The Washington County Sheriff's and District Attorney's offices have not released any specific details in the case of two men shot to death during a dispute at the home of one of the victims in the Town of Farmington about five miles east of Kewaskum.

The dead men were identified as Allen E. Guenther, 24, of 9295 Westcott Road, the scene of the shootings, and Lee R. Luebke, 23, of 2083 Stoney Creek Drive. The incident took place at approximately 8:50 p.m. Wednesday, February 12.

A Milwaukee TV station had requested a copy of that evening's radio transmissions, however, the Sheriff's Department refused the request stating the material would remain confidential since it

Kewaskum Man Dies, Wife Overcome From Carbon Monoxide Poisoning

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

A Kewaskum man was found dead and his wife unconscious at their Shawano Lake cottage in Shawano County. The two were the victims of accidental carbon monoxide poisoning.

Reuben Martin, 64, and his wife Harriet, 62, of 3870 Hi-Mount Road, Kewaskum, were found by neighbors at approximately 1:18 p.m. Sunday afternoon. When discovered, Martin was already dead but the neighbors managed to pull his unconscious wife out of the cottage which was filled with the deadly fumes.

A Shawano County Sheriff's Deputy said a plugged chimney had apparently caused the gas build-up from the home's gas furnace.

Mrs. Martin was taken to a Shawano Hospital and later transferred by the Flight For Life helicopter to St. Luke's Hospital, Milwaukee. A hospital spokesperson stated Mrs. Martin was in serious condition.

The Martins were the owner-operators of the Reuben Martin Trucking Company. He had been a cattle hauler in the Kewaskum area for over thirty years.

Mr. Martin's death notice is listed on another page.

Voters Oust School Board Incumbents

By GERRY MUELLER
Board Incumbents

Tuesday's primary saw a light voter turn-out as electors went to the polls to narrow the fields for the spring general elections.

Incumbents Lynn Dieringer and Neal Weare, who won their first terms on the Kewaskum School Board as write-in candidates in 1983, were unsuccessful in their bids to win a slot on the April 1st ballot.

Clara Trapp, Town of Scott, one of the candidates who has been the most critical of the present board, topped the field of school board hopefuls garnering 610 votes. Former board member Ralph Horner, who was unsuccessful in his bid for re-election in 1985, was second with 479 votes. Ruth Schmitt was third with 407, Donald Nowak fourth, receiving 264, incumbent Neal Weare came in fifth with 226, and incumbent Lynn Dieringer last, with 195 votes.

A breakdown of the votes showed the Village of Kewaskum gave Nowak 78, Weare 64, Schmitt 135, Dieringer 56, Trapp 146, and Horner 109. In the Town of Kewaskum, Nowak 35, Weare 19, Schmitt 62, Dieringer 15, Trapp 72, Horner 75. Town of Barton, Nowak 3, Weare 9, Schmitt 15, Dieringer 7, Trapp 9, Horner 4. Town of Farmington, Nowak 60, Weare 73, Schmitt 112, Dieringer 97, Trapp 132, Horner 134. Town of Wayne, Nowak 37, Weare 22, Schmitt 21, Dieringer 8, Trapp 100, Horner 70. Town of Auburn, Nowak 37, Weare 16, Schmitt 32, Dieringer 7, Trapp 63, Horner 31. Town of Scott, Nowak 14, Weare 23, Schmitt 30, Dieringer 5, Trapp 88, and Horner 56. There were no would be used as part of the testimony in the case.

Detectives are investigating the possibility that at least one of the deaths may have been in self-defense. The authorities declined to say where the bodies were found, however, unofficial sources indicated that one man was found in the upper flat of the two-family home, and the other outside of the residence.

A 31-year-old man told deputies he shot a man coming down the outside stairs when he saw the man take a long-barreled pistol from under his coat and point it at him. His affidavit did not name the dead man, however, another affidavit from a witness stated the man with the pistol was Guenther. The 31-year-old lived in the lower flat with his parents.

A news release from the District Attorney's office states, "It appears both deceased individuals were armed and the possibility of self-defense has not been ruled out." No arrests have been made.

Helen Young, the Waukesha County Medical Examiner, conducted the autopsies on the two men but declined to make a statement on her findings. The Sheriff and District Attorney's offices are awaiting the State Crime Laboratory's test results. The authorities are trying to determine whether any foreign substances including alcohol or drugs were in the bodies of the victims.

Village to Proceed With Sidewalk Expansion Study

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Village Board, Monday night, gave Administrator Dan Schmidt the okay to go ahead on discussions with the village's engineers as to how to proceed with the proposed Capital Improvement Sidewalk Extension program.

The engineers will now develop a time-frame for the work and options for proceeding with the program which will consist of roughly seven miles of new sidewalks in the village at an estimated cost of $490,000.

After the engineering data is compiled, Schmidt will present it to the board for further discussion and possible action.

In other business, the board directed Schmidt to send a letter to the county asking that it drop its plan for charging fees to handle the village's ambulance and after-hours police calls. Schmidt said the county had not charged for this service in the past.

The board reviewed several recommendations from the Parks and Recreation Committee. It approved a contract with A-1 Services to provide portable toilets for the village parks. One unit will be set up at River Hill Park and three in Kiwanis Park at a cost of $185 per month.

The board discussed the possibility of turning the north ball diamond at Kiwanis Park. The trustees, however, voted to change the north diamond into a Little League field and construct a new, larger diamond to the northeast of the present north diamond.

The board approved the committee's recommendation to hire Power-Vac of Milwaukee to clean the swimming pond at a cost of $79 per hour. It is estimated the total cost will be about $2,500.

The board also approved the re-surfacing and re-stripping of the Kiwanis Park tennis courts at a cost of $8,000.

In other parks related action, the board voted to approve ordinance 86-4, which will remove the park fees from the Municipal Code and place them on a separate fees schedule. A fee of $15.00 for reservation of the AAL Shelter, and $25.00 for the new shelter to be constructed at Kiwanis Park were also set.

The board voted to go ahead with the construction of a new shelter at the Kiwanis Park. Schmidt indicated there was no funding available except the money from the Kiwanis Club. The structure is expected to go up in June or July. The village's Public Works personnel will construct the shelter.

The board also approved the requests of the various departments to advertise for part-time summer help. The board approved the purchase and installation of a redwood sign for Kiwanis Park at the corner of Clinton Street and Fond du Lac Avenue, at a cost of $377.

The board then adjourned to closed session.

FFA Week Observed by Local Chapter

In celebration of FFA Week, February 15-22, the Kewaskum Chapter, under the guidance of Dave Rizzardi, Vo-Ag Instructor, has an eight-page promotion in this week's issue. Joel Junk, President; Doug Enright, Vice-President; Joe Schmitt, Treasurer; Todd Steger, Secretary and Jim Schulz, Historian, with the help of other FFA class representatives, were instrumental in soliciting the ads, writing the news items and laying out of the eight pages. It was then brought to the Statesman office for typesetting and make-up.

FFA Week traditionally is marked from the Saturday before George Washington's birthday (Feb. 22) to the following Saturday. Washington is honored for his significant contributions to American agriculture as well as his military and patriotic contributions.

Through their FFA experience, they will develop skills and knowledge to help them prepare for a career in agriculture. Their future in farming is our future as well.

The state of Wisconsin had over 17,500 FFA members in 1985.

We join the community in saluting the FFA during this, their special week.

The members of the Kewaskum FFA have a great deal to be proud of.

Area Couple Raises Over $1,900 In MS 500 Snowmobile Run

Katy and Coley Findlay of Boulder Junction were trailmasters on the MS 500 Run held in Hurley. Linda Howe [center] is a member of the Boltonville Bunch Snowmobile Club, Washington County MS Support Group and trustee of Wisconsin National MS Society. The picture was taken at the Holiday Inn in Hurley on Feb. 8.

Linda and "Pete" Milton Howe raised over $1900.00 for MS research by snowmobiling on the MS 500 Run held in Hurley, Feb. 6-9. Trailmasters were Coley and Katy Findlay of Boulder Junction. 250 miles of snowmobiling were filled with GREAT trails, beautiful scenery, and a lot of fun for all. The first year this ride was held 27 people were riding. This year almost 100 snowmobilers were on the trail. Total pledges for the group came to $86,170.50.

This is a fantastic total for Linda to see. Linda will be receiving the "Polar Star award" trophy for the amount of pledges she received. Linda has MS and knows first hand what medical research has done for her. Linda is also on the Wisconsin National MS Board. Working with many support groups around the area has become a part of Linda's life. If you know of someone that has MS and could use the help of a support group, please contact the following members of the Washington County Support Group: Vel Wheatley, 629-5929; Harriet Cain 334-4472 or Linda Howe 692-2285.

