Will Add Convenience Store

Shefond Oil Taking Over Shortstop Fuels Station

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Bill Lenz and Fred Pieper, owners of Shefond Oil Company, Waucousta, have announced their purchase of the Shortstop Self-Service filling station on Fond du Lac Ave. in Kewaskum.

Lenz said his company will be taking over the station as of Friday, January 18th, when it will open under its new name, "Shefond Self/Serve." Under the purchase agreement, Shefond will retain the station's present employees.

"We'll be completely remodeling the station's exterior as well as the interior which will be expanded and converted into a convenience mart," said Lenz. The remodeling is expected to take three to four weeks during which time the station will remain open for business. Lenz said he hopes customers will bear with them through the inconveniences. "We're sure customers will be pleased with the station when it is completed," he noted.

The station will handle Citgo products. Lenz said his company decided to go with Citgo for two reasons, first, they are very competitive with other companies, and second, they do not charge for credit cards. And, he said, "we'll be strongly promoting the credit cards."

Lenz said once the convenience store is open, hours at the station will be extended.

Shefond Oil also has stations in Campbellsport and Theresa. The Shortstop property was purchased from Ron Herbst of Three Lakes.

Remodeling work will be done by Heberer Brothers Construction of Kewaskum.

24 Sites Offered for Consideration

Cedar Lake Home Studying New Site Offers for Retirement Village

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

While the Town of Wayne voted its opposition to a proposed Cedar Lake Home retirement village last spring, their feelings apparently are not shared by many surrounding communities.

In a conversation with Cedar Lake Home Administrator Rev. Louis C. Riesch Tuesday, he stated twenty-four sites throughout the area have been offered for consideration as the possible location for a 144 apartment retirement development.

Riesch stated the home has been offered thirteen sites in the City of West Bend, three in Slinger, three in Allenton, one in Newburg, one and possibly more in Germantown, and three in the City of Hartford.

Riesch said representatives of the home would be going to the City of Hartford to investigate those sites on Thursday. He also said that because Cedar Lake had received substantial written offers, there would be a special meeting held Friday to discuss the plan.

Cedar Lake's directors had asked the home's administrators to once again investigate potential sites. The original plan was considered dead after the home lost a battle with Town of Wayne residents to develop a satellite retirement village on farmland owned by Riesch within the township.

The present plan, a scaled down version of the satellite village, calls for a three-story apartment building with 144 units, housing approximately 230 residents.

The plan also includes a "lead building" which would house wellness and recreation programs.

Riesch hopes a decision is made shortly so construction could begin, possibly as soon as April.

No Increase in Water Rates

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Although Monday night's Village Board meeting was fairly short, it produced some good news for village residents.

After reviewing balance sheets for the various departments, Village Administrator Dan Schmidt asked for board approval to withdraw a Public Service Commission request for a proposed water rate hike in 1985.

Schmidt told the board that the Water Department's financial status, along with the Water Pollution Control Department, was in good shape. He felt that, because of the Water Department's improved year-end financial picture, due to a slight increase in revenues and decrease in expenditures, the department would break even without having to raise rates this year.

Schmidt also indicated projections for the Water Pollution Control Department in 1985 are good too.

In other action, the Board approved the application of Gary Bickelhaupt for a Class 'B' liquor license for 1310 Riverview Drive. Last known as the Chapparel, the tavern's new name will be the Riverview Inn.

The board also approved the sale, through sealed bids, of the Police Department's 1983 squad.

Village Ordinance 84-6, governing snowmobile curfews, was amended in accordance with board action taken last month.

The board also approved a payment agreement between the village and Ted Meilahn for sanitary sewer and water lateral construction related to the Rose-land water loop. The construction costs of $31,000 will be paid over the next five years.

President Gerald Stollenwerk issued a proclamation declaring next week as AFS week.

The meeting then adjourned.

GOEDEN TO ATTEND STATE SCHOOL BOARD CONVENTION

The theme of this year's Wisconsin Association of School Board's Annual Convention is "Public Education Is Everyone's Responsibility." The Annual Convention will be held on January 16-18 in Milwaukee. The School District of Kewaskum's delegate will be Mrs. Jean Goeden, while Mr. Tom Brigham is the alternate. This is the 64th Annual Convention.

AFS Chapter to Celebrate Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

The Lake Moraine chapter of the American Field Service (AFS) will be celebrating its 25th anniversary at its annual meeting to be held Saturday, January 19th, at Kewaskum Community High School, beginning at 9:00 a.m.

All chapter members, AFS students, host families, returnees, school club members, school officials, and anyone interested in AFS, are cordially invited to attend. Registration, which will begin at 9:00 a.m. that day, is $2.00 per family or $1.00 per person.

Following various informative workshops designed to show all aspects of the AFS, a luncheon will be served beginning at 12 noon. Cost for the luncheon is $2.75 for adults and $2.00 for children 8 and under.

Advanced reservations should be sent with names of persons attending to Susan Schmitz, P.O. Box 424, Kewaskum, WI 53040, no later than January 12th. Please include payment for lunch and/or registration with your reservation.

Scheduled to speak at the meeting is Edgardo Carranza, a former AFS student from El Salvador to Kewaskum in 1978.

Participating schools represented at the meeting include Sheboygan North and South, Howards Grove, Elkhart Lake, Plymouth, Sheboygan Falls and Kewaskum.

Salem U.C.C. Has New Pastor

Rev. Milton Staskal

The Rev. Milton Staskal has been called to serve Salem United Church of Christ at Wayne as their part-time pastor. He began on January 1 to serve the congregation located on the corner of Highway H and W about 6 miles west of Kewaskum.

Prior to accepting the call to Salem UCC, he served for 5½ years as part-time pastor at St. Jacobi Congregational Church at Richfield. Previous pastorates included St. John's UCC, Germantown; Peace UCC, Kewaskum, and First Congregational UCC in New London.

Mr. Staskal works full-time for Creative Marketing of America, Inc in Slinger. Pastor Staskal and his family will continue to reside in West Bend.

