Repair, Replacement Projects Reviewed for District Schools

GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Finance - Transportation - Buildings and Grounds Committee, Monday night, discussed several major repair and replacement projects facing various Kewaskum school buildings.

The most urgent, and costly item is the replacement of the Wayne School well. At last week's special meeting, the School Board voted to award the well-drilling contract to Tischendorf Well Drilling of Theresa, at a cost of $5,000. Buildings Superintendent Fred Boehlke advised the committee that Tischendorf, along with a representative from the Department of Natural Resources would be going out to the school shortly to pick a site for the new well.

Boehlke said the next step will be for the district to get bids on the balance of the work related to constructing the new well, that includes trenching, laying pipe, building a protective shed, and closing off the old well. He told the committee so far, he has a ballpark figure of about $3,800 for that portion of the work.

Finance Committee member Robert Schulteis said he would also like to see some prices on a new pump. "I can't see the district doing all this work and spending this much money and then using an old pump. Boehlke noted that Jerry Zielieke, of Zielieke Well Drilling, had indicated at prior meetings he felt the pump was still good. Boehlke was asked if he knew how old the pump was. He said he had come across some papers dated 1974. Schulteis questioned for how long, one year or five, the district could expect the present pump to keep operating. Boehlke indicated there was no way of telling.

Boehlke also informed the committee that Chad Czarkowski of the DNR had notified him that the old well must be sealed before drilling of the new well was begun. Boehlke thought that should not present any problem since the work was not scheduled to begin until after the school closes in June.

Repair of flooring in the restrooms and corridors at the high school was discussed. Prices for the eight areas marked for repairs ran from approximately $6,600 to $16,000, depending upon whether the work was done all at once or in phases.

After reviewing the bids, the committee voted to recommend to the School Board that repair work on the three areas in the worst condition be done. They included the boys and girls toilet areas on the upper level and the locker room toilet area. The committee will recommend approval of Dura Coatings of Wisconsin, Incorporated's bid of $2,027,000, to do the work. The cost of the repairs will be put into next year's budget.

Boehlke presented three bids for the replacement of the Kewaskum Elementary School's water softener. He told the committee it was the next item on the State Trust Fund's priority list.

After discussing the three bids, which ran from $790 to $1,890, committee member Kim Peterson asked Boehlke if he had looked into a softener which recycled by usage need, rather than automatic timer. Boehlke indicated only one bid provided an alternate with a usage meter. The committee asked Boehlke to investigate prices including the usage meter and bring the information back for further discussion.

The committee also discussed the high school hall light replacement, new ceiling tiles for the Home Ec classroom, and carpet replacement at the Middle School. Boehlke told the committee he was still waiting for additional bids on the items and he would come back to it when he had received all the bid information.

The committee heard comments from Jack Theusch, representing the Farmington Elementary School PTO, and Principal Tom Larsen, regarding expanding the school's parking lot area.

Theusch said the PTO was concerned that the district might think it was planning to pay for parking lot paving. "We definitely feel there is not enough parking, however, the PTO doesn't feel it is its responsibility to pay for more. Theusch said the PTO did not want the parking lot work to get confused with the group's proposal to pay for paving an area to expand the playground.

Committee chairman Ron Theusch stated, "They (the PTO) feel, and I do too, that if we need more parking the district should provide it."

Jack Theusch told the committee, the only reason the two projects were discussed together was with the idea that if they could be bid and done at the same time both the PTO and district could get better prices.

The PTO has offered to pay for paving additional playground area with the idea it

Beechwood Fire Department Moves to New Quarters

The Beechwood Fire Department moved into their new quarters on Saturday. The new garage has five bays and approximately one-third more space than the old firehouse that they had occupied since 1961.

Statesman Staff Writer

After twenty-six years, the Beechwood Fire Department has a new home. Saturday, members of the department moved their equipment and trucks into its recently completed garage located just east of its old quarters on the corner of Highway S and A, in Beechwood.

The new 48 by 84 foot building has five bays and about one-third, or 2,400 square feet more space than the old garage.

Beechwood Fire Chief Roger Vetter said the 35-member department has been looking forward to moving to the new facility. The mild winter resulted in the structure being completed earlier than anticipated. Vetter said an open-house would be held at a later date.

As the men were unloading their equipment at the new building, one of them jokingly commented, "I wonder how many of us are going to report to the old firehouse when we get the first call after this move."

Vetter said the old fire station, garage and hall is now up for sale. The building has been rented for a couple of functions and the senior citizens will continue to use it until the property is sold.

would help to eliminate some of the mud and messy situations which occur during inclement weather periods.

The committee asked Boehlke to look into getting prices on expanding the playground and parking areas. He was also directed to obtain quotes for just a gravel and sealcoat parking area.

The committee heard comments from Boehlke and District Administrator Penny Kleinhans on the purchase of a smoke and dust eater for the Industrial Arts. Kleinhans noted the installation was not mandatory and something the district does not have to do right now. This is not a serious life-threatening problem but something we should look into, commented Kleinhans. She noted the item was something the district had to investigate very thoroughly. "This is expensive, it's horrendously expensive," said Kleinhans.

The committee heard an update on clarifying the parochial schools boundaries as far as the district's busing

Keynote speaker Janey Reed with Kewaskum Juniors' Charter President Sherry Miller.

Over 60 past and present members of the GFWC Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club attended the 20th Anniversary Celebration, held in the community room of the Kewaskum municipal building on January 20th.

Guests heard Janey Reed, former president of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs tell how far the Kewaskum club, and the General Federation of Women's Clubs have come. She pointed out that 1967 saw Lyndon Johnson as president, disagreement over the Viet Nam war, rebellion against the establishment and riots in Milwaukee. She also pointed out however that over the nearly 100 years of the General Federation, 75% of the nation's 14,000 public libraries were formed, anti-pornography laws were adopted in 38 states, an 8 hour work day was established, and women gained the right to vote. She pointed out the power of working with the federation to better the quality of life and to "change things."

Having met many notable personalities and world leaders, Mrs. Reed said women must

"dare to step out of their local communities" and "Don't sit around feeling sorry for yourself...pick something you really like and go for it!" Regarding the topic "The Goose That Lays Golden Eggs," Mrs. Reed noted there are "egg sitters" and "egg Smashers," and indicated several ways to avoid smashing the opportunities found in the GFWC. She concluded by saying, "No matter how good we have been, we must be better."

