Village Financial Picture Good

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Considering the large development, construction and remodeling projects going on within Kewaskum, its financial health is very good, indicated representatives of Virchow, Krause and Company, the village's auditors.

That was the report Village Board members heard at the meeting Monday evening as they reviewed the village's latest audit statement as of December 31, 1984. Figures indicate the village is only at 47% of its borrowing equity which is very good since the village has several major projects going on at this time said Don Rahn of Virchow, Krause.

Rahn noted the village had a rather successful operating year when the budget was compared to actual expenditures. Budget reductions in some departments along with higher than anticipated revenues in others helped to keep the village's finances well in the black.

Both Rahn and his associate Judy Allison complimented the village on its record keeping noting they only had a few minor suggestions which would help make some bookkeeping procedures more efficient.

In other business, the board passed an ordinance governing the installation and use of satellite earth stations (TV dishes). The ordinance sets various requirements such as location, size, etc. A $15.00 permit from the village will be required for all future installations.

The board also approved the recommendation of Police Chief Donald Hlavaty that the village eliminate the issuance of dance permits. Hlavaty stated, "we're the last community in the area to require them and I don't feel it's a fair thing because nobody's doing it."

The board agreed with Hlavaty's recommendation and directed Administrator Dan Schmidt to draw up a revised ordinance.

Water Pollution Control Superintendent Pete Albers presented bids for the repair of the 15 by 15 foot office roof at the treatment plant. After some discussion, the board asked Albers to go back and get bids which would also include pitching the roof to eliminate standing water problems. Action on the repairs were tabled until the May 20th meeting.

The board also approved the purchase of a portable PH meter to monitor extreme chemical changes in water entering the treatment plant. Albers told the trustees the plant cannot tolerate shock loading (extreme sudden changes in chemical content) because it kills the bacteria which is necessary to treat the

42 Apply For School Administrator

There have been 42 applications submitted for the post of district administrator in the Kewaskum Schools, Business Manager Chera Gorder said Wednesday.

Dr. George Gray, the UW-Whitewater professor is acting as a consultant for the district in securing a replacement for John Long. Long is resigning the post at the end of June but will act as a consultant, if his services are needed, until the end of August.

The deadline for applying for the job was Wednesday, May 1, Gorder said.

Work Begins On Hwy. 67

Extensive maintenance ditching and reshaping of portions of State 67 began this week. The work will be performed by the Fond du Lac County Highway Department and will be confined primarily to the two miles west of Dundee and the 1.5 miles south of County B.

Traffic will be detoured on County B and U.S. 45. The road will be opened to traffic at all times during this operation. However, motorists should be cautioned to observe the posted warning signs, and be prepared to stop for flagmen.

Work restricting the normal flow of traffic should be completed by May 31. Off road operations will be continuing, however, and minor disruption of traffic should be anticipated throughout the summer season.

Beechwood Lake Problem Going to Town Board

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Thirty Beechwood area residents voted unanimously Tuesday night, to have the Beechwood Lake flooding problem placed on the May 13th agenda for the Town of Scott Board.

The motion says the residents collectively petition the town board to acknowledge the flooding as a town problem and accept the responsibility for pumping of Beechwood Lake.

The three-member committee appointed to come up with recommendations and information literally threw up their hands in defeat as they came for a third time asking for direction as to what the residents wanted to do and input on how to proceed in getting money to pay for the work.

Rick Vetter, committee spokesman, told the meeting, "this is my final meeting, I've had fingers pointed at me and been called names for spending hours talking to people trying to get equipment and prices to get the lake pumped. Vetter said he was washing his hands of the problem and someone else could take over.

Lester Benzschawel, Town Clerk, told the meeting, "we did a lot of footwork and put in a lot of hours, now it's up to you people to decide where we go from here." This is the final meeting on draining the lake.

Jim Smyth, Sheboygan County Emergency Government Director, told the residents he felt there were three things they should consider, first, collectively appointing one spokesperson to represent them at the board meeting Monday, secondly, ask the board to accept jurisdiction to accept responsibility, or else you will do it yourself, or thirdly, completely ignore the situation. "It comes down to letting the Town Board know you want their support and ask them to act on it," said Smyth. "What it boils down to is, do you, or do you not, want to move on it."

Vetter said they had been able to secure 2,000 feet of irrigation pipe from Krier Canning, a pump from the Corps of Engineers, a PTO drive from Weasler, and a 110 hp tractor from Gibbsville. On that setup, the only cost would be for tractor rental and fuel which would cost approximately $450.00 a day. Using figures given to Smyth, it was estimated it would take about ten days of 24 hour-a-day operation to lower the lake four feet, resulting in a cost of about $5,000 to $6,000.

