1986-87 School Levy Passes by Slim Margin

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

While the Kewaskum School District's proposed 1986-87 levy was down by almost 2%, from last year, it just barely managed to garner enough votes for approval at the Annual Meeting, being passed by the slim margin of 49 to 44.

With a gross levy of $4,119,950, which includes $4,052,950 for the General Fund and $67,000 for the Debt Service Fund, less an estimated tax credit of $506,531, the district's net levy will be $3,613,419.

Based on the next levy figure, the anticipated mill rate will be $13.02 per $1,000 of equalized valuation, down 25c per $1,000 from the 1985-86 rate of $13.27.

While the levy dropped below last year's figure, the 1986-87 budget increased by 5.44%, from $6,355,336 in 1985-86, to $6,700,927 for 1986-87. Some of the major factors contributing to that increase were rises in insurance costs, building repairs, and personnel costs.

School Board member Kim Peterson commended the administration on its preparation and thoroughness in presenting the budget and annual meeting report.

It may have been the 61-page report distributed to the electors, or the business manager's presentation that gave a completely different complexion to the proceedings in comparison to last year, but whatever it was, the meeting ran smoothly and quickly. As the meeting progressed, the pages of figures and graphs were clearly explained with little or no confusion.

Business Manager Cherna Gorder took the audience through every phase of the budget, explaining object by object, line by line, giving the reasons for increases or decreases in each category. Gorder concluded her pre-

School Support Staff Votes to Unionize

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

On a 41 to 8 vote, with two abstaining, support staff of the Kewaskum School District voted overwhelmingly last week to establish its own union.

The Kewaskum Education Support Staff Union membership will be made up of regular full and part-time teacher aides, secretaries, cooks and custodians. The only individuals not eligible to join the union hold executive secretary and supervisory positions, said District Administrator Penny Kleinhans. The district will negotiate salaries on an individual basis for these jobs.

The next steps will be the filing of papers and election of officers. Once that has been done, union representatives will be able to ask for formal wage talks with the school district's Negotiations Committee.

The union is a result of increased dissatisfaction with wage increases received in the past which were negotiated on an informal basis. Many of the support personnel felt the offers were made on a take it or leave it basis.

The item which apparently brought things to a head recently was the closing of Beechwood Elementary School. There was some controversy over the method used to lay some individuals off, by loss of a particular position rather than by seniority.

Former board member Neal Weare, who chaired the Policy Committee last year, had worked with a group of support staff employees in an effort to set up some form of seniority system. At that time Weare admitted the situation was not easy, noting that differences in duties and hours worked made it a very complex problem. The union will now be able to work with the school board to set up a seniority system and provide more job security for the support staff.

The new union will become a part of the Wisconsin Education Association Council.

Primary Election Draws Light Turnout

Turnout for Wisconsin's state primary election was projected to be approximately 20% of the eligible voters, and a rough calculation of ballots cast in the Kewaskum area bears out that forecast.

There were 163 votes cast in the Town of Auburn, with a breakdown of the major vote getters as follows: For the Democratic candidates, Governor Anthony Earl 28, Lt. Governor Gervase Hephner 30, Secretary of State D. LaFollette 30, Attorney General B. LaFollette 30, Treasurer C. Smith 30, U.S. Senator M. Flynn 23. Successful candidates for the Republican Party were: Governor Tommy Thompson 50, Lt. Governor Scott McCallum 79, Secretary of State Clifford Krueger 56, Treasurer William Lorge 77, Attorney General

Donald Hanaway 76.

In the Town of Kewaskum 126 votes were cast. For the Democrats, Earl 32, Hephner 23, D. LaFollette 35, Smith 33, B. LaFollette 31, Flynn 26. In the Republican race, Governor Thompson 34, Lt. Governor McCallum 61, Secretary of State Krueger 44, Treasurer Lorge 51, Attorney General Hanaway 55, Coroner Robert Boltz 55.

The Town of Farmington cast 215 ballots. Democrats, Governor Earl 42, Lt. Governor Metz 20, Secretary of State D. LaFollette 38, Treasurer Smith 38, Attorney General B. LaFollette 40, U.S. Senate Flynn 36, 9th District Representative A. Lindskoog 8. Republican votes, Thompson 67, McCallum 121, Krueger 91, Lorge 111, Hanaway 103, Coroner Boltz 76.

In the Village of Kewaskum, 226 votes were cast. Democratic, Earl 56, Hephner 31, D. LaFollette 57, Smith 56, B. LaFollette 53, U.S. Senate Flynn 40. Republican votes, Thompson 75, McCallum 115, Krueger 87, Lorge 96, Hanaway 107, Coroner Meyer 79.

Northern Leg of New U.S. Hwy. 45 Bypass Will Open Sept. 17

The northern leg of the new two-lane U.S. Highway 45 Bypass will be opened and dedicated next Wednesday, Sept. 17. The opening is a month ahead of schedule.

The grand opening ceremonies will begin at 11 a.m. for the 5.2 mile stretch of two-lane bypass. The northern leg cuts through the western side of West Bend and extends north to within several miles of Kewaskum. Paving work on the northern section of the bypass began last April.

The southern eight miles of the bypass opened last November. It has since become a controversy because of five accident fatalities that have occurred on it this year. Local proponents are seeking the bypass be expanded to four lanes and the state's Transportation Projects Commission was to decide whether or not to

Bel-Ric Busing Position Upheld

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum School Board, Monday night, reaffirmed its 1985 decision that the Bel-Ric subdivision area is no longer considered hazardous and children living in that area will not be bussed to school.

