Meeting Causes More Hard Feelings Between School Board, District Residents

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Discussion on proposed plans to hire a new district administrator to replace resigning John Long, during Monday night's meeting, have put further stress on an already tense and strained relationship between the Kewaskum Board of Education and district residents.

Approximately 35 people were on hand to hear John Tessar, a former school board member, demand an explanation from President Jean Goeden on how the school board could go ahead with plans to hire Long's replacement when the resignation had not been placed on the agenda of a public board meeting for acceptance. Tessar felt the Board's actions were not legal.

Referring to her opening comments regarding the matter in which she stated, "with the joint press release from our lawyers that Mr. Long's resignation was accepted, we are discussing and taking possible action on a procedure for hiring a district administrator." Goeden told Tessar, she had been advised by the Board's counsel that was all that was required. No further action by the School Board was necessary, therefore, the item of Long's resignation had been removed from the agenda.

"You have to approve that resignation at open session, I don't care what your attorney for $2,400 for the month of February said," countered Tessar. "I guess I feel upset that nothing was made public, nobody had a chance to talk to you people about this present condition," he continued. Goeden told Tessar he had an opportunity to speak, "right here under hearings by delegates on non-agenda items." "You ignored me," said Tessar, "you jumped right to Pat Hanrahan, you didn't even watch us raise our hands," Tessar told Goeden.

"I guess there are quite a few people sitting here tonight that would like to have some questions answered. I think you people (the board) have been ignoring the public with the resignation of John Long." "I think the papers have been picking it up," said Goeden. "The papers did a lousy job because you didn't give them the information," said Tessar.

"I think the School District has a very serious problem," stated Tessar, "an I'd just like to bring up a few points." He wanted to know how the board could go ahead and start hiring someone when the resignation was not accepted in open session. He asked Goeden what the vote was. At first, she stated they did not have to tell them, then she changed her statement to, the full board had accepted the resignation.

Goeden told Tessar, "all that information was personal evaluation data, and our lawyers will let us know when we can give you all the appropriate information for release." "I'm often wondering if the attorney is running this School Board or what," said Tessar. "Every time we ask a

Board Approves Consultant For Administrator Search

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

After a heated discussion during Monday night's meeting, the Kewaskum School Board voted 5 to 0, to hire Dr. Gray of the University of Wisconsin, Whitewater, to serve as a consultant for the board in its search for a replacement of John Long, who is resigning effective June 31st. Board member John Spoerl arrived after the vote was taken and Kim Peterson was absent.

Board member Tom Brigham informed the board and the 35 people attending the meeting that his committee had met in closed session earlier in the evening "to discuss the potentiality of in-house candidates for superintendent and their qualifications. We also discussed feasibility and personnel of different individuals who could possibly aid us in the selection process of a district administrator."

Brigham said his committee had discussed several different companies and persons within those companies. He then made the motion that the board contract with Gray to act as consultant at a cost not to exceed $1,000. Brigham noted fees for the various consultant candidates ranged from $1,000 to $10,000 plus.

In an earlier conversation, President Jean Goeden said she wanted to deny the rumor that, prior to Long's announced resignation, the board had been considering a replacement from within the school district's own ranks.

In other action, the board voted to freeze all capital funds expenditures except for daily operational costs for the balance of the school year. The vote came after Business Manager Cherna Gorder presented a gloomy financial report for the district.

Gorder told the board the district's cash flow balance was minus $140,980. As a result, a short-term loan of $400,000 was taken out to meet March expenses. She said to date, 25% of the tax levy had been collected, and hopefully, $1,200,000, in additional tax money would be coming in, bringing the collections up to 58%.

The new revenues, however, are not going to do much to improve the district's financial forecast. Gorder said figures indicate that, on a per building basis, some of the schools are almost out of money now. We still have three months left in the school year said Gorder, and it's going to be tough for some of them. She noted she did not expect any improvement but rather a worsening of the situation.

Board member Ralph Horner asked what areas had gone over

Regal Ware to Acquire 100% of Moulinex Stock

Regal Ware, Inc. and Moulinex SA are negotiating the terms of an agreement whereby Regal will acquire 100% of the capital stock of their joint venture company - Moulinex Regal, Inc. The company will be renamed Regal Appliance, Inc. and is located in Virginia Beach, Virginia.

Regal Appliance, Inc. will continue to manufacture and distribute the popular line of La Machine food processors. The company will continue to distribute the existing product line. Several new product introductions are planned for 1985.

The change in ownership will not affect any of the previous arrangements between Regal Ware and Moulinex SA. Moulinex SA will continue to assist the company on product development and manufacturing techniques. The current staff will remain with the new company, including Daniel Bourdon as Vice President and General Manager of the Virginia Beach facility.

Regal Ware, Inc. will continue to be responsible for all sales and marketing activity of Regal Appliance, Inc. All programs with Regal's customers will remain in place. There will not be any change that will adversely affect the activities of Regal's customers.

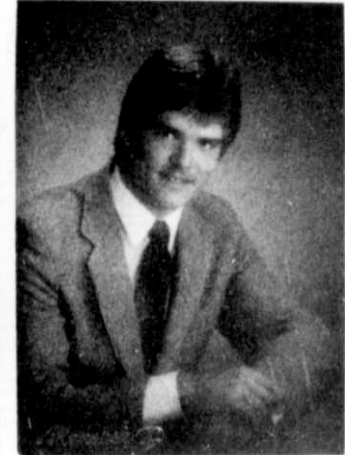

This acquisition is another step towards Regal's goal of becoming a full line producer and supplier of top quality food preparation, storage, and service items to the housewares industry. The move strengthens Regal's position in the marketplace and offers the most complete line of housewares products available from one source.

Regal Ware, Inc. is a closely-held, multi-plant housewares manufacturer with corporate offices in Kewaskum, Wisconsin. Regal products are distributed nationwide through virtually every channel of trade, and in much of the free world.

question, we have to refer back to our attorney."

"I know John Long was up for non-renewal and I think it's about time we might not renew the School Board," stated Tessar. "something has to be done. When you go through two superintendents in three years, three business managers in three years, you lose one of your top principals, and we lost how many teachers, we don't have a coach or advisor to coach our kids, there's something wrong. And, it's the school board's job not the administrators to see that it gets done."

The board also drew fire from Clara Trapp, a Town of Scott resident, who asked Goeden, "who created the job as consultant for Mr. Long as stated in the paper? And when was that job voted on?" "He's still doing it right now," said Goeden. "he's a consultant to us for education." "He's a superintendent to you," Trapp told Goeden.

Trapp told Goeden she had all the correspondence (which she refused to show to the press) from the two law firms of Quarles and Brady, and Cook and Franke on how the consultant's terms were negotiated. "This district wants to know where the $14,100 is coming from that is going to be paid John Long when you dismiss him on June 31st," said Trapp. Goeden told Trapp she didn't know where she had gotten her information since that was kept confidential. While information has definitely been leaking out of the closed sessions, no names has been attached to that leak.

"One anonymous source has indicated the Board's actions were taken in an effort to allow Long the opportunity to resign rather than be dismissed, thereby protecting his professional reputation and status. With the turn of events over the past few weeks, however, the Board may have been better off to air the situation in public.

