Reconstruction of Dangerous Highway 28 Curves Approved

When Hwy. 28 east from Kewaskum to Hwy. 144 is re-paved within the next two years, several dangerous curves between this village and St. Michaels will be reconstructed and eliminated. Two of the curves shown in the photo, facing west, are near the gravel pits east of the village in the state-owned recreation area. About 5,000 yards of earth will also be removed from the hilly north side of Hwy. 28.

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Kewaskum Town Chairman George Allmann's diligent efforts to get dangerous curves along Highway 28 removed have finally paid off.

Allmann, along with Town Supervisors David Dorn and Dan Stoffel, met recently with representatives of the Department of Natural Resources and Department of Transportation to discuss the area which is located two miles east of the Village of Kewaskum, at the gravel pits.

The men learned, from department officials, that reconstruction to eliminate the curves has been approved with work to begin this spring and completed in 1987, when Highway 28 is re-paved to Highway 144.

The first curve will be banked to meet highway safety standards, while the next two curves will be rebuilt into one gradual turn. About 5,000 yards of earth will be removed from the north side of Highway 28, to provide better driver visibility. The new roadbed will be 22 feet wide, with a 3-foot shoulder on each side.

As an added safety measure, the DNR will be changing the highway crossing areas used by hikers, horseriders, skiers and snowmobilers.

Allmann had approached both departments several months ago with his proposal. When the DNR declined to give up some state land which is needed for the project, it looked like the plan was doomed. Allmann, however, persisted and later the DNR reversed its decision and then the DOT approved Allmann's request.

Mobile Home License Approved By Town of Kewaskum Board

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

At a special meeting Friday, the Kewaskum Town Board approved a license for the mobile home park owned by Melvin Tompkins. The renewal will run until December 31, 1986.

Before approving the license, the board expressed concern regarding a list of variances which had originally been brought up during Tompkins' license application last year. Town Clerk Barbara Hinz said the board toured the park December 23rd and found that Tompkins had compiled with several, but not all of the items.

The board told Tompkins he would have to clear up two more items, installation of an additional light in the rear of the park, and expansion of the emergency shelter from its present 145 square feet, to the 200 square feet on which he had previously agreed. Hinz said Tompkins agreed to both stipulations, noting Tompkins has already received a confirmation from the Electric Company that it will install the new light after the holidays.

The board also discussed other variances within the park with Tompkins and his attorney. They concern several items including structures which were put up on some of the lots without the necessary construction permits from the Washington County Parks and Land Use Department. Hinz noted some of the buildings date back to previous park owners, however, Tompkins and his attorney have been requested to contact the Parks and Land Use Department and get the situation straightened out before the town takes over zoning regulation from the county.

Kewaskum Residents Injured In Two-Car Accident

David Batt, Kewaskum, remained in critical condition with a serious head injury earlier this week at Froedert Memorial Lutheran Hospital, Milwaukee, as the result of an accident on Hwy. 45 south of Kewaskum Saturday in which his car, shown above, collided with another auto.

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Three Kewaskum residents were hurt in a two-car accident shortly after noon Saturday, on Highway 45, just south of Badger Road.

Injured in the incident were David Batt, 30, of 300 First Street, Kewaskum, driver of one of the vehicles, Debra Goodsell, 32, of 4160 West Moraine, Kewaskum, driver of the second vehicle and Goodsell's daughter, Jennifer, 8, a passenger.

The Washington County Sheriff's Department records indicate Batt was northbound on Highway 45, when he lost control of his car and spun in a circle, crossing the southbound lane where he was struck in the right side by Goodsell's southbound vehicle.

The injured were transported to St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend, by the Kewaskum Rescue Squad. Debra Goodsell had lacerations, Jennifer Goodsell received facial cuts, and Batt sustained serious head injuries. Batt was later transferred to Froedert Memorial Hospital, Milwaukee, via the Flight for Life helicopter.

As of Monday morning, Froedert listed Batt's condition as critical but stable.

DOT Plans to Upgrade Area, County Highways

The Department of Transportation has revealed plans to rebuild or repair nearly 3,000 miles of Wisconsin highways, and replace or rehabilitate 271 bridges, during the next six years, according to DOT's updated Six-Year Highway Improvement Program announced recently.

Total cost is estimated at $1.53 billion. Washington County projects amounting to 77.81 miles at an estimated cost of $22,786,000, include the following in this area:

State 28 - Main Street (Fond du Lac-Carroll) in Kewaskum, .65 miles of resurfacing, at a cost of $198,000, completed in 1987.

Kewaskum, to State 144, 5.17 miles of resurfacing at a cost of $595,000, completed in 1987.

State 144 - West Bend to Washington north County Line, 8.46 miles of resurfacing, $1,134,000, 1988-1989.

TV, Bonds Taken

Losses totaling about $1,100 were reported recently in a burglary in the Town of Kewaskum. A 19-inch portable TV and three $200 savings bonds were stolen. Entry to the residence in the 8800 block of County Trunk B was obtained by kicking in a garage door.

Jaycees to Sponsor Adult Bus to Attend All-Star Wrestling

The Kewaskum Jaycees wish to extend an invitation to the adults of the community to attend one of the few legitimate sporting events left that hasn't been plagued by drug abuse, point shaving or multi-million dollar players. That, of course, is all-star wrestling.

The Jaycees will be taking a bus down to the Milwaukee Auditorium on Saturday, Jan. 25. Anyone, age 19 or over, is invited to attend. The cost is a mere $13.00, which includes your ticket, bus fare, and beer for the way down.

Reservations for this event must be accompanied by payment and can be made at either Richard's Sip and Snip or at Sentry Foods by Jan. 13. The bus will be leaving from the old Sentry parking lot on Main Street at 6:00 p.m. on Saturday night. For more information call Gary Gavin, Kewaskum's biggest wrestling fan, at 626-2209. 1-3-21

Legion Plans Activities

The American Legion, Robert G. Romaine Post No. 384, Kewaskum, has a number of activities lined up during the coming months.

This year's state bowling tournament will be held in Hartland. Reservations must be in by Jan. 31. All Legionnaires interested should contact Clayton Stautz.

District bowling is Feb. 16 at Weiland's in West Bend. The Kewaskum post will start at 1:00 p.m. and will be sending four teams. Any questions, call Chairman Stautz.

The Mid-Winter Conference will be held in Wausau on Jan. 13 and 14. Mike Chesak, Marilyn Haug and Commander Pat McFadden will be attending this year's conference as representatives of the local post.