The action came after the board discussed letters it had received from two Bel-Ric residents asking that the board review the need for busing from the subdivision.

Even though the area had been declared non-hazardous after the installation of sidewalks last year, the district continued to bus elementary students to school. Earlier this year the board voted that, effective with the start of the 1986-87 school year, the district would discontinue all busing from that area.

Two Bel-Ric residents in the audience felt conditions had not improved enough to discontinue the busing. One gentleman indicated he had done an informal count of cars in the area. He said that in a half-hour, non-rush hour period, he counted 200 cars on Highway 45, and 100 on Highway H. District Administrator Penny Kleinhans noted, if the Bel-Ric youngsters had to contend with those cars it was safe to assume children crossing Main Street had to cope with them also.

Kleinhans told the meeting she had gone up to the area three times last week to observe the situation and new crossing guard and found no problems.

The board approved a motion to maintain its decision that the area is non-hazardous and no busing would be provided. Board President Tom Brigham said a letter would be sent to the two residents advising them of the board's action on their request.

In other action, the board discussed the hiring of a company to do an appraisal on the Beechwood Elementary School and property. Board member Clara Trapp asked the other members if they weren't putting the cart before the horse in getting an appraisal that would cost between $400 and $800, before the people even voted to sell it. Irene Gnacinski, Beechwood, also told the board she thought it was jumping the gun. "Before you spend $800 on an appraisal," said Gnacinski, "I think you should do a title search to determine if there are any liens or conditions tied to the property. What if you spend the money and then find out you can't sell the property?"

Perry Ankerson, Chairman of the Beechwood Disposition Committee indicated these were some of the questions which had come up during his group's last meeting. We have to start some place, noted Ankerson. We are not recommending the building be sold but we do need some facts so we can make some determinations as to the value of the property, either for resale or as an income producing rental property.

Ankerson said the committee needed some basis from which it could work to make recommendations to the board. He stressed several times that in any case, he felt the appraisal should be done by an outside source. No matter what, some people out there are going to accuse us of setting the figures and this could turn into a real fiasco. That's why I feel this should be done by an independent firm, he noted.

The board moved to direct Kleinhans to hire a company to do a title search and then if everything is in order, proceed with the hiring of an appraisal firm.

The board also heard the recommendation of Finance Committee Chairman Ron Theusch that it approve the purchase of an in-house computer system for the administrative offices. The proposed system would eliminate the administration's need to rent services from CESA-1 at a cost of $12,000 per year.

After discussing the recommendation, however, some board members indicated they did not feel they could vote on the issue because of several unanswered questions concerning the high school's continued need for CESA services. One of those board members was Kim Peterson, who serves on the Finance Committee. There are some points which weren't brought up at the committee meeting and I think they should be looked into before we make any decision, said Peterson.

Brigham asked Business Manager Cherna Gorder if time was a critical factor in making a decision. She indicated the district was required to give CESA 90 days notice of cancellation. She also stated that if the district is to switch over to the in-house system, it would have to be done soon because payroll would be the first item which would be initiated as of January 1st, and that would affect the issuance of W-2 forms, etc.

Brigham asked the board members to get their questions to the administrators as soon as possible so the computer system could be discussed again at the special meeting scheduled for September 29th.

Building and Grounds Superintendent Fred Boehlke informed the board that the middle school air conditioner had broken down and repair costs were estimated at approximately $12,000. He said the major problem was the compressor unit which cannot be repaired because it is no longer manufactured and there are no replacement parts available. The board authorized Boehlke to obtain two more bids and report back to them. Kleinhans was asked if money for the repairs could be taken out of the trust fund account. She said a transfer of funds was possible and there was still money available.

In other business, the board approved a half-time position contract for a social worker, and it heard a report from High School Principal LeRoy Kopecky on the district's "Children At Risk" plan.

The board approved a contract for repairing the high school track at a cost of $6,000, and asphalt repairs at the elementary, middle and high schools at a cost of $4,250.

The board accepted the resignation of teacher Georgia Howard, and the application of Mr. Soerens to serve as KHS student council advisor.

sensation with an explanation of how the final levy was arrived at and what the mill rate was expected to be.

In the past both board members and electors had expressed confusion in trying to understand the budget report. After the budget presentation it was apparent the administration had done its homework well since there were few comments or complaints from the electors. Board member Clara Trapp noted she had checked with the district's auditors and had been assured that the figures presented at this meeting would coincide with next year's figures.

Trapp also asked for clarification on a point regarding money received in grants. She questioned whether all the grants were received on a matching funds basis. Director of Instruction Julie Backus, who writes up the applications, said the most, not all, were matching funds to some degree. However, the amounts varied from 35% to 70%. Backus also stressed that many of the grants covered new state-mandated programs. She noted that, if the district had not received these grants, it would have had to come up with all the money for these programs rather than just a portion of them.

Ralph Buchel, of Beechwood, asked whether there had been a reduction in staff for next year. Gorder stated the number of teaching positions had decreased from 118 in 1985-86, to 113 for 1986-87.

Before voting on the levy, Leonard Peter, Town of Wayne, asked to make a comment. "I heard on the radio this morning that the voters of the school district should consider themselves lucky. After last year, I think it was very easy compared to our neighbors small increases and our big one."

