Stop Move of Sixth Graders to Middle School

Group Fighting to Keep Beechwood School Open

By GERRY MUELLER Statesman Staff Writer

Over 125 people attending a meeting at the Farmington Town Hall, Monday and approximately 70 people at a meeting at the Kohlsville Fire Department Hall Tuesday. heard a panel of four people tell them why the Kewaskum School Board should reverse its two decisions to close Beechwood Elementary and transfer the district's sixth grade population to the Middle School.

The panel, consisting of Ruth Schmitt, Town of Barton; Ron Beimborn, Beechwood; Joan Rosenberger and Mary Feind, Town of Farmington, all spoke out against the school board's decisions. An offshoot of the Beechwood PTO, called the Save-Our-Schools Committee, has been working to keep the school open.

Schmitt told the meetings, one of the district's problems is lack of communication between residents and the board. Our district covers 144 square miles, said Schmitt, and that makes it hard to get together and talk the way we should. She stressed that had to change, people must talk to the board members and come to meetings to let them know how they feel on issues. By the same token, the board must listen to the people. There must be unity and a spirit of working together for the good of the district, she noted.

Wilcox Marketing Group Takes Over Merkt Cheese Account

Tom Merkt, President of Merkt Cheese Company, Inc., has announced the appointment of Wilcox Marketing Group, Inc. as agency of record. Wilcox will handle the firm's entire $1.2 million marketing and public relations account effective immediately.

The firm has already begun work on a massive new food service industry effort, starting with participation at the NRA in Chicago, May 17-21, 1986. Wilcox is also redesigning the company's entire packaging and promotional materials. In addition, Wilcox's public relations division has launched a comprehensive nationwide PR campaign to the Retail/Deli and Food Service industries. Both programs will highlight new flavors and uses for Merkt Cheese.

The Merkt Cheese business originally started with Joe Merkt and his brothers. Joe and his wife and their eight children, who attended Kewaskum schools, lived in the Kewaskum area. Most of the Joe Merkt children live in the immediate area. Kathy (Merkt) Kougl and her husband Bob live near Kewaskum and their children attend school in the Kewaskum district. Another brother, Bob Merkt, lives in Florida and is Merkt's Cheese No. 1 salesman, having the southeast territory.

Tom Merkt expressed satisfaction with Wilcox, saying,

"We are very pleased at the progress we have made in the initial stages of our new marketing program that was worked out jointly by our company and Wilcox Marketing Group, Inc." Wilcox President, Sheiden C. Wilcox echoed those sentiments and added, "We feel that Merkt Cheese Company has outstanding people, products and opportunities for growth. We are very pleased to be working with them."

Merkt Cheese Company, Inc., located in Bristol, Wisconsin, manufactures the #1 brand cold pack cheese spread in the nation. They offer a variety of flavors on the retail level, including sharp cheddar, cheddar-wine and swiss almond. Their deli line features new fruit and cheese mixture spreads, designed as dessert spreads. Its food industry division manufacures cheese sauce and the cold pack, including a new 3/4 oz. portion control pack for distribution to restaurants, institutions and other verticle markets. All Merkt products are made with only Grade AA cheddar and the finest swiss cheese. Merkt cold pack can be frozen and refrozen many times without losing any of its quality flavor or con-

Wilcox Marketing Group, Inc., is a full service marketing and public relations firm located south, that was not necessarily in Wauwatosa, Wisconsin.

"We gave the board a mandage to keep taxes down, not necessarily to close Beechwood and move the sixth graders," said Rosenberger. "Lots of us would like to have some other options, but on the other hand, maybe a majority of the people in the district would like to close Beechwood. That's what we want to find out.'

Beimborn addressed the subject of closing Beechwood by telling the audience that board had said a committee would be set up to study the closing and its effects. Yet, that committee never materialized. challenged the administration's report on how much money the district could save if the school were closed. After removing several items from the list of projected savings, Beimborn said he could only see a real savings of between $5,000 to $15,000 in salaries and personnel, not the $68,000 to $70,000, as indicated in the report.

Rosenberger, who told the audience the closing of Beechwood would not affect her family since her youngest child was a high school senior, asked the people to consider the future growth factor of the district. While past administrator John Long and present administrator Penny Kleinhans both cited Department of Public Instruction projections that enrollments will continue to drop, as they have been, Rosenberger cited projected Southeastern Regional Plan Commission (Serpc) figures which say Washington County's population will increase. In 1980, the county's population was approximately 84,900, in 1985, 87,500, and by 1990, it could be up to 97,500 or optimistically 114,300. At the Farmington meeting, School Board member Perry Ankerson countered Rosenberger's statement, saying because the county's population is expected to increase does not automatically mean the Kewaskum School District will grow at the same rate or in the same proportion.

