feel free to call me at 626-2457, or call Debi Korneli at 626-4660.

Hope to see you October 15th!

To future friendship,
Diane Stangl

DOT Allocates Transportation Aid for Elderly and Handicapped

A total of $3,303,800 is available to Wisconsin counties for special transportation services to the elderly and the handicapped, according to the Department of Transportation.

Under the 1985 allocations, Washington County is eligible to receive up to $44,134.

The maximum amount of aid is based on each county's estimated percent of the state's total elderly and handicapped populations. Each county must provide a matching share of 20 percent of the state financial aid requested.

Each county is guaranteed a minimum grant of $17,000 with the most populous county—Milwaukee—eligible for up to $663,753.

Counties may use the aids to directly operate their own specialized transportation services; to purchase services from other public or private contractors; or to furnish subsidies to the elderly or handicapped person who may wish to use existing transportation services, such as taxicabs, at reduced fares.

Priority must be given in distribution of aid to medical, nutritional and work-related trips.

Application materials are being distributed directly to the counties by DOT district offices.

'RECYCLE FOR REUSE' PART OF NATURESPACE PROJECT

Trash - comedians have called it our "gross" national product.

But here in the United States, it's hardly a laughing matter. We produce too much of it. In fact, U.S. citizens generate more waste per person than any other country in the world.

Each day, we throw away about four pounds of solid waste per citizen just from households, businesses and institutions like hospitals and schools. There are also wastes from industries, agriculture and animals, abandoned autos, street sweepings, sewage sludge and more.

Where does it all go? Statistics show that most of our waste just gets wasted. Although a small portion gets reused or recycled, and another small amount gets burned for energy, most of it ends up in landfills where it may cause problems like groundwater pollution.

Trash, a storehouse of resources, may be our most neglected national product.

"It's important for people to become more aware of the potential for recycling," says Len Polczynski, solid waste grant coordinator at the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources. "There are a lot of valuable resources just being thrown away. By recovering materials through the solid waste stream, we can reduce to some degree our imports of materials like bauxite and petroleum products, reduce the necessity to mine raw materials, and reduce our impact on the environment."

That's why Polczynski, along with John Reindl, another DNR solid waste expert, and Ann Robinson, a writer-editor specializing in environmental topics, is helping Wisconsin 4-H develop a new project all about recycling.

Designed as part of the state's NATURESPACE natural sciences group of projects, "Recycle for Reuse" will be available for counties to pilot by mid-to late September.

The project will include background information about the "why's" of recycling, detailed plans for 12 learning-by-doing activities, along with additional ideas for expanding projects. The project guide also includes suggested references and contacts for more information.

"The activities are designed to get 4-H youth and their families involved in learning about recycling," says Robinson. The learning activities allow for discussion, but mostly they emphasize doing and seeing. Activities range from visiting landfills and recycling centers to making a model landfill, and from composting to measuring waste by sorting and counting trash.

As a bonus, many of the activities provide skill building in other areas, too, says Bill Gleason, state 4-H program development specialist.

For example, the "Trash Detectives" activity includes elementary statistics-related concepts. One called "Making Waves" encourages communication skills by having members produce a radio announcement to promote recycling. "Turning Trash into Cash" introduces youth to the cooperative way of doing business while organizing a sale of reusables.

"It looks like recycling is going to become an increasingly important solid waste management alternative," Gleason says, "because of the role it can play in conserving resources and energy, protecting our environment and reducing dependence on imports. Learning about alternatives today should help youth make the most of reusable resources tomorrow."

Exercise Program Important for Older Adults

By Joyce Albrecht
Extension Home Economist

Age is not a limiting factor in exercise; just start where you are.

If you remain active, you can maintain a high level of physical fitness, flexibility and endurance. Studies have found that 50% of the physical decline observed as aging is the result of inactivity.

Some studies have found that older adults who are active gain bone mass, unlike their sedentary counterparts, who suffer bone loss or osteoporosis. This condition is often that cause of hip and wrist fractures commonly seen in the older population.

If you are over 50, it is best to obtain your doctor's approval before you begin an exercise program. In order to keep motivated, you may want to exercise with a companion or small group.

Check around to see what classes are available. Supervised exercise programs help you learn more about injury prevention and exercise techniques. Many aerobic exercise books are available to start you on your way to a safe and effective exercise program. Aerobic dance books and tapes are not recommended for the beginning exerciser.