Along with the levy approval, six resolutions were also passed. They included keeping the school board's salaries at $800, authorization to sell unused and obsolete furnishings and equipment, furnishing text books and student transportation. The School Board was also given the authorization to set the date for next year's annual meeting. Resolutions concerning the last year's minutes and acceptance of the treasurer's report were dropped as unnecessary, on the recommendation of the district's legal counsel, Michael Spector.

In her address to the electors, District Administrator Penny Kleinhans asked them to go through the annual meeting booklet at home in their free time, noting there was much more information in it than just budget figures. She invited the people to contact her office if they had any questions.

include expanding the bypass on its 1992 funding list.

Following the ribbon cutting ceremony at 11:15 a.m., a motorcade starting on the County D overpass bridge will mark the opening of the northern section of the bypass. The general public is invited. The ceremonies will be similar to those held in November for the opening of the southern section. A lengthy parade of vehicles will travel the length of the completed road.

West Bend Mayor Donald Gonring, State Senator Scott McCallum of Fond du Lac and Representative Mary Panzer of West Bend and Donald Stitt of Port Washington are expected to attend and speak and an invitation for Gov. Tony Earl has also been extended.

The public is asked to follow the Friendly Drive frontage road onto the bypass and line up on the bridge facing south. Leading the motorcade south to the Paradise Drive exit will be a county highway department truck, law enforcement vehicles, a limousine for government officials and a VIP/Press bus will be ready for boarding from the West Bend Elevator lot (corner of Hwy. D, Hwy. 45, and Friendly Road) at 10:45 a.m. The bus will travel from the lot to the dedication site and across Hwy. 45 to the Paradise Drive exit. It will then re-enter the highway traveling north and return to the parking lot. West Bend Elevator will provide coffee and donuts before and after the ceremony.

Cost of the 13.2-mile project which started in 1984 is just over $22 million. The northern section cost $10.7 million.

Local Dietitian Grads' Training Helped by Field Experience

Fourteen graduates of the Coordinated Undergraduate Program (CUP) in general dietetics and food service administration took part in August commencement at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. The program is sponsored by the Department of Food Science and Nutritional Sciences in the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences. The fourteen students each spent 40 hours per week this summer completing field experience at one of ten southern Wisconsin institutions. Included was Madison General Hospital, Madison, where Debra Prunty of Kewaskum worked in General Dietetics.

Alternative to Reconstruction of Woolen Mills Dam Presented to West Bend Officials

Early findings of inventory data collected as part of the Milwaukee River Watersheds Program confirms the profound impacts that dams impose upon the river. Gary Nelson, Milwaukee River Program Coordinator, highlighted a current effort being conducted to assess this impact and develop a strategy for restoring a portion of the river to a natural free flowing stream. A planned alternative to reconstruction of the Woolen Mills dam, at West Bend, will be proposed and presented to city officials. The city will consider this option with other plans and decide which to implement in the future.

As a part of this effort, the Woolen Mills impoundment will be drawn down for the next week or two. A field survey will be conducted by Department of Natural Resources and city staff. This field effort will provide site specific information to characterize existing conditions and allow project plan proposals to be developed. Information regarding water quality, sediments, fishery, channel configuration, ownership patterns and other considerations will be collected. This effort will allow project planners to prepare more detailed plans and cost estimates for a dam removal and rehabilitation alternative. Once a plan alternative is prepared a public meeting will be held to explain project elements. The plan will then be finalized and presented to the City of West Bend for consideration. The ultimate selection of a management plan for implementation will be made by the city this fall.

it helps everyone

The Kewaskum United Way Board met Tuesday evening to finalize plans for this fall's campaign which marks the 100th year of United Way helping others in the home community.

The centennial campaign received a big boost before it officially starts on September 23 when the Kewaskum teachers, administrators and support staff pledged $3,728 toward the $30,000 goal. With that good news, all board members and workers are anticipating solid support from the Kewaskum community and surrounding areas.

In order to familiarize the public with the agencies the Kewaskum United Way supports, a brief resume' of two of these organizations will appear each week in the Statesman.

In alphabetical order, American Field Service heads the list and has been active in the Kewaskum area since the early 1960's. Each year families in the Kewaskum School District host one or two students from various countries around the world.

The students this year are Hlin Magnsdottir of Iceland living with the Arnold Stommel family and Petra Mayerhoffer of Austria and living with the Tom Radmann family.

AFS students are family members of their American families and in this way both the students and host families as well as the whole community are enriched by their exposure to a different culture.

The students and their families are matched by the national AFS in order to achieve a compatible situation for the foreign student who attends the local high school. AFS provides a monthly allowance of $20 to the student.

Kewaskum AFS is a member of the Lakes Moraine area chapter which plans a monthly activity for the AFS students and their families. There are three authorized week-end exchanges with AFS students from other communities as well as a week's visit to Milwaukee.

At the end of the school year, the students spend two weeks in transition, stopping a few days at several places enroute to their departure point to their home country.

Another part of the program offered by AFS is Americans Aboard where American students live with host families in foreign countries for either three months or the school year. In previous years, Kewaskum students have lived in Australia, Austria and South America.

The second agency funded partially by the Kewaskum United Way is the American Red Cross. The local chapter is active in teaching First Aid and CPR classes as well as swimming lessons at the Kewaskum Kiwanis Community Park pool in the summer.

Anyone with a service-related problem or needing medical treatment through the Veteran's Administration can contact the Red Cross for assistance.

In case of a disaster such as a fire, the Red Cross purchases a new set of clothing for the needy persons, provides some financial assistance if necessary and directs the distribution of donated items for the victims.

