Incumbents Seek Re-Election

Nigh to Run for Village Board President

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

With the deadline drawing near, Kewaskum Village Administrator Dan Schmidt said Wednesday, three candidates have indicated their intentions to seek a seat on the Village Board.

The terms of four members, President Gerald Stollenwerk and Trustees Mary Krueger, Paul Blumer and David Nigh will expire next spring.

Incumbent Nigh has filed his nomination papers stating he will make his first try for the position of board president. Stollenwerk had announced earlier this month he will not seek re-election next year.

Nigh is the senior member of the board, having served as a trustee since his election in 1975.

Incumbent Paul Blumer is looking to retain his trusteeship on the board. He was elected in 1979 and is running for his fourth term.

Mary Krueger, the village's first woman trustee, is seeking her second term on the board.

With Nigh running for president, that leaves one trustee's position open. Schmidt said village residents have until 5:00 p.m. January 2nd, to file papers and he felt there would be a candidate for the seventh seat on the board.

Critical Shortage of DTP Vaccine

A critical shortage of DTP vaccine has developed nationwide and in Wisconsin. Current supplies of DTP will be used only for infants and very young children who are in need of the basic series, and to whom whooping cough is a very dangerous disease.

This situation is more serious because whooping cough has been reported in southeast Wisconsin. The Washington County Community Health Nursing Service has announced it will follow guidelines issued by the Wisconsin Division of Health for the use of current DTP supplies.

Infants and young children will be given the initial three dose series of DTP. These are normally given to infants at 2, 4, and 6 months of age. The 4th and 5th booster doses normally given at 18 months and school entry will be postponed until more vaccine is available. When vaccine is available, the booster doses will again be available at immunization clinics.

All other routine immunizations will continue to be given at the regularly scheduled immunization clinics offered by Washington County Community Health Nursing Service.

January clinics are:
January 2 — Community Health Nursing Service, 515 E. Washington St. - West Bend, 2-5 p.m.

January 8 — Germantown Senior Citizen Center, W162 N11960 Park Ave. - Germantown, 2-4:30 p.m.

January 15 — Hartford Recreation Department, 525 North Main St. - Hartford, 9-11 a.m.

January 22 — Community Health Nursing Service, 515 E. Washington St. - West Bend, 9-11 a.m.

Immunizations are provided free of charge, but there is a $1.00 charge for the T.B. skin test for those age 16 and over. Parents are asked to bring to clinics their records of each child's past immunizations, as immunizations will not be provided without past records.

For further information call 338-4462 or 644-5204 or 342-2929.

Boltonville Bunch Asking for Pledges For Snowmobile Trip

The Boltonville Bunch Snowmobile Club will be going on a MS Club ride Jan. 26 and 27.

The club will be snowmobiling from Boltonville to Mishicot and back. They will be staying overnight at Fox Hills Country Club.

Pledges for MS research are being gathered by club members for the 200 mile trip. Their goal is to be one of the top two clubs in the state. This means they will have to get over $4,000 in pledges. The top two clubs in the state will get transportation, tail gate party and 40 tickets to a Brewer baseball game next summer.

What is your snowmobile club doing? Maybe a trip up north? Perhaps a steak run or poker run? Anything can be turned into pledges for MS research by your club.

Please contact one of the members of the Boltonville Bunch or Milton and Linda Howe for information, 692-2285. Give the members your support.

SSI Checks to Be Delivered Early

Monthly Supplemental Security Income (SSI) checks which are normally delivered on the first day of the month, will be delivered on December 31st instead, according to David Becker, Manager of the West Bend Social Security Office.

"Benefit checks are mailed early when the usual delivery date falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal Holiday," Becker said. "In these instances, the checks are dated and delivered on the first day before the first of the month that is not a weekend or holiday."

Becker stated that this procedure helps reduce the problems that people have when they receive their checks and their banks are closed. These situations occur several times during the year, and Becker added that SSA would provide similar information about early check deliveries as they occur.

The U.S. census bureau reported that the 1970 census missed about 5,300,000 people.

The Public Works Department also would like to ask that all people place their garbage at the curb for pick up on Wednesday and Thursday, January 2 and 3, due to the holidays.

sponding to challenges of creative problem-solving.

OLYMPICS OF THE MIND WHAT IS IT?

The Olympics of the Mind combines the excitement of an athletic competition with fun-filled mental gymnastics for youngsters. It provides "creative problem solving" for all ages, combined with the thrill of seeing their imagination at work, constructively. Like the ancient Greek athletes' contests and their modern day counterparts, "creative problem solving" provides training and competition requiring diligence and hard work for participants. However, your children don't have to be athletic nor do you have to spend a lot of money to provide a fun-filled, enriching program.

Olympics of the Mind is a creative problem solving competition which involves "hands on" building, developing, and making things in order to solve problems. Children from elementary through high school compete in teams of 7 students (only 5 at a time may be on the "field") in three different levels of competition (K-5, 6-8, 9-12). The solutions to the problems are judged according to the quality of the solution and the style in which it is accomplished. The solution becomes the teams' entry in the competition.

The problems lend themselves to divergent solutions, are relatively inexpensive to solve, and can be watched by spectators. There are two types of problems: Long Term Problems and Spontaneous Problems for the students to solve. A spontaneous problem follows: with one minute to think and two minutes to respond; name as many birds as you can.

Each team has a coach which may be a teacher, principal, counselor, parent, or other citizen. Olympics of the Mind is designed as a program for creatively gifted students. The best way to identify these students is through the creative problem solving competition itself.