It's important to wear the proper shoes to minimize injuries during walking, running, dancing or exercising. It's worth paying $30 to $50 for a good shoe. For activities requiring sideways movement, a court shoe will provide stability. For running and walking, a cushioned running shoe will prevent wobbling. Check shoe ratings in runners' magazines.

A well-designed fitness program includes five components —endurance, strength, flexibility, balance and coordination.

Endurance activities use large muscle groups for an extended period of time to stimulate heart and lung function. These kinds of activities—termed aerobic—include swimming, jogging, fast walking, bicycling and aerobic dance.

Exercise and weight training programs build strength. Strengthen quadriceps, back, abdominal and arm muscles. These are the areas where muscle weakness commonly occurs in older adults. Walking is a good exercise for building both leg strength and endurance.

Do flexibility exercises for every joint. Researchers are finding that most flexibility losses result from inactivity. You can also maintain hand-eye and total body coordination with exercise.

Start by exercising three days per week, and build up to five days. Alternate strengthening exercises two days per week with aerobics the other three days.

To gain the full vascular benefit from aerobic exercise, you should work at 40 to 70 percent of your heart rate reserve for a minimum of 30 minutes per day. Percent of heart rate reserve is calculated as: $\% \times (\text{MHR} - \text{RHR}) + \text{RHR}$, where MHR = maximum heart rate and RHR = resting heart rate.

As a general rule, you can estimate your maximum heart rate by subtracting your age from 220. So, if you are 60 years old, your estimated maximum is 160 beats per minute. If your resting heart rate is 60, working at 40% would be: $.40 \times (160 - 60) + 60$, or 100 beats/minute.

It's a good idea to start out gradually. Once you are comfortable working at 40 percent of your maximum heart rate, increase your level or exertion.

You should aim at burning

10% of your caloric intake during exercise. Although you can calculate the number of calories you burn based on your heart rate and weight, it is easier to refer to charts in exercise and health books. For example, a 150 lb. person burns 324 calories during an hour's walk, while a 110 lb. person burns 240 calories.

If exercise tires you, do it in two parts.

If you have arthritis, you may want to take some aspirin a half hour before exercising. Even with pain, you have to be active. If you don't use your joints, you will lose use of them. You may have to consider swimming or biking instead of running or walking.

For those who enjoy swimming or cycling, keep in mind that you still need to do some weight-bearing exercise such as walking or running. Swimming is fine for the arms and legs but does not strengthen the spine.

Older people are more prone to heat exhaustion and dehydration. On hot, humid days, it's best to walk in the early morning or in the evening.

How do you know if you're overdoing it? If you're too tired to get out of bed, you did too much.

To maintain the same fitness level as you grow older, you are going to have to work harder. But your reward will be that as an active 70 year old, you will be as physically fit as a sedentary 35 year old.

There are no uninteresting things, there are only uninterested people.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

On September 28, 29, and 30th, Girl Scout Troop 223 (junior) from Wayne, under the leadership of Mrs. Judy Goetsch, went on a troop camping trip to Tiwaushara which is at Redgranite, Wisconsin.

They spent the weekend by cooking all their meals outdoors. They learned two new types of cooking which included the use of the buddy-burners. They all enjoyed a jungle breakfast.

The troop did a lot of hiking to enjoy the beauty of the north woods.

The main purpose of this troop to spend this weekend was to get to know each other better and to enjoy the outdoors in an autumn setting.

The sixth grade girls planned a wide game using countries as each station. They enjoyed food, dancing and customs from Mexico, the Orient, and Sweden. They also learned to make antique broaches out of discarded eye glasses.

A wonderful time was had by all.

To serve as a reminder, all the scouts that sold magazines must turn in their money and orders by Oct. 10 to their leaders.

Ever wonder why your company runs a United Way campaign?

Companies have helped the United Way raise funds for as long as there has been a United Way. And for a lot of good reasons.

They've learned that most of the money raised stays right in their own hometown, helping to meet local human needs.

And they've learned that, thanks to company campaigns and employee volunteers, the United Way doesn't need an enormous staff of its own. That means most of the money will go to help those who need it. That's why United Way is the most effective way to help.