Benzschawel said money could be borrowed from a state agency at 8.5% for ten years but the loan would have to go through the town. Smyth said the assessment to a tax bill would be minimal, probably a few dollars.

Town Supervisor Clara Trapp stated, "it's time somebody does something quick." Trapp said she was getting complaints

$120,000 for Municipal Building

Village Receives First Installment on Loan

State Treasurer Charles P. Smith, chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Public Lands, announced the disbursement of a state trust fund loan of $120,000.00 to the Village of Kewaskum for improvements to the municipal building. The loan is the first installment on a $300,000 application.

The trust funds were established at statehood and constitute revenues generated from the sale of land grant lands and from penal fines.

The Land Commission consists of the secretary of state, the state treasurer and the attorney general, and annually invests over $24 million in low interest loans to school districts and municipalities for a wide variety of purposes.

Firemen-Legion Plan For Annual Picnic

The picnic committee has been working on the 1985 Firemen-Legion Picnic for the past four months and is anticipating a fun-filled weekend for July 13 and 14.

Some excellent entertainment is scheduled for the bandstand and beer garden this year as in the past. For example, on Saturday night in the beer garden, Phil Delta and the River Delta Band will be performing from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. Sunday is also filled with entertainment for all with the Bill Thull Orchestra, The Buchels - Joey Klass Orchestra, Annie and the Playboys and Rebound (Wisconsin's No. 1 Variety Band).

The committee is planning the usual mammoth parade for July 14 at 12 noon and the picnic will follow with the theme being "In the Good Ol' Summer-time."

Mark your calendar and plan on joining us for some fun. We will have something for everyone.

Dr. Edwards 4th in State Yarns of Yesteryear Contest

Doc Edwards is shown holding the map which signifies by dots, the 666 entrants in the state Yarns of Yesteryear writing contest in which he was awarded fourth place. To his left is his granddaughter, Diana Darin, and to his right, his wife Alma and Maude Rose, his advisor.

Fourth prize in the 1985 YARNS OF YESTERYEAR Contest was awarded to Dr. Richard G. Edwards of Kewaskum. His entry, "An Errand of Mercy," was chosen from among 666 submitted by senior citizens from all over the state. It tells of a ride through snowdrifts by horseback and sleigh in twenty-seven-degree below-zero weather to save the life of a hernia patient.

The winners received their awards at the spring conference of the Wisconsin Regional Writers Association (WRWA) held at Madison on May 5.

The program began with registration at 8:30 a.m. Also attending were Mrs. Edwards, Doc's advisor, Mrs. Maude Rose, his daughter, Patricia Darin, and his granddaughter Diana. They proceeded to the large meeting room and found seats in the front row which suited his needs perfectly so that he could obtain a good recording on his tape recorder. Dr. Edwards said, "the proceedings of this great program surely opened my eyes as to the vast number of people who participate, many of them year after year. Probably, I should do likewise next year, if God wills it for me."

The contest sponsored annually by the University of Wisconsin Extension Arts, WRWA and Stanton Lee Publishers, Inc., invites senior citizens to submit their reminiscences. Entries were submitted from 258 communities in the state. Contestants included 109 octogenarians and 29 who reported their age in the nineties. Three 99-year-olds tied for the oldest contestant prize.

Winners in the 1985 Yarns of Yesteryear contest were: 1st. $25 - Mary Cooper Finney, 413 E. Amelia St., Cassville; 2nd. $20 - Alyce Siminow, 3520 High Cliff Circle, Sheboygan; 3rd. $15 - Lewis Durand, Box 370, Star Route, Spooner; 4th. $10 - Richard G. Edwards, 1121 Fond du Lac Ave., Kewaskum.

Additional awards were six 5th-10th $5 prizes, 10 one-year memberships in the Wisconsin Writers Association, 30 honorable mention certificates, five cash prizes and five honorable mention certificates in the winner's circle. Three awards were also presented to the three oldest contestants, all 99 years of age.

Dr. Edwards' prize winning story follows:

'AN ERRAND OF MERCY'

As I watched the mercury plummet to twenty-seven degrees below zero last Sunday afternoon, I was vividly reminded of the last time the thermometer had registered that reading in Kewaskum.

I received a telephone call at my office at three o'clock in the afternoon on January twentieth, 1935 from Molly Johnson. She excitedly told me that her husband, Lawrence, was suffering with very severe pain due to his rupture which had slipped out while he was doing chores that morning.

I told Molly to immediately place his buttocks very high on pillows, to apply wet Turkish towels repeatedly over the swollen area, and to give him three aspirin tablets with a glass of hot water. If these remedies did not bring relief, I promised I would, somehow, come out to see Lawrence.