The Red Cross car is available for transportation for medical treatment, including cancer treatment, outside of Washington County to Milwaukee and Madison.

St. Martin's at Fillmore to Celebrate 125th Anniversary

On Sunday, September 21st, 1986, St. Martin's United Church of Christ of Fillmore, Wisconsin, cordially invites the public to join with them in their festive 125th anniversary celebration. Activities for the day begin with a Polka Service of Worship and Communion at 10:00 a.m. For it, the Bill Thull Orchestra and Choir will provide musical leadership. In the afternoon, a community-wide dance at the Fillmore Turner's Hall with music by the Bill Thull Orchestra will be held from 2-6 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door for $2 each.

In the celebration polka service clergy as well as members of the congregation will be participating. Former pastors will both read the Word of God as found in the Scriptures and officiate in the service of Holy Communion. Clergy participating will be the Rev. John Klindt, former pastor from 1976-1981; the Rev. Ralph Maschmeier, former pastor from 1970-72, and the Rev. Herbert Stemler, former pastor from 1963-67. Moreover, the Rev. Robert Horst, Southeast Wisconsin Association Minister, on this day of the 125th anniversary of its founding will deliver the charge to the congregation. Its present pastor, the Rev. David P. Jerger, will deliver the anniversary sermon: "125 YEARS OLD AND GROWING."

Members from the congregation participating in the service will be: Roger Degnitz, council president, who will offer words of welcome and a call to worship; Veronica Weinreich, a member of Women's Guild, who will lead in opening prayer; Dan Ebert, a former council president, who will lead the Anniversary Litany that has been composed from contributions from members of the congregation; and Lisa Neumann, a youth member, who will lead the congregation in the United Church of Christ Statement of Faith.

A special reservation only dinner program is planned for the noon meal. In that program, the Rev. Thomas Degnitz, son of Willard and Florence Degnitz of Boltonville, pastor of Church of Our Savior, Germantown; the Rev. William Kesting, a former pastor of the Five Star Parish and present pastor of the United Church of Christ congregations at Beechwood, Boltonville, and Silver Creek, as well as Bill Davis, a member of the anniversary committee will participate.

Preparations for this day have involved many members of St. Martin's. One anniversary banner was prepared by members of a Sunday School class; a special anniversary banner designed by Kathryn Kuehl, was made by members of Women's Guild with wooden finials made by Willard Degnitz. While member Bill Davis designed the cover for the special anniversary bulletin, Marion Boettcher and Jody Schmidt designed the anniversary sign on the church lawn. St. Martin's Women's Guild provided special flowers for the sanctuary and worship bulletins. As Earl Crass collected memorabilia for display, Nancy Degnitz attempted to copy all the photographs of the confirmation classes since 1900, putting them in a photo album. Such a celebration would not have been possible without the hard work and contributions of many people but most especially the Anniversary Committee of Earl Crass, Chairman, Bill Davis, Nancy Degnitz, Rosalyn Degnitz, Harley Pufahl and Veronica Weinreich.

Archdiocese to Present TV Program On 'Synod, 1987'

The 30 minute television program, "Synod, 1987: Shaping Our Future," which will be aired in prime time Sunday, Sept. 14 at 9:30 p.m. on WCGV-TV24, was produced and directed by Rev. Michael Doyle of Golden Dome Productions at Notre Dame University.

The program features Archbishop Rembert G. Weakland and people from parishes throughout the diocese who express their thoughts and hopes for the future of the Church in southeastern Wisconsin.

"Synod, 1987: Shaping Our Future" is an introduction to the Archdiocesan Synod (the first synod to be held in the Archdiocese since 1891).

The Synod is a process of meetings where people (laity, religious and clergy) will look at their experiences, the needs and resources of the diocese and Church teaching. The result of this consultative process will culminate in a major meeting at Mecca in fall, 1987 where final discussion and recommendations will be submitted to the Archbishop for his review and consideration.

CHILDREN & CALCIUM

In a 3-year study of over 1100 public schools, the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture discovered that a large ratio of the students do not obtain the Recommended Dietary Allowance (RDA) of calcium. Also, 30% of students get less than 1/2 of the RDA for calcium. Long-term calcium deficiency may lead to chronic bone-crippling disease later in life.

All automobile financing plans are not the same. In fact, most dealer financing plans are limited to certain models, interest rates increase as financing amounts or terms increase, factory rebates are not permitted, delivery must be taken by a certain date and offers are short lived to encourage immediate action without giving buyers an opportunity to shop for a better deal. What should you do to save the most money on your new car purchase?

HERE IS SOME ADVICE:

First, make your best new car or truck deal. Second, take advantage of rebates and apply them to your down-payment whenever possible. Then, see us before you sign any finance deal. Most often you are better off taking the rebate and financing with West Bend Savings, than bypassing the rebate and financing with them.

Super Day Brings Super Turnout for Early Farm Days

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Historical Society was very happy with its annual Early Farm Days open house Sunday. The sunny autumn-like weather for the event drew one of the largest crowds ever in its twelve-year history.

Along with the usual displays of early farm machinery and steam and gas powered engines, visitors watched continuous demonstrations of 19th century broom making, corn shelling and log cutting.

Members of the Second Cavalry Re-enactment Group put on a show of military maneuvers.

Visitors also toured the authentic log-house museum. The structure, a home from an area family farm, was disassembled and brought to River Hill Park where it was reassembled to house the society's many antiques and memorabilia.