The MS 500 ride is already being planned for next year. It is set up the same: $500.00 in pledges is needed to go. You get three nights of lodging, meals from Friday breakfast to Sunday breakfast, several chances at door prizes, etc. It only costs you gas money for your snowmobile. If you would like information on the 1987 "500 RUN" contact the National office at 1-800-242-3358. We hope to see more of you there.

Kewaskum CARES Monthly News Notes

By Joan Rosenberger

President's Day, sandwiched between Valentine's Day and Easter doesn't make much of a ripple in the commercial scheme of things, but for many parents in the Kewaskum School district it means scurrying to find a suitable costume. Not too many years ago February was spent studying Lincoln and Washington, drawing log cabins, top hats, cherry trees and hatchets. But with the new designation of President's Day, all of the nation's presidents are recognized.

Parents were invited to President's Day programs at both Kewaskum Elementary and Farmington Elementary schools Monday and a program is planned to be held at Beechwood Elementary the last week in February. The students in Mary Pearson and Erv Uhlman's fifth grade classes at Kewaskum Elementary were hosts to 110 parents and guests at the sixth annual President's Day program. Mary Panzer, state representative for the 53rd Assembly District, was the featured speaker for the program, which was preceded by a luncheon. Rep. Panzer spoke about government and how it affected the students. A parade of presidents followed her address.

The following students gave reports and were dressed to portray the presidents they represented. Kevin Hinz, George Washington; Jenny VandeVrede, Abraham Lincoln; Jenny Pesch, Theodore Roosevelt; Tim Lettow, William H. Taft; Marty Schlice, Grover Cleveland; Patrick McFadden, Harry Truman; Joy Wilson, Dwight D. Eisenhower; April Bruckert, John F. Kennedy; Jodi Gengler, James Carter; and Sherry Luterbach, Ronald Reagan. Karyn Dossinger was master of ceremonies.

Farmington Program

At Farmington School all of the classes took part in the President's Day program. All of the children dressed either as their favorite president or in red, white and blue. Marlene Domasky's sixth grade students gave the introductions for the 9:30 a.m. program for parents. Vocal selections were presented by Jan Hartmann's kindergarten class and Mary Dallmann and Lori Noegel's first graders. A poem using the first names of presidents was given by Mary Ann Koss's second grade class. A short play, George Washington's Birthday, was given by Diane Marschner's 3rd grade and Doris Delzer's 3rd grade pupils gave a skit on Theodore Roosevelt and the parks. Karen Larson's 4th grade class presented the "sports of presidents." "Dixie" was sung by Daniel Beske's 5th graders and Joanne Tallmann's 5th grade class gave biographies of recent presidents. The program concluded with the entire school singing America and God Bless the USA.

Beechwood Elementary

At Beechwood Elementary, Christine Dehler's first and second graders and Kim Gutjahr's third and fourth graders are not only working on their President's Day program but are also practicing for the district-wide spelling bee to be held in March. The best speller is chosen from each school to compete. March is also art month in the district schools and finishing touches are being put on murals in the elementary schools.

Other Celebrations

Other special events at Farmington school designed to make learning come alive included Indian Days for Mrs. Larson's 4th grade class. After studying about Indians, the class had an Indian harvest meal. Parents brought in venison and rabbit. The children made corn bread, succotash, sweet potatoes, baked apples and wild rice. They played Indian games and made crafts such as corn husk dolls, finger puppets and yarn art pictures.

Colonial days were observed in Mrs. Marschner and Ms. Delzer's third grades, when they dressed up as colonial children. Mrs. Larre Howell brought in wheat and a hand grinder. The children ground the wheat and made rolls. Mrs. John Youngbauer showed how to dye wool and spin it. They also made horn book and berry ink and wrote with quill pens.

The next event is the middle school and elementary schools art show.

Workshop Here For Parents of Handicapped Children

A workshop for parents of handicapped children will be held in the Kewaskum Community Room in the Municipal Building, 204 First Street, on February 26 from 7 to 9 p.m. Information will be given on obtaining school services for children who are mentally retarded, learning disabled, emotionally disturbed, physically handicapped, visually impaired, speech/language handicapped, or hearing impaired. The focus will be on state and federal special education laws, children's and parents' rights, and improving communication between parents and professionals. The workshop is free.

This workshop is sponsored by the Parent Education Project (PEP). PEP, a coalition of parent groups and agencies concerned about handicapped children's educational rights, is offering these workshops in a number of areas throughout the state. Parents can also obtain individual assistance through PEP relative to their handicapped child's education by calling 1-800-472-5525.

To pre-register, or for further information, call 626-2495.

Girl Scouts Express Thanks

On February 22 the Girl Scouts and Girl Guides all over the world celebrate Thinking and Thanking Day.

Every year, Wau-Bun Girl Scout Council celebrates this day and not only "thinks" about our Sister Scouts and Guides, but also "thanks" all those who have shared something special with the scouts during the past year.

The Scouts of the Kewaskum area would like to say THANK YOU to everyone who helped to make their annual cookie sale a success.

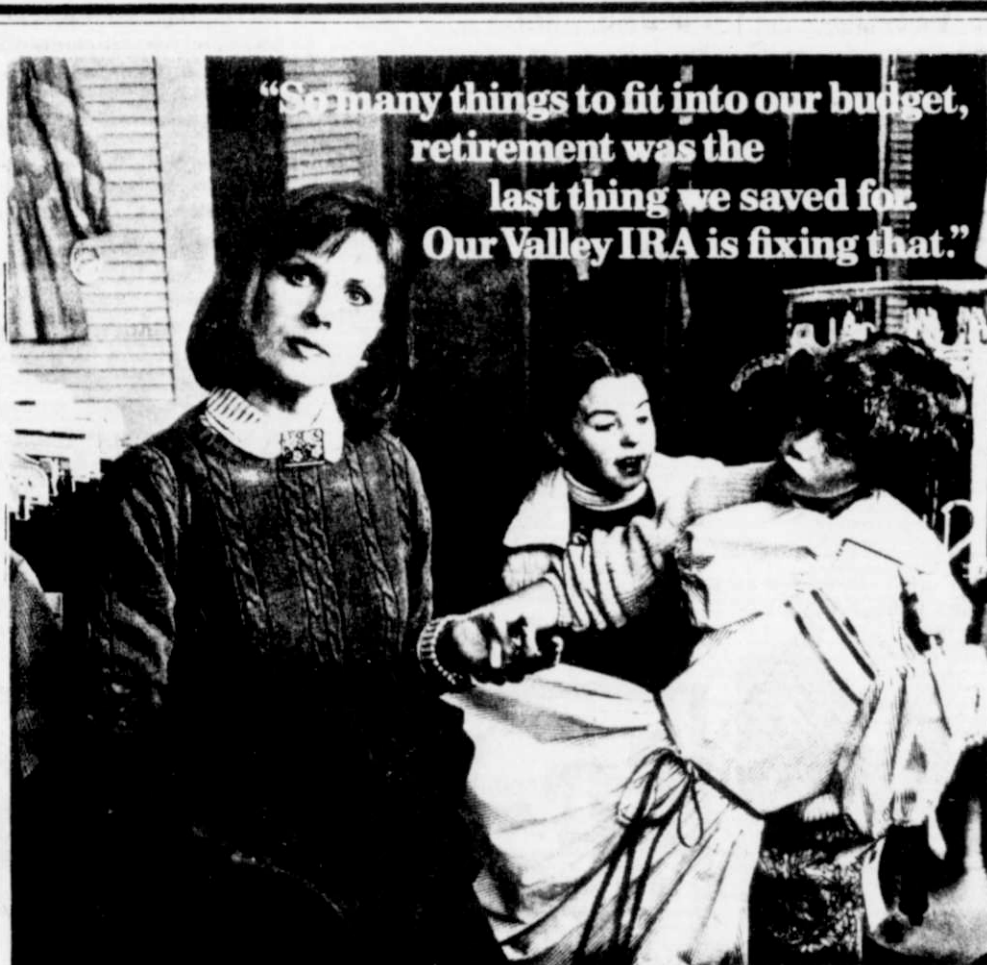

A reminder to all scouts that it is time for you to get your reply in for the annual Girl Scout Brunch which will be held on Sunday, March 9, at the Amerahn.

Attorney Talks About His Involvement With Washington County Citizens Advocacy Program

Friday, Feb. 21, 1986, Kewaskum Statesman, Page 7

Waring Fincke

"Much of my life," Waring Fincke says, "is filled with law, cops, and persons accused of committing crimes. Although I love the battle, it sometimes all gets 'old.' It's good to relate on a more human level."

Fincke, a defense attorney in Milwaukee, is talking about his involvement with the Citizen Advocacy Program of Washington County. Citizen Advocacy is a United Way agency which matches persons who happen to be disabled with those who are not disabled, to the mutual benefit of everyone concerned.

At first, Fincke's involvement was in terms of his professional expertise. "It was 1983," he says. "I helped write the articles of incorporation and by-laws and tried to assist in developing a firm financial base. Given the demands of my professional life, the only actual advocacy I could do was occasional and short-term."