My call to the County Highway Department for snowplow help yielded a promise to do all they could, but the severe cold and drifting snow would stop all plowing until the wind subsided. My patient needed my help now, and I could not wait until the wind stopped blowing, so I tried to think of any plan to get to my patient's side.

As if in answer to my dire need, I recalled my experiences of riding my pony to school in South Dakota, years ago, sometimes in very severe blizzards. So I called my good friend, Walter, to ask for the use of his riding horse. After I had explained the urgency of my need, he agreed at once to send his son with his newly shod horse, Jasper, all blanketed and saddled, to my house at six o'clock.

At five o'clock, Molly called to report that Lawrence's condition had not improved. Now I knew I must go to bring relief to him and, if need be, cut the skin and underlying tissues so as to release the over-stretched intestine back into the abdominal cavity. To not go meant certain death for Lawrence.

I now called Farmer Jones, a neighbor of the Johnson's, to seek his assistance for the last two miles of my trip, knowing from past experience that this particular stretch of road would be impassable on horseback. He agreed to have his draft horses hitched to a bobsled ready to take me to my patient's home.

By nightfall, the weather had grown steadily worse. A strong, thirty miles per hour, west wind howled wildly as it piled the blowing snow into three to five foot drifts, and forced the mercury down to minus twenty-seven degrees.

In preparation for my trip, I donned all my warm deer hunting clothes, including my felt shoes. My wife wrapped a long wool scarf around my head to ward off the icy wind. My youthful experience of riding horseback to school helped immensely to bolster my courage for this night's ride.

Jasper was ready for the trip with my two leather grips strapped securely to the saddle horn. One grip contained all the operating materials I anticipated needing. The other contained medicines, a stethoscope, and blood pressure apparatus. Anesthetics for the skin and morphine sulphate ampules I carried under clothing next to my body to prevent freezing.

Soon after six o'clock, I bid my family goodbye and stepped into the stirrup and hoisted myself onto the saddle. As I turned Jasper's head westward onto the highway, I felt the great force of the wind driving pellets of frozen snow, with stinging pain, into my face. The sub-zero cold quickly penetrated my warm clothing, sending an icy chill down my spine.

Jasper plodded along slowly through the belly deep snow, finding his own path to follow over the drifts, as only he could know. Many times he climbed onto a frozen drift, only to suddenly break through the crust and be belly deep in snow. On several of these unexpected lurches, I was nearly tossed from the saddle, but was probably saved by my past experience of riding through blizzards to school years ago.

Giving the horse free rein allowed my mind to concentrate on the urgency of reaching my patient in time to save his life, for it was now hanging on only the thread of time. It was truly just a matter of hours before Lawrence's incarcerated bowel would become gangrenous. This would be fatal.

Jasper's steady forward motion brought us to Farmer Jones' yard by eight o'clock. Good progress, I thought, as I remembered the many near spills which I had avoided as my horse had lunged upward and downward over the drifted snow.

Mr. Jones was waiting for me with his horsedrawn bobsled to take me across the open field to my destination. The straw filled sleigh, along with a warm blanket to cover me, was sheer heavenly comfort compared to my hazardous ride on Jasper.

After a brief warm-up in the Johnson's kitchen, I immediately went to survey Lawrence's condition. As I approached his bed, I saw a large swelling above his right scrotum, fully as big as half a grapefruit, and Lawrence was agonizing in pain. At once I injected a full dose of morphine deep into his deltoid muscle. Then I listened with my stethoscope over his abdomen for bowel sounds. They were loud and raucous all over except over the distended mass. Here it was deadly silent, a truly dangerous omen that portended gangrene may already have set in. Now it was, indeed, a race with time.

Quickly I placed his buttocks very high on firm pillows so that his back and head hung down onto the bed. Lubricating my hands in warm soapy water, I began my attempt to reduce the swelling that was his strangulated bowel. Very gently I pulled the mass toward his feet with one hand while the other hand rotated, gently but firmly, around the base of the mass, always exerting firm pressure toward his abdomen. Fortunately, the pain killer soon brought good relief to Lawrence, and he dozed quietly as I repeated my push-pull procedure over and over again.

In about thirty minutes, my efforts produced a slight change in the tenseness of the mass, and, once begun, the entire swelling soon slid back into his abdomen and all pain disappeared. God had been on our side, I was now sure. Now our only reason to be fearful was the unknown health of his over-distended intestine. Was it dead due to gangrene? If so, the patient would again have pain as the effect of the morphine wore off. If there was no pain and the patient began to pass gas freely, I could be certain that all would be well for Lawrence. However, I did emphatically tell him and his wife that surgery was the only sure way to prevent a recurrence.

