At KHS Political Forum

State Legislators Say Little To Ease Constituents' Fears

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

If the approximately 100 people attending a political forum at the Kewaskum High School were hoping to get help and answers from their state legislators, many of them walked away from Monday night's meeting with little to encourage them about the future in Wisconsin.

Hearing facts like Wisconsin being fifth highest in taxes in the nation and third highest in welfare payments only served to darken the cloud of dismay and anger which hangs over its residents. "We've got harder times coming, we haven't seen the worst yet," stated Representative Mary Panzer of the 53rd Assembly District.

Panzer, along with Representative Dwight York of the 59th District, and State Senators Scott McCallum and Donald Stitt of the 18th and 20th Districts, were bombarded with questions on everything from taxes to the mediation-arbitration law governing teacher contract talks.

The main objective of the meeting was to get some answers on when and where residents could expect to get some relief from the constantly increasing tax burden. With continually dropping farm prices and agricultural land values in rural areas such as Kewaskum, people are struggling just to survive. A school tax increase of $150,000 over 300 to 400 people in the Town of Wayne is ridiculous, said Town Board member Carl Hohlweck, these increases just have to stop.

York told the audience, "taxes are not the problem, spending is the problem, taxes just don't happen, they are created to cover spending." The panel agreed that significant reductions in state spending must be made before there can be any lowering of taxes. "This budget is up 19%," said Stitt.

Robert Schulteis, a member of the Kewaskum School District's Policy and Legislation Committee which hosted the meeting, told the legislators, "the budget should be a budget and not handled as legislation." Stitt agreed, noting that the problem lies with the whole budgeting process. "While the methods used in adopting a budget are not illegal, they are seamy," said Stitt. "The media has to put the pressure on to change the basic structure of the budgeting process. The state is dying because of the budget process," Stitt stated.

While he agreed with Stitt, McCallum said, "the bottom line is, we have to reduce spending on all levels." The Republicans offered a proposal containing $650 million in cuts in state expenditures, said McCallum. Stitt and McCallum said they had introduced legislation which would have held state spending to 1% above inflation, saving $999 million, but it was defeated. "I'm convinced the only way to cut the budget is across the board," said Panzer, "as far as budgeting, there are other ways and anything that changes the system from what it is now is worthwhile."

Clara Trapp, Town of Scott, asked what happened to the one-cent increase in the sales tax which was supposed to

Tompkins Mobile Home Park Sale Pending

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Town of Kewaskum Board was informed, Monday night, that Melvin Tompkins, owner of Tompkins Mobile Home Park had received an offer to purchase the operation and there was a possibility of a sale closing by December 31st.

The announcement came when the board began discussion on renewal of the park's license. Tompkins' attorney indicated that if the closing were delayed, his client would apply for the license renewal.

In other business, the board discussed the new full disclosure tax bill which will come out this year. Town Clerk Barbara Hinz indicated the new bill may cause some confusion to property owners and the board talked about ways of trying to make the bill easier to understand.

Village Board Approves Cable TV Rate Hike

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

After a second public hearing and lengthy discussion, the Kewaskum Village Board unanimously approved the request of River Bend Cablevision to increase its basic service rate from $9.97 to $11.95 per month. A similar increase had been approved earlier by the City of West Bend.

In other action, the trustees adopted a "yes" resolution on the Washington County Incinerator plan. The affirmative response means the village is willing to participate in the proposed program. All county municipalities have been asked to submit a formal resolution indicating either being for, or against the plan, to the county by December.

Village Administrator Dan Schmidt said the village will not support the two requests from village residents asking that the state install a stop sign at the intersection of Highways 45 and H. The trustees felt there were no more problems in that area than at other intersections at any particular time during the day.

The board also reviewed the proposed Water Department and Water Pollution Control Department budgets for 1986. Schmidt said the village will continue to monitor those departments, however, no rate increases are being planned.

Schmidt also went over the village's general budget proposal of $1,168,836 for 1986. The budget carries a 1986 net tax rate of $6.343 for the village's portion, down 6c from the 1985 net tax rate of $6.393.

The board approved a fire contract with the Town of Auburn, and an Village Assessor contract from Bowmar Appraisal, Incorporated.

The board then adjourned into closed session.

New Scholarship Organization Formed for High School District

A new scholarship organization was recently formed for the Kewaskum High School District. The name of the new organization is K.E.Y.S., Inc. which stands for Kewaskum Youth Scholarships, Inc.

The organization was developed to provide additional scholarships to deserving seniors each year. K.E.Y.S., Inc. is a non-profit tax deductible organization designed to raise money from interested people and businesses for a perpetual scholarship fund. Other communities have been able to develop organizations which provide additional scholarships for deserving seniors each year from interest earned from invested funds. The invested funds are the results of donations made from alumni, businesses, organizations, and individuals as living memorials or in memory of a loved one, and through fund raisers.

At Kewaskum High School these additional scholarships will be over and above the scholarships currently given at the high school. The ultimate goal of K.E.Y.S., Inc. is to raise and invest $100,000 so that every year $10,000 in scholar-

Elmer Yoost Honored at Woodmen Recognition Night

Elmer Yoost, left, holding the award presented to him by Modern Woodmen Camp Counsel, Ray St. Mary.

Members and their families from Modern Woodmen of America Camp 2233, Kewaskum, met at an awards dinner October 24, to honor Elmer Yoost, Kewaskum.

Yoost was cited for his outstanding service to the community and its members.

Elmer Yoost, a retired citizen of this community, was born 80 years ago on a farm near the Gage Cemetery on Country Trk. G. He grew up in this surrounding community, and married Cecilia Guth at the St. Lucas Lutheran Church 54 years ago, Oct. 24th. He is an honorary member of the Kiwanis Club of Kewaskum; was a member of the Cedar Lake Campus Benevolent Corp. and is a member of the Peace United Church of Christ, for which he served as President of the Church Council.

Elmer was a Washington

County employee before entering the butchering business. He and his wife operated the Yoost Meat Market for 38 years, after which he sold the business to Paul Behring and assisted him for another two years.

Elmer served as a trustee on the Kewaskum Village Board for 10 years, from April, 1966 to 1976; he also served on the planning committee.