Once selected for the teams, students are trained in brainstorming techniques, redefining problems which develop flexibility and the ability to synthesize. There is an effort to develop students' confidence and ability to relax in order to be more creative.

Dear Editor:

Toys for Tots was a huge success this year. We would like to take this opportunity to thank all who helped. Thanks to Sentry, Rich's Kennelly Pharmacy, Homeplate, Valley Bank, and the Kewaskum Branch of the West Bend Savings and Loan. These businesses were collection places for our toys. There was some extra effort involved on their part to help with the toys. We would also like to thank the West Bend Jaycee Women for coordinating this program with the Washington County Department of Social Services. It was a big job, and we merely assisted with the project. Most of all we would like to thank the wonderful people of this community. Without your generosity, this

To the Editor of the Kewaskum Statesman:

As the Democratic state senate candidate in the 20th district, I wish to thank the voters for their consideration and support. This is my message to them:

There are certain things that once one has no man can take away and no tide can turn away. Patriotism toward one's state and nation is one of those things. I have this sense of patriotism. I know you share it. I will continue to stand up proudly for a Wisconsin, an America and a world in which the spirit of good will is more powerful than hate and greed and where reason and negotiations prevail over conflict and war. And I will always seek a government which treats all human beings, the influential and the powerless, fairly, equally and with compassion. I ask you to do the same.

I care about the people of this district and I will never turn my back on you. This is my promise to you: to never stop fighting for justice whenever and wherever it is lacking.

Helen Keller once said: "The best and most beautiful things in the world cannot be seen or even touched. They must be felt with the heart." I enjoyed meeting you at your homes, at meetings, parades and other events. I learned much from you. The senate campaign was one of the best times of my life. People were friendly, caring, patriotic and concerned about the future of this state. The district itself is a place of scenic beauty, with beaches along Lake Michigan, hills and valleys, small towns and farmlands. I gave all that I had to give—my time, my resources, my heart and my soul — to the senate campaign. I do not regret and will never forget what I did to show my devotion to promoting good government in Wisconsin. Many of you showed me you share that dedication. As I travel on, that love is what I'll remember.

I know you will wish me well in the employment I have taken on as clerk for the assembly Judiciary Committee. It is a way to impact on public policy—which has always been my reason for being involved in politics.

The counsel I give, particularly to young people, is this: Recognize beauty. Keep a positive outlook. Envision and fight for life as it should be. Be undaunted by roadblocks thrown in your path. If you are persistent you can reach any goal. Search for and follow your dreams no matter how impossible they appear to be for you will regret not seeking that chance for happiness. As Golda Meir said: "If you don't believe in miracles, you're just not a realist."

Perhaps some of what I've said sounds overly sentimental. Yet, if love and honor are not our most precious values, we have no values worth holding.

Sincerely,
Sara Lee Johann

Cruising With Korea's Clothes & Cabbies

The following letter was received from JOSN Jesse James Averill, USS Cochrane DDG-21, FPO San Francisco, CA 96662-1251, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Averill, Kewaskum, who just returned to Yokosuka, Japan, after spending two months at sea. This short article concerns the Republic of South Korea. Averill adds that he will try to write about every different major part he hits.

After spending 31 inhumanly arduous days at sea, this sailor was ready for some "on-land" liberty. During that sea time, the USS COCHRANE (DDG-21) participated in FLEETEX '84, an exercise involving three Battle Groups and almost 60 ships. Battle Group Alfa, with whom COCHRANE operates, proceeded into the international waters of the Sea of Japan toward the Republic of South Korea. On several occasions, we came within a vodka bottles throw of various Soviet vessels. The Russian sailors were quite friendly, waving back to us and probably wondering what sneaky tricks us Americans were up to.

COCHRANE pulled into Chinhae, Korea on December 5 while the rest of the Battle Group went to Pusan, the second largest city in South Korea and 50 miles north of Chinhae. Korea, as a whole, is a mildly tense situation. North Korea is a communist state while the Republic of South Korea is governed by democracy. Each is in the process of trying to overtake the other. The two countries are separated by a de-militarized zone (DMZ), but still, while riding with an out-of-control cab driver, I saw many military formations marching along the road. It is also quite common to see guards posted along the roadside, some armed with M-16's, others carrying machine guns. A friend mentioned something about feeling like Hawkeye and Trapper John on their way to Seoul for some well-deserved liberty.

Previously, I referred to an out-of-control cab driver. Taking a cab in Korea is like trusting a convicted axe murderer with a butcher knife. These cab drivers make New York cabbies seem like model drivers. I'm not sure what terrified me more, his darting in and out of semi-riden, two-way traffic or the maniacal tendency of his to drive on the sidewalk.

At any rate, I was happy to arrive unscratched and with all my bodily parts still fully intact.

Shopping in the Republic of South Korea is similar to an omni-present Krazy Daze, except much larger. The most popular items are leather jackets, the kind motorcycle thugs and heavy-metal musicians wear. Stateside prices of these gems are somewhere between $100 and $200, but the merchants in South Korea will let you get away with one for about $35. Suede jackets run pretty much along the same line. Mink blankets are another popular item that will make you go broke saving money. These beautifully patterned blankets are a steal at $100, but the South Koreans sell them for around $30. But the biggest sellers of them all are tennis shoes. Big name, first line high tops and regular tennis shoes go for $7 to $10. Not bad for some well-put-together shoes that run statewide for $40.

So if you ever get the chance, take some well-deserved liberty (vacation) and do some shopping in the Republic of South Korea. The money you save will make it well worth the cost of the trip to see an intriguing foreign country like South Korea.