"This could be a boom year in building," said Rosenberger, and the economy is picking up too." Ann Enright, a district resident and a real estate agent, agreed, in part, with Rosenberger. Enright said that while building and home sales are up substantially from West Bend

Mobile Home Park Owner Seeking Sewer Hook-Up

By GERRY MUELLER Statesman Staff Writer

Melvin Tompkins, owner of the mobile home park south of Kewaskum on Highway 45, has approached Kewaskum Village Board with a request that it consider the possibility of sanitary sewer connections for this property.

Tompkins, whose property is in the Town of Kewaskum, has been battling septic system problems in the park which has approximately 32 tenants. He will be advised that before the board would review the matter any further, he would have to reimburse the village for any costs incurred to get several questions and concerns answered by the village's engineers.

Once that information is received and reviewed, the board would then decide whether it will proceed further in any discussions with Tompkins on the possibility of extending service to the mobile home park.

Tompkins would have to hire an engineer for the project as well as pay the cost of the village's engineers to review any plans presented.

Village Administrator Dan Schmidt said, "the ball is now back in Tompkins' court and he will have to decide where things go from here."

In other action, the board approved the low bid of Lane Tank Company, of Menomonie, Wisconsin, to paint and repair Water Tower #1, at a cost of $18,700. A second bid was received from Craftsman Painting Service of Illinois, for a cost of $29,000. The work will be done during June and July.

The trustees reviewed the latest village audit report for the year ending December 31, 1985. Schmidt said the audit showed the Sewer Utilities had a 7% net [Continued on Page 2]

KHS Implements Awarding Of Academic Letters

Students at KHS will be noticing more classmates wearing the coveted letter jacket in the near future. KHS has recently implemented the awarding of academic letters to students who have acquired a high enough grade point average to accumulate the necessary points to receive the award.

The awards will be retroactive to include this year's senior class. A student who has attained a 3.75 GPA for a semester will be given 1 point and a 4.0 GPA earns 2 points. In order to receive an academic letter, 4 points must be earned. Students and faculty alike agree that by the awarding of an academic letter to deserving students, earning this honor will enable them to share the spotlight, up until now, reserved for just athletic excellence.

true north of West Bend. Many people continue to work in the Milwaukee area and they feel moving north of West Bend is still too far, even with the 45 by-pass and highway 41.

We've all been taking potshots at the administration before we've walked in their shoes," said Enright. She felt things had to be looked at from more than one view.

The panel discussed the move of sixth grade students to the Middle School. "The only way you can close Beechwood is by moving the sixth grade into the Middle School," said Schmitt. Feind said that, while in some aspects, today's sixth graders seem more mature, what they still are emotionally are sixth graders.

Feind also asked what kind of a plan the administration had for housing the Farmington population with the addition of the Beechwood students. She said after looking at the available classroom space in Farmington she wondered whether or not some groups such as Learning Disability students would be adversely affected.

In discussing ways to save money, there was little in the way of specific suggestions from the panel, other than to say there were other options.

While there seemed to be mixed feelings about the Beechwood closing and sixth grade move among the audience, several comments and more concerns were expressed regarding the teacher and administration salaries which were recently approved by the board.

At the Farmington meeting, Donald Jones stated, "I got a $15.00 a month raise and in the other column I got a $15.50 deduction for insurance. I'm for a good house cleaning from the board on down."

"My taxes are too high," stated Jack Theusch of Farmington," and if it takes closing Beechwood to lower them, I think we should look at it.

While the people were glad to see Kleinhans had stuck to her statement about not taking a raise, they were just as upset that Director of Instruction Julie Backus, after only five months with the district, had received a 7% increase and two-year contract.

In referring to administrative staffing, Schmitt noted, wehave just under 2,000 students, while West Bend has 6,000, yet we have the same number of administrators.

Referring to comments about communication, Ankerson told the meeting, "I got one unsigned letter with nothing but threats and innuendos and I was the only one to vote to keep Beechwood open. No phone calls, and only one unsigned threatening letter. If each one of you had taken just 15 minutes out of your time and written us a letter, made copies and sent them to each board member there would have been communication, but nobody does anything until their feet are put to the fire. If you want change, you have to get involved and stay involved." Roger Reif, Beechwood, said, "the best communication would have been to put the closing on a referendum.