County dartball will be at Hubertus this year on March 9 at 1:00 p.m. A team and a team captain are needed. Anyone interested should contact Merv

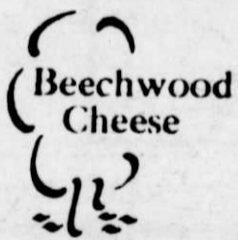

Thompson.

Commander McFadden has all the information on the Richard L. Kingston $1,000 scholarship that is being made available through the American Legion. Anyone interested should contact him.

At the last meeting, it was approved to buy a special bowling ball for our local Special Olympics team. This ball has a retractable handle and allows the children to improve their bowling form. This is one of the many things the post does for the community, thanks to the money in the treasury from fund raisers such as the annual picnic.

The next regular meeting of Post 384 will be at 8:00 p.m. on Jan. 13 and the executive board will meet at 8:00 p.m. on Jan. 6.

Tax Advisor Can Save You Money

By Joyce Albrecht
Washington County
Extension Home Economist

Whether you're a small farmer or a multimillionaire, you may find tax forms difficult to deal with on your own.

A professional tax advisor may help you save money.

But not everyone needs a tax advisor. If your return is fairly simple, with few or no itemized deductions, try doing it yourself. Your local library has tax manuals to help you fill out your returns, or you may contact your nearest federal Internal Revenue Service office for forms and explanatory booklets.

If you do need a tax advisor, determine what type of advisor will best meet your needs. You may choose among commercial chains, independents, accountants and certified public accountants (CPAs), enrolled agents and tax lawyers.

Commercial chains are probably the cheapest advisors, costing from $40 to $80 to prepare your federal, state and local returns. These chains can't represent you in a tax court if you're audited, but they can serve as witnesses. Independent preparers usually prepare tax returns as a sideline. The quality and range of services as well as the cost can vary greatly.

Accounts and CPAs are well qualified, full-time professionals who offer year-round guidance. This availability gives them an advantage over the commercial chains. For instance, before you invest in a tax shelter, you can call your accountant or CPA to ask what the outcome would be. Their services usually cost a minimum of $75 per hour. A CPA may represent you before a tax court if you're audited.

Enrolled agents are licensed by the IRS and must pass tests on tax regulations and accounting methods. They can not only complete your tax returns, but can also practice law before a tax court. If you think your return will be fairly complicated, an enrolled agent may be for you. Their rates start at about $75 per hour.

Tax lawyers are the most specialized of all tax advisors and the most expensive. Taxpayers who want to shelter part of their income may seek tax lawyers. Like the CPA and enrolled agent, a tax lawyer can represent you before an IRS tax court. They may charge as much as $150 per hour.

When choosing a tax advisor, be sure to keep a few questions in mind when interviewing them. Ask how much they charge, whether they work with clients on a year-round basis, what their background is, and what happens if you are audited.

Finding a tax advisor you can work with can save you both money and hassles.

Letters to the Editor

Dec. 26, 1985

Kewaskum Statesman
250 Main St., P.O. Box 98
Kewaskum, WI 53040

To The Editor:

I am writing to respond to Mr. Gary Stella's letter of 12/20/85, (in hopes that he will pick up his roommate's Kewaskum Statesman once again). In his letter Mr. Stella contends that the 1963 Congressional Record on communism, submitted in November by Dr. R.G. Edwards for publication, is out-of-date and a product of the "red-scare era."

Let me state, first, that Dr. Edwards' views certainly do not need my defense. His understanding of our world and how it works surpasses that of the vast majority of us. I can say as well that he is recognized as one of the truly fine and respected citizens of the village, state, and nation. Mr. Stella mentioned that we should channel our energy "into constructive thought and prayer on how to ensure peace, unity, human rights, and happiness." Dr. Edwards is one man who has devoted his life to those very things through his profession, his community-consciousness, and his personal faith.

While some of the specifics compiled in the Congressional Record on communism may have changed since 1963, many more new tactics arise every year to take their places. I hope Mr. Stella is not being duped by the unremitting battle cry - or better, whining - of the brotherhood of communist countries who have no inkling of what a human's basic rights even are. Their cry? "What the United States says is all a lie!"

My wife and I now live and work with the Cuban community in Miami, both those who fled Castro's slaughterhouse in the late 50's and early 60's, and the recent refugees from the Mariel boat-lifts, (where, by the way, "peaceful" Fidel Castro turned his police dogs loose on the people as if they were rag dolls). I invite Mr. Stella and anyone else who doubts that communism, its horrors, and its sordid strategies are true to come to South Florida and spend some time with people who know differently. Or maybe the skeptics would rather choose to live in Cuba or Nicaragua or Russia and find out for themselves.

Mr. Stella told Dr. Edwards to "wake up and smell the Folgers." Well, Mr. Stella, while the good doctor is enjoying his coffee, my advice to you is simply, "Please, wake up!"

Sincerely,

Thomas Behnke

Kewaskum Statesman:

Happy New Year
It's Tax Time

Once again it's that time of year when the bureaucracy babbles at its very best.

Our adroit leader, solver of man's problems and woes, the one who metes out social justice espoused his dedication to the reduction of property taxes this year. Even the Milwaukee papers treated us to pictorial coverage of Tony Earl eating a nice steak dinner provided by a constituent whose property taxes almost went down enough to cover the cost of the dinner.

Psyched by the Governor's promises and still harboring visions of Sugar Plum Fairies I couldn't wait to open the neat new large size window envelope marked "Tax Statement."

What with tax revenues running behind and farm prices in chaos creating both an underfunded state budget and an underpaid farm economy somehow our new low property taxes must be responsible.

A-ha it must be true for the assessed value remained the same - a good sign.

What's this the estimated fair market value declined by 5%? Well I never did believe that assessors ever really knew what market value was, but then shouldn't my assessed value drop if market value drops - it always went up when the market went up?

Well now, look here, the bureaucracy has changed the rules instead of a .9995 assessment ratio walla this year it is 1.0510, a 5% increase in the ratio to offset the 5% decrease in market.

A neat bag of tricks, if market value falls by 5% because people are not continuing to pay inflated real estate prices, (not only because they are getting smarter but also because they don't have the money; just revise the assessment ratio by the same amount.

We all know it would be unfair for assessed value to drop for this would destroy all future creditability in the Assessor's office for the cardinal rule states - never let the assessed value go down.

