Long's Resignation Announced

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

In a formal statement released Friday, February 22, lawyers for the Kewaskum School District and District Administrator John Long jointly announced Long's resignation effective June 30, 1985.

The statement issued by the law offices of Quarles and Brady, the School District's representative stated: "John Long, the District Administrator for the School District of Kewaskum, has resigned from his position effective June 30, 1985, but has agreed to provide consulting services to the District on an as-needed basis during the months of July and August, 1985, to assist in the transition to a new administration. The Board thanks Mr. Long for his contributions to the administrative processes and educational programs in the Kewaskum School District during his tenure."

The statement finally ended weeks of speculation and rumors regarding Long's future association with the district.

While the question of whether or not Mr. Long would return next year has been answered, many other questions have not. After hearing Friday's announcement, one prominent village resident, who did not wish to be identified, asked whether the district taxpayers would find out just what caused the events of the past week. He noted that if there were justifiable reasons for the board's actions, the public had a right to know them. "After all, he (Long) and the school board are employed by us," this person stated.

Another question brought up by several other people in discussion over the week-end was the search for a replacement. One woman asked if the school board was going to follow the same procedure of hiring a consultant and spending thousands of dollars in fees to locate candidates for the position. The woman noted that for a school board that is consistently looking for ways to economize and cut the budget, they have spent enough money in consultant and lawyer fees over the past three years to fund many items which were cut from the last two budgets.

When contacted Monday morning, Board President Jean Goeden indicated the School Board has not decided on any specific plan of action to be taken in locating and hiring a new district administrator. The board will be considering a few different plans before making a formal decision.

Police Report Details 1984 Activities

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

A report recently to the Kewaskum Village Board by Police Chief Donald Hlavaty showed a slight overall increase in arrests for 1984 over 1983 figures, from 164 to 176.

Broken down into specific categories, juvenile (under 18) arrests were down from 130 in 1983 to 117 for 1984, a reduction of 10%. Adult arrest went up from 34 in 1983, to 59 in 1984, a jump of almost 75%. Even with the drop in the juvenile arrest rate, it was still double that of adult offenders.

The Chief's report did show a considerable reduction for juvenile thefts from 14 in 1983, to 3 in 1984. Minor liquor law violations also showed a significant drop from 52 in 1983, to 14 in 1984. Disorderly Conduct also dropped from 19 in 1983, to 13 in 1984. The bad news was possession of marijuana arrests jumped 300% from two in 1983, to 8 in 1984. Runaways were also up almost 33%, from 13 in 1983, to 20 in 1984. Curfew violations were up almost 50% from 9 in 1983, to 17 in 1984. While there were no 1983 figures for juvenile sexual assault, there were 12 arrests in 1984.

Statistics in the adult (18 and over) category showed little change in most areas. The biggest changes were, thefts up almost 200% from 3 in 1983, to 8 in 1984, liquor violations up 120% from 5 in 1983, to 12 in 1984. Disorderly Conduct arrests increased from 13, to 16 in 1984. Vandalism dropped from 5 arrests in 1983 to 3 in 1984.

Stolen property was reported at $13,977 for 1983, with 62% of it recovered. In 1984, the stolen property value was $12,827, with a 45% recovery.

The traffic enforcement segment of the report showed increases in all but one area. Traffic citations were up by 55, from 429 in 1983, to 484 in 1984. Traffic warnings went up from 1,862 in 1983 to 1,956 in 1984. Parking warnings more than tripled, from 65 in 1983 to 209 in 1984. Parking Tag violations, however, dropped from 160 in 1983, to 147 in 1984. In 1984, 64 accidents were investigated compared to 61 in 1983.

These figures indicate that for every five traffic warnings issued there was only one citation issued.

In other department functions, officers patrolled 74,952 miles in 1984, compared to

We Need Your Help... Blood Bank Wednesday

On Wednesday, March 6, the Blood Bank will be at the Kewaskum High School from 1:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. No appointments are needed.

A blood transfusion isn't one of those things we need daily... like a couple of meals, a warm bath and eight hours of sleep. But about 400 pints of blood are needed every single day by people in the six counties of Milwaukee, Kenosha, Ozaukee, Racine, Washington and Waukesha.

The only source for blood is people. So far, the Blood

Center's blood supply (donated by volunteer donors) has been able to keep up with patient's needs. However, the need for blood is increasing at a rate of 8 to 10% each year. A major operation can require from 15 to 20 pints and an accident from 1 to 90.

Where does all the blood come from? To get just one pint of blood require a healthy and willing blood donor between the ages of 17 and 66, about 3/4 of an hour's time and a staff of trained nurses and technicians to do the job of processing.

School Enrollments Down

A recent report from the administrative offices shows enrollment for the Kewaskum School District has dropped by 13 students since an official count was taken last September.

The Report indicated the latest count, taken in January, shows the drop from 1,858 students to 1,871, which includes exceptional needs students and seven others attending school outside of the district for special programs.

The high school lost seven, from 735 to 728 students. Four students either moved or dropped out, and three transferred to private schools.

The Middle School went down from 249 to 246, a loss of three pupils. The remaining three students were lost throughout the elementary level schools.

Project enrollment for the 1985-1986 school year is expected to drop still lower to approximately 1,820 students. The decreasing trend is expected to continue for the next four years when the current classes of 168 seniors, 179 juniors, 188 sophomores, and 193 freshmen will have passed through the high school and are replaced by smaller classes moving up from the elementary and middle schools.

Olympics of the Mind is a creative solving competition which involves "hands on" building, developing, and making things in order to solve problems.

Specially selected students from elementary through high school compete in teams of 3-5 students (with two alternates) in three different levels of competition (K-5, 6-8, 9-12). Competitions may be held in class, in schools, between schools, regionally, statewide, or nationally.

The problems lend themselves to divergent solutions, are relatively inexpensive to solve, and can be watched by spectators. There are two types of problems: Long Term Problems and Spontaneous Problems.

Once selected for the teams, the students are trained in brainstorming techniques, redefining problems which develop flexibility, and the ability to synthesize by an adult coach.

Kewaskum High School's team coached by Robert Sabolowski consists of: Amber Charland, Denise Meyer, Leighton Peterson, Tom Strigenz, Mike Steinhardt, Ron Theusch, and Beth Bartelt.

Eagle Scouts of Glacier Edge Include Five From Kewaskum

Eagle Badge Logo

As the Boy Scouts of America begin their 75th Anniversary year, a special tribute is paid to the Boy Scouts who have attained the Eagle rank, the highest award a Scout can earn. The wearer of this award is the embodiment of Scouting's best efforts and beliefs, and he wears the mark of his achievement for the rest of his life. His responsibilities include living with honor and loyalty, being courteous and cheerful and extending service to others; the Scout Oath and Scout Law are his guide.