Former board member Neal Weare, who also attended the Farmington meeting, told the people," you can't put all the blame on the school board, you have to accept some of the responsibility yourselves.' Weare stated, as he has at several various meetings in the past, "you people should be writing to Governor Earl, getting on his back about taking school taxes off property taxes and getting rid of the mandatory teacher arbitration law.' There is little school boards can do to hold down salaries as long as that law remains in existance noted Weare.

On the subject of using old DPI reports regarding Beechwood and the District, Kleinhans indicated they were historical and still relevant. In referring to one person's statement that she and Backus were not familiar with the Beechwood situation, she noted it's because we're new and not emotionally involved that we can look at the situation objectively. Beimborn told her, if the reports were so historical, maybe they should be put in the archives.

In concluding the meeting the panel asked the people in the audience to attend the May 12th School Board meeting when the two items will be on the agenda for discussion.

Farmington After the meeting Irene Gnacinski, Beechwood, said, "when they built the Middle School Mr. Brenholt said the population was going to explode, now the administration is saying it's going down while everyone else is saying it will go up.

return (6% to 8% is considered good), while the Water Utilities showed only a 3% net return. Representatives of Virchow, Krause and Company recommended the village begin looking into a rate adjustment for the water department.

The board also discussed curb and gutter replacement along sections of North Avenue, however, no action was taken. The project will be placed on the board's next agenda for further discussion.

Schmidt also noted that the village has received a letter from River Bend Cablevision notifying its subscribers that, effective June 1st, there will be a 5% increase in the rate for basic service. The increase is the result of the government's deregulation.

KHS Social Studies Classes Get Involved in Project Aware

Kewaskum High School students from instructor Dave Rhode's Social Psychology and Social Problems classes attended a Project Aware session this past Monday in the high school library.

Arthur A. Murchison, an inmate of the Kettle Moraine Correctional Institute (KMCI), told his life story and then gave the students reasons for staying out of the "pen." Murchison was chaparoned by Peter Martin, Staff Advisor and Registrar of KMCI. Finally, students got to ask questions and view a contraband board made up of drugs and weapons found at KMCI.

Project Aware is a program designed to deter juveniles from engaging in delinquent behavior. The goal of this program is to present youth from developing negative attitudes and to emphasize the importance of positive decisions.

On Tuesday, April 29th, the same students went to visit KMCI and talk to a panel of eight other inmates regarding the Project Aware program. Instructor Rhode said, "Some wide eyed and shocked but very positively affected students emerged this visit to hopefully spread the word of "Project Aware" to fellow students."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR...

To the Editor and Residents of the Kewaskum School District:

FOOD FOR THOUGHT!

Today's generation of children is the first to be raised in a society where divorce is commonplace, where couples live together outside of marriage, and where singleparent families are growing faster than two-parent families. Our children are under a lot more stress than most of us were when we grew up. Are we pushing our children too hard by putting 6th graders in the middle school? The comment was made about the medical technology and the proper nutrition available today having an effect on our children. They mature physically sooner than we did at that age and because of the TV and video influence they supposedly are socially mature sooner. What about emotionally?

I strongly believe that society today is pushing kids too hard and expects them to grow up too fast. I'm asking you as parents to each review your own children, Are we expecting too much out of our children? Are we allowing them to grow emotionally at their own pace?

There is a lot of peer pressure put on kids today, to grow up faster than they are ready to, in a lot of areas. There is concern about nationwide pregnancy and the misuse of drugs. I believe that the longer parents are allowed to have their children in small neighborhood schools, the longer the family's values and morals can be reinforced and built on. The Beechwood School has a strong "family" atmosphere.

Here is an excerpt from a study called the "Report of Rural Education Advisory Committee'' published in September 1983.

Rural people, regardless of how one defines "rural," have a fierce pride in their schools; in fact, they believe that rural schools may hold some of the answers to our nation's social problems. The Honorable Albert Quie, Governor of Minnesota, addresses the issue of rural education: 'Despite improvements in education and advances in society, achievement scores are falling and society has more unsolved problems...The assets of rural education—full parent involvement, especially in the elementary grades, community support (the kind where everybody turns out for a school dedication); and their emphasis upon hard work, generosity, discipline and cooperativeness-are strengths other schools should emulate... The future of the nation depends on the ability of our leadership to produce answers and solutions that avoid fads, that have the quality to make the world a safer place. We need to identify the educational experiences that encourage such leadership. I'm convinced that rural schools, where smallness forces us to take an interest in each other, know about some of the ingredients we need.'