He has given a helping hand for many years to the Firemen's Picnics, Krazy Daze, Boy Scout Pancake Suppers, Kiwanis Turkey Shoots, Church Affairs, etc., with his expertise in grilling brats and hamburgers.

provide $650 million for education and tax relief for the property owners.

That plan was initiated under former Governor Lee Dreyfus, said McCallum, however, the first year the money was diverted to help eliminate a state deficit. Then Governor Anthony Earl took office and he put that sales increase into the general coffers and it has remained there since. The legislators admitted that the tax money has been used up on various items like the 6% salary proposal for state employes which is to be voted on this week. McCallum said legislation was introduced to change the Governor's action, but it was defeated in a very close vote in both houses.

When Governor Earl campaigned for office, he said he would raise taxes and he has, noted Stitt.

When Neal Weare, Vice President of the Kewaskum School Board, asked what could be done to bring about a change, Stitt said elect a new governor. "I think the question you are asking now, you have to ask at the ballot box. You've got to watch your legislators voting records and ask them how they voted on the budget. It's not what we say at these meetings, it's how we vote in Madison that counts," said Stitt.

Leonard Peter, Town of Wayne, said, "Mr. York says we should vote for someone who won't spend so much, we try but no matter who we select, it seems when they get to Madison they become hypnotized and things change."

While the legislators presented a sympathetic ear to the audience, one statement which continually surfaced throughout the night, from all four who are Republican, was, they are the minority party and efforts to bring about change are an uphill battle. Some of their constituents came away from the meeting with the feeling there had been some subtle campaigning to garner future votes for a Republican gubernatorial candidate in the next election.

The invitation to address the meeting had been extended to several other state officials, said Weare. We had hoped to have at least one Democrat on the panel but apparently they all had other previous commitments.

Kewaskum United Way Receives Gift

Aaron A. Zulauf, Vice President of A to Z Vending Company, presenting a check to Dr. J. D. Connor, President of the United Way Fund Drive Committee.

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum United Way Fund Drive received a financial boost last week when it received a check from A to Z Vending Company of Fond du Lac, in the amount of $120.00.

Aaron A. Zulauf, Vice President of A to Z, said his company had been considering the idea for some time. He told Dr. J. D. Connor, who accepted the check for United Way, that his firm takes money out of the community through its vending machines, therefore, it felt it was only right to give some back. We kept track of the receipts in each of our vending areas and decided a certain percent of those amounts would be donated to charity.

Besides Kewaskum, we also have vending operations in West Bend, Oshkosh, and Waupun and each of those communities will also be receiving checks from us, Zulauf

Town Scott Reviews Insurance, Fire Service Contract Proposals

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Town of Scott Board will review proposed 1986 fire contracts presented to it by the Beechwood and Batavia Fire Department at its monthly meeting Monday night.

The Beechwood Fire Department submitted a contract of $23,170.00, and Batavia Fire Department $23,195. The board will review the proposals and discuss them at their next meeting.

The board also heard a proposal on a blanket insurance program which would cover the two fire departments and town hall. The plan was presented by Jerry Heisdorf of Burkart-Heisdorf Insurance, Sheboygan. Preliminary figures indicate the town could be looking at increased insurance costs of $4,000 for the coming year.

In other action the board approved the re-zoning request of Wilfred Strack, Jr., to change the zoning on a five-acre parcel of land from A-1 to A-2.

The Random Lake Library Board also presented its 1986 budget proposal. However, due to the fact that some figures presented were not accurate, no board action was taken and the proposal will be discussed at a later meeting.

The board has also set Wednesday, December 11th as the date for its annual meeting.

Ed Muellers Celebrate 70th Wedding Anniversary

Ed and Mary Mueller of rural Campbellsport, celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary on Saturday, Nov. 9.

Mrs. Mueller, 91, and her husband, 97, were married in 1915 and have lived in their 107-year-old brick farmhouse at rural Campbellsport all of their wedded life.

Mueller said they didn't get around like people do today, adding that a trip to Chicago 35 years ago was the farthest he had ever traveled from home.

Mrs. Mueller's two brothers married two of her husband's sisters, so family ties have always been strong.

The Muellers now have eight children, 45 grandchildren, 85 great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren.

They were married at a church several miles from their farm.

School District Gets Involved In American Education Week

The Kewaskum School District is saluting its students, teachers, administrators, and other school staff members during American Education Week, according to District Superintendent Penelope Kleinmans.

This year's theme, "America's Public Schools: The Subject is Excellence," provides a great opportunity to highlight the individual and collective achievements of our students and staff, and spotlight the program and activities that enable us to provide a high quality public educational system to our community.

Special activities planned during American Education Week, November 17-23, include an open house on Wednesday, November 20th, during which time both elementary students and faculty wore t-shirts and pins supporting the Apple #1 logo indicating pride in our schools.

These activities are part of a large school district effort to improve students achievement and the overall quality of education offered to its students, explained the district superintendent.

The Kewaskum District participates in a number of programs both sponsored by the State Department of Public Instruction and on a federal level.

"At the elementary level, students participate in the Olympics of the Mind, summer library programs, Chapter 1 assistance, physical fitness awards and other programs and activities that help students achieve to the best of their ability," Kleinmans said.

"Middle School students test their wits and ability through competition for the Who's Who achievement service awards, presidential academic and physical fitness awards, various athletic and music programs, Olympics of the Mind and attaining honor roll status. High School students increase their knowledge and social base through various organizations such as student government, athletic, musical activities, forensics, National Honor Society, numerous clubs, (including the service oriented Key Club), Badger Boys and Girls State, Booster Club activities, participation in the Academic Decathlon, Business World and competitions for scholarships that include study abroad and governmental seminars." This past quarter KHS had several students who ranked as merit scholars on the national college entrance exams.

All the schools provide services for students with exceptional educational needs (EEN), counseling and career planning.

New programs being developed include a protective behaviors curriculum, suicide prevention information, increased career counseling, drop-out prevention for "students at risk," drug and alcohol prevention and intervention, and competency based testing. The district has recently entered into a new "articulation agreement" with the vocational school at West Bend, MPTI, that will allow for advanced placement of our high school students.

The newly re-organized community group, Kewaskum Cares, is working to enlist volunteers for each of the schools to assist faculty with time and resources.

"To achieve excellence in any endeavor requires dedication," Superintendent Kleinmans said. "And I am confident that our teachers, parents, and administrators, as well as all others involved in the educational process are indeed dedicated to helping each student learn and achieve to the best of his or her ability."