Boy Scouting began in this country on February 8, 1910, and the first Eagle, Arthur Eldred, was certified on August 21, 1912. Since then, over 1 million Scouts have attained this leadership achievement.

The early advancement program was patterned directly after Lord Baden-Powell's English system using the same three basic classes of Scouts—Tenderfoot, Second Class and First Class. In 1911, Life Scout, Star Scout and Eagle Scout were added to the B.S.A. Handbook. Throughout the years the Eagle award has been the topmost achievement in Scouting's advancement program. Many changes have been seen in the requirements for the award, the procedures for obtaining it, and even the shape and design of the badge. One thing has remained constant, however, and that is the quality of the character the award represents.

The 234 Scouts who have earned the Eagle honor in Glacier Edge District 11 of the Bay-Lakes Council, since it was restructured 10 years ago, include five members of Troop 744 of Kewaskum, namely: Gary Mlodzik, Lamont Albers, John Rimmel, Michael Kirst and Kenneth Weiss.

District 11 is comprised of the following communities: Belgium, Cedarburg, Farmington, Fredonia, Grafton, Hartford, Jackson, Kewaskum, Mequon-Thiensville, Newburg, Port Washington, Random Lake, Rubicon, Saukville, Slinger and West Bend.

Local Students Observe National Children's Dental Health Month

Dr. and Mrs. Connor presenting dental health program.

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Students of the Kewaskum Elementary School participated in programs stressing good dental habits in observance of National Children's Dental Health Month.

The program, presented by Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Connors of Kewaskum, pointed out the importance of proper brushing, along with charts and drawings which explained the growth pattern of teeth, the construction of a tooth, and various dental techniques to protect teeth from decay. Dr. Connors also explained various dental procedures used to repair cavities and other dental problems.

Of special interest to the students was a tray of artificial teeth which showed the various steps taken in filling a cavity. The display was passed among the youngsters for closer investigation.

At the end of each presentation, the youngsters were given a kit containing a new toothbrush, dental mirror and tablets to be used to spot areas where children may not be brushing thoroughly.

Campus Notes

A student from this community has earned academic honors at the University of Wisconsin School of Pharmacy (Madison) for Semester I, 1984-85. She is Jill Yearling, Kewaskum, high honor roll.

To be placed on the honor roll, a student must earn between a 3.250 and a 3.749 on a 4.00 scale. Students on the high honor roll must earn a grade point average of 3.750 or above. This semester 54 pharmacy students earned honors and 20 earned high honors.

Commendations are being mailed to over 1,000 students at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point who earned high academic gradepoints during the fall semester that ended in December.

Chancellor Philip R. Marshall said students with gradepoints from 3.90 to 4.0 (straight A) are designated as scholars of highest honor. High honor citations are going to students with gradepoints from 3.75 to 3.89, and honor citations will go to students with gradepoint averages from 3.5 to 3.74.

One-hundred twenty students in the highest category have received straight A averages.

Approximately 11 percent of the more than 9,000 students at UW-SP qualified for academic recognition.

Honor students from Kewaskum include: Laura Beisbier, 1089 Fond du Lac Ave., high honors; Patricia Beisbier, 1089 Fond du Lac Ave., honors; Kevin Chesak, 480 Knights Ave., honors; Kirkland Vogt, 1914 Trails End Ln., honors.

Cedar Lake Home Campus Slide Show Wins Gold Award

The Cedar Lake Home Campus was recently notified that the Campus slide show, "Cedar Lake Home: The Family with a Purpose," received a Gold Award at the 1984 International Film and TV Festival of New York.

The 12-minute award winning show is about the Cedar Lake Home Campus, its philosophy and facilities. It also presents some specific programs pioneered at the campus such as Ye Olde School, Building Bridges, care of the forgetful/confused, and music therapy. The slide show contains a number of short interviews with residents and staff, giving the audience an understanding of the home and the interpersonal spirit which makes it work so well.

According to David Thompson of Environmental Images who produced the show, "it won an award because of the attention to detail at every point in production, and because Cedar Lake Home is such a wonderful place. It's so much easier to produce an award-winning show when working with an exceptional institution and exceptional people. Some of the facilities, like Ye Olde School and the museum in Friendship House are really picturesque. Also the staff gave a lot of support during all stages of production. The biggest challenge was trying to convey the warmth and emotion that a person feels when visiting the Campus."

There were 4,866 entries in the International Film and TV Festival of New York. Now in its 27th year, the festival is dedicated to recognizing creativity and effective communication in film, television, and related media. Each year professionals from all parts of the world compete for the coveted awards which are administered with stringent standards.

Local Students Observe National Children's Dental Health Month

Dr. and Mrs. Connor presenting dental health program.

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Students of the Kewaskum Elementary School participated in programs stressing good dental habits in observance of National Children's Dental Health Month.

The program, presented by Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Connors of Kewaskum, pointed out the importance of proper brushing, along with charts and drawings which explained the growth pattern of teeth, the construction of a tooth, and various dental techniques to protect teeth from decay. Dr. Connors also explained various dental procedures used to repair cavities and other dental problems.

Of special interest to the students was a tray of artificial teeth which showed the various steps taken in filling a cavity. The display was passed among the youngsters for closer investigation.

At the end of each presentation, the youngsters were given a kit containing a new toothbrush, dental mirror and tablets to be used to spot areas where children may not be brushing thoroughly.

Cedar Lake Home Campus Slide Show Wins Gold Award

The Cedar Lake Home Campus was recently notified that the Campus slide show, "Cedar Lake Home: The Family with a Purpose," received a Gold Award at the 1984 International Film and TV Festival of New York.

The 12-minute award winning show is about the Cedar Lake Home Campus, its philosophy and facilities. It also presents some specific programs pioneered at the campus such as Ye Olde School, Building Bridges, care of the forgetful/confused, and music therapy. The slide show contains a number of short interviews with residents and staff, giving the audience an understanding of the home and the interpersonal spirit which makes it work so well.

According to David Thompson of Environmental Images who produced the show, "it won an award because of the attention to detail at every point in production, and because Cedar Lake Home is such a wonderful place. It's so much easier to produce an award-winning show when working with an exceptional institution and exceptional people. Some of the facilities, like Ye Olde School and the museum in Friendship House are really picturesque. Also the staff gave a lot of support during all stages of production. The biggest challenge was trying to convey the warmth and emotion that a person feels when visiting the Campus."

There were 4,866 entries in the International Film and TV Festival of New York. Now in its 27th year, the festival is dedicated to recognizing creativity and effective communication in film, television, and related media. Each year professionals from all parts of the world compete for the coveted awards which are administered with stringent standards.