It makes sense to be assessed at 100% of market value but how does one justify a 105% assessment at market?

Nonetheless although the assessed value did not go down at least it did not go up and we are off to a good start. Now can you believe this, the tax rate went down from last year's 17.4784 to 17.3849, a 1/2 of 1% decrease, not earth shaking but by golly it didn't go up.

We're almost home. I knew Tony Earl was a Governor to be counted on, for if the assessed value remains the same and the tax rate drops, "TOTAL DUE" on the bottom line will certainly be less than last year, thanks for small favors.

What's this, I've been deceived, it's higher - higher by 11%, how?

Our government friends just did a fancy little side step and sent in Refrigerator Perry, instead of taking credits at the end to reduce gross to net, they have already been removed.

Magically net taxes have risen by 11%, but then why to worry, this was only right to cover a 12% increase in County taxes, a 22% increase in school taxes, and a 12% increase in town taxes.

Come on, this is Christmas time, be forgiving, remember your dog license fee went down but on the other hand who put a stumpage fee on my Christmas tree?

Why complain, don't be a Grinch but then sometimes I get mixed up on who is the Grinch.

Dear Editor:

The tax reform movement begun by President Reagan was hailed as the long awaited step to fairness, simplification, and lower taxes. These goals were lost as the legislation progressed in the Ways and Means Committee.

Why were these altruistic goals lost? The answer lies in large part to the complexity of our American economy. Let's take a look at our state tax system in Wisconsin in order to better visualize the problem.

Wisconsin, in 1985, is at a critical stage, economically. It ranks 8th in overall taxes. Its smokestack industry is on the decline. State spending is out of control and the state is in the frost belt. All of these factors have contributed to a slower comeback from the recession of '82.

I was concerned for these reasons when Governor Earl gave his strong support to the Ways and Means version of the Tax Bill. In a December 9th letter, Earl wrote, "I write today to urge your support for the tax reform plan approved by the House Ways and Means Committee. Your support for this plan is necessary to protect Wisconsin's position in the federal tax reform debate."

He further claimed, "The Ways and Means Committee plan is a major improvement over the President's plan." But in relation to the current law, it's a disaster! Why? In a large part it's due to the new economic policy it establishes, a policy which will hurt frostbelt states and help sunbelt states.

While the Ways and Means Bill allows for the deduction of state and local taxes, it penalizes those who choose to itemize and take these deductions. The bill makes taxpayers who choose to itemize reduce their deduction by $500 multiplied by the number of each personal exemption taken. For example, for a family of four, $2000 of their tax deductions must be given back in order to itemize state income taxes, property taxes, and mortgage interest.

In essence, this is the same thing as allowing only a partial deduction for state and local taxes. It has been estimated by the National Association of State Budget Officers that there could be as much as a 40% decrease of those who itemize. The remaining 60% who cannot take the standard deduction will have an increase in their taxes. For example, a two earner married couple with an annual income of $25,000 who still finds it beneficial to itemize would experience a 11.7% increase in their federal tax bill.

The end result is a shift of the tax burden from those who take the standard deduction to those who itemize. Statistics show that this policy also creates a greater tax liability for taxpayers in frostbelt versus sunbelt states. This tax liability difference could encourage flight to the sunbelt because it artificially accelerates the country's shift from a smokestack economy to a service economy and will have damaging effects on our state.

It also has a surprise tax increase which will be imposed on Wisconsin's state tax payers.

Because Wisconsin state taxes are based on one's adjusted gross income, as defined by federal law, this "partial deduction" means, for many taxpayers, a higher net taxable income when calculating their state income tax return. This amounts to a surprise tax increase for Wisconsin taxpayers which in return results in additional revenue for the Earl Administration; an administration which is currently strapped for cash.

Although the jury is still out on the federal net revenue increase, the impact of the Ways and Means bill will result in a "revenue windfall" for Wisconsin just at a time when budget figures indicate another deficit for the State. The Governor will be bailed out on the backs of the Wisconsin taxpayers without having to pass a state law for increasing taxes. He can get his tax increase; blame Washington for it, and not mention his lobbying efforts on behalf of the Ways and Means bill.

I hope Wisconsin taxpayers take a closer look at any hidden effects of the Ways and Means plan before determining it is the tax plan of the future. Because clearly it is not!

Sincerely,
F. James Sensenbrenner, Jr.,
Member of Congress

BIG SNOWMAN — This huge snowman was built in front of the Kewaskum Veterinary Clinic by Dr. and Mrs. Greg Ogi and family on Fond du Lac Ave. After being up for awhile, the snowman has somewhat lost his shape from the weather.

Even snow and cold weather arrived early this year in this area, much before winter had officially arrived. It seemed like months ago, with most of the winter still left. November served up 11 inches of snow — 8.6 inches above the normal. And December equaled November's total output in its debut. Through Christmas, December delivered 21.2 inches of snow in 10 performances.

Dance Slimnastics at Kewaskum Schools

Students from Kewaskum Elementary, Kewaskum Middle and Kewaskum High Schools had a chance to put some fun into fitness.

Jacque Wiedmeyer, an instructor from Dance Slimnastics, taught kindergarten, 7th, 8th, and sophomore classes a few aerobic routines. Not only did the students get to enjoy the workout, but also the physical education teachers, Mary Holfeltz, Sue Paul-Kenfield and John Nell. Everyone found out that fitness is only "Second Nature" and a workout will give anyone

a "New Attitude."

Dance Slimnastics is a non-profit fitness organization based in Port Washington. Dance Slimnastics has a program fit for anyone, men, women, young and old. The sophomore boys had an opportunity to acknowledge that fitness is not just for girls and can be enjoyed by boys as well. Pulses were taken often during class, making sure the workout was adequate but not excessive. Everyone was at their own level for fitness, walk, run, or jog.

During the workout the main goal was cardiovascular fitness and muscle tone. The side benefits were numerous, weight control, relieves tension, better flexibility, balance, and circulation. All students had a chance to feel terrific, and it was "For Their Heart's Sake."

THEY MAY LOOK THE SAME ON THE OUTSIDE,

BUT INSIDE IT'S A DIFFERENT STORY!

The one on the left is our standard Whirlpool 50,000 BTUH upflow pilot gas furnace. Its efficiency rating is 65.9%. That means that 34.1% of the energy it takes to run the furnace is wasted. Totally wasted!

The 50,000 BTUH furnace on the right is the new Whirlpool Tightfist® II high efficiency furnace. Its efficiency rating is 96%!* That means only 4% of the energy is wasted.