Snowmobile Safety Course Scheduled

The New Fane Kettle Riders Snowmobile Club will hold its annual safety course for youngsters eleven through sixteen years of age on December 7th and 14th, from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Apple Program to Put Emphasis On Education and Schools Here

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Apple #1, what is it? No, not computers but a new districtwide program to promote a positive attitude toward education and schools in the Kewaskum School District.

The idea for such a program was brought to the attention of the Kewaskum School Board earlier this year by two of the district's teachers, Mary Pearson and Mike Miller. The concept of the project is to get teachers, students, parents, and the district at large, to work together to develop and maintain that positive attitude.

The faculty wants the Apple #1 logo to be synonymous with the School District of Kewaskum, a symbol of everyone working together under one theme and for the good of the entire district. "Your public schools...there's no better place to learn," is the slogan the Apple #1 public relations program has adopted to emphasize its goal.

The program is not just talk, but action too. The first step in getting the youngsters involved was giving each elementary student an Apple #1 transfer to be ironed on a tee-shirt which can be worn to various activities, including an All-School District Tee-Shirt Day.

The second, and most important, step is the implementation of a merit program. The standards which have been set for merit awards are: after the first quarter, if a child receives a MERIT, that is, anything C+ or better on their report card, behavior, academic and effort, the student will receive a pencil and certificate. If the student receives a merit again the second quarter, they receive only the certificate and so on. The first time the merit is received, is the only time they receive the pencil-certificate thereafter. Any student receiving a SPECIAL MERIT, B+ or better on all areas of the report card, will earn the lapel pin and certificate the first time. They receive only one lapel pin, and certificates thereafter. Buttons are being made for recognition for the behavior side of the report card. If a student receives B's or better for any two quarters, they will receive an Apple button.

Along with the merit program, various activities are being planned. The first of these, the poster contest held recently, was designed to promote the positive educational attitude. All kindergarten through sixth grade students were encouraged to enter a poster, either as a class or individual, illustrating the Apple #1 theme. The posters were judged and the winners announced in the newspaper. The poster are on display at the schools and throughout the community during National Education Week.

In addition to the student program, every teacher and member of the support staff will wear the Apple #1 lapel pin, showing their support of the program. Parents who volunteer their time will receive Apple #1 thank you notes. "In the future, we hope to have parents becoming actively involved by also working to earn an Apple #1 certificate or pin by volunteering their time in their schools," said Pearson.

By the end of the 1985-86 school year, Pearson and Miller, the program's coordinators, feel, when people see the Apple #1 logo they will identify it with the Kewaskum School District and will support the slogan, "Your public schools...there's no better place to learn."

CHRISTMAS GIFT AND CRAFT FAIR AT FONDY

The 4th annual Christmas Gift and Craft Fair will be held Sunday, Nov. 24th, at the Cow Palace, Fond du Lac County Fair Grounds from 9:00 to 4:00. There are 185 table displays. Admission is 50c. Food will be served.

THE HUNTING FAMILY

By Joyce Albrecht
County Extension
Home Economist

It's 5:30 on a crisp November morning, the first day of deer hunting season. George Y. Hunt is in his pickup truck, which is loaded with camping and hunting supplies. For weeks he has anticipated this day, when he and his buddies will head to the north woods in search of deer. They have done this far as long as George can remember.

Mary, his wife, who managed to pack two boxes of food and cook a hardy breakfast, is waving goodbye and longing to catch a few more hours of sleep before sunrise.

This scene is repeated once yearly in many hunting households. George, the stereotypical hunter, goes hunting with his friends and male relatives, and Mary, the "hunting widow," stays home.

With 30% of all Wisconsin men engaging in hunting on a regular basis, how hunting affects family life is a growing concern. A popular T-shirt slogan sums up the issue: "This marriage is temporarily interrupted during the hunting season."

Hunting definitely interrupts. The question is whether it disrupts. While little hard evidence exists that would support that hunting is a cause of family conflict, common sense and anecdotal evidence suggests friction in hunting marriages.

Bob Jackson, a University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse professor of psychology, studied bow hunters in Wisconsin. In the course of his study he attended a bow hunters meeting and found that almost all of the 30 or so hunters present had been divorced.

There seem to be a lot of single or divorced hunters. But it's not known whether hunting is a cause of divorce, or whether going hunting is something you do when you're single.

Hunting is still an almost exclusive male domain, despite changing male and female relationships. While women and daughters may be involved in preparation, they rarely take part in the hunt.

In almost any other sport you can think of — bowling, bridge, canoeing, fishing, sailing — husbands and wives participate together. That is not true for hunting.

Of the few women who do hunt, most learn from their fathers before age 20. Others start hunting out of desperation to spend time with their boyfriends or husbands.

For women interested in hunting, the social nature of the hunting is a hindrance.

Hunting is "male bonding activity which is oriented around a well-established group." This group has strict rules about hunting and social behavior.

In addition, there are no traditional female roles that might win her acceptance into the group. The best compliment a female hunter can get is that she is "like one of the guys."

Many women have no desire to go hunting. But given the intensity with which their husbands partake in the sport, they may feel they are in competition with it. According to studies, 25% of all deer hunters said they couldn't find anything in their lives that would be a substitute for deer hunting.

Women, on the other hand, have no comparable female bonding activity. They may go with other women shopping, or pursue other interests during hunting season, but there is no one activity that commands the kind of regular, single-minded devotion given hunting by males.

The issue is often one of neglect. To the wife, these regular male forays may signify the husband's desire to escape, leaving her with the usual household routine.

Pow or duck hunters who enjoy a longer season than gun deer hunters may have more family problems. If you're going out every night for weeks to sit in a tree or in a marsh, you're probably not devoting as much time to the family.

Thanksgiving, anniversaries and birthdays are also affected by deer hunting season, though not always in a negative way. Hunting season often brings family members from afar and is sometimes the only occasion for these family members to get together.

In addition to neglect, a sore point for some wives is the large amount of money and time devoted to the hunting party. Often the wife may feel cheated because she helps prepare for a trip she doesn't participate in, or because she doesn't spend a similar amount of time or money on a trip for herself. Or she feels that the money devoted to hunting might better be put toward a trip the whole family can enjoy.