Caucus Selects Town of Kewaskum Candidates

Fifteen residents attended Saturday's caucus to select candidates for the Town of Kewaskum's spring election.

The positions of town chairman, clerk, treasurer, and two supervisors expire in April.

Incumbent Chairman George Allmann is running unopposed in his bid for another term. Incumbent Clerk Barbara Hinz and incumbent Treasurer Dolores Prost are also seeking re-election and have no opposition for their offices.

The only race on the town board faces incumbent supervisors Dan Stoffel and Jerome Herriges. They will be competing against David Dorn for their jobs. Hinz said two other individuals were nominated for supervisor, however, the nominations died due to the lack of a second for the motion.

4th Candidate Enters School Board Race

By the close of the January 2nd filing deadline, four candidates returned their papers in the Kewaskum School Board election.

Along with incumbents Ralph Horner and John Spoerl, two newcomers have thrown their hats in the ring. They are Ronald Theusch and the newest candidate, Perry Ankeron.

Ankeron resides at 7671 Highway WW, West Bend. He is employed by Seitz Manufacturing of Milwaukee. Ankeron is married and has three children attending school at Wayne Elementary School.

With the addition of Ankeron's name to the April 2nd ballot there will be four candidates vying for the two seats which will be open with the expiration of Horner and Spoerl's terms on the board.

Stitt, Sensenbrenner Town Hall Meeting

State Senator Donald K. Stitt (R-Port Washington) will be holding a Town Hall Meeting with Congressman Jim Sensenbrenner on Sunday, January 13th, from 1:00 to 3:00 in the afternoon at the West Bend Marine Bank.

"I hope many people in the area take a few minutes to stop by to discuss issues of mutual concern," Stitt said. In continuation, he said, he found local input particularly valuable just prior to a new Legislative Session when there was plenty of time to have bills prepared for introduction.

The country that drinks the most beer is said to be Czechoslovakia.

26 Fire, 152 Rescue Squad Calls in 1984

Chief Augie Bilgo reported that during 1984 the Kewaskum Fire Department answered a total of 26 fire calls.

The department had nine calls in the Village of Kewaskum, eight in the Town of Kewaskum, seven in the Town of Auburn, and two mutual aid fire calls.

The firemen's rescue squad had 152 ambulance calls during the year, on which the ambulance covered 3,270 miles. The rescue calls were up from 1983, when 126 calls were made.

The yearly inspection report shows that in the Village of Kewaskum 110 inspections were made with 57 violations; Town of Kewaskum, 16 inspections with 12 violations; Town of Auburn, 26 inspections with 13 violations.

John Kudek, lieutenant in charge of inspections, would appreciate the cooperation of business places in correcting the violations. Inspections must be made semi-annually in order for the fire department to receive their 2% fire tax.

AFS Chapter Seeks Families To Host Foreign Students

Does this sound like a good description of your home?

"My kids argue constantly, the house is not very clean most of the time, and everyone seems to be going in twenty different directions!"

That could be translated like this:

"My family loves diversity, and we're an easy-going bunch that likes to be active and involved!"

If either of these descriptions fits your family, you may very well be missing out on one of the most exciting and fulfilling activities you could all share together. Hosting an AFS foreign exchange student doesn't mean that your house has to be clean all the time or that your children can never disagree. It doesn't mean someone has to be home all the time. Hosting an AFS foreign student does mean a new view of the world for you and your children, as well as understanding, tolerance, and excitement! Remember, every experience is a new one for a foreign student.

Tired of thinking up new ideas for meals? Your AFS student will be happy to share a recipe with you! Do you like to meet new people? AFS volunteers and host families are the friendliest, most positive-thinking people around! They're always there to help when you need it. Volunteers in our community help to provide transportation to AFS events and invite the foreign students to accompany them on outings or perhaps for an evening in their homes.

If you're thinking about hosting but have questions, call us today. If you're excited about AFS and can't wait host, call us sooner! Call 626-4808 or 692-9523. We need you!

The AFS chapter reminds community groups to arrange to have the AFS student speak as early as possible. Our student this year is Rosi Cano, from Honduras. Please call 626-4172 to schedule a date.

Foreign Exchange Students to Speak At Peace Church

Peace U.C.C. will have a Potluck Supper on Sunday night, January 13, at 6:00 o'clock in the church Fellowship Hall. Four exchange students who are attending Kewaskum High School will speak.

The AFS students are Rosie Cano, from Honduras, who is living with the Ronald and Janet Landvatter family; Denise Lustig returned from a stay in Bolivia; Martin Selchert is a YFU student from Germany, living with the Robert and Karen Belger family; Alicia Vega, a YES student from Mexico, lives with the Tom and Carol Radmann family.

The program will include some slides and there will be time for questions or comments at the conclusion of the evening.

Lower Rates Authorized for Electric Company Customers

Lower electric rates for the second consecutive year have been authorized for customers of Wisconsin Electric Power Co.

Wisconsin Electric customers will see a reduction of $26.5 million, or 2.6 percent, for 1985 as a result of rates set Jan. 3 by the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin. While the percentage decrease will vary among customer classes, the change means a typical residential customer will pay about $4.50 less a year in base rates.

In 1984 the company requested, and received, a reduction of $19.1 million, or about 2 percent, and followed that last August with a 1985 rate decrease request.

"We're very happy to be able to reduce the price of electricity for our 800,000 Wisconsin customers two years in a row," said WE Chairman Charles McNeer. "I don't know of any other electric company in the nation that could reduce rates twice in two years while performing extremely well for stockholders, too."

McNeer credited the company's ability to control peak demand and hold down construction costs, and company-wide cost-cutting efforts for making the rate reductions possible. Increased sales due to

Panzer Appointed to Assembly Committee

MADISON. . . Representative Mary Panzer (R-West Bend), was recently appointed to a position on the powerful Joint Committee on Finance by Representative Tommy Thompson, Republican Floor Leader. Representative Thompson, in making this appointment, stated that "Mary Panzer will be an excellent addition to the Joint Committee on Finance. She is a veteran legislator in her own right, and her father, Frank Panzer, was President Pro Tempore of the Wisconsin Senate for many years, so she thoroughly understands the process of government."