It was now after eleven o'clock and we were all exhausted by this day's ordeal, so we lay down to get a few hour's rest. About seven o'clock the next morning, we were awakened by loud roaring sounds made by a snowplow coming up the Johnson's driveway. I jumped up, put on some warm clothing, and ran out to tell these good men that I was able to reduce my patient's strangulated hernia. I thanked them sincerely for their effort to open the road, for now I could return home by car and get on with another day's work. Farmer Jones had told me that he would return Jasper to his home.

Meanwhile, Molly had prepared a bountiful farmer's breakfast and the tantalizing aroma of coffee filled the kitchen as we sat down to eat. Lawrence gave a sincere prayer of real thanks to our Lord for his deliverance. After breakfast I listened once more to Lawrence's abdomen and found the bowel sounds were now normal and there were no areas of tenderness nor swelling.

When I returned to my office, I recorded the facts of the night's work, but when I came to the charge column, I was not able to place a value on services rendered. It had been only through the cooperative efforts of Walter with his horse Jasper and Farmer Jones with his team of horses that I had been able to bring relief and healing to my patient.

Therefore, I made no charge; it was an errand of mercy!

How did your back, legs and feet feel on Monday morning? If you felt pretty good you're in better shape than you thought you were.

The no shows seemed to outnumber the 12 hardy (TREKKERS) who started out on this 1st annual event and we all hope-not the last!

The views were spectacular all the way from Greenbush on down. The sweet smell of the blossomed trees and pines were out of this world.

Everyone made the trip to Mauthe Lake, but only Dave (the Road Runner) Nigh made it all the way back to Kewaskum, in a record 6 hours and 20 minutes. He credited his fast pace and endurance to his months of practice and his four Granola bars.

The only casualty was a blistered foot to Lloyd Mueller, which was quickly attended to by some Boy Scouts which we met along the way.

All things considered, it was a fun day, and we look forward to the 2nd annual Fun Hike. Call Paul at 626-2444 for any ideas for the second annual hike.

Thanks again to Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rinzel, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Squier, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mueller and friend Jean, Dave Nigh, Marg Rosenthal, Doug Geidel and Kim Brodzeller for being charter members! A special thanks to the DNR office at Mauthe Lake for providing us with maps and a great forest to walk through.

water. Albers noted discharges by one Kewaskum industry in particular is causing part of the plant's problems such as when raw milk enters the system. If the department is aware of such changes prior to high acid or high alkaline water entering the plant, adjustments can be made.

A de-ionization system was also approved for the treatment plant. Albers said, after a recent inspection, the DNR indicated the distilled water being used by the plant was not pure enough to meet their standards. "We don't have any choice," stated Albers, "we must install the system."

Public Works Superintendent Augie Bilgo gave the trustees an update on storm sewer installation in several areas which have been plagued with sump pump runoff problems. Residents in the various areas will be receiving letters regarding the required hook-up of their sump pumps to the sewers.

The board approved the recommendation of the Public Works Committee to purchase a gas detector to be used to detect toxic gasses in confined areas. Albers informed the board that six incidents resulting in death or injury have occurred in neighboring communities during the past two years due to workers coming into contact with undetected toxic fumes.

Dan Schmidt informed the board the village had missed out on initial state funding for the new shelter at the Kiwanis Park. He noted, however, that the DNR had indicated there were still funds available and the village had a good chance to receive some money when the DNR allocates the balance of their funds in July. Approximately $29,000 could be made available toward the anticipated cost of $57,000 to $60,000 for the building's construction.

Schmidt also informed the board that he had received a letter from Riverbend Cablevision stating, effective June 1st, there would be rate increases. Installation costs will rise from $25 to $35, HBO and Cinemax will each go up from $9.00 to $10.00, and second set charges from $4.00 to $5.00. The letter, signed by Dean Sinclair, System Manager, cited continually rising costs as the reason for the increases.

The board passed a resolution requesting the village be exempted from the Countywide Library System Tax Levy, because it already maintains its own library.

The board also authorized its engineers to advertise for bids on the installation of curbs and sidewalks along Highways 45 and H. Bids will be opened June 10th so specific costs can be presented at a public hearing scheduled for June 17th. Schmidt said 27 properties are involved in the project.

Two building permits and a list of part time summer employees were also approved by the board.

Newly elected Board President David Nigh announced new committee assignments and welcomed Trustee Richard Schlice to the board.

about septic tanks emptying into the lake. "Someone asked me how a septic tank sitting in the lake can be useable." Smyth asked if anyone was having septic problems. Tavern owner Tillie Schultz said she was. Schultz was asked where she was pumping the water from her dry well. "Back into the lake where it came from," she said.

