Expanding, Growing Business Needs Larger Quarters

K-B Lettering Opening New Store

Bill Breitzman with part of his clothing and trophy display in his new store.

By GERRY MUELLER Statesman Staff Writer

With its official opening scheduled for May 15th, Bill Breitzman, of K-B Lettering, Kewaskum, is actively involved in the process of moving his business into its new and quite a bit larger location at 135 Main Street, (the former Steiner Electric store).

When we moved into our present store at 409 Main Street, in 1980, my wife Karen and I never expected to see our business grow like it has, noted Breitzman. Back then I was doing strictly wholesale printing for a company in West Allis.

Then people started coming into our print shop wanting to buy things and before we knew it, we had a retail business going too. Things have just been growing since then to the point where we just outgrew the old store.

Breitzman will remain at the old location which will be used as the plant for the printing and manufacturing operations of the business. All our sales and displays will be handled at the new store, he said.

Bill's wife Karen handled most of the artwork until about a year ago, but then her own car painting and pinstriping business also increased to the point where she could no longer handle both jobs. Karen is booked over a month ahead for her custom painting. Peggy Del Ponte now does our artwork said Breitzman. If things keep going the way they are, I may need two full time artists by next fall.

With the opening of the new store, K-B will employ three part time people and Del Ponte as full time artist. Besides the printing, Breitzman's company handles a full line of shirts, jackets, sportswear and sweatsuits. We print up everything from bags to jackets for anyone including the Kewaskum and

Discuss Timblin Apartment Proposal

Plan Commission To Recommend Regal Manor Annexation

By GERRY MUELLER Statesman Staff Writer

After a brief discussion Tuesday night, the Kewaskum Plan Commission voted to send its recommendation to the Village Board that it approve the annexation and a permanent P-1 zoning gra for a 10.1 acre parcel of land owned by Regal Ware Incorporated.

The land in question will be the site of Regal's new Regal Manor, a private hospitality complex the firm will use to house and entertain clients and company representatives while they are in Kewaskum on company business.

The Town of Kewaskum, in which the land is presently located, expressed no opposition to the petition. The purpose of the request is to make it possible to provide village sewer and water service to the manor.

The village and Regal Ware attorneys have been working together to develop a formal agreement which will cover several issues including the dedication of land for a proposed future road which will extend to Highway H, construction of a private road now which will be built and maintained by Regal Ware as far as repair and snow removal which would allow for access of emergency or fire equipment, and the company's responsibility in picking up the cost of extending sewer and water lines to the property.

The recommendation will be brought to the board and a public hearing on the petition scheduled.

The commission also discussed a proposal from Tom Timblin to re-zone a parcel of land on Timblin Drive, just west (behind) of the Kewaskum Mall.

No formal petition was presented and Timblin's representative, Ron Weis, said their appearance at the meeting was strictly for the purpose of discussing the proposed project.

Timblin is proposing the construction of two, eightfamily buildings, with underground parking facilities. The units, which would be constructed side by side, would face north, with parking access at the south. Sewer and water service would be avilable from the end of Timblin Drive.

Zoning Administrator Richard Zarling indicated he would not have any problem in seeing the land re-zoned to R-4, [Continued on Page 2]

Citizens to Hold Meetings on Closing of Beechwood School

Committee to Recommend Dropping of Village Busing Next Year

Busses, Vans, Service and Routes Dominate Committee Discussions

By GERRY MUELLER Statesman Staff Writer

Most of the discussion during Monday night's Finance-Transportation-Buildings and Grounds Committee meeting evolved around the transportation needs of the Kewaskum School District's children, both regular and extra-curricular.

The first item discussed was Assistant High School Principal Roy Esser's report on comparative costs between district owned vehicles and leased services for extra-curricular activities. After a lengthy and somewhat confusing discussion on the figures, the committee decided to move on to a review of the District's current contract with Johnson Bus Company which expires in August.

Both District Administrator Penny Kleinhans and the committee members indicated that the possibility of extracurricular bus service be considered for inclusion in the new Johnson Bus contract. It was felt, however, that the administration look further into the bus company's costs versus owning vehicles. Preliminary figures, at the present time, seem to suggest a greater cost saving if the district were to purchase one or two vans or station wagons. Kleinhans suggested that, if Johnson were to negotiate better rates to the district for using its vehicles, the committee look into this alternative before it makes any recommendations to the full board. She said the new bus contract, however, should be negotiated before the district makes any decision on owning vehicles. Business Manager Cherna Gorder told the committee, "we're looking at two vehicles that have already died, the van and a wagon.'