Money raised from the sale of the society's Fall Harvest Stew, with homemade whole wheat bread, roast beef and barbecue beef sandwiches, hot dogs, homemade pies, pie ala mode, old fashioned ice cream cones made with hard ice cream, root beer floats, refreshments and souvenir buttons is used for the operation, maintenance and acquisition of additional displays for the museum.

People signing in the registration book were from Kewaskum, Campbellsport, West Bend and vicinity, besides Milwaukee, Wauwatosa, Madison, etc. and even far away places as Tennessee, Italy and Ireland.

Spectators watched Elroy Klug of West Bend produce a fine corn broom on hand and foot powered equipment dating back to the 1880's. As Klug worked he explained the history and art of making the brooms.

People watched a gasoline operated saw, owned by Ron Markus of Kewaskum, cut into a large log.

Dozens of people enjoyed a hay ride behind the team of Bud Schmidt, rural Kewaskum.

Children and horses always seem to go together. Youngsters visiting Early Farm Days stopped to pet and talk to horses belonging to members of the 2nd U.S. Cavalry Reenactment Group. Some lucky kids were treated to short rides along the river.

EASTER SEALS KICKS OFF PACKER SACKER BACKER FUNDRAISER

The Easter Seal Society of Wisconsin is kicking off its Packer Sacker Backer fundraiser this week. The fundraiser provides an opportunity for individuals and organizations to pledge their financial support to Easter Seals everytime the Packer defense sacks an opposing quarterback during regular season play. Dick Modezelewski, defensive coordinator and Ezra Johnson, the leading sacker during the 1985-86 season, are co-chairing the event.

Pledge money will help send children to camp, provide orthopedic equipment, and advance disability awareness programs. Last year Easter Seals provided direct service to over 5000 children, teens, and adults in Wisconsin with physical disabilities.

There is a sixty sack maximum for all participants and entry forms are available wherever Coco-Cola products are sold or may be obtained by writing: Packer Sacker Backers for Easter Seals, P. O. Box 1872, Appleton, WI 54913.

The custom of "knocking on wood" began because people hoped the noise would prevent evil spirits from hearing about their good luck and taking it away from them.

TODAY'S AGRICULTURE

By Jack Trzebiatowski, Washington County Agricultural Agent

Townships of Farmington and Wayne Evaluate Farmland Preservation Program

Wisconsin adopted a Farmland Preservation program in 1977. The purpose of the program was to help local governments that want to preserve farmland, and to provide tax relief to farmers who participate. The program operates under different rules for farmers in rural counties than in urban counties. Washington County is classified as an urban county because of its population density. In order for farmers to receive tax credit in urban counties, units of government need to complete the necessary planning and zoning.

Washington County took the first step with the adoption of a Farmland Preservation plan in 1981. Since that time many of the townships have adopted exclusive agricultural zoning, thus making farmers that own land in the exclusive agricultural zones eligible to file for the tax credit. Farmers in many of those areas have applied for Farmland Preservation tax credit.

The townships of Farmington and Wayne are currently evaluating the Farmland Preservation program and making decisions about implementing exclusive agricultural zoning. Owners of land zoned for exclusive agriculture are eligible for tax credits or refunds against their state income tax. The income tax credit is based on household income, and the amount of property taxes paid. Basically the higher the property tax the higher the tax credit, and the lower the income the higher the tax credit. The minimum amount of tax credit available is equal to 10 percent of the property taxes paid. The average farmer participating in the program last year received about $1,500 worth of tax credit.

Other requirements for the tax credit include a parcel size of 35 acres or larger. The land must produce farm products valued at $6,000 in the last year, or $18,000 in the past three years and land must be farmed any way that will not result in excessive soil erosion. Land that is zoned for exclusive agriculture must be kept in agricultural uses. Zoning ordinances have allowed farm families to construct additional residences for family members or farm workers. If land is rezoned out of exclusive agriculture to some other use, any tax credits that have been received in the past 10 calendar years must be repaid. If land continues in agriculture use and is transferred either to members of the farm family or outside the farm family there is no recapture of the tax credits.

Townships have the responsibility for zoning in Washington County. Town officials must make decisions as to whether or not to implement exclusive agricultural zoning and must complete the process. Local town governments are responsible for the adoption, administration enforcement, and amendments to the ordinance and any rezoning. The Farmland Preservation program is a complex piece of legislation. Individuals that have further questions can contact the County Cooperative Extension Service for more information.

Small Children Need Special Attention in Traffic Situations

As children return to school, drivers and parents need to pay special attention to the rules of the road.

Children between the ages of 5 and 7 are most often involved in traffic accidents, according to Children's Hospital of Wisconsin in Milwaukee. Because young children view road traffic differently than adults, it is important for drivers to obey traffic laws and for parents to teach their children how to cross streets.

Children's Hospital explained that a child's eyes are not fully developed at a young age. Children lack peripheral vision, or the ability to see to the side, until the age of 7. Until then, they see one-third less than an adult sees.

Children also have difficulty estimating depth of field, or the nearness of objects. That means they are unable to judge speed or distance. Young children have difficulty telling whether a car is coming or going, moving or standing still. Therefore it is vital, and within the confines of the law to comply with the 15 mile per hour speed limit in school zones.

A child's size makes it difficult to see traffic. A child may see only one car when an adult sees three. Children cannot see over cars as adults can. That small size, in turn, also makes it difficult for drivers to see children. They are easily hidden from view by parked cars.

