Peace Church Premieres Local Author's Heavenly Drama

"Profits Down, Prophets Up," a drama written by Betty A. Bettin, will be presented during the 9:30 a.m. worship service at Peace U. C. C. Church in Kewaskum on Sunday, June 14. The community is invited to join church members in attendance. This production marks the first Wisconsin presentation of the play since its publication in April 1987 by Contemporary Drama Service of Colorado Springs, Colorado, a division of Meriwether Publishing, Ltd. of Chicago.

The play, written in 1985 for presentation at St. John U.C.C. in Arlington Heights, Illinois, concerns the priorities of modern man on earth as they affect God's heavenly plan. Humor, satire, and Biblical reference carry out the theme.

Rev. James Bettin, pastor of Peace Church and husband of the author, will appear in his original role of George Prigsby, deceased, who learns the difference between "profits" and "prophets" in a heavenly sense. Amy Funnell of Oshkosh, daughter of the Bettins, will recreate her role of Archangel Gabriella for the Kewaskum production. Peace Church members in the cast include Mitchell Ogi as the prophet Amos, Charles Petrie as Isaiah, and Milton Dickinsen as Micah. Shannon McFadden plays the heavenly messenger, and Thomas Tessar is cast as a voice which carries climactic results. Dennis Seideman is in charge of staging. Rev. Bettin directs the Peace Church drama group, which has also presented monologues during the 1987

Lenten season.

In addition to writing "Profits Down, Prophets Up," Betty Bettin has authored two melodramas and an advent dialogue drama, all of which were presented in Arlington Heights, Illinois. She prepared a Lenten devotional book of personal reflections for Peace Church this year, "Journey to the Resurrection," and is presently completing a book of 30 meditations on human needs for shelter as a volunteer project for Habitat for Humanity, a national Christian outreach program. She holds a degree in Secondary Education from the University of Wisconsin in Oshkosh with majors in English and history. She has taught at North High School in Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

Schmitt Recommends Bi-Monthly Meetings Action on 1987-88 Budget Tabled; Other Business

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Even though the Kewaskum School Board never touched on the subject of next year's budget, its meeting Monday night, again, turned into another long drawn-out affair. Had the board addressed the subject of the budget, the meeting, no doubt, would have run well past the 'witching hour.'

Because Business Manager Cherna Gorder was involved in an auto accident on her way to the meeting and unable to attend, the board voted to delay any action on the budget. Board member Perry Ankerson said he had several questions and preferred to wait until Gorder was available to provide the answers. Several of the board members agreed they could not vote on the budget until some items and questions were clarified.

District Administrator Penny Kleinhans suggested a special meeting be scheduled as soon as possible, noting delays would cause a conflict with vacations and notices for the Annual Meeting. A tentative meeting was set for June 23rd, unless an earlier date can be arranged.

In other business the board tabled first readings on several policies. Board member Ruth Schmitt informed the board that because there had not been a quorum present at the Policy and Legislation Committee's meeting, no action on these recommendations was taken.

The board also denied a request by Michael Gundrum to accept a land-swap in an effort to detach his property from the Kewaskum School District to join the Lomira District.

Schmitt said the reason for the board's denial was the fact the property in question being offered in the exchange did not contain any residences. She also noted, should Gundrum sell his property, it would mean the children of future families would not attend the Kewaskum School District.

Gundrum indicated he would appeal the board's decision last month to deny his detachment petition.

Buildings and Grounds Superintendent Fred Boehlke updated the board on repair work for the high school home ec room, restrooms, and the Wayne School well. He told the board, additional repairs to the main girls and boys restrooms were estimated to run around $3,000, however, he had not gotten any bids on exact costs to replace stalls, outer doors, and regrot wall tiles.

The cost to repair 17 wall panels in the high school office was estimated at $765. Money for the work would be taken from funds previously designated for paving repairs in the district.

In other business Schmitt asked the board to consider going to a bi-monthly schedule, holding regularly scheduled meetings on both the second and fourth Mondays of every month.

The board did not take any action on that recommendation, however, on a 5-2 vote, the board did approve scheduling one meeting at each of the district's schools during the year. Kleinhans told the board such action was not likely to draw any larger attendances for board meetings and it would make it inconvenient having to move equipment and records from school to school. It would, she said, give the board, as a group, the chance to see each school building.

Schmitt also made a motion to institute a math class for low achievers. Julie Backus, Director of Instruction, informed Schmitt that the Math Committee was already looking at such a course.

Board member Donald Nowak indicated he would like to see some study done on the subject before voting. Backus said the committee should be able to present its recommendations to the board by the end of the year.

Another item addressed by Schmitt was upgrading of the district's newsletter. Both Kleinhans and Graphic Arts teacher Dan Wangerin felt there had been considerable improvement in the letter over the past year. It's a hard job to collect information, put it together into a newsletter and print it, noted Wangerin. He told the board the district could

Prison Term for Farmington Burglary

James R. Allen, 45, of 319 Jefferson Street, West Bend, has been sentenced to four years in prison, plus four years probation after release for the August 24, 1986, burglary and vandalism of the Virgil Hackbarth home, 2280 Highway 28, Kewaskum.

Besides the prison term, Washington Circuit Court Judge J. Tom Merriam ordered Allen to make $11,263 in restitution for the crime.

Allen was apprehended by a Sheriff's Deputy last August 24th as he was leaving the residence. He had removed guns, food and other items from the home. Allen had also trashed the home and its contents, smashing furniture, antiques, televisions and threw food throughout the house.

Allen also drove one of the family's vehicles through a closed garage door.

On April 16, Allen had pleaded no contest to felony charges of burglary and criminal damage to property.

Allen's criminal record goes back to 1961, and was said to be a related factor to his alcoholism problems.