FARMERS' HEALTH

Many farmers risk their eyesight every Spring as they plow anhydrous ammonia into their fields without proper eye protection. Panzer Lauds Truth in Taxation

MADISON. . . A proposed alteration of the property tax bill should result in a better understanding of the total property tax picture, according to State Representative Mary Panzer (R-West Bend). The newly-proposed property tax bill will, for the first time, clearly show how much state aid each local taxation district receives and the subsequent tax rate after state aids. The new proposal is contained in Governor Earl's 1985-87 state budget and is scheduled to take effect in time for property tax bills sent out in December of 1986.

Representative Panzer praised the idea, labelling it "truth in taxation for property taxpayers in the state." Panzer cited the tremendous amounts of money which the state returns to local governments through programs such as shared revenue, school aids and transportation aids, as strong reasons for enactment of this provision.

"The State of Wisconsin is head and shoulders above the rest of the nation in the amount of money returned to local governments," stated Panzer.

"Over the last two years, approximately $5.7 billion was returned to local governments to assist them with various programs and to ease the property tax burden. This new property tax bill will show each taxpayer how much state aid his/her area received. It will also provide them a much clearer picture of who receives and spends the most tax money in their area," Panzer said.

National TV Special to Support Kewaskum Vocational Agriculture

A nationally syndicated half-hour television program entitled "Agriculture's Next Generation: A Conflict of Interest" is set to broadcast Saturday, March 2 at 9:00 p.m. on television station WVTU/Channel 18. The National FFA Organization has commissioned this program, which will be narrated by Eddie Albert and will be aired on over 120 television stations nationwide. The program will focus on the need for more young people to enter agriculture- to assure the industry of maintaining its global 'number one' status.

"We're really out to present some of the facts as to why this has happened, and how it needs to change," said Larry Case, National FFA Advisor. "We'll take you to a very rural community that has dropped vo-ag, and we'll compare that to a program that's meeting the needs."

The show will bring this problem to the attention of the American public and illustrate the high technological nature of modern agriculture- and industry that employs 22 percent of the nations working population.

As Senator Robert Dole (R. Kan.) says in one segment of the program: "If you don't ever get hungry, don't be concerned about agriculture, but I'd say most of us get hungry in the course of a day so all of us should be aware of what's happening in agriculture."

The Dupont Company, Monsanto, Yamaha and Ford Tractor are sharing sponsorship of the program.

Are we undermining America's food supply?

Letters to the Editor

2-25-85

Dear Mr. Harbeck:

Last Saturday, Feb. 23, Kewaskum High School hosted the Eastern Wisconsin Conference Solo and Ensemble Contest. With six schools involved and over seven hundred students here, the day was very lively and hectic.

We were very fortunate to have an excellent group of parents and other people here to help us keep the day going smoothly. From the office workers to the kitchen, the people who volunteered their time were just super. A thank you does not seem to be enough, because of all the work they did, but we can only offer our thanks.

To all of the people who helped, thank you so very much. We really appreciate what you did for us.

Sincerely,

Letter to Kewaskum school principal and to the coaches of junior varsity and varsity:

What ever happened to fair play and sportsmanship? Is sports all competition and trophies? Is winning and school recognition more important than fairness and equal time for all players?

I have two sons both of whom wanted to play basketball, they wanted to play so badly that they practiced every chance they had, at home, at neighbors, and at school. Every year they join the team, they are at every practice, at every game, they watch and listen to the coach. And every year they sit on the bench while other team members play.

This is one son's third year of basketball. Every year he thinks it will be different, but every year he sits on the bench, while others go out to play. He sits because if he's lucky he may get to play 30 seconds or even 10.

My other son is in the tenth grade and he was happy that he could keep his grades up so he could go out for basketball. He also attended every practice and was at every game. But like his older brother he sits on the bench and watches his team play.

At this point I must admit that I was able to see both sons play a few seconds in one game each and that was because it was parents night.

Do you feel you are teaching the students how to be fair, are you teaching them sportsmanship? Or are you teaching them that if your not winning and on top then you're nobody?

I am not the only parent that feels this way. At every home game that I attend I see at least ten boys sitting. And of the ten maybe 4 get to play. Why do you have that many boys? You don't need them, why are you letting them sit there? Why let them feel they are part of the team when in reality you don't want them playing?

My oldest son was in basketball every year and every year its the same. I believe if he was given a fair chance playing he would have developed into as good a player as the team's better players. These boys need experience in actual games to improve, practice is not the same as playing for real. And I understand that there are times when some boys don't even get to practice, the coach has them watch the others practice.

I thought making varsity was an honor for those that make the team. Why have the extra boys sitting there feeling rejected game after game, when it is clear the coaches don't feel they made the team? Why don't you have tryouts for the team like they do for cheerleading, and then have the coach or some one decide who makes the team? I can see having a few boys sitting and waiting but not so many. By doing this you would be saving the students a lot of time that they were spending in practice and chasing to games, time that they could spend on other activities. Not to mention the time and money that the parents spend chasing back and forth to practice and games. Maybe the boys that didn't make varsity or junior varsity could form a team of their own and develop themselves into better players.

A few years back I heard a rumor that sports and cheerleading was only for a few selected people. People that belonged to certain cliques. I have always hoped that was wrong but I'm now wondering if this is true. My boys and the boys of these other parents would be as good a player as any one, if they were given their fair chance. I believe sports in school is good. I also believe it's nice to win, but I believe that sportsmanship is most important. If we don't teach them fairness, sportsmanship, and equal rights in our schools where are they going to learn it from?

Both of my boys have quit basketball. As a few of the other boys have also. My older son quit because he had practice every night and games that kept him up till almost midnight if they were away games. He quit because he wasn't playing any way and he could devote his time to school work. My other son quit because he was wasting his time. Time he gladly spent for practice and schoolwork just so he could make the team. All his time got him was a chance to sit on the bench.

This letter is long over due to you. I wanted to write last year, but thought it would improve. I waited until both my boys decided to quit on their own. I didn't make up their minds for them. I'm writing you with their permission, I didn't write while they were on the team because we weren't sure if they would be put on the spot or pressured by the coaches or team members. We spent $30.00 for the user's fee, $25.00 for a shirt for varsity, and each time we attend a home game it cost us $4.00, not to mention the driving for practice and games. We car pooled with one other family and so we drove every other night. So we spent the week chasing for nothing. I think the sports program should be checked into and a new one started. I feel fairness is more important than school recognition! But of course my boys can give Kewaskum recognition, they can always look back and say "Kewaskum High is the school that didn't give us a fair chance at sports."

I have a daughter in Kewaskum Middle school, what is she going to be able to say about her school when she reaches High?

A very enraged parent

To the Editor:

Two years ago, the National Association of Civilian Conservation Corps (NACCCA) celebrated the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC).