Kleinhans also informed the committee there were several changes in contract language which should be made for the benefit and protection of the district. Some of the items covered route layouts, requiring a yearly review, filing of reports with the district and state, and a designee-in-charge who could make the necessary decisions on busing if Mr. Gorecki is not there.

Concerns that once again the Kewaskum School Board has voted to close Beechwood Elementary School in a hasty manner without studying all of the ramifications, has promoted a group of Kewaskum citizens to sponsor two informational meetings. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss all of the issues and to learn the feelings of the majority of the Kewaskum residents, according to Ruth Schmitt, one of the April candidates for the school board.

The meetings will be held Monday, May 5, at 8 p.m. at Farmington Town Hall and Tuesday, May 6, at 8 p.m. at the Kohlsville Fire Hall. The Farmington Town Hall is east of Hwy. 144 on the north edge of Boltonville. The Kohlsville Fire Hall is located at Hwy. WW, one-half block south of Hwy. D.

Schmitt says that although both she and Donald Nowak lost in the school board election they are getting calls from residents who are unhappy with the actions of the board. Clara Trapp and Ralph Horner, the winners of the election have been receiving similar calls. The new board members will be seated May 12 and plan to present a motion to reverse the closing of Beechwood.

Some of the issues that will be discussed at the meetings on May 5 and 6 are: Is the closing of Beechwood going to save money and how much? Is this the only way to save money? Is the closing of Beechwood and sending the 6th graders to middle school going to improve the education of the children in the Kewaskum district? Will Farmington Elementary School and the middle school be overcrowded? As the economy improves and interest rates go down, will the school enrollment in the district grow forcing the reopening of Beechwood in a year or two?

Busses

The committee also agreed with a suggestion that it become the bus company's responsibility to purchase gas for the buses, and be so stated in the contract. Recent changes in state law again give bus companies exemptions for the gas taxes. Presently, the district buys the fuel.

Committee member Jack Theusch again stated his feeling that the busing contract be put out on bids. "I've got nothing against Johnson,' said Theusch, "but for a half-million dollar's worth of business, I should think there are other companies out there who would like to bid on the contract.'

Kleinhans said she would also like to look into the district's providing bus service for the parochial schools on days when the district's schools are not in session. I don't think we're required to do so, but I would like to check this out, said Kleinhans. If necessary I would like to work with the other schools to coordinate our calendars to eliminate any conflicts.

Kleinhans said she would write up the revised language for the proposed contract as well as contact other local bus companies who may be interested in bidding on the services and bring everything back to the committee at its May 27th meeting.

In reviewing bus routes for the coming school year, Esser told the committee there would be enough seats for the 112 sixth graders on the present 18 routes without making any changes. With another drop in enrollment, the present 17 elementary routes will be enough to handle those students.

The question of busing students in the village again came up. Kleinhans told the committee, the district must become consistent in its busing policies. "I don't think we should be busing students from Bel-Ric where they have sidewalks, while students from the furthest parts in areas like Knights Avenue which have no sidewalks, are walking to school. Committee member Tom Brigham said the issue is the 'Bel-Ric Syndrome.'' "What I hear is the administration going on record that we do not bus within the village.

Committee member Carol Connor told Kleinhans, she was under the impression it was a state law to bus children who must walk along a highway or hazardous area, and, that the district was receiving state aids towards the busing. Kleinhans noted it is not a state law, the district makes that determination and, the board's vote last year that Bel-ric was not considered a "hazardous area" resulted in the district losing those state aids. "So it's costing us a bundle to bus those kids into school," said Kleinhans.

On a motion by Kim Peterson, seconded by Jack Theusch, the committee voted 4 to 1, to recommend to the full board that there be no busing of students within the village. Connor voted "no.

In other action, the committee discussed bids for calibration of heating and cooling controls, furnace and air conditioner summer maintenance, and parking lot repairs. The committee will pass on its recommendations for the first two items to the full board.