In their impatience and impulsiveness, children have a tendency to run from between parked cars. An accident can easily happen in such an instance. Pain and suffering can result, with permanent physical damage or even death.

To help ensure that your child does not become a traffic accident statistic, accompany him or her across the street at least until the age of 5. Once the child is old enough, go for a walk together and allow him or her to make decisions about when it is safe to cross the street.

Children learn by imitation. If you set a good example by looking both ways and crossing only at cross walks, they will learn the proper way to cross the street.

Be confident that your child is fully aware of the safety measures to take at a crosswalk before discontinuing supervision. It is better to take extra time to reinforce traffic safety rules than to place your child's well-being at risk.

Children's Hospital of Wisconsin is the only hospital in the state dedicated to the care and treatment of children.

SHERIFFS DEPARTMENT

Clarence A. Schwartz, Sheriff

Sheriff Offers Safety Tips for Youngsters Walking to School

Sheriff Clarence Schwartz of Washington County offers some safety tips for those youngsters who will be walking back and forth to school this year.

"Parents can teach their children the following safety tips which will inform the youngsters of danger signs to watch for and avoid in walking back and forth to school," the sheriff said.

"Drivers should be cautious of children walking back and forth to school," added the sheriff. "We can all learn from the safety tips below and abide by them to make Washington County safer for all."

* While walking, remember to always travel with a friend. Two heads are better than one, especially if there's an emergency. Strangers usually pick on one person, not two.

* You or your friends must never take candy, money, medicine, or anything else from a stranger.

* If a stranger in a car asks you questions, don't get close to the car (you could get pulled in) — and never get in the car.

* Strangers can be very tricky — they can ask you to walk with them to "show" them something; they can offer to pay for your video game, or ask you to help them find a lost dog or cat. Don't be fooled!

* Don't tell anyone your name or address when you're walking, and don't think that because someone knows your name that they know you — they may just be looking at your name printed on your lunch box, school bag or T-shirt.

* If you think you're in any danger, yell, and run to the nearest store or "safe house" or back to school.

* Avoid strangers who seem to be hanging around public rest rooms, playground or schoolyards. Tell your teacher or another adult you trust about it.

* Some adults can tell you what to do — such as a teacher or a police officer. But no adult can tell you what to do just because he or she is bigger than you. If you're ever in a situation that makes you feel uncomfortable in anyway, you have the right to say NO, loud and clear.

* Walk your school route with your mom or dad — or both of them — to make sure it's completely safe.

* Always stick to the same safe route in going to and coming from school, and never hitchhike — never!

"Teaching your children the safety tips I have listed above will prepare your children for emergencies which may arise on their way walking back and forth to school," the sheriff concluded.

"Diplomacy is the art of letting someone have your way."
Daniele Vare

Child Center Opens For Emotionally Disturbed Children

Today's young people may feel confused, depressed and overwhelmed. The divorce rate is 49%. In 28 million families, at least one parent is chemically dependent. Child abuse may kill as many as 5,000 children each year. School, family and social pressures can change the happy, carefree days of childhood into a very difficult time.

To service the needs of children twelve and under with emotional and behavioral disturbances, the Schroeder Child Center at Milwaukee Psychiatric Hospital will open on September 15. Housed in a homelike building, the Center provides the warmth and intimacy required to accurately assess, manage and treat young children.

Comprehensive evaluations are conducted to understand the child's developmental needs and psychiatric problems. Under the direction of a child psychiatrist, a team of specially trained professionals designs and implements the treatment program.

Patients attend the hospital's fully accredited Kradwell School throughout treatment. Children also participate in individual, group, family and activity therapy sessions. Family involvement is required.

For more information about the Schroeder Child Center, please call Mary Davis, MD, Medical Director at 414/258-2600.

Math Scores Up, Verbal Scores Down For High School Juniors Taking Test

Nearly 85 percent of Wisconsin's college-bound high school juniors annually test their mathematics and verbal skills in an effort to determine their preparedness for college. And the results on the 1986 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) continue to show that Wisconsin's test takers perform better than either their midwest or national counterparts.

According to a report released by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Herbert J. Grover, Wisconsin students' average score increased on the mathematics test for the first time since 1979; however, the average verbal score declined after a sharp rise in 1984. Wisconsin findings mirrored the national results on both tests.

"We are encouraged by the dramatic improvement in the math scores," said Grover, adding that it may indicate recent efforts to "pique student interest and improve curriculum and instruction in mathematics and science may be reaping some rewards."

More than one-third of the state's 70,087 high school juniors took the test last school year. The 24,900 Wisconsin juniors - 75 percent more than took the test a decade ago - increased their average score on the mathematics test by one-half point to 47.8, while their scores on the verbal test fell by the same amount to 42.3. The multiple-choice tests are reported on a scale of 20 to 80.

Overall, midwest students' scores on the PSAT/NMSQT were two points lower (45.8) on the mathematics test and 1.3 points lower (41.0) on the verbal test than were Wisconsin students' scores. Students nationally scored nearly three points lower (45.0) on the mathematics exam and one and one-half points lower (40.9) on the verbal test.

In 1985, one in five minority eleventh-graders in Wisconsin took the PSAT/NMSQT as compared to one in three nonminority juniors. However, the proportion of minority students taking the test improved significantly from the one in eight who took the test in 1980. "It is clear that our efforts to encourage minority student interest in higher education are having an impact," said Grover. "We must continue to support efforts like the Wisconsin Educational Opportunity Program, which encourages minority youth to attend college."