During the re-chartering ceremony for the club, Mary Kay Ernest, State Junior Director asked Sherry Miller, charter president and Shirley Ogi, current club president to lead the group in reciting the Junior pledge, and noted the love and respect of members and mutual concern for Kewaskum would keep the club active for many years.

What does the future hold for Kewaskum Juniors? Current president Shirley Ogi looks for membership promotion. "Anyone can visit a meeting and see what we're all about." Vice-president, Lori Schoofs hopes for better attendance at district and state conventions, urging members to take advantage of the "golden eggs." Specific projects for the near future include Little Jill poison prevention, story hour, hygiene kits for Project Concern, work on the flower bed, scholarships, gifts to Mother's Day babies, sewing on a quilt, publishing a 20th Anniversary cookbook and organizing the fifth annual art and craft fair, "A Kettle Country Christmas," on November 29th. Anyone wishing more information on the Kewaskum club may call any member, or Sunshine chairman, Lori Schoofs at 533-8808.

responsibilities are concerned, High School Assistant Principal Roy Esser, who is working on the project, told the committee, we still have problems with these people claiming certain areas so we have a lot of overlapping.

Esser said the schools have been asked to settle the issues among themselves. He noted that by state statute, each school is required to establish its attendance area.

"This is a situation that really should not have happened, but over the years no one has really been in charge," said Esser. Part of the problem, he noted, is some churches have closed their schools forcing families to find other parochial schools. When that happened a parent called up the bus company which told them yes, they can bus to a school but it was never checked out to determine whether or not the school was within Kewaskum's busing limits. That has resulted in the district busing students it should not busing.

"Before I bring this information to you, I want to make sure all the churches have their problems settled. I don't like to see us get caught in the crossfire" said Esser.

Kleinhaus told the committee that all the parochial schools had been notified this past fall that by the end of the year, everyone is going to be in the right area and we are not going to bus into areas outside of our limits.

The committee also received the report on an inspection by the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations. Boehlke noted the district would be taking the necessary steps to be in compliance with the report.

AIRTIGHT HOUSE

To prevent heat loss in winter, you make your home airtight. This could make it unhealthy to breathe in your own home. Holy Trinity to Celebrate Catholic Schools Week

Lon Watters said, "School is a Building that has 4 walls- with tomorrow inside." During the week of February 1st to the 8th, Holy Trinity School is joining thousands of Catholic Schools nationwide to celebrate Catholic Schools Week. The motto this year is Catholic Schools: Touch the Future.

Christa McAuliffe will be remembered as "the teacher who was to be the first ordinary person to fly in space." She knew the essence of her vocation. She said: "I teach. I touch the future."

Catholic teachers have a unique opportunity to do this every day by showing young people how to put on the mind of Christ now, how to live His Good News, and how to walk in His Spirit.

Activities that Holy Trinity School is planning for this week are as follows:

On Monday, Feb. 2nd, the students will launch a helium filled balloon with a Prayer for the Future message attached to it.

On Tuesday Parents are invited to visit us at an Open House from 10:00 to 1:30. They will have an opportunity to visit classes in session, eat hot lunch with the students and celebrate with us at an all School Mass. Wednesday will feature a Careers Day with guest presenters informing students of varied interesting careers. Thursday, Feb. 5th, students will adopt another student in their class as twin for the day, even if in dress only.

Grandparents are our special guests on Friday at an All School Mass followed by visitation of the classrooms.

A Book Fair will be open for browsing and buying Tuesday through Friday of this week. Hallway displays will include family posters with predictions for the future.

Holy Trinity School is proud of its past graduates and its 105 years in this community.

We look to the future with hope and care as we touch the future through the children in our trust.

Kewaskum XYZ Club News

'THAT'S A BIGGY' — This 12 foot by 9 foot by 9 foot boulder was a real surprise for employees of Mueller Excavating as they laid sewer and water lines for the Timblin Apartment project, west of the Kewaskum Shopping Mall. In order to remove the giant, a ramp had to be built and pushed out. Building Inspector Hank Becker said, "You don't see many the size of that rock around here very often." New Dairy Herd Improvement Program

Dairymen in Washington County and throughout the state of Wisconsin will have an opportunity for improved management information with the new DHI (Dairy Herd Improvement) program.

In Washington County the program is provided by the Ozaukee-Washington County Dairy-Herd Improvement Association Cooperative. The new program will be implemented on February 1, 1987 and will provide dairymen with additional information that they can use for the management of their dairy herd.

There are a number of different types of programs available to meet the needs of the individual dairy farmers. The most popular program is the owner sampler program. In this type of test, the herd owner is required to collect the milk weights and samples. It is, therefore, less expensive and is considered unofficial.

There are official programs where the supervisor comes to the farm, records the milk output, and takes the milk sample for fat testing. This also requires the dairyman to follow certain requirements to maintain his official status. Official records are usually used by dairymen wishing to sell breeding stock or publish the results of their herd's performance.

With the increased financial stress dairy farmers are facing, the management information provided can be helpful in increasing productivity and profitability of the dairy farm. As an example, a dairyman with a 50 cow herd enrolled in the owner sampler program and using the somatic cell count and herd management option, would have a monthly fee of $66.00 or an annual fee of $792.00. This calculates out to $15.84 per cow, per year in the 50 cow herd. In order to recover the cost of the program, a dairyman would only need to increase his milk production by 144 pounds of milk per year, with milk priced at $11.00 per hundredweight. The information provided by this program can certainly help a dairyman improve his productivity significantly beyond the cost of the program.

Why not take a look at the new and improved DHI program. You can receive further information by contacting the Ozaukee-Washington County DHIA office at 338-0673 or by contacting the Washington County Extension Office.

$45.4 Million In Transportation Aid Checks Mailed by DOT

The Wisconsin Department of Transportation has mailed checks totaling $45.4 million to counties, towns, villages and cities throughout the state for the October quarterly payments of shared transportation aids.

The basic payments included $10.3 million to 1,267 town governments, $2.9 million to 392 villages, $19 million to 189 cities and $13.2 million to Wisconsin's 72 counties, according to Julie A. Davis, DOT aids analysis chief. An additional $2.2 million in connecting highway aids was distributed to 119 of those communities to pay the cost of maintaining portions of state trunk highways within urban areas.

Basic aid payments to governmental units in this area include: Town of Wayne, $7,663.15; Town of Kewaskum, $6,197.25, and Town of Farmington, $10,085.28.