Vetter told the residents they had three days to act on the equipment offers. "By May 24th, the pipes are going out into the fields. Then we'll have to rent pipe from Stevens Point at an additional cost of $40 per day."

Benzschawel said the county had been contacted about the flooding. "They said they reviewed the north end and feel they are right and if anyone wants to take civil action, they are prepared to fight it."

Besides the agenda petition, the residents voted to appoint Benzschawel to be the spokesman at the town Board meeting. Vetter also said he would attend but it would be his last meeting. "That meeting will be the final straw," said Vetter.

Another meeting is tentatively scheduled for May 20th, to consider the plans for construction of an outlet for the lake. Representatives from the county, DNR, University of Wisconsin and an engineer are expected to be on hand to discuss construction and financing of such a project.

Indications are that such a project could cost as much as $150,000.

Mrs. Vange Teeselink, head librarian of the Kewaskum Public Library, is shown receiving the fifth annual bound volume of the Kewaskum Statesman for 1984, from Dr. R. G. Edwards, Kewaskum Kiwanis member. The club donates a complete volume each year to the library. Very soon these five volumes will be placed on a shelf in full view, so that anyone can come to re-read all about anything that has happened in or about our great Village of Kewaskum.

McCallum, Panzer Seek Solution To Beechwood Flooding Problem

State Senator Scott McCallum (R-Fond du Lac) and Representative Mary Panzer (R-West Bend) said Thursday that they have been searching for a possible solution to the flooding problem at Beechwood Lake in the Town of Scott.

The lake, which is located along Sheboygan County Highway S and A, has more than tripled in size in recent years. Water is now covering parts of County Trunk S and has flooded the basements of many area residents.

"These people definitely have a very serious problem on their hands," said McCallum and Panzer. "This year's high groundwater levels, continued run off and a drain tile putting 2,500 gallons of water into the lake every minute mean that a solution must be found quickly or the problem could get much worse."

McCallum and Panzer said that they had been in contact with people from the UW System and the Department of Natural Resources. A pair of UW hydrologists have indicated that they would be able to provide the lake community with some engineering assistance and help the residents draw up a plan for an outlet that would carry the excess water away from the lake.

The area lawmakers also indicated that they think the DNR would probably be willing to lend the community some of their expertise when planning reached a more advanced state.

"We are encouraged by the degree of cooperation being shown by state, county, and local officials," McCallum and Panzer said. "We all know that the Beechwood Lake residents need our help, and we won't rest until some sort of solution to the flooding problem is found."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR...

Dear Editor:

On April 30 an open meeting was held by parents, teachers and students of the Kewaskum School District to discuss problems in the district. It was decided that spending more money was not an answer in itself, but more important was changing the district's self image to one of pride in our schools. To accomplish this it was decided to try to form a PTO type organization for the entire district in an effort to end factionalism. The proposed new organization would give district residents information on needs and accomplishments in our school system.

I was asked to be temporary chairman of this new group. We will hold our organizational meeting at 7 p.m., April 13, in the high school cafeteria. This is the same evening as the school board meeting, so our meeting will last for one hour.

Everyone is busy and has other commitments, but our youth is our greatest resource. I would urge Kewaskum School District residents, parents, teachers and students to join forces and become involved. Don't leave it to a small handful of residents. One of the common characteristics of the schools receiving national awards for excellence in education, is community involvement. Kewaskum schools are good, our graduates generally do well, let's be proud of our schools and work to make them even better.

Sincerely,

Joan Rosenberger
210 River Drive,

Farmington Children to Explore Their Health at St. Agnes Fair

In honor of National Hospital Week, May 12-18, St. Agnes Hospital, Fond du Lac, will be holding its annual children's health fair.

About 40 fourth graders from Farmington Elementary School are planning to attend the fair on Wednesday, May 15. They will be joining about 500 other students from surrounding communities.

The children's health fair is described as "fun, educational and challenging" by Valerie Thibaut-Graczyk, coordinator of the event.

Hospital dietary staff will play food bingo with the fourth graders, designed to raise children's awareness of the four basic food groups.

Radiology staff will be displaying a full-sized model of the human skeleton and demonstrating how bones work. A speech therapist will play recording of different speech problems and help children be more understanding of people who do not talk normally. Children will have their blood pressure checked and participate in a total of 12 different activities. Each activity lasts ten minutes.

All students receive a tote bag at the health fair with different items in it from each activity. The take-home packet is designed to encourage the children to discuss and share their health fair experiences with their family.