Again last year, the number of Wisconsin sophomores taking the test rose. Last fall, 2,164 tenth-graders - up nearly 250 over 1984 - scored 47.4 and 43.5 on the mathematics and verbal tests, respectively. These figures compare with 1,905 sophomores, who, in 1984, scored 48.2 on the mathematics test and 44.2 on the verbal test. "Sophomores appear to be taking the test as an additional tool for planning their preparation for college," said Grover.

According to the report, "engineering" (19.0 percent) and "business" (15.3 percent) continue as the most popular intended college majors among Wisconsin male test takers, although a 7 percent drop in interest in business reversed their respective 1-2 standings from 1984. Females' top two choices continue to be "health and medical professions" and "business" (both at 15.4 percent). On the other hand, 20 percent of all test takers - male and female - were "undecided." Of the junior test takers, 5.9 percent intend to major in education, a slight rise for the second year in a row.

The PSAT/NMSQT can be compared with the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), another national test designed to measure high school seniors' readiness for college. Students taking the SAT typically earn scores several points above their comparable scores on the PSAT/NMSQT. During each of the past two school years, Wisconsin students placed first in the nation on the SAT among states in which 10 percent or more of the graduating seniors took the test.

Commenting on the test results, Grover said, "We have every reason to be proud of the improvement in math scores, and the fact that our students continue to score higher than either their national or midwestern counterparts reflects positively on the quality of education our schools are providing."

"However," said Grover, "we continue to be concerned about some test findings. Why, for example, did the verbal scores drop? Why do Wisconsin minority groups continue to be under-represented—less than half of what we might expect—among test takers? What course of study are these test takers engaged in? Are they taking the 'core' courses recommended in 'Preparation for College?'

"Many school districts across the state look at their students' performance on the PSAT/NMSQT and then assess course offerings, course content, and students' course selection. Districts can use the test as one barometer of their performance as well as that of their college-bound students," he said.

Prospects Good for September 13 Opening Of Hunting Season

Hunters will find more ruffed grouse, squirrels and woodcock on the season opener statewide September 13 than they did last year, according to Ed Frank, farm wildlife specialist in the Department of Natural Resources' Bureau of Wildlife management. He said cottontail rabbit numbers will be about the same as last year for the opener in northern Wisconsin September 13.

"Ruffed grouse numbers are improving," Frank said,

"because of good winter conditions last year." He noted that cold weather and fluffy snow early in the winter were favorable for grouse enabling them to borrow down into the snow to escape the cold and predators. By the time the snow crusted, the weather had moderated and the grouse wintered well. "Overall, the prospects for ruffed grouse are good this year with the best hunting in the western and central areas of the state," Frank said. He noted that although the prospects are good for ruffed grouse, "we are not yet at the peak of the population cycle for these birds."

Squirrel populations are also improving according to Frank. "We had a good mast crop last year," he said, "and that along with the amount of unpicked corn left in the field last winter provided a good food supply." Hunting prospects for both gray and fox squirrels are good with the best hunting in the southern two-thirds of the state, according to Frank.

He said the population of local breeding woodcock increased about 15 to 20 percent over 1985. "The population of woodcock in Wisconsin has been static now for several years," Frank related, "but we see an improvement for this season." The northern portion of the state provides the best opportunities for woodcock hunters.

The outlook for rabbit hunting is fair to good with the best rabbit hunting found in the southern two-thirds of the state. "We felt that rabbit population would be improving the past two years because of favorable conditions for them in the spring of each year, but it just didn't happen," Frank said. He noted that again this spring, the weather conditions were favorable for cottontails, and some young-of-the-year should have had their own young yet this year, "but I'm being a bit more conservative in my prediction this season." The season on cottontail opens in the south at noon on October 18.

Hunters planning to take advantage of the first seasons to open this fall are reminded to ask for a copy of the 1986 Wisconsin Hunting Regulations pamphlet when they purchase their small game or sports license.

UNDERSTANDING TAXES PROGRAM OFFERED TO HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

High school teachers and administrators across the country are again being offered teaching aids and materials from the Internal Revenue Service to help inform their students on how our nation's tax system works.

The free instructional program reaches millions of students each year. The program typically lasts 4-6 weeks. The IRS says students can be expected to finish the course with an understanding of how to handle their own tax matters and a clearer concept of the economic of our tax system.

Study guides, teacher's manuals, the films are supplied by the IRS free of cost to schools participating in the program. School personnel interested in presenting an Understanding Taxes Program should call their local IRS office.

Not Only Life — But Racing Begins at 40!

At the beginning of last year's racing season at the Slinger Super Speedway, Russ Heberer of Kewaskum was one of the principle sponsors of #72 Willie Goeden's late model.

Today, Russ is on the track doing what he "always wanted to do" and that is to race. About midseason of 1985, he was sitting in the stands at Slinger and noticed a sportsman stock car, with #72 on it with a "for sale" sign taped to the body. The rest is history! Russ had to have the 1984 Firebird body, Chev. powered stock car.

This year, with a little more experience under his belt, Russ has proven himself capable of racing with the best by qualifying 6th for the last five weeks, in a field of 30 cars, and placing in the money spots in the 10 lap heat races and the main feature events.