The quarterly transportation aids payments help local units of government pay the cost of building and maintaining county and local roads, streets and bridges. Over a year's time, approximately 33 percent of state motor vehicle and fuel taxes are returned to local governments in these two forms of transportation aids for local road and bridge expenditures. In fact, coupled with several other forms of state transportation aids, more than 40 percent of state transportation revenues are returned to local governments in Wisconsin.

Sen. Stitt Named To Powerful Joint Finance Committee

State Senator Donald K. Stitt (R-Port Washington) has been reappointed to the powerful budget writing, Joint Finance Committee for the 1987 - 88 Legislative Session, his office has announced. Stitt is the ranking Republican member on that Committee.

Stitt will serve on the Joint Committee on Finance and Commission groups dealing with Environmental Resources and Justice; Local Finance and Property; Tax Relief; and Tax Policy.

Stitt was also appointed to the Joint Committee on Debt Management and will once again serve on the Legislative Council Committee on Law Revisions.

"My committee assignments for the next two years will allow me to be particularly active in a number of areas of crucial importance to the people of my district," Stitt said. "Elimination of the inheritance tax, a substantial reduction in income taxes, and an effort to reduce government spending are among the issues that will come before the Joint Committee on Finance. I look forward to an exciting and substantive session."

Stitt is an attorney with Stewart Grady Law Offices in Port Washington. He served in the Wisconsin Assembly for five years before winning his present seat in the Senate in 1984.

New 'Red Letter' License Plates to Be Issued in March

Issuance of Wisconsin's "new" graphic license plates, with red letters and numerals instead of blue ones, will begin early in March, the state Department of Transportation said recently.

At that time, anyone who has received plates with blue lettering or who still has the old black on yellow plates, may exchange them for red ones by paying an extra fee, according to Norbert K. Anderson, administrator of the Division of Motor Vehicles.

Anderson said car owners who have already received or will be receiving plates with blue lettering will have an opportunity to exchange them for red ones at a cost of $4, by applying for replacement license plates. Under legislation adopted in 1986, car owners who still have black on yellow plates may receive new base plates by paying an early-replacement fee of $10.

The switchover from blue to red will occur at the beginning of issuance of the "B" series, with the first red-on-white plates to be numbered BAA 101, Anderson said.

About a half-million sets of blue on white graphic plates, approximately 10 percent of the plates expected to be sent out over the next 7 years, have been issued since August of this year.

The remaining plates with the changeover to red include some 120,000 sets of personalized license plates, most of which have already been manufactured. Anderson said the cost of remaking new personalized plates with red lettering would have been around $500,000. Personalized plates are scheduled for issuance in January and February.

Anderson said vehicle owners who want graphic plates with red lettering should send their certificate of title, and $4 if they have blue on white plates or $10 if they have black on yellow ones, to the DOT Graphic Plate Processing Unit, P.O. Box 7911, Madison 53707-7911.

The new graphic plate design and blue-on-white color combination was selected after a statewide design competition and subsequent popular vote conducted by the DOT and Governor Anthony Earl. However, complaints have surfaced over the similarity to plates used in neighboring states.

Anderson said only the alpha-numeric characters will change color. The rest of the graphic design will remain the same with "America's Dairyland" and "Wisconsin" in blue.

Little Whistlers Homemakers Club

Our monthly meeting was held January 9th at 7:30 p.m. We met in the home of Kathy Schreffler. Our new president Lorey Weston called the meeting to order at 7:45. Secretary's and Treasurer's report were given and approved.

Pete Ayer Invites New Members to Moraine Chorus

To hear Moraine Chorus Director Peter Ayer tell it, his musical group has plans for a summer tour by Boeing 747 to "exotic places" such as Waubeka, Kohlsville and Fillmore.

The flying tour is the latest attention-grabber in Ayer's twice-a-year invitations to chorus members to turn out for a new semester of rehearsals. The Boeing 747 glided into the picture in a Jan. 12 invite to begin preparations for a May 17 concert.

New members are welcome at the rehearsals, which begin at 7:30 p.m. each Monday in the Student Union music rehearsal room.

Ayer, an associate professor of music at the UW Center - Washington County, sent out January invitations to 83 veteran chorus members. Along with the make-believe tour, he talked about "a new committee on ethics and crowd control" and a member who has been placed "in charge of weather and snow removal" for the second semester.

Friday, Jan. 30, 1987, Kewaskum Statesman, Page 11

In previous semesters, Ayer has illustrated his invitations to add to the fun. Last fall, the pictures took a number of tongue-in-cheek looks at life in the chorus, including:

- A drawing of a strange idol, accompanied by these words: "We welcome a new tenor who is here on a foreign exchange plan conducted by the Waubeka Flag Day Commission. We had to give up four sopranos, two altos and a bass. This transaction was implemented without my approval or consent and occurred during my absence while on a recruiting trip to New Hampshire."

- Next to a picture of a donkey, Ayer wrote: "Transportation from the parking lot will be provided for those with disabilities, an aversion to Wisconsin winters or a note from home."

- In his January 1986 letter, Ayer had a picture of a two-headed man with the explanation: "I have been busy auditioning singers for our new tenor-bass section. This section has been created for those who haven't made up their minds what they are and insist on singing both parts at the same time.

- Ayer's August 1985 invitation included a ballet scene which he claimed showed "the soprano-alto steps for a swing choir presentation of 'While Shepherds Watch Their Flocks, Who Knows What's Going on at Home?'"

Moraine Chorus members come from nine area communities including Fredonia, Germantown, Grafton, Hartford, Jackson, Port Washington, Saukville, Slinger and West Bend.

Persons interested in joining the group or obtaining more information about it can call Ayer at UWWC, 338-5200.

HOLY TRINITY SCHOOL

The School Nutrition Action Program is a new look at ways to put pizzazz in school nutrition programs. It means being responsive to today's increased public interest in diet and health; actively involving students, parents, teachers and school administrators in menu and marketing decisions and encouraging students to take responsibility for their own well-being by arming them with reliable nutrition knowledge.

Snap renews the focus on the original intent of the National School lunch program, "To safeguard the health and well-being of the Nation's children."

The Student Council and advisors from Holy Trinity School planned the menu for Tuesday, February 3, which is Parent's Day. The food service will be asking each grade to come up with a menu for a day in the months ahead. They will be working with students and teachers.

Shirley Gruber attended the Bi-annual Nutrition Conference in November planned by Lynn Gross R.D. Food Director of West Bend.

MEDICAL QUACKERY

Medical quackery, the sale of totally useless cures and miracle potions and lotions, is one of the most damaging frauds directed at the consumer, especially the elderly and the afflicted.