Dad might counter that each year he brings venison home for the family's enjoyment. However, when the costs of large hunting trips are considered, it is cheaper to purchase meat.

Getting the meat is actually a low priority for most Wisconsin hunters. A recent DNR study found that only 5% of Wisconsin hunters say one of the main reasons they hunt is for the meat. The meat is a benefit, not the reason.

Deer hunting may be a source of conflict for families. In 1983, when the DNR tried to expand the deer season from 12 to 16 days, mainly to reduce congestion, hunters opposed it. The most often cited reason was "our wives wouldn't let us hunt 16 days."

Admittedly, the reasons behind such a statement vary. Wives may be worried about their husbands spending more resources and time, or for their safety (even though an expanded season may be more safe). Or, this statement may just be an excuse and not the real reason for opposing an expanded hunting season.

Safety is also a concern. Fueled by press accounts of deer hunter congestion in Wisconsin, family members worry about thousands of hunters with loaded guns milling around the Wisconsin woods. They also worry about how a loved one's health might stand up to the physical and emotional strain.

But there is another more serious issue which relates to hunting safety. Hunters don't just put on orange vests and "harvest" a deer. Often drinking is involved, and there is a group psychology that fuels a bizarre form of macho behavior. Such bravado can lead to hunting accidents, especially in group hunting situations.

Accident statistics show that more accidents occur in these situations, though accidents overall in the state are surprisingly low.

Whether hunting is an issue has a lot to do with family members' attitudes and beliefs. Most people who hunt do so because it was part of a family tradition.

Usually, it is something that Dad enjoys and has done for years. And it's something Mom has "gotten used to" or actually looks forward to. This time alone can mean freedom from the usual chores and meal preparation.

There is nothing problematic about a man needing a break. Nor does hunting necessarily cause problems. But, if hunting is what one does just because he has always done it, without regard for the costs, rewards and how other family members feel about it, maybe it's time to do some rethinking.

It's important to ask whether hunting is something that causes divisiveness, closeness or nothing at all.

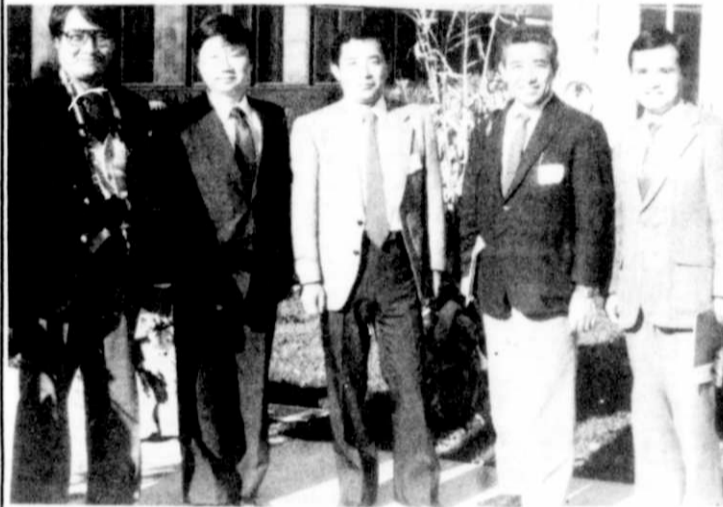

If other family members feel short-changed because they are left out of dad's hunting trip, perhaps they should ask dad for a trade: "OK dad, you get to go hunting. The rest of us would like to plan a trip sometime."

The basic issue is who decides the goals of the family and how are decisions made. Talking about hunting as a family may help a family begin to communicate about a lot of issues.

"OK, FRED, THE FAMILY SAYS I CAN GO HUNTING FRIDAY, IF I SCRATCH ONE FISHING TRIP NEXT SUMMER..."

Japan Delegation Studies at Cedar Lake Home Campus

JAPAN STUDY TOUR GUESTS — Yasu Matsuda, Director of Kobe; Seiji Mikami, Asst. Director of Kobe; Hiroshi Yamamoto, Planning Department; Kazuo Tominaga, Architect; Mutsuo Harada, Civil Engineer.

"Japan has virtually no nursing care facilities for the aged," shared Yasu Matsuda, the Director of Kobe Apartment Retirement Center. "This is why we came to study in the United States."

Learning about the Cedar Lake Home Campus through a missionary stationed in Japan, the delegation came to Cedar Lake on October 25. Their Wisconsin visit was included in a 12 day, six home study tour across the United States.

In the 5 man delegation were Yasu Matsuda, the Director of Kobe Retirement Community; Seiji Mikami, the Assistant Director; Hiroshi Yamamoto, Kazuo Tominaga and Mutsuo Harada, representing the field of architecture.

The delegation was sent to the United States by the national Japanese Senior Citizens Welfare Organization. Begun in 1975, this organization is responding to the growing need of retirement housing. A non-profit, non-government organization, it now operates 5 large retirement communities. To help plan future skilled nursing for the aged, they came to the United States to research both geriatric nursing care plus architecture conducive to such care.

Up to now, Japan's growing retirement housing communities has lacked nursing and rehabilitative services. Responding to meet this need, a number of facilities in Japan are laying plans for future construction and programming.

"We hope to begin building a skilled care nursing and rehabilitation center in December," explained Matsuda. Tominga, an architect, added, "We find American facilities spacious, well constructed and containing exceptionally practical nursing stations. We plan to utilize many of the ideas shared with us. Especially Cedar Lake's concept of purposeful retirement and care."

Japan is a rapidly changing culture. Due to fewer children and changing attitudes of family units, more elderly are entering retirement communities instead of living with their children. As in other industrial nations, the need for retirement communities such as those the Japan Senior Citizens Welfare Organization operates, is growing. So is the need for skilled nursing.

"This trip to the United States is well worth it," the delegation stated. "Our major problem is dealing with the hostility the elderly spouse when in need of skilled nursing care and independent living away from their families."

The Cedar Lake Home Campus regularly hosts health care personnel from across the United States and the world as professionals come to study and share in the Campus' program and philosophy.

Kewaskum Troop 744 Hikes Blackhawk Trail in Illinois

On Saturday, October 26, a beautiful sunny fall day, 13 Scouts hiked the 20-mile Blackhawk Trail. The trail follows the Rock River as it had for the Indians many years ago and leads to a huge statue of Chief Blackhawk, a famous Souix Indian Chief.