This year's health fair will be held at Marian College. The activities begin at 8:45 a.m. and are repeated at 12:45 p.m.

More than 130 St. Agnes Hospital volunteers and employees participate in the fair. In addition, representatives from the police department, dental society and fire department also are involved.

There are still a few openings in the health fair. Interested schools can call St. Agnes Hospital at 929-1498.

Turkeys Adjusting to New Homes

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The two flocks of wild turkeys released in the Northern Kettle Moraine earlier this year are settling in and adjusting to their new territories, said Dale Katsma, DNR Game Technician, in an update on the birds last week.

Katsma stated area residents have been very cooperative in notifying the DNR regarding sightings of the birds. When the Kewaskum flock was released, they initially moved south and were spotted near Smith Lake.

The birds have since changed their southward trend and are now heading north, farther into the Kettle Moraine State Forest, noted Katsma. We're not getting reports on the birds from the release area, northward, to west of New Fane where the most frequent sightings have been made.

The Kewaskum flock has broken up into small groups of around five birds including three or four hens and a Tom, said Katsma, and they are more widely scattered than the Greenbush flock. At Parnell, they're all within about one mile of each other.

Katsma said he had confirmed the death of one bird. A Jake (young tom) was found near the Kewaskum site, the apparent victim of an owl attack.

The birds are at the peak of their mating season right now, said Katsma, and area residents should be able to hear the early morning gobbling associated with the mating process. The turkeys' continuous calling should keep up into mid-May, and, if the birds breed successfully, there should be young hatching in June.

"We have also been receiving reports on birds that are not ours. We're asking again, that people refrain from releasing game farm or tame birds. That's defeating the whole purpose of the program. We don't want any interbreeding between wild and game birds. Citizens are endangering the wild turkeys with such acts, no matter how well intentioned they are," said Katsma. "Our biggest problem with game birds is around the Eden area. We're not issuing permits to anyone for game turkeys," stated Katsma.

Katsma has made several trips to the release areas to monitor the movements of the two flocks. He noted reports from residents are still appreciated because they help to keep closer tabs on the birds. He stressed again, however, that anyone seeing the turkeys should just observe them and not try to come into contact with them, especially now during the breeding season.

Over 200 million tons of dirt and rock were dug up to build the Panama Canal.

KHS Art Students Well Represented in Milwaukee Journal's 41st Annual Student Calender Competition

Thirty Art III and IV students from Kewaskum High School's art department went on a field trip recently to view nearly 225 paintings on exhibit in the Magin Laugel Gallery at the Performing Arts Center, Milwaukee. What made the excursion even more meaningful to the students was that five of their fellow classmates had their works on display.

scape, senior Tim Geidel with his entry, a pencil study of a grouse, senior Michelle Beesten and her entry in an acrylic still life entitled "Purple Haze" and senior Chris Frantzen with her pencil study entitled "Feminine Feline." Tom Stuck's acrylic painting received a Silver Palette Award.

Mr. Baitinger felt his students were impressed with the P.A.C. and the art show. It was exposure to a level of culture many of the students have never before experienced.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of Jenny Ramthun who died on May 15, 1983, two years ago:

I'll lend you for a little time a Child of Mine, He said, For you to love the while she lives and mourn for when she's dead.

It may be six or seven years or twenty-two or three, But will you, till I call her back, take care of her for me?

She'll bring her charms to gladden you and should her stay be brief, You'll have her lovely memories as solace for your grief.

I cannot promise she will stay since all from earth return, But there are lessons taught down here, I want this child to learn.

I've looked this wide world over in search of teacher's true, And from the throngs that crowd life's lane, I have decided you.

Now will you give her all your love, nor think the labor vain, And hate Me when I come to call to take her back again?

I fancy that I heard them say Dear Lord, Thy Will be done.

For all the joy this child will bring the risk of grief we'll run.

We'll shelter her with tenderness, we'll love her while we may.

And for the happiness we've known, forever grateful stay. And should the angels call for her much sooner than we planned,

We'll brave the bitter grief that came and try to understand.

Sadly missed by: Mom, Dad, Dan, Steve, Kevin, Sharyl and Megan

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank all our relatives, friends and neighbors for their love and support during the recent death of my beloved husband, our dear father, grandfather and great-grandfather, NORBERT J. SCHIEK. A special thank you to Frs. Furtmann, Fischer and Sippel, West Bend Rescue Squad, West Bend Police, pallbearers, organist, choir, donors of floral and memorial tributes, food, traffic officer, Miller's, and to any one who helped us in any way. May God bless you for your many kindnesses.