The NACCCA is trying to locate about two million former members and persons who were connected or affiliated with the CCC during the 1930's and 1940's. It is a known fact that many of these persons reside in Wisconsin and areas serviced by the "Statesman."

I am sure that many of your readers have often wondered what became of the CCC. You can tell them the CCC lives again in the NACCCA. It is a young and growing organization with 114 chapters throughout the nation, and more are in the planning and development stages. One of its major objectives is to have the CCC reactivated.

Anyone interested in the organization can write to NACCCA, Loettmann's Plaza, 7245 Arlington Blvd., Suite 318, Falls Church, Virginia, 22042, for more information and literature.

SHERIFFS

Clarence A. Schwartz, Sheriff

Implied Consent Law

Even though the state's Implied Consent law has been in effect for several years, a great many motorists still are not sure what it means. According to Sheriff Clarence Schwartz, "Simply stated, implied consent means that whenever you drive a motor vehicle in Wisconsin, you have agreed in advance to furnish a sample of blood, breath or urine if arrested for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated."

The penalty for refusing the chemical test, usually the breath test, is a six (6) month revocation for the first refusal. The revocation is separate from (and in addition to) the penalties imposed upon conviction on the drunken driving charge.

The legal grounds for refusing the chemical test are that the person is physically unable to blow into the machine, that the driver was not under arrest at the time of the refusal, or that the arresting officer had not properly informed the driver of the penalties for refusing the test.

The best defense against a drunken driving arrest, and the best way to beat the breath test, is simply to avoid excessive drinking before driving in the first place.

Low Highway Bids Total $35.08 Million On State Bid Letting Apparent low bids totaling $35.08 million were opened Feb. 19, in Madison by the state Department of Transportation. Involved are 54 highway improvement projects in 37 counties.

Schlaefler Again Heads Catholic Appeal in County

Leo F. Schlaefler of West Bend will once again be Washington County district chairman for the Catholic Stewardship Appeal of the Archdiocese of Milwaukee. He will be leading the appeal for the 15th year.

As county chairman he is responsible for organizing and directing the fund drive in the 21 parishes and missions of the county. This year's appeal runs from February 24 to March 31, emphasizing the theme, "Give From the Best That You Receive."

Schlaefler lives at 1340 Bobolink Lane and is a member of Holy Angels parish.

Clifford Kowalski of Whitefish Bay, general chairman of the campaign, announced a record $5.5 million goal. Although the goal represents a $250,000 increase over last year's quota, Kowalski is confident of another success, noting that the 1984 campaign surpassed its goal by $51,000.

However, he does not believe success is automatic. "The support system is increasing. We face new demands every year," said Kowalski, who is senior vice president of Godfrey Company/Sentry Foods.

The appeal provides funds for a wide variety of services throughout the 287 parishes of the archdiocese. Among these are Christian formation programs, education on all levels — including that of seminarians, social ministry, ministry to disabled persons, campus ministry and many other charitable services.

'The Quaking Aspen'

The following news story was written by R. G. Edwards, M.D., Kewaskum, who is attending classes in Creative Writing at Concordia College:

On our vacation trip to visit old friends at Red Wood City, California, we stopped in Denver, Colorado, to visit my deceased brother's oldest daughter Annabelle and her mother who was visiting at her home. One morning my wife Alma's nephew, who lives in Denver, Richard Zimpel, and his wife "Sue," called to state he was taking a day off on Tuesday, and would like to drive us up to visit the Estes Park area, because, now in late September, the Aspen were at their gorgeous best for viewing.

Soon we were on our way to travel straight North on Hwy. 25 to Loveland, thence westward up the Thompson River gorge toward Estes Park, another 50 miles distant. While in this Thompson River gorge, Richard told of the tragedy that had occurred just the previous year when heavy rains in the surrounding mountains caused a 50 foot deep wall of water to come rushing down this canyon filling it completely from wall to wall and destroyed all homes and life in its path. The canyon walls were about 500 feet apart and over 200 feet high or higher. The damages were tremendous and many lives were lost; yet nearly all the available spots of level ground were again filled by a cabin, a cottage or at least a trailer home, for yet another disaster was not on the minds of these canyon dwellers.

As we neared the Park we were stopped by the Rangers who gave us an eyeball examination and then began handing out to each a Golden Age pass card. He asked our age and name which his partner sitting at the desk tabulated. These passes would allow us free entrance to any and all National Parks in America for the rest of our lives. After viewing the myriad/mixture of colored flowers around the rangers' station Richard suggested a visit to Bear Lake, which was just a few miles North of the Park, then we would commence to circle South Westward to Boulder where the University of Colorado is located.

On the way up to Bear Lake we saw our first view of an Aspen grove. It was located in the middle of a vast area of dark Evergreens growing on the Eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains, possibly 20 miles distant. Our driver Richard explained how the Aspen trees happened to be located in the midst of a large area of Evergreens. He said that when lightning causes a fire in the forest, usually only a few acres are burned off before the accompanying rains can douse out the fires. On this scorched area falls the seeds of Aspen, brought mostly by the winds and the moving air currents, some by birds. The mature seeds have trailing wisps of silk like fibers which act like the tail on a kite. Any moist spot is a haven for these seeds to land and start growing. When the trees are mature the tree trunks are real white and bear the branches holding large pale yellow leaves daintily on long stems. Because of their long stems the leaves appear to shake or dance with the slightest breeze, hence the name, Quaking Aspen.

These burned out areas of a forest are ideal for the quick regrowth of this soft wood tree, known also as Poplar or Cottonwood. They are in color a pale yellow, and contrast vividly nestled amidst the deep green color of the pines.

Bear Lake is a beautiful, restful area with a snow capped mountain peak reflected on the surface of the water, but this day we moved on quickly for a heavy snowstorm began to fall. Our elevation was about 11,000 feet. We proceeded cautiously downward, for at every turn of the road a new vista of color would appear. However, we all felt that the jewel like appearance of the yellow Aspen nestled among the deep Evergreen pines had produced for us an unforgettable tableau of elegance.

... about your Social Security

By David Becker, Social Security Branch Manager in West Bend

MEDICARE CHANGE HELPS WORKING AGED

A change in the Medicare law will help employed Medicare beneficiaries age 65 to 70, David W. Becker, Social Security Manager in West Bend said recently.

Under the law, employers with 20 or more employees are required to offer workers and their spouses age 65 through 69 the same health benefits that are offered to younger workers. The older worker can accept or reject the employer's health plan.

Sometimes, older workers and their spouses who elect the employee group health plan decide not to enroll in the medical insurance part of Medicare when they are first eligible. Or, they enroll in medical insurance and later drop it. Then, when their employer health plan ends, Becker said, they have to wait for a general enrollment period to sign up for Medicare medical insurance.