Surprisingly, the weekend weather remained sunny and dry and there was no rain to dampen anyone's spirit. The Scouts stayed at Camp Lowden Scout Camp next to the Rock River and about 30 miles south of Rockford, Ill.

Saturday evening all the Scouts were tired, sore and some limping from blisters, but when asked by a troop from Chicago to play Capture the Flag all the sore muscles seemed to disappear.

In September, 40 Scouts and Webelos attended a fall Camporee held at Camp Wilderness in Wautoma. Two districts were combined and nearly 500 Scouters attended. The troop was second in number of Scouts attending and received 3rd place recognition with a narrow margin between 1st, 2nd and 3rd for a safe campsite and physical arrangement.

The weekend of Oct. 11-13 a leadership training course was held at Hawthorne Hills and 8 of our Scouts attended and learned about patrol leadership.

On November 2, 14 Scouts travelled to Wisconsin Electric downtown Milwaukee to participate in the Electricity Merit Badge Clinic sponsored by the Company and in the afternoon visited the Milwaukee Scout office and their museum. On the same day 4 other Scouts attended a training course at Marian College in Fond du Lac to learn how they can work better with the Cub Scouts.

At a recent Committee Meeting, activities for 1986 were planned, and they are as follows:

Jan. 9 - 1st meeting of new year.

* Feb. 2 - Scout Sunday and Blue and Gold Dinner.

* Feb. 8 - Klondike Derby, Hawthorne Hills.

* Feb. 14 - 16 - Weekend at Eagle Cave (50 miles west of Madison).

March - Activities to be planned.

* April 6 - Pancake Breakfast.

* April 12 - Scout-A-Rama.

* April 26 - 27 - Galena, ILL.

* May 3 - 4 Pathways.

* May - Memorial Day Weekend. 3 day Black River Canoe Adventure.

June 13 - 15 - Order of Arrow Weekend.

June 19 - July 5 - Philmont, New Mexico - TREK.

June 22 - 28 - Junior Leader Training.

* July 13 - Firemen's Picnic.

* July - Great America.

* July 27 - Aug. 3 - Summer Camp - Gardner Dam.

* All family members may join in these activities.

We would like to thank all those people who came to our recent Spaghetti Dinner and helped make it a success. Also, to Holy Trinity Parish and the use of their hall and cooking facilities. Without the combined help of the community and some of the churches our program would have great difficulty doing anything and the boys would naturally lose interest at a time in their lives when they need the adventure, excitement, and leadership that Scouting provides. Again thank you for your continued support.

Scoutmaster,
Freddy Gildersleeve

Cub Scout News

Den Reports from cubscout pack 374 for October are as follows:

Den 1 went to the Lizzard Mounds County Park. They also visited the Sheriff's Department in West Bend. Sgt. Dolnick showed the scouts everything, the jail, squad car and equipment and the target range. It was a memorable experience.

Den 2 worked very hard to earn their Bobcat Badge. They had a fun Halloween party and are now working on achievements.

Den 4 had a Halloween party with a scary story. They made Halloween masks and scary black cats out of round pizza cardboard. Each boy is taking turns at being a denner.

Webelos dens 1 and 2 had the chance to see, for the first time, the 1985 Jaycees' haunted house. They also went to Weiland's for bowling.

Many cubscouts, along with their parents, brothers and sisters, had the opportunity to take a boat tour of the Horicon March October 12. The tour guide told us about the marsh and what happens during the changing seasons.

The Webelos were invited to a scout fall encampment at Maywood Wilderness Camp near Wautoma September 27, 28 and 29. Attending Webelos were: Pat McFadden, Jason Petermann, Jeff Dirmeier, Steve Donnel, Ben Belger, Kurt Thorn, Tom Bauer and John Gildersleeve.

Scoutmaster Fred Gildersleeve, Cubmaster Fred Lettow, Asst. Cubmaster Dennis Giese, Webelo leader Monty Belger, parents Jim Bauer, Mike Berger and Jim Norn also attended.

On Saturday, the cubscouts participated in various skill activities. That night there was a roaring campfire with a tremendous story teller. The weekend was dulled by Sunday morning rain, but everyone is looking forward to the next time.

RIVERSIDE 4-H CLUB

Our November meeting was held at the Leon Schmidt home. It was called to order by President, Jean Schmidt. Roll call was taken and the minutes from the last meeting were read by secretary, Deanna Wagner. The treasurer's report was given by John Schmidt.

A special thank you to Richard Herriges and Kevin for collecting the papers for our paper drive and taking it to Lynns.

For new business we discussed the officers training meeting. We also paid our dues which is 25c for each member to the Wisconsin 4-H Foundation.

Julie Wagner made the motion to adjourn the meeting. Deanna Wagner seconded it.

We then had our Halloween party with lots of games. Joan, Jean and John Schmidt served refreshments and Halloween goodies.

The past two or three weeks have been moving weeks for the Kewaskum Statesman. Due to the fact that Walter Schneider, owner of the building formerly occupied by the Statesman on Fond du Lac Ave., has made plans to make alterations in the building in which a different business will be conducted, it became necessary for us to find a new location. We purchased and are now located in the building opposite the Holy Trinity parochial school on Main Street.

The work on the new dam being built on the Milwaukee River in connection with the new public park project in this village is now underway. The dam will take in approximately 1400 feet or seven acres of river frontage. The measurements of the dam will be 147 feet over all with a spillage of 92 feet. A foot walk will be built over the dam, plans for which are not yet completed. The pond is to be dredged to a depth of 3 feet and 250 feet wide. The approximate depth of the pond will be 6 feet to allow for swimming and boating. Bath houses will also be erected on the west side of the river later at the dam. Frontage on the river being improved is: river widened, 8 to 12 feet, stones from the park placed on the shore line, and the entire river along the park area to be cleared. The proposed dam being built will raise the river 9 inches from the present bed at the site of the old dam. Due to the widening and pond there will be better flood control for the park proper. The wooded section of the park next to the Honeck farm will be fitted up and made suitable for bird and wild life sanctuary. Gravel walks will be constructed and a picnic grounds at the site of the old South Side Park, where a bandstand is to be erected later. At the highest point, approximately 50 feet above stream, the river is being prepared for a ski slide, sledding, etc. Funds for the park and dam project are made possible through a federal grant of $19,028.23 and $5,038.00 from the village. The dam is expected to be finished by April 1. The project is to last one year. There are 25 men employed from Fillmore, Barton, Kewaskum and Boltonville.