Heavy trucks will be barred from Highway 55 and 41 in Washington County as well as from twenty other highways in Wisconsin during the summer months on all weekends and holidays. This rule goes into effect on Memorial Day and will continue until September 8. This rule was put into effect last year and proved to be successful so far as tourists and other drivers of automobiles were concerned. With trucks of a gross weight of 6,000 pounds or more barred from the highways, other traffic can move more freely and fewer accidents will be experienced.

The marriage of Alvin Foerster to Mildred Schmidt took place at St. Kilian last Saturday.

The novel chain letter system which you have been hearing so much about and which is thought to have originated somewhere in Denver, Colorado, has invaded Kewaskum by storm during the past week. None of the letters are known to have reached here before this week, but now they have come from Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul and other places. As far as we know some of those in the village who received such letters are keeping the chain up and are doing as directed in the letters. Time will tell what results will come of it as United States postal authorities are working on the case in an effort to put a stop to it and several arrests have already been made.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Pollard of near Beechwood this week moved their household goods into the apartment above the John Marx store where they will make their future home. Mr. Pollard is employed at the Kewaskum Aluminum Company factory.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Klumb of Kewaskum on May 7. A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Marion of St. Kilian.

Ebelsville hill and making a short turn in the road, the rig tipped over throwing Mrs. Glander and her children forcibly to the ground, but luckily no one was seriously hurt. She managed to hold the horse so no damages were done to the rig except a pair of broken thills.

Peter Fellenz, living east of New Fane in the Town of Scott, had the misfortune of having the first finger on his left hand cut off by a circle saw. Mr. Fellenz was sawing some wood on his farm when the accident happened.

Louis Petri's house in Wayne was nearly destroyed by fire

Monday morning while he was at the cheese factory. William Hess, who discovered the fire, with the aid of Mrs. Petri and hired man, extinguished it before much damage was done.

Reinhold Gritzmacher of Barton is now employed by Backhaus and Marx as miller. Mr. Gritzmacher is an experienced miller, having worked in the Pillsbury Mills at Minneapolis for many years before coming to Barton about four months ago.

Your HEALTH TIP

from Tom Leitzke, R.P.H.

INSECTICIDES

During the past 20 years, fruit growers and farmers have more than doubled their use of insecticides and have increasingly suffered from aplastic anemia and leukemia. Although no proof of cause and effect, LANCET suggests that many of these bone marrow disorders result from exposure to insecticide mist or fog. Children, it seems, are more susceptible than adults, and insecticide inhalation is more dangerous for them than skin contact. Exposure to insecticide mist or fog for only a few hours can produce symptoms weeks later.

We wish you good health

MAY IS BETTER HEARING & SPEECH MONTH

Doctors Recommend You Have Your Hearing Tested
At Least Once a Year

- Do you have trouble hearing on the telephone?
- Do you have to ask people to repeat themselves?
- Do you hear but not always understand what is said?
- Do people seem to mumble when they talk?
- Do you hear ringing or buzzing in your ears?
- Does your family tell you that you play the radio and television too loud?

If you answered "yes" to three or more of these questions, you may have a hearing loss. Hearing loss is more common than you think. According to the Better Hearing Institute, 20-million Americans have hearing losses. The good news is most hearing losses can be helped.

Veterans and their families in cities and towns across America are taking advantage of the free counseling and claims filing service provided by the Disabled American Veterans [DAV] Field Service Unit program.

Local veterans and their families, who are concerned about the future of benefits earned through military service, will get expert assistance free of charge when a national service officer from the nonprofit Disabled American Veterans (DAV) visits Fond du Lac and West Bend next week.

"With cutbacks in your benefits being proposed right and left, you're not alone if you're wondering how these proposals would affect you," said DAV National Director of Services Charles E. Joeckel in a recent letter to disabled veterans in the area.

"Lots of veterans and their families are worried," remarked the combat-disabled Vietnam vet, explaining the need for the DAV's visit to veterans in this area. The DAV's office-equipped van will be parked from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Thursday, May 16, at Traveler's Inn, 1325 S. Main, Fond du Lac, and Friday, May 17, at Heritage Bank, West Bend.

The DAV has been sending these vans, called field service units, to communities across the United States for the past 11 years. During that time, more than 404,000 veterans, dependents and survivors have taken advantage of the free services offered by the DAV's highly trained national service officers who staff these traveling offices.

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE

O holy St. Jude Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance.

Help me in my present urgent petition. In return, I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked, say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys and three Glorias. St. Jude pray for us, and all who invoke your aid. Amen.

This Novena has never been known to fail. This Novena must be said for 9 consecutive days, and publication must be promised.