Many people wrote the court expressing their anger that Allen had been freed on bond and asked that Allen be sent to prison.

In a letter Hackbarth wrote, "Even now that we are living in the house again, we just look at some items and remember the tragedy."

Scott Kulas Chosen to Participate School In UW Talent Search Honors Day

MADISON — Scott Kulas (center), 109 Main Street, Kewaskum, was among 23 Wisconsin high school students chosen to participate in the 1987 Talent Search Honors Day May 14 sponsored by the College of Engineering and the department of mathematics at UW-Madison.

The day included a luncheon, lectures by UW-Madison mathematics faculty members and a tour of the university's Physical Sciences Laboratory.

do a really fine job of putting out a letter if it wanted to spend about $8,000 for equipment. He asked the board to "be patient and wait to give Mrs. Staehler a chance to develop this letter into what you want."

Schmitt also addressed her concern about seeking legal advice by the board or administration. Schmitt said, "In the past year, opinions have not been shared with all seven board members. This has created disharmony on the board." She felt there needed to be some changes in the board's by-laws.

Ankerson was angered by Schmitt's comments. "It's a big fat lie" he said. Ankerson indicated to his knowledge, no board member had been withheld any information. He asked where she had gotten her information. Schmitt replied she had been told. "Then you don't know this firsthand" said Ankerson. "Mrs. Trapp and Mr. Horner gave me the feeling this was the case," said Schmitt. The support for this policy is based on innuendo said Ankerson.

Trapp discussed the need for repairs at Beechwood School. Kleinhans said the school had been put in shape and cleaned up for use by the summer reading program. She said the damaged fence was also being looked into.

Trapp said the community

wanted to use the building for basketball and other activities. Kleinhans said, as far as she knew, anyone who had asked to use the building had been allowed to do so.

The board also discussed various committees and persons appointed to work on them. Board president Ralph Horner asked for a breakdown of costs for the 31 committees associated with the school district. They include groups such as the Steering Committee, Suicide Prevention, Human Growth and Development, curriculum studies, Alcohol and Drug Abuse, computers, etc. Backus said 20 of the 31 committees meet at a cost of $25.00 or less and the remaining eleven cost about $3,400 which covers items such as substitute teachers to release staff members to attend some meetings.

Trapp said, "I think it's about time somebody looked into what all these committees are doing." "Maybe we ought to establish another committee to do that," said Ankerson.

Horner also made assignments for the board's committees for the coming year. The Negotiations Committee will consist of Chairman Ronald Beimborn, and board members Donald Nowak and Ron Theusch. The Policy and Legislation committee will be headed by Ruth Schmitt, with Trapp, Beimborn, and citizens Norma Schoenbrook and Jan Hubbell serving. Finance - Transportation - Buildings and Grounds will again be chaired by Theusch, with board member Ankerson and citizens John Spoerl and Irene Gnacinski making up the balance of the committee.

The board then approved administrative recommendations regarding two school withdrawals and two coaching assignments.

The meeting adjourned shortly before midnight.

Number two is to add more economical values to our products. These goals will make our farmers more successful."

According to Strachota, "Dairyland Seed is committed to the future of agriculture through research. We are very confident that the Dairyland research team, led by Dr. Paul Sun, will provide American farmers the products they need in the future."

Dairyland Seed is a family-owned and operated company located in West Bend, Wisconsin. Dairyland distributes hybrid corn, alfalfa, and soybeans to farmer-dealers throughout the upper Midwest.

Rick Staehler Named U.S. National Collegiate Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Rick Staehler has been named a United States National Collegiate Award winner in Biology. This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American college students. Rick who attends Ripon College was nominated for this National Award by Dr. Robert Wallace, a professor at the school. Rick will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Collegiate Yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than every before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy. The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of professors, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a professor or director.

Rick is the son of John and Karen Staehler. The grandparents are Roman and Regina Staehler of Kewaskum and Alice Fickler of West Bend.

KES Academic Awards Announced

In 1983, President Reagan established the Presidential Academic Fitness Awards (PAFA) program. The program is designed to encourage students to achieve their full academic potential. The PAFA award is a certificate of recognition for outstanding academic achievement signed by the President, the Secretary of Education, and the school principal.

At the elementary level, only 5th graders are eligible for the award.

The following 5th graders at the Kewaskum Elementary School are to be commended for having placed at or above the 80th percentile on this year's Comprehensive Tests of Basic Skills on both the composite score as well as the math section, which was the criteria upon which the award was based: Meredith Farley, Justin Hanson, Paul Janik, Jeffrey Reno, Mark Stephani.

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

It was another very successful meet for members of Kewaskum's Special Olympics team as they participated in competition at the State Meet held in Stevens Point last week-end.

Coaches Kathy Charland and Jeanees Kudek saw all their hard work and time spent with the athletes pay off as the six-member team brought home a total of seven medals, three first place golds, three second place silvers, one third place bronze, and five ribbons.

All the team members faced stiff competition in their events as almost 2,000 athletes representing 148 teams from throughout the state participated in the three-day event.

In swimming, Joanne Stautz and Julie Morgan each won first place gold medals in the backstroke, and second place silver medals in the freestyle events.

In the 50 meter run, Stacy Mueller earned a third place bronze medal, Justin Oppermann fifth place ribbon, and Kim Frequez seventh place ribbon. For the 100 meter run, Tim Moody won a fourth place ribbon.

In the softball throw, Mueller won a first place gold medal,

Moody second place silver medal, Frequez fourth place ribbon.

Oppermann, participating in his first state meet, also received a ribbon for participating in a standing long jump exhibition.

The team also participated in the opening ceremonies parade, clinics, and attended outdoor activities and a dance.