Just watch out for those cab drivers.

25 Years Ago

December 25, 1959

Those who were "dreaming of a white Christmas" can stop dreaming. They weren't dreaming. It's for real! With the ground bare and no snow during December, which had been a mild month, it appeared like this area would not have a white covering for the holiday. But the weather made up for lost time on Tuesday afternoon and night when about six inches fell. The swirling snow was accompanied by very high winds, piling the snow into sizable drifts, making driving hazardous and many side roads impassable.

Among the numerous servicemen from this area home on holiday leaves are the following: Pvt. Daniel Coulter, son of William Coulter Sr., Route 3, Campbellsport, who recently completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.; Wayne Coulter, 3rd Bn., F. Co., NATTC, Memphis 55, Tenn.; Pvt. Lawrence Nischke, RA 16635575 O/S Repl. Sta. (1264), Fort Dix, N.J., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nischke, Route 2, Kewaskum; A/3c Thomas S. Smith, AF 16635307 B307, 3421 Sturon, Lowry AFB, Colo. He is from Kohlsville.

A daughter, Lisa Jean, was born to Rev. and Mrs. Glenway Backhaus of Woodville, Wisconsin on December 19. Rev. Backhaus is a former resident.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Struebing, Route 1, Allenton, have announced the engagement of their daughter Genevieve to Jake Fell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fell, Route 1, Campbellsport.

50 Years Ago

December 28, 1934

Last Monday evening, while Dorwin Perkins, driver of a milk truck for the Kewaskum Creamery Company, between here and Chicago, was returning home from his regular trip, he experienced an accident which might have proven fatal. He had just about got outside the village of Germantown when a passenger car full of women stopped directly in front of him and caused him to turn out in order to avoid hitting their car, when an oil truck came at a high rate of speed from the north and crashed into Mr. Perkins' truck before he saw it and before he had a chance to avoid it. The oil truck crashed into the front of the creamery truck, telescoping the hood of the latter truck and completely wrecking the entire front of the creamery truck. The oil truck was also badly smashed. No one was very badly hurt except Mr. Perkins who got out of the wreckage with a broken nose and scratches about the face.

A very sad and fatal accident happened at Milwaukee Wednesday afternoon, when two former Town of Wayne residents, Peter Steichen and John Hawig and the latter's nephew, John Schmidt, lost their lives in an automobile accident.

Louis Heisler is now ready for business in his new tavern building on Fond du Lac Avenue (now Keller's Tap) which was recently completed.

The coldest time of the year was Wednesday morning when the thermometer registered 12 below zero.

William Schaub, who operated a garage and filling station on Fond du Lac Avenue for some time, on Monday moved his belongings to the former Stark blacksmith shop on East Main Street where he will make his home and run his place of business in the future.

The following description of moonshine liquor by Irvin S. Cobb is going the rounds: "It smells like gangrene starting in a mildewed silo, it tastes like the wrath to come, and when you absorb a deep swig of it you have all the sensations of having swallowed a lighted kerosene lamp."

December 25, 1909

Joseph Schlosser, the barber, has rented the Heilman bakery for a term of three years and will take possession of the place next Wednesday, Dec. 29. Mr. Schlosser has engaged the services of an experienced baker and will conduct the shop and ice cream parlor as before in an up-to-date manner. Mr. Heilman has retired from the business on account of ill health. He will move to Tomah, Wisconsin, where his wife's parents reside. Mr. Schlosser will continue to run his barber shop, which will be in charge of a first class barber.

Undoubtedly the finest lot of dressed geese marketed this season was brought to L. Rosenheimer by Jacob Hassinger last week Friday. His entire load of poultry consisting of 48 geese and 18 live hens brought him $100.65.

William Glass of the Town of Scott, who purchased the farm of James Stokes, caught his hand in a corn shredder Wednesday afternoon, injuring the member so badly that it is feared he will have to submit to amputation of the same.

The seniors and juniors of the local high school enjoyed a sleigh ride to West Bend Sunday evening and the freshmen on the same evening enjoyed a ride to Campbellsport.

Miss Emma Staatz bowled the highest score at Eberle's alleys on Tuesday evening, her score being 146. Mrs. A. Rosenheimer was second with 104.

Fred Bleck of Auburn had the misfortune of losing a valuable horse here in the village Monday afternoon with colic.

Frank Zwaschka had a steam heating plant put in his store and residence this week.

Winters Pose Many Hazards for Pets

The Washington County Humane Society issues a warning that Wisconsin winters pose many hazards for pets.

Be very careful with anti-freeze; it is a deadly poison that has an appealing taste to pets and children. Wipe up all spills and store safely; even a small amount can kill. Many holiday plants have poisonous parts - holly and mistletoe berries are poisonous, as are all parts of the poinsettia. Keep these out of reach of pets.

Chemicals used on roads and sidewalks can be injurious to paws if not washed off; or animals can lick their paws and become ill from the chemicals.

Cat owners must remember that cats love to be warm and many like to crawl into clothes dryers. Check before loading up the next batch of clothes. Outside cats often crawl under car hoods, to get next to a warm motor. If there are outside cats around, please pound on your car hood and/or honk your horn BEFORE starting the motor.

Pets used to being inside should not be allowed outside for long periods; some may need coats or sweaters for their outings. Outside dogs must be provided with a proper dog house, raised off the ground with bedding and a burlap-type covering in front of the door in order to cut down on drafts. The house must not be too large for the conservation of the animal's heat, the door must not be too wide or located so that the wind and snow can enter. Fresh water must be provided often each day, and food intake increased, to help warm the dog. Each year the Washington County Humane Society sees numerous victims of the elements, either those frozen to death or so far gone that they must be put to sleep. Don't let your pet become a victim of winter due to your carelessness and neglect.