If you agree with these concepts, PLEASE attend the May 12th school board meeting at 7:00 p.m. in the High School commons. On the agenda for that meeting is a motion to reconsider the previous motion to send 6th graders to the and progressive education. Middle School and the closing of the Beechwood school. Now is the time for the parents and taxpayers from throughout the Kewaskum School District to stand up and voice our concerns. No one can deny us this because we are given this right by the Constitutions of the United States of America.

Do we want to risk the future of our children? I don't know.

> Sue Buechel concerned parent.

To All Kewaskum School District Residents:

Week after week we read letters in this column crying for lower taxes. A phrase should be added — as long as they don't affect me. The Administration recommends closing Beechwood and moving our 6th graders up to the Middle School as a way to cut costs and the Board approves. Only one of these actions affects me personally, but I applaud them both.

The closing of Beechwood was not a hasty decision by our Board. Two different Superintendents, plus a study made by a representative of the DPI, have recommended this action. I don't think that sounds hasty. Contrary to statements in several letters, our schools will not be filled to capacity. According to Principal Tom Larsen, the numbers at Farmington will be nearly 100 less than those in the mid 1970's even with all the Beechwood students. As for the influx of families from Milwaukee, the bypass may generate some growth, but nothing near the numbers of ten years ago. And far from being a reality, integration in Milwaukee suburbs may not come to pass because the Milwaukee School Board is considering dropping its suit.

Moving the 6th graders up to the Middle School is long overdue. We are one of only a few districts who haven't effected this action. When I came home from the Board meeting and told my 5th grader, he cheered. Talking to several of the 5th and 6th grade teachers since, I find my son's reaction was not unique. Middle school teachers also favor this move. They feel the sixth graders will blend in nicely in the next few years. Their one area of concern is the building of walls. They feel that if walls are going up for 6th grade room, why not for the rest of the school as well. Mr. Reha informs me that if the rest of the walls were constructed at the same time as the 6th grade walls that the saving would be significant - perhaps as much as 100 dollars or more per wall. I hope the Board approves this saving.

Now instead of wasting time, energy, and money on suits or recalls, I would hope the residents of this district who approve these long overdue steps into the twentieth century will let the rest of the district and the Board members know. There is hope that this district can keep our students competitive in the world if we stop taking two steps back for every step forward.

Signed a Mother and taxpayer concerned about quality

Margaret McFadden

To the Editor:

Congratulations are in order! Sunday, May 4, my husband and I had the privilege of attending the First Academic Awards Ceremony at Kewaskum High School.

Rewarding academic excellence was the purpose, and one had to feel a sense of pride watching the seniors accept local scholarships as well as Presidential Academic Fitness Awards.

For years we have supported excellence in athletics and rightfully so; Sunday, the first academic letters were awarded based on a stringent academic gradepoint average.

It was heartwarming to see the generosity of our community leaders who have provided the scholarship money and also to see such a fine turnout of interested parents and citizens.

The following people should be commended for organizing this outstanding program: Larry Ammel, Sharon Blank, Penny Kleinhans, Mary Ann Peterson, David Wietor, and LeRoy Kopecky, Chairman.

> Sincerely, Janet L. Hubbell

Kewaskum

May 6, 1986 Dear Kewaskum,

In case you weren't there, these star-studded attractions were playing at KHS last week:

- The County Outdoor Track Meet - our team looked good and the new equipment purchased by the district and the Booster Club looked good.

- The chamber concert at Peace Church - the high school musicians performed the selections they later presented at State Solo and Ensemble competition.

- The German Club's May Fest - delicious food, folk entertainment and slide show of their trip to Germany.

The high school's first scholastic honors Ceremony students recognized for academic achievement.

Fortunately, we'll probably be invited to these events next year - see you there?

M. A. Peterson

To the Kewaskum Statesman:

One just never knows what will be in the next issue of the Kewaskum Statesman. I certainly am glad that you make such an outstanding attempt to print items of interest to all members of the community. It was such a refreshing change from all of the recent letters to the editor on the Kewaskum educational system, as those letters have certainly gotten repetitious, and always say very little, but then again they are always written by the same few people.