On the parking lot repairs, the committee directed Buildings Superintendent Fred Boehlke to look into alternative solutions, including contacting the village to see if the district could coordinate its repairs with village repair projects with the end result being lower cost figures.

Boehlke informed the committee that drawings for the Kewaskum Elementary school roof repairs would be completed by May 12th and he would be asking for permission to advertise for bids. The money for the repairs will come from the State Trust Fund loan.

The meeting then adjourned.

however, he felt Timblin should bring in a preliminary sketch showing just how things would go in. "It's hard to talk about a project when you haven't got a physical drawing giving you a visual layout." Weis said that would be no problem and asked if he could meet with Village Administrator Dan Schmidt and Public Works Superintendent Augie Bilgo to discuss road requirements for the proposed project. Schmidt said a meeting could be set up any time.

Timblin indicated he is anxious to get the petition request together since he wants to get construction going by fall.

Unofficially, we'll be opening the new store from May 5th to the 9th. It's going to be our moving sale. We're just going to load up and move out. The following week, around the 15th, the store will open with our new displays.

Children at Kewaskum Elementary School will be learning about food and farming through an educational coloring book called "Old MacDonald's Farm Has Changed." Students in Mrs. Harju's and Mr. Stephani's 4th grade classes have received the coloring book as an educational program of the Wisconsin Agri-Business Council, Inc.

The 24-page booklet follows food production from farm through transportation and processing to table in two sections: "Wheat on Wheels" and "Milk From Moo to You." It teaches of the nutrients that plants require to grow and of the special care today's farmers give their animals.

Wisconsin's agricultural production is highlighted throughout the coloring book as it tells of the state's sauerkraut, cucumbers, beets, peas, carrots, sweetcorn, and snap beans. On a page which teaches about potato production, it states, "On one acre of ground, a Wisconsin farmer might raise enough potatoes for your family to have one meal of French fries every day for 40 years.

Recognize Lendved for Decade of Service to Southeastern Wisconsin Snowmobiling

By GERRY MUELLER Statesman Staff Writer

For George Lendved, of Kewaskum, the afternoon of April 20th will be a time he will long remember and no doubt cherish because it was the day when almost 100 people representing 23 clubs from four counties publicly thanked him for more than a decade of service to the Northern Kettle Moraine Snowmobile Association, its member clubs, and the thousands of snowmobiling enthusiasts throughout southeastern Wisconsin.

As treasurer, vice-president and president, Lendved has served the association in any way he could for over fourteen years.

A banquet held in Lendved's honor at the Five Pillars Restaurant in Random Lake was truly a surprise and one of the rare occasions when George was left virtually speechless. In the spirit of friendship, he was "roasted" while his activities, efforts and achievements were expounded upon by his many friends and neighbors. Among the speakers were Bob Staehler of the Kewaskum Sno-Chiefs, and Jim Gescheidle of the Blizzard Buzzards of Fond du Lac; both past presidents of the Association of Wisconsin Snowmobile Clubs, the post which Lendved presently holds. Lendved was showered with many humorous gifts including a large box of used welding rod tips from his home club, the New Fane Kettle Riders, which represented the hundreds of hours George put in repairing the club's early dragging equipment.

Two clubs presented Lendved with double-billed caps cationed "I'm the Leader, Which Way Did They Go," a reference to his always being on the go, unselfishly giving of his time to help organizations and communities.

There was also some loving chiding by members of Lendved's family, especially his daughter Bonnie Zanow, of Kewaskum, who reminded her father of his early days in snowmobiling.

The highlight of the program, however, was the presentation of a plaque containing a gavel, marking the ten years, from 1976 to 1986, that Lendved served as President of the Northern Kettle Moraine Association.

Lendved is no longer president of NKM, a post he would have been re-elected to again, because he has taken on still bigger responsibilities with the position of President of the Wisconsin Association of Wisconsin Snowmobile Clubs. As head of that organization, he will on an even larger scale, continue to represent Wisconsin and its snowmobilers throughout the United States and Canada, as have his predecessors.

Wild Animals Aren't Pets

By Monica Nehm

A young bird squawks and thrashes after crash-landing in a bush near your house. The noise in the bush is a young robin trying out its wings. What's the best help you can give? Leave it alone!

"Wild animals aren't pets," Dave Gjestson, DNR Wildlife specialist says. "We tend to think Bambi and Thumperism terms when it comes to helping animals.'