If the Board felt there were some problems regarding performance of the administrator's position, maybe, an open discussion could have rectified them or clarified what was expected in fulfilling the duties of the job.

It is possible too, that district residents would have felt they had a say in the operations of their school district, having had the opportunity to voice their concerns and worked with, rather than fought against the board.

It may well be the district would have agreed with the board's actions. As it stands now, there is confusion, concern, anger, and hard feelings directed at everyone.

Perhaps it's time the School Board brought more to the public meetings and less to the closed sessions. There is no denying there are times for closed sessions, but there is also a time for open sessions.

Looking back over these past weeks, it appears that the insinuations and rumors have proven to be far more damaging to all concerned than facts brought out into the open.

budget. Gorder indicated insurance, aids and attorney bills accounted for some of the deficit.

District Administrator John Long had only one comment regarding the financial report and it was directed at Brigham. "I told you last year on cutting that $176,000, we had cut the budget to the bone at that time."

Long was referring to a statement he had made at the annual meeting, when he told the board and the voters that when the end of the year came they look back and remember his warning about cutting the budget further.

Horner gave a brief report on CESA 6's building plans. He said the CESA Board of Control has voted to proceed with building on the Oshkosh site, with a lease with option to purchase clause. Horner noted, however, CESA is only two school district votes short of going with its original plan to buy the building immediately. He said that CESA hopes to convince two more districts to change their votes and approve the construction/purchase plan because it would be the most economical and cost saving route to proceed for everyone.

The Board approved a Negotiations Committee recommendation to add a secretary/bookkeeper position to the administrative office staff. Brigham said the present employees are working 585 overtime hours per year. He noted that the office is working with one less staff than it had last year.

The new position will handle secretarial duties and assist with bookkeeping. The cost will run $17,075 to $18,054, depending upon the qualification of the applicant.

The Board voted 4 to 1, to institute a seventh grade Spanish class at the Middle School for the 1985-86 school year. A German class was also recommended but no action was taken on it since there are presently not enough students interested to form a class.

The board vetoed a recommendation to implement Home Economics and Industrial Arts courses as Middle School elective classes for 1985-86. Horner said he would prefer to see a "core course" type program set up. That program would be broken down into nine-week segments allowing students to get an introduction to several subjects such as keyboarding, Home Ec, Industrial Art, and Computers.

The board also voted to drop contract damages charged to two teachers who were asked to resign from their jobs. This decision reverses an earlier vote which sought to make the teachers liable for the $200 charge for breaking a contract.

Ms. Gorder reported the consultant hired to do a district energy audit had completed his work and paperwork would now be filed to make the district eligible for a state energy conservation grant.

On behalf of the Wayne Elementary School, Principal Tom Larsen accepted a check for $100 donated by the Kohlsville/Wayne Jaycees for the purchase of library books. Larsen presented Chapter President Pat Hanrahan with a certificate recognizing the organization's contribution and its fine work in the community.

Larsen also informed the board that the finals of the district's spelling bee will be held March 21st, at 7:00 in the Middle School.

The Kewaskum Booster Club will also hold its basketball night on March 23rd, with teams facing off against teams from some of the local volunteer fire departments. The public is invited to attend.

The board voted to accept the resignation of Mrs. Jeane Backhaus Moe, who will be retiring at the end of the school year after 33 years of teaching.

The board then adjourned to closed session.

Wayne Girl Scout Sunday

OPENING FLAG CEREMONY

On Sunday, Mar. 10, the Wayne Girl Scouts held their second annual Sunday Brunch at Wayne Elementary School. The special guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hohlweck. Mr. Hohlweck is the Wayne town board chairman.

After an opening flag ceremony, the delicious food, prepared by all the scouts' families was enjoyed by all.

After lunch there were awards and thank you's to be given. Four girls from Wayne earned the "I Live My Faith" award. They are: Angela Brath, Sarah Brath, Katie Boland, and Jennifer Bringham. They received their medals at services at St. Anthony's Church that morning.

Juniors from troop 223 all received a theater badge, that they have been working on for quite some time.

Cadette troop 20 has been working on an interest patch entitled "Invitation to Dance," and they did a dance number for us. Then all the girl scouts got all the parents in on the act, with a good old sing-along. We taught the parents some of the songs the girls enjoyed. It was truly an afternoon of full stomachs and good fellowship.

Many thanks to all the leaders who worked very hard to make this a Girl Scout Sunday to remember.

KHS Student Government To Sponsor Blood Drive

The Kewaskum Student Government will be sponsoring their annual blood drive from 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on March 18 in the old gym of the high school. The main purpose of the drive is to help develop the habit of giving blood among the juniors and seniors of Kewaskum High School, so that they will continue to donate throughout their lives. Community members who did not donate on March 6th are encouraged to stop by and donate along with the students.

The Blood Center of Southeastern Wisconsin, which collects the blood, supplies hospitals throughout our area. Much of the blood is separated into its component parts so that it may help more than one patient. The blood that is donated on March 18 will probably be used within three days of collection.

The donation of blood requires about forty minutes, with only about five minutes being actual collection time, and most of the rest consisting of answering health questions and resting after donation.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO MEET TUESDAY

The March meeting of the Kewaskum Historical Society is scheduled for 8 p.m. on Tuesday, March 19, at the Kewaskum Public Library.

The society will be holding a trade or exchange for members. The public is invited.

To the Parents and Sports Fans of KHS Athletes:

For the past two weeks there have been letters to the editor dealing with unfairness to athletes who sit on the bench.

In my opinion this is not unfairness. It is simply called "SPORTS." In any kind of sport you will have players who sit on the bench (pro, college, and high school). Sitting on the bench is part of the game and if the athlete can't accept this then he/she should not go out for the sport. If a coach could field players that could win a game, but can't because he has to play all the players no matter how good or bad they are, isn't it unfair to the better players who can't play and have to watch their team lose when they could have possibly won it?

I am an athlete, and I was also a member of the 1983 football team what went to Madison. I played on and off throughout the season but I also sat on the bench quite often. I didn't mind because we were a team. We played as a team. We won as a team and we lost as a team. Everyone had as much to do with our success as the other player. If this is a question of sportsmanship then I think the players on the bench deserve congratulations for not complaining and being a good sport! And I, along with many other athletes I have talked to, think the parents and sports fans that complain about unfairness have been rude to our coaches and principal.

A Very Enraged Athlete!

To the Editor:

This letter is in reply to the Letters to the Editor in the March 1 and March 8 issues, in which the writers recommended that more emphasis be placed on sportsmanship and giving all players a chance to play, rather than winning.

We disagree. Everyone plays to win, whether it be individual or team, amateur or professional. If you don't play to win, why field a team at all, why go through all the practice and training? Players should earn the right to make the team.

Suppose 50 boys came out for the basketball team. Would you suggest the coach play every boy in every game, regardless of the outcome?

Our impression is that the coaches substitute too much, too freely, and this has lost many games for Kewaskum.

Nobody supports a loser!

TO THE EDITOR:

After having sons and daughters in the Kewaskum High School system for the past dozen years or so and having some of them compete in high school sports, I would like to comment on how I see some of these programs.