The difference is obvious. And remember, you're going to be charged for

Take the Fear Out of Winter Travel by Being Well-Prepared

Those of us who don't live in the southern climates of the country groan as we realize that winter is definitely here with all of the early snow and bitter cold weather. We typically dread winter for one main reason: driving in the ice and snow is no fun (unless, of course, you're driving a snowmobile). Scenes like that at the upper right are all too familiar. You go to visit your relatives only to discover your visit may be longer than you expected because your battery goes dead. Or, you're sure you won't have any problems because it's not snowing that hard, but your car ends up sliding into a ditch. Next, you hit the brakes a little too hard on the ice and rear-end the car in front of you.

It's not surprising that people are apprehensive about driving in winter weather. Accidents and mishaps are common. Although some situations cannot be avoided, there are steps you can take to ensure your family's safety during the holiday season.

Here is a basic checklist of safety tips:

- *Prepare your car well in advance
- *Equip your car with important safety items such as a CB radio
- *Check the weather reports and road conditions
- *Use extra caution while driving
- *Stay calm in case of an emergency

One of the best defenses you can mount against Old Man Winter is properly preparing your car for winter travel. It's wise to take your car to a diagnostic center (check your local phone book for locations) and follow through with their suggested repairs. By spending the extra money ahead of time, you can save yourself some serious car trouble — and even higher expenses, later on.

There are several things you can take care of yourself. It's important to have plenty of antifreeze in your car. Also, an oil change may be a good idea, depending on when your last change was, and the oil filter should be checked and changed as well. In addition, a well-charged battery is a must during cold weather. Doublecheck the age of your battery and test it to make sure it's reliable. Take extra care in making sure your windshield wipers are in perfect working condition.

One of the most important safety precautions is having the right tires for your car. The person who normally services your car or someone at your local auto parts/accessories store can recommend the tires best-suited to your car for the type of winter weather you have. Remember to have a good spare tire full of air as well. In many cities there are regulations requiring the use of snow tires under certain conditions and subject to fines if violated. In more severe weather, many people choose to use chains on their tires. Again, check with someone locally, because in some cities, it's against the law to use chains, or you can just use them along certain routes.

Even if you have to travel just a short distance, it's equally important to prepare your car (you don't want to have trouble on the way to the football game!). In addition to maintenance items, it's a good idea to have safety items handy. The single most important item you'll need is a way to call for assistance in case of an emergency, such as a citizen's band radio. Some CB radios today are designed specifically for use in emergency situations (an example would be the emergency-oriented CB radios designed by Midland International Corporation).

In addition, you should have other safety items available in your glove compartment or trunk. You'll want to have a flashlight and extra batteries, a jug of water and some high-protein food on hand. You also want to have several blankets handy, and a small first aid kit is a good item to have, just in case.

Once you've got the car ready for travel, it's time to pack up the Christmas presents and head for your relatives' house. Before you leave, check the weather reports to find out the road conditions along your route. If you would like further information about road conditions, call your nearest highway patrol office and they will give you highway updates.

Before pulling out of the driveway, be sure everyone is using their safety belts. As you travel, keep your car radio or CB (Channel 19) tuned to where you can receive even further weather and highway information updates. An important tip is to drive with extra caution, and slow your speed on bad roads. Make regular stops at filling stations to fill the gas tank and check the antifreeze. Don't forget to make regular rest stops if you're traveling a long distance. If possible, do your traveling in the daylight, before the sun goes down and the roads have the chance to freeze over as temperatures drop.

Hopefully, your preparations will have been well worth the effort, and you will arrive at your destination without mishap. But what do you do in the event of a real emergency?

The most important thing to remember is to stay calm. If you have car trouble, pull well off the road and out of the line of oncoming traffic if possible. If your car has slid deep into a ditch, don't try to push it out from behind, as the car could slide back and run over you. Some people could even suffer a heart attack from the extra strain.

It's best to stay in your car and out of the cold and wind, because frostbite can happen fast. Don't try to walk for assistance, especially in unfamiliar territory. Try to conserve fuel by not running the car continually for heating purposes. Use the blankets you have and only use the heat every once in a while. Always check the tailpipe to make sure it's clear of snow and not obstructed before sitting in your car while it's running.

In these situations, having a rescue-oriented CB radio can make all the difference. With such a radio, you can switch to Channel 9, the channel most monitored by police and highway patrol units. Many models on the market today have a switch that instantly accesses Channel 9. Once on Channel 9, make your call for assistance. With a CB, rescue is just moments away.

Don't let winter weather scare you away from the big football game or spending the holiday season with loved ones. Take the extra time and money necessary to prepare for your family's well-being. No matter what the weather is in your area, it makes good sense to be prepared for emergencies. By planning ahead, you'll have a safe and enjoyable trip.

Rescue is just moments away with an emergency-oriented CB radio.

1986 Tax Guide Now Available

TAXES 1986, the annual tax guide and information book published by the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance (WTA), Madison, is now available for purchase.

The WTA, a privately supported government-research and citizen-education organization, said that the 1986 edition incorporates all the tax law changes affecting the filing of federal and state individual income tax returns for 1985. The 90-page pocket-size book also contains information on Wisconsin's homestead credit program and the farmland preservation program.

The guide, in addition to serving as an aid in filling out income tax returns and the homestead credit form, is a useful year-round reference on federal, state and local taxes — property, sales, inheritance, gift, excise, social and unemployment compensation. The book also contains some state-by-state comparisons of state and local taxes.

TAXES 1986 may be purchased from the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance, 335 West Wilson Street, Madison 53703-3694. The single-copy price is $1.30, which includes the state sales tax.

The seven-week course, conducted at Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, NC, prepared Mans for future assignment to supply administration and operation duties.

He received instruction on the use of supply publications and catalogs, plus preparation and filing of naval correspondence and directives. His studies centered on the procedures used in the Marine Corps to receive, issue, control and account for government property.

Loans Available for People 65 or Over to Pay Property Taxes

Applications are now available for a new program that may help people age 65 or over pay their 1985 property taxes, according to Michael Ley, Secretary of the Department of Revenue.

"The Legislature approved the Property Tax Deferral Loan Program in the state budget. The primary goal of the program is to assure that property taxes will not force Wisconsin's elderly property taxpayers on fixed incomes out of their homes," Ley explained.