GOODNIGHT ELIZABETH

The following news story was written by Jane Scozzafave, of Mequon, a classmate of R. G. Edwards, M.D., Kewaskum, who is attending classes in Creative Writing at Concordia College:

Daddy, why did Bobby have to die?
When grandma died
You said her body was old
And tired.
Bobby's body wasn't old
And tired.
Bobby was kind of old
But not old like grandma.
And Bobby never got tired.
He never even had to take a map
Like I do.
Daddy, you said grandma got weak.
Bobby didn't.
Bobby was real strong.
He used to pick me up
Way high.
Daddy, you said grandma's work
Was all done.
Bobby's wasn't.
He told me so.
He told me he had some homework to do
And could only play with me
For a while.
Daddy, I miss Bobby.
Why did he have to die?
It is okay to die, Daddy?
I think it's bad to die.
You always tell me
Not to go on the street
Or I'll get hit
By a car
And die.
Daddy, when they put Bobby's body
In the ground
You said it will come alive again
And grow better.
Do you mean
Like the seeds
You put in the garden?
Daddy, if Bobby's body
Is going to come alive
Again
Why did you give away
All his clothes?
Why does everybody say
They're sorry?
Did they do something
Bad, Daddy?
Oh look at that bright star
Up in Heaven
Where Bobby is.
Now he can see
Even at night.
I'm tired, Daddy.
I want to go to sleep now.
I love you, Daddy.
Goodnight.

Commercialization of Christmas Degrades Spiritual Significance

By Joyce Albrecht
Extension Home Economist

Christmas. It's a joyous and much-anticipated time for families to reunite, give gifts and share traditions.

However, some people are concerned that the commercialization of Christmas degrades its spiritual significance. For those who have no families, the emphasis on family celebrations can cause loneliness and depression. Even those surrounded by family feel pressure to live up to an ideal image of Christmas or a parent or child's expectations.

Holidays are enjoyable, but the anticipation of and preparation for them can be overwhelming. All of a sudden they're over and there's a letdown.

Some holiday rituals can get out of hand, such as the number of holiday parties you feel obligated to attend, the number of cards you feel compelled to send, or the obligation to spend the holidays with relatives when you would rather have a quiet Christmas at home.

Rituals are important for families. They build traditions, enhance one's sense of family and provide something to look forward to as well as continuity across generations.

Evaluate your traditions by asking yourself why you continue them. Do you feel pressured or compelled? Are you afraid of letting people down? Don't change traditions you like, but if you're not getting much out of a certain tradition, change it.

This may be especially important for divorced and other non-traditional families who dread Christmas because they try too hard to make it like it used to be. Rather than feel badly, be positive and create your own traditions.

For example, purchase a tree that you can plant later on. With each year of growth, it can be a positive symbol of a new and growing family.

Or try an ethnic tradition, such as the Mexican tradition of making lanterns and lining the sidewalks. Lanterns can be made by pounding designs into a 3 pound coffee can and placing candles in them, or filling paper bags with sand and placing a candle in each.

If you're opposed to the Christmas "orgy of materialism," why not set a money limit on gifts and establish rules for gift giving.

Instead of spending money on material gifts, some families draw names, make things for each other or give gift certificates for things like backrubs or car washes. Families can also spend their money on a holiday away from home.

Parents are often anxious about buying big gifts for their children. Actually, younger kids don't care that much. They may like a bottle of bubbles as much as a $40 doll, or a box of pencils, paper and a rubber stamp more than an expensive game.

De-emphasizing the "gift-giving" aspect of Christmas can help reduce the "crescendo that builds up to Christmas." It usually builds over such a long period that kids get overstimulated. They feel let down when the "big day" actually comes and they don't understand what it all means.

Encourage children to share the holiday spirit by getting involved in community activities. For example, visit elderly neighbors or nursing homes, organize neighborhood potlucks or make something to give to charity. You can also cook a meal for shut-ins or send them cards, or "adopt" a child for the holidays.

Get ideas for new traditions from listening to your children. If kids are old enough, they may be interested in looking at pictures of early family celebrations like stringing cranberries and popcorn.

Or try family storytelling. Young kids view their parents as having lived in an entirely different age. They may enjoy learning about Christmas when their parents were kids.

Instead of having mom handle all the Christmas details, involve kids in Christmas decorating and baking.

Share yourselves with long-distance family and friends by making a conference call or sending family photographs. These ideas may be especially appropriate for young couples who, instead of deciding whose family to spend the holidays with, want to establish their own holiday celebration.

If you're alone during the holidays, treat yourself by going out to dinner, cross country skiing, traveling or organizing a party. Being alone can be fun and rewarding, especially if the alternative is having Christmas with another person's family, which can make you feel even more alone.

Continually evaluate family rituals at Christmas and other times. Rather than clinging to one worn-out tradition, plan traditions you can feel good about for years to come.

Washington County Farmland Preservation Program Provides Tax Relief to Farmers

By Donald C. Kurer,
District Conservationist

The Wisconsin Farmland Preservation Program was enacted to assist local people who want to preserve farmland, and to provide tax relief to farmers who participate. Farmers are eligible for tax credits only if the county in which they farm has adopted a farmland preservation plan and/or exclusive agricultural zoning as in the case of urban countries such as Washington.