Awards were presented to the athletes by Green Bay Packers Ken Stills and Karl Schwanke, and former Wisconsin Governor Lee Dreyfus.

Named Academic All-American

The National Secondary Education Council has announced that Anne Marie Kuehl has been named an Academic All-American.

The NSEC has established the Academic All-American Scholar Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the Academic disciplines. The Academic All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or better grade point average. Only Scholars selected by a secondary school instructor, counselor, or other qualified person are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the NSEC. These are awards few students can ever hope to attain.

Anne Marie, who attends East Rutherford High School, was nominated for this National Award by Mrs. Joy Cromer. Anne Marie will appear in the Academic All-American Scholar Directory, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in American history. Certainly, winners of the Academic All-American Awards should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the National Secondary Education Council.

The Council selects Academic All-American Scholars upon the exclusive recommendations of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors. Once awarded, the students may be recognized by the NSEC for other honors.

Anne Marie is the daughter of Robert and Karen Kuehl, Forest City, N.C. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Groh of Kewaskum, and Darlene Kuehl of Campbellsport.

Wisconsin produces 87% of the nation's Muenster cheese, 30% of the Brick cheese and 56% of the Bleu cheese.

Formal Dedication Of Cedar Valley in Town of Wayne

On Sunday, May 17, one hundred special guests gathered to tour, attend a special organ concert and participate in solemn dedication services at the Cedar Valley Meditation Campus in the Town of Wayne. A fellowship luncheon was served immediately following the dedication.

The Benevolent Corporation Board Chairman, B. Lass, pointed out that the dedication had to be a private affair because of limited seating. The invited guests represented people from all walks of life who have had a very real part in the establishment of this facility and program. Exemplifying this point were the eleven key speakers for the event: Representative of the United Church of Christ, Rev. R. Horst, Southeast Association Minister; Construction, D. Loomans and J. Benicke; Town of Wayne Chairman, R. Schmahl; Faith Haven Lay School Chairman, B. Loomans; Cedar Lake Home Campus Foundation Chairman, P. Bast; Benevolent Board Chairman, B. Lass and Board President, V. Adamson; Auxiliary Volunteer Chairman, S. Birkholz.

The dedication litany encompassed the main meditation building including its program and ancillary services; the animal husbandry facilities and program; the recreation facilities and program; the many artistic sculpturings, the nature trails and Cow Slip Park sod and paved tracks, including its Wisconsin Prairie; plus the overall campus purpose to provide a place where men and women can retreat to for a brief time of spiritual and physical refreshment.

Cedar Valley is now officially open to the public by reservation. It is owned and operated by the non-profit Benevolent Corporation of the Cedar Lake Home Campus.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed is a news release telling a little about our Educational Foundation for Foreign Study program. Also, the brochure explains our study program.

Anna Nobel of Norrkoping, Sweden, has spent the past ten months with Bruce and Beverly Falk and family, 348 3rd St., Kewaskum, Wisconsin. She has enjoyed her stay in Kewaskum and will be returning home in the next several weeks.

As a non-profit public foundation, we rely on media support in looking for new homes for the 1987-88 School year.

An interesting aspect to our program is that it is a study program and our students must take school seriously and maintain at least a "C" academic average throughout the school year.

EF appreciates the welcome that the community and high school has extended to Anna this past year. I know she has a better understanding of America and Kewaskum and she leaves behind many friends as well as the Host family Falk. Thank you!!

EXCHANGE STUDENTS NEED HOMES

Shirley Leisman of West Bend has received application papers for several high school exchange students who will be spending the 1987-88 school year in Wisconsin. The students are sponsored by Educational Foundation for Foreign Study, a non-profit organization arranging academic homestays for young people from 21 countries. As the local Area Representative for EF Foundation, Mrs. Leisman is now interviewing and selecting families who would like to host one of these young ambassadors.

EF Foundation students are between 15 and 18-years-old, and come from Europe, Asia and Latin America. They arrive in August and spend 10 months living with an American family and attending a local high school. Host families provide students with a bed, meals and environment. EF Foundation students speak English, are fully insured and provide their own spending money for the ten-month stay.

Families who are accepted to the program are invited to review student dossiers so that they may select the boy or girl they would like to host. Shirley Leisman encourages families interested in hosting to contact her as soon as possible. Anyone interested in being a host family or knowing more about the program can reach her at (414) 334-9606.

Dear Editor,

The Kewaskum High School "Odyssey of the Mind" team is still revelling in the exhilaration from competing at a world-class level with 602 other state/province championship teams from the U.S., Canada and Mexico. Our team scored high on its spontaneous problem and then "met the challenge" of the vehicle's smoking motor in the long-range problem. When faced with this unanticipated obstacle, the team exercised all of its think-on-your feet strategies!

Wisconsin OM team showed well and it was especially nice to have a neighboring West Bend elementary school place in their division. The charged energy of OM World Finals, meeting other team members, scrutinizing a variety of creative solutions...all have wetted our enthusiasm for next year!

The support and interest from our parents, teachers, classmates, plus the administration and the school board, and the Kewaskum community truly made us feel world class, not to mention terrific! During the months of preparation for this creative problem-solving competition, many people gave us time, energy and support. Special thanks to:

KL Home and Hardware, Star Auto Inc. and Regal Ware Inc. for material and supplies; Kim Peterson, our mechanical resource and the coach's patient spouse; Ken Weddig, the caretaker and transporter of props to World Finals; Mrs. Weddig and Mrs. Morlen, who provided us with both junk food and nutritious munchies, plus photographic services; booster/chaperones at World, the L.N. Petersons and the Mitchell Gebheims. Also facilitating our efforts all the way were OM coordinator Tom Larsen, asst. OM coach Larry Ammel and the KHS office staff, esp. Mrs. Gebheim.