"Newly born or hatched animals aren't like people," Gjestson says. "They don't always need their parents around. Just because an animal is alone doesn't mean it's abandoned.'

Wild animals rarely abandon their young," Gjestson says. Take in this scene. You uncover a burrow in your lawn while you're mowing . Inside the burrow sleep small, brown rabbits, curled around each other. Should you pick them up and show your family?

"No," Gjestson says. "People want to cuddle and show off young animals. Perhaps it's their parental instinct showing. They don't realize their actions can be bad for the animal."

The rabbits may be alone in the burrow for awhile, but their mother is close by to protect and care for them.

"You never see the parent," Gjestson explains. "The parent is hiding in a nearby covered area and will nurse the young periodically throughout the day and night.'

In a smiliar situation, you stumble across a spotted fawn alone in the brush. The adult deer taught its fawn to remain motionless in the face of danger, Gjestson says. The fawn is usually safe from predators as long as it remains still.

"People often illegally take young birds home for pets. But when birds first leave the nest, they usually fly in short spurts, Gjestson says. People often think the bird is injured and will die without their help. Actually, the bird is just learning to fly the same way birds have been doing for centuries.

Wisconsin law only allows licensed people, such as game and fur farmers, to keep wild animals. The law makes no provision for people to keep wild animals as pets, Gjestson says. This law protects both people and animals.

"Wild animals may carry a variety of diseases, most notably rabies," Gjestson says. "There is no known effective rabies vaccine for wildlife. The vaccine that works on your dog isn't going to protect a wild animal.

Some wild animals can also hurt you. There are numerous records of raccoons injuring people. "No wild animal in captivity is completely trustworthy," Gjestson says.

Some wild animals can imprint on human beings and tame very easily, Gjestson adds. "This type of animal becomes dependent on you for a hand-out," he says. "When they don't get one, they'll turn to someone else. If that fails, they could be in trouble. An animal that's imprinted on people seldom can fend for itself in the wild.'

Wisconsin regulations do allow people to temporarily possess animals that are sick, injured, or abandoned. However, you must notify a conservation warden within 24 hours and tell him or her that you have the animal. Usually, the warden will arrange to transport the animal to a rehabilitation facility, Gjestson says.

So, if you find a sick or injured wild animal, call a conservation warden or your nearest DNR office, Gjestson says. And, if you find a young wild animal, don't pick it up!

Temporarily 'Out of Order'

The Shefond Self/Serv gas station in Kewaskum, on Fond du Lac Ave., will be out of commission for a few days as larger tanks and new pumps and islands are being installed.

Owner Bill Lenz expects the work to be completed by next week and the station back in full operation, ready to serve its customers.

School District Residents

By the last day of school, all furniture will be removed from the Beechwood School and moved to the Farmington School. A neighborhood school is being closed at a time when our school district could very well experience growth. Neighborhood schools are often a plus when families are looking for an area to live.

Many facts have changed in the past two years. Interest rates are going down. There are fewer home lots available to buy in the suburban area of Milwaukee. Lots in Brookfield sell for $55,000 to $60,000 apiece. The Hwy. 45 bypass will soon be completed. Integration in the Milwaukee and surrounding area will soon be a reality. The Kewaskum school board is ignoring these factors and filling our schools to capacity.

If you consider our beautiful Kettle Moraine area and its many recreational activities, our district does have potential for growth. If we allow Beechwood and Wayne Elementary Schools to stay open, we area able to offer new families opportunities to be involved in their children's education. By attracting new families into our school district, we have more people to share the tax burden.

The school board has ignored the platforms of the school board candidates and refused to consider a referendum. In an effort to prevent further litiga-the board.

8. Serving just a special group.

9. Downgarding the education program. 10. Not abiding by State Health Rules. 11. Not following proper procedures asked of them in OPPORTUNITIES UN-LIMITED." 12. Public Trust.

So you see the State Statutes set guide lines for the board members to follow and the people have the right to make them follow them. So the electors of the Kewaskum School District - that have expressed deep concern - the word is RECALL-RECALL-RECALL. There are many candidates in the District who would serve this District where communication - unity - good education can be restored without the cost of this AD-MINISTRATION. So stand up and speak out. Please sign the petition when you are asked.