The Kewaskum school system has not been blessed with very many talented athletes, boys and girls that are born with natural ability. The survivors are the kids that work year around from little on developing and improving their athletic skills and competing in organized leagues. Once kids get into high school, and realize they aren't as skilled or improving as fast as others, they join other activities and participate where they are more suited, or should have jobs that become more important.

Take boys' basketball for instance. On paper, it looked like a good year. When the seniors were freshmen, they won the conference. Last year the JV's were second with a very respectful record. So what may have happened? We won 1 more game in conference than last year, but the competition around the area was better. Players didn't keep improving, maybe some players had past their peak of development, others maybe were tired of playing high school sports and didn't give their all, others maybe didn't think they had to work hard every day in practice to succeed. Improving one part of a player's game does not guarantee success. Every team member must work daily to improve shooting, passing, offense, defense and most of all, teamwork to be the best there is.

The Kewaskum area does not have the development programs like YMCA that large cities have where kids from 4th grade on up play in organized leagues year around. Our kids who come out for freshman football have had only flag football in Jr. High, whereas larger cities have tackle football from 4-5th grade on. Kewaskum does not have organized programs under a coaches direction to develop skills below 7th grade.

Kids that continually ride the bench and get to play very little should realize that they don't have the talent and skill level it takes to compete. The kids that don't have the talent should perhaps quit and go on to many other activities that the high schools offer, like intramurals. If your kid does not start when he is a freshman or JV, it's not likely he will play at all at varsity level. The percentage of kids that compete when they are seniors is much less than when they were freshmen, but look at all the other activities that they can be part of.

Too few parents send their kids to school for an education. Most are satisfied when they pass, but these parents complain the loudest when their kid rides the bench in a sport. Do they ride the bench in the classroom?

Colleges look at grades and class rank first, then activities, as a requirement for incoming students, when seniors apply to a good college.

I was fortunate to have children who wanted to go to school to learn, who wanted the tougher classes, and who wanted classroom challenges. Some of them competed up to varsity level and did very well. Others knew their limitations and went on to other activities. Most of them went on to schools of higher learning, all graduated with degrees from college or technical schools and have top notch jobs in industry and business.

More gifted and talented programs are needed. Students need better challenges. Talented students need more recognition all the way down to kindergarten.

Mr. Long did a lot in 3 years to improve education in the district. I don't think that the school board realized it. One of his few faults that I could see was that he wasn't a yes man like the district had in the past. I hope the school board will not hire a yes man, but will hire someone that will continue improving education in the district. We don't need a yes man in the job.

A Satisfied Taxpayer

Letter to the Editor, Coaches & Principal:

I would like to commend you for printing two articles in the March 1st issue. The first was the Editorial on "How You Play the Game." I think everyone should read it and understand what true sportsmanship really means. I have seen some conduct of poor sportsmanship right at our own high school. I feel some people have the impression that winning is the only acceptable result, and that if one loses it is classified as a failure. We should be teaching our youth fair play and how to be graceful losers. I have seen some hostile attitudes among coaches, players and parents because their team didn't win. I feel this is a terrible injustice to our youth. You can still have a drive to win, using sportsmanship as a guideline. I want to thank Mr. Coulter who took over the J.V. basketball team. He took over and had to deal with many problems that were created before he took over.

I also agree with the Letter to the Editor from "A Very Enraged Parent." Everything she said hit very close to home, because my son quit for the very same reasons. I think it is time for a change, especially on the basketball team, since this is the only thing I am familiar with. My son is no longer interested in sports at all, and basketball was his first love. I just wonder how many boys have dropped out of sports or are hesitant to even try out because of what they hear from other students. It is no wonder we have poor participation in certain sports.

I think it is time for more parents to speak out and defend the rights of their sons and daughters in school activities. I know it doesn't help for one person to stand up and be counted, but it certainly helps for several parents to speak out. Maybe someone will listen, if enough people care to speak up. Our children are supposed to be in a learning process during high school. We should remember these kids are not professional ball players, they don't have to win. It is always nice to win of course, but let's be fair-minded in the processes.

Maybe there will always be problems like this, and maybe this letter won't change a thing. But at least I feel better for expressing myself.

Thank-you,
An Enlightened Parent.

Letter to the Editor - For the Citizens of Washington County:

I care about newspapers. They are extremely important in making our system of government, and, indeed, our way of life work. When I see a bad newspaper, and bad journalists at work, such as I allegedly see in the West Bend News, then, I not only get very upset; I believe they are dangerous to all of us.

Maybe, I care too much about newspapers; more than the allegedly consistently irresponsible and weak people who come and go at the West Bend News. The biases, the prejudices, the pettiness, the viciousness remain in spite of the comings and goings of personnel there, and indeed, even through changes of ownership. So, it is fairly obvious that someone else is controlling this newspaper, regardless of who is there, and this someone has been doing this consistently for about 15 years. Yes, sometimes, the tail does wag the dog. The personnel there has been allegedly allowing it, for some strange reason. Maybe, there is nothing that can be done about it, except to cut off advertising and subscriptions, refuse to talk to them, and choose another newspaper.

The latest incident, which prompts this letter, was the derogatory reference to me in a front page article March 5, 1985 on a County Park and Planning Commission meeting. This reference was not written by any trained journalist, obviously, in spite of the byline given to the young reporter. It was a hatchet job, once again, by some perverse person or persons with self-interest in mind. I have observed this same allegedly vicious hatchet job done on others over the past 15 years.

The readers, and citizens, of course, are the real losers. They are being denied the truth, which they need to act wisely for the general welfare, and against special interests. And, of course, the readers, and citizens, always get stuck with the bill in increased taxes and a lower quality of life, while others laugh all the way to the bank.

I don't want to repeat the garbage printed about me in the West Bend News. If you got the impression that I am opposed to West Bend Mayor Donald Gonring, Alderman Tony Spaeth, and County Supervisor Ray Keppler, and their partner, Al Voigt, and their fine feathered friend, Dave Zoerb, chief of County zoning, in this latest extravaganza, you are correct. I do want to emphasize that the so-called editor, Don Kosterman, knew better than to run a story like that. I previously spent much of my precious time explaining what I was trying to accomplish to a very "sympathetic" Kosterman, only to receive another knife in the back, as have so many others of goodwill and public spirit. I did this, despite great trepidation, because I feel the public's right to know what is going on is so important, and thus the need to upgrade our newspapers is so important. But, now, I am reminded of an old saying, "You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear."

I know what I'm talking about. I have a university degree in Journalism, and worked successfully for many years with journalists throughout the United States and especially, throughout the State of Wisconsin. I guess I still identify with them more than with any other group. In many cases, we journalists became friends. I was a member of the Madison Press Club, and worked to get fellow women journalists into the Milwaukee Press Club. I moved on to other things, then, including teaching American history at the university level. In short, I care, and I am criticizing as an insider.

Only here in Washington County, after all these years, have I had any trouble with "the press," if you can call it that. And you, dear readers, are being short-changed a lot. This West Bend News used to be a daily paper, but somebody ground it down just about into the ground, to a twice a week paper, and now it appears they are going to grind it down some more, into a weekly, or into non-existence. Now, these people obviously do not have the money to rescue this paper when it falters because of their bad practices, or, if they do, they obviously are not willing to spend it. Another image comes to mind here, that of a train hurtling down the tracks, with a bunch of young, greedy, sniveling, incompetents at the controls. My impulse is to say, "Let it crash." But, and I repeat for emphasis, I care, and, perhaps, too much about newspapers. They are not toys for even aging kids to handle.