This 42-year-old man of many facets, along with his gracious wife Lu Ann, own and operate the P.J. Trucking Co. of Kewaskum. Lu Ann enjoys the sport of racing, too, and says, "as long as it makes him happy, it's fine with me." She's impressed with the number of people who follow racing and, along with their 4 "cheerleaders," Kelly Ann Padden 17, Patti Padden 16, Amy Heberer 15, and Kelly Jo Heberer 11, the updated 1986 Firebird #72 has a renowned cheering section at the Slinger Speedway.

Russ is also fortunate to have a very supportive pit crew. To help him keep the car in racing condition are pit crew members: Claude Johann and Roger Breit of Kewaskum, Gary "Huntzie" Puestow of West Bend and Bill Wathe of Fond du Lac.

Russ and other area talent will take to the track for the last time on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 14th for an all-pro sportsman's racing show. Look for the beautiful red classy and snazzy #72 with these sponsors:

New Fane Express, Ltd., Commercial Plumbing, Mi Ja's Country Inn, Iron Horse Welding, Bar-N Annex Supper Club, Goeden's Auto Body, all of Kewaskum; Bob Fish Pontiac, West Bend Tire, West Bend American Building Systems, all of West Bend; and Truck Country of Wisconsin, Madison, WI.

St. Lucas Flag Football Opens

On September 4th, the 76'ers opened their Flag Football season with a 13-12 victory over Peace Lutheran of Hartford.

Kris Munson opened the scoring, taking a pitch from Doug Stern on a 2 yd. run. Tim Stern followed with a super catch to add the extra point. A late Doug Stern-to-Kris Munson connection, combined with a super block from Jody Ludwig, put the 76'ers ahead to stay.

Opening day at the St. Lucas Bowl found the 76'ers experiencing their first loss of the season at the hands of Bethany Lutheran of Hustisford, 26-18. Erick Kral led the highlights for St. Lucas, scoring two touchdowns on passes from Doug Stern. Tim Stern had the only other 76'ers score, taking a toss from brother Doug into the end zone.

The 76'ers play at David's Star of Jackson September 11th. The next home game will be September 16th when the 76'ers host Good Shepherd of West Bend.

Indians Split in Football Openers

By Chuck Voge

The Kewaskum Indians football teams split their season openers with the Horicon Marshmen.

On Thursday the Junior Varsity won over Horicon by a score of 12-8, with both Kewaskum touchdowns coming from Jeff Miller. Junior Varsity coach Clark Pearson had high praise for sophomores Chris Charland and Mike Kawczynski and credited their defensive play as being very important in the Indians' first win of the season. The JVs are now 1 and 0 and won't see their first conference action until Sept. 18 when they take on the Plymouth Panthers at home.

The varsity hosted the Marshmen on Friday, Sept. 5, and didn't fare quite as well as the JVs as they dropped their contest to Horicon by a score of 34-15. Kewaskum senior full-back Mike Coulter scored 13 of the Indians' points on two short touchdown plunges in the second and third periods, one from the three yard line and the other from the one. Coulter also added another Kewaskum score when he made the Indians' only successful extra point kick.

The Indians' starting quarterback, Rob Baitinger, added another successful conversion attempt when he scored on a Q.B. keeper with less than one minute left in the game.

Both Kewaskum touchdowns were set up by very long passes from Baitinger, the first good for about 62 yards to split end Steve Johnson, and the second good for about 54 yards to tight end Mike Morell.

The Indians' defense took a rain check in this game. Horicon running backs ran where they wanted to whenever they wanted to. The Marshmen only threw three passes in the entire game. They didn't have to pass for yardage since they were able to blow holes in the Indian line almost at will. The Marshmen were able to make good on almost every third down and short yardage situation and were only forced to punt once in the game.

All was not bad for the Indians, however. Baitinger proved to everyone there that he has a good, reliable forty-yard passing arm. The few passes that he did throw were both long and right on the money. He also has dependable receivers in both Johnson and Morell.

Should the Indians' offensive coordinator see fit to restructure the Kewaskum attack and capitalize on Baitinger's arm it could prove to be a very interesting season. If, on the other hand, the Indians rely heavily on their ground game it could be a very long and disappointing one.

The Indians are now 0-1 overall and won't start conference play until their Sept. 19 home game with Plymouth. Next they travel to Campbellsport for a Sept. 12 game with the Cougars, with game time at 7:45 p.m.

Bill Wrucke scored on runs of 10, 6 and 3 yards to spearhead a strong Horicon running attack. Eric Miller (10 carries for 96 yards), Wrucke (14 for 77) and Tony Geddes (15 for 55) all had big games as the Marshmen rushed for 309 yards. Mike Coulter carried seven times for 34 yards to lead Kewaskum.

Indian Runners Participate in 2 Quadrangulars

Kewaskum opened the cross country season in a quadrangular meet at Sheboygan Falls last Tuesday.

The Indians finished third in the boys' competition with 61 points, three behind Elkhart Lake, 58, and well behind strong Sheboygan Falls, which was first with 30. Howards Grove wound up fourth with 69.

The Falcons also won the girls' meet with 25 points, with Elkhart Lake and Kewaskum tied for second with 62.

Howards Grove did not have a full team.

Elkhart Lake's Brian Schultz took first honors with a 17:38 and Beth Hedgcock of Falls won the girls' event in 13:28.

Individual winner was Jane Marshall with a time of 13:53 for 3,200 meters and Amy Fischer was seven seconds behind. Campbellsport was led by Karen Loehr, 8th with a 14:35 and Pam Smith, 10th with a 14:38. The best for Kewaskum was a 11th by Carrie Batzler (14:39).