Then along came David. When Fincke met him, David was a high school student in Hartford. "It was a classical short-term advocacy match," Fincke says. "David had need of some very specific legal advice."

What began as a limited (almost formal) interaction turned into a personal relationship. "That's what often happens in the Citizen Advocacy Program," Fincke laughs. "Early on with David, I discovered that everyone in his life had an agenda for him, but no one was asking David what his agenda was."

The primary conflicts Fincke was mediating involved David's natural mother. After years without any contact, she had popped suddenly into David's life and was urging him to move to Wyoming to live with her.

"David was excited of course," Fincke says, "but he also had some reasons to stay in Wisconsin. It was his senior year in high school, for one thing, and he was scheduled to receive a comprehensive battery of vocational tests at the end of the academic year."

Ultimately, David decided to compromise. He visited his mother in Wyoming over Christmas of 1984, but then he returned to Wisconsin to finish school. In June of 1985, David moved to Wyoming for good.

"I got a letter from David not too long ago," Fincke reports. "He seems to be happy, and he knows he's got a friend in Wisconsin who'll go to bat for him if he ever has any need."

"Naturally," I'm glad he's happy," Fincke continues, "but that's not the most important thing. Everyone's life has ups and downs. What I'm proudest of is that David got to choose for himself what he really wanted. That's what attracted me to Citizen Advocacy in the first place. I think that everyone has the right to make his or her own decisions."

The story of Waring and David is only one of the success-stories of the Citizen Advocacy Program of Washington County. Now in its third year of independent operation, the program is expanding and

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR...

EDITOR'S NOTE — Like last week, another unsigned letter to the editor was received Tuesday morning. We repeat, all letters must be signed in order to be published, however, your name will be withheld on request and kept in STRICT CONFIDENCE.

To the Residents of Kewaskum School District:

Once again the closing of Beechwood School and transporting all sixth graders from Beechwood, Farmington and Wayne to the Middle School is the topic of discussion all over this district. It has not been proven to anyone, including teachers and administrators that that is the best way to go, to save taxes. In fact I doubt very much that our excellent teachers and principals have had much to say in all these hasty decisions being made by the "top 3."

Three top people have taken over the Administration and have turned our whole district topsy-turvy, or sure are trying their darndest! How long have they been here? Several months, a year, how long? Certainly not long enough to be doing what they are. Trained in that field or not. Why have they brain washed all of our school board members into making the decisions they are making? It seems as though what ever these three women say or do is perfectly OK with them, because they hired them. Can't any of them think for themselves and make rational decisions? Who elected these people, who is paying the taxes? This board hears input from all over the district and still does not take any of these suggestions into consideration. Apparently they do not have the qualifications to be sitting on the board.

When Mr. Brenholt was here he was asked to come up with some proposals for cutting. One he mentioned was to close Beechwood School, which he said he did not care to make because within five years or so, it would have to be reopened. I think that if our board members would do their own homework and look into our neighboring districts, they would find that Random Lake will be in need of another first grade room next year. They voted to close their Adell School a few years ago, and now could be using that. Instead they will have to add a Port-a-building or whatever. Plymouth considered closing their Parnell School 10 years ago too, but the board voted unanimously to keep it open, after lengthy discussions with the area people, despite declining enrollments. Instead they reduced their teaching staff to match the projected enrollment. Since that time they have had to build on additions on two of their schools and moved their boundary lines to better utilize Parnell. Sheboygan Falls also considered closing their Waldo Elementary, but decided it would be better to leave it open, after listening to input from the people. They also have special programs there for these Special Children from all over. What about the article in the West Bend News regarding the increases in the elementary section next year? Why are there increases all around us? What does this tell you people? Who is kidding whom?

A certain group, a few short years, calling themselves "Friends of Education" has been a big influence to our School Boards, past and present. Many of these new positions were their suggestions. How can such a few people have so much influence on our boards?

At this time there are about 13 families that have expressed their concern regarding their children riding the bus from Beechwood to Kewaskum and seriously considering enrolling their children in a Parochial School. I think it is high time that you Beechwood people do some investigating into annexing to the Random Lake or Plymouth District and get your children back into a Sheboygan County School System. The Town of Scott should never have been split in the first place. You joined K-12 practically debt free and have helped remodel schools, build schools ever since you joined them. Now all you hear is to close Beechwood. Get your facts together and pull out!

There is no doubt in my mind that the Middle School will be over crowded. Mr. Zarling stated that if sixth graders go to the Middle School that his "Special 6th graders" should go too, which would require another room. Our new Director of Instruction is going to have her office over there. Our sixth graders will be in their own secluded area, after partitioning parts off. Where is all this money coming from?

All of the above tells me and a lot of you readers too, that this is leading up to one new big school in Kewaskum, because of overcrowding. We all know that is what Mr. Long was after, to have all grades under one roof and it certainly proves that this is what the "Top 3" are after too. How long can you people in this district stand for all this? Clean house from the School Board down and get down to EDUCATION, something that has been lacking here for a long time.

Due to sarcasm, criticism, etc., I ask that my name be withheld.

District Resident

To: Kewaskum School District Taxpayers

It is proposed to move the sixth graders into Middle School, with more busing (more tax dollars). The capacity of the school is 350 - with this proposal, the enrollment will be over capacity next year. A janitor's room, 8' x 12', will have to be remodeled into a classroom (more tax dollars).

It is proposed to close Beechwood School and bus the entire area (more tax dollars). It is proposed that 2/3 of Beechwood students go to Farmington School, filling Farmington to capacity. When their enrollment rises, build again (more tax dollars). 1/3 is proposed to go to Kewaskum.

If all the Beechwood students would go to Kewaskum, class sizes would be as high as 32 students, unless more teachers are hired (more tax dollars).

Support keeping the sixth graders in the elementary schools and keeping Beechwood and Wayne Schools open. Help keep your tax dollars down.

Yes, Mr. Jim Kleinhans, we do care about our children's education. We are happy to know you are on our side.

Sincerely,
A Taxpayer

P.S. Do you know they are proposing a long-range planning committee at the next school board meeting? Is this committee to start planning a new elementary school? (More tax dollars!)

Dear School Board and Residents of the Kewaskum School District,

As educators with a total of forty-plus years in the field of education, we were most elated to see the progress of the School Board in hiring a Director of Instruction. This move was long overdue. If we intend to have a quality K-12 school system, the school curriculum must have continuity throughout the district. We feel this to be lacking in this district. Continuity would assure each student within the district the same quality education no matter what school he/she attends nor what teacher he/she has. Such continuity can only be achieved by the responsible guidance and direction of a Director of Instruction.

Presently, we are both teaching in a district that is fortunate to have an efficient Director of Instruction. The result has been effective teaching of a meaningful curriculum.

Yes! There is and will be a cost factor, but then quality is never cheap. Let's give our new Director of Instruction a chance to bring this quality education to Kewaskum. She has to have our support and backing, if she is to help our children.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Steven Hein

Dear Sir,

Evelyn and I are pleased to pay our subscription for another year as we enjoy the paper very much.

Especially enjoy the 25 - 50 - 75 years ago section and have many comments and chuckles each week about those articles.

Of course we like the coverage of our young athletes and all other school activities, especially when one of the grandchildren is mentioned.

As you know each week one copy goes to daughter Denise in St. Louis and to son Dan in Saudi Arabia, I doubt the Chicago Tribune gets any wider circulation than that.

Thank you
Lewis H. Schmidt

To the Editor:

National Big Brothers/Sisters Week, February 16-22, is a time to put aside to honor all the volunteers involved with the agencies across the United States. Big Brothers/Sisters of Washington County, along with a number of other Big Brother/Sister agencies traveled to Madison in order to meet with Governor Tony Earl. Besides having a proclamation signed, various issues were discussed such as liability insurance and the possible impacts of Gramm-Rudman.

We, as an agency serving single parent children youth, are glad and proud that we can give some recognition to the Big Brothers/Sisters of Washington County. Volunteerism has changed in many ways and the volunteers involved in our local agency are proof of this. According to our statistics and contrary to popular belief contemporary volunteers in the Big Brothers/Sisters program come from many walks of life. Also, our volunteers tend to be actively involved in the community. We appreciated the generous commitment of time and friendship from our volunteers.

Editor, the Statesman:

It is entirely possible that in the very near future people in the Kewaskum and surrounding areas will be contacted by one or more individuals representing themselves as either financial planners or an inurance agency/company.

Their approach will sound extremely convincing and may state that:

1. I have an idea.
2. Let's compare ours against what you have.
3. We do a full analysis of your situation.

This approach may vary slightly but the essence is the same.

They may indicate to you to surrender your permanent coverage and purchase "their" term insurance. You may be told that virtually all forms of permanent insurance is what amounts to a waste of your hard-earned money and that a combination of the "Rule of 72" method of compounding money at a specific rate of return and their term insurance product is a much better buy for the consumer.