Now, then, dear readers, I want to let you in on a well kept secret, something that you presently have not been able to read in your local newspapers, although the personnel there, and local officials ought to be well aware of it. I only enter into a situation where I feel I am needed. When I find myself a part of the majority, which is most of the time, I don't get involved. I pick out only the tough cases, where I am, and except to be, a temporary minority. And I'm on your side, readers. When I see corruption, or the possibility of corruption, I will become active against it to the best of my ability.

This does not mean that we always have to agree on all issues to appreciate one another. It does mean, though, that we must have the information needed to discuss the issues, and make the decisions to the best of our ability, and then work together. I can't recall when I have seen an honest exchange of views on really important issues in the West Bend News. The extreme, one-sided view is always there. I note this even when my view is prevailing, and I am embarrassed about the coverage. This is not in the interest of our society. And you can be sure I am no political extremist.

So, how do we get rid of the garbage? My people come from this area; my roots go back more than a century in Washington county. We are a good people. Let's get it all together. I will welcome your suggestions in writing at the above address. You probably will be hearing from me again, if the "press" will allow it. And, in the meanwhile, don't let anybody "con" you.

Marilyn Reinhardt

Area Students Have Parts in UW- Fond du Lac Play

Casting has been completed for the play "The Red Shoes" to be performed by the University of Wisconsin Center-Fond du Lac, according to director Dr. John Frick.

"The Red Shoes" will be performed on Saturday, March 23, at noon and 2 p.m. and Sunday, March 24, at 1 p.m. in the Student Center at the UW Center-Fond du Lac. Admission is 25 cents.

The play centers around a pair of magical red dancing shoes which have fallen into the hands of Rexnardo J. Snogg, an evil gypsy, who plans to use them to make his fortune. While visiting a small town, Snogg entices a young girl to try on the shoes. Once they are on her feet Snogg refuses to let her take them off. She is lured to dance for audiences throughout the land until she is ultimately rescued by Snogg's once faithful clown.

A children's play, adapted by Robin Short from a fairy tale by Hans Christian Anderson, stars Dr. John B. Heil, physics professor at the campus. Heil has served as the Maitre'd at recent Madrigal Dinners held by the Center and starred as Henri in another campus production "My Three Angels." He has also made appearances as a villain in several campus vaudeville productions.

Robbie Twohig, a freshman from Campbellsport, plays Karen, the recipient of the shoes. Robbie played in last fall's production of "The Real Inspector Hound." She also played Dinner Theatre at the Heidel House and several high school performances while at Campbellsport High School. She has been in several Madrigal Dinners at the campus — this year as a UWC-FDL student and previous years with sisters Mary Ann and Patti.

Patti Twohig plays Jenno the clown. A former UWC-FDL student now a senior at UW-Oshkosh, Patti is currently involved in Dinner Theatre at the Heidel House. While at Fond du Lac, she was in five Madrigal Dinners and in two vaudeville shows.

Jody Bauer, a sophomore from Campbellsport, plays Aunt Josephine. Jody has been involved in the Madrigal Dinners, vaudeville shows and in the UW Center Jazz Band and Swing Choirs. She also performed in her senior class play.

Mike Emmer, a sophomore from Mayville, plays Nels, the cobbler apprentice. Mike is a member of the choir and the forensics team. He also participated in two Madrigal Dinners. While at Mayville, Mike acted in "Anything Goes" and the "Wizard of Oz."

John Dalton, Fond du Lac,

plays the Village Burgomaster. John was in this year's Madrigal Dinner, is a member of the choir and was in technical theater in California.

Assistant directors are Heidi Nonn, Campbellsport, and Mary Straub, Kewaskum. Matt Koechel, Fond du Lac, is the stage manager. Valerie Lawson, an alumnus of the center, is the choreographer.

The set construction crew includes Mary Mikalofsky, Chris Cohen and Karen Goebel, Fond du Lac; and Bill Gudex, Campbellsport.

The play will tour area elementary schools the following week. For information, call the UW Center-Fond du Lac, 929-3600.

It's a day for all Americans to recognize the importance of agriculture, and heartily salute the men and women across the nation who contribute to the success and strength of our greatest industry.

THE BUSINESS OF FOOD & FIBER

Agriculture Day - March 20 - The first day of spring

Agriculture makes life possible

Agriculture Day salutes the achievements of the working men and women across America who are involved in agriculture — from the miners of the ores that go into tractor steel to farmers and to cashiers at our neighborhood restaurants.

These workers make up one-fifth of the workforce and are responsible for 20 percent of our gross national product. The same people make agriculture the nation's largest source of both jobs and exports.

Agriculture is the business of food and fiber, one that affects all of us. We ask you to join us in saluting the entire agricultural industry, in Wisconsin and across the nation on March 20, 1985.

Farm Management Analysts to Be Hired To Assist in County Farm SOS Program

The University of Wisconsin Cooperative Extension Service is responding to the farm financial situation with an expanded program to assist family farms. The program is being organized under the heading of SOS (Strategies on Survival).

This concept is directing additional resources and Extension Agents' time to working with farm families to provide assistance. Agricultural Agents and Home Economists will be receiving additional training and will be redirecting their time to these efforts.

In addition to present Cooperative Extension Service staff, part-time individuals will be hired as Farm Management Analysts. The Farm Management Analyst will provide one-on-one farm business analysis to farm families with financial problems, including guidance to the family as they evaluate alternatives, select a course of action, and implement their decisions. Counseling will generally involve about 10 hours per family.

Cooperative Extension Service is looking for individuals who would like to be considered for the position of Farm Management Analyst. It will involve approximately 25 days of work scheduled sometime within the next five to six months.

Qualifications include a minimum of five years of work experience in farm management, farm finance or closely related areas such as with a financial lending or educational institute. A college degree in agriculture or business related areas is preferred. The individual also needs to possess a working knowledge about farming. Individuals interested in more information can contact the Washington County Cooperative Extension Service for a copy of the position description and application form. Application forms need to be returned to the Washington County Cooperative Extension Service by Tuesday, March 19. Candidates that qualify will be invited in to an interview session on Friday, March 22.

Area Dairy Farmers Attend Conference

Dairy farmers from the Washington County Farm Bureau were told what consumers want, and how they can fulfill those wants, when they attended the annual Dairy Conference sponsored by the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation's Dairy Advisory Committee.

The meeting was held Thursday, March 7th in Madison. Local dairymen who attended included: Michael Lettow, Kewaskum; Fred Listedt, Colgate; Dick Mayer, Slinger; Carlton Martin, Germantown; and Barbara Schulz, Farm Bureau Intern, from Allenton.

According to Jim Jarvis, a dairy farmer from Wautoma, and chairman of the WFBF Dairy Advisory Committee, "This conference was designed to help us dairymen become aware of the issues we'll be dealing with over the next year."

Photographer Edw. C. Miller has invented a new apparatus for taking flash-light pictures which is something real wonderful. The old method of taking flash-light pictures was by lighting the illuminating powder with a fuse, which was dangerous in operating and sometimes caused fires. With this new apparatus the danger is entirely eliminated. The flash is set off at the same instant the exposure is made, with an electric battery and thereby making a perfect picture.