The Joint Committee on Finance plays a crucial role in the shaping of the state's biennial budget. This is the first committee to receive and study the Governor's budget proposals. Only after careful scrutiny and compromise does the Joint Committee on Finance then make their own recommendations to the full Legislature for debate. Representative Panzer stated, "the professional experience that I gained in the field of Finance, coupled with my previous varied committee assignments will aid me tremendously in the work that this committee requires. I respectfully welcome the challenge and responsibility inherent in being appointed a member of the Joint Committee on Finance."

The sixteen member Joint Committee on Finance consists of eleven Democrats and five Republicans. The Democratic majority in both the State Assembly and the State Senate, in addition to a Democrat Governor, requires that minority party legislators be able to work with majority party legislators to be effective. Representative Thompson, in selecting Representative Panzer

The "hide in the closet" approach to curing cancer.

Ever have something go wrong with you and say, "Oh my God, it must be cancer."? Then, because you don't want to have a doctor tell you you're right, you ignore the symptom and hope it goes away. This is called the "Hide in the Closet" approach to curing cancer. To date, it has an effective cure rate of zero. Now there is a way to get quick, confidential answers to your cancer questions. It's the Cancer Information Service, a toll-free number that connects the caller to a trained volunteer who can answer questions about cancer. Through the Cancer Information Service you can learn about cancer's causes and treatment. You can even learn to recognize symptoms you have that could be related to cancer.

Why is this important? Because in America this year, 690,000 people will develop cancer. Over half could be cured if the disease is treated in its early stages. So when you have a question about cancer — any question — call the Cancer Information Service. It's an important way to keep in touch with life.

People to Get Statement Of Social Security Benefits

Every person who received or repaid any Social Security benefits during 1984 will receive a Form SSA-1099, Social Security Benefit Statement, during January, 1985, David W. Becker, Social Security manager in West Bend, said recently.

Form SSA-1099 will show the amount of Social Security benefits the person received during 1984. Form SSA-1099 should be used just as any other form 1099 received from a financial institution should be used when the person completes his or her Federal income tax return for 1984, Becker said.

Starting with Social Security benefits paid in 1984, people who have substantial other income may have to include up to half of their Social Security benefits in their taxable income.

Included with Form SSA-1099 will be IRS Notice 703. This is a worksheet that people can complete to see if any of their Social Security benefits may be subject to Federal income tax.

People who still have questions about the information shown on Form SSA-1099 after they read the explanation on the form itself can call the toll-free telephone number shown on the form. People who have questions about tax liability or figuring income tax should call the nearest office of the Internal Revenue Service at the number shown on the back of IRS Notice 703 if they cannot find the answer in IRS publications.

A free publication—Publication 915—contains a detailed explanation of the entries on Form SSA-1099 and explains about taxability of benefits. Free copies are available at any Social Security or IRS office.

The Social Security telephone number is 1-800-242-9946.

Dear Editor:

The Kewaskum High School Student Government would like to thank the people of the Kewaskum area who made our December food drive a success. The generosity of the people of Kewaskum was evident, as over 500 non-perishable food items were collected. Residents of the area contributed at area stores and high school students brought hundreds of items to school. These food items were distributed to those in need over the holiday season. The support of all who contributed is very much appreciated!

Volunteer Helpers Needed for Eastern Wisconsin Music Festival Here

February 23, 1985, marks a big day in the music schedule of Kewaskum High School. On that day our school will host the Eastern Wisconsin Music Conference. Over 700 students from Chilton, Kiel, Sheboygan Falls, New Holstein, Plymouth and of course, Kewaskum, will be here to compete in the solo and ensemble festival.

In order to make this event a successful and exciting experience for our students, we will need many volunteer helpers to act as room chairpeople, office workers, room monitors, kitchen help and general adult supervision throughout the day. It is advisable to have people help for at least a period of a half-day, but if you can spare a couple of hours in the morning or afternoon it will be greatly appreciated.

Please sign the form below and return it to me personally or with your child to the high school. I will be setting up the schedule by the first of February, so I would appreciate your response by the latter part of January.

Your cooperation will help make this event most successful.

Sincerely,

Larry Ammel
Band Director
Kewaskum High School

P.S. We will also be hosting the large group festival on March 9th and will be asking for help for that day also.

As of Saturday, January 2, Bryon "Barney" Bunkelman, Kewaskum, who has been employed by Miller's for many years as their floor covering mechanic, took over the complete hard surface floor covering business. The new firm, to be known as Bunkelman's Floor Covering, is setting up business in the Marlin Schneider building on Hwy. 45 in Kewaskum, where Main Street and Fond du Lac Avenue meet. Byron is well known in this area as a first class floor covering mechanic. He will also carry ceramic and plastic wall tile, formica for counter and cupboard tops, also various types of floor tile.

The Wigwam Drive-In on south Fond du Lac Avenue, operated by Dick Edwards, is to be replaced. The old building on the premises has already been torn down and work has begun on a new one-story structure. The new building will be 36 feet by 46 feet in size and will have a canopy toward the street to cover 14 autos. Inside service will be an added feature so that the drive-in can serve its customers in comfort the year round. It is expected to have the new drive-in completed in time for the opening of the season in spring.

Surviving are her widower; six children, Mrs. John A. Klinka, the Misses Hyacinth and Caroline of West Bend, Miss Eunice of Detroit, Anna Marie, Cordelia and Venice, at home.

The worst blizzard of the winter struck this section last Monday. A heavy snow fall began on Tuesday afternoon, which turned into a blizzard and raged all night, drifting the snow and all the roads were impassable on Wednesday. Trains were from 2 to 6 hours late and freight trains were abandoned entirely on Wednesday. The snow plow was kept in use all Tuesday night and Wednesday to keep the roads open for passenger trains to move. An extra freight train which left here for the north Tuesday at 7 p.m. was stalled between here and Campbellsport and could not clear the block until 3 a.m. when they were assisted by the engine on the snow plow. Rural carriers were unable to get over their routes on Wednesday. The blizzard was followed by the coldest night of this winter, when on Thursday morning the mercury dropped to 12 below zero.