Unfortunately, producers of quack products only sell hope, not a cure, and hope is what people want to buy when their illness is painful or incurable. It may be totally illogical to buy a treatment which calls for being wrapped up in mud, injected with snake venom or bathed in kerosene, yet they buy them.

According to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), the categories of "cures" which are most popular with gullible consumers are: pain relievers, arthritis and cancer treatment, weight reduction products, hair restorers and sex - life improvers.

While some of these so-called treatments may be harmless in and of themselves, they still do grave harm by delaying medical treatments which often can help.

One of the new areas where health fraud is involved is nutrition. Those with little or no training are passing themselves as experts, recruiting people to join their groups, buy their books and their "health" products.

Here are two tips to help you avoid being taken in by health care quacks:

* Be suspicious. The more hard-sell the advertising copy the more suspicious you should be.

* Question the logic of a "miracle" being available through a P.O. Box address. Why doesn't every drug store in town sell this product if it is a wonder worker?

If you suspect health fraud, here are organizations to notify:

Suspiciously false advertising: Federal Trade Commission, Sixth and Pennsylvania Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20580.

Quack products sold through the mail: Chief Postal Inspector, U.S. Postal Service, 475 L'Enfant Plaza, Washington, D.C. 20260. Your local post office may be help you expedite your complaint.

Reports on health-related products which are misrepresented, mislabeled or harmful should be reported to: Food and Drug Administration, HCF-160, Rockville, MD 10857.

... about your Social Security

By David Becker, Social Security Branch Manager in West Bend

PART OF SOCIAL SECURITY MAY BE TAXABLE

Up to half of the Social Security benefits people received in 1986 may be subject to Federal income tax, but mainly only for those who had substantial income in addition to their benefits.

In fact, more than 90 percent of the people getting benefits will not have to pay any tax on any part of their benefits.

Every person who received or repaid any Social Security benefits in 1986 will receive Form SSA-1099, Social Security Benefit Statement, before the end of January. The form will show the net amount of Social Security benefits received in 1986 and this is the figure a person should use to figure if any of his or her benefits are subject to tax.

IRS Notice 703 will be included with Form SSA-1099, and this worksheet can be used to see if any benefits are subject to tax.

Up to half of a person's Social Security benefits may be subject to tax if his or her combined income — taxable income plus non-taxable interest plus one-half of the Social Security benefits — exceeds a base amount:

- $25,000 if the person files as a single taxpayer;
 - $32,000 for a married couple filing jointly; or
 - $0 for a married person filing a separate return if he or she lived with his or her spouse during any part of 1986.
- The amount of benefits subject to tax if combined income exceeds the base amount is the smaller of:
- One-half of the amount over the base amount; or
 - One-half of the Social Security benefits.

If combined income does not exceed the base amount, no benefits are subject to tax. A free booklet—IRS Publication 915—explains the entries on Form SSA-1099 and how to figure if benefits are taxable. A free copy can be obtained at any Social Security office, or by calling 1-800-242-9946.

Tough Drunk Driving Laws Paid Off, DOT Study Finds

Tough drunk driving laws adopted as Chapter 20 of the 1981-83 state budget have generally met legislative expectations, according to the state Department of Transportation.

Moreover, the DOT said in a report to the state Legislature, Wisconsin drivers support strict enforcement and prosecution, and believe that drunk drivers are more likely to be arrested, convicted and punished now than they were under previous laws.

In the Chapter 20 evaluation report, which was required as part of the law five years ago, the DOT noted one area where more study is needed — about a quarter of the drivers either don't show up for their drinking/drug assessment or fail to complete the driver safety plan developed in the assessment process.

The 44-page report evaluates the effectiveness of the major provisions of Chapter 20, which made it illegal, in and of itself, to drive with a blood/alcohol concentration (BAC) of .10 percent or more; and a mandatory jail term for repeat violators; required an alcohol or drug use assessment and treatment/education plan, and increased the monetary penalties paid by violators. The legislature made significant changes in Chapter 20 provisions in May 1986 when the drinking age was raised to 21. The report does not evaluate the effects of the changes.

Among the major findings of the report are:

* Drivers involved in accidents were less likely to have been drinking. Fewer than 10 percent of the drivers involved in accidents in 1985 had been drinking, compared to 16 percent in 1981.

* Drunk driving arrests went up substantially, from around 33,000 in 1981 to 38,000 in 1985.

* The conviction rate increased from 81 percent in 1981 to 87 percent.

* Plea bargaining dropped 40 percent. Before Chapter 20, approximately 17 percent of charges were dropped or amended, compared to under 10 percent today.

* Every convicted drunk driver lost his or her driving privileges under Chapter 20 compared to only 45 percent of those convicted prior to 1982.

* About 23 percent of convicted drunk drivers did not complete the assessment and driver safety plan requirement in 1986. Since Chapter 20 went into effect, 115,000 drivers completed an assessment, 23,000 did not.

* Traffic deaths have declined and so has the percentage of drivers who were legally drunk at the time of the fatal accident. In 1980 the death toll was 985, and 269 or 57.2 percent of fatally injured drivers tested had a BAC level of .10 or greater. In 1985, 750 people were killed and 187 or 47.6 percent of the drivers killed were at or over .10 BAC.

The study also found that Wisconsin drivers are generally knowledgeable about drunk driving laws and the penalties for violations. More surprisingly, most of their support is higher penalties. Driver license revocation or suspension is viewed as the most effective deterrent.

The motorist opinions and knowledge levels were tested periodically through surveys administered at driver exam stations. They found that 93 percent of Wisconsin drivers now consider drunk driving to be either extremely or very serious, compared to 80 percent in 1982.

More than 85 percent of those surveyed think the chance of being arrested is greater now than it was before Chapter 20 was enacted, and 87 percent believe that Wisconsin drivers are now more aware of drunk driving laws and penalties.

Local Wings Over Wisconsin Chapter Sponsor Bird Seed Sale

The Kettle Moraine Chapter of Wings Over Wisconsin will be having their next Wild Bird Seed Sale on Sat., Feb. 7. 25 lb. bags will be selling for $2.00 each. There will be a two-bag limit per person, on a first come, first serve basis. The sale will start at 9:00 and go until 12:00 noon, or until the seed is gone. Location is the Amerhan Hall parking lot in Kewaskum. Our last months distribution went over quite well. We started our sale at 9 o'clock and in 45 minutes, 200 bags were gone. We doubled our order for this month.