Washington County adopted a Farmland Preservation Plan in 1981. This qualified farmers for tax credits only in townships which completed exclusive agricultural zoning. By participating, a township can preserve farmland and keep its "rural character" and at the same time provide their farmers an opportunity for income tax credits.

The townships of Hartford, Kewaskum, Trenton, Richfield and Barton and the Village of Germantown now have exclusive agricultural zoning approved by the Wisconsin Farmland Preservation Board. Therefore, farmers located in these townships and village can take advantage of the Wisconsin Farmland Preservation Tax Credit Program.

Any farm owner in an exclusive ag. zone is eligible for tax credits if the farm is at least 35 acres in size and produces an annual crop valued at $6,000 in the past year or an average of $18,000 over the last three years.

The amount of tax credit can be calculated in two ways; a formula can be used which compares household income with property taxes and pays the highest credit when income is low and property tax is high or the credit amount can be 10% of the current year's property tax (up to a maximum credit of $600) for any participating landowner regardless of income or property tax amount. The method paying the highest credit can be used.

The tax credit or refund is claimed against state income tax. To claim the credit a zoning certificate must be obtained from the county Land Use and Parks Dept. The certificate is then attached to the individual's income tax return along with form F.C. This is an annual program so a farmer is not required to participate every year if he chooses not to.

The Farmland Preservation Program provides that under certain conditions the landowner is responsible for paying back part or all of the tax credits.

The basic payback provisions are: 1. When land is rezoned out of the exclusive agricultural district. 2. The maximum payback tax is the total of tax credits received over the preceding 10 years interest free plus 6% interest from the time of rezoning. 3. Even after land is rezoned out of an exclusive ag. district, the payback tax does not have to be paid until the land is sold or developed. 4. The owner of the land at the time it is rezoned is responsible for paying back the tax credit received by earlier owners. 5. As long as the land remains in the exclusive ag. district there is no payback.

We hope this information answers some questions and misunderstandings about the program. Please contact Jack Trzebiatowski, University Extension at 338-4477 or the Washington County Land Use Dept. (338-4445) as well as the Soil Conservation Service, (334-3706) for more specific and detailed information and assistance.

$12.9 Million Spent for Entertainment Senator Proxmire Gives Golden Fleece of the Month Award

Senator William Proxmire (D-Wis.) Thursday gave his Golden Fleece of the Month Award for December to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) for "acting like Scrooge when cutting domestic spending but making like Santa Claus when it comes to the government's 'wining and dining' money. OMB twiddled its thumbs while 71 different government agencies spent at least $12.9 million for entertainment costs in 1984.

"OMB should be an even-handed Grinch and cut some of this money set aside for entertaining big shots. That is one present the taxpayers would love to find under the tree Christmas morning."

Senator Proxmire is the ranking Democrat on the Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee. He serves on the Appropriations Committee and is a former Chairman of the Joint Economic Committee. He awards a Fleece monthly for the most wasteful, ridiculous, or ironic use of the taxpayers' money.

"Winston Churchill's famous comment about Russia — a riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma — applies to government spending for entertainment. Even the euphemism most often used to describe entertainment — official reception and representation expenses — is buried in appropriations bills and is little more than dressing Santa in a three piece suit.

"On the record, here is how much the federal government spent on entertainment in 1984:

Entertainment Costs ($ millions)
Agency	Amount
White House	$4.6
State Department	4.2
Defense Department	2.8
Other Agencies	1.3
Total	$12.9

"What do these millions buy? Everything from donuts to luxury suites in some of the Nation's most expensive hotels. The money is used to pamper foreign visitors, arms purchasers, Members of Congress, high-level government officials, journalists, and leaders of special interests groups. One thing is constant about this entertainment — the average taxpayer will never be invited.

"I said 'on the record' spending because government agencies have devised a number of disingenuous of disguising entertainment costs. Look at the White House. It has a $50,000 expense allowance for the President, and a $70,000 account for official entertainment expenses. But the largest amount — $4.5 million — is in a little noticed account for operating expenses of the executive residence.

"Most people might think this money was used to pay the light bill or repair the lawn mower. In point of fact, all of it can be used to pay for White House soirees.

"Other agencies have devised similar stratagems. The Defense Department often used an 'emergencies and extraordinary expenses' account, which the Secretary can use pretty much at his discretion, to pay for its 'wining and dining' costs. The Department uses this account to pay for virtually all the expenses of foreign officials who visit this country to purchase arms — hotels, meals, drinks, the whole ball of wax. I suspect that the Department uses this account less because such spending is an emergency or extraordinary expense and more because of the Secretary's free hand in deciding how to spend this money.

"Some agencies even use 'donation' accounts to pay for entertainment. These accounts, established so that citizens could contribute money to support the work of certain agencies, are sometimes used to pay for entertainment. Remember former Secretary of the Interior James Watt's use of the National Park Service's donations to help underwrite cost of a party at the Custis-Lee Mansion.

"Some government spending for entertainment may be needed. Officials should not have to dig into their pockets to pay these costs. But the taxpayer should always know by whom and for what purpose his money is being spent. A corporate controller who tolerated the arrangements which OMB winks at would find himself out on his ear.

"Will OMB recommend cuts in this spending? Don't hold your breath because at the meeting where budget cuts are discussed, the refreshments are probably paid for with this money. What rash budget cutter is going to suggest substituting a peanut butter cracker for a delicious pate.

"For tolerating this arrangement, even benefitting from it, OMB richly deserves this month's Fleece. May Santa leave a long, limber switch in OMB's Christmas stocking."