The OM season is done that never stops and now that we've experienced World Finals '87, we're already strategizing for next year...."if you want to get to the top of the mountain, you must keep on climbing."

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

Once again we are being allowed to use the Beechwood school for our summer library program. This will be our 4th summer program in a row. These programs give the children that attend an advantage when school starts again in fall. They will have kept up their reading and comprehension skills over the long summer.

The name of our program this year is "It's a Three-Ring Circus." It's run in conjunction with the Random Lake Public Library. Our program will run every Tuesday morning - June 16th thru August 11th - from 10:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.

For every person signing up - their name will be added to our admission ticket and for every book read, a spectator will be added to our Big Top.

We have many fun things planned - these include pictures to color; mazes; filmstrips and a storytime. Storytime will be at 10:30 a.m.

We are planning a special event this year. The circus is coming to West Bend on July 16th. It will be held on the VFW grounds and we're planning on the 2:00 show.

If you have any questions call me at 626-4418.

See you there -

Re: Kewaskum School Board Meeting - June 1, 1987

It was very "heart-warming" to see the meeting opened with "A Pledge Of Allegiance To The Flag Of The United States of America."...Honoring God and Country - Do the children, each morning, have the same "HONOR" before they begin their days work of learning? We did when we were in school!

With regard to the budget that was presented - I thought it was very well presented, considering the amount of information used...I felt very sorry for the School Board Members, some very new, for they were trying to make very important decisions with only a few of the facts, of which I will state a few:

A total budget of $6,996,622 and not counting any depreciation or amortization of the fixed assets added - could go well over $8,000,000.00 (million). Thus costing around $4,500. to educate each of the 1,786 students, stated, in a period of 180 days (number of days students are required to go to school in a year).

Teacher's salaries 1987-88, $3,410,486 compared to 1985-86 (the only audited figure available) $2,913,844 - a difference of $496,642. or an increase of over 17% - with no mention of number of students or teachers involved...also no mention of what the budgeted figure for 1985-86 was...ALSO, with regard to teachers in the 1987-88 Budget - 116 teachers (full time equivalent) divided into the $3,410,486 = $29,400 each + benefits which are not stated separately, but according to other calculations, including all direct and indirect benefits is around 40%, or in this case $11,760...This, when added to the average teacher's salary comes to $41,160 a year average per teacher for a period of 9 months or 180 days OR ABOUT $230.00 per day (that's more than many people make in a week).

Textbooks in a 3 year period, from the budget, cost $113,900 + workbooks $77,900 = $191,800 for just textbooks and workbooks (not counting all the other "AIDS," like VIDEO, COMPUTERS, LIBRARY BOOKS, which comes to another fantastic total)... COMPUTERS - can you believe that small children, kindergarten on-up are "FIDDLING" around on them - YOU BETTER, IT'S TRUE!

The whole budget is full of so very many questions!

WHY can't the School Board Members and interested taxpayers be furnished with a detailed budget from each school, which would reflect the details of each department...To include number of full time equivalent teachers, students, administrators, custodial - maintenance, clerical, substitute teachers, aides, CESA, etc. along with a detailed list of all items of $100. or more, by whom and reason why, also, a detailed "NARRATIVE" which would explain, in detail, all department plans, goals, textbook changes and why, additional training needed by the teachers, AND WHY!

When I was involved in budgeting, this was STANDARD PROCEDURE! In addition to all the little budgets with their narratives, you would have the CONSOLIDATED BUDGET with it's narrative AND THIS INFORMATION had to be in the hands of the BOARD NO LATER THAN ONE WEEK BEFORE A BUDGET MEETING!

These dedicated School Board Members deserve every consideration from THEIR EMPLOYEES - it is, for sure, not the GLORY or MONETARY consideration that is involved...IT'S FIDELITY!

A Salute to Wisconsin's Dairy Farmers

In celebration of June Dairy Month's 51st Year, we offer a salute to the people who serve us all - Wisconsin's dairy farmers. Dairy farming in the United States started in Jamestown when the first settlers brought over dairy cows. Since then, thanks to the dairy industry and to the dedication of those who have become part of it, dairy farming has grown to one of our most important agricultural endeavors. Wisconsin's 39,000 dairy farmers produce 35% of the nation's cheese supply, as well as other nourishing dairy products consumers enjoy each day. We salute the dairy industry for the important role it plays in Wisconsin's economy.

MADISON, Wis. — Imagine large, black and white dairy cows grazing peacefully on the lush green pasture of Wisconsin's rolling countryside. Imagine them chewing on $10 bills. Finally, imagine them producing $100 bills instead of milk.

Far fetched? Perhaps, but the idea of cows generating money is right on target.

In Wisconsin, cows symbolize the dairy industry and, according to David Dickson, the dairy industry "pumps between $15 and $20 billion into the state's economy each year." Dickson is chairman of the Wisconsin dairy science department and June Dairy Month chairman.

Wisconsin's 1,876,000 dairy cows are the foundation of a diverse and far-reaching industry.

One of the top three industries in the state, along with tourism and manufacturing, dairying provides 350,000 to 400,000 jobs or 15 to 17 percent of the state's labor force, according to Dickson. Today's dairy industry includes not only farmers and agri-businesses, but expert cheesemakers, processors, marketers, truck drivers, dairy case managers and many other professions. All assist in making and marketing a wide variety of fresh nutritious dairy products available at local grocery stores.

Other industries important to the state's economy depend on dairying, Dickson says.

The state's 39,000 dairy farmers depend on a wide range of service and supply firms to provide them with the inputs to produce milk. This includes building companies and contractors, equipment dealers, feed and seed dealers, banks, and many service firms. People who work for these agri-businesses are dependent on the dairy industry for their "bread and butter," he points out.