... about your Social Security

By David Becker, Social Security Branch Manager in West Bend

KNOW WHEN TO CONTACT SOCIAL SECURITY

It is important for the people in the Milwaukee area to know when they should get in touch with Social Security, David W. Becker, Social Security manager in West Bend, said recently.

Not knowing when to contact Social Security could mean lost benefits which could never be recovered, Becker said.

A person should contact Social Security:

- Before getting his or her first job because a Social Security number is required to get proper Social Security credit for earnings. People who change their names should also contact Social Security. This should be done at least 2 weeks before the number will be needed.

- After a death in the family to see if survivor benefits can be paid.

- When someone in the family is disabled to find out if disability benefits can be paid.

- At retirement — at 65 for full rate benefits, or as early as 62 for reduced benefits. A person should sign up for Medicare 2 or 3 months before 65, even if there are no retirement plans.

- Any time there is a question about Social Security. When a person calls Social Security, the people there can tell:

- How much work credit is needed to be insured for benefits.

- Who can receive benefits.

- How to replace a lost Social Security or Medicare card.

- How to get a free statement of the earnings reported to the person's Social Security record.

- What documents a person needs when applying for benefits.

For more information about Social Security, call the Social Security office at 1-800-242-9946.

Tax Law Changes Noted on Form 1040

Taxpayers using Form 1040 to file their Federal income tax returns this year should be aware of some new tax changes, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

If you itemize deductions on Schedule A (Form 1040), you should note that the deduction for medical and dental expenses has changed. Beginning in 1984, you may deduct only medicine and drug costs that are for prescribed drugs or insulin. A prescribed drug is one that requires a doctor's prescription for its use by an individual. Expenses for non-prescription medicine and drugs are not deductible.

In addition, you may be able to deduct up to $50 a night for lodging expenses you paid while away from home to receive certain medical care. You may also be able to deduct up to $50 a night for a person who must accompany you.

However, lodging expenses and the costs of prescription drugs and insulin are subject to the 5% limitation that allows you to deduct only the part of your medical and dental expenses that are more than 5% of your adjusted gross income.

Another significant change this year affects some social security recipients. Some social security benefits may be taxable under certain conditions. Individuals who received social security benefits in 1984 will be mailed a Form SSA-1099 by the Social Security Administration which lists the net benefits for the year. Some of these benefits may be taxable if a person's taxable income, plus one-half of the net social security benefits, plus any tax-exempt interest received in 1984 is more than $25,000 for single filers or $32,000 if married filing a joint return.

Special instructions and a worksheet will be provided in IRS Notice 703 which will be sent with the SSA-1099 form to help determine taxable benefits.

This year the maximum deduction for charitable contributions for non-itemizers has increased from $25 to $75. Generally, for 1984, if you do not itemize your deductions, you can deduct 25% of your qualified charitable contributions, but not more than $75. If married filing separately, the maximum deduction is $37.50.

The Credit for the Elderly is modified for 1984, and the Disability Income Exclusion no longer applies. The credit is now called the Credit for the Elderly and the Permanently and Totally Disabled. Taxpayers under 65 can now take the credit only if they retired on permanent and total disability. Schedule R, filed with Form 1040, outlines this credit and the qualifications for taking it.

A one-time credit that helps some owners of diesel-powered vehicles is new for tax year 1984. To offset the increase in the diesel fuel tax from 9c to 15c per gallon on August 1, 1984, owners of certain 1979 or later model year diesel-powered vehicles are entitled to a one-time credit or refund if they owned the vehicles on January 1, 1985. The credit or refund varies from $17 to $102 for a car and $33 to $198 for a truck or van with a gross vehicle weight of 10,000 pounds or less, depending on the model year.

Finally, the rate of tax for all income brackets has been reduced for 1984. However, no additional computation is needed because the reduction has been built into the Tax Table and the Tax Rate Schedules found in the tax package.

For more details on tax law changes, and Form 1040 plus the instruction on how to prepare it, refer to the Form 1040 tax package.

Tax forms are available free from many banks, post offices, and local libraries. Extra forms and tax publications can also be ordered using the order form in the tax package or by calling the IRS toll-free Tax Forms/Information number, 1-800-424-1040.

Calamity Jane, the Western folk hero, was married a dozen times.

Overweight Trucking Suspended During The Spring Thaw

Movement of overweight loads on highways in southern Wisconsin is banned as of daylight Sunday, March 3, and in the northern portions beginning March 10.

The state Department of Transportation has temporarily suspended the overweight provisions of all trucking permits issued on an annual basis in order to protect roads during the spring thaw.

The ban went into effect March 3 on highway south of a line composed of WIS 29 from Kewaunee to Chippewa Falls, US 53 from Chippewa Falls to Eau Claire and I-94 from Eau Claire to Hudson. The weight restrictions went into effect March 10 for roads north of that line. The suspension of overweight permits does not apply to trips which are entirely within Milwaukee County.

During the period of suspension, the department may consider requests to move loads which exceed statutory restrictions on a single trip basis. The single trip permits could be issued only after the applicant submitted an itinerary and the department had determined that it would not jeopardize the highway surfaces. Single trip permits are valid only for state trunk highways, and separate permits must be obtained from local governments if county or town roads are involved.

The department will reinstate the overweight permit provisions when the highway subgrade conditions stabilize.

Clarence A. Schwartz, Sheriff

Failure to Stop for Ambulance and Other Emergency Vehicles Can Be Costly

Failure to pull over to the right side of the road and stop when you hear the siren of an approaching ambulance or other emergency vehicle can cost a hefty $120.00 and four (4) points on your driving record. That's the "warning" from Clarence Schwartz, Sheriff of Washington County.

The $120.00 is the amount recommended by the Wisconsin Judicial Association as the standard bond deposit, which includes the penalty assessment and court costs. The bond deposit is the same amount as the forfeiture in most cases, the Sheriff noted.

Wisconsin law requires that upon approach of any authorized emergency vehicle giving audible signal by siren, the driver shall yield the right-of-way and immediately drive to a position as near as possible to the right curb or right-hand edge of the shoulder, clear of any intersection, and remain stopped until the emergency vehicle has passed.

The Sheriff said that the only drivers that do not have to pull to the right and stop are those in the opposite roadway of a highway that is divided only by a median or other physical barrier. Drivers on a multi-lane highway that is divided only by painted signs, must stop from both directions, as do those in both lanes of a two-lane undivided highway.

"Drivers should be cautious when pulling out after the vehicle has passed, since more than one emergency vehicle may respond to the same emergency," Sheriff Schwartz concluded.

Major Step Taken to Cleanse Milwaukee River of Pollution

MILWAUKEE — a major step towards a cleaner Milwaukee River (which runs through Kewaskum) was taken recently by the two agencies coordinating the regional effort.

The Department of Natural Resources and the Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission announced completion and publication of a Milwaukee River Basin draft prospectus, an outline of steps to be taken in the next decade to cleanse the river of nonpoint source pollution and develop it into a major recreational asset.