> Thank you Ralph Buchel Member of the Organization Save our Schools

Editor, the news: To the residents of the Kewaskum School District

There are a lot of rumors running rampant in this school district. One of those rumors, I will now attempt to put to rest.

The Beechwood P.T.O. has room had its own books. We felt that a regular library, like all the rest of the schools had, was needed. We each spent over 120 hours that first few months organizing and setting up the library. We spent over $1,-. 900.00 in books and miscellaneous items to start the library in one of the rooms. To this day, I spend an average of 31/2 hours each Tuesday in the library, so the students can check out books. The only district money used is to buy books and whenever Arnie Dittbrenner, KMS librarian, comes out to teach library skills to the students. Can any other library in the district say that? No, they all are run by paid aides or librarians from the school district.

Then the subject of split grades comes up. Some people believe that split grades are bad. I, however, feel that they are not. Anytime you argue about educational concepts, there have been studies done to support both sides of the issue. Do you think for one minute that if we felt that our children's education was suffering, that we wouldn't be angry and demand something be done to correct it?

Test scores for reading were brought up at one board meeting. It was reported that Beechwood's 6th graders had the lowest testing average in the district. What was not emphasized was that they tested out above a 7th grade level. What's wrong with that?

To the Editor:

After the results of the primary and general election and just six short days before the new members take office, the Kewaskum School Board's special April 22nd meeting in which it gave out substantial administrative raises has got to be considered a personal affront and slap in the face to the electorate of the district.

The election should have been viewed by the remaining board members as a very loud and clear signal of the community's feelings on the Board's past decisions, yet they still held this special meeting. Why did these administrative raises, ranging from 4 to 7% have to be acted on in such haste and without the input of the new Board members? Why did the Board choose to present the Director of Instruction with a handsome $2,400 per year raise after just 5 short months of employment? How many taxpayers have received a 7% increase in 5 short months? Why is the Board so generous with these raises at the same time it professes to be forced to take drastic measures to keep the budget under control? How many other things must the students of this district have to do without so that the Board can continue to support the topheavy administrative bureaucracy it has created? How many more times must the electorate turn the other cheek so that the Board can slap it again?

April 28, 1986

To the Editor:

I notice that Gov. Tony Earl made still another trip to Regal Ware, Kewaskum, WI. recently. He must visit there more than anywhere else in Wisconsin.

I notice, also, that shortly thereafter, James D. Reigle, president, Regal Ware, came out with a ringing endorsement of Governor Earl, suggesting that Wisconsinites, Democrats and Republicans alike, support Earl's re-election Gov. campaign.

This came shortly after Reigle, before a village board meeting, had criticized the state for its anti-business climate when one of his pet projects, a clubhouse, was being delayed in its construction. This came, also, shortly after some Regal Ware friends delivered a sausage to Earl in Madison, and got a Meat Week certificate in return, at the very least.

I have lived here in Kewaskum long enough to believe that Regal Ware seems to have two teams, one Republican and one Democrat, and it appears to play one team or the other, depending on the political circumstances; that is, whichever team will benefit it the most. I recall that it appeared to have a successful "romance" going with the last governor, a Republican, Lee Dreyfus, who is now endorsing a Republican candidate for governor, George Watts, of Milwaukee.

Do I get a little bit cynical? You betcha. I see the quality of life deteriorating here, and more absentee property owners making their money here, but mostly living elsewhere, and scorning to live here. I see a lot of good people have left, one way or another, and have not been replaced.

If there is a growing "concensus," it appears to be a forced one. And this is not healthy. Some differences of opinion should be allowed as a normal thing, showing people care about their community and want to contribute to it, and their spirit has not been crushed.

A much quoted cynic once said, "The more things change, the more they stay the same." In Kewaskum, they seem to get worse.

I'm not sure that James Reigle did us or Governor Earl any favor by endorsing him. I'm not sure that Governor Earl is doing us any favor. In fact, this whole thing makes me suspicious. Anyway, no one is going to tell me how to vote. I'll make up my own mind.

Editor's note — The following letter was written to the bus drivers of the Johnson Bus Co. for the Kewaskum School District by Penny Kleinhans, District Administrator, during School Bus Driver Week:

April 24, 1986

On behalf of the Board of Education, our students, teachers and principals, we'd like to express our appreciation and gratitude for a job well done!