Now the front page article dealing with the salaries of the administrators certainly made interesting reading, as did your second page listing every educator who works for the *

Kewaskum school district.

Am sure by now everyone has had the chance to scan the column, and look for those who got the biggest increase, and individually decide whether that person was worthy of that raise.

I'd like to add a few comments pertaining to the article, and that type of journalism. I realize that this type of information is public, but I would hate to think that you are discriminating against other public employees, whose salary is also public information. But, then again just giving the salary of public employees creates such an incomplete picture, that maybe you should ask other professionals in the community to share their yearly salary with you for publication. I am sure there would be many who would be very willing to give you this information. Now. if you are really going to give an accurate overview of the population, why not survey all of the residents of the district, and ask them to list their salary, so that you can publish it, just like you published the salaries of the educators of our district. I would hate to think that you are favoring just one group of people.

Don't forget the staff of the Moraine Park Technical Institute, as we also contribute to their salary. In closing that published list of salaries was by far the poorest piece of journalism that the Kewaskum Statesman has published.

> Joyce Schulteis Resident of the Kewaskum School District

EDITOR'S NOTE - The public pays these salaries and therefore is entitled to know what and who they are paying. This news item was released to us by the school. We publish the salaries of the village employees whose salaries come out of our tax dollars. It is only right and FAIR that the public knows where their school tax dollar is spent. Our tax dollar is not spent on ''professional'' salaries. We get to choose which "professional" we pay

I recently sent a copy of the letter, I told H & SS Secretary Linda Reivitz that I did not think state budget cuts had been deep enough to justify risking the

I have attached the response of Secretary Reivitz, which I hope you will reprint. Needless to say, I am disappointed in her response, and will continue to work for a reversal of this decision.

Sincerely,

Gervase A. Hephner State Representative 3rd Assembly District

Dear Representative Hephner:

This is in response to your letter concerning proposed security staff reductions at the Kettle Moraine Correctional In-

As you are aware, the Division of Corrections is operating under some severe budgetary constraints, which have made it necessary for the institution to cut several program positions. However, due to the over-population at the institution, inside security positions and further program positions cannot be deleted.

Over the last few years several million dollars have been invested in the perimeter security of the institution, including three additional towers, a double fence with razor ribbon, and a sophisticated alarm system.

With these investments, I feel that perimeter security will not be jeopardized if a temporary security patrol and one position to staff a tower on the third shift are eliminated. It should be noted that all inmates are confined during the third shift hours and it is a period of little activity.

I am confident that the new security equipment coupled with continued vigilance by staff will compensate for the minor reductions which may be made.

> Sincerely, Linda Reivitz Secretary

Dr. Edwards Wins Again in Yarns of Yesteryear Contest

Dr. R. G. Edwards of Kewaskum won second prize in the Winners Circle competition of the 1986 Yarns of Yesteryear Contest. His entry, "One Pony Ride With God at the Helm, tells of a harrowing ride on his pony, with his brother hanging onto its tail as they wallowed through a blizzard on the way home from school.

Dr. Edwards' entry was placed in the Winners Circle, a higher grouping because he had also won last year in the contest.

The winners received their awards at the spring conference of the Wisconsin Regional Writers Association (WRWA) held at Wausau May 3. Dr. and Mrs. Edwards drove to Wausau to receive his award.

The contest, sponsored annually by the University of Wisconsin Department of Continuing Education in the Arts, WRWA and Stanton and Lee Publishers, invites senior citizens to submit their reminiscences. Some entries were submitted from 219 communities in the state. with 61 prizes awarded. Contestants included 67 octogenarians and 14 who reported their age in the nineties. The prize for the oldest contestant went to Maude Becker of Fish Creek who is 100 years old.

The second prize winning story submitted by Dr. Edwards follows:

ONE PONY RIDE WITH GOD AT THE HELM

My father was a missionary minister for the congregational church body, and he was transferred to a new pastorate every three or four years. It was their custom with my father at least, to move their better ministers frequently so that a new spiritual MAN OF GOD, could try to improve the sphere of religion in each community, thereby winning a few more souls for the LORD. Of course the added contributions were most welcome too. Our home was always devoted to religious principles and dedicated to follow the teachings of the

My brother Roger, age thirteen, and I, age ten, attended a one room school house located two and one-half miles distant; one mile North and one and one-half miles West. In South Dakota all roads and fences run on straight lines, as there are no hills, lakes or rivers to require a curve in the road. We boys drove a spirited western pony to pull our buggy. or a sleigh, after the snow came. On this particular day in December, Roger and I were ready for school at 7:30 a.m., our pony, Teddy, was also raring to go. He was such a well behaved pony, always as peppy as a three-year-old at the age of fifteen. Our old peanut butter and jelly sandwiches were placed in a cloth sock, occasionally an apple or a banana but never an orange. Dad said they were too costly.