But most of all, your company asks you to support the United Way for the same reason you'd want to yourself. They want to help all they can.

United Way Thanks to you, it works for ALL OF US.

White-Marschman Reunion Is Held

A reunion attended by 135 descendants of the Caleb White and/or Henry Marschman was held at the Holiday Inn in Menomonee Falls Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Sept. 15, 16 and 17.

In 1842 Caleb White married Elizabeth Martin in Batavia, N.Y. The White family moved to Wisconsin in 1854, and settled on a farm near Boltonville. Later they lived on a farm on County B, just south of County H, near Kewaskum. The couple had 10 children.

Henry Marschman and his wife Charlotte Crowe, came from Germany with Henry's three children, John, Frederic and Barbara, from his first wife, and their son, Phillip. They settled on a homestead on Maple Tree Road in the Town of Farmington. They later had four more children, Jacob, Charlotte, Henry and George.

The first four children spelled their name Maschman and the last four, Marshman. Two of Henry and Charlotte's children, Jacob and Charlotte married two of the White children, Elizabeth and Abraham. Therefore, many relatives are double cousins.

Both of the original couples are buried in the same cemetery, Orchard Grove, at the intersection of Countys H and HH just west of State 144.

The White homestead is now owned by Lloyd Schmidt, and the old Marschman homestead is owned by the Strigenz family. The Marschman homestead was owned and operated by Oscar and Emma Marshman for many years. Oscar was the grandson of Henry and the son of Jacob Marshman.

On Sunday, a buffet dinner was attended by the descendants who came from many cities in Wisconsin as well as Colorado, Utah, North Carolina, Idaho, California, Montana, Minnesota, South Dakota and Illinois. A program was emceed by Terry Maschman.

The only descendants still living in the West Bend-Kewaskum area are and attending the reunion were Hazel (Elton) Strack, Albert (Olga) Albright, Elmer Albright, Roger (Cordell) Strack and Carol (Harold) Roecker. Loraine (Marshman) Rohde, 92, of Milwaukee, is the only surviving grandchild of both Henry Marschman and Caleb White.

On Monday, the group took a bus tour to Widmer's Cheese Factory, both original homesteads and two cemeteries — Orchard Grove and Van Vechten on County B where some of the White children are buried. A visit to Holy Hill was included in the tour.

This was the fifth biennial reunion, and the first held in Wisconsin.

Families in Illinois, Montana, Idaho and South Dakota have hosted reunions in the past. The next reunion in 1986 will return to South Dakota.

REGULARITY

Too many people believe that a daily laxative must be standard procedure in order to keep regular. An occasional skipped day or even two or three days should be no cause for alarm, states the California Medical Ass'n. They note that many laxatives produce undesirable side effects. Increase your bulk intake by eating more fresh raw fruits and vegetables. Drink plenty of liquids too - you can enjoy healthful regularity without laxatives.

Ronald McDonald House Opens Its Doors

Wauwatosa, WI — After years of planning and 11½ months of construction, the dream of a Ronald McDonald House in the Milwaukee area became a reality Wednesday, Oct. 3.

A three-story, 25 bedroom Ronald McDonald House opened its doors at 8948 Watertown Plank Road, Wauwatosa. Families from throughout Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and Northern Illinois will use the house as a home away from home while their children are treated for cancer and other serious illnesses at Milwaukee area hospitals.

The house is the 69th Ronald McDonald House to serve families with seriously ill children. Its opening occurs nearly 10 years after the opening of the first Ronald McDonald House in Philadelphia. Other Ronald McDonald Houses are located throughout the United States, Canada, Europe and Australia.

Milwaukee County Executive William O'Donnell and Wauwatosa Mayor James Brundahl joined McDonald's owners and operators and business leaders, parents and volunteers for the opening ceremonies. Approximately 300 persons attended the event.

Also participating in the opening was Fred Hill, a former professional football player who helped establish the first Ronald McDonald House after his daughter developed leukemia. Hill termed the expansion of the Ronald McDonald House concept, from a single house in Philadelphia to a worldwide network serving more than 100,000 persons annually, "a tribute to the strength of human caring and understanding."

Hill attended the opening ceremonies from San Juan Capistrano, California where he now serves as a medical supplies salesman. His daughter, Kim, who survived her battle with leukemia, is currently a college freshman in California.