I often think that unless one has actually been involved with student bussing it's very hard to appreciate the patience, humor, skills and endurance a driver needs!

Too often the valuable service rendered by your faithful service are taken for granted we want you to know that isn't the case!

Your fine safety record is also to be commended.

We salute you during this scholarship, Disch, a native of Hartford who now resides in West Bend, will also represent MPTI at the State Star Finals in Madison on May 7-8 when he will compete with other postsecondary vocational-technical students from throughout Wisconsin for the title of State Star Award Winner.

The Star Program, now in its second year, is sponsored statewide by the Wisconsin Board of Vocational, Techical and Adult Education in recognition of excellence among postsecondary students studying at Wisconsin's vocationaltechnical schools.

Disch was selected from a group of five finalists by a panel of representatives from the program's local sponsors: Carole Dreher, Regal Ware; Dave Martin, Amity Leather; Fred Dassler, Chrysler Marine; Sheila Wettstein, Giddings & Lewis; Maury Schultz, A. C. Nielsen; Rich Young, John Deere; Robert Jacobs, Wells Manufacturing; and James Schmidt, Tecumseh Products.

This year's Moraine Park Star student is a former Marine who is currently a sergeant in the Wisconsin Army National Guard, performing the duties of a helicopter mechanic. Disch hopes to find work in the field of robotics after he graduates in May.

The four other finalists in the competition received $100 scholarships and were also recognized at the Awards Banquet: Todd Langenhorst of Ripon, Jean Ohlrich of Fond du Lac, Sally Silgman of Markesan and Beth Stoffel of Kewaskum. Nineteen MPTI students were initially nominated for the awards; a screening committee of Moraine Park staff interviewed them and recommended the five finalists to the selection panel.

These two events were begun at a time when the society was getting geared up to begin building its present animal shelter on Hwy. 60 in the Town of Polk. There was little money to begin building but the need was obviously great. The society is planning on these two events being the greatest yet for their tenth anniversary celebration. Next year will be the tenth anniversary of the shelter's opening.

Petri Appoints Sill As Senior Citizen Intern

FOND DU LAC — Congressman Tom Petri announced the appointment of Elmer Sill of Waupaca as his Senior Citizen Intern for a five month period beginning May 1. Sill will meet and work with senior citizens and senior citizens organizations throughout the Sixth District. In 1983, 1984 and 1985, Sill served in the same capacity for Rep. Petri.

'I'm pleased that Elmer has agreed to serve again in this most important position," Petri said. "The problems and concerns of senior citizens are unique. The policies and programs of the federal government have a great effect on senior citizens, most of whom are retired and living on a fixed income. Through his discussions with senior citizens, Elmer will keep me abreast of their concerns and ideas on federal legislation. This input will help me do a better job for my senior constituents.

Sill, 78, is a native of Milwaukee and has lived in Waupaca for over 30 years. He graduated from Milwaukee Technical High School, served in the U.S. Navy Air Force and has studied at the University of Wisconsin and Milwaukee School of Engineering. A marketing representative for 45 years, Sill retired from the Heyman Corporation in 1981. He and his wife of 45 years, Alvina, have three children and seven grandchildren.

Long active in senior citizen activities, Sill currently is on the State Governing Board and Legislative Committee of the Coalition of Wisconsin Aging groups, is a member of AARP and the Wisconsin Congress on Aging. He also does volunteer work with the Meals on Wheels Program. Sill was a delegate to the Governor's Conference on Aging in 1980 and to the White House Conference on Aging in 1981. He participated in the Wisconsin Senior Statesmanship Program in 1981.

Sill has been active in the past in a wide variety of community activities including Boy Scouting. He enjoys many hobbies including travel, reading and ballooning.

Senior citizen groups interested in having Sill speak to them should call 1/800/242-4883.

Cedar Lake Home Campus Provides Daycare Health Opportunities

Help for older adults or handicapped persons who have medical or social needs which cannot totally be met at home is available at Cedar Lake Home Campus day Health Care program.

Cedar Lake Day Health Care, one of the first in the country, began at the Home in 1958 and is now being expanded due to the Campus commitment to provide for the total needs of community individuals, particularly for their independence.