We would like to apologize to the people who came to get bird seed and found out we were sold out. Our funds only allow us to sell so much each month. Wings sells the seed for about one-half of what they paid for it.

According to County Clerk M.W. Monroe, who recently received the apportionment of the common school fund income for Washington County, Kewaskum with 200 children of school age, will receive $100 as its share. The amounts apportioned to the several towns, incorporated villages and cities of the county are calculated on the basis of 50 cents for each person of school age residing in districts which maintained a school as required by law.

Explosion of a coke salamander, being used to thaw out the ground in the new addition of the Pick Manufacturing Company plant, owned by Carl Pick at West Bend last Friday was believed to have caused a fire which completely destroyed a warehouse and the newly built addition, along with a large amount of stock, with loss estimated at $45,000. The plant manufactures automotive parts. The explosion took place as Roland Weber, a fireman at the warehouse, went into the new addition to replenish the salamander. The explosion shook the room, which was filled with flames almost instantaneously. He was not injured. The West Bend Fire Department upon arriving found the entire warehouse aflame, ignited by the gas evolved by the salamander. Nothing could be done to save the building, the firemen labored six hours to keep the flames from entering the factory.

On Monday of last week the Beechwood fire department was called out when it was learned that the Batavia grade school-house was on fire. With the aid of the Batavia firemen the blaze was soon put under control, although the entrance hall and belfry roofs were burned quite badly and the interior of the school rooms was damaged by water and smoke.

On Monday a group of men in the employ of Otto Backhaus, local ice dealer, began the harvest of ice on the Milwaukee River and filling the new spacious ice house recently erected by Mr. Backhaus for distribution to Kewaskum residents next summer. The ice is good this winter, being very clear and close to 17 inches thick.

A marriage license has been issued to Mathias Rimmel and Miss Norma Lutzenberger, both of Milwaukee. The former is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Math. Rimmel, who formerly resided in this village.

Again the angel of death entered the ranks of our community and took toll of another life, namely Mrs. Marie Koepke, nee Henkel, who passed away at her home in the Town of Kewaskum on January 27.

The following people made the high school honor roll during the semester: Freshmen — Alice Koepsel, Curtis Romaine, Juniors — Harold Bartelt, Bernadette Kohler, Anita Mertz, Margaret Muenk, Charlotte Romaine and Ruth Schleif, Seniors — Dorothy Becker, Ruth Mary Fleischmann, Viola Hawig, Jeanette Krautkramer, Ralph Marx and Jeannette Werner. Anita Mertz was the only pupil to receive an A in each course.

TODAY'S AGRICULTURE UW Research Shows: No Such Thing As Hay Cut Too Early

By Jack Trzebiatowski
UW Extension
Agriculture Agent

Thumb rules that hold for average to good hay may not apply to top-shelf forages. Cows can pack in surprising amounts of high-quality hay with no performance problems. Research at the University of Wisconsin-Madison indicates that it's nearly impossible, from a nutritional standpoint, to cut hay too early. It's also less expensive to feed hay than to buy protein supplements.

Work by UW-Madison dairy scientists showed that diets properly balanced for fiber content won't depress fat test, protein content or level of milk production, even with alfalfa cut very early. They found that cows could eat nearly 2.7 percent of their body weight in high-quality forage daily.

Researchers tested three alfalfa hay maturities, cut three weeks apart. The early vegetative alfalfa, cut at pre-bud, contained about 36 percent Neutral Detergent Fiber. The late-bud alfalfa and full-bloom alfalfa both tested at just over 50 percent NDF.

The three cuttings were fed to three groups of high-producing cows averaging 22,000 pounds of milk and 700 pounds of fat. There were no differences in body-weight changes among the groups, which indicated that energy intake did not limit milk production.

Pre-bud rations required no protein supplements, but needed additional beet pulp to provide similar amounts of NDF from concentrate, which corn and soybean meal provided in the other rations.

Grain and protein supplements are more expensive on a per-pound basis than forage. Maximizing forage intake by utilizing superior-quality forage can reduce feed costs.

Forage-to-concentrate ratios were 68:32 for pre-bud, 53:47 for late-bud and 45:55 for full-bloom hays. Dry-matter intake was about the same among the three diets — about 3.9 percent of body weight. Cows fed late-bud and full-bloom alfalfa consumed 27 pounds and 24 pounds of hay dry matter daily. But cows fed the pre-bud alfalfa consumed 39 pounds of hay dry matter daily. That's nearly 2.7 percent of their body weight as hay per day, and 54 percent more forage than cows fed the full-bloom alfalfa.

All rations provided about 19 percent crude protein, 29.5 percent NDF with 22 percent NDF from forage, plus minerals. Rations were fed free-choice for the 13-week study period.

Cows fed pre-bud hay spent less time eating than cows fed rations with higher fiber or more mature forage, but all groups had similar dry-matter fill of the rumen. This tells us that the cows weren't having trouble utilizing these high levels of forage intake. They could digest and clear the pre-bud hay much more quickly than the mature hay.

Researchers looked at how forage maturity affected the rates of dry-matter and fiber disappearance from the rumen. They suspended mesh bags containing the test hays in cows with "windows" surgically implanted into their rumens. They analyzed the bags' contents, along with samples of cuds and freshly eaten forages taken from the rumens. It was found that the pre-bud hay was more completely digested in the rumen than the other hays.

These results suggest that if one were buying hay, buy at the earliest maturity possible. Don't worry about the quality being too high. If raising it, be concerned with how early it could be cut without having a negative impact on the stand.

In this study, hay was cut as early as possible to examine its nutritional effects. The point here is not to go out and cut all their hay at this stage. Yield per acre and stand longevity must be considered.

Minutes of Village Board Meeting

Mid-Monthly Meeting
January 19, 1987
8:00 P.M.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin met in Mid-Monthly Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

President David E. Nigh presided. All Trustee Members were present. A quorum was present.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion by Trustee Richard Schmidt, seconded by Trustee Thomas McElhatton and unanimously carried by voice vote, the minutes of the January 5, 1987, meeting were approved as printed.

Fire Chief, Donald Ehnert, presented the 1986 Fire Report to the Village Board. In summary the Fire Department responded to a total of 26 calls of which 10 were in the Village of Kewaskum, 9 in the Town of Auburn and 2 were mutual aid calls.

Administrator/Clerk Daniel S. Schmidt appointed Colleen McKay and Gerald Stollenwerk to serve on the Board of Canvassers with him.