Be advised that the authorities commissioned to protect the consumers are known as the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, (NAIC). They have unequivocally stated that under no circumstances should consumers replace inforce cash value life insurance before contacting their existing agent.

Letter to the Editor:

This week, Democrats in the State Senate went on record in favor of government by deception.

They defeated a resolution to investigate whether Governor Earl covered up information about a budget deficit last November to win passage of generous pay contracts for unionized state employees.

Contrary to the claims of Democrats, neither Republican partisanship nor a desire to reduce the pay of state employees was at issue here.

The issue was clear and School Children Have Visit From the Dentist

The children of Kewaskum Elementary School and Holy Trinity had a visit from the dentist this week. In observance of National Children's Dental Health Month, Dr. Dennis and Carole Connor, a Registered Dental Hygienist, visited over 350 children.

They demonstrated with charts, models and even a dental chair and light, what dentistry is all about. A routine dental visit was explained step by step and the children took turns looking at each other's mouths while in the chair.

Dr. Connor was surprised and very pleased that questions about tooth parts and brushing and flossing and good snacking habits were eagerly and correctly answered. His yearly visits have left their mark.

All the children received bags filled with toothbrushes, mirrors, disclosing tablets and many other dental paraphernalia. Bookmarks and stickers with this year's slogan of National Children's Dental Health were also received by the children as well as the teachers.

The children of Kewaskum heartily thank Dr. and Mrs. Connor for giving of their time to promote good dental health.

simple: Did Governor Earl intentionally withhold information from the Legislature on an impending budget deficit? Common sense indicates he did. For example:

* Daily tax collection data was available to the administration. It is now clear that data showed a consistent pattern last Fall of revenue collections well below projected levels.

* Prior to the Legislature's November 20th vote on the contracts, an employee of the Department of Revenue told a Republican state legislator that the administration was aware of a deficit in the vicinity of $150 million to $200 million at that point.

* At the time the Legislature met November 20th to consider the pay contracts proposed by Governor Earl, the Governor met privately with Senator Tim Cullen to talk Cullen out of his insistence that Homestead Tax Credits be increased. Later, press reports indicated that the Governor had told the Senator that poor revenue collections made it uncertain the state could afford an increase in Homestead Credits. Yet, at no time during the November 20th special session did the Governor communicate the same concern to the full Legislature.

* Less than two weeks later, Revenue Secretary Michael Ley held a news conference to announce that the state was facing a deficit and a budget "adjustment" would be necessary.

In retrospect, it appears the Governor not only deceived the Legislature and the taxpayers, but also the state employees.

He gave them an unaffordable pay raise in November and tried to take it back in January.

On a 19 to 13 party-line vote, the Senate has now sent a message to Governor Earl and future governors that deception is okay. Cover ups are apparently regarded by Democrats as an acceptable tool of partisan politics in the Capitol.

My aim was to form a bipartisan Senate Committee to investigate these allegations and to recommend how similar behavior can be avoided in the future. The Governor has an obligation to tell the Legislature when he knows the state budget is in trouble; particularly when he is asking us to approve more state spending. I believe that in an attempt to enhance his own re-election chances this year, Governor Earl did not fulfill that obligation.

It is interesting to note that during 45 minutes of debate on this proposed investigation, Senate Democrats neither refuted nor denied that a cover up occurred.

I hope the press will now do the job that Senate Democrats refused to permit: To determine whether the Governor withheld critical information from the Legislature and, if so, to bring it to light so that it will not happen again.

Sincerely,
DONALD K. STITT

NEWS EXTRA...

Beware of Dangers With Wood-Burning Stoves and Kerosene Heaters

In recent years, the wood-burning stove has proved to be an efficient, inexpensive and an appealing alternative to costly electric, oil or natural gas heat. And the use of kerosene-fueled portable heaters has expanded significantly; an estimated 12 million are now in use.

But as the number of kerosene-heater and wood-burning stove purchases increases, so do the number of home fires related to their use.

Approximately 9,300 people were injured in this country in wood-burning stove-related accidents alone in 1984, according to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Most stove-related fires are started when combustibles are too close to a hot stove, by hot gases or flames that escape through the crack in a chimney, or by sparks or coals that escape from a stove. These risk factors can usually be eliminated if the installation is done by a licensed contractor and the stove is properly maintained.

An important factor to consider when purchasing a wood-burning stove is the area that will be heated. Using a stove that is too large for the room can cause overheating and result in a fire.

Stoves should be made of a strong and sturdy material, such as cast iron or steel. Look especially for stoves that are approved by a recognized testing agency such as Underwriters' Laboratories. If the stove is second hand, make careful inspections of cracks or other defects. Cracks usually can be repaired with stove cement or by welding.

When installing a wood-burning stove, be sure to check with fire officials and building inspectors for installation, operation and maintenance recommendations. Meeting proper clearances between ceilings, floors and walls is another important factor in using the stove safely.

Standards set by the National Fire Protection Association recommend a 36-inch clearance between the stove and all surfaces.

Additionally, make sure all surrounding sides of the wood burner are protected with a non-combustible material. Brick or stone provides little or no protection for a combustible wall since they are also good conductors of heat.

Burning inexpensive green wood is hazardous because it causes creosote to form in the chimney flue. Creosote is the highly flammable byproduct of burning that causes most chimney fires.

Also, make sure there is adequate clearance from the top of the chimney to the highest point of the roof. The chimney must be properly constructed, maintained in good repair and kept clean. It would be wise to have it checked and cleaned at least once a year by a chimney "sweep" or repairman.

Jointventing of smoke-pipe or solid fuel-burning devices with oil or gas burning units to the same chimney can cause noxious fumes to back up in the home. At all costs, avoid such hookups.

Consumers using kerosene heaters should also heed some important basic safety suggestions.

Never use gasoline; even a small amount in the heater tank can cause a fire. Only use 1-K kerosene and buy it from a dealer who can certify that what is being sold is 1-K grade kerosene.

The heater should be stored out of the reach of small children, and they should be warned against touching it.

People suffering from asthma, respiratory disease or heart disease may be susceptible to the toxic gases given off by kerosene heaters. Anyone concerned that he or she may be sensitive to the pollutants produced by kerosene heaters should consult his or her physician.

Adequate ventilation should be provided for kerosene heaters, as recommended by the manufacturer. Only use kerosene heaters in a well-ventilated room. This will prevent toxic gas buildup.

Most importantly, follow all of the manufacturer's recommended operating instructions and be sure all family members understand how the heater is to be operated safely.

Consumers considering purchasing a kerosene heater should check their state and local building and fire ordinances to determine if kerosene heaters are permitted.

And only purchase a heater that has been tested and labeled by a nationally recognized testing laboratory. These kerosene heaters have been determined to meet specific safety standards, and manufacturers are required to provide important use and care information to the consumer.

Tammy Staehler is National Award Winner in English

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Tammy Staehler has been named a United States National Award winner in English.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognize less than 10% of all American school students.

Tammy Staehler, who attends Kewaskum Middle School, was nominated for this National Award by Miss Smith, an English teacher at the school. Tammy's biography will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Tammy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Staehler. The grandparents are Mrs. Anthony Staehler of Kewaskum and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lee of Mesa, Arizona.

Area Students Get Sneak Preview of UW-M Ag Campus

Forty-four Wisconsin high school juniors and seniors with farm backgrounds spent two days, Dec. 27 and 28, getting a look at the campus and undergraduate programs of the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences (CALS) at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Students also learned about the many career opportunities open to them.

Students who attended the CALS "Sneak Preview" from this area are: Wade Jepsen, 8336 Hwy. W, Allenton and Rick Staehler, 8639 Boltonville Road, Kewaskum.

The visiting students, from high schools throughout Wisconsin, spent much of their time discussing degree requirements and career opportunities with CALS administrators, faculty members from the college's 22 departments and centers, and recent graduates. Current CALS students led the high schoolers on tours of campus facilities. The high school students also learned about opportunities for financial aid and for participation in the College's "work-learn" internship program.

GOP Leaders: McCallum for Lt. Governor

MADISON — A group of top state legislators has called on Wisconsin Republicans to "rally behind" Sen. Scott McCallum (R-Fond du Lac) for the party's Lieutenant Governor nomination this fall.

State Sen. Michael Ellis (R-Neenah), a leader for the group, said McCallum intends to use his legislative background and campaign experience in the primary race for the No. 2 spot on the GOP ticket, and his colleagues intend to support him wholeheartedly.

"As Republicans, we should feel fortunate that a candidate with Scott McCallum's experience has indicated he will run for Lieutenant Governor," added Rep. Mary Panzer (R-West Bend).

Other legislators who called for a unified effort to support

McCallum include Republican senators Alan Lasee (Rockland), Brian Rude (Coon Valley), and Richard T. Kreul (Fennimore), and Republican assembly members David Prosser (Appleton), Earl McEssy (Fond du Lac), John Merkt (Mequon), and Dale Schultz (Hillpoint).