The Misses Adela Gottsleben, Lilly Schlosser, Lorinda Guth, Edna Altenhofen, and the Messrs. Byron Rosenheimer, John Schaefer and Alvin Gottsleben enjoyed a sleigh ride to Andrew Straub's place in Ashford New Year's Day.

Beginning with next Tuesday the local stores will close at 6 p.m. on every Tuesday and Thursday.

Schaefer and Schultz received their new bar furniture last Monday and had the same set up this week.

Henry Garbisch commenced to put up his ice supply for the season last Monday.

PESTICIDE APPLICATOR CERTIFICATION PROGRAM

The Washington and Ozaukee County Cooperative Extension Service offices are jointly offering a Pesticide Applicator Certification Program. The program will be held on Monday, January 21, at 9:00 a.m. at the Ozaukee County Courthouse in Port Washington.

This program is for private applicators that wish to purchase and use restricted use pesticides. Private applicators are defined as those individuals that apply pesticides on land that is either owned or rented by themselves and on agricultural crops.

The Pesticide Applicator Certification Program was started in 1977, and requires that all users of restricted use pesticides must be certified in order to purchase and use these products. The certification is good for a period of five years, and after that time recertification is required.

This Pesticide Applicator Certification Program will meet the needs of those individuals being certified for the first time or individuals being recertified.

Individuals planning on participating in the program must register in advance by Thursday, January 17, with the Washington County Cooperative Extension Service at 338-4477, 644-5204 or 342-2929. The cost of registration is $20.00, which includes the cost of training materials picked up at the Extension office and the noon meal. There is an additional charge if materials are mailed in advance.

This will be the only private applicator certification session scheduled in either Washington or Ozaukee County in the spring of 1985.

SNO FUN TO GET HURT

By Kandi Veal
4-H and Youth Agent

Snowmobiling is a relatively new field of recreation. In 1961 there were fewer than 1,000 snowmobiles. Within ten years that jumped to nearly one million.

Snowmobiling can be fun for the entire family...but it also can be dangerous. A recent Minnesota study showed that one of every 25 snowmobile drivers is injured in an accident.

The basic hazards are:
-collisions with other motor vehicles.

-hitting objects such as fences, cables, wires, parked cars, and trees especially in darkness or when visibility is poor.

-loss of control caused by excessive speed, reckless driving or the operator's in-experiences.

-venturing out onto thin ice. Many snowmobiling hazards involve some degree of driver inadequacy - inexperience, carelessness or poor judgement. One fact cannot be overstressed: A snowmobile is only as safe as its driver!!

THE SMALL BUSINESSMAN

What do air conditioners, artificial heart valves, computers and zippers have in common? All these items, and hundreds of others that we use every day, were developed by small business. In fact, the Small Business Administration says that our small businesses are 2½ times more likely to develop innovative new items than large firms. And just as small businesses have led the way in entrepreneurship, so have they led the economic recovery over the last few years.

Even during the recession, small businesses were producing new jobs — 2.6 million of them in 1981-82. That compares with a net loss of 1.6 million jobs by big business in the same period.

Given those figures, it should come as no surprise that our small businesses were in large part responsible for the strong recovery. The U.S. registered a record number of new business incorporations in 1983, as some 600,000 new enterprises were formed. And while these new businesses were gearing up in record numbers, fewer were folding. Bankruptcies declined by 14.7% in 1983. In the second half of 1983 along, they fell 30% from the same period in 1982.

Why do small businesses seem to create jobs in good times and bad alike? It's a reflection of the sector's ability to change with the times and develop innovative technology. Also, since most small business owners file under personal — not corporate — tax rates, the Reagan Administration's 25% reduction in personal income taxes has been crucial to small business development. Likewise, the reductions in the rate of inflation and interest rates have helped immeasurably, as has the easing of burdensome and unnecessary federal regulation.

The small businessman deserves our applause. As Ronald Reagan said recently, "The dream of America is much more than who we are or what we do; the dream is what we will be." This dream is carried out everyday by small businessmen all across America, because the small businessman realizes we can do anything when we set our minds to it.

State Patrol To Expand Truck Inspection

Whether truck drivers are qualified and their trucks are safe will be the emphasis of a pilot heavy truck inspection program by the Wisconsin State Patrol during the next year.

A team of six State Patrol inspectors will be trained to conduct roadside inspections on heavily-traveled highways, according to Howard Goetsch, deputy administrator of the Transportation Department's Division of State Patrol.

The pilot program will be financed by a $253,000 grant from the Federal Highway Administration.

The inspectors will check whether drivers are properly licensed, whether they are properly logging their driving hours and miles, whether their trucks have the correct registration, permits and safety equipment, and whether trucks carrying hazardous materials are properly loaded and identified, said Goetsch.

"Presuming that the pilot program will provide heavy truck data and measurable results, we expect to expand the inspection program with increased federal funds in 1986 and beyond," Goetsch added.

More than 5,600 trucks will be inspected during the first year. The inspections require about an hour each.

Starting Dec. 10, inspectors and their supervisors will receive two weeks of specialized training in conducting the truck inspections and enforcing hazardous materials transportation regulations.

The State Patrol estimates nearly 700,000 trucks use Wisconsin highways each year. Of the 192,322 vehicles involved in Wisconsin accidents last year, 31,235 — or about 16 percent — were trucks. Nearly 24,000 were utility or pickup trucks or vans.

Trucks were involved in 212 fatal and 9,113 injury crashes last year.

Wisconsin has not had a formal comprehensive truck inspection program in the past. The State Patrol has 52 inspectors who operate 25 permanent scales as well as weigh trucks at portable scales throughout the state. In addition to identifying overloaded or oversized trucks, the inspectors check for proper licensing and registration, insurance and permit requirements, driver licensing and equipment violations such as turn signals, brake lights, headlights and mud flaps.

During 1983, inspectors weighed 1,400,657 trucks and found 26,243 violations — 12,373 for overloading or over-size and 13,870 for other violations.