Off we went gliding noiselessly over the well packed six-inch snowfall. Overhead we observed the sky to be sullenly overcast, with dark, foreboding clouds swirling errotically to and fro. The temperature was thirty degrees Fahrenheit, just right to produce snow.

At the school's shed I placed plenty hay and oats in the manger, so Teddy could have his fill while resting a few hours. Roger carried a pail of water to the manger.

The morning hours passed swiftly, and it began to snow during our lunch hour. Large goose feathery flakes at first, but soon the wind changed to northwest, and the temperature plummeted to zero. We were in for a real blizzard, the kind that causes so many deaths because so much snow comes with such strong winds, and sub-zero cold, that one cannot see where he is actually one cannot visualize his own hand held five inches before his eyes - and becomes lost and freezes to death.

Our teacher wisely ordered all children to head for home immediately. All the children were walking except Roger and myself. Our home was the farthest from school. Quickly we hitched Teddy to the cutter, but already the snow was over two feet deep, and we could barely see the horse before us in the shafts. Roger said, "we must leave the cutter here, you ride Teddy and I will hold on to his tail!" Off went the harness and into the cutter. Upon his back I jumped with Roger groping his tail with both hands. Away Teddy walked as best as he could through the even deepening snow. No attempt was made to guide Teddy. He knew the Roger kept talking to let me know he was hanging on, and I could hear him well for the wind was at our backs. However, we had to close our eyes to prevent the stinging ice particles from injuring our eyes. Teddy stumbled several times, and I would have fallen off had I not been so accustomed to riding him over all kinds of terrain.

Once I heard my brother call out to stop! He had been pulled by the horse, like a sled or a log, over the drifts of snow, rolling and sliding, with eyes held tightly closed, but now, fearfully, he felt his grip to the horse's tail was slipping off. Had he slipped off for one step he could have been a lost soul, because one's sense of direction in a blizzard is never accurate. After a few minutes rest for man and beast, Roger rewrapped his hands with the long hair on Teddy's tail, before we moved on:

Walking, wading and even jumping over icy hard ridges of snow, Teddy blindly found his way to our barn door and stopped. Peeking out over Teddy's head I could visualize the door frame and called loudly to Roger that we were home. He then slided past the pony to open the door, to permit Teddy with me astride to move inside. Our trip had taken just over three hours, which we deemed to be very good time indeed, when one considered the difficulties due to the weather.

Roger got down extra rations of hay for our cow and Teddy, while I filled his feed box with oats and some for the cow too; water we dared not attempt to go outside to get, but there was much snow blown in on the hay to assuage their thirst. After one more check Roger said, "grab the life line and hang on until you have the knob in your hand."

I left first, while my brother closed the barn door snugly, then he, too, grabbed the small rope and waded to the house over snow drifts fully six feet deep. Opening the door we both tumbled onto the kitchen floor, our faces encrusted with frozen crystals of snow, and our clothes covered with the icy particles driven into the weave of the cloth, neither of us recognizable by our father who came hurridly from the only warm room in the house where the big base burner stood.

Our dad hugged us and spoke with emotion, "Thank you God for guiding the boys safely

DRY THROAT

The catch in your throat that causes a raspy voice and a hacking cough may be due to drinking sugar-sweetened liquids or eating syrupy foods. Sweets containing refined [White] sugar absorb moisture and create a dry throat. Your throat and body will be healthier if you substitute honey or molasses for refined sugar. The best way to satisfy 'sweet tooth' is to eat fruit.

May 5-11 Officially Proclaimed Recycling Week in Wisconsin.

Points to Achievements, Opportunities

May 5 - 11 is officially proclaimed Recycling Week in Wisconsin, and it's a good time to trumpet the small triumphs we're making every day says John Reindl, State Recycling Coordinator with the Department of Natural Resources.

On the home front, in communities, in business and in the Statehouse, Wisconsinites are making significant strides to preserve resources and promote new uses for wasted materials.