The medical insurance part of Medicare, which covers doctors' bills and other services not covered by Medicare hospital insurance, is voluntary. People who want its protection must enroll and pay a monthly premium for it. People who don't enroll when they are first eligible must wait to sign up during a general enrollment period—January 1 through March 31 each year. If a person enrolls during a general enrollment period, medical insurance protection doesn't start until the following July. Also, the person may have to pay a higher premium for late enrollment.

The new law changes these rules for employed Medicare beneficiaries, Becker said.

Effective November, 1984, the law provides a special enrollment period for medical insurance for workers and their spouses age 65-70 who have employer group health coverage. The 7-month enrollment period will begin 3 months before the month a person reaches age 70 or, if earlier, the month the employer health plan ends.

If a person enrolls before reaching age 70, medical insurance protection will start with the month he or she is 70, Becker said. If a person's employer health plan ends and the person enrolls in the first month of the enrollment period, medical insurance protection will start with that month. Otherwise, protection will begin with the month after enrollment.

The new law also changes the rules on the premium surcharge for late enrollment for these workers and their spouses, Becker said. The months after December 1982 during which they are between age 65 and 70 and have employer group health coverage and Medicare hospital insurance will not be counted in figuring their premium for medical insurance.

The premium change must be requested and is effective for premiums for September 1984 and after.

More information about this change in the Medicare law can be obtained at any Social Security office, or by calling 1-800-242-9946.

FORM W-4 DETERMINES INCOME TAX WITHHOLDING

If you find that you owe a large amount of Federal tax when you file your income tax return each year or if you receive a large refund, you should review your Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate. In either case you should complete a new Form W-4 so that more or less tax will be withheld from your paychecks throughout the year.

It is important to note that the IRS has taken a strict approach to curb the filing of false income tax withholding forms by taxpayers claiming excessive numbers of allowances or total exemption from withholding on the Form W-4. Those who file false withholding certificates are subject to a $500 penalty.

A new Form W-4 must be filed with your employer within 10 days after you find that an allowance claimed can no longer be taken. Also, you may file a new Form W-4 at any time to change withholding allowances for any other legitimate reason.

Details about withholding can be found in the three IRS Publication 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax.

Disabled Should Not Wait to Apply For Social Security

Workers in the West Bend area suffering from a physical or mental impairment which prevents them from working should consider applying for Social Security disability benefits when it appears the condition will last 12 months or more, David W. Becker, Social Security manager in West Bend said recently.

Social Security disability benefits can be paid to workers under 65, disabled widows and widowers 50-60, and to unmarried adult children who become disabled before reaching 22.

Under Social Security, a person is considered disabled if he or she has a condition which prevents him or her from doing any substantial gainful work which has lasted or is expected to last for at least 12 months or to result in death.

While no payments can be made to a disabled worker, widow, or widower for the first 5 full months of disability, applications should not be delayed.

Before a person applies for disability benefits, it will be helpful if he or she gathers certain information. This will help speed the application process.

This includes:

- The person's Social Security number.
- Date last worked.
- Date person became sick or was injured.
- Names, addresses, and telephone numbers of doctors, hospitals, institutions, or clinics that provided treatment for the condition and date of treatment.
- Military service serial number and VA claim number if available.
- List of kinds of jobs performed in previous 15 years.
- Names, Social Security numbers, and dates of birth of spouse and children.
- Workers' compensation or another public disability benefit number if any.

A person should not delay in applying if all this information is not available. The people at the West Bend Social Security office may be able to help. They have a free booklet, "If You Become Disabled," available. The telephone number is 1-800-242-9946.

Choose Investment Advisor Wisely

By Joyce Albrecht
Extension Home Economist

You might listen when you hear the name E. F. Hutton, but there are many investment advisors to choose from.

Stockbrokers, bankers and financial planners all offer investment advice.

Stockbrokers usually work for a firm which sells investment products. Working strictly for commission, they offer you advice and hope that you will buy stocks, bonds or other investments from them.

Some banks, besides offering regular services, are "hooking up" with discount brokerage houses which sell products rather than advice. You can sometimes use these discount houses through your bank or credit union. If you know you want a specific stock, for example, you can buy it through your bank, which will then transfer money to the brokerage house that it is associated with. Commissions through a discount broker are often lower, especially on large transactions.

Financial planners do more than just give investment advice. They look at your whole financial picture, including insurance, taxes, estate planning, budgeting and retirement planning.

Financial planners charge in one of three ways: fee only, commission only, and a combination of fee plus commission. With the latter, the fee is usually lower than a fee only charge.

In Wisconsin, investment advisors must be registered by the state Securities Commission in Madison. If advisors also sell products, they must be registered with the federal Securities and Exchange Commission.

Before choosing any financial advisor, be sure to take several precautions. Make sure the investment advisor is registered properly and find out what percentage of your investment will become your advisor's commission. Commissions can eat away at your returns. Always remember that you are the ultimate decision maker. Your financial advisor does not pay you for losses.

Also be sure to look at potential losses. Think of the worst case scenario; if you can't deal with the loss, don't make the investment.

Choose a Preparer Wisely for Federal Income Tax Return

The choosing of a preparer by taxpayers to do their federal income tax returns should be done carefully and wisely.

Most tax return preparers are honest and do not deliberately attempt to defraud either their clients or the IRS. However, a few misuse the responsibility of preparing a tax return for someone else, and the IRS offers some suggestions on how to identify these preparers.

Do not sign a blank return, or one which is partially complete. These returns could be altered by the preparer. Tax return preparers are required by law to sign and date the return and to enter his or her identification number. You must be furnished a copy of the completed return.

Preparers who promise a refund, claim a special relationship with the IRS, or boast of ways to beat the tax system should be avoided.

The choosing of a preparer is particularly important because you, not the preparer, are responsible for the accuracy of your tax return. As much care should go into the choosing of a tax preparer as the selection of any attorney, doctor, or any professional service.

TODAY'S AGRICULTURE

By Jack Trzebiatowski, Washington County Agricultural Agent

INVENTORY YOUR FEED SUPPLIES

Dairy farmers should plan ahead to make sure feed doesn't run out before the winter feeding seasons ends. Feed supplies have generally been quite adequate for most producers in 1984, but some may be facing feed shortages.

The winter feeding season is more than half over, and this may be a good time to inventory your feed supply. An inventory can help you in two ways.

First, it can help you determine if you have an adequate supply of feed to get through the feeding season. If not, plans can be made to purchase feed before supplies run out, which may allow for some shopping around and finding better buys. Good quality hay, 18% to 20% crude protein, may cost $90.00 to $110.00 per ton delivered now. If you wait until supplies of forage are very low, you may have to purchase at higher prices or accept lower quality. Buying well in advance could save some money.