State Patrol Inspector Lyle Walheim predicted increased enforcement of both driver and truck requirements would produce "quite dramatic" results, most notably reduced accidents and improved compliance with safety regulations by motor carriers.

KIDS DESCEND ON THE CAPITAL

It's the time of year when more than 21,000 high school students and teachers take Washington, D.C., by storm. The kids will be taking part in a unique government studies program called Close Up. Using grants from R.J. Reynolds Industries, the kids will come to the capital for a week to take part in seminars and question and answer sessions with political leaders. They'll leave behind some Washington insiders surprised by the tough questions the students pose.

Steve Janger, president of the Close Up Foundation, says that the students quickly dispel the notion that their questions to legislators and other Washington insiders will be easy. Janger says the students are not afraid to ask for very specific answers to their questions.

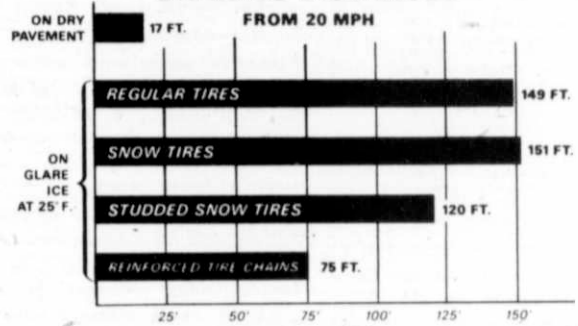

"Sometimes," Janger says, "the kids ask questions that adults would love to come right out and say, if they had the nerve." ▲

CAN YOU STOP IN TIME?

In the above scene at the National Safety Council's test project at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, stopping distance tests are being conducted using a front-drive vehicle. The trailing fifth wheel is used to provide an accurate measure of speed and distance.

BRAKING DISTANCES

(Tests made with rear drive vehicles)

Pointing up the extreme hazard of driving on glare ice, these tests show that stopping on glare ice may take as much as nine times the normal, dry pavement distance. The tests also disclose that conventional snow tires are of no help in stopping on ice, while studded tires reduce braking distance by 19%, and reinforced tire chains by 50%.

ONE PONY RIDE WITH GOD AT THE HELM

Kewaskum Statesman, Page 16
Friday, Jan. 11, 1985

The following news story was written by R. G. Edwards, M.D., Kewaskum, who is attending classes in Creative Writing at Concordia College:

My father was transferred to Fedora, South Dakota in the fall of 1915 by the congregational board of supervisors. It was their custom, with my father at least, to send their better ministers on to a new pastorate every three years, so that the new spiritual Man of God could try to improve the sphere of religion in their community, thereby winning a few more souls for the Lord. Of course the increase in contributions was most desirable too.

Our family consisted of my sister Ruth, the eldest, then my brother Roger who was three years my senior and myself, age ten. In addition my old maid Aunt Maggie came to live with us after my mother had died following an ear infection. (No penicillin in those days).

In this small country parish we were given a fairly new parsonage with four rooms up and four rooms down stairs; no basement and no insulation at all. In fact the room we boys slept in permitted snow to filter in through the roof boards. Heat was furnished by one large hard coal base burner with isinglass windows on three sides - a pretty sight when glowing at full blast.

Roger and I attended the one room school located two and a half miles distant; one mile north and one and a half miles due west. In South Dakota all roads and fences run on straight lines as there are no hills, lakes or woods to require a curve in the road. My sister attended high school at Carthage 9 miles distant. She lived with a family where she could earn her keep by helping the housewife with cleaning and general housework. We boys drove a spirited pony which pulled a buggy or a sleigh after the snow came.

On our home property we had a small barn with a hay mow above. There were two stalls for horses and space for two cows. Also a lean-to shed was placed on the east side for poultry to be housed. Next in line was our out-house as there was no inside plumbing any where in those days. However, we did have running water. An Artesian well had been drilled the first winter we lived there and the water flowed out of the ground through a pipe constantly ever after; it is probably still flowing now, 68 years later. At school there was only a flat top shed with three stalls. Hay and oats had to be brought each day while water was pumped from the well near the school's front door and carried to the horse by the pailful.

A one room school house has one teacher who handles eight grades if need be, however, as a rule, there is seldom more than six needed. If the teacher has ordinary talent and mediocre discipline none of his or her pupils will learn much on account of noise and lack of organization. This was my experience in grades five and six but for grades seven and eight I had an excellent lady teacher who kept strict discipline and also had all her classes recite their lessons in rotation all day long. Actually we older students could review the lessons of a former year, thereby old facts were heard repeatedly. Many people condemn the one room school house with six or more classes reciting lessons, but I know that a good dedicated teacher, who uses his/her talents well, helped me very much to create within myself a desire for higher education. Most of our teachers lack this ability to produce motivation in the minds of their students, at least not the enduring desires to forge ahead.

On this day early in December Roger and I were ready for school at 7:30 a.m. in our cutter with Teddy, our pony's name, raring to get started. He was such a well behaved pony, always as peppy as a three year old at his age of fifteen. Our cold peanut butter and jelly sandwiches were packed in a cloth sack, occasionally an apple or a banana but never an orange. Dad said they were too costly. Off we went gliding noiselessly over the well packed six inch snowfall. We observed the sky to be sullenly overcast with dark foreboding clouds swirling erratically over head. The temperature was 30 degrees F, just right to produce snow.

At the school shed I placed plenty hay and oats in the manger so Teddy could eat his fill before resting a few hours. Roger carried a full pail of water to the manger.

The morning hours passed swiftly and then it began to snow during our lunch hour. Large goose feathery flakes at first, but soon the wind changed to the northwest and the temperatures plummeted to zero. We were in for a real blizzard, the kind that causes so many deaths because so much snow comes with strong severe winds and such cold that one cannot see where he is - actually one cannot visualize his own hand held five inches before his eyes.

Our teacher wisely ordered all children to head for home at once. All were walking except Roger and myself as we had the farther most trip to go home. Quickly we hitched Teddy to the cutter but already the snow was over two feet deep and we could barely see the horse before us in the shafts. Roger said, "we must leave the cutter here, you ride Teddy and I will hold on to his tail!" Off went the harness and into the cutter. Up on his back I jumped with Roger grasping his tail with both hands. Away Teddy walked as best as he could through the deep snow. No attempt to try to guide Teddy. He knew the way.