Reindl reports that despite the slow economy for many recycling markets more than 600 communities collect recyclable paper, steel, glass, waste oil, plastics and aluminum and more than 600 businesses are buying recyclables. That's a tremendous increase from a 1979 survey which found only 75 community recycling programs in Wisconsin.

And communities are not satisfied to merely operate "sort it and sell it/ buy it and bale it" programs. For instance, that City of Portage is proposing a high tech system which would compost organic wastes in a matter of days, Intra-State Recycling in Portage County combines the forces of 22 community organizations to collect recyclables with a home curb pick-up service and Columbia County is co-composting garbage and sewage sludge in Lodi.

Private entrepreneurs are equally inventive. Owens-Illinois Co. in Tomahawk has perfected a process to cleanly burn old tires to fuel its boilers. A plastics recycler in Luxemburg, WI manufactuers plastic boards and lumber by remelting old milk jugs. And at least 25 percent of Wisconsin's paper is made from recycled Governmental agencies are making strides, too. The Wisconsin Department of Transportation recycles a million and a half tons of pavement every year -- enough to pave 500 miles of highway!

Recent state recycling laws will require landfills open to the public burying less than 50,000 tons of wastes and municipalities of at least 10,000 people to set up recycling centers. By July 1, 1986 these centers must be open and operating.

Also, public and private waste managers are required by law to consider waste reduction, reuse, recycling, composting and resource recovery projects proposing landfills.

"Viewed collectively, the statewide commitment to recycling has made great strides," Reindl said, "but we have plenty of challenges ahead of us. The old adage in the scrap business is 'scrap isn't sold, it's bought.' We need to consider even more innovative approaches to build incentives for recycling markets and nurture people who want to start new recycling enterprises," he added. "We'll need foresight and determination to reach our goal of recovering half of Wisconsin's wasted resources by 1990," Reindl concluded. "That's a worthwhile resolve for Recycling Week,

Dr. James Casey, in partnership with a Mr. Christensen, both of Milwaukee, have purchased 34 acres of hilly land from William Becker in the Town of Kewaskum, located about a mile south of the village, where they will open a ski hill and construct a new chalet. Dr. Casey was in Kewaskum Monday evening to attend the Kiwanis Club meeting, at which he spoke, telling of his transaction and plans for the ski hill. Dr. Casey said a name for the hill had already been selected. It will be operated under the name of Wunderberg Hill. Work on the project will be started as soon as possible and it is hoped to be in operation by next December 1. The new owners will also erect a Wunderberg chalet under Aframe construction on the lower land surrounding the hill for furnishing rooms for the skiers and serving food and refreshments. The partners intend to lay out two main ski trails on the hill. There will be an intermediate slope as well as an easy one for beginners. Also there will be a smaller bunny slope about 30 or 40 feet high for the children. One or possibly two ski tows will be installed and a plant will be in operation to manufacture their own snow. The hill on the acreage purchased has been surveyed and found to be 201 feet in height. It will be the highest ski hill in this section of the country

Foundation work has been completed and backfilling done on a new deluxe type Texaco service station which is being constructed on the corner of Fond du Lac Avenue and Clinton Street in Kewaskum, just north of the Wigwam Drive-In. The station is being built by Tom Weidemann of West Bend to be leased to the Schaetzel Oil Co., which in turn will lease it to Ollie Staehler, Jr., who will move into the same which was purchased from class president. The roof, rafters and upstairs portion of a two-story frame shed were damaged by fire late Wednesday afternoon in a blaze at Wayne Center. The building, about 20 by 60 feet in size, owned by Mike Darmody, is located at the rear of the blacksmith shop in Wayne, just south of Petri's store. The Kohlsville fire department was first called to the scene to fight the blaze but when the flames threatened to spread to the large frame blacksmith shop and other nearby buildings, the Kewaskum fire department was also summoned. The firemen had the blaze under control in a short time and succeeded in saving the building, although most of the roof and interior of the upper story were destroyed.

A Kewaskum worker, Russell Rodenkirch, 25, who is an electrician's apprentice, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury last Thursday afternoon when the third floor roof of a $280,000 classroom addition at Carroll College at Waukesha collapsed. Rodenkirch and his wife, the former Darlene Backhaus, reside just north of the village. The third floor section of the structure fell right where Rodenkirch had been standing only a few seconds before the collapse.