Charles Miller, Harold Claus, Clifford Rose, Lloyd Hron and Joseph Miller of this village represented the local basketball team at the Land o' Lakes league meeting at Merton last Sunday afternoon at which Campbellsport and West Bend Comets were admitted into the league as new members. The following candidates are out for the local team this year: Harry Furlong, Otto Stenschke, Ralph Kohn, William Schaefer, Lee Honeck, Joseph Miller, Harold Marx, William Harbeck, Ray Keno, Henry Kirchner, Lloyd Hron, Albert Hron, Hy. Rosenheimer, Harold Claus, Charles Miller and Paul Landmann. Clifford Rose is coach.

Another wedding of interest in Kewaskum's younger set took place in this village on November 16, when Rev. Richard M. A. Gadov united in matrimony, Miss Elverena Becker, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Becker of this village, to Walter Wesenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wesenberg of the Town of Kewaskum.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Lomira was the scene of the marriage of Miss Violet Haag, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Haag of Theresa, and Paul Gritzmacher of Wayne last Tuesday.

At a ceremony performed on November 6, at Hartford, Miss Cecile Melius of Rubicon was married to Clarence Backhaus, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Backhaus of the vicinity of Campbellsport.

Area Girls Attend AMPI Program

Friday, Nov. 22, 1985, Kewaskum Statesman, Page 16

Attending the 1985 AMPI Junior Cooperator Leadership Development Program were: Renea Troeller, Rubicon; Wendy Gyga, Lomira, and Colleen Alsberg, West Bend.

SCHAUMBURG, IL. — Sixty-five high school students from Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin attended a Junior Cooperator Leadership Development Program the weekend of November 1-3 at Lake Lawn Lodge near Delavan, Wis. This fifth annual seminar, sponsored by the Mid-States Women of Associated Milk Producers, Inc., was designed to teach the high school juniors and seniors about cooperatives and the dairy industry.

"Principal purpose of the three-day seminar is to educate potential future dairy farmers and leaders concerning the role of AMPI and the functions of farmer cooperatives," says Ardath DeWall, president of the AMPI Mid-States Women and program coordinator. "It's also an effort to inform the young people on the importance of effective milk marketing, including dairy promotion."

added DeWall, a member of the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board.

Kicking off the Friday evening program was University of Wisconsin Dairy Science Department Head Dr.

David Dickson, who illustrated and explained the role of the dairy cow in the U.S. economy.

An official welcome was given by Leland Anderson, AMPI Mid-States Region manager.

Kevin Hermening, Milwaukee, addressed the group at a Saturday evening banquet. The former Iranian hostage explained how his 444 days in captivity strengthened his love for freedom in America and urged the youth to work hard to preserve the great U.S. asset.

Other seminar speakers included AMPI Regional President Gregory Blaska of Marshall, Wis.; Janice Hilgendorf of Dairy Council of Wisconsin; Kim Gallagher of D'Arcy, Masius, Benton and Bowles advertising agency; Illinois Dairy Princess Lynn Lenschow, Sycamore, Ill.; Indiana Dairy Princess Virginia Teeters, Trafalgar, Ind.; and Lisa Hoesly, Wisconsin's "Alice-in-Dairyland."

AMPI Women, board members and staff led breakout sessions covering various topics including fluid milk marketing, milk quality, cooperative principles and structure, and AMPI financing and membership benefits.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of Sylvia Klein Schultz who passed away one year ago, Nov. 25, 1984:
The stars lost their twinkle and the sky's not as blue
And it's hard to be happy here without you;
Tho' our hearts still ache and we feel sad and alone
We know how happy you are in your new Heavenly Home.
We remember your precious smile and the warmth of your touch
All the joy and love you gave us ... nothing was ever too much;
God gave us a MIRACLE on earth and that miracle was YOU
Beloved mother ... dearest grandmother, and our best friend, too.
One year has passed since you went away
But to us, it seems like just yesterday;
Not a day passes without our shedding a tear
And, oh, how we wish that you were still here.

Sadly missed by her children and grandchildren

Wisconsin Gun Deer Season Opens This Saturday, Nov. 23

Wisconsin is entering its Golden Anniversary year of continuous gun deer seasons with the start of the 1985 season at 6:30 a.m. Saturday, November 23, Frank Haberland, DNR wildlife staff specialist said.

The nine-day gun deer season will run through the close of legal shooting hours on Sunday, December 1.

"Wisconsin has had a continuous firearm deer season since 1935, making this season the 50th year," Haberland said. "Hunting licenses have been required for the various deer hunting seasons since 1897 and Wisconsin has hosted at least a nine-day hunting season framework around the Thanksgiving holiday since 1955 for most of the state."

This has created a long-standing tradition of hunting in Wisconsin and developed many long-time hunting parties, partners and camps across the Badger State.

"In general, deer populations are excellent this year offering hunters plenty of opportunity statewide," Haberland said. "The herd population is near one million."

The 255,923 deer registered in 1984 established a new record for Wisconsin. This year, the number of deer available coupled with increased numbers of Hunter's Choice permits point to a potential harvest of 280,000 deer, Haberland estimated.

"Deer hunting is a recreational opportunity and hunters should not feel the pressure of having to fill a license," Haberland reminded hunters. "Research has shown that even with a large deer herd, only about 40 percent of the hunters will tag a deer."

The bulk of the deer population is located in a triangular-shaped region from Madison to Eau Claire to Green Bay. The number of available Hunter's Choice permits increased some 35 percent in 1985 over last season, Haberland related. The design was to limit over-winter deer populations in many densely-populated deer management units of the state.

"The desired number of deer varies from 10 to 30 deer per square mile of natural deer range depending on the unit," Haberland stated. "In some of the areas, deer populations are above these over-winter goals and consequently the permit numbers are high."

In some managements units the hunting season may be extended to reach desired harvest goals, Haberland added. This would not be statewide and would be restricted to hunters holding unfilled Hunter's Choice permits and members of their hunting party. In the Mississippi River units a day may be added to the either-sex deer hunt.