Roger kept talking to let me know he was hanging on and I could hear him well for the wind was at our backs. However, we had to close our eyes to prevent the stinging icy particles from injuring our eyes. Teddy stumbled several times and I would have fallen off had I not been so used to riding him over all kinds of terrain. Once I heard my brother call out to stop. He had been pulled by the horse, like a sled, over the drifts, rolling and sliding with eyes held tightly closed and now he felt that his grip on the pony's tail was slipping off. Had he slipped off for one step he could have been lost as one's sense of direction in a blizzard is never accurate. After a few minutes rest, Roger re-wrapped his hands with the long hair on Teddy's tail, and we moved on.

Walking as best he could Teddy brought us home to our barn door in three hours, real good time we said, with snow, wind and cold so severe. Roger got down extra rations of hay for Teddy and our Jersey cow too, plus extra portions of ground oats for the cow and unground oats for the horse. We wanted to get some water too but we knew we could become lost in the few feet from the well to the barn. After one more check Roger said, "grab the life line and hang on until you have the door knob in your hand." I left first while Roger closed the barn door snugly, then he, too, grabbed the small rope and waded to the house over snow drifts well over six feet deep. Many a person had lost their lives, we had been told, by just going out to the out-house or the barn during these very severe Dakota blizzards.

The wind and snow blew continuously for forty-eight more hours subsiding on the third morning. The sun shone brightly and the temperature was thirty-three degrees below zero. The air was quiet with ice crystals still afloat in the atmosphere. Stepping out on the high drifts of snow was like walking on concrete; no dent was made by Teddy, our pony, or the cow that had been led out of the barn on the snow to the trough by the well. Although the running water never freezes at the Artesian well, it does freeze in large plaques as it drains away down to the creek.

Looking out of our upstairs window toward the east we could not see the large red barn of our neighbor, Joe Stransky, just one fourth of a mile distant. After a big lunch I dressed warmly and took my terrier, Nipper, and began to walk on top of the high drifts to search for our neighbor's barn. Over the hard stone like surface of the drifts my dog and I plodded steadily until we reached the very high drift next to the barn. We looked down at the thirty-five foot high barn from our perch ten feet above and noted that the swirling wind currents had blown all the snow away from the wall of the barn on the west and south sides for a distance of twelve feet. Joe had already gotten his cattle over to the watering tank and now was driving fence posts half way up on the huge drift on which he would place a strand of barbed wire to keep the animals from straying away. A granary located between the barn and house was completely covered by snow where as the house too was piled with twenty foot high drifts but the many trees around it did provide some protection by deflecting the drifting snow away from the building.

After a short visit with Helen, his daughter, who kept house for Joe since his wife had died, Nipper and I returned home over the drifts, enjoying the exhilaration one receives from exercise in the pure fresh air. Helen said this storm was the worst she had ever experienced.

Roger and I returned to school one week after the storm had struck. We made our way as best we could with my brother again holding on to Teddy's tail while I rode and carried the lunch sack at my side with a strap over my opposite shoulder. In those years there were no snow plows, only the sun and the farmers driving large heavy bobsleds pulled by two big heavy horses, gradually beating down the drifts. Autos were usually put on wooden blocks in late October until April first before the roads would again be free of snow drifts so that autos could travel.

The first pinball game machine was the "Whoopee Game," manufactured in 1930 in Chicago.

Tax Seminar for Senior Citizens to Be Held Here Jan. 16

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS FOR BETTER HEALTH

With the start of the new year, many of us firmly resolve to change certain habits in favor of better ones. However, how many times have you drawn up New Year's resolutions only to find them gathering dust on some forgotten shelf?

Mounting evidence clearly shows that the things you do, how you treat yourself, have a direct effect on how healthy you are. Although it is difficult to compute exactly, experts agree that the average person has control over about 70 percent of his or her own health.

Wisconsin physicians have ten resolutions for better health they hope you will follow in 1985. While no one can promise you a longer life, adhering to these resolutions can make you look better and feel better during 1985.

Eat Wisely — Good nutrition is important because it helps you feel good and look good. It gives energy, ensures proper growth and repair of body tissues, prevents "deficiency diseases" and helps make the body resistant to infections. A nutritious daily diet should include these six basics: water, proteins, fats, carbohydrates, minerals and vitamins. Poor eating habits often lead to obesity which is a contributing factor to heart attacks, vascular disease, diabetes and high blood pressure.

Exercise Regularly — A regular exercise program begun under physician's supervision, can have the following health benefits: 1) it improves blood circulation as the body works more efficiently; 2) it helps an individual handle stress; 3) it is good for psychological well-being; 4) it helps relaxation and sleep; 5) along with a proper diet, it can help control weight, and 6) if performed on a regular basis, it may help the body make the best use of fats and sugars (carbohydrates). Lack of exercise is also one risk factor associated with heart disease. It's important that you choose an exercise program which is compatible with your health and physical capabilities. Remember moderation is the key to a successful exercise program.

Drink Moderately — Alcohol abuse has been linked with increased risk of heart disease and diseases of the urinary, respiratory and digestive systems, and cirrhosis of the liver. Alcohol is related to 30 to 40 percent of all routine inpatient hospitalization. Yet all victims of alcoholism aren't alcoholic. A pregnant woman who drinks heavily risks having a child with birth defects. Other innocent victims are those people who are injured or killed in traffic accidents which involve alcohol. If you are concerned about your drinking habits or the habits of a friend or family member, seek help today. Early detection and treatment is the best way to win the fight against alcoholism.

Don't Smoke — Each year more than 30,000 Americans die prematurely from diseases related to smoking, according to the American Medical Association. The smoking of tobacco is strongly associated with heart disease, emphysema, chronic bronchitis and cancers of the bladder, mouth, tongue and throat. Smoking is also associated with increased risk of strokes and other circulatory diseases. If you are one of those people who have been trying to stop smoking but can't, resolve to make 1985 the year you stop smoking. Remember, your health risks start decreasing the minute you rub out that cigarette.