Loans up to $1,800 will be available to applicants to pay 1985 property taxes. The annual interest rate is eight percent for the life of the loan. The principal and interest do not have to be repaid until ownership in the property is transferred or the applicant no longer lives in the home.

There are several requirements to check to determine if you're eligible for a low interest loan. For example, applicants must have total household income of under $20,000. The definition of household income includes income sources such as total social security benefits and several other items not included in taxable income. Adequate insurance and a limit on outstanding liens are also included in the qualification guidelines.

The application period for the Property Tax Deferral Loan Program is from January 1, 1986 to June 30, 1986," Ley explained. "Individuals who are interested in this program can also apply for the Homestead Tax Credit program. However, it is important to emphasize that the deadline for Property Tax Deferral loans is six months before the deadline for Homestead."

Applications are available for the program by writing to: The Property Tax Deferral Loan Program, Wisconsin Department of Revenue, P.O. Box 8903, Madison, Wisconsin, 53708.

An important business transaction was completed in this village last Saturday when K.A. Honeck, owner of the Chevrolet garage and dealer in Chevrolet and Buick motor cars, purchased the former Schaub garage building on Fond du Lac Avenue from its owner, Mrs. Lawrence Guth of West Bend. Mr. Honeck's reason for the purchase was that increased business does not give him ample room in the garage he is operating at present. The new headquarters contain spacious rooms which are now being fitted over and decorated by a crew of men who expect to have the work completed by January 15, when a grand opening will be held.

Three young men from this village luckily escaped serious injury last Sunday afternoon when their car ran into the ditch and tipped over three times. The occupants were Paul Landmann, Leander Honeck and Lester Casper. The accident happened about seven miles north of this village on Highway 55, a short distance south of the Dutch Mill filling station, located at the intersection of Highway 55 and the Dundee road, in the latter part of the afternoon as the trio was returning home from a hunting trip around that region. Due to very hazardous roads, made so by a coating of snow and ice, the accident was absolutely unavoidable. Luckily the automobile was one of the newer models with all steel body which prevented those inside of the car, as it rolled over, from being crushed. The only injury suffered was several cuts and bruises on Mr. Landmann's face. The other two escaped uninjured.

According to an announcement recently made at Madison, the Wisconsin department of public instruction will distribute $32,713.49 to the elementary schools of Washington County in the form of state aid. This is a total of $3,813,548 which is the part flat rate to be given to schools in the state. This will be the first year since 1931 that the school aids have approximated the amount provided by statute.

On Christmas Day, the Rev. and Mrs. Gustav Kaniess of the Town of Scott, announced the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, of Milwaukee, to Mr. James William Nehring, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Nehring of Chicago.

Frank Hopkins, who has been manager of the Izaak Walton Game Farm at Moon Lake, located about seven miles northeast of Kewaskum, on the Forest Lake Road, for nearly ten years, on Thursday of this week moved his belongings to the State Game Farm at Poynette, where he will make his future home. He was accompanied by his wife and two sons, Herbert and Frank Jr., both of whom were students at the Kewaskum High School. Tony Rinzel of Campbellsport, who has been assistant to Mr. Hopkins for the past seven years, will serve as manager of the farm until next September when drastic changes are liable to take place. At that time the farm will, perhaps, cease to be operated by the Izaak Walton League of Milwaukee and in all probability, if possible, will be sold to some other sportsmen's club or group of men who are interested in maintaining a wildlife refuge in this vicinity.

The present game farm was established in 1926 by the Izaak Walton League of Milwaukee and branches in this village and Beechwood. The tract of land consists of 729 acres surrounding Moon Lake, which at the time of its establishment was purchased from neighboring farmers at a cost of $40,000. The land was purchased as follows: 80 acres from Aug. C. Bartelt, 304 acres from Hubert Rinzel, 40 acres from Julius Reysen, 150 acres from Mrs.

Anna Romaine, 8 acres from Geo. Post, 15 acres from Ernst Becker and 160 acres constituting the area covered by the lake. Since that time the refuge has been open to the public under careful restrictions with hunting prohibited and fishing restricted.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Griepentrog of the Town of Wayne announce the arrival of a baby girl born December 22. A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ehnert at New Fane on December 19.

Herman Backhaus had the misfortune of losing one of his valuable horses last Monday on account of its falling down and breaking one of its legs. The break was so bad that the animal had to be killed. Herman valued the horse at $75. He was the owner of the animal only a few days, having made a horse trade with John Muehleis last Saturday.

Santa Claus was very good to Kewaskum this year. Martin, to the families of J. H. Martin, Herman Backhaus, August Backhaus and Carl Dahlke, where he left pianos.

Rev. Greve sent services on Christmas Day had a surprise in store for his congregation as he gave each family a photo of himself and family. The photos were well received by all, who were very thankful for same.

The Misses Belinda Backhaus and Olive Haug, students of the Oshkosh Normal, are visiting under the parental roofs since last week Friday. Miss Olive Oppenorth, who is attending the Normal School at Milwaukee, arrived last Saturday to spend her vacation with her parents.

Henry Backhaus Sr., aged 88 years, one of the first settlers of this village, passed away at his home last Sunday, Christmas afternoon, at 4:20, after a three days' suffering with Bright's disease.

Jos. Eberle Jr. was at Newburg Monday. He was accompanied by Rev. Vogt, who attended the Golden Jubilee of the Catholic Church there.

State Tax Assessors Learning How to Use Soils Information to Appraise Land Values

Wisconsin tax assessors are learning how to use soils information to appraise land values. The first statewide seminar held earlier in December in Marshfield drew a capacity crowd, and over 100 applicants had to be turned away.

"Assessors are clamoring to find how to use soils information. They know it'll help them assess land, especially farmland, more fairly," says John Brubacher, U.S. Soil Conservation Service. Soil productivity will be added to the list of factors assessors use to appraise land. "They'll be able to assess taxes by taking into account the soil's ability to produce crops, so poorer land won't be taxed as high as a similar parcel of more productive soil." The U.S. Soil Conservation Service helped sponsor the seminar with the University of Wisconsin, organizations. There are over 850 state licensed land assessors and appraisers in Wisconsin.

At the seminar, assessors learned how to use the soil survey, a detailed map of soils that also explain the limits and capabilities of different soils. The U.S. Soil Conservation Service surveys and maps soils, and then publishes a soil survey book for the county. Sixty Wisconsin counties have soil surveys completed or in progress.