DRINKING AND DRIVING

This holiday season as we get together with family and friends let's be very mindful of drinking and driving. It is estimated that there is only one arrest for every 500 to 2,000 drunk drivers on the road. Here are more sobering statistics:

-An average drunk driver arrested on the highway has a .20 Blood Alcohol Content (BAC), level, double the level for presumed intoxication in most states; that's 15 drinks of 86 proof in 4 hours for a 180 lb. man or 11 beers in 4 hours.

-Between 7 p.m. and 3 a.m. on weekends, 10 percent of all drivers are legally impaired or drunk, in some parts of the country.

-Most Americans drink. Over 80 percent admit to driving after drinking.

-Relatively few problem drinkers, about 7 percent of the driving population, account for over 66 percent of all alcohol related fatal crashes.

-When drinkers are at the presumed level of intoxication, the risk of causing an accident is six times greater than for non-drinking drivers.

-Although persons between 16 and 24 years old comprise only 20 percent of the total licensed population and 20 percent of the total vehicle miles travelled in this country by all-aged licensed drivers, they cause 42 percent of all fatal alcohol-related crashes.

-According to a recent All-state Insurance Company study, drunk drivers are estimated to cost American taxpayers $21-24 billion dollars a year.

Increased efforts to keep the drunk driver off the road in recent years have had a degree of success. Many states, including Wisconsin have raised the drinking age, toughened enforcement, implemented stricter sentencing and so on. The extent to which these types of things have helped is reflected in figures that show arrests for drunk driving have increased from 561,000 in 1969, to 1.3 million in 1981. Hopefully, this will help dispel the notion, "I won't get caught."

If all the above mentioned figures don't give you a scare, you've got a problem. Let's all be extra careful not to drink too much as we attend the various New Years parties. In addition, remember to drive defensively and wear your seat belt. Don't let a tragedy, which does not have to occur, mar your holidays.

Sensenbrenner Announces County Nominations to Academies

Rep. F. James Sensenbrenner, Jr. (R-Wisconsin) has announced his nominations to the United States Service Academies for the entering class of 1985. In Washington County, Douglas Datka and Michael Hornitschek were nominated as competing alternates to the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, and Timothy Wiedmeyer was selected as a competing alternate to the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Douglas Datka, a 1985 graduate of Washington High School in Germantown, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Datka, N100 W15233 Mars Court, Germantown.

Michael Hornitschek is a 1985 graduate of Hartford Union High School and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Josef Hornitschek, 5751 Hilldale Drive, Hartford.

Timothy Wiedmeyer, a 1985 graduate of Slinger High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wiedmeyer, 5341 Highway 60, Slinger.

Sensenbrenner said "the young people selected this year have extra-ordinary academic records and a broad range of interests, pursuits, extra-curricular activities and athletic achievements. They all have the potential to win appointment to the academies and the promise that marks outstanding military careers. This year's selection process was particularly difficult because of the high caliber of so many applicants."

Because of the large number of high qualified applicants, Sensenbrenner used the "competitive" method of nomination, selecting ten candidates for each vacancy that he is entitled to fill and allowing the individual academies to select the persons best qualified from among the list. All recommendations for nomination were made by the Ninth District Academy Nomination Selection Committee, a panel of citizens appointed by Sensenbrenner to review and evaluate the applicants.

The selection of nominees is based on a composite of academic factors — school records, junior class rank and SAT scores — and leadership potential, extracurricular activities, athletics, physical fitness and recommendations.

Fourth Annual High School Mini-Day Held At Fond du Lac MPTI

Following the presentation, students were allowed to attend classes, visit shops and labs, and talk to Moraine Park teachers and students for the remainder of the morning. The program's purpose was to allow the high school students an opportunity to find out firsthand what Moraine Park is really like.

High schools in attendance included: Hartford, Campbellsport, Horicon, Dodgeand, Beaver Dam, Winnebago Lutheran Academy, West Bend East, West Bend West, Fond du Lac Goodrich, Mayville, Slinger, Hustisford, and Lomira.

Campus Notes

A total of 51 students from this area have been included in the 18th annual edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS, 1983-84.

WHO'S WHO, published by Educational Communications, Inc., Lake Forest, Illinois, is the largest high school recognition publication in the country. Students are selected by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups, churches or by the publishing company based upon students' performance in scholarship award contests or extra-curricular activities.

Final selection is determined on the basis of criteria which include high achievement in academics and leadership in school activities, athletics or community service. Traditionally 99% of WHO's WHO students have a grade point average of "B" or better and 97% are college bound.

The 18th edition of WHO'S WHO, published in nine regional volumes, features 392,000 students, or 6% of the nation's 6,500,000 high school juniors and seniors. They represent 18,000 of the 22,000 public, private and parochial high schools in the country.

WHO'S WHO students also compete for over $50,000 in scholarship awards and participate in the publication's annual opinion poll of teen attitudes. The book is distributed on a complimentary basis to over 15,000 high schools, colleges, universities, and public libraries throughout the country.

Local students selected for this year's volumes are:

ADELL — Pamela M. Krahn, Michael Vetter.

WALKING — THE EXERCISE FOR EVERYONE

You've put on your new exercise outfit, laced up your best pair of sneakers, and you're ready to start your fitness routine — a good long walk.

Yes, I did say walk. Fitness experts are reporting that walking may be the best form of exercise for many people who are interested in increasing their stamina, burning calories and promoting their general health.

Walking is good exercise because there is a very low risk of injury and it is easily accessible for everyone. This doesn't mean, however, that it can be a leisurely stroll. Walking for fitness and possible weight loss requires the participant to consider intensity, duration and frequency. Walking has to be at a quick pace (3 or more miles an hour) for a fair distance and done often.