A second benefit of a forage inventory is to make the best use of available feeds. An inventory should not just include amounts of feed, but should include a feed test to determine feed value. Good forage can then be saved for the milking herd, and the lower quality feed fed to dry cows and heifers.

Knowing your feed inventory of both forages and grain can help you plan to best utilize this available feed, and possibly reduce feed costs.

The Washington County Cooperative Extension Service has information available to assist with taking feed inventories, sampling and testing forages, and developing feeding programs. Dairymen wishing assistance should contact the office for further information.

UW AG School Initiates Merit Scholars Program

High School and college-age students planning to enroll as undergraduates in the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences (CALS) at the University of Wisconsin-Madison are eligible for financial awards under the College's new Merit Scholars Program.

Beginning with the 1985-86 academic year, several scholarships, amounting to $1,500 each, will be awarded annually to students demonstrating scholastic and leadership achievements, according to George Sledge, CALS associate dean of academic affairs for the College.

The purpose of the Merit Scholars Program is "to encourage talented students who can make a difference in our changing world and provide the mindpower so crucial to science, industry, business and technology," says Sledge.

Eligible for the program are high school juniors and seniors who, upon graduation, meet the UW-Madison admission criteria, and continuing or transfer students who have a minimum grade point average of 3.5. Though scholastic merit is the prime criterion, awards will also be based on sound character and good citizenship, says Sledge.

Graduate students should apply for specific graduate-level departmental or CALS merit awards, says Sledge.

Merit Scholar applicants will also be considered for almost 225 other scholarships available through the College. Scholarship recipients for the 1985-86 academic year will be eligible to compete for the scholarship the following year.

Interested persons should apply as soon as possible on the CALS Merit Scholar Supplementary Application Form, available at the Office of Academic Affairs, College of Agricultural and Life Sciences, 116 Agriculture Hall, University of Wisconsin-Madison, Madison, WI 53706. High school and college teachers, guidance counselors and other persons are encouraged to nominate potential merit scholars by submitting students' names, addresses, home phone numbers and other pertinent information.

For more information on the program, call (608) 262-3003.

it in the fall.

How does crop residue help? "Crop residue helps in many ways," says Kurer. "One way crop residue helps is that it prevents splash erosion (erosion from falling raindrops) during spring rains, and a farmer can save 1 to 2 tons of soil per acre per year on almost level fields."

When splash erosion is controlled, organic matter stays in the fields, where it increases the moisture-holding capacity of the soil and makes the soil easier to work.

Another way crop residue helps is by decreasing ditch maintenance. Fall plowing increases soil erosion over the winter months, which increases the amount of sediment deposited in ditches. The sediment from plowed fields contains five times the organic matter of the soil in the field. In many areas, it costs to have ditches cleaned or maintained. When you couple this with the value of organic matter, it's better to leave crop residue on the ground.

Years ago, it was believed that crop residue needed to be plowed under. But now research indicates that residue decomposes better when left on the soil surface, allowing organic matter to work into the soil slowly, and at the same time protect the soil from splash erosion.

Some people even burn crop residue. When an acre of soybean stubble is burned, you lost about 90 lbs of nitrogen, 20 lbs of phosphorus and 50 lbs of potash, plus the loss of benefits from organic matter. With today's tough economic times, it makes sense not to burn residue or fall plow.

One more feature of crop residue is that it helps keep runoff water cleaner, which keeps water in streams and lakes cleaner.

This fall, use crop residue effectively, and let it help you save time, money, soil and organic matter. This conservation practice costs little, and it's waiting to help you.

Signup Deadline March 1 at ASCS

Friday, March 1st, is the deadline to signup for the 1985 Feed Grain and Wheat programs according to Donald E. Sampson, Director of Washington County ASCS Office.

Participants will receive price guarantees and loan eligibility for crops enrolled. Target prices are $3.03 for corn and $4.38 for wheat, the same as 1984. When grain prices fall below the targets, deficiency payments are triggered. 1984 wheat growers received $1.00 per bushel deficiency payment and corn participants are expected to receive around $.45 per bushel.

Information regarding number of farms enrolled will not be public until close of signup. Also the department has announced no extension will be offered.

All signups are taken at the county office in West Bend daily from 8:00 - 4:30.

Farm Debt Set Aside Reviews Completed In Area Counties

NATIONAL CHILDREN'S DENTAL HEALTH MONTH
FEBRUARY 1985

ADA American Dental Association
©Henson Associates, Inc. 1985

The Washington-Ozaukee County Dental Society brings you this article in observance of National Children's Dental Health Month. It is the sixth in a series of eight on "The Many Worlds of Dentistry."

Until 1728, there was little a dentist could do for those people who had crooked or crowded teeth. In that year, however, the famous French dentist Pierre Fauchard published The Surgeon Dentist, a book that included a full chapter on irregularities of the teeth and mechanical methods for their correction.

The publication of this book marked the beginning of modern-day orthodontics, the area of dentistry that involves the diagnosis, prevention, and treatment of dental and facial irregularities. These irregularities often result in "malocclusion," that is, problems with the way the teeth fit together.

In most cases, malocclusion is caused by inherited factors, such as the relationship between the size of the teeth and the size of the jaw. In other cases, it is acquired—that is, it arises from factors in the person's life, such as missing teeth or harmful habits like thumb sucking.

Correcting orthodontic problems is important because they can affect dental and general health, as well as personal appearance. Teeth that are out of position are often more difficult to clean, which increases the risk of dental disease. A poor bite may put extra stress on the chewing muscles, causing pain and problems with the jaw joints. Also, if chewing is difficult or uncomfortable, people may not eat the foods they need for good nutrition.

Malocclusions can be treated at almost any age, although it is not always possible to move the teeth into an ideal position. According to recent surveys, the number of adults seeking orthodontic treatment is increasing. About one out of every five orthodontic patients is now an adult.

To move the teeth into the correct position, dentists can use a variety of appliances. Some are removable; others are not. All appliances work by putting gentle pressure on the teeth and jaws, causing them to move or stabilize in a particular position. The choice of the appliance depends on the problem that must be corrected and on the patient's special needs.

The fixed appliances most often used in the United States to correct malocclusion are commonly called "braces." Braces can be attached to the teeth in a variety of ways. Metal or plastic brackets may be bonded directly onto the teeth, or metal bands that include a bracket may be cemented around the teeth. Each bracket is then connected with the next by an archwire. During treatment, pressure is applied to the teeth by adjusting the wires. Although braces are usually applied to the outside surfaces of the teeth, it is occasionally possible to attach them inside the dental arch, which makes the braces less noticeable.