"This was the most attentive audience we've had in a long time," said Brubacher, SCS state soil scientist. The next seminar will be in Arlington in January. More will be scheduled to meet the demand of applicants.

Soil maps and information are available at SCS offices in most counties. Limited soils information for the 11 northern counties that have not yet helped fund a soil survey are available at SCS offices in those areas. Washington County has a modern soil survey which is available from the Soil Conservation Service office at 2361 W. Washington Street, West Bend or call 334-3706.

Congressman
JIM
Reports

FULL STATE AND LOCAL TAX DEDUCTION IS NOT RETAINED

In a letter to his colleagues about the Ways and Means tax package, Congressman F. JAMES SENSENBRENNER, JR., (R-9th District) warned, "Before you begin rejoicing over the 'saved' deductibility of state and local taxes, I think closer review is called for. Clearly Wisconsin taxpayers will not enjoy the same tax treatment of their state/local tax deduction as currently exists."

Sensenbrenner said, "Let me explain, under the Ways and Means Plan, a $2000 personal exemption can be taken for each member of a family. However," Sensenbrenner continued, "If you choose to itemize, you are penalized by a reduction in your personal exemptions. This bill requires every taxpayer who itemizes to reduce their deductions by $500 for each personal exemption taken." For a family of four this would mean giving back $2000 in personal exemptions. "In essence," Sensenbrenner said, "this is the same as allowing only a partial deduction for state and local taxes." The National Association of State Budget Officers has estimated there could be as much as a 40% decrease for those who choose to itemize and benefit from these deductions.

Sensenbrenner added, "The end result is a shift of the tax burden from those taxpayers who take a standard deduction to those who itemize."

For a working couple in Wisconsin with two dependents earning $30,000 per year and itemizing, this means their taxes will go up 2.6%. On the other hand, the same couple, if they did not itemize would get a windfall decrease in their taxes of 22.8%.

"Since these figures vary with a state and income brackets," Sensenbrenner stated, "this plan could encourage flight to the sunbelt states. For example, a two earner couple in Milwaukee, WI earning $100,000 per year would pay $1,162 more under the Ways and Means Plan. While the same couple living in Memphis, TN would pay only $395 more per year."

Sensenbrenner concluded, "I urge you to further examine how this tax plan treats the deductibility of state and local taxes, as well as how it would affect your constituents who itemize."

some cases, the tax on Social Security benefits may result in a tax rate in excess of 100%.

This tax increase will, of course result in more tax dollars for the bureaucrats and politicians to spend. The bipartisan Legislative Fiscal Bureau estimated that this new tax will result in approximately $24 million in additional funds.

This provision certainly received full consideration before the State Legislature. Generally, I support federalizing our state income tax code because when our tax code conforms with the federal tax code it simplifies the tax reporting process to an extent. However, I could not support this provision, authored by Governor Earl, which taxes Social Security benefits - especially those benefits of the middle class. This provision was just one of many reasons why Governor Earl's $18.7 billion budget plan was unacceptable.

Please feel free to write me, Senator Don Stitt, P.O. Box 7882, Madison, Wisconsin 53707 or call my office at 608-266-7513 or leave a message with the Legislative Hotline at 1-800-362-9696.

McCallum Considers Entering Race for Lieutenant Governor

Madison - Republican Senator Scott McCallum said he is giving "strong consideration" to the possibility of seeking the GOP nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

McCallum, who is serving his third term as a state senator, said he issued the statement in response to recent speculation about his possible plans for a move to higher office in 1986. He noted that friends and supporters have urged him to run for Governor or Lieutenant Governor.

McCallum said it is unlikely he will enter the Governor's race because of the early efforts by other Republican contenders. "It would appear that it might be too great of a project in too short of a time to begin now," he added.

He said, however, that a bid for Lieutenant Governor would still be doable. "There is certainly enough time to put together a viable and successful campaign effort and I feel being Lieutenant Governor would be an opportunity to continue the efforts I have started in the Senate," McCallum said.

McCallum added he would spend the holidays considering the possibility of entering the campaign. In addition, the 1982 Republican U.S. Senate nominee said he wanted to have time to visit with some GOP leaders and supporters.

"I want to take all the factors into consideration, especially in regard to my family and I plan to make an announcement after the first of the year," said McCallum. One of the "Major Considerations" is that he and his wife Laurie are expecting their second child this spring.

1040A. When using the Form 1040A, taxpayers can also claim the Child and Dependent Care Credit and take an IRS exclusion.

Of course, some taxpayers may not be able to use either the Form 1040EZ or Form 1040A because of the amount or kind of income received, filing status, the need to file certain additional forms and/or schedules, or the need to pay other taxes that can only be shown on a Form 1040. In addition, taxpayers may choose the Form 1040 because they may want to claim itemized deductions, adjustments to income, or credits that cannot be taken when using the Form 1040EZ or Form 1040A.

The peel-off label, showing the taxpayer's name, address, and social security number, should be attached to the return that is eventually filed with the IRS. Taxpayers should also use the coded envelope which comes with the tax package.

Tax Forms On the Way

Taxpayers who filed a return last year should be receiving their 1985 forms within the next two weeks, according to the Internal Revenue Service. Generally, taxpayers will receive the tax package which meets the needs of the forms they filed in the past.

Again this year there will be three different forms that taxpayers may use. Many single taxpayers will be able to use the Form 1040EZ and still claim the charitable contribution for non-itemizers.

Taxpayers who cannot use the Form 1040EZ, because they do not meet the requirements, may be able to use the form

State Begins Taxing Social Security Benefits, Senator Stitt Reports

By Senator Don Stitt

There has been a recent outcry from many individuals who rely on the Social Security program for their retirement income regarding a state tax on certain Social Security benefits. This outcry has been stimulated by several state newspapers, who were not aware of the new state tax when it was proposed by Governor Earl in his budget in January.

Specifically, the new provision, effective in 1986, allows state taxation of a portion of Social Security benefits for single people with annual incomes above $25,000 and couples with more than $32,000. This provision simply "federalizes" or adopts the current federal tax treatment of Social Security benefits on the state level.

Advocates of this new tax argued that this provision would only tax those individuals with income significantly above the poverty level and those people who rely on their Social Security benefit for their necessities would not have their benefits taxed. They further argued that this provision provides greater equity because it treats Social Security benefits, pension income, and other forms of transfer income similarly.

Opponents of this new tax argued that pension income and Social Security income should not be taxed the same because the benefit levels are not determined in a similar manner.