Dennis Buchan, President of the sponsoring organization for the Ronald McDonald House here said the new house has been built through the concern and involvement of thousands of persons who have given time, services and financial support to the home.

The Ronald McDonald House is being entirely paid for through private contributions by individuals and organizations, as well as by special fund raising promotions held by McDonald's restaurants in Wisconsin, Northern Illinois and Upper Michigan.

The Ronald McDonald House features more than 50 rooms and 24,000 sq. ft. of living space, giving families a home-like atmosphere and opportunities for togetherness, privacy, prayer and relaxation. The home is one of the largest Ronald McDonald Houses in the world.

The home features a central meeting area called the Great Room where families can gather to share experiences and discuss personal concerns. Focal point of the room is a three story, 45-foot Kensington blend stone fireplace.

Other rooms at the home include a playroom with toys, games, stuffed animals and clowns for young children; a game room with games designed for adolescent guests; three television rooms, and a library.

The house also claims several design features which represent firsts for a Ronald McDonald House. These include a non-denominational chapel and a relaxation room which provides families from Milwaukee and surrounding areas a place to rest, shower or relax before, in-between, or after visits to the hospital.

Outdoor attractions at the 4½ acre building site include a landscaped garden, patio, sun deck and a large playground area.

Peter Schwabe, Inc., Big Bend, WI, donated services as general contractor, as well as project managers for the construction of the Ronald McDonald House. Architectural plans were donated by Robert Kramer of Paul F. Schmitter Architects, Elm Grove, WI. The Wisconsin Chapter of the American Society of Interior Designers (ASID) donated its time and talent to create the interior design plan for the entire home.

Buchan said that continued financial support will be needed to pay for the $1.6 million home. He reported that the sponsoring organization has received more than $550,000 in cash donations, along with pledges for another $250,000.

Donations of building services, materials and furnishings also have helped keep construction costs at a minimum. Without these contributions the costs could have exceeded $2.2 million, Buchan explained.

James W. Pihos, President of the McDonald's Milwaukee Advertising Association, said McDonald's restaurants will continue to support the home through fund raising promotions. A major promotion is planned for the fourth quarter and will be conducted for the Milwaukee home by nearly 150 McDonald's restaurants in Wisconsin, Northern Illinois and Upper Michigan.

Tax deductible contributions can be made to the Ronald McDonald House, 8948 Watertown Plank Road, Wauwatosa, Wisconsin 53226. Organizations interested in conducting fund raising events on behalf of the home should contact Mr. Garry Gillespie, Ronald McDonald House, 2100 North Mayfair Road, Wauwatosa, Wisconsin, 53226 (414-475-5100).

The Ronald McDonald House was open for tours by the general public on Sunday, October 7 (10 a.m. - 4 p.m.). Families began to stay at the house on Monday, October 8th.

25 Years Ago

October 9, 1959

On Thursday, October 15, and Friday, October 16, Kewaskum Community High School will hold its annual homecoming celebration. Activities will start off on Thursday with a homecoming parade through the local streets at 7:30 p.m. The parade will wend its way to the high school grounds where a pep rally and bonfire will be held. Kewaskum will meet Slinger on Friday night on the local football field. Following the game, a dance will be held in the school gymnasium. The homecoming king was chosen by fellow football players on Thursday, October 8, and on Friday, October 9, the king will choose his queen. The girls in the queen's court have been chosen by classmates. They are: Freshman, Barbara Fickler; sophomore, Carole Krell; juniors, Cathy Herriges and Mary Czaja; seniors, Sharon Harbeck and Susanne Schmidt. The king will crown his queen preceding the grand march at the dance.

Two young men from Kewaskum have enlisted in the U.S. Army, it was announced by the Fond du Lac recruiting office. The youths are Richard Czaja, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Czaja, and Lawrence "Buzz" Nischke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nischke. Both recruits are graduates of the 1959 class of Kewaskum High School. Czaja enlisted for a technical school of his choice and Nischke enlisted for service in the armored corps in Germany.

Mrs. Al Muckerheide of the Town of Kewaskum reports picking a 26½ lb. Hubbard squash which was grown in her garden. This variety of squash rarely grows to such a size. The giant has been on display on the Muckerheide front porch.