After braces are removed, it is usually necessary for the patient to wear a retainer for several months afterward. Retainers are removable appliances that hold the teeth in their new positions until they become more secure.

While undergoing orthodontic treatment, it is especially important to practice good oral hygiene. Daily brushing and flossing are necessary to remove plaque, the thin, almost invisible film of bacteria that forms on the teeth daily. If plaque is allowed to remain in the area around the braces for a long time, it can cause permanent damage to the tooth enamel.

If you have an orthodontic problem, your family dentist may treat it or you may be referred to an orthodontist. An orthodontist is a dentist who has additional training in this area of dentistry and who limits his or her practice to the diagnosis and treatment of orthodontics.

Do you have buck teeth? Crowded teeth? A bulldog jaw? These and other dental irregularities can be corrected by orthodontic treatment. Afterwards, you will have a better bite, a healthier mouth, and an attractive smile that can be kept for a lifetime.

Cancer Education Class Begins Mar. 12

St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend, in cooperation with the American Cancer Society/Wisconsin Division will be sponsoring the "I Can Cope" cancer education program. This is a free program which is intended for the cancer patient and/or family members for the purpose of learning about the disease. Youth Conservation
Camps Offer Summer
Work Opportunity

Wisconsin's Youth Conservation Camps are now accepting applications from young men and women, between 15 and 19 years of age, to participate in salaried summer work camps. Application forms are available from all Wisconsin High School Guidance Offices.

The camps, located near Manitowish Waters, Minong, Montello, and Campbellsport, are operated by the Department of Natural Resources to offer a summer work-learn experience in conservation.

There are two five-week sessions at each camp during June, July, and August. Enrollees will be paid $3.35 per hour (work is scheduled for 32 hours per week - $3.35 x 32 hours - $107.20). A room and board charge of $27.20 per week will be deducted from the salary.

Work activity offered at the summer camps includes projects related to forestry, fish management, wildlife, recreational use areas, and ranger stations.

The state's four summer work camps enable the DNR to accomplish a wide variety of forestry, fish and game habitat projects and facility maintenance that otherwise could not be done locally if we relied solely on DNR manpower. The camps provide an educational opportunity for participants because of the experiences and associations each youth will find in group work assignments, educational tours and presentations.

Youths interested in participating in one of the YCC summer camps must apply by March 5, 1985 through their high school guidance director, or by writing directly to the DNR Youth Conservation Camp Section, Box 7921, Madison, WI 53707.

Application forms and informational brochures are available in all Wisconsin High Schools. The DNR will notify applicants in April or May whether they have been selected to attend one of the camps. There are 840 employment positions open at the four camps.

'How You Play The Game'

You've heard it said many times: It's "how you play the game" that's most important in school sports.

And that's as true a statement as you'll ever hear.

But sometimes — too much of the time, unfortunately — it's hard to believe that's really the case.

Sportsmanship — a vital ingredient of a school contest if "how you play the game" is important — is being left out of the finished product too often around the state.

Through newspaper clippings and by word of mouth, we have learned of basketball, wrestling and hockey incidents again this winter — incidents that contradict the idea school sports is an educational process.

A lot of people have been saying for a lot of years that there is no place for this kind of bizarre behavior in school sports. But it seems all the saying over all the years isn't enough yet. We've got to say it again and again and again.

Poor sportsmanship, it seems, is a potential situation in almost every athletic contest. That's really too bad. It doesn't seem to be consistent at all with the object of an athletic contest. But poor sportsmanship certainly seems to get around all over the state.

What can we do about it, particularly right now in the middle of the wrestling tournament series and with basketball and hockey about to begin their season-culminating state tournament quests?

From the standpoint of school administration, the best thing to do about sportsmanship is to make sure it's going to be the "good" kind and not the "poor" kind manifesting itself at your school. It's easy to ask that, we know, but it must be asked and it must be done by those who direct the athletic program of schools. There can be no compromise on this issue. Without good sportsmanship, there really isn't a legitimate reason for schools to be involved in sports.

How do we make sure we have good sportsmanship at our contests? The only way is for the school administrator in charge of athletics to demand it at all times — of the coaches, the players and the student and adult spectators. An administrator cannot relent on this item. He/she must insist on this kind of attitude at all times.

A coach who can't show respect to an official shouldn't be allowed to coach.

An athlete who can't handle losing a contest shouldn't be allowed to participate until he/she does know how to handle it.

Students shouldn't be allowed to taunt visiting team athletes.

Adult spectators have no business being at a school athletic event if they have shown in the past that they could care less about "how you play the game."

The nature of an athletic contest is such that one can never be sure everything will be problem-free from the standpoint of sportsmanship. You can take all the precautions possible and still have difficulties, particularly in certain situations. And nobody can really blame the contest manager if something flares-up after every effort to prevent it has been taken.

But the contest manager who knows there's a potential problem because of attitude of coach, player or student or adult spectator and who has not done some preventative maintenance — he/she can be blamed. There is no excuse, it seems, if you know you might have trouble and you've not done some during-the-week educating of the various people who are part of the school sports scene.

Good sportsmanship is really a small thing to ask of people. It is asking no more than to be decent to people, to respect them as other human beings and to treat them the same way you'd like them to treat you.

Do it that way and you shouldn't have any trouble with your behavior during the contest.

Do it that way and you won't be able to be proud and arrogant if your team has the most points or sour and sore if your team has the least points at the end of the contest.

Do it that way and you will have learned — and enjoyed — "how you play the game."

Kettle Riders Take First in Bed Races

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

mobile Club, slid away with the First Place Trophy at the Plymouth Sno-Rangers Snowmobile Club winter festivities at Plymouth recently.

The race was held on an ice track and the rules required one person to ride the "bed" while the other four negotiated the bed around the 1/4 mile track.

Not only did the team beat all their second heat opponents, they also caught up to and lapped several first heat competitors who were ahead of them.

Another annual event, an outing for all Oldtimers and their ladies at a Rock River League playoff game, will be scheduled for late summer on a Southern Division diamond.

Group festivities wind up on Saturday night, Oct. 12, with the 6th Annual Hall of Fame Banquet for members and their families set for the Mayville Golf club.

Oldtimer membership is open

Indians Win, Lose in Final Games, Finish 6th

By John Harju

Kewaskum ended regular season play last week with a 74-69 upset victory over Plymouth in a makeup game on Tuesday before losing on Friday, 75-66, to Two Rivers.

The Indians (3-9 in the EWC and 6-13 overall) open regional play on Friday at Waupun, against the Waupun Warriors at 7:30 p.m. The winner of this game faces the winner of the Beaver Dam-Fond du Lac contest at Fond du Lac Saturday in the regional final in Class A.