Furthermore, analysis of this new tax has shown that the middle class retirees experience steep increases in their tax rates as a result of this charge. In

70,000 State Taxpayers Donate Over $470,300 Contributed Toward DNR's Endangered Resources Fund

Wisconsin taxpayers contributed over $470,300 toward the preservation of endangered species and natural areas this year. Donations made through the Endangered Resources income tax check-off will be used to continue work in recovery and management activities and to begin new projects.

"We are extremely pleased with this year's totals," said Ron Nicotera, director of the DNR's Endangered Resources Bureau. "Over 70,000 taxpayers contributed to the Endangered Resources Fund this year. That's up from just over 47,000 last year — our first year when we raised $291,000."

"Money contributed to the Fund is earmarked for specific wildlife and plant programs. Over 30 projects are currently underway. With the additional funds, we will be able to begin new projects including a peregrine falcon recovery plan and a pine marten restocking program," said Nicotera.

"Another new program will involve the University of Wisconsin in a joint effort to begin recovery and management of the endangered ornate box turtle. The timber wolf management effort will continue. The recovery plan for that species is almost completed and will be ready for public input soon."

A number of existing projects will be expanded including nesting platform construction and nesting habitat protection for Forster's and Common terns. The barn owl reintroduction program will be expanded and several young owls will be equipped with radio transmitters to determine the success or that program.

Several grassland bird species are declining including bobolinks, meadowlarks and upland sandpipers. Therefore, a comprehensive grassland bird census will be initiated. The DNR and volunteers will try to determine what factors may be contributing to the birds' continued decline.

Preliminary work will begin on the reintroduction of trumpeter swans and some funds

Another opportunity made possible through the Endangered Resources Fund will be the establishment of a Small Grants Research Program which will provide money for research in plant and animal species populations, distribution and habitat management techniques.

"We are committed to much more work than we alone can handle, so it is through the efforts of many volunteers and the DNR wildlife specialists that our endangered and nongame species work continues," said Nicotera. "Volunteers not only help us with our field work, but they have been instrumental in helping us promote the Endangered Resources Fund."

Wisconsin taxpayers rank third in the midwest behind Ohio and Minnesota residents who contributed over $500,000 and $650,000, respectively this year. Thirty-three states now have wildlife check-offs.

Indian Girls Second in Own Holiday Tournament

By Chuck Voge

In spite of injuries to key players Jodi Yearling and Brenda Vetter, the Kewaskum girls' basketball team fought their way to second place in the two-day holiday invitational tournament held here Friday and Saturday, Dec. 27 and 28.

The Indian girls started out with a first round, 38-33 overtime win over the Slinger Owls on Friday, and lost out in the championship game on Saturday to a powerhouse team from Beaver Dam. The Beavers had defeated Mayville in the opening game 43-38. The girls, many of them being the same girls that played on this year's championship volleyball team, brought home still one more handsome trophy to add to the growing Kewaskum collection.

Mayville went on to beat Slinger in the consolation game Saturday, 40-36.

Starting at guard for Kewaskum in the opening game were Brenda Vetter and Brenda Kober, at forward, Lisa Schneider and Terri Schmidt with Yearling getting the nod at center in spite of an ankle injury that has plagued her for most of the season. The entire 11-girl squad saw quite a bit of action during the game. High scorers for the Indians were Jodi Yearling and Lisa Fusek with 10 points and Lisa Schneider with 6. For the Owls A. Curtes had 12 and J. Hollabaugh 9.

For most of the regulation game both teams played rather lack luster basketball with neither team taking a commanding lead. It was such a slow paced, low scoring game that at the end of the first period both teams had scored a combined total of only seven points. This was quite unexpected to this writer since Kewaskum should have easily blown the Owls away.

The game dragged right up to the final minutes and with 1:38 left to play the Indians held a 29-26 lead that looked like it should hold up. Slinger, fighting desperately, tied it up, however, at 29 as the final buzzer sounded and sent the game into overtime.

Then in the first and only three minute overtime period Kewaskum exploded for 9 points as they outscored the Owls, 9-4, and set the stage for their trip to the championship game on Saturday. Final score 38-33, Kewaskum.

As the championship game with the Golden Beavers started, Kewaskum had to give up a tremendous advantage in both height and health. Five foot nine inch Jodi Yearling, who limps noticeably when she goes the length of the floor and cannot support her weight on her injured ankle when rebounding, was matched up against a healthy six foot one inch Becky Glewen for Beaver Dam.

Starting forwards for the Indians were Lisa Schneider and Jenny Hintz with Kober and Vetter at guard.

Early in the first half the Golden Beavers threw up a zone that Kewaskum failed to penetrate for the entire half, and that put together with injury problems, and having to give up such a tremendous height advantage, helped the Golden Beavers to romp to a 21 point halftime lead at 35-14, Beaver Dam.

The second half was a different story, however, as the Indians held their own, scoring 27 points in the half to 28 for the Golden Beavers. The half wasn't a complete turn around for the Indians, however, since Beaver Dam seldom had more than two of their starters in at any one time.

The game can best be summed up by saying that Kewaskum didn't play bad basketball. They lost because they were matched up against a super Golden Beaver team that played outstanding ball in every sense of the word, offensively, defensively and in the area of good sportsmanship. They brought a class act to town, played well and deserved to win. As for the Indians there's no shame in taking a trophy for second place.

High scorers for Kewaskum were Lisa Schneider with 8 and Brenda Vetter and Jodi Yearling with 6 each. For Beaver Dam, Becky Glewen had 13 and Lois Miller with 11.

In junior varsity tournament action the Indians dropped the opener to Slinger by a score of 37-30. They won their consolation game over Mayville, 26-24. Beaver Dam also took first place in the JV department, downing second place Slinger in the championship game.

Next the Indians take on Kiel on Thursday, Jan. 9th, at 6:15 and 7:45 at Kiel.

Just placing third against some larger Class A schools in the tourney might help the Indians when they return to conference play.

Next the boys take on West Bend West on Tuesday, Jan. 7, at West Bend at 6:15 and 7:45 in non-conference games.