While hauling in hay on his farm in the Town of Farmington last Monday, Henry Schacht, his wife and twenty-month-old baby, had a very narrow escape from death, when the rack and load of hay slipped off the wagon, precipitating them to the ground. Mr. Schacht was badly shaken up and his wife received cuts and fractures. The baby was more seriously injured, receiving a skull fracture which necessitated the removal of the child to the hospital at West Bend.

Paul Kurth, of the Town of Barton, experienced a very painful accident at his place Thursday while digging potatoes. He was following the digger, when in some manner his foot came in contact with the hooks of the digger, cutting a bad gash which required several stitches to close the wound.

With this issue of the Kewaskum Statesman, we enter our 40th year of existence in the newspaper field. During the past 39 years we have tried to give the people of Kewaskum and vicinity the best we could in the form of a clean, up-to-date and newsy country weekly. We also feel that we have an enviable record for during all these years we have never skipped an issue, although at times we were delayed a day, the paper always reached its readers during the week of publication. The Statesman was established on October 5, 1895, by Chas. E. Krahn, and has gradually forged its way through all handicaps and vicissitudes. The present owner and publisher, D. J. Harbeck, has been with the Statesman for 34 of the 39 years of its existence.

Last Saturday, Pat Darmody, a farmer from the Town of Wayne, brought to this village an immense ear of corn which is very interesting to look at, as the size of it is very seldom, if ever, seen in this community. The ear measures 12 inches in length, weighs 1½ pounds, has 18 rows, 44 kernels in each row. The ear is now on exhibition at the L. Rosenheimer store.

On Thursday, Oct. 5, a pretty wedding was solemnized at the St. Michaels Church, when Miss Josephine Laubach and Theodore Dworschak were united in the holy bonds of matrimony.

Marriage Licenses Way Up in County

County Clerk George F. Nehrbaas reported today that "all is alive and well in the romance department." Cupid's arrows are finding their mark with greater frequency, according to statistics in the Clerk's office, with 370 marriage license applications processed during June, July, August and September of 1984. This is 50 more than during the same period of 1983.

If the present trend is any indication, 1984 will surpass by far the total of 666 applications processed during 1983 by the County Clerk's Office.

Minutes of Village Board Meeting

Regular Meeting
October 1, 1984
8:00 P.M.

The Village Board of Kewaskum Washington County, Wisconsin, met in regular monthly session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

President Gerald F. Stollenwerk presided. All Trustee Members were present.

On a motion by Trustee Donald Mlodzik, seconded by Trustee David Nigh and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board approved the minutes of September 17, 1984.

A public hearing was conducted on the petition of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wagner for the rezoning of the parcel of property located at 1546 Fond du Lac Avenue, Kewaskum, Wisconsin, from B-1 Limited Retail and Service District to R-3 Two-Family Residence District. There were no objections from the floor to the application as publicly noticed and publicly read by President Gerald F. Stollenwerk. On a motion by Trustee Thomas McElhatton, seconded by Trustee Howard Laubenstein and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board declared the public hearing closed.

A public hearing was conducted on the application of William J. Kulas for a Combination Class "B" tavern license. There were no objections from the floor to the application as publicly noticed and publicly read by President Gerald F. Stollenwerk. The Police Department had no reason to protest at this time. On a motion by Trustee David Nigh, seconded by Trustee Paul Blumer and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board declared the public hearing closed.

Motion was made by Trustee Paul Blumer, seconded by Trustee Mary Krueger to suspend the rules to take action on agenda item IX. A&B (Discussion and possible action on the petition of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wagner for the rezoning of the parcel of property located at 1546 Fond du Lac Avenue and the application for Class "B" tavern license. Roll call vote was passed unanimously. Roll call vote was 7 "Aye," 0 "Nay," 0 "Absent."

On a motion by Trustee David Nigh, seconded by Trustee Mary Krueger and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board approved the petition of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wagner for rezoning of the parcel of property located at 1546 Fond du Lac Avenue, Kewaskum, Wisconsin, as earlier (August 30, 1983) recommended by the Plan Commission and heard at public hearing.

On a motion by Trustee Thomas McElhatton, seconded by Trustee Paul Blumer and carried unanimously by voice vote, the Board approved the following application for a Combination Class "B" Fermented Malt Beverage and Intoxicating Liquor License for a period commencing October 2, 1984, and ending June 30, 1985, upon payment of the required fee. The Police Department didn't have any objections and the office was authorized to issue the proper license.