A person may come to the campus for several hours or a full day. The purpose of Day Health Care is to offer individuals personal care and participation in a restorative program with the opportunity to share experiences with others. Day residents participate in the Cedar Lake Home's total team therapeutic service. Day residents are a part of the total ongoing resident program.

Cedar Lake Home's day Health Care program provides: nursing services; activity programming; rehabilitative services such as physical, occupational, and speech therapy; and resident family services. The rehabilitation portion of the program is especially helpful to individuals recovering from a stroke, broken bones or other debilitating conditions. Day Health Care can help to shorten a hospital stay, speed up recovery, and offer respite to family members who provide ongoing care.

Rates are based on the level of care needed by each individual.

An individualized therapeutic program is developed for each person by the professional staff in consulation with their personal physician. The physician will maintain primary responsibility for medical care.

For Jolene Trapp, 8, and her brother Ralph, Junior, being with their parents while they worked up land on the LeRoy Krautkramer farm east of Beechwood last Saturday, the day turned out to be more than a routine day in the fields.

Jolene said while she was playing, she happened to look up into the sky and saw some balloons floating in the air. She and her brother followed the balloons which eventually came down in a nearby field. When they were retrieved, it was found that each of the six balloons had a card attached to it. The cards carried a short message saying, I am a Sixth Grade student at Abraham Lincoln Shool, 2700 13th Avenue, Monroe, Wisconsin. If you find my balloon please write to me.

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Gerald Sese has been named United States National Award winner in English.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Gerald who attends Kewaskum Middle School was nominated for the National Award by Miss Margaret Smith, an English teacher at the school.

Gerald's biography will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally. He is the son of Kathleen Sese, Kewaskum. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kapusta of Milwaukee.

The Hon-E-Kor Golf and Country Club bar in Kewaskum, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert (Bud and Tudy) Korth, is now open for business daily, although there is still quite an amount of work to be completed on the spacious new clubhouse building and grounds located at the southeastern edge of town, immediately south of the village park. The clubhouse, 40 by 80 feet in size, with its 3,200 square feet of floor space on the main floor, includes a dining area, kitchen, bar, recreation or gathering room and pro shop, while the showers and locker rooms are in the basement. It also has a patio on the east side. The first nine holes of the privately owned by the Korths but public invited golf course should be ready to open in August. Eventually, it will be an 18-hole course. The second nine will be laid out on 80 acres of land south of the present course which Korth purchased from Jac. Koenen several years ago.

Christ. Hammen, 76, a well known resident of the Town of Kewaskum, residing two miles west of the village, died at the home of his son, Carmen, on April 24, as a result of injuries received by being trampled upon by a horse on April 22. Just as Mr. Hammen was to remove the harness from a horse which he had led into its stall, the accident occurred. Whether or not Mr. Hammen fainted or fell accidentally is not known, but while lying in the stall, the horse trampled upon him. Mr. Hammen's son discovered his father's plight within a few minutes, but the horse had by that time, become so wild that it would not allow anyone into the stall. It became necessary for the son to remove some of the sideboards of the stall in order to draw his father away from the horse's hoofs. Mr. Hammen was taken into his home and a physician was summoned. His condition soon became critical, however and he soon was claimed by death.

This week's issue featured a picture of the new bank building of the Bank of Kewaskum, which is under course of construction. The building will be located on the lot just west of the H.J. Lay Lumber Co. The building is a two story structure, size 30 by 50 feet. with a basement and composition roof. The front is of sand stone, while the remaining walls are of solid brick. The Bank of Kewaskum will have its place of business on the first floor. The L. Rosenheimer Malt and Grain Company will also have their offices in a separate room on the main floor. The entire front half of the upper story has been leased by the Kewaskum Mutual Fire Insurance Company for a term of five years. The balance, two large rooms, are for rent.

Part of the stolen goods which were taken from the Knickel & Straub store at Campbellsport on February 3, were found in an unoccupied residence located about 1/2 mile north of this village last week.

Miss Hannah Laverenz of this village was married to Paul Krahn of the Town of Scott last week Thursday afternoon in the Ev. Peace Church.

A very pretty wedding took place at the St. Matthias Church, New Fane, last Tuesday, when Rev. Joseph Thulle pronounced the words that made Adam Uelmen and Miss Christina Viola Schiltz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schiltz, man and wife.