Schatz Moves On to Basketball

Freshman Coach Dale Schatz

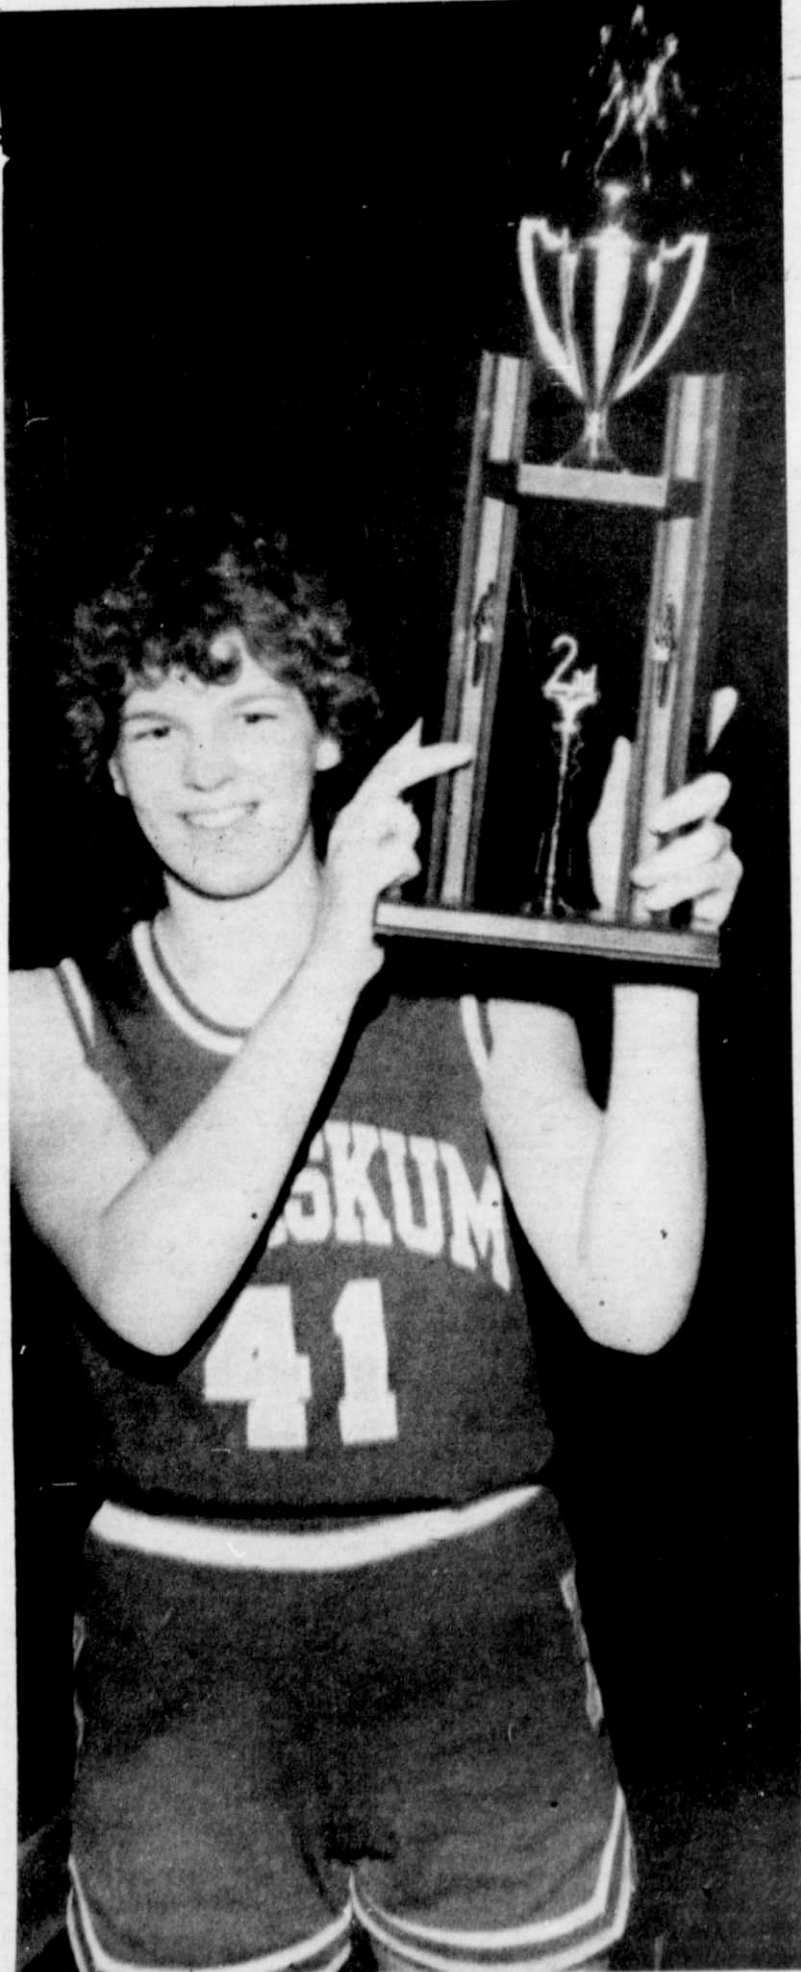

By Chuck Voge

Basic business and accounting teacher Dale Schatz, who first broke into coaching at Kewaskum this year by coaching the freshman football team, has moved on to more coaching involvement by coaching this year's freshman boys' basketball team.

Schatz, a graduate of Hartford High School in Hartford, Wis., earned his degree in education from the University of Wisconsin at Whitewater and also has undergraduate studies in business. Dale and his wife live in Grafton and have an eight month old daughter.

He believes the role of sports in high school is to help students meet students from other schools, and to teach sportsmanship, as well as to help them to face the competition that they will be facing for the rest of their lives.

There are 5,000,000 youngsters - about 3,000,000 boys and about 2,000,000 girls - participating in sports programs at about 18,000 high schools in the United States.

TROPHY TIME AGAIN at the Kewaskum fieldhouse as the Indian girls take second place in Holiday Invitational Tournament. Brenda Kober accepts the trophy. The Indian girls also shared the Eastern Wisconsin volleyball title this year.

Although the boys didn't bring home any trophies, they did lay claim to a lot of personal triumphs with forward Mike Coulter turning in his best scoring performance of the season, scoring a high of 20 points against Hartford and hauling down 15 rebounds in the opening game.

In the consolation win over Port Washington, Coulter again was the high scorer with 15 points and Tim Rohlinger had 14.

Varsity coach Perry Koth was quite pleased with the Indian effort against Port. He said, "we played very well together and won it with our defense, forcing 25 turnovers in the game."

After defeating Kewaskum in the opening game Friday, Hartford went on to beat Germantown Saturday in the champion-