McCallum's campaign for Lieutenant Governor also is gaining momentum with the creation of his state-wide campaign committees, which include business and legislative co-chairs including Ellis, Panzer and Kreul. The Friends of Scott McCallum recently held a fund-raiser which raised more than $12,000. Recent election reports show the committee raised $21,000 in 1985.

So far the unannounced

McCallum has no opposition in his bid for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor. If no other candidate comes forward, the Republican party will begin preparing for the general election campaign, with the goal of being well-organized when the GOP's gubernatorial candidate is chosen.

On Saturday, February 8, Kewaskum Boy Scout Troop 744 traveled to Hawthorne Hills to participate in the annual Klondike Derby competition sponsored by the Glacier Edge District. It was a mild day for the 24 scouts who entered the events and scored their points.

The Flying Eagle Patrol led by Patrol Leader Scott Kulas scored highly in all events and captured an overall third place trophy. There were 18 other patrols competing and Kewaskum can be proud of its Boy Scout Troop 744.

The Cougar Patrol from

Troop 717, West Bend, won the first place trophy. Second place was awarded to the Wasp Patrol of Troop 863, Random Lake.

The traveling trophy for Sledge Construction was presented to the Saukville Flying Eagle Patrol from Troop 888.

Many State Farmers Need Pesticide Certification

Nearly 25,000 Wisconsin farmers need to be certified to use pesticides recently restricted by the Environmental Protection Agency, says Roger Flashinski, pest management education specialist with the University of Wisconsin Cooperative Extension Service.

As of Sept. 1 most commonly used corn rootworm insecticides have been added to the EPA's restricted-use list. They include granular formulations of Counter, Dasanit, Di-Syston, Dyfonate, Furadan, Mocap, Temik and Thimet. New packages of these highly toxic insecticides must now be labeled "restricted-use."

About 12,500 Wisconsin farmers are certified for the private use of these pesticides. However, many farmers who become certified in the late 1970s have allowed their certification to expire.

Products already on the shelf won't be relabeled until Sept. 1, 1986, says Flashinski. "So it's possible for a dealer to be selling restricted-use and non-restricted-use bags of the same product," he explains.

But farmers shouldn't delay certification thinking they can buy the leftover inventory. "If farmers wait until March, they're cutting it close," says Flashinski. "They could get stuck without enough pesticide at planting time."

Farmers must present a certification card to a dealer to purchase restricted-use pesticides. Farmers whose certification expires before mid-1986 should sign up for certification training sessions now, since it takes six weeks to receive the cards from the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection.

Farmers can take a self-study test or attend a one-day training session. Training sessions will be held at various locations in Wisconsin this fall. The $20 fee for each covers the cost of a training manual and study guide. For dates and registration information, contact your County Extension office. Flashinski recommends that you register at least two weeks in advance.

Many pesticide accidents can be avoided, says Flashinski. He recalls a farmer who haphazardly swept some spilled pesticide from the bed of his truck. Several days later, the farmer hauled a load of oats, which became contaminated with the chemical and killed some animals.

The training course will address such hazards. It includes 12 slide sets covering pest identification, integrated pest management, laws and regulations, personal and environmental safety, disposal, drift control and equipment calibration.

At the end of the training session, farmers must successfully complete an evaluation to be certified. If farmers fail to meet the requirements, they can attend another training sessions for no additional fee. Certification last five years.

Two corn rootworm pesticides, Lorsban and Broot, escaped the restricted-use classification. Uncertified farmers can buy these products, but they are not necessarily safer than the regulated pesticides, says Flashinski.

DNR Has 840 Job Openings at Summer Camps for Youth

This year, 1986, is the 25th year of the Youth Conservation Camp program in Wisconsin, and applications are now being accepted from young men and women, between the ages of 15 and 19 years, to participate in the salaried summer jobs offered by the program. Application forms are available from all Wisconsin high school guidance offices.

The camps, located near Manitowish Waters, Minong, Montello and Campbellsport, are operated by the Department of Natural Resources to offer a summer work-learn experience in conservation.

There are two 5-week sessions at each camp during June, July and August. Enrollees will be paid $3.35 per hour (work is scheduled for 32 hours per week — $3.35 x 32 hours = $107.20). A room and board charge of $27.20 per week will be deducted from the salary.

Work activity offered at the summer camps includes projects related to forestry, fish management, wildlife, and recreational use areas.

The state's four summer work camps enable the DNR to accomplish a wide variety of forestry, parks, fish and game habitat projects, and facility maintenance that otherwise could not be done locally if we relied solely on DNR manpower. The camps provide an educational opportunity for participants because of the experiences and associations each youth will find in group work assignments, educational tours and presentations.

Youths interested in participating in one of the YCC summer camps must apply by March 3, 1986, through their high school guidance counselor, or by writing directly to the DNR, Youth Conservation Camp Section, Box 7921, Madison, WI 53707. Application forms and informational brochures are available in all Wisconsin high schools. The DNR will notify applicants in April or May whether they have been selected to attend one of the camps. There are 840 employment positions open at the four camps.

Offer Ecology Camp Scholarship

The Kettle Moraine Audubon Society (KMAS) of Washington, Dodge and northern Waukesha counties is offering a one-week $395 scholarship to the Audubon Ecology Camp in Wisconsin. Any interested person 18 years or older may apply. KMAS will provide camp costs for a one week session in northwest Wisconsin near Spooner in 1986. Transportation to and from the camp will be at the applicant's expense.

At the Audubon Camp in Wisconsin: Bogs quake underfoot. Sparkling lakes teem with aquatic life. Birdlife is plentiful here, from the scarlet tanager to the ever-present great blue heron. Other wildlife abounds in nearby meadows. This is the Wisconsin camp, nestled among glacial hills, surrounded by prairie meadows and cool forests, and bordered by four connecting lakes. With expert naturalists you can search for delicate orchids such as rose pogonia, grass pink, and lady's slipper, explore the winding woodland paths, go bog-slogging and meadow-meandering, or jog along back-country byways.

Three one-week ecology sessions from June 29 to July 19 and one family session from July 20 to 26 engage campers in plant and animal studies, elective photography classes, an unforgettable canoe trip on the federally protected Namekagon River, and an optional camping expedition. Accommodations are in dormitory and double-occupancy rooms, with central baths.

The 1985 scholarship was won by Paul A. Maki of Hartland, WI. He was not a KMAS member. He is currently a student of journalism at UW-Milwaukee specializing in natural resources.

For additional information visit our booth at the Explore, Discover, Experience seminar at UWWC-Washington County on March 1 or write to KMAS Scholarship Chairperson Franklin T. Popelka at 845 S. Silverbrook Drive, West Bend, WI 53095.

Seek Group to Run County Fair Beer Garden Stand

The Washington County Junior Fair is seeking non-profit organizations or civic groups who would be interested in running the Beer Garden stand at the Washington County Junior Fair, July 23-27, 1986.

Any non-profit organization or civic group who has an interest, should notify the Washington County Fair Committee, in writing, by March 1. The committee will be making a decision on how to handle the Beer Garden at their March meeting.

The group will be responsible for operating the concession for the sale of fermented malt beverages, carbonated beverages and tobacco products. The group is responsible for purchasing inventory and merchandise, providing personnel for operation of the stand, installing stand and necessary equipment, providing personnel for security to prevent minors into stand and provide adequate liability insurance for their personnel.

A copy of the agreement can be obtained from the Fair Office.

Interested groups should contact the Washington County Fair Committee, P.O. Box 1986, West Bend, WI 53095.

McCallum Aims to Extend TIF Deadline

MADISON — State Sen. Scott McCallum (R-Fond du Lac) this week said he is sponsoring a bill to extend the deadline for using public funds to improve TIF districts to seven years. Current law allows five years.

Ideally the two extra years of revenue for Wisconsin cities will be used to strengthen the cities economically. Tax Incremental Financing allows a city to set up special districts and pay for improving the districts with streets, for example, to make it attractive to developers. The city keeps all new taxes generated by a TIF district until it recoups its original investment. At that point, other governmental bodies take a share of the tax money.

McCallum's TIF proposal is backed by city officials, who now are hard-pressed to develop their districts economically because of financial constraints.

"The local communities are really struggling with how to promote economic development," said West Bend Mayor Don Gonring. "This TIF deadline increase gives us a chance to do that."

Public hearings will be held on the bill, SB 484, in this session.

Waste not.

WHAT TO TAKE TO YOUR TAX ADVISOR

To get more for the money you spend on tax advice, do your homework before you meet with your tax advisor. Learn enough about taxes to ask the right questions. And take along the records necessary for preparing your returns.

Following is a list of what tax advisors need, compiled by farm tax specialists with the University of Wisconsin Cooperative Extension Service.