Trustee Thomas McElhatton, Chairman of the Park and Recreation Committee, advised the Board that the Committee had directed the Administrator to obtain quotes for a small restroom facility in the River Hill Park Dam area as discussed with the DNR and in conjunction with the DNR Canoe Launch. Also three recommendations were reviewed as follows.

On a motion by Trustee Howard Laubenstein, seconded by Trustee Mary Krueger and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board authorized the Administrator to instruct the engineer to prepare plans, specs and the bidding documents for the installation of a new ball diamond northeast of the existing north diamond and to revamp the existing skinned diamonds. (This is to include the installation of the outfield fencing on the northeast diamond).

Trustee Howard Laubenstein, the Board Representative on the Plan Commission, announced that there would not be a January 27, 1987, Plan Commission Meeting.

The Board reviewed the engineer's letter on the proposed time table for the installation of sidewalk. The proposal met with the Board's approval, but it was noted it may be best to divide the project into two or three small projects.

The Board reviewed the Village of Kewaskum's Profile as prepared by the Administrator noting it was a good document for the community's future development and advised the Administrator to have it printed.

President David Nigh read a proclamation recognizing the Kewaskum Junior Women's Club's 20th Anniversary as attached hereto:

On a motion by Trustee Richard Schlice, seconded by Trustee Mary Krueger to adjourn. Roll call vote was 7 "Aye," 0 "Nay," 0 "Absent."

'Tax Break '87' Telecast Feb. 1

Many of the most common taxpayer questions are answered on "Tax Break '87," a two-hour telecast on Sunday, February 1, 1987, from 2-4 p.m. CST on Wisconsin's public broadcasting stations except WHA-TV in Madison, which will carry the program on a delayed basis later in the tax season.

Viewers can call during the program and for one hour after for answers to their questions. Some of the more frequent ones will be answered on the air. The toll-free number is 1-800-424-1040 or 271-3780 in the Milwaukee area.

Hosting the annual tax show is Edwin Newman, former NBC-TV newsman and best selling author. Newman's books on English grammar include A Civil Tongue and Strictly Speaking.

The program also features two panels of tax experts, one made up of Internal Revenue Service tax specialists and the other consisting of a certified public accountant, a tax attorney, and a public accountant who is also an enrolled agent.

The panelists review many of the common taxpayer questions and tax breaks as well as IRS services. For example, the IRS specialists discuss deductions that taxpayers often overlook, issues related to claiming dependents, how to take advantage of free IRS assistance and under what circumstances social security benefits are taxable. IRS personnel from around the country will participate, including Milwaukee's public affairs officer Ron Fleissner.

Letters to the Editor

1-23-87 for the education of our children.

Letter to the Editor:
Subject: Middle School Basketball

I would like to commend the sports program in the 7th and 8th grade boys' basketball team.

A school board member is the most political office holder that most people can come in direct contact with. A school board member is not only a "meeting member" but must make him or herself available at all times to hear and discuss any problems or compliments that a taxpayer might have. It is understandable that a board member might miss a meeting for various reasons, but when elected, a board member must make a commitment to attend all meetings humanly possible, and not neglect this duty. A board member must know the district he or she is representing; a visit to all the property of the district should be a requirement. How can you make qualified decisions on buying, selling, opening or closing when you haven't even seen the property involved?

I hope all of you readers will join me at the polls on Feb. 17 and vote for an improvement.

Thank you
Ronald Beimborn

Too much pressure is put on the high school coaches that they play only their best 7 or 8 players, because they feel they have to win. They work long forgotten what teamwork is all about. This teamwork is being established by the 7th and 8th grade coaches now. Not only are a few choice players getting better, but the whole team, every player, is developing more skills. Sure my son doesn't get to play as much as some of the others, but he and the others are improving their skills with every game.

These coaches have done a great job in such a short time. Thank you for the time and effort you have put into developing our team. I just wanted you to know that we do appreciate your hard work and dedication.

Respectfully,
A Grateful Parent

To the Editor:

As a candidate of the Kewaskum School board election, I would like to present a few of my opinions:

I feel that the number one priority of a school board is the education and welfare of our children.

I also feel that the school board members have an obligation to their constituents; the people that entrusted them with the office they hold.

Board members have a sobering duty to control the distribution of the money entrusted to them by the people

The board members have to conduct themselves with the dignity and decorum of their office. Personal and individual conflicts have no place at a meeting.

A school board member is the most political office holder that most people can come in direct contact with.

A school board member is not only a "meeting member" but must make him or herself available at all times to hear and discuss any problems or compliments that a taxpayer might have.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

RE: "The Old and The New"

This morning I heard a magnificent Chinese Minister who immigrated from the "Old Country" to the "New Country of America" thirty eight years ago and has been retired from full time preaching for the past ten years...The subject of his sermon was "What does it mean to be OLD."

A few of his examples were centered around the fact, that we parents - grandparents and great-grandparents are "Old Fashioned" - we dress "Old Fashioned" - we talk "Old Fashioned" - we act "Old Fashioned" - we think "Old Fashioned" AND we behave in "Old Fashioned Ways." Yes his sermon was SUPERB using as a foundation John Chapter 3 to drive his points home to our hearts. Some of the following examples are his, but most are mine.

WE DRESS OLD FASHIONED, taking advantage of year end sales where merchants are peddling their OLD merchandise at discounts in order to make room for their NEW merchandise. Usually we pay for the OLD way, with CASH and not the NEW way the younger generation pays - with plastic and often are still paying after the merchant is broken or discarded.

WE TALK OLD FASHIONED, keeping our language true and complimentary, trying not to take the LORDS name in vain - whereas the NEW way according to the prominent rock stars is to be CRUDE, RUDE AND MEAN not only with their words but their actions...Same goes for the filthy language on television and in PORNO MATERIAL, of which around 80% winds up in the hands of our children, the results of many studies and surveys.

WE ACT OLD FASHIONED, believing that women are a man's helpmate, to be loved and tenderly cared for - not treated as a piece of meat or a punching bag as many police reports will show. That parents should train up a child in the way he should go and the patience of a saint. The NEW way is to get all you can as fast as you can, even if it means parking the dear children with strangers or nursery schools where they learn all the wrong habits and talk practically from the cradle. The OLD way of entertaining was with family and friends in the home, while the NEW way is to host the kids with grandma, a sitter, or board them out while the parents go-out-on-the-town, fly off on a vacation or whatever. As a result children are growing up, not knowing where they belong and learning at an early age that they can get by with almost anything - which they do, just talk to teachers, principals and administrators where the children are abusive with their language, knives, bats and anything they can get their hands on especially when they are under the influence of booze and drugs.