Along with easy accessibility, the low-risk aspect of walking makes it a popular exercise. Compared to walking, running is more stressful because it requires the entire body to leave the ground and return on one leg with a pressure that is up to six times the normal body weight. In walking, one foot is always on the ground and there is a reduced incidence of shock and jarring to the body.

These aspects, along with the general positive effects walking has on the legs, arms and back make it an ideal exercise even for recovering cardiac patients. Even in bad weather, participants can walk around the outer edge of a shopping mall concourse.

When done properly, walking also can be a great way to lose weight when compared to the more strenuous jogging. A report by the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports stated that walking a mile in 12 minutes consumes almost as many calories as jogging the same distance in eight and a half minutes. A 120 pound person walking three miles an hour four times a week could burn 13 pounds a year without dieting.

Walking as a form of fitness can be undertaken almost by anyone at anytime. Unless you have physical problems or are advised not to participate in strenuous exercise, walking may be the key to getting back in shape. You may want to start by parking your car a little farther from the office in the morning, or walking at lunch or to your next appointment. The key is to pace yourself and, if you're over 35 years old or have a chronic health problem, see a physician who will carefully map out a complete exercise routine for you.

TODAY'S AGRICULTURE

TICKETS FOR TRESPASSING

Effective this fall, trespassers will end up with tickets rather than criminal records. Surprisingly, that's good news for landowners.

Under the new statute, offenders will receive a ticket similar to a traffic citation. The law allows a maximum forfeiture of $1,000, although the actual fine will depend on the situation. Most people will probably pay the fine. If they choose to go to court, they may find judges more likely to let the ticket stand. Those who ignore their tickets will find themselves served with arrest warrants.

According to Jim Christianson of the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, any law enforcement officer can write a ticket. For most landowners, this means calling the sheriff. Conservation wardens cannot write tickets.

The old criminal trespass law did little to deter offenders. Law enforcement agencies were reluctant to seek convictions because the process took so much time. Judges and juries hesitated to throw the book at offenders because convictions resulted in criminal records. Trespassers could be sued under civil trespass rules, but the landowner had to prove damages to collect. It was difficult to prove damage from someone walking across a pasture.

Civil trespass rules haven't changed. Landowners can still sue for damages, or they can report the violation to the law enforcement officers and rely on them to issue a ticket.

Requirements for notices remain the same. You can tell someone not to enter your property either verbally, or by posting two signs, at least 11 inches square, for each 40 acres of land. Once they have been so notified, offenders can be ticketed if they enter with a vehicle, or with intent to catch or kill any bird, animal or fish, or to gather any products of the soil. Land users need your express or implied consent to enter your land for those activities.

The new law should make law enforcement quicker and easier, since no journey through the criminal justice system is involved. It's simpler to write a ticket and collect a forfeiture by mail than to issue an arrest warrant, convict the defendant and impose a punishment.

Part of Social Security Benefits May Be Taxable

Up to half of the Social Security benefits received by people in 1984 may be subject to Federal income tax, but mainly only for those who had substantial income in addition to their benefits, David W. Becker Social Security manager in West Bend, said recently.

In fact, Becker said, we expect that only one person in ten will actually pay any tax on any part of his or her Social Security benefits.

Every person who received or repaid any Social Security benefits in 1984 will receive Form SSA-1099, Social Security Benefit Statement, before the end of January. The form will show the net amount of Social Security benefits received in 1984 and this is the figure a person should use to figure if any of his or her benefits are subject to tax, Becker said.

IRS Notice 703 will be included with Form SSA-1099 and this work sheet can be used to see if any benefits are taxable.

Up to half of a person's benefits may be subject to tax if his or her combined income—taxable income plus non-taxable interest plus one half of the Social Security benefits exceed a base amount. The base amount is:

- $25,000 if a person files as a single taxpayer;
- $32,000 for a married couple filing jointly; or

- $0 for a married person filing a separate return if he or she lived with his or her spouse any part of 1984.

The amount of benefits subject to tax if combined income exceeds the base amount is the smaller of:

- One-half of the amount over the base amount, or
- One-half of the Social Security benefits.

If combined income does not exceed the base amount, no Social Security benefits are subject to tax, Becker said.

People can get the answers to questions about entries on Form SSA-1099 by calling the toll-free 900 telephone number shown on the form. Questions about figuring taxable income or figuring taxes should be directed to the nearest Internal Revenue Service office. The telephone number of the nearest IRS office is shown on the back of Notice 703.

A free publication—Publication 915—explains the entries on Form SSA-1099 and how to figure if benefits are taxable. Free copies can be obtained at any Social Security or IRS office.

The Social Security telephone number is 1-800-242-9946.

Washington County Farmers Install Contour Strips

Growing crops in alternating strips of corn and hay while following the contour of the land significantly reduces soil loss caused by water runoff and helps control water movement across fields. Stripcropping can be used in conjunction with conservation tillage, grassed waterways, terraces and diversions to provide a more effective erosion control system. Farmers installing contour strips this fall in Washington County include: Keith Luft, Fred Wilkens and Charles Spaeth of Farmington townships; Robert Melzer, Neal Strassman, Terry Schaub and Gerald Van Beek of Wayne township; Vince Strupp and John Clark of Hartford township and Rich Wiedmeyer of Richfield township.

Cost sharing requests for all conservation practices listed for the 1985 ACP (Agricultural Conservation Program) are now being accepted. After the December 21 closing date the ASC committee will review all requests filed. Funding will be approved to practices of highest priority first; that is those with the most serious erosion and/or pollution problems.