1. Depreciation schedules and other information on how you wrote off the cost of capital items in past years.
2. List of capital assets bought or sold during 1985. Include date of transaction, class life, purchase price or "boot" money, trade-ins, etc.

3. List of livestock purchased for resale, including purchase date, purchase price, sale date, sale price.

4. Details on how you've handled CCC loans, chick purchases, crop insurance, pollution control, land clearing and conservation expenses in the past. Also, details on PIK transactions: dates, volume, value, and assignments or deliveries.

5. Cash farm income and expenses. Include W-2 and 1099 forms.

7. Number of gallons of gas used in field operations in 1985 that would qualify for fuel tax credit.

8. Details on how you handled investment credit in past years (i.e., carryover, carryback, and recapture). Also energy credit information.

9. Personal deductions. Include real estate taxes on farm home, number of dependents, etc.

10. Wages and social security tax paid, income tax withheld, and withholding information.

11. Information for 1099 forms. That means payments to others of $600 or more (cash rent to neighbor, interest to parent, etc.).

12. Assets and liabilities for balance sheets for partnerships or corporations.

13. Information about casualty losses and involuntary conversions (such as fires or condemnation).

14. Social security and employer identification numbers.

15. Income tax forms for at least the past two years (four years if you're going to income average).

16. A copy of your tax estimate (if you filed one).

17. Inventory records (if you're an accrual accountant). Double check to see that you've listed all possible income, expenses and deductions. Remember, you alone are responsible for your tax return.

Among certain tribes, women were not allowed to eat tiger meat, lest it make them too strong-minded.

Single (under age 65) — $3,430.

Single (age 65 or over) — $4,470.

Married filing a joint return — $5,620.

Married filing a joint return (one spouse age 65 or over) — $6,660.

Married filing a joint return (both spouses age 65 or over) — $7,700.

Married filing a separate return — $1,040.

Surviving spouse (qualifying widow(er) with dependent children) — $4,580.

Surviving spouse (age 65 or over) — $5,620.

In addition, a tax return must be filed when certain situations existed during the year. Examples are when:

-You received tips from which social security tax was not withheld.

-You were self-employed and had net earnings of $400.00 or more.

-You had unearned income of $1,040.00 or more and can be claimed as a dependent by someone else.

-You received Advanced Earned Income Credit payments.

-You have Alternative Minimum Tax.

-You withdrew from your IRA.

Additional information on who must file a federal tax return is contained in the instructions for completing the 1040 series tax returns.

It Takes Planning To Avoid the Mid-Winter Blahs

By Joyce Albrecht
Washington County
Extension Home Economist

The mid-winter blahs — they're as inevitable as spring fever, but not nearly as much fun. For some people, the blahs hit with the first frost — when the petunias turn black and the marigolds get brown and dry. For others, the first sign is a sense of foreboding which comes with the early darkness the day after the fall return to standard time. But, for most people, the blahs strike when they put away the last Christmas ornament or remove the holiday door decoration.

It's not surprising that people have a letdown at this time of year. It's dark, cold, snowy and messy. It's harder to get around and go for a walk outside. And the emotional buildup that started with Thanksgiving is over. But with planning, you can avoid being overcome by the mid-winter blahs.

The first to avoiding cabin fever or winter blahs is to develop new attitudes about winter. It's true you can't change the darkness or the high heating bills, but you can control how you feel about the lack of light and the low temperatures. With changed attitudes, it's not hard to plan new activities — you can develop high anticipation for future events and can be creative with the substances around you.

As an example of attitude change, plan a "Learn to Love Winter" party. Focus all activities, as well as food and beverages on people keeping warm and having fun.

Plan an afternoon of winter sports for kids and adults — skating, skiing and snowshoeing — and indoor activity such as frying doughnuts, pulling taffy and playing games.

For drinks, serve Russian tea, mulled cider and cocoa. For supper, highlight foods to keep your hands warm — corn on the cob and baked chicken legs — and food to keep your gullet warm — hot chili and fresh-from-the-oven corn bread. Even the dessert — flaming plum pudding.

Your own attitudes about darkness and cold might be more positive if you could plan a spur of the moment neighborhood party with a bonfire and a snow sculpture contest.

Or just put up a bird feeding station. Once people start feeding birds, they often get interested in building feeders, providing an assortment of food, watching the territorial actions of various birds and identifying different species.

Your county extension office carries two colorful bulletins on birds and birdfeeding. Both are approved by the Audubon Society. They are "Shelves, Houses and Feeders for Birds and Squirrels" and "Birdfeeding: Tips for Beginners and Veterans." Prices are $2.00 and $1.00 respectfully.

In addition, another way to lessen the effects of winter blahs is to get involved in group activities.

For some, this may mean trading child care with another parent for half a day, so that you can go to a meeting, sing in a choir or attend a class.

For others, it may be getting involved in church activities, volunteer work, 4-H meetings or Extension Homemakers groups. In the dead of winter, it's important to have something to look forward to.

Some people look forward to winter. They anticipate brisk weather, picturesque snow scenes, sun gleaming off icicles, and winter sports. Look around — you can find beauty in even the darkest of days.

Try photographing or painting the stark oak trees against the dark clouds or catch the last rays of the sun setting over a snowy field.

Participate in or watch winter sports. Go cross country skiing with friends or sledding with your kids. Or, you might enjoy watching neighbor children play ice hockey.

In addition, winter is a good time for indoor hobbies. Don't forget reading, sewing, woodworking and horticulture. The cold months are a good time to learn a new skill or to hone an old one.

For example, some families like to serve a meal of foods they've never cooked before. This plan involved reading recipe books, planning a menu, shopping for ingredients you don't have, and sometimes even planning a special table setting.

And for those who like to garden indoors, winter is a good time to try new bulbs or start vegetables from seeds.

Almost everyone gets a case of winter blahs. So, when they hit, realize you're not alone. And the best way to get over them is to plan ahead and think positively.

An added touch of professionalism at the event was provided by a local area taxidermist, Jeff Hintz. Hintz had a very eye catching display of his work set up outside of the headquarters tent at the fisheree. The young taxidermist is a graduate of the American

Chilton Avenges First Round Loss to Indians

By Chuck Voge

The Kewaskum boys basketball teams lost two of three games to the Chilton Tigers Friday night, Feb. 14, at the Tiger den in Chilton. A crowd of close to 900 showed up to watch the best basketball team in the history of Chilton High School as they downed the varsity by a score of 67-54.

The junior varsity lost a tough one in the closing minutes of the game by a score of 47-46. The freshmen saved face for the Indians coming out on top in their contest 52-48.

The victory was a sweet one for coach Dale Schatz and his boys. It didn't come easy. Three of the freshmen front line players fouled out early in the fourth period, however, guards Charlie Walls and Paul Budiak came in and scored 11 and 2 points respectively to fill the gap. The Indians got some additional help from forward Mark Hartmann. Mark had a big 11 point late game performance to help the Kewaskum cause. Freshman center Dave Steger scored six clutch free throws down the stretch and the Indians were able to return home with a little Tiger fur in their hands anyway.

High scorers for the varsity were Mike Coulter with 10 and Don Menzel and Todd Steger with 9 apiece. For the Tigers Todd Eisner had 21 and Scot Bruckner 13. Eisner, who is coached by his father, Jim Eisner, has received a full four year basketball scholarship to Creighton University.

Kewaskum starters were Rohlinger and Yahr at guard, Steger and Coulter at forward and Theusch at center.

In the first and decisive period for Chilton the Tigers out-scored Kewaskum 24-8. They came on strong starting with the whistle that started the game and didn't let up for the whole period. Chilton ran off five straight field goals before the Indians even got on the board, and at 4:46 the score already was 10-0 Tigers. The quick kill tactics intimidated the Indians and threw them into a temporary state of confusion.

At that point Tim Rohlinger, who just didn't seem to be shaken by the whole thing, took control of the Kewaskum offense and got the Indians on the move. Coulter drew first blood for the Indians on a layup and Steger hit on a long jumper. Theusch and Troeller each scored on free throws and Rohlinger closed out the scoring with a layup of his own to make it 24-8 Chilton.

In the second period the Indians outscored the Tigers 14-13 and it wasn't because Chilton played bad ball. Tiger coach Jim Eisner was in a position to really burn it in to the Indians and run up a big score, but to his credit "HE DIDN'T." Eisner emptied his bench and made a game out of it in the best display of sportsmanship this writer has seen in the whole season. Score at the half, 37-22 Chilton.

In the third period the Tigers outscored Kewaskum 12-10. Indian scoring was pretty evenly balanced, however, the high point for the Indians came when Yahr scored from the top of the key on a picture pretty sky hook.

In the fourth and final frame the Indians outscored Chilton 22-18. Coulter was the big gun for the Indians scoring twice from the floor and two more from the line. Mark Schlosser hit on a short jumper and Bruce Troeller closed out the Kewaskum scoring with two coming on an offensive rebound. Final, 67-54 Chilton.