WE THINK AND OUR IDEAS ARE OLD FASHIONED, there is a right and wrong, it is wrong to steal and lie, it is wrong to kill, children should honor and obey their parents, sex outside of marriage is a grave sin and a one-way-ticket-to-hell - while the younger generations are being taught in school Sidney Simons method of Values Clarification where it is OK to do anything if it is your own idea and value and was arrived at without outside interference from anyone else, including your parents...We also have the illustrious College Professor from an eastern university by the name of Sol Gordon, a SEX EDUCATOR, who over Wisconsin Public Radio, made the statement "That there were a hundred (100) ways a teacher could BOOTLEG SEX in every class."

SOL GORDON also said that SEX is very healthy. According to him, that would mean that when you get that ITCHY-ITCHY feeling GO FOR IT! This fits right in with what PLANNED PARENTHOOD teaches and furnishes birth control material and if our children don't have time to FIDDLE around with this stuff and get pregnant, don't worry, we also have the answer, AN ABORTION - KILL THE BABY, its only a piece of meat. Yet the experts are telling those who are concerned about their little baby in the womb, that if they want a healthy baby, DO NOT SMOKE, DRINK OR TAKE ANY MEDICATION unless they advise it, also, they are now figuring ways to wake the baby in the womb so that it will exercise and circulate the blood better.

The SEX EXPERTS are also teaching our children that HOMOSEXUALITY is great, JUST an ALTERNATE life-style, TRY IT, YOU MIGHT LIKE IT! The experts are treating SEX like it is a PLAY-THING and they are not teaching that there are fifty seven (57) kinds of venereal diseases in this NEW AGE, many which are killers with no cures - in the OLD DAYS there were only a few types of venereal diseases and there were cures for all of them. In the OLD DAYS, children had to have their parents permission for anything and everything, now in this NEW AGE they don't need their parents permission for acquiring birth control material or abortions, but they do need their parents permission for things like getting their ears pierced...

One certainly does not have to FALL OFF A HANUKKAH BUSH to see that our FAMILIES and our BELOVED REPUBLIC OF AMERICA are being DESTROYED by some kind of UNSEEN HAND.

Some Russian Communist made the statement that give me just one generation of your children and America will fall into our hands like some kind of rotten fruit, without a shot being fired!

LET THEM COME! us OLD TIMERS, who are walking with the LORD, know that to be absent from the body, is to be present with the LORD...Where will these NEW AGERS fit in and how will they COPE?

Signed:
AN OLD FASHIONED GREAT-GRANNY

County Volleyball Play Led by Local Men

The Tuesday night Jan. 21st State Mutual Life's Volleyball team's 4 game set was a top notch performance stated Norbert Keller of 229 Forest Ave., Kewaskum.

This end of the 2nd quarter's session, gave SMA Life a 15 win - 5 loss rating one game off first play standing and a 27 game overall season to date. A special occurrence and a WB REC Dept. "first," was the 15-0 score game, served by Walter Teague. As a new team member he added to this with good setting and dike-shots all evening. In late November, an initial 4 game-shut out was captained by Chao Xiong, Kewaskum, a stellar spiker, and play maker the past two seasons.

The West Bend Rec. Department's weekly volley-ball report commented on the fine-spiking effort of Keller, and Randy S. Miller of West Bend, along with several 5 point-plus serve-runs by both, and 3 key blocks by Norbert. Ken Stauss the team's premiere setter made Miller and Keller's exemplary spiking easy with "perfect sets," well placed dike-shots and good play effort. Another experienced volleyballer, George M. Forst has made 5-game saving blocks over previous three Tuesdays, been a masterful setter and given the 1986-87 team needed defensive strength. Improved play by L.R. Wright, Roy Stern and Glen Schulz, in serving, setting, plus over all game play, has round the second - 20 game spurt.

Other Kewaskum teams, Regal Ware, chaired by James Moran and squad member Jeff Reigle were 28 and 12 total season to date, prefaced by a 15 and 5 posting during the initial 5 weeks. B.J. Company, a UWWC Men's Rec. League group, numbers Kewaskum residents, William Heckl, Bill Wuebben, George Allmann and David Wietor among its 1986-87 members and a current strong contender in Tuesday nights.

Besides Keller's many interests of basketball, baseball and summer-softball recreation, his overall sports leadership was recognized in his being named the Outstanding Player of the 1985-86 Volleyball Award, stated John P. Leithold, veteran team player and former Keaskum area resident. This years squad has shown a "new team spirit" over the past 20 games; said Keller, despite a mid season-loss departure of Neng Xiong, West Bend, and Chao Xiong, Kewaskum, through job relocation and this proving a major rebuilding year.

One Week Signup for Ag Conservation Program at ASCS

A one week signup, Feb. 2nd thru Feb. 9th, will be held for the Agricultural Conservation Program, according to Allen Peil, Chairperson of the Washington County Committee.

The ACP is an incentive program which offers cost-sharing to encourage farmers to install conservation practices. All requests filed prior to and during the signup will be screened by the ASC Committee after the signup. With a limited allocation, the committee will approve practices with the highest priority. This means saving the most soil for each dollar spent, according to Mr. Peil.

Practices offered in Washington County include permanent cover establishment, strip-cropping, terraces, diversions, contour farming, no till systems, water control structures, stream protection, sod waterways, animal waste control and forestry. Practices selected will be referred to Soil Conservation Service. Once approved, the farmer must install practices according to their specifications.

Short-Handed Lakes Team Falls Victim to Hebbring Hotel

By Bob Pick II

The one-week honeymoon that the Kewaskum Land O' Lakes basketball team had following its brilliant 157-133 victory over Port Washington, came thundering to a halt Sunday afternoon, as Menomonee Falls Hebbring Hotel defeated the Lakers, 144-123.

The instruments of defeat was a new definition for layups by Coach Bill Backhaus. Backhaus was referring to Hebbring Hotel's Ron Hayek who made six straight 17 to 25 footers in the fourth quarter, "layups."

"That was the game, when we gave him all those...easy layups," said Backhaus. "That is the way he plays. When he was hot the basket was like an ocean. The exhibition of outside marksmanship even had Hayek passing up an unmolested dribble-in for a layup in favor of a 20-foot shot. There was nothing, but net for the marksman. When Hayek eased off, Mike Ehler picked up the slack in similar fashion. Ehler finished with a game high 45 points, 17 of them coming in the first quarter. Hayek's best quarter was the fourth, scoring 16 of his total 43 points.