Once the milk has been produced by cows (with help from farmers, of course) it is hauled to one of the 350 dairy processing plants in the state. Processing, manufacturing, packaging, marketing, delivering and selling dairy products involves many Wisconsinites who, whether they know it or not, depend on the dairy cow for their livelihood.

The June Dairy Month chairman also cites important by-products dairy cows provide such as leather hides which are marketed around the world. Wisconsin also exports Wisconsin cheese products, whey products, butter and nonfat dry milk.

On the national level, Wisconsin has been the No. 1 dairy state for 75 years and produces 17.5 percent of the nation's milk or more than 25 billion pounds. Besides leading in production, the state also is a leader in dairy promotion. Preliminary estimates show commercial sales of Wisconsin dairy products increased nearly three times the national rate from 1983 to 1986. Nearly 85 percent of Wisconsin's dairy products are sold outside the state.

About three quarters of the milk produced in the state is made into cheese. Wisconsin produces 36 percent of the nation's cheese.

"Wisconsin will remain America's Dairyland. The industry is poised for growth and it will continue to positively affect the state's economy," predicts Dickson.

Freshly picked Wisconsin strawberries with that irresistible flavor will be available in markets and pick-your-own operations beginning in early June in some southern areas of the state. The early spring has moved the picking season ahead by at least one week says Bob Williams, marketing specialist with Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP).

"When buying harvested berries, look for firm, plump, full-colored berries that still have their green 'caps' on," advises Williams. "Medium to small berries have the best eating quality."

"For the freshest possible fruit and a fun family outing, you may want to visit a pick-your-own strawberry farm in your area," he says.

Harvest dates will vary due to variations in weather, soil types, plant varieties and cultivation practices. Picking will continue until late July in northern Wisconsin. Williams advised consumers to call the grower and check hours, crop availability and whether or not the producer provides picking containers.

"When picking, follow the guidelines of the operator. Don't pick green berries or white-tipped berries. Once berries are picked, they will still change color, but they won't continue to ripen. Protect newly picked berries from sunshine and don't leave them in a hot car. Refrigerate them as soon as possible," says Williams.

To choose a strawberry farm in your area, check local advertisements or contact DATCP for a brochure listing over 100 growers. To get the brochure, send a stamped, self-addressed business size envelope to Strawberries, DATCP, P.O. Box 8911, Madison, WI 53708. Another brochure, "Berry Good Recipes" is also available.

Dr. Edwards Submits Entry In Yarns of Yesteryear Contest

The following story is the entry submitted by Dr. R. G. Edwards, Kewaskum, in the recent Yarns of Yesteryear Contest.

The contest is sponsored annually by the University of Wisconsin Department of Continuing Education in the Arts, WRWA and Stanton and Lee Publishers, who invite senior citizens to submit their reminiscences.

FLYING FROM WAVE TO WAVE HOMEWARD BOUND

It was mid July of 1940 when my dear wife, Alma, and I decided to take a week's vacation with our three young children. We had telephoned Mr. Moody, proprietor of an excellent resort on Big Lake in northern Wisconsin, to arrange for our use of one of his larger cottages. For added pleasure, I suggested that we call my brother, Roger, and his wife, Olive, to join us for the week.

Roger and Olive were elated, and met us at the Retlaw Hotel the next morning. Together we left Fond du Lac, he in his two door Ford, and we in our two-door Chevrolet. In those days there were no freeways, and the road took travelers through every village and hamlet.

As we drove along the narrow winding road, the tall Norway pines reaching one hundred feet into the sky created a beautiful sight for two men who had grown up on the prairies of South Dakota. Only the tumbling tumbleweed, driven by the constant westerly winds, broke the monotony of the South Dakota landscape. Soon we saw the water of the lake glistening through the trees. The trail curved gently toward ten cabins.

Mr. Moody came out to greet us. After taking us to our cottage, he showed us our round-bottomed, sixteen-foot wooden boat resting at a short pier near the water's edge. The beach was a dandy, all sand and no rocks or weeds. The lake gradually deepened to five feet about two hundred feet from the shore. After all our possessions had been unpacked and placed in convenient areas for our use, I asked where our boys had gone. My wife said they had donned their swim trunks to try out the water. Imagine, if you can, my great surprise and fear too, when I saw my two boys about eight hundred feet out in the lake. They were jumping on and off a large inflated inner tube that we had brought along. Their joyous laughter floated to us, with no hint of fear or danger, as they played like two otters, swimming in the deep water.

Stifling the alarm I felt, I called loudly to the boys to come in to eat supper. The boys never knew how frightened I had been; however, I did praise them for their great ability to swim so well after taking the Red Cross training course the past two seasons. I cautioned both boys to always obey the rules given them by the Red Cross instructors. (Number one, never go into the water after eating a meal; second, always test the depth of the water before diving off a pier; and, third, never overdo—fatigue can overcome even a veteran swimmer).

That evening Mr. Moody came to our cottage and thrilled us with tales of his exploits on this lake. He described vividly his great catches of walleyes and northerners and explained where we should go to catch bass and muskies. "Pan fish are easy to catch anywhere on the lake," he said. Before he left he said we should go to a twenty-acre bay in the northwest corner of the lake. All the fish in the lake could be caught there, and the wind would not be a disturbing element.

About 8:00 a.m. Roger, my two sons, and I began our memorable fishing trip from our cottage on the southeastern shore of the lake. The round bottomed boat was ideal for my 1.1 H.P. Johnson motor. I had placed Roger on the middle seat with the oars placed for instant service if the motor stalled. The boys sat in the bow, sometimes with one leg hanging over the gun wale. They were very happy to be out on Big Lake, fully two miles long from east to west, approximately three-fourths of a mile wide.