Nonpoint source pollution is a form of water pollution that comes from such noninstitutional sources as runoff from construction sites, city streets, farm fields, barnyards and riverbanks. Since sewage treatment plants and industries have controlled their discharges into the Milwaukee River in recent years, the remaining river pollution is considered to come primarily from nonpoint sources.

"The main purpose of the prospectus is to identify the best means for carrying out the Milwaukee River program," said Jeff Bode, DNR water resource manager. "It states what and where information needs to be collected, by whom it will be collected and analyzed, how much cleanup steps will cost, and when they should be completed."

A prospectus advisory committee composed of 20 members representing local governments, agencies, and organizations reviewed and prospectus at 1:30 p.m., Thursday, February 28, at Mequon City Hall, 11333 N. Cedarburg Road.

A limited number of copies of the document are available by contacting Bode at Southeast District Department of Natural Resources, P.O. Box 12436, Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53212.

A next step in the program is to prepare a plan for pollution control projects in each of the five watersheds into which the Milwaukee River Basin is divided. These watersheds are the East and West branch, North branch, Cedar Creek, Menomonee River, and Lower Milwaukee River. The plans will be prepared by the state in cooperation with the local governments involved. Seven counties, 12 cities, 24 villages, and 30 towns are contained in the 800-square-mile river basin. The river drains areas of Dodge, Fond du Lac, Milwaukee, Ozaukee, Sheboygan, Washington and Waukesha Counties.

Other immediate next-steps include compiling inventory information from each of the watersheds and encouraging formation of advisory committees composed of local officials in each watershed.

The inventories will identify the most significant barnyards and feedlots, eroding croplands, eroding streambanks, construction sites, and established urban areas contributing to the nonpoint source problem. This process should be completed by 1987.

Projects to control nonpoint source pollution will be jointly developed by local and state agencies, using the inventory base information, and will be implemented by the counties and cities. Cooperating local governments will have help, including financial help, from the state.

The prospectus seeks to control nonpoint source pollution on a schedule that parallels that of the Milwaukee Metropolitan Sewerage District which is working to abate pollution by rebuilding part of the Milwaukee sewer system.

Goals of the Milwaukee River program, as described in the prospectus, are "to achieve healthy and balanced aquatic communities in the near-shore waters of Lake Michigan, the harbor estuary, the rivers and streams, and the inland lakes." The program aims for "healthy and enjoyable outdoor recreation" in additional areas of the Milwaukee River Basin. More swimming, boating, fishing and sightseeing are foreseen as the river basin realizes its recreational potential.

Members of the prospectus advisory committee are: Bruce J. Baker, director, WDNR Bureau of Water Resources Management; Kurt W. Bauer, executive director, Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission; Jeffrey B. Bode, water quality management unit leader, Southeast District, WDNR; Margaret A. Farrow, president, Village of Elm Grove; Donald L. Gonring, mayor, City of West Bend.

Donald S. Houtman, land resource specialist, Land Resources Bureau, Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection; Norman C. Huth, director, Milwaukee County Conservation Alliance; Gary W. Jackson, water quality educational coordinator, University of Wisconsin-Extension; Milton Krumhus, chairman, Ozaukee County Land Conservation Committee; Edwin J. Laszewski, Jr., city engineer, City of Milwaukee; Harold E. Lindemann, chairman, Sheboygan County Board of Supervisors; Patrick Marchese, executive director, Milwaukee Metropolitan Sewerage District; Jo Ellen Mulder, president, Wisconsin Land Conservation Association.

Lloyd G. Owens, chairman, Agriculture and Resource Committee, Waukesha County Board of Supervisors; Steve W. Payne, area conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture; Donald A. Roensch, administrator, director of Public Works and city engineer, City of Mequon; Leonard A. Rosenbaum, chairman, Fond du Lac County Land Conservation Committee; Reuben J. Schmahl, chairman, Washington County Board of Supervisors and chairman, Town of Jackson; Hilbert Schuenemann, farmer, chairman, Washington County ASC Committee and member, Washington County Land Conservation Committee; Gerald Schwerm, transportation director, Milwaukee County Department of Public Works.

Panzer Makes Appeal For Farmers on Trip To Washington, D.C.

MADISON. . . Representative Mary Panzer (R-West Bend) has returned from Washington, D.C. where she met with Secretary of Agriculture John Block, Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole and members of the Wisconsin Congressional delegation concerning the plight of American farmers.

According to Panzer, the meetings helped open the channels of communication between state and federal leaders.

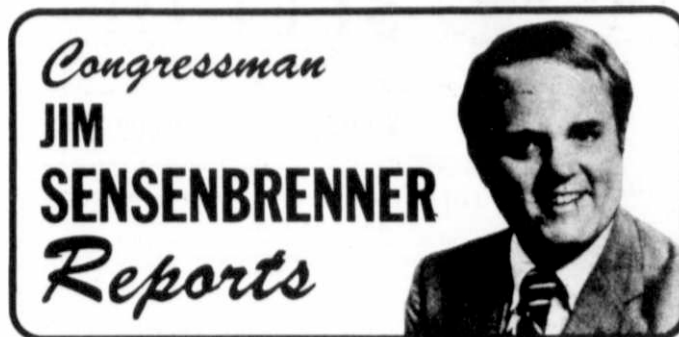

"One of the main things this trip accomplished was in improving communication with our leaders in Washington. By the large number of farm state legislators attending, we were able to send a clear message to Washington of the severity of the problem," stated Panzer.

Panzer pointed out that three proposals are currently being pushed: drafting of the 1985 Farm Bill, a farm credit bill that would make immediate loans available to qualifying farms in time for spring planting, and the continuation of the Milk Diversion Program through October of 1985.

Panzer made and financed the trip herself "because the farmer's crisis could not be put off. With spring planting season approaching, many farmers need to have help right away."

"Knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers."

CONGRESS RELEASES HIGHWAY FUNDS

After a year and a half of delay, Congress finally passed legislation, H.R. 1251, to release $7.2 billion to the states for Interstate highway construction. This is good news for Wisconsin which will receive an estimated $79 million for 1985 and 1986.

The measure, which provides funds for road building in 42 states, (including 57 Wisconsin highway projects) now goes to President Reagan. Many Republican House Members and the Administration have pressed for an austere version of the Interstate Cost Estimate, (ICE), which requires approval on Capitol Hill before funds can be released. The measure was stalled for 18 months because Members of Congress tried to attach additional specific projects to the bill and other Members protested causing a stalemate. The worst offender has been House Speaker Tip O'Neill (D-Mass.), who wanted to add his center-city Boston highway project, commonly referred to as "Tip's tunnel" which would have otherwise been ineligible for interstate funds. This project is estimated to cost $2.2 billion.

This bill does not specifically approve funding for Tip's tunnel. It does, however, include a portion of the estimated cost of the tunnel if it is determined to be qualified. In order for the project to proceed it must get approved by the Department of Transportation or Congress. You can expect this to be a controversial point when Congress reauthorizes the Surface Transportation Act in the future.

In light of the $2.2 billion cost of Tip's tunnel and the need to cut our deficit, I will work to see this and other pro-pork projects eliminated from other transportation legislation.

Allow 10 Weeks for Tax Refund Checks

Taxpayers filing their 1984 federal income tax returns and claiming refunds should wait at least 10 weeks to contact the Internal Revenue Service about their refund.