William J. Kulas, 215 Main Street, Kewaskum, Wisconsin.

Discussion was held on the Police Chief's request to advertise for bids for a 1985 police squad, replacing the 1983 police squad. Trustee Thomas McElhatton asked why the Police Department could not use the squad one additional year or another 80,000 plus miles. It was noted the squad would then have approximately 160,000 to 180,000 miles on it, plus double the number of idling hours. This would make the squad less dependable and cost much more for maintenance. On a motion by Trustee Howard Laubenstein, seconded by Trustee Paul Blumer and carried by the majority by voice vote, with Trustee Thomas McElhatton and Trustee Mary Krueger voting against, the Board authorized the advertising of bids for a 1985 police squad to replace the 1983 police squad.

On a motion by Trustee Thomas McElhatton, seconded by Trustee Donald Mlodzik and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board approved the hiring of three replacement part-time police officers upon the Police Chief's and Police Commission's recommendations. The new part-time police officers are: Steven W. Beck, Dennis W. Vis, and William F. Schleif.

Superintendent of Public Works, Augie Bilgo, reported on the progress being made on Pumphouse No. 3.

Administrator Daniel Schmidt passed out the September 30, 1984, balance sheets for the Board to review. The 1984 Equalization Report as discussed at a County Board meeting, September 18, 1984, was reviewed, along with the County's request for two lists, one the Public Works projects completed the last year and the second those Public Works projects proposed for the next two years. The board directed the Administrator to submit both lists to the County with the possibility of some funding. The Board was also informed that the Village has received their Landfill license.

On a motion by Trustee Mary Krueger, seconded by Trustee Paul Blumer and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board approved the payment of bills as recommended by the Administrative Committee. The total of all claims as recommended are as follows:

Village Gen. Fund	$73,621.71
Water Dept. Fund	1,451.91
Sewage Dept. Fund	7,183.65
TID Fund	61,213.50
TOTAL	$143,470.77

Trustee Thomas McElhatton, Chairman of the Park & Recreation Committee, reported on the Park & Recreation meeting of September 25, 1984, informing the Board that the Committee had instructed the Administrator to submit a pre-application for LAWCON funding for the park shelter buildings. Also the Committee recommended replacing the undersized electrical service on the museum.

On a motion by Trustee David Nigh, seconded by Trustee Howard Laubenstein and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board authorized the replacement of the electrical service on the museum at a cost of $712.00 this fall.

Library Board Representative, Trustee Mary Krueger, reported on new extended library hours, those being Monday Noon to 8:00 p.m., Wednesday Noon to 8:00 p.m., Friday Noon to 6:00 p.m., and Saturday 9:00 a.m. to Noon.

On a motion by Trustee Mary Krueger, seconded by Trustee Donald Mlodzik and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board directed the Administrator to draft an Emergency Government Policy to correspond with that of the City of West Bend and one that meets the County requirements as earlier discussed. This was reviewed by Trustee Howard Laubenstein, Chairman of the Protection & Public Safety Committee.

York Announces Results of His Opinion Survey

In his efforts to better understand the concerns 59th Assembly District voters, Dwight York distributed thousands of his opinion surveys this summer. York was one of four Republican candidates in the September 11 Primary, and his strong victory then has earned him a spot on the November 6 election ballot. York has recently released the results of his opinion survey.

A majority of area residents favor reduced property and income taxes, binding arbitration, tax incentives for corporations, and increased promotions for agricultural products. "It's no surprise that voters are concerned about these issues," said York. "Taxes, especially property and income taxes, as well as Wisconsin's business environment, are matters which affect us all." Some 60 percent of those surveyed said they supported property tax relief, while another 65 percent said they favored tax reform.

In response to the question "should the state adopt tax incentives to keep and attract businesses that create jobs in Wisconsin?" 87 percent of those surveyed said yes, 26 percent said no, and 6 percent were undecided. In a related question, 26 percent said the state should supply low interest state loans to help businesses expand, while 31 percent said the state should try to attract businesses, and 30 percent said corporate taxes should be lowered.

Regarding possible use of the present state surplus, 51 percent of respondents favored a reduction in taxes, 15 percent said the money should be refunded to the taxpayers, and 34 percent answered that the money should be kept for future economic problems.