This morning the sun shone brightly, and the water was very calm. After a twenty minute run we neared the mouth of the bay. The opening of the bay lay just ahead, and we moved into it for about five hundred feet, where we anchored on the windward side of the shore. Soon the fish began to bite, and all of us enjoyed ourselves very much, catching so many fish, most of them larger than either Roger or I had ever seen. Our only fishing had been from the small creek bank in South Dakota. Our one big walleye must have weighed six pounds.

At noon we ate our lunch and counted the fish we had placed on our stringer, thirty-two in all.

Shortly after we began to fish again, Roger noted the white caps out on the large lake. Overhead were fleecy white clouds, through which the sun still shown bright and warm. We fished another half hour, then became restless and decided to head for home. Now we could see waves, about one-foot high, rushing past the opening of our bay.

The boys and Roger pulled up the two anchors, while I filled the gas tank. With the fish in the boat, and Roger again placed in position for rowing quickly if necessary, I started the motor, and pushed out toward the large lake. We had no life preservers, for in those years they were not mandatory.

As the bow of the boat pushed out onto the lake, I measured the waves at one foot from crest to trough. Our destination was at least two miles, on a diagonal course from northwest to southeast, and the wind was blowing thirty miles per hour from the southwest to the northeast. With little thought of our danger, I moved the controls to full speed ahead, turning the bow toward each wave crest, then quickly switching the tiller arm so that the power of the motor would push the boat downwind of each wave. I repeated this procedure with great dexterity, as we moved farther out onto the lake.

Soon the crests were three feet above the troughs, and the white foam on each wave glistened and sparkled in the sunlight. From their perch on the bow, my two boys gleefully would catch a handful as it sailed by in the air. How I managed what I did is still a mystery. My God in heaven must have directed me how to handle the boat in these winds and waves.

I sat on the rear seat with my body facing south, so that I could see the waves coming from my right, and with my right hand on the tiller arm, I steered the bow into the oncoming crest of each wave, then quickly moved the tiller arm so that the boat moved forward about fifty feet with each wave. I repeated these movements as the boat moved over the water rapidly. Now in the middle of the lake the waves crested fully five feet above the trough. The water in the troughs was smooth, quiet and pale green, whereas the crests, with their white manes of froth, were bluish in color. My senses told me how radiant the waves were, but my brain continued my methodical movements.

From the middle of the lake I could see many people on shore. I prayed to God to keep the motor going steadily, while I looked down into the gleaming green waters, fully eight feet below my eyes. The boat seemed to fly with the winds, as each wave pushed it forward many feet. I called to the boys to sit tight, and observed my brother's very frightened countenance as he sat rigidly before me. Now we were all so scared we could not talk.

When we finally reached the calmer waters some five hundred feet from Mr. Moody's pier, I was able to turn the boat toward our cottage. Looking out at the lake, we all shuddered to see the large rolling waves we had just come through.

Our wives, my daughter Dolly, and Mr. Moody awaited our landing. Many other campers also stood nearby. They had watched our boat come up on each wave then disappear in the trough. We would have capsized had the motor sputtered for one instant.

Nearing the pier, I shut the motor off and told Roger to row us in ten feet to the pier. My brother, his face still ashen, looked helplessly at me and said "I don't know how to row a boat."

I looked upward toward heaven, murmured "Thank you, God for our safe deliverance." Quickly I restarted the motor to push us onto shore, where many hands pulled us up on the land. We all jumped out, so happy for the safe ending of our day of fishing, coming home in a boat that literally flew, from wave to wave.

Beware of Offers for Mail Order Fireworks

Even though it's illegal, hundreds of Wisconsin residents are being bombarded with mail order fireworks catalogs.

"It doesn't make any difference whether you drive across state lines to buy fireworks, or purchase them through the mail—it's still illegal to possess and use fireworks without a permit," advises Jane Jansen, consumer protection bureau director with Wisconsin's Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP).

According to Jansen, Wisconsin laws are very specific and quite rigid on the types of fireworks that may or may not be used within the state. Fireworks means anything manufactured, processed or packaged for exploding, giving off sparks or combustion. However, items like toy snakes, toy caps, sparklers, and champagne poppers are not considered fireworks and are legal unless controlled locally by city, village or town ordinance.

"We should all realize that fireworks present a very serious safety hazard, particularly for children," she adds. The Consumer Product Safety Commission estimates over 10,000 people were treated in hospital emergency rooms last year for injuries from fireworks. Forty-two percent of the victims were under 15 years old.

"Before you contemplate buying illegal fireworks, think of your own safety and the safety of children. Fireworks are illegal in Wisconsin because they can kill, blind, amputate and burn," Jansen warns.

10th Anniversary of Fond du Lac's Walleye Weekend Festival

The tenth anniversary of Walleye Weekend, June 13-14, promises to bring back "the best of the best."

Walleye Weekend festival Co-chairmen Bob Carew and Jeff Kuhn are expecting tens of thousands of visitors to the free family festival in Fond du Lac's beautiful Lakeside Park.

Headlining the festival again this year is the showcase event - the Mercury Marine National Walleye Tournament. This year it took only four days to fill the 300 spaces for the event. With a record number of out-of-state entries and over $50,000 in cash and prizes, this national tournament promises to be the best ever.

A new attraction will be the first U.S. National Ranking Walleye Weekend Sailboard Regatta. The site is on the southern shore of Lake Winnebago. The largest freshwater inland lake in the state has earned the reputation as best in the state for sailboarding. This colorful, exciting event is expected to draw professional contestants as well as interested amateurs and novices from all over the Midwest.