Rest Properly — While experts disagree over the fine points, basically you need enough sleep to make you feel rested and refreshed in the morning. For some people this means eight or nine solid hours of sleep each night. However, many people feel just as refreshed on five or six.

Seek Immunity — Even though the incidence of the major preventable diseases such as polio, pertussis, diphtheria, measles, tetanus, and rubella has declined due to the availability of effective immunizations against these diseases, many people, for one reason or another, fail to see that they and their families are immunized. If you are unsure of the status of your family's immunization record, check with your family physician. Immunization is the easiest, cheapest and simplest method of preventive medicine. Make certain your family is protected.

Use Drugs Wisely — Prescription drugs are responsible for helping people live longer and feel better. However, many patients do not use their medication properly, they take it at the wrong times or in the wrong doses and curtail its effectiveness. Some people also try to "doctor" themselves with over-the-counter drugs or a mish-mash of medication leftovers. Over-the-counter drugs may be helpful in some situations, such as minor illnesses or injuries, but if symptoms persist, a physician should be consulted. Drug addiction and dependency is a big problem in the country with an annual cost to society estimated at $10 billion. Drug addiction and dependency can be cured with the help of professionals and the understanding of friends and relatives.

Be Accident Aware — Home, work and automobile accidents are serious health problems in this country. Use your seat belt when in an automobile, and don't forget to use properly constructed and approved car restraint devices with children. Forethought and planning can prevent many home accidents. Your home has many potential dangers, but planning can make your family much safer. Scrutinize your home carefully and make sure that harmful substances are kept out of a child's reach and stored in safe containers, and that obstructions and faulty home construction is taken care of. Realistically, all accidents cannot be prevented. But the number and severity of accidents can be reduced.

See Your Physician Regularly — It is important that every person has a personal physician. Your personal physician will know your individual health history and your personality and will be better able to treat you with this knowledge. Secondly, it jeopardizes your health to wait to consult your doctor until your condition reaches the critical stage. Most illnesses creep up on you slowly. They do not strike you down without warning. Prompt diagnosis and treatment can lessen the severity and length of many illnesses, cancer and heart diseases included.

Enjoy Life — Having a hobby, participating in a sport or just getting together with friends adds new dimensions to your life. Evidence is mounting that mental health has an effect on one's physical health. Scientists have established a tentative relationship between stress and heart disease and now are working on the connection between stress and conditions such as high blood pressure, asthma, allergies, ulcers, colitis and migraine headaches. In 1985, resolve to find a place in your daily routine for some fun and relaxation.

Yarns of Yesteryear Writing Contest Open to Elderly

Wisconsin residents who remember the hard work, happy times, and challenging experiences of the "olden days" are invited to enter their reminiscences in the twelfth annual YARNS OF YESTERYEAR Contest, which begins January 1, 1985.

Sponsored by the University of Wisconsin-Extension Arts, the Wisconsin Regional Writers Association, and Stanton and Lee Publishers, the contest is open to all Wisconsin residents, age 60 and over. Entries may tell of family, friends, or activities of bygone days or they may be historical stories with a personal slant.

Entries must be postmarked no later than March 1, 1985. Only one manuscript, original and unpublished, may be submitted. It may be typed or neatly handwritten; the word limits are 500 to 1500 words. Since manuscripts will not be returned, contestants are advised to make and keep a personal copy.

Entrants are also asked to prepare a separate cover page with the title of their manuscript, their name, address (including county), telephone number, age, the name and address of their local newspaper, and the number of words in their entry.

Prizes ranging from $25 to $5 will be awarded the top ten winners at the Wisconsin Regional Writers Association Spring Conference in May. Ten memberships in the association and twenty honorable mention certificates will also be awarded. Additional cash awards will be given by Stanton and Lee Publishers for the best entries in the "Winners' Circle," a special competition for those who have previously won contest prizes. The Alice Converse Award of $10 will be given to the oldest contestant submitting an entry.

Judges for the contest will be: Howard Kanetzke, School Publications Editor, Wisconsin State Historical Society; Frank Custer, local history buff and feature writer for several Madison publications; Elizabeth Durbin, former editor of the Ocooch Mountain News and Wisconsin Academy Review; Clarice Dunn, free lance writer and first YARNS OF YESTERYEAR Contest Director; Jeri McCormick, Co-Editor of Heartland Journal; and Mark Lefebvre, Editor-in-Chief of Stanton and Lee Publishers, Inc.

Entries, or requests for further information about the contest may be sent to Gen Lewis, Director, Yarns of YESTERYEAR CONTEST, 610 Langdon, Room 722, Madison, WI 53703.

For ideas and suggestions as to the types of stories to write, contestants may wish to read selections in WE WERE CHILDREN THEN, volumes I and II, the anthologies of previous YARNS OF YESTERYEAR Contest entries, available at bookstores and libraries throughout the state.

These Turtles Are Landlubbers

By George J. Knudsen
White Pine Nature Center
Hayward, WI

They're built like small army tanks, and weight for weight they're much more powerful. I'm referring to ornate box turtles, one of Wisconsin's endangered species. There are only about ten small areas in Wisconsin where these interesting turtles may still be found, and these areas along with turtle numbers are shrinking each year.

The turtle's general shape and size are like half a grapefruit. More specifically, the rotund upper shell with its flared margins remind me of the helmets worn by German soldiers in World War I. The shell is darn near as hard as a combat helmet, too. Ask any fox, dog, or raccoon who's tried to get at ol' turtle's inner works!

The name box turtle fits this animal very well, because the front and rear thirds of the bottom shell are hinged. This allows the turtle to pull in its head, retract its feet, and close its front and rear doors securely, like a locked box. The "box" is closed so tightly and is held shut by such strong muscles it would take great force to squeeze a penny into the seams between the upper and lower shells. I once put my fingers between the closing shells and got a pretty doggone good pinch.