"A special thanks to a true sportsman, Jim Eisner, for letting us go home with our dignity intact." If there is a coach of the year award Eisner would get my vote.

The victory was the fifth straight for the surging Tigers, who have beaten every team the second time around that beat them the first time.

Kewaskum - Ramthun 1-1-2-3, Schlosser 1-0-0-2, Rohlinger 2-2-4-6, Menzel 4-1-2-9, Theusch 1-2-3-4, Yahr 3-2-2-8, Steger 3-3-1-9, Coulter 3-4-3-10, Troeller 1-1-0-3.

Chilton - Woelfel 4-0-2-8, Ronk 4-4-1-12, Pethan 3-3-1-9, Krupp 0-0-1-0, M. Eisner 2-0-3-4, Bruckner 5-3-4-13, T. Eisner 9-3-1-21, Hephner 0-0-2-0, Brantmeier 0-0-1-0.

Varsity Girls Lose Pair of Close Ones

By Chuck Voge

The Kewaskum girls varsity basketball team lost a pair of real close games this past week, going down first to New Holstein at home on Tuesday, Feb. 11, by a score of 41-38. Later in the week the girls traveled to Chilton for a Feb. 13th contest with the Tigers. In the game with Chilton the final was 28-27 Chilton.

In the contest with the Huskies the high scorers for Kewaskum were Jodi Yearling with 14 points and Lisa Fusek with 12. Both the freshmen and junior varsity lost their games by scores of 37-28 and 49-21 respectively.

In the Feb. 13 match up with the Tigers the high scorers for Kewaskum were Brenda Theusch with 9 points and Jodi Yearling and Brenda Kober with 4 apiece.

Against the Tigers the junior varsity came out on top in their contest 26-16. High scorers for the Indians were Christie Kough with 10 points and Kim Kasseckert with 6. Chilton has no freshmen team.

The KHS girls shot a dismal 19 percent from the field. The girls will close out regular season play this week with a Thursday, Feb. 20th, game at home against Sheboygan Falls.

KHS Gymnasts Edged Again by Sheboygan North

By Chuck Voge

The Kewaskum varsity gymnastics team has spent the season being "always the bridesmaid but never the bride," and their Feb. 13th contest with Sheboygan South was no different.

In the meet which was scheduled as a triangular but turned dual with Waupun's failure to show, the varsity was edged out by a score of 98.85 to 86.21.

The JV's stayed true to form and took their match by a slim three point margin at 62.81 to 59.71.

In the contest the varsity girls took only one out of the twelve places in the match and the junior varsity captured a total of eight out of twelve.

Chilton Avenges First Round Loss to Indians

By Chuck Voge

The Kewaskum boys basketball teams lost two of three games to the Chilton Tigers Friday night, Feb. 14, at the Tiger den in Chilton. A crowd of close to 900 showed up to watch the best basketball team in the history of Chilton High School as they downed the varsity by a score of 67-54.

The junior varsity lost a tough one in the closing minutes of the game by a score of 47-46. The freshmen saved face for the Indians coming out on top in their contest 52-48.

The victory was a sweet one for coach Dale Schatz and his boys. It didn't come easy. Three of the freshmen front line players fouled out early in the fourth period, however, guards Charlie Walls and Paul Budiack came in and scored 11 and 2 points respectively to fill the gap. The Indians got some additional help from forward Mark Hartmann. Mark had a big 11 point late game performance to help the Kewaskum cause. Freshman center Dave Steger scored six clutch free throws down the stretch and the Indians were able to return home with a little Tiger fur in their hands anyway.

High scorers for the varsity were Mike Coulter with 10 and Don Menzel and Todd Steger with 9 apiece. For the Tigers Todd Eisner had 21 and Scot Bruckner 13. Eisner, who is coached by his father, Jim Eisner, has received a full four year basketball scholarship to Creighton University.

Kewaskum starters were Rohlinger and Yahr at guard, Steger and Coulter at forward and Theusch at center.

In the first and decisive period for Chilton the Tigers out-scored Kewaskum 24-8. They came on strong starting with the whistle that started the game and didn't let up for the whole period. Chilton ran off five straight field goals before the Indians even got on the board, and at 4:46 the score already was 10-0 Tigers. The quick kill tactics intimidated the Indians and threw them into a temporary state of confusion.

At that point Tim Rohlinger, who just didn't seem to be shaken by the whole thing, took control of the Kewaskum offense and got the Indians on the move. Coulter drew first blood for the Indians on a layup and Steger hit on a long jumper. Theusch and Troeller each scored on free throws and Rohlinger closed out the scoring with a layup of his own to make it 24-8 Chilton.

In the second period the Indians outscored the Tigers 14-13 and it wasn't because Chilton played bad ball. Tiger coach Jim Eisner was in a position to really burn it in to the Indians and run up a big score, but to his credit "HE DIDN'T." Eisner emptied his bench and made a game out of it in the best display of sportsmanship this writer has seen in the whole season. Score at the half, 37-22 Chilton.

In the third period the Tigers outscored Kewaskum 12-10. Indian scoring was pretty evenly balanced, however, the high point for the Indians came when Yahr scored from the top of the key on a picture pretty sky hook.

In the fourth and final frame the Indians outscored Chilton 22-18. Coulter was the big gun for the Indians scoring twice from the floor and two more from the line. Mark Schlosser hit on a short jumper and Bruce Troeller closed out the Kewaskum scoring with two coming on an offensive rebound. Final, 67-54 Chilton.

"A special thanks to a true sportsman, Jim Eisner, for letting us go home with our dignity intact." If there is a coach of the year award Eisner would get my vote.

The victory was the fifth straight for the surging Tigers, who have beaten every team the second time around that beat them the first time.

Kewaskum — Ramthun 1-1-2-3, Schlosser 1-0-0-2, Rohlinger 2-2-4-6, Menzel 4-1-2-9, Theusch 1-2-3-4, Yahr 3-2-2-8, Steger 3-3-1-9, Coulter 3-4-3-10, Troeller 1-1-0-3.

Chilton — Woelfel 4-0-2-8, Ronk 4-4-1-12, Pethan 3-3-1-9, Krupp 0-0-1-0, M. Eisner 2-0-3-4, Bruckner 5-3-4-13, T. Eisner 9-3-1-21, Hephner 0-0-2-0, Brantmeier 0-0-1-0.

Hog Barn Refurbished

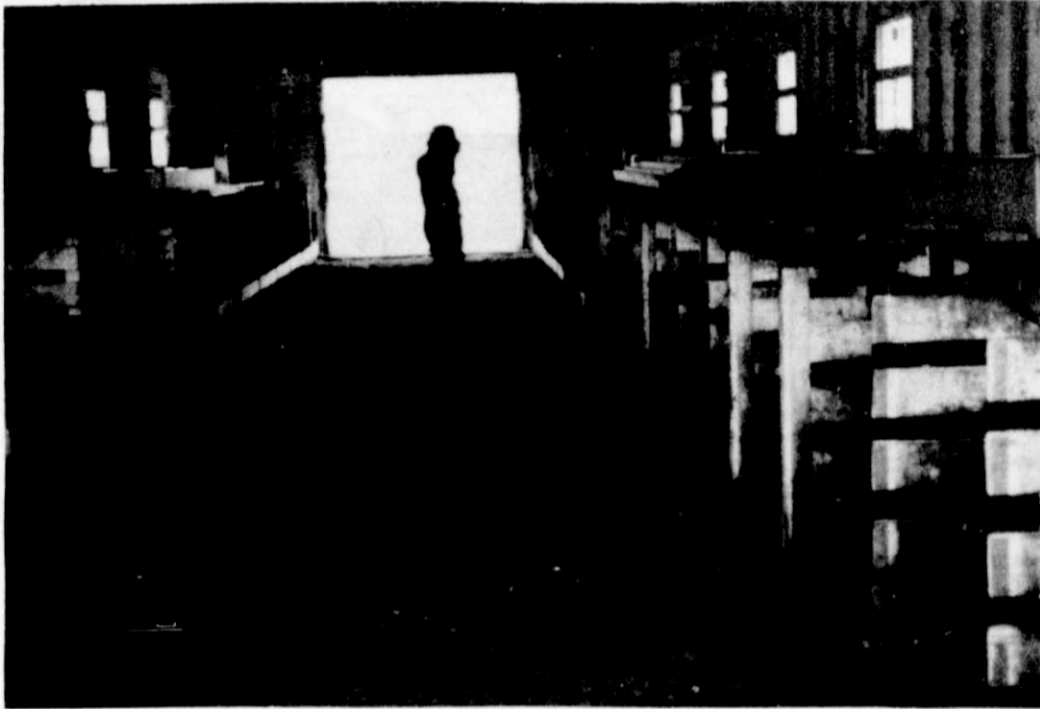

This summer the Kewaskum FFA took on the responsibility of renovating the hog barn at the Washington County Fairgrounds in Slinger.