Exhibits, entertainment, food specialties, and music headline this two-day festival. Old favorites returning include the Scheer's Lumberjack Show, the World's Largest Fish Fry, Sports Olympics competition, the Walleye Run, volleyball tournament, milk carton boat races, the Sommer's sporting dogs show, MerCub boat rides and continuous music by over a dozen area bands.

Activities for children will abound in Familyland this year. Children can participate in the Junior fishing tournament; the largest youth run in the state; a student art exhibit; face painting; trike bike demos and more.

The Junior fishing tournament, patterned after the national contest, is open to all anglers 5-14. Izaak Walton League members preside over the event and Ronald McDonald will be on hand to present awards and entertain on both days.

There will also be exhibits of boats, motors, and other fishing-related merchandise. Fishing clinics will be conducted by tournament director Bobby Murray, a three-time world bass fishing champion, and Jerry McKinnis, host of ESPN's "The Fishing Hole."

The Walleye Run will take place Saturday morning and will feature races of one-third, one, two, and five miles. This year's youth race will feature a reduced entrance fee.

Milk carton boats, constructed primarily of milk cartons, compete in races and vie for design excellence.

The festival has free admission. Major sponsors include Mercury Marine, Miller Genuine Draft, and Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Oshkosh Inc. Food and drink will be available from nine concession stands staffed by service group volunteers. For visitor information and reservations contact the Fond du Lac Convention and Visitors Bureau, 207 North Main Street or phone 414-923-3010.

County Library System Receiving Final Aid Payment

State Superintendent Herbert J. Grover has announced the final payment of state aid to public library systems for 1987 operations. Wisconsin's 17 library systems will receive nearly $8 million to provide 10 services mandated by statutes and a variety of local programs designed to meet area needs.

Grover praised the locally appointed systems boards for their continued commitment to improving library service. "These boards help make public library system services effective and responsive in meeting the informational needs of all Wisconsin citizens," he said.

Public library systems are county and multi-county organizations that foster cooperation among all types of libraries. Major system activities include ensuring that system residents have access to any system library, responding to user requests through interloan of library materials, providing continuing education opportunities for librarians, and coordinating service planning. Locally adapted service programs range from automated circulation systems in urban areas to extensive bookmobile and books-by-mail programs in more rural systems.

The list of library aid payments includes $486,987 to the Mid-Wisconsin Federated Library System, Dodge, Fond du Lac, Jefferson and Washington counties, and $304,343 to the Eastern shore Library System, (previously the Sheboygan County Library System), Sheboygan and Ozaukee counties.

Applying for Recycling Project Grants in June

The Department of Natural Resources is offering grants to individuals, businesses and communities that have new ideas for recycling materials that most people throw out.

Waste Reduction and Recycling Demonstration grants cover 50 percent of the costs to develop/demonstrate new recycling techniques. No grant can exceed $75,000.

"These grants can offer important incentives to communities, recyclers and small businesses that just need a little seed money to try a new idea," said DNR Secretary C.D. Besadny. We've set some tough goals to cut the amount of landfilled waste in half by 1990, Besadny noted.

Applications for demonstration grants can be obtained from the DNR Bureau of Solid Waste Management, P.O. Box 7921, Madison, WI 53707. Applications will be accepted starting June 1 until July 2, 1987. Grant awards will be announced by September 1, 1987. Currently, the proposed state budget for the next two years includes $25,000 a year for recycling demonstration grants.

Proposed projects must demonstrate or field test new recycling ideas that could significantly reduce the amount of wastes buried in landfills.

The program has awarded state grants to such innovative projects as: Co-composting municipal garbage and treatment plant sludges to manufacture a soil amendment; funding research to extract wood sugars and clay from paper sludges; developing an innovative program to collect and process waste plastics; and demonstrate techniques for cutting and reusing old tires.

Attend State CA Conference

Citizen Advocacy Executive Director Susan Moser, Assistant Director Susan Goebel and CA Board Members Susan Sauer and Kathy Ramsthal recently attended a statewide CA conference at the Yahara Center in Madison, Wisconsin.

The conference included presentations by John McKnight and Tom Mosgaller.

The focus of the conference was the premise that CA provided the impetus for community volunteers to "bring exiled people home," said McKnight.

Citizen Advocacy assists and supports people who happen to have disabilities in crossing the bridge between the paid services they receive and the community of neighbors and friends.

Once involved with the community, people with disabilities may gain a broadened view toward "reduced dependency, increasing their inter-dependence outside of service agencies, and becoming able to see their capacity for building new possibilities for their lives" said McKnight.

Citizen Advocacy has the unique role of linking people with disabilities and volunteer Citizen Advocates, involving everyone in the broadened and enriched life in the community. Anyone interested in becoming involved in CA can call 334-3384 for more information.

Clatt, Pitzen Top Plymouth Stocks

By: Dick Jepsen

Fred Clatt of Sheboygan, and Jim Pitzen of Plymouth, tamed a field of 127 racing machines Saturday night at the Plymouth Fairgrounds to add their names to the growing list of different feature winners before yet another capacity crowd.