Generally, taxpayers who file returns early in the year may receive refunds in less than 10 weeks, unless the return was incorrect in some manner, according to the IRS.

Those taxpayers filing returns after February 1 should wait at least until after April 16 to contact the IRS about refunds.

Taxpayers who expect a refund and move after filing their tax return should notify the IRS and the Postal Service.

NATIONAL CHILDREN'S DENTAL HEALTH MONTH
FEBRUARY 1985

ADA American Dental Association
©Henson Associates, Inc. 1985

The Washington - Ozaukee County Dental Society brings you this article in observance of National Children's Dental Health Month. It is the eighth and final article in a series on "The Many Worlds of Dentistry."

Just as some dentists are interested in a particular type of dental treatment, others are concerned with a particular group of people.

Take children, for example. Only in the past fifty years has the importance of healthy primary (baby) teeth been recognized. Yet these are the only teeth the child will have for the first six years of life, and some of them will remain in the child's mouth until about age 12. As well as being used for chewing, speaking, and smiling, the primary teeth also reserve space in the jaw for the permanent teeth. If a primary tooth is lost too early, the teeth beside it may drift into the empty space. This may not leave enough room for the permanent tooth when it is ready to come in.

Dentists recommended that children have their first dental examination before age 2. During this examination, the child's mouth will be checked to see if there are any dental problems developing. If such problems already exist, they can be treated before serious damage occurs. The dentist can also advise the parents on how the child should get the fluoride needed for good dental health and can show the parents how to brush and floss the child's teeth. Finally, early dental visits help the child and the dentist establish a friendly relationship that can help lead to a lifetime of good dental habits.

You can make an appointment for your child with your family dentist or with a pedodontist. A pedodontist is a dentist who has additional training in this area of dentistry and who limits his or her practice to the diagnosis and treatment of children's dental problems. In particular, children with mental and emotional problems may benefit from the pedodontist's special training.

At the other end of the spectrum are those dentists with a special interest in the problems of the elderly. As about half of those over age 65 have at least some of their natural teeth, these problems include far more than the making or refitting of dentures.

For example, two out of three cavities occurring in people over 50 are recurrent decay—that is, decay in areas that were decayed and filled earlier. Today's older adults usually have many such repaired areas because they grew up without the benefits of fluoridated water and other ways of getting fluoride. Also, since many of them have receding gums, they are at increased risk of decay affecting the roots of the teeth.

Periodontal disease also becomes more common as people grow older. Roughly two-thirds of those over 65 have at least the early stages of this disease, which can cause the loss of healthy teeth.

Some older adults have difficulty brushing and flossing their teeth because of arthritis. Others cannot get the nutrients they need for good general health because they have trouble chewing. Still others may have a condition called "dry mouth," in which the supply of saliva is greatly reduced.

Whatever the state of their dental health, all other adults should see a dentist regularly. Even those who no longer have their own teeth should visit a dentist at least yearly for an oral examination and to make sure their dentures fit properly.

Many dentists are concerned about the dental health of disabled people and those in institutions. Only a few disabling conditions directly cause dental problems. However, disabled people are more likely to develop dental disease because of a variety of factors related to their disabilities. For example, they may have special diets and eating patterns that increase their risk of tooth decay. They may have arm or shoulder problems that make it hard for them to clean their teeth. They may be in wheelchairs and find it difficult to get to a dental office.

With regular professional dental care, much can be done to help these people enjoy good dental health. Toothbrushes can be adapted so that they can be used more easily. Family members can be taught how to brush and floss for those who cannot do this themselves. The dentist can apply pit and fissure sealants or fluoride gels or solutions to the patient's teeth, to provide additional protection from decay. To treat those patients who cannot come in to their offices, some dentists have set up mobile offices in vans or use portable equipment that can be wheeled into the rooms of nursing homes and other such institutions.

Persons with special needs require special solutions to their problems. Today's dentists are doing their best to provide the care they need—and deserve.

Unexpected Honor Puts Boy in Limelight

How does it feel to be a celebrity? Just ask ten-year-old Jason Endres of Madison, and you might get this reply, "I never expected this." Or, "I've been on TV, I've met the Governor, and I've had my picture in the paper."

As the 1985 Wisconsin Easter Seal poster child, Jason is busy representing all people with disabilities in Wisconsin.

In January he presented Governor Earl with the 51st edition of the Easter Seal. In March, he'll appear on the Easter Seal Telethon.

Jason was chosen to be this year's poster child because of his outgoing, fun-loving and independent spirit. "He is just a nice young man," said Randy Feldt, Jason's counselor at Easter Seals Camp Wawbeek in Wisconsin Dells. Jason spends to weeks each summer at Camp Wawbeek where he particularly enjoys horseback riding, swimming, and canoeing.

At home in Madison, Jason goes to Schenk Elementary

School. "It was great fun when a news team visited the school. "Everyone got really excited, even me," he said with a smile.

Jason recently participated in a television spot for Easter Seals. When the taping session was over, he sat back in his wheelchair, pleased with the job he'd done. With the poise and confidence of a veteran television personality, Jason remarked, "I like working in the studio. I'm really busy now for Easter Seals, but it sure is fun."

The 1985 Wisconsin Easter Seal poster child, Jason Endres, 10, presented Governor Earl with the 51st edition of the Easter Seal. More than 400,000 Wisconsin residents will receive their seals in March. Money raised from the distribution of the seals will benefit children and adults with physical disabilities.

THANK YOU...

Starting March 17, JT's Fresh Pizza will no longer be available at Sentry Foods in Kewaskum.

Thanks are due to many people:

To the Geidels for giving me the chance to sell pizzas in Kewaskum. It was appreciated and will always be remembered.

To the fine staff of people at Sentry Foods, especially the meat cutters — Norb, John and Judy, for always making room for us to make pizzas in the meat room and for making working back there much more pleasant.

To Tracy Perkins, who is a great worker and a joy to work with.

Finally, and most importantly, to the customers who bought my pizzas.

JT's Pizza will still be available at Straub's Piggly Wiggly in Campbellsport.

Sincerely,
JEFF THELEN

Announce Plans For April Cancer Crusade in County

"Close to one in every two patients diagnosed with cancer today will be alive five years after treatment," said Michael Sheppard, President of the American Cancer Society's Washington County Unit. "That figure has improved dramatically in the last 50 years; in the 1930's less than one in five cancer patients survived. That improvement means that this year alone numerous cancer patients in West Bend and Washington County will still be alive in 1990."

Sheppard announced plans for the 1985 ACS Crusade in West Bend and Washington County, outlining the goals for this year's Crusade. The annual campaign takes place during April, Cancer Control Month.

"The goals of this Crusade are to inform as many people in our area as possible about cancer prevention and early detection and to generate funds for the American Cancer Society's service, research and education programs," Sheppard explained. "The 1985 educational focus of the Crusade will be colon and rectum cancer, a possibly preventable and highly curable form of cancer."

Many concerned area trained volunteers will distribute a folder called "Your Colorectal Health Check" to West Bend and Washington County residents during the April campaign. The handout only takes a few minutes of your time to read and those few minutes spent could save your life or the life of a loved one.