The project started by removing the ground in the center aisle. This provided a new, stable base for pouring concrete. The cement work was accomplished by members with the help of Jim Hahn, a local hog farmer who also does cement work. The concrete was poured and tapered from center to outside so the aisle was always dry. We also replaced wood on the pens and gates where it was needed. We hung the gates with new hinges and latches. The project was finished with the complete new paint job of the entire barn.

Funds for the project came from the Washington County Fair Board. This project took many man-hours of hard work by our members. The results made us proud, and by the comments we received from exhibitors and fairgoers alike, they liked the finished project too.

Joel Junk helps lay pipe on both sides of the aisle for leveling the cement. A vibrator with an engine was used to level off the cement.

The hog barn at the county fairgrounds just after the top ground and gravel were removed.

A picture of the finished project. This picture was taken a few days before county fair was to begin. The work proved to be worthwhile as less people walking through the barn got wet feet.

Breakfast With the Panzers

On June 15th, a rainy day, the Kewaskum FFA participated in the Third Annual Dairy Daze. At 8 a.m., Bud Schmitt escorted people from Amerahn to the Panzer farm by using horse drawn wagons. The Dairy Daze breakfast was held at the Panzer farm. Regal Ware donated their 6 foot frying pan to make scrambled eggs. 90 dozen eggs were cracked and a lot of sausage was eaten. Members of the FFA helped serve breakfast and also to scramble eggs.

Gary Butzlaff and Renee Kapp were representatives for the King and Queen contest held. Many tickets were sold by youth groups from around the community. Tickets were sold to help support the half side of beef. At the old park, the Kewaskum FFA had a booth set up with dairy judging and a seed guess. The FFA gave out colored erasers shaped like cows and cups with a picture of a cow on it.

A look at 1500 cases of fruit waiting to be sorted.

Dallas Wodsedalek and Keith Bartelt sorting fruit.

The Kewaskum FFA fruit sale was once again a great success thanks to the support of the community. The chapter sold over 1500 cases of fruit. Overall, about 900 cases of navels, 35 cases of juice and 580 cases of grapefruit were ordered. This represents the largest volume sale in the history of the chapter.

The top five salespeople for the year are: First, $30 - Pat Ruplinger; second, $25 - Joe Schmitt; third, $20 - Brian Oelhafen; fourth, $15 - Deb Pamperin, and fifth, $10 - Randy Gindt.

Cheese was also a very successful item this year with the chapter selling 150 blocks of cheddar, 315 packs of string cheese, 50 small gift packs and 30 large gift packs. The top three salespeople are: First, $10 - Patsy Panzer; second, $8 - Tim Limberg, and third, $6 - Deb Pamperin.

The Kewaskum FFA wishes to thank all of our customers for their support, as well as the members' efforts in making the sale successful. Profits from the sale will be used for various FFA activities as well as community development projects.

FFA Rabies Clinic Aids Community

Dr. Charles Ogi administering a rabies shot to Laurie Jung's dog.

On April 4, 1985, the Kewaskum FFA Chapter held its eighth annual rabies clinic. With the help of Drs. Charles and Greg Ogi, we vaccinated over 170 cats and dogs.

Preparation consisted of making 53 posters, which some of the FFA members displayed around town. We also spread the news by putting numerous articles in the newspaper, and sent messages over 15 different radio and television stations. We put over 20 hours of work into making the rabies clinic a success. Make sure you look for our Ninth Annual Rabies Clinic sometime in April. Advertising will appear in newspapers and around town sometime in March.

We All Scream for Ice Cream

This year the Kewaskum FFA, along with the Hartford and Slinger FFA's, ran the sundae stand at the Wisconsin State Fair. We sold sundaes with natural toppings from Wisconsin and Wisconsin fresh milk. We worked ten hours a day and received minimum wages.

The workers included Todd Steger, Joel Junk, Dallas Wodsedalek, Jim Schulz, Keith Bartelt, Renee Kapp, Patsy Panzer, Bev Schulz and Deb Pamperin. In addition to the workers getting paid, each FFA chapter received a profit of over $3,000. It was a lot of hard work but we met new people, had fun and made some money.

Above, many hours were spent working at the Wisconsin State Fair selling delicious ice cream sundaes.

The Future Farmers of America is a student group that carries out many functions throughout the school year as well as the summer months. Many of the activities are done to serve and strengthen the community, as well as to give the members a sense of pride for their communities. A few of the activities include the annual citrus fruit sale, the government cheese program, the rabies clinic and last year's renovation of the swine barn at the Washington County Fair.

FFA members also perform activities which strengthen their leadership qualities. Some of these activities include judging contests, speaking contests, officer training and workshops and various conventions. Activities which the chapter gets involved with for enjoyment include attending a Bucks game, agricultural olympics, basketball tournaments, summer picnics and monthly meetings and recreation. FFA is an integral part of the vocational agriculture classroom, which provides a valuable training tool in building tomorrow's agriculturalists.

The FFA runs concession stands at all home basketball and football games. The FFA sells popcorn, soda and nachos. Doug Enright is getting items ready for a night's work.

Kansas City Here We Come!

FFA members dine out at Mac and Don's Supper Club [McDonalds] at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY

From November 14 to 16, 1985, four members of the FFA, Doug Enright, Bev Schulz, Renee Kapp, Todd Steger and Mr. Rizzardi, attended the National Convention in Kansas City.

We were on the bus for many hours of the day to get from one place to another. We saw many celebrities such as, Zig Zigler, Bart Connors, Willard Scott, and many more. After the first night, we could not wait to get back to the hotel to eat and sleep. On Friday, the bus load of 40 kids and 4 adults decided to take a break from speeches, and 20,000 people to visit the Truman Library and the Kansas City Football and Baseball Stadium. Then it was back to the convention. The four of us met many new people and certainly knew how to get around Kansas City to go shopping. It was so much fun, that when Saturday night rolled around, no one wanted to leave. Despite people crowding you, long speeches, boring bus rides and sore feet, going to Kansas will be something none of us will forget. We brought back many memories. There is so much to tell, we could probably write a book.

Safety Presentation Opens Members Eyes

Ron Naab, above, a member of the Allenton Rescue and Fire Department, talks about safety on the farm, and how to prevent accidents under fatigue.

Safety is a very important factor in farming and farm related businesses. Without safety, farming would be a very dangerous field to work in. More people get injured on farms every year than in factories. Safety is very important, and the FFA held a Safety Night which the public was invited to attend on November 10, 1985.

The FFA invited a guest speaker to attend the meeting to demonstrate and talk about some of his experience of accidents on the farm. He also discussed what to do to decrease the chances of having an accident on the farm. The guest speaker was Ron Naab, and his assistant was Ray Wolf. Both are members of the Allenton Rescue and Fire Department.

A movie was shown of a tractor rollover. The movie described a few items to remember when making a rescue call.

Another FFA sponsored safety item was a Safety Calling Program. An article was put into the Kewaskum Statesman and people were to fill out the article and drop it off at local drop off points. The FFA collected the articles and called these people and asked them several questions about safety. People who answered the questions correctly received a 2 pound package of string cheese. Remember, safety is the most important product of every job!

Jon Etta, Gary Butzlaff, Keith Bartelt, Brian Ruplinger, Bev Schulz and Joel Junk attended the 56th annual State FFA Convention at the American Baptist Assembly near Green Lake, June 11-13. Etta was named winner of the State FFA Swine Production Proficiency. His swine operation has increased to a farrow-finish enterprise. Jon has captured many prizes with his hogs. He was also recognized with a plaque for his continual work with computers.

The Kewaskum Chapter was awarded by receiving a silver rating in the National Chapter Programs. Kewaskum received a gold rating in the Safety Program and a silver rating in Building Our American Communities (BOAC).

Over 2000 FFA members, guests and advisors attended the convention. The Kewaskum Chapter has much to be proud of, both as a chapter and individual accomplishments.

Tami Vannoy, State FFA Section X officer presents Todd Steger with a trophy after he won the Sectional Tractor Driving Contest.

Todd Steger has represented the Kewaskum FFA in the tractor driving contest both of the last two years. The first contest Todd went to was held at Lake Mills. Todd Placed fifth out of the 15 people representing chapters throughout our section.

Todd again competed at Hartford last summer and out of 14 competitors, Todd placed first and advanced to state competition held at the University of Wisconsin Experimental Farm. The contest was held in September and Todd placed seventh out of ten challengers. Competition was tough and Todd did a very good job of representing our chapter.

Pictured, left, Steve Janus with Jon Etta, proudly displaying the 1984 Grand Champion Hog at the Washington County Fair. Jon went on to win the 1985 State Swine Proficiency Award. Jon was the first Kewaskum FFA member to win a State Proficiency. He has expanded his hog operation from farrow to finish. This year Jon is applying for diversified livestock and home and farmstead improvement.