For Kewaskum Leon Laatsch had 38 points for the second consecutive week. Steve Albinger chipped in with 31.

The loss dropped Kewaskum into third place. Hebbring Hotel with its win is in a two way tie for first place with Cedarburg, both at 5-1.

This Sunday Kewaskum travels to Mequon to tangle the Thiensville-Mequon Twins (1-5). The game will be played at Homestead High School beginning at 7:00 p.m.

KM State Forest Trails Being Readied for Cross-Country 'Skating'

Trails in the Northern Unit - Kettle Moraine State Forest are being readied to accommodate a new variety of cross-country skiing — "skating."

This skiing technique uses alternating side steps on compacted, but not tracked, snow, according to Forest Superintendent Walter J. Adams.

"The new technique is rapidly becoming more popular," Adams explained. "People who like to race like to skate. Skating appeals to the person who is interested in physical fitness and a little more strenuous exercise."

Skating contrasts with the traditional cross-country practice of moving ahead on a two-track course. The skating skier uses longer poles and moves faster on the snow. The action resembles hockey skating.

Parts of all three trails in the forest are being prepared for cross-country ski skating, Adams said. A six-foot swath of flat, packed snow will separate the two types of trails.

The superintendent said he hopes skaters will respect the trail separation. Traditional skiing won't hurt the skating trail, he added, but skaters will damage the double-track pattern if they intersect it with side steps.

The forest offers more than 30 miles of groomed trails for cross-country skiing, Adams reported. During last year's ski season, more than 75,000 ski visits were made to the forest's three trails: Greenbush, Zillmer and New Fane.

This season's first snowy weekend, Jan. 10-11, brought out about 1,500 skiers, Adams said. From conversations between them and forest personnel, he estimates that about 20 percent of them use the skating technique.

"We'll provide both skating and skiing on all the trails but not necessarily on every loop," he said. "We want more input from skiers. We're trying to get a general idea of their interests this month, and we'll try to plan accordingly."

The trail work to accommodate skiers involves widening trails with the help of a newly formed volunteer ski club, the Northern Kettle Moraine Nordic Ski Club formed last summer. The group provides input for the Nordic ski program in the forest as well as helping with trail maintenance. The forest also will have a volunteer ski patrol on the Zillmer and New Fane trails weekend afternoons to furnish first aid to any injured skiers.

Maps and information on trail conditions can be obtained from the forest headquarters from 7:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays (414-626-2116) and from the Ice Age Center from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekends (414-533-8322).

Winter Nature Walk Feb. 8

A winter nature walk will be conducted at Glacier Hills County Park on Sunday, February 8th. Animal tracks and tree identification in winter will be the featured subjects.

Glacier Hills County Park contains a number of unique natural communities. The rolling terrain along Freiss Lake is partly wooded and contains many trails for hiking and cross country skiing.

Free and open to the public, the walk will begin at 1:30 p.m. at the Group Camp Area immediately inside the Park entrance. This presentation is a cooperative effort of the Kettle Moraine Audubon Society and the Washington County Park System.

Glacier Hills County Park is located at Freiss Lake just south of Holy Hill Road (Hwy 167) near Holy Hill.

Indian Girls Win Big Over Chilton; Downed by Oostburg

By: Michele Wiedmeyer

In action last Thursday night, fine shooting helped the Indian girls basketball team win decisively over the Chilton Tigers, 51-36. The girls shot forty percent - one of their better games this season.

The play early in the game was even, neither team taking a definite edge with a halftime score of 29-23, Kewaskum. But the girls took charge in the third quarter with scrappy play and good rebounding to hold the Tigers to just three points.

Pam Osterbrink led the scoring with 11 points, while Jenny Schneider and Jenny Hintz each had 8. Lisa Schneider led both teams in rebounding, pulling down 9, and Jenny Schneider defensively came up with 5 steals. Lisa Woelfel led Chilton with 15 points.

The JV girls also came away with a victory, 32-21. Cindy and Debbie Donath each had 7 points, Jean Klahn following with 6. Tisha Roher and Lisa Harlow each had 6 rebounds.

In non-conference play Monday night, the varsity girls lost a close match to Oostburg, 50-54. The girls seemed to start out slow, falling behind with a half-time score of 18-25. Many of Oostburg's points were scored on fast breaks. Still trailing after the third quarter, 28-37, the Indians rallied back in the fourth, led by Brenda Theusch and Pam Osterbrink, each with three baskets. They trailed by a single basket, 50-52, with just :15 on the clock, but Oostburg came away with the last basket, winning 54-50.

Brenda Theusch led the Indians with 11 points, Brenda Vetter and Debbie Felix next with 10 apiece. Jenny Hintz and Lisa Schneider chipped in with 8 rebounds each. Fresh Debbie Rimmel saw her first varsity time with the varsity squad, filling in for injured Jenny Schneider. Rimmel came up with 2 steals, 2 rebounds and 2 points.

The JV team also lost, 33-42. Leading the team were Ann-Marie Horner with 9 points, and Kim Kasseckert with 7. Debbie Donath pulled down 10 rebounds.

The varsity record now stands at 3-3 conference, 5-8 overall. The JV team is 4-2 in conference, 6-7 overall.

Indian Gymnasts Having Fine Season

Kewaskum's hopes for a successful season in Class B Gymnastics got a boost Saturday when they finished third in the Chilton Invitational, only two points out of second place. Valdres took second and Markesan won the top honors. After the first two events Kewaskum held a small lead with their best and worst events still to come. The uneven bar performers had the best team score of the season but they still lack the experience and difficulty to score competitively. The normally strong vaulters came up short with a team score of only 20.15, where they normally score around 22.0.

Receiving honors for K.H.S. were Chris Kirchner third balance beam - 7.1; Sherri Batzler sixth uneven bars - 6.6 and Renee Kapp sixth vaulting - 7.1. Sherri took seventh on beam and eighth on floor tying Chris with 7.6 on that event.

Despite an incomplete team the KHS gymnastic team placed well against West Bend West last Thursday. Missing Shelly Petsch because of illness and Carrie Batzler because of an ankle injury, the varsity team had to compete with three girls on floor and only two on uneven bars and beam. Those two girls, Chris Kirchner and Sherri Batzler, lead the team with second and third place finishes respectively, on beam and floor. Jonna Froelich lead West Bend by placing first in all events.

Also having fine performances for Kewaskum were Nanci Goeden second vaulting, Jackie Voge third vaulting and Sherri received second on bars.