Ornate also describes the turtle nicely. Its tan upper shell is marked by yellow lines radiating from the center of each shell plate or "scale." Its undershell is brown, with helter-skelter yellow lines. The brown head and neck carry many orange-colored spots. Females have tan eyes and males have blood red eyes, making them look like they could use a couple nights of sleep. Maybe the males should stay away from fermented fruits!

Turtles in general are found in the water, but not "boxies." They're genuine landlubbers, and these contrary critters go even further choosing the driest, sandiest, hottest, most arid, desert-like land they can find. There they plod around looking for insects, berries, buds, and flowers to eat. They don't, however, wander about during the scorching mid-day period, rather they rest in the shade of thick clumps of grass, or in sandy burrows they dig as needed.

In the early 1940s, when I discovered some then common box turtles, I took two home for study where I kept them in a big box of clean sand. When I fed them berries, June beetles, and locusts, you should have heard their hard, powerful jaws crunch this food along with hundreds of sand grains. Arggh! This sent shivers through my body. I did more than shiver when I was actually dumb enough to allow one to bite me. Now that really hurt, and the sassface held on like a vice all the while with an "I gotcha" gleam in its eyes!

Both captives would come from distances of six to eight feet to take strawberries and nightcrawlers from my fingers. I don't suppose they found nightcrawlers in their sandy domains, so these juicy morsels must have been gourmet food to them.

I don't think the turtles themselves have many natural enemies, but shunks, raccoons, foxes, and perhaps opossums raise hob with their eggs which are dug easily from the sand "nests." Automobiles account for the loss of a few box turtles every year and there is absolutely no excuse for this. Some are probably taken for pets, or to sell to the pet trade, even though this species is fully protected by law. In the majority of cases the pets are doomed to die from improper care.

The main threat to the ornate box turtle, however, is the taking over of the sandy lands containing box turtle populations by agriculture through the use of modern irrigation techniques. If this continues, the "boxies" will be completely wiped out from Wisconsin. Some of the sand country still holding turtles also supports many other rare animals and plants. It would be great if we could purchase and manage some of these habitats for the security of their inhabitants.

You can help put a lid on the box turtle's demise by donating to the Endangered Resources Fund on your Wisconsin income tax form.

Free Ice Fishing Lake Maps Available

MADISON, WI — Ice Fishermen! No more cutting through a foot of ice to find 6 inches of water underneath. An index of over 2500 Wisconsin Mapped Lakes will help many Ice Fishermen enter the charmed circle of experts.

A lake map is actually a hydrographic chart. So what's a hydrographic chart? A hydrographic chart is simply a high-faluting term for a map showing the various depths of a lake along with other information that is so desirable to have for fishing...such as kind of lake bottom (sand, mud, gravel, etc...)

Suppose you want to fish for perch. You know his feeding habits and at what depths and over what kind of bottom he would be. With a Wisconsin Hydrographic Chart you can see at a glance the general contour of the lake bottom and the exact depth of any given place along with the kind and condition of the bottom.

Indians Start New Year With Loss at Plymouth

By John Harju

Kewaskum dropped to sixth place (1-3) in the EWC as they were defeated in a hard-fought game, 69-59, by host Plymouth (2-2) last Friday night.

Although they lost, KHS coach Perry Koth had reason to be optimistic. "I'm not disappointed in the way we played," he added, "yes, the loss hurt, but we really played like a ball team tonight."

Kewaskum (4-6 overall) did, however, suffer through a first half in which they were out-rebounded 26-9. "That (the rebounding disadvantage) was the game at that point... we just didn't box-out."

After trailing at half, 34-22, Kewaskum finally began to chip away at the Panther lead. Indian guard Tom Herriges put in the last basket of the third quarter to bring Kewaskum within eight points, at 48-40. Two more buckets by Herriges, who ended with 12 points, and another one by Mike Steinhardt cut the lead to only two, but from here Plymouth, with the help of KHS turnovers, quickly jumped back on top 55-48.

Senior guard Brian Ruplinger paced Kewaskum with 17 points. After Herriges, came Steinhardt, Ron Theusch, and Todd Wiedmeyer with 7 points each. Wiedmeyer had 8 rebounds, as well, to lead the KHS board attack.

Plymouth was led by Gary and Troy Fritz, each of whom scored 18 points. Andy Horstman, who currently leads the EWC in steals, added 11.

Kewaskum will next take on 6'6" Todd Eisner (EWC's leading scorer) and the Chilton Tigers (2-2) Friday at home.

Callison and Nowak pinned their respective opponents in 2:49 and 4:41. Staehler, now 3-0 in conference, easily won a 7-0 decision.

Indians Win 2 Championships, Take 5th in Fond du Lac Invite

By John Harju

Bob Callison (126 pounds) and Rich Straub (119) both won individual championships in pacing Kewaskum to a respectable fifth place finish at Saturday's Fond du Lac Wrestling Invitational.

Callison, who is now 11-0 on the season, easily won his first round match, but then received a scare from 1984 state qualifier Joe Nettesheim of Hartford in the semifinals. Callison was leading 4-1 going into the final 40 seconds when the clock malfunctioned and stopped. Before the problem was noticed, however, Nettesheim got ahead 6-4, but under WIAA rules no points can be scored during a "dead time" period, so Callison was given back his 4-1 lead and he then proceeded to hold Nettesheim off and preserve a victory. In the finals, Callison easily won 11-4 over Dean Lewis of Fond du Lac.

Straub, only a sophomore, came into Saturday's tourney with only two wins to his credit, but, none-the-less, fought hard to win over a top seeded opponent in his opener 14-6 and 11-7 in the semi-finals.

In the finals, Straub got behind 4-0 early to Lee Kitts of Fond du Lac, but then suddenly snuck in and pinned Kitts at the 1:43 mark.

Coach John Nell later indicated that he was "very pleased" and happy with the way Straub wrestled indicating that his hard work so far this year has really paid off.

Kewaskum also received a third place from 155-pound John Nowak, and two fourth place finishes from 132-pound Rick Staehler and heavyweight Jeff Diels.

Next, Kewaskum will compete in the Port Washington Invitational on Jan. 12th.