"This is, of course, only a maybe at this time," Haberland said. "The law requires the Department to wait until after the first two days of the season. Then wildlife managers will gather registration figures from those potential areas, analyze the data, and determine whether or not harvest quotas will be reached during the established season."

If those harvest quotas won't be reached in certain deer management units the season would be extended.

Hunters who received a second Hunter's Choice permit by mail are reminded that this second permit may only be used to shoot an antlerless deer.

A limited number of leftover Hunter's Choice permits may be picked up in-person by previously unsuccessful Hunter's Choice permit applicants. Those receiving these "walk-in" permits should check them very carefully before going afield. For instance, units 70E and 71 are antlerless only and Unit 75 is Hunter's Choice for the first three-days and antlerless only the last two days of the season.

"Trespassing is the number one complaint the DNR gets during the deer season and hunters should be aware that the law was changed last year," Haberland stated. "Trespassing laws will be enforced as a misdemeanor by local sheriff's deputies or town constables using a citation system similar to traffic violations."

Local deer season information can be obtained from DNR District wildlife staff specialists including: Southern District, Madison, Carl Batha, (608) 275-3248; Southeast District, Milwaukee, Tom Smith, (414) 562-9604; Lake Michigan District, Green Bay, Jim Raber, (414) 497-4033; West Central District, Eau Claire, Terry Valen, (715) 839-3750; North Central District, Rhinelander, Arlyn Loomans, (715) 362-7616; and Northwest District, Spooner, Bruce Moss, (715) 635-2101.

New 'Roadhunting' Bill Explained For Deer Hunters

A recent law passed by the Wisconsin legislature is expected to have some very positive effects on the safety of deer hunters and the general public, Ralph Christensen, DNR chief warden, said in explaining enforcement of Senate Bill 88.

"This legislation will save lives and keep people from getting injured as they use Wisconsin roadways during the state gun deer season," Christensen said.

The new law continues the prohibition on possession of loaded or uncased firearms, strung and uncased bows in vehicles, and shooting from vehicles. (There are special provisions for muzzleloaders). Adding to that, the new law prohibits any person from shooting a firearm or bow and arrow or crossbow bolt from all roadways (which includes the entire right-of-way) within a distance of 50 feet from the centerline of a roadway. The roadway is that portion of a highway actually developed or improved for the purposes of travel.

"The only exception to the new law is for small game hunters using shot size 'B.' or less in shotguns or muzzleloaders on unpaved roads only," Christensen added.

Highway and vehicle related accidents accounted for almost 21 percent of the total 271 deer hunting accidents during those six years. In the past six years there were 56 deer hunting accidents that were highway and vehicle related. Of the 56, there were seven fatalities.

"The law states that 'highways' will include all roads in Wisconsin as indicated on the most recent county maps," Christensen said. "All the dotted-line roads on those county highway maps will not count as roads."

Also included under the road definition are all roads in cities or villages and all paved roads, other than private driveways.

For most deer hunters this means that all logging roads, tote roads or woodland trails and fire lanes will not be included by the new law.

County highway maps showing which roads are affected by the new law are usually available at all County Clerk offices and at local Department of Transportation offices. A set of all 72 county maps will be available for viewing at all DNR offices.

Disabled hunter permit holders may still hunt from a standing automobile on logging roads, tote roads, snowmobile trails, and fire lanes and in fields and woodland openings. The vehicles must be off the highway and more than 50 feet from the centerline of a roadway when hunting big or small game.

This new law will discourage a practice that results in trespass on private properties. "Many hunters took advantage of the old law and shot off public highways onto private lands without permission," Christensen said. "Then they would trespass to retrieve the game from the private property. This will not be permissible under the law."

Often landowners are willing to point out safe locations to park and hunt for special permit holders. Of course these hunting arrangement contacts should be made prior to the opening of the deer hunting season.

"As with almost all new laws, conservation wardens throughout the state will be exercising considerable discretion in enforcing the new code," Christensen said.

Kewaskum Lakes Team Prepares For Opener

Land o' Lakes Manager Bill Backhaus

By Chuck Voge

The Kewaskum Land o' Lakes basketball team began preparations for their season opener against Port Washington on December 3. The Lakers held their first practice of the season Sunday night and Manager Bill Backhaus was quite pleased to have all of his starters back for another year.

Two teams dropped out of Lakes ball, and that will force some re-alignment in the league's makeup for the 1985-86 season.

The Kewaskum team has won the "B" division title for six of the last ten years finishing first in 1976-77-79-83-84 and 85. That's a pretty impressive record.

Indians Downed in Basketball Opener

By Chuck Voge

The Kewaskum Indians boys basketball team lost their season opener Tuesday night, Nov. 19, 76-61, in a non-conference game to Campbellsport. The game was played at the Cougar gym in Campbellsport.

What the Cougars lacked in poise and finesse they more than made up for with their shooting percentages, both from the floor and at the line. The Cougar free throw line was a pretty busy place for most of the evening, as the Indians aggressive style of play on defense caused more than the average number of fouls throughout the entire evening. With W.I.A.A. officials being as whistle happy as they are, the Indian game plan, which is to put a lot of pressure on the ball, may prove to be their undoing as the season unfolds.

With the exception of the first period which ended at 15-12, Campbellsport, the game wasn't very enjoyable to watch. During the first period the Indians played with very good discipline and controlled the ball well each time they brought it down the floor, only to end up on the short end of things most of the time since they just couldn't seem to find the hoop.

To make matters worse, the rebounding by Campbellsport center, 6-5 John Lemke was without a fault. Lemke controlled both boards for about ninety percent of the game. He not only jumped well, but muscled the Indians well throughout the entire game.

In the opening minutes the Cougars went into a very tight zone defense. Kewaskum penetrated their zone well and got inside time after time only to have their horrendous shooting percentage stop them from taking an early game lead.

Adding to the Indians woes were three quick personal fouls on Kewaskum's Don Menzel. Menzel's role on defense was that of point shagger and bird dog. He put on a good half-court press and kept it up until after his third personal in less than five minutes put him on the bench for a good part of the game.

In the second period the Cougar shooting percentage just never cooled off and they went into the locker room at halftime with a 40-28 lead.

At the start of the second half the Indians were still in it. Hopes died fast, however, when the Cougars started to press on defense. Their first half game plan seemed to be to control the rebounding and they did it well. Their second half tactics were to press hard and force a lot of turnovers. They did that well too and in spite of rough and unorthodox play it got the job done.