Last Saturday afternoon a large crowd of people gathered at the church in Boltonville to witness the wedding of Miss Alvina Meisner and Herman Binder.

Underground Tanks for Chemicals And Fuels Must Be Reported by May 8

Owners of underground tanks now used or once used to store gasoline, hazardous liquids and chemicals have two more weeks to register tank locations with the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations (DILHR).

The registration requirement is part of state efforts to prevent or, at least contain, groundwater contamination caused by tanks leaking fuels or chemicals. The reporting program complements a Department of Natural Resources effort to license all tanks used to hold hazardous waste.

DILHR officials estimate that only 38,000 of an estimated 75,000 underground tanks have been reported, to date, in the first such effort to inventory all underground storage tanks.

Owners are required to register their tanks by May 8, or face penalties of up to $1,000 under state law and up to $10,000 under federal law.

Dennis W. Strey, who heads the Safety and Building's petroleum inspection bureau at DILHR, said the state law applies to all tanks whose surfaces are 10 percent or more below the ground and are used, were used or could be used to store flammable, hazardous or combustible liquids.

The DILHR rule requires that:

* Tanks must be reported whether they are currently in use or not. Owners are responsible for taking the initiative to obtain, fill out and return the registration forms.

* Some owners are notifying the wrong agency about tank sites. Notifications must be sent to DILHR, not the state Department of Natural Resources or other state and federal agencies.

* Some owners are not reporting their tanks to the state because they mistakenly believe a federal exemption for tanks under 1,000 - gallon size is also an exemption under state law. It isn't. Only hazardous waste storage tanks already licensed by the Department of Natural Resources need not be reported by May 8.

Strey said many of the tank registrations received thus far are the result of special forms DILHR mailed to trade associations that represent people who sell or distribute petroleum registered their tanks should call DILHR representatives at (608) 267-5280 or write the DILHR Petroleum Inspection Bureau, P.O. Box 7969, Madison, WI 53707. Registration forms will be mailed promptly in response, he said.

Among the most popular sites for underground storage tanks are gas stations, businesses with trucking operations and homes and farms where fuels other than natural gas or electricity are used for heating.

BUT INSIDE IT'S A DIFFERENT STORY!

The one on the left is our standard Whirlpool 50,000 BT(JH upflow pilot gas furnace. Its efficiency rating is 65.9%. That means that 34.1% of the energy it takes to run the furnace is wasted. Totally wasted!

The 50,000 BTUH furnace on the right is the new Whirlpool Tightfist[®] II high efficiency furnace. Its efficiency rating is 96%!* That means only 4% of the energy is wasted.

The difference is obvious. And remember, you're going to be charged for all the energy you use, whether it's wasted or not. To really get what you're paying for, why not install a high efficiency Whirlpool Tightfist II furnace in your home today. That way you're sure to get your money's worth. SENSENBRENNER DEMANDS LIBYA BE EXPELLED FROM THE UNITED NATIONS

(Washington, D.C.) — In response to Libya's repeated violation of international law and terrorist attacks, REP. JAMES SENSENBRENNER, JR. (R-WI) announced today he has cosponsored legislation urging the United States delegation to the United Nations (UN) to begin proceedings to "kick out" Libya from that body.

"Libya violates the United Nations' charter of maintaining international peace and security on a daily basis. It is a renegade country operating on an agenda of violence and terror," said Sensenbrenner. Under Article 6 of the UN Charter, a country which continually violates the UN Charter's goals of guaranteeing the rights of peace loving nations may be expelled by the UN upon a vote of both the General Assembly and the Security Council.

If Libya were expelled from the UN, it would be the first time the U.S. has supported the removal of a nation from this international body. Sensenbrenner stated, "Although this resolution is not binding on the UN, I hope it will send a signal to both our allies and other UN member states that the US will no longer tolerate the membership of terrorist states in the United Nations."

Sensenbrenner concluded, "The United Nations is an institution of peace and international order. If that mission is to have any meaning at all, we cannot allow the United Nations to ignore proclaimed policies of terrorism, war and hostility."

For a penny-wise sweet treat, combine a half-cup each honey, crunchy peanut butter and non-fat dry milk. Mix well and shape into a long narrow roll. Wrap in wax paper, chill and slice when firm into one-inch pieces.