The red-hot Plymouth Panthers had just defeated previously undefeated conference champion New Holstein and were looking to continue their success as they blew into Kewaskum last Tuesday, but the Indians cooled the Panthers' jets, outlasting them, 74-69.

Both teams' offenses worked to perfection all night long, but it was Kewaskum's defense and Plymouth's foul trouble which led to the Indian victory.

Plymouth, in fact, out-shot Kewaskum from the field, making 26 of 53 compared to 25 of 49 for the Indians, but Kewaskum hit on 24 free throws compared to only 17 for Plymouth.

Another factor was the rebounding. The last time these two teams met, Plymouth enjoyed a 20-9 edge on the boards after one half, but on Tuesday Kewaskum trimmed it to 17-14 and 24-20 for the night.

6'4" senior center Todd Wiedmeyer, making his final home appearance, led Kewaskum in scoring with 22 points. Mike Steinhardt and Brian Ruplinger, also seniors, followed with 18 and 10 points a piece. Junior Bob Yahr added 12.

For Plymouth, it was Troy Fritz and Troy Holtzmann who led with 18 each while Chris Dellger popped in 16.

The KHS JVs captured a 61-42 victory from Plymouth in the preliminary game. Don Menzel and 6'2" Bruce Troeller led with 15 and 13 points with Ken Vogt adding 10.

The freshmen, however, came up on the short end of the stick, 67-50. Steve Johnson, Noel Stollenwerk and Dave Harju paced coach Scot Reif's frosh with 10, 10 and 9, respectively.

Two Rivers 75, Kewaskum 66

Inconsistency, Kewaskum's number one enemy this year, once again proved disastrous as a poor Indian third quarter allowed host Two Rivers to pull away from a close game and hand Kewaskum a 75-66, loss last Friday evening in the EWC finale for both teams.

Both teams' disciplined offenses created many fast break opportunities, still neither team gained more than a four point lead in the first half. At intermission Two Rivers led, 37-36.

In the third period, the Raiders outscored Kewaskum 17-12, thanks mainly to Indian turnovers and Raider Pat Johnson, who scored 14 of his game-high 18 points during this quarter.

From then on, Kewaskum could only foul in desperation and Two Rivers took full advantage as they calmly hit free throws to extend their lead.

KHS coach Perry Koth praised the efforts of senior guard Brian Ruplinger, who scored 15 points while playing only half the game due to early foul trouble. Todd Wiedmeyer, EWC's fourth leading rebounder, added 13 while Bob Yahr, Tom Herriges, and Ron Theusch netted 11, 9 and 9 points, respectively.

Girls Ousted by Waupun In Class A Regional Here

By John Harju

The season came to a halt for coach Milt Dickinsen and his KHS girls' basketball team last Thursday evening as they were defeated, 54-41, by Waupun in their opening round game of the WIAA Class A regional played in Kewaskum. In the first game of the evening Fond du Lac whipped Beaver Dam, 48-38, to advance to the regional final, also played here, Saturday night.

Kewaskum's tough defense, which they have thrived on all season, limited Waupun to taking only 40 shots all night, unfortunately the Warriors hit on 20 of these. In addition to this, Dickinsen noted the fact that "nobody wanted to take charge" and that "we played too tentatively." Still at half Kewaskum only trailed 16-12.

But in the second half, Warrior Kim Vanderbush, after being held scoreless in the first half, thanks to a good defensive effort by Sandy Secor, exploded for 20 points and led her team to victory.

Waupun, incidentally, then went on to defeat Fond du Lac in Saturday's finals, 52-47, in overtime for the regional championship and advanced to the sectional.

Leading Kewaskum (which finishes at 8-12) in scoring were seniors Secor and Debbie Bastian with 10 and 8 points each. Jodi Yearling and Brenda Kober added 6 apiece while Dawn Fellenz and Lisa Fusek popped in 4 between them.

Gymnasts Lose to Chilton; Luedtke Sets School Record

By John Harju

Although the KHS gymnastics squad didn't outscore visiting Chilton as a team in last Thursday's regular season finale, many fine individual performances, including a school record in the vault for Darlene Luedtke, were turned in.

Luedtke, a junior, vaulted to a 8.0 score, breaking the old mark of 7.9 set by Annette Jandre in 1983.

Renee Kapp, only a sophomore, took third place in the vault and combined with Jackie Voge's 6.9, the trio set a new team record of 22.85.

Sophomore Chris Kirchner also turned in a fine effort, taking first in floor exercise with a 7.65 and third in the uneven bars with a 6.5. Freshman Angie Nowak competed in the varsity floor for the first time and did well, according to coach Sue Paul.

Paul, who will lose only one senior to graduation this year, notes that there is much hope for next year and the future because of the many sophomores and juniors which made up this year's varsity squad.

On Saturday, the Kewaskum girls competed in the WIAA Class A Regional at Sheboygan South. West Bend East edged out Fond du Lac for first place, 101.4875 to 101.175.

Finishing third in the nine-school field was Oshkosh North with 97.525. West Bend West came in fifth with 96.0375, close behind Sheboygan North/South. Kewaskum came in ninth with 72.95.

The top three teams, top four all-arounds and top seven individuals in each event qualify to compete at the Manitowoc Sectional this Saturday. There were 36 competitors in each event.

Lakes Team Blows Lead, First Place To Falls Badgers

Playing at home Sunday night, Kewaskum suffered a come-from-behind loss to the Menomonee Falls Badgers, 125-118. The setback dropped Kewaskum out of first place in the "B" Division of the Lakes League.

It was a frustrating loss for the team, after leading by 14 points in the third quarter, and still holding a 99-90 advantage at the end of the quarter. The fourth quarter was one big nightmare. "We'll just have to beat Port Washington next week," remarked manager Bill Backhaus.

After trailing by 16, 44-28, at the end of the first quarter, Kewaskum came back in the second period and narrowed the gap to 70-66 at the half. Their momentum continued in the third quarter as they swept past the Badgers and opened up the 14-point lead, before the Badgers started their final counter attack.

Kewaskum lost three of their best players, Leon Laatsch, Clark Eichstedt and Tom Kern, on personal fouls and this hurt their chances considerably.

Veteran Bob Wolf, former Marquette star, who battles Kewaskum's Laatsch for the league scoring title each season, had another tremendous night, scoring 55 points, almost half of his team's total. Clark Eichstedt led Kewaskum with 36 while Laatsch was held to 22.

Kewaskum hosts Port Washington in a battle for first place in the "B" Division Sunday at 7:00 p.m. at the high school gym.

Menomonee Falls Badgers - Wolf 20-15-1, Gardner 10-0-5, DeLany 3-6-5, Riehle 5-7-3, Kaeske 2-0-2, Marcou 8-1-4. Totals 48-29-20.