A high point for the Indians in the second half was the play of 6-0 forward Mike Coulter. Coulter spent most of the first half trying to adjust to his new role as a starter and at times looked a little lost out on the court. That turned around in a hurry though as the second half unfolded. Early in the third period he picked off a few Campbellsport passes and put up a few shots of his own and after experiencing the success of it all went on to play very aggressively for the rest of the game.

Having had success this early in the season should provide the foundation for a lot of necessary confidence on his part and Coulter will probably get much stronger and more heady as the season progresses. Also to Coulter's credit was the way that he handled himself in heavy traffic. He will undoubtedly be called on to provide the Indian muscle this season. At one point in the final period the Indians pulled to within ten and it looked like they had a chance to pull this one out. The time was right for them to start shooting over the Cougar zone from the outside. They did make a late game attempt at it, however, it was too little, too late and the Cougars went on to win it 76-61.

The Junior Varsity won by a score of 44-37 and the freshmen lost 51-29.

Next the Indians take on Slinger at home on Friday, Nov. 22, at 7:45 p.m. There will be no freshmen game with Slinger.

Girls Baseball Maybe in 1986

By Chuck Voge

Kewaskum High School math teacher, Sheri Nothem, is in the process of trying to both implement and organize girls baseball at Kewaskum High School.

Sheri has already put together a list of girls that would be interested in playing high school ball, and right now things look pretty good with respect to having enough players to make up both varsity and junior varsity teams.

After putting together some figures on the start up costs, Mrs. Nothem will try to get the potential girls baseball program placed on the school board agenda for further consideration and approval.

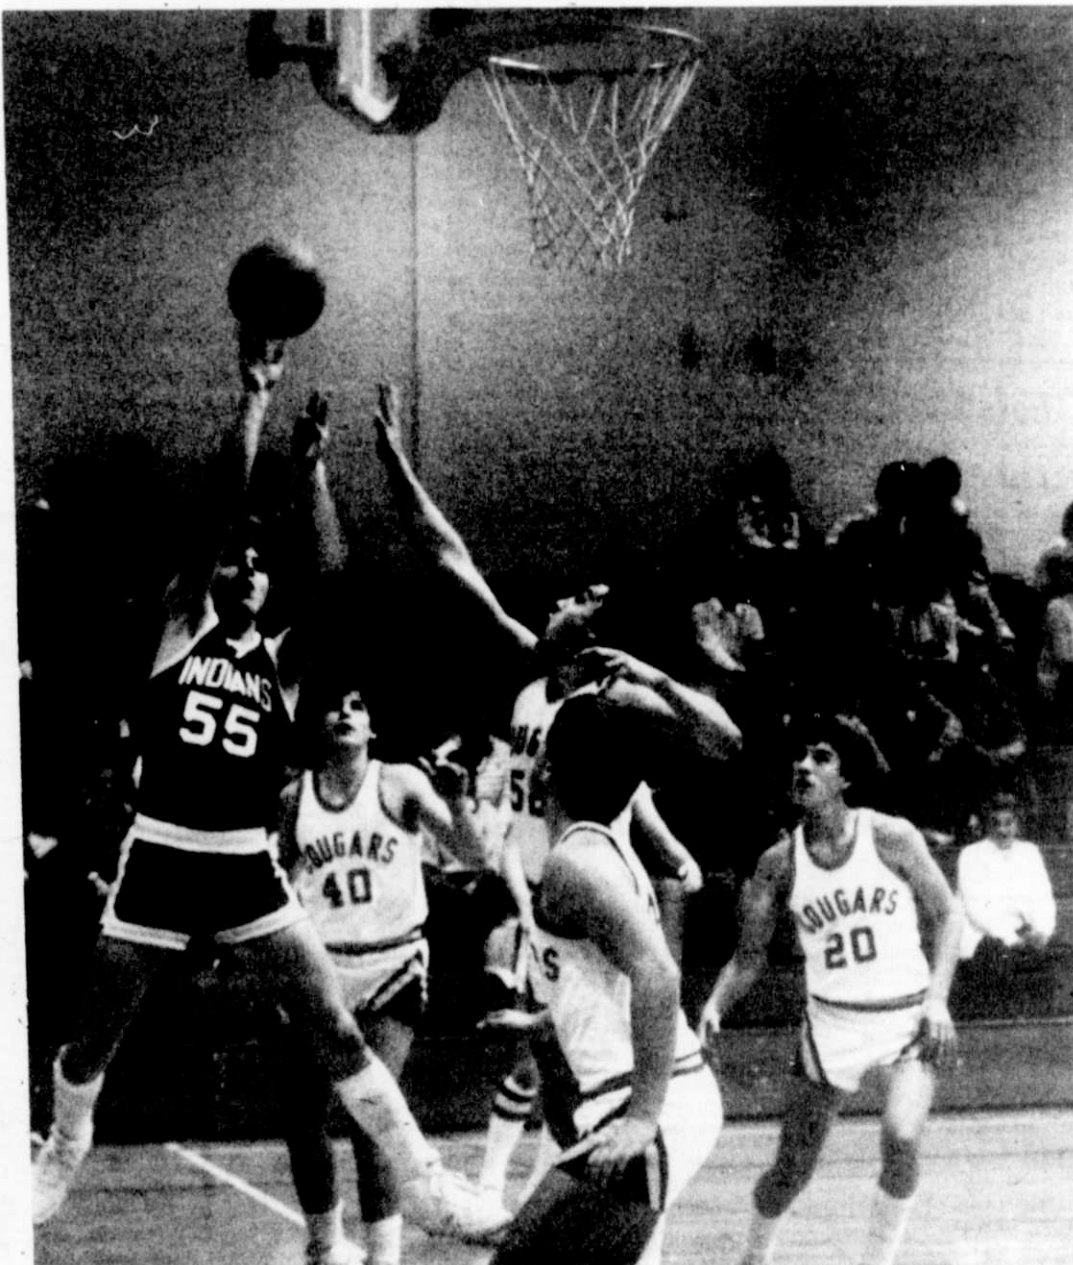

A current tally of sports in the high school system, shows that boys sports are out in front right now, with the boys having two more sports available to them than girls.