Details on how the program

works can be found in the ASCS newsletter or by calling the ASCS office at 334-4765. If your thinking about doing some conservation work next spring, and you would like some financial assistance, now is the time to sign up.

NEW FOR THE NEW YEAR: Delicious Bavarian Cream is so easy to prepare that you can make it in minutes for an everyday meal or as the grand finale of a special occasion menu.

Watching the Tournament of Roses Parade and championship football on television has become a New Year's tradition in many homes. Along with this entertainment comes festive food, often the grand finale of the holiday season.

Whatever mealtime events you choose—brunch, casual buffets, a light supper or snacks—your family or guests will welcome Bavarian Cream as the grand finale. The secret of its rich, creamy taste is yogurt in any flavor, any color you like.

Combine the yogurt with just two other ingredients, garnish and serve. So easy to make, Bavarian Cream will add a light, elegant touch to any party from New Year's Day until next New Year's Eve.

Co-Leader New Holstein Thumps Indians, 65-50

By John Harju

New Holstein out-shot and rebounded Kewaskum last Friday night in handing the visiting Indians a painful 65-50 loss. The loss dropped Kewaskum (1-2 in conf. and 3-4 overall) two games behind front running New Holstein and Two Rivers (both 3-0).

"Rebounding and free throws definitely decided the outcome," of last Friday's game later commented KHS coach Perry Koth as he witnessed his Indians shoot a terrible 8 out of 23 free throws, which figures out to a poor 35%. The Huskies, on the other hand, made 17 of 24 free throws (71%).

New Holstein also enjoyed a 36-30 rebound advantage.

Kewaskum was behind by just eight points at halftime, 32-24, thanks mostly to the play of senior guard Brian Ruplinger, who scored 12 of his game-high 17 points in the first half.

In the second half, however, the consistent shooting Huskies gradually wore down Kewaskum before finally winning 65-50. Kewaskum shot 38% from the floor (21-55) while New Holstein was 42% (24-57), on the night.

Following Ruplinger in the scoring department was 6'4" Todd Wiedmeyer with 11 points and Bob Fahr with 8. Ron Theusch led in rebounding with 7.

For the Huskies, Steve Schmitt had 13 points while Rich Lorenz and John Rulseh both added 11. Lorenz also led in rebounding with 10.

The KHS JVs lost by 20 points while the freshmen were beaten by 30 in the preliminary games.

Girls Falter in Second Half, Lose to Plymouth

By John Harju

After staying close through most of the first half, the KHS girls basketball team faltered in the third quarter and ended up losing 48-36 to visiting Plymouth last Thursday night.

A 12-4 scoring advantage in the third period pulled Plymouth comfortably ahead of coach Milt Dickinson's Indians. The loss dropped Kewaskum to 1-2 in conference play and 2-5 overall.

Despite the loss Dickinson felt "we played well," noting that Kewaskum had to contend with a very tall Plymouth squad which featured 6'2" Camie Nonhof, who scored 16 points, and Jenny Patenaude, who added 10.

Kewaskum was led by Jodi Yearling with 10 points. Lisa Fusek had 8 while Sandy Secor chipped in 6.

The KHS JVs lost 33-24. Brenda Vetter and Lisa Schneider paced coach Keith Amundson's sophs with 8 and 7 points, respectively.

The freshmen (3-1 and 5-2) lost as well, 42-32. Brenda Theusch had 16 points.

Kewaskum — Bastian 1-0-4, Fusek 2-0-5, Frabthen 0-0-1, Kober 0-0-2, Prescott 0-2-0,

In other EWC action, 6'6" Todd Eisner, after missing the last two weeks with an ankle injury, came back with a 38 point effort to lead Chilton to a 60-55 victory over Sheboygan Falls.

Kiel's defense caused 30 turnovers, while Darrell Reisterer scored 22 points as the Raiders defeated Plymouth, 76-63.

Plymouth, now 1-2 in conference play, will be Kewaskum's next opponent on Jan. 4th in Plymouth.

Indian JVs Last in Mat Invitational

The Kewaskum Indians finished in last place with 26.5 points in the 10-team Sheboygan Falls JV Invitational. Sheboygan North won the meet with 163 points.

Indian sophomore Daryl Landvatter took second in the 132-pound weight class. He had been a perfect 9-0 at 132, losing only one match against a 138-pounder from Cedar Grove previously. He went into the championship match before losing a decision.

Eric Pearson at 119 was the only other Kewaskum wrestler to win a match. He scored a victory in a preliminary.

Gymnastics Team Beaten by West Bend East

By John Harju

A powerful West Bend East gymnastics squad soundly beat Kewaskum, 95.425 to 71.575 last Tuesday in West Bend.

Although coach Sue Paul's young Indians didn't have an individual winner in any event and were even shut out of the top five places in the uneven-bars, many girls continued to show promise.

Sophomore Chris Kirchner had the best performance on the night for Kewaskum as she placed second in the all-around competition (6.075). East's Bodil Kvia, an exchange student from Norway, won the all-around with a 7.725 score. Kirchner also placed fourth in the floor exercise.

Sherri Batzler and Renee Kapp captured fourth and fifth place, respectively, in the balance beam while junior Darlene Luedtke took fifth in the vault as well.

The KHS JVs lost 93.00 to 77.425. Kewaskum was Carrie Batzler with a second in the all-around and vaulting. Dani Rogne placed third in the floor exercise.

Next, the Indians will travel to Waupun on Jan. 8th.