"Early detection and treatment are still your best defense against cancer," added Sheppard. "Your local office of the American Cancer Society can give you information on cancer's seven warning signals, on dietary recommendations, testicular and breast self-examinations and other preventive practices. Contact ACS today, 890 Elm Grove Rd., Elm Grove, Wisconsin 53122, (414) 784-6669. It could save a life!"

The door-to-door distribution of the colorectal folder is only one of many activities planned by volunteers in West Bend and Washington County. Other special educational and fund-raising events will be held throughout the month.

'Candide' at UWWC

Voltaire's 18th century humorous satire on foolish optimism and Leonard Bernstein's lilting musical score written in the mid 1970's magically combined to provide UWWC's Theatre on the Hill spring offering, CANDIDE.

This classic tale of monumental innocence and catastrophes so numerous and overwhelming that they become farcical, will play for six performances in the University of Wisconsin Center-Washington County's Union Theatre, 400 University Drive, West Bend, on March 15, 16, and 17, and March 22, 23, and 24, 1985. Friday and Saturday performances are at 8:15 p.m. and Sunday performances are at 7:30 p.m.

CANDIDE traces the wanderings of a credulous young disciple of Dr. Pangloss, a wide-eyed German youth who with his equally naive sweetheart, Cunegonde, is wrenched from his home by warring invaders and thereafter range across Europe and South America looking vainly for moral values in a corrupt world, and searching for proof that everything really does happen for the best.

Fifteen major songs embellish this spoof on optimism — songs so lively and satiric that they have been described by the critics as the best score ever written for a musical. Supplementing the major songs are numerous sardonic thematic bits slipping under the dialogue.

Under the direction of Brad Ford, a cast of 22 will portray the 82 roles of this panoramic musical comedy. CANDIDE is not recommended for children because it has several adult themes. For more information call 338-5208.

In announcing the appointment, Southeast District Director Gloria McCutcheon said, "This appointment is an important step in meeting the Department's commitment to rehabilitate the Milwaukee River Basin."

An eight-year DNR employee, Nelson has served for seven of those years as environmental impact coordinator at the Southeast District headquarters in Milwaukee. He has worked in a variety of projects, such as master planning and permit applications, that directly involve the Milwaukee River Basin. He also has lived for the last 11 years in the West Bend area which lies within the Milwaukee River Basin.

The cleanup program looks toward cooperation of state and local governments over the next decade to reduce basin pollution from erosion and runoff and to enhance the river's environmental quality and recreational usage.

No Indians Picked on All-Conference Teams

By John Harju

No Kewaskum players were named to either the first or second All-Eastern Wisconsin conference basketball teams at last Tuesday's coaches balloting.

KHS coach Perry Koth expected that none of his players would make the All-EWC first team (after all, Kewaskum finished a disappointing sixth with a 3-9 record), but he did think that his senior guard, Brian Ruplinger, definitely should have made the second team. Unfortunately, the other EWC coaches didn't see it that way.

Ruplinger and 6'4" senior Todd Wiedmeyer were, however, given honorable mention for their 1984-85 efforts.

Koth had reason to be disappointed in Ruplinger's absence from the second team, for the statistics almost speak for themselves. 5'8" Ruplinger led the EWC in steals with 44 (3.7 a game), was tied for third in assists with 41 (3.4 a game), and 19th in scoring with a 9.5 average.

Bastian, Secor Named To EW Girls 2nd Team

By John Harju

KHS seniors Debbie Bastian and Sandy Secor were named to the All-Eastern Wisconsin conference second team by the coaches in last Tuesday's EWC balloting.

Bastian, a 5'4" guard who wreaked defensive havoc on opponents all year, averaged 5.5 points a game this season, was 10th in the EWC in steals with 25 or 2.1 a game, and 16th in assists with a 1.3 average (15 total).

Secor, a 5'7" forward and team captain, boasted one of the league's top shooting averages at 47%. She was also 16th in scoring with a 6.8 average, 15th in assists (1.3 a game), and 20th in steals with 18 (1.5 a game).

KHS coach Milt Dickinsen commented that both seniors, who have started for 2 years and who led Kewaskum to a 5-7 record and a tie with Sheboygan Falls for fourth place, will be sorely missed next year; Bastian mainly for her defense and ball handling and Secor mainly for her valuable leadership.

In addition to Bastian and Secor making the second team, teammate Lisa Fuese, a 5'10" junior center, was given honorable mention by the coaches. Fuese was 13th in both scoring with a 8.0 average and in rebounding with 5.1 carsoms a game. EWC champion Plymouth and New Holstein dominated the first team selection as both placed two girls on the squad. EWC Player of the Year, Plymouth's 6'2" center Camie Nonhof, who led the league in scoring with a 15.9 average, and New Holstein's Kathy Steffen, who tied Nonhof for the conference rebounding title with 9.3 a game, were both unanimously chosen by the coaches.

Also named to the first team were Amy Anderson of New Holstein, JoAnne Hendricks of Two Rivers, Lisa Weedman of Plymouth and Sheboygan Falls' Brenda Thiel. Joining Bastian and Secor on the second team were Jackie Thome and Lisa Malkowski, both of Two Rivers and Tohnya Brocker of Kiel.

Unbeaten Cedarburg Tips Lakes Team

Undefeated Cedarburg, which holds down first place in the "A" Division of the Lakes League with a perfect 12-0 record, beat Kewaskum, as expected, here Sunday night, 151-133.

Kewaskum manager Bill Backhaus remarked, "we hung with them for most of the game and made them work for the win. But Cedarburg's three big men, Steve Van Dyck, Rob Sutherland and Rick Nisleit, proved to be too much to stop. Also, Leon Laatsch and Clark Eichstedt both picked up their fifth fouls late in the third quarter and had to play the entire fourth quarter with five fouls, hurting Kewaskum's chances."

Cedarburg outscored Kewaskum by small margins in each quarter, leading 37-35 after the first quarter, 74-68 at halftime, and 111-110 after three quarters.

The losers' Laatsch again led all scorers with 42 points and Bob Nigh also had a good night with 35. Right behind Laatsch was Cedarburg's Nisleit with 41 points. Teammates Sutherland and Van Dyck chipped in 34 and 31 respectively.

Fortunately, Kewaskum remains in first place in the "B" Division as Port Washington also lost to the Falls Stingers, 133-123. Kewaskum maintains a half game lead over Port and Hartford, 92-72 winners over last place Sussex.

Kewaskum has an opportunity to widen the gap when they play at Sussex this Sunday at 7:00 p.m. at Hamilton High School.

Cedarburg — Armbruster 2-0-0, Schramka 7-1-3, Friess 2-2-2, Dwyer 3-0-3, Van Dyck 14-3-3, Sutherland 17-0-2, Jensen 0-0-1, Ostermann 1-2-3, Willer 1-2-2, Smasal 3-0-2, Nisleit 18-5-3. Totals: 68-15-24.

Kewaskum — Laatsch 17-8-5, Eichstedt 6-0-5, Nigh 15-5-2, Backhaus 6-2-2, Gonwa 7-1-1, Schroeder 3-2-0, Kern 2-3-5, Thomas 0-0-1. Totals: 56-21-21.
FTM — Cedarburg 4, Kewaskum 5.