D. N.

THANK YOU

Prayer through application to the Holy Spirit. Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, light all roads so that I can attain my goal. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things as you confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you, even and in spite of all material illusion. I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy toward me and mine. The person must say this prayer for three consecutive days. After three days, the favor requested will be granted, even if it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after the favor is granted.

Stoddart's Points Wiped Out, Klein Named Official Winner at County Outdoor

Because she did not carry a required 20 hours of course work, West Bend East senior Lisa Stoddart was declared academically ineligible on April 12th. Based on WIAA rules all points and individual awards that were earned by Stoddart during her time of ineligibility must be rescinded. This means that her 20 points which she earned by winning the 1600 and 3200 at April 3rd's Washington County Indoor are wiped out, and thus, Slinger replaces East as the winning team. This also means that Kewaskum senior Sandy Klein is now the official winner of the 1600 and moves up to second place in the 3200. This also moves Kewaskum, as a team, past Hartford and up to fourth place after originally finishing fifth.

Official standings [revised] Girls - Washington County Indoor Team Totals

1. Slinger 87; 2. West Bend West 73; 3. West Bend East 68; 4. Kewaskum 57; 5. Hartford 55; 6. Germantown 31.

3 KHS Records Set As Indians Settle for 2nd

All high school sports
by John Harju

Three KHS school records were broken last Tuesday but this failed to overcome a strong Two Rivers squad and the KHS boys had to settle for second with Kiel a close third in a triangular track meet held in Two Rivers.

The first KHS mark to fall in the meet was in the 1600 where Monty Shaw won in 4:32.34, breaking the old mark by nearly six seconds. Shaw was filling in for the injured Gunner Schlieter who usually runs the 1600 and he responded in typical "iron-man" fashion by also winning the 800 (2:08.4) and the 3200 (10:19.3).

Kewaskum's only other wins on the day belonged to Mike Steinhardt, in the long jump and 100 meter dash, but it was his two second place finishes which would break KHS records. Running the 400 for the first time, Steinhardt placed second in 53.0 seconds, breaking the old mark of 53.6 which has stood since 1981.

Steinhardt's second KHS record of the afternoon came in the triple jump. After teammate John Harju broke the second oldest KHS record (set in 1975) with a jump of 39' 1/2", Steinhardt smashed Harju's short-lived record with a jump of 40' 4 1/2". The old record was 38' 10" set by Mike Koepke.

Coach Dave Drexler noted the fact that Mark Johnson and John Nowak also took seconds in the 110 hurdles and pole vault, respectively. Also pleasing Drexler were Randy Gindt's third in the high jump and Nowak's third in the 300 hurdles.

Shaw Sets Record But...

Boys Place Last at J. H. Williams Relays

The KHS boys track team's season took a temporary nose-dive Friday as they placed last in a powerful field of eight at the J.H. Williams Relays held in Plymouth.

Powerful West Bend East won the meet with 107 points followed by New Holstein (102), Two Rivers (71), Sheboygan Falls (49), Plymouth (47), Slinger (39), Ozaukee (28), and Kewaskum (22).

Kewaskum, which brought only 21 boys to compete Friday, further showed that their strong point this year is individual talent and not team depth.

The Indians' highest finish came in the long jump where Mike Steinhardt, John Harju, and Chris Dieringer combined for a 53' 5 1/4" distance, good enough for third place. Steinhardt had the best jump of the trio at 19' 8 1/4".

Most of the Indians' other points came in the 3200 meter run. Each year at the J. H. Williams Relays two runners from each school compete in the only non-relay event of the meet with the winner receiving a trophy. KHS' duo of Monty Shaw and Gunner Schlieter placed third and fourth, respectively, with Shaw's time of 9:57.39 breaking his own school record in the event. After pulling away from Shaw and Schlieter, West Bend East's Greg Ritzenthaler and New Holstein's Dean Rhode battled each other for the last two laps before Ritzenthaler breezed by Rhode with 50 meters to go in one of the most exciting races of the afternoon. The Indians' next highest finish came as a fifth place in the 3200 meter relay as Shaw, Corey Garbisch, Schlieter, and Miles Shaw ran combined 800's in 8:56.67.

Kewaskum picked up four sixths in the triple jump (Harju, Steinhardt, John Mertzig), shot put (Jeff Newhauser, Rick Miller, Brian Taylor), 800 meter relay (Garbisch, Newhauser, Martin Selchert), and the 330 meter hurdle shuttle (Mark Johnson, Harju, Randy Gindt) to round out their scoring.

Friday Coach Dave Drexler and his boys hope to bounce back at the Eastern Wisconsin Relays Meet held in Plymouth.