Sportsmen feature action got under way with Marv Kellar leading the first circuit before he brought out the first red flag by spinning into turn four and was hit by Mark Sanders and Chris Willadsen. The accident eliminated Willadsen and later forced out Kellar. Inheriting the top spot was the Camaro of Henry Dickmann leading Steve Hoffmann and John Born till the fifth lap when the red flew once again. This time defending champ Gary Laack's steering broke, forcing him to stop just outside of turn two. Dickmann pulled away from the field on the restart as a four car battle shaped up for second between Hoffmann, Born, Jim Pitzen and Mark Melger. Pitzen moved from fifth to third on the restart just behind Hoffmann, as John Born started to fall off the pace. Pitzen overhauled Hoffmann for second on lap eight and was dropped to fourth the next circuit, as Melger was able to slide by. Pitzen took the lead from Dickmann on lap ten as the duo went through turns three and four. Melger, (in the Dean's Machine) seeking his second feature win moved into second on lap eleven, dropping Dickmann to third. Pitzen had a six car length advantage over Melger as the leaders moved away from the pack. Moving up to challenge Dickmann for third was Richard Hed of Sheboygan Falls as he got by both Hoffmann and Born. Hed held onto fourth only for three laps, however, before fading to finish seventh. John Born took over third from Dickmann on lap 18 and held the position to the finish. Pitzen was able to keep his advantage over Melger as the two finished a good distance in front of third place Born. Dickmann, Hoffmann and Mike Akright rounded out the top six.

The 30 lap modified feature started out as a two car battle between Ken Schulz of Plymouth and Fred Clatt of Sheboygan, but the second lap it became a three car battle as Frankie Heimerl of West Bend moved, alongside the lead duo. Heimerl, running well on the outside groove, moved a little too high coming out to turn four on lap three, which allowed Bill Johnson III and Tim Crimmings to get by before he recovered. It was then Johnson III took up the charge as he joined the lead duo on lap five. Moving into fourth was Don Goeden followed by Dennis Wesener who managed fifth only one circuit before spinning and dropping back. Clatt, dogging Schulz since the drop of the green, was finally able to get by the leader as he moved to the inside of him in the front straightaway. Once in front, Clatt ran the last twenty laps uncontested for the win. The battle for second, however, was not decided until the final lap as Johnson III (a fixture on Schulz's bumper almost the entire event) was able to slip inside of him as the duo received the white flag. Finished fourth behind Schulz was Cato's Chuck Tuschl, while Dave Deicher of Plymouth rounded out the top five.

Dave Murre of Random Lake survived four red flags enroute to his second hobby stock feature in as many weeks. Murre, the second heat winner, worked his Plymouth Road-Runner from the rear of the field to take the lead from Eddie Gerlach with just three laps remaining. Gerlach, leading the first seventeen laps, lost his bid for second on the last lap. He was passed by Chuck Amweg coming for the checkers, and dropped to third.

Greg Otte of Sheboygan Falls won his first race of the season capturing the "A" Semi feature. Otte took control on lap three and never looked back, finishing well ahead of runner-up Johnny Corrado of Campbell-sport and Kelly Skelton. Brian Titel of Sheboygan had a big night as he won both the fifth mod heat and the B semi.

Frank Geiger of Whitelaw won the sportsmen A semi over Dale Bauer of Sheboygan Falls and Ada's Mark Froh.

Otte & Geiger received the Etchie Biertzer Memorial Trophy for their semi wins due to the cancellations of last weeks semis.

Randy Walter, winner of the third heat, also won the B semi. Jim Kroening of Milwaukee won the hobby semi. Spectator race winner was Brad J. J. Jr. Mueller of Random Lake in a 1978 Pontiac Trans Am. Racing continues every Saturday night and on June 20th an Old Timers race will be run. Two of the drivers already signed up are Ken "Mighty Mouse" Markwardt of Sheboygan and Tom "Tom Cat" Sippel of Plymouth.

Kewaskum Still Winless

The Kewaskum Indians played well but not well enough to win against a tough Plymouth Panther team in Plymouth last Monday, losing 5-2.

Plymouth ace, Troy Petrie, limited the Indians to six hits while striking out six. Kewaskum starter, Mike Heberer who yielded just two earned runs before giving way to reliever Troy Zimdars in the sixth. Heberer struck out five and walked four while Zimdars struck out two and walked none in one and two-thirds innings.

The Indians got their first run in the second as junior Mike Morell got a single, and a sacrifice bunt by Joel Serwe, Noel Stollenwerk lined a single to left center to score Morell. Then in the sixth, senior Mark Schlosser led off with a double and Jeff Miller brought Schlosser around with a single to center; but that was all the Indians could come up with against a tough Panther team.

Miller and Stollenwerk had the two Kewaskum RBI's while Jeff Pictsch had two hits and four RBI's for Plymouth. Todd Sturbe and Joel Schumacher also had two hits apiece for the Panthers.

Indians Show Good Rally, But Still Lose to Huskies

The Kewaskum Indians hosted the New Holstein Huskies last Tuesday and the Indians played well for six of the seven innings and ended up paying for their one inning of miscues with a 5-3 loss to the Huskies.

The Indians gave starting pitcher, Noel Stollenwerk an early lead when in the first, Mark Schlosser led off with a walk and Mike Heberer followed with a single and then stole second, a pitching runner on second and third with no outs. After two strikeouts, Stollenwerk helped himself to an infield single, scoring Schlosser.

Stollenwerk got himself into trouble in the second when he loaded the bases and then proceeded to walk in two runs. Some nice plays in the infield got him out of further damage.

Kewaskum's other runs came almost the same as the first. In the third Schlosser led off with a hit, then Heberer doubled, putting runners on second and third with no outs. A strikeout and infield fly followed, and with two outs, Stollenwerk again followed with an infield single to score Schlosser. Then in the fifth, Schlosser singled and scored, Joe Hynst's shot to the first baseman, which careened off his glove and into right field.

Disaster struck for the Indians in the seventh as a couple of hits combined with two Indian errors led to two Huskie runs that amounted to a 5-3 Huskie victory.

Schlosser and Heberer each had two hits for the Indians, while Stollenwerk had two hits and two RBI's. Pete Engler led New Holstein with a two by two effort while Jeff Burg and Jamie Mertens also added two hits a piece in four at bats.