Eighty-five percent indicated that the state should make a strong effort to increase markets for Wisconsin agricultural products. A requirement that able-bodied welfare recipients and unemployed persons perform some work as a condition of receiving welfare or unemployment payments was favored by the largest percentage of any question—a whopping 95 percent. The binding arbitration issue was slightly more divided with 59 percent answering that an arbitrator should be able to make a final decision when contract negotiations are deadlocked as a means to avert strikes. Thirty percent said no, and 11 percent were undecided.

Responses to some other questions on York's survey showed that 52 percent supported less government, 24 percent favored gun control, 7 percent said public employees should have the right to strike, and 45 percent favored the state lottery system. Welfare reform was favored by 73 percent, while 66 percent supported mandatory sentences for criminals, and 37 percent favored a pro-life amendment.

"I'd like to thank everyone who took the time to answer this survey," York concluded. "It's always important for voters to voice their opinions."

Jerominski, Johann Seek Extension of Hwy. 67 Improvement

Pat Gruber Jerominski, State Assembly candidate in the 59th district, and Sara Lee Johann, State Senate candidate in the 20th district, said current plans for road improvement on Highway 67 in Dodge County from County "S" to Woodland should be extended further south to Neosho and the work started sooner.

The state Department of Transportation currently plans to rebuild Highway 67 between Woodland and County "S" in 1989 and to resurface Highway 60 eastward from Highway 67 to Hartford in 1986. "This is too little, too late," said Johann and Jerominski.

"Highway 67 in this area is an important farm-to-market road," Jerominski said. "It is rough and narrow. Farmers and others in our community who use it deserve better."

"This is a road where improvements are truly needed," Johann said. Johann, a member of Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission, has frequently criticized the DOT for promoting costly, unnecessarily huge road widening projects in some parts of the state while ignoring genuine road repair needs elsewhere.

Jerominski, of rural Campbellsport, is a sixth generation area resident known for her community activities, particularly her leadership in the successful fight against local measured phone service.

Johann, an attorney and former newspaper reporter, is also known for her involvement in community and political activities in the area. Her family has been in the area since the 1830's.

"One of our first concerns after winning this election will be to convince the Department of Transportation to do more on Highway 67 and to start sooner," Johann and Jerominski said. The candidates said that when the legislature reviews the Department's budget for highway improvement next year, they intend to make the needs of their community heard.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary V. Krueger, who passed away 1 year ago Sept. 11, 1983, and our dear father who passed away 4 years ago Oct. 22, 1980:

Loving and kind in all their ways,
Upright and just to the end of their days,
Sincere and true in their hearts and mind,
Such beautiful memories they left behind.
Gone is the face we loved to touch,
Silent is the voice we loved so much,
They taught us a lesson in loving and caring.
Their life was devoted to giving and sharing.
Until one day God said, "Now Rest."
You've always done your very best.
It was a rest so well deserved,
In heaven a place was marked "Reserved."

Deeply missed by us, their children:

Mildred and John Heberer
Bernice Fellenz
Betty and Ray Boose
Bill and Helen Krueger

Volleyball Team 3rd In Grafton Invite, Loses to Plymouth

By John Harju

The Kewaskum volleyball team placed third with a 2-4 record in Saturday's four-team Grafton Invitational.

Kettle Moraine won the meet with a 5-1 record. Coach Dave Rizzardi cited Sandy Secor for some fine spiking and Michelle Gebheim for some good all-around play.

Last Thursday, Kewaskum traveled to Plymouth where they were defeated 3-15, 4-15, and 8-15. The loss dropped their season record to 2-6. Rizzardi was disappointed in his team's play noting that there "was no life out there."

The JVs dropped their record to 3-5 as they lost 15-5, 12-15, 5-15. The fresh(women) also lost, 13-15, 3-15, and 11-15.

Mary Ann Yahr, outgoing president of the Women's Association, thanked officers, committee chairs, and members' cooperation in making it a highly successful season. Yahr called on Don Hill, golf professional, and Bruce Worzella, course superintendent, for remarks on women's golf and the course.

Following lunch, a fall fashion show with clothes from Alstons of West Bend and Cedarburg, and furs from Richard Rich, Inc., Milwaukee, was staged with club members doing the modeling.