Rain, snow, sleet and a wind storm marked the arrival of May Day in this vicinity, and when the people wandered out of doors they had visions of winter at its worst. # May 15 Is Final Planting Date for Insured Barley, Oats

May 15 is the final planting date for insured barley and oats in Washington County, according to Jerry Van Beek, a representative for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC).

Insured barley and oats planted by May 15 must be reported by June 15 in order to receive full crop insurance coverage. The acreage report reflects the actual acreage planted and reported by the farmer.

"During the growing season, if damage occurs, notice should be given promptly," Van Beek said.

A new crop insurance plan, called Actual Production History (APH), is available this year to producers of soybeans, wheat, barley, and oats in addition to corn, grain sorghum and other crops. "Increasingly, our insured producers are discovering that with a yield guarantee which reflects production capability, crop insurance establishes a farm income floor. Thus, cash flow and the ability to repay a loan may be more accurately projected," explained Van Beek.

Parents Complete Advocate Training

Four Washington County parents have completed train-

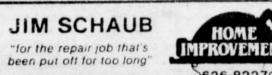

The training was conducted by the Parent Education Project, a federally funded organization assisting parents of handicapped children, in cooperation with Citizen Advocacy of Washington County. The advocates were trained in special education law and conflict resolution, and are available to help parents who have questions or problems with a handicapped child's education. "Handicapped" includes children who are mentally retarded, hearing physically impaired. handicapped, learning disabled, emtoionally disturbed, visually impaired, or speech/language handicapped.

State and federal laws protect handicapped children's educational rights and give their parents an important role in their education. However, many parents are not aware of their rights or are confused by the process established by school districts to comply with the laws, which were passed in the mid-70's. Even when the process is implemented correctly and school personnel are understanding, parents can benefit from the support of someone else who has had a similar experience. The advocacy program was established to help parents get the support.

The new and continuing Washington County advocates have all had experiences with schools with their children. They are Mary Christman, Slinger; Emmi Moore, West Bend; Lynn Apuli, Germantown; and Dorothy Seramur, West Bend.

Parents who would like the help of an advocate should call Sue Moser at the Citizen Advocacy Program, 334-3384. man who sat up all night trying For information about future training sessions or other activities, contact the Citizen Advocacy Office also.

State Fishing Season Now Open; Anglers Advised What to Look For

Impatient anglers finally are able to forget household chores and workday stresses, pack up their rods and reels and head out to enjoy Wisconsin's longawaited annual fishing season, which began Saturday, May 3, on many state inland waters.

Inland lakes

Walleye fishing is usually best in May and June. In northern Wisconsin, anglers will have better luck fishing in small, darkwater, shallow lakes rather than big, clear lakes. Darkwater lakes warm up more quickly in the spring, so fish are more active and likely to bite. Use jigs with small minnows for the best luck with walleyes, which have finished spawning now and will be on the prowl for food. Anglers are reminded that the musky season north of Highway 10 doesn't open until May 24.

In southern lakes, anglers should pay attention to the weather before making their fishing plans. A series of warm, calm days prompt largemouth and smallmouth bass to move into warmer, shallower water. where they're more accessible to anglers. Cool, windy days put . fish down.

Other panfish, such as bluegills and crappies, will start to actively bite soon on southern lakes. Anglers shouldn't forget that bluegills often surface feed in late spring and early summer, so poppers and even dry flies can provide a lot of fishing action.

White bass are running well in the Wolf and Fox Rivers, and limits have been common this week. In the Wisconsin River, white bass are biting below the dams, along with walleyes and catfish.

Carp spearers should find what they're looking for now that carp are spawning in big river sloughs. Carp spearing regulations vary by county, so people should check their spearing regulations pamphlet for specific requirements.

Inland trout streams

Many Wisconsin trout streams are as productive as ever, but fewer big trout are being seen. Tighter bag and · size limits in southern Wisconsin should produce bigger fish over the next several years as long as anglers take care to comply with the new regulations and to carefully release. undersized trout. The daily limit in many southern streams is now three trout, and the minimum size is nine inches.

Morning and evening are the best times to catch trout. In the spring, anglers will have the best luck using streamers, bait, nymphs and imitation wet flies. Dry fly fishing picks up in late spring and early summer as the weather warms and insect hatches occur more frequently. Bait fishing usually works best in highwater, turbid streams.

Lake Michigan Brown trout are being caught off much of the Lake Michigan shoreline, along with coho salmon

The smelt run is over in southern Lake Michigan, but recently moved north to Kewaunee and is peaking in
