Village's Gross Tax Rate Down 4.9%, But...

Net Tax Rate Up 1.9%

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Village Board Monday night, set the 1987 tax rate and it reflected some confusing numbers. While the village's gross rate dropped 4.9%, or $1.34, from $27.42 in 1986, to $26.08 for 1987, the net rate, after the state tax credit, increased 1.95% or 45c, from $23.05 in 1986 to $23.50 for 1987.

Village Administrator Dan

Schmidt explained that the gross rate decrease was the result of taxes levied by the Kewaskum School District dropping considerably. He noted, however, that while the school district will realize a substantial increase of 19.9% or $122,566 in state aids for 1988, that increase will affect property owners because the state tax credit will be proportionately reduced to offset that increase. He said other taxing agencies have also increased their rates. The County's rate is up 50c per $1,000 of assessed valuation, MPTI added another .6c, and the State is up .2c. Schmidt said the village has no control over these increases, it is just mandated to collect those taxes.

The reduction in the state tax credit reflects a drop of 40.9% or $1.79, from $4.37 in 1986, to $2.58 per $1,000 for 1987. The net tax rate increase of 1.95% or 45c, per $1,000 of assessed valuation is due in part, to the substantial drop in the state tax credit.

A breakdown of the 1987 gross tax rate is as follows: Village of Kewaskum $7.08 up 4.3%; Washington County $3.90 up 14.8% State 20c up .8%; Kewaskum School District $13.25 down 13.9%; MPTI $1.65 up .4%, for a total gross tax levy of $26.08 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, down 4.9%. Less the state tax credit of $2.58, which is down 40.9%, this results in a net tax rate of $23.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation for 1987.

Based on the new tax rate, a homeowner whose house is valued at $50,000 will see his taxes go up by $22.50, taxes on a $60,000 house will increase $27.00, and on a $70,000 home $31.50.

In other action, the board approved the purchase of a replacement blower for the Water Pollution Control Department's aeration system at a cost of $12,412. Schmidt noted the new blower is replacing a unit which has been continually running 24 hours a day for approximately 16 years. The old blower broke down about two weeks ago.

The board also approved a bartender's license for Robert Nusslock.

Members of the audience will have opportunities to express their opinions and ask questions of the legislators. The public Forum will also be carried live on Cable Channel 34 for those individuals who will be viewing the program at home. The Boards of Education from West Bend and Kewaskum, however, urge citizens to participate in this democratic process and help the legislators in the decision making which they must do after the first of the year as they consider methods for financing both local and state governments, as well as school districts.

The Kewaskum and West Bend Boards of Education will be sponsoring a legislative Forum at the High School Auditorium on Monday, Dec. 7, from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Representatives Mary Panzer and John Merkt, and Senators Carol Buettner and Donald Stitt will be presented to discuss efforts of the legislature to bring about property tax relief. Jonathan Barry, who was chairperson of the local property tax relief commission, will also be a member of the Forum and will discuss the recommendations made by the Commission to the legislature and Governor. Eight Year Term for Shefond Robbery

Statesman Staff Writer

Kevin Pierce, 20, of Fond du Lac, has been sentenced to eight years in prison for the February 16th robbery of the Shefond Self/Serv gas station.

Pierce, who has been accused of a chain of robberies which occurred last spring, is also being charged with armed robbery in Fond du Lac, Manitowoc, Marathon, Sheboygan and Outagamie Counties. Washington County was the first to sentence Pierce.

Pierce pleaded guilty last October to robbing the station. He had been identified by an employee during a preliminary hearing in June.

Pierce is also accused of taking several hundred dollars in the February 8th robbery of the Gourmet Mart convenience store in Fond du Lac. He has also pleaded guilty to unlawfully entering the Video Station store in Fond du Lac on January 19th, taking video equipment and more than $1,700 in cash.

In Manitowoc County, where he was being held until the Washington County sentencing, he pleaded guilty to armed robbery of a Kiel convenience store on March 2nd.

In Sheboygan County Pierce is being charged with armed robbery of the One Stop Mini-Mart on February 9th.

Each of the armed robbery charges carries a maximum term of twenty years. A burglary conviction has a maximum term of ten years and felony theft two years. The maximum sentences are increased by two years if a county charges Pierce as a repeat offender, which Fond du Lac County has done.

Seat Belt Law Went Into Effect Dec. 1

As of Dec. 1, "buckle your seat belts" is more than just friendly advice in Wisconsin. It is the law.

At a news conference Monday (Nov. 30), Ronald R. Fiedler, secretary of the state Department of Transportation, explained that Wisconsin's new law requires the use of seat belts by drivers and passengers, residents and non-residents alike, in front and rear seats of all vehicles.

Fiedler said the effective date of the new law coincided with the month in which the most traffic crashes occur. "I am especially pleased that the new law will be in effect over the holiday season, when people are more likely to encounter drunk drivers and roads are more likely to be slippery," he said.

The penalty for failing to comply is a $10 forfeiture, but specific added fees bring the total penalty to $32.90, Fiedler said. The added fees include $10 court costs, the new jail assessment fee of $10, a law enforcement training fee of $1.90, and $1 for circuit court automation.

Although the Wisconsin law

KEYS Concert Features Peter Ayer Ensemble

Christmas time is a special time: a special time for remembering and for being thankful. Christmas music is a very important part of this remembering.

The Peter Ayer Ensemble will be presenting a Christmas Concert on Sunday, Dec. 6 at 7:00 p.m. at Kewaskum High School. This concert will give all in attendance the special feelings of Christmas — the sounds and the remembering. "KEYS" Kewaskum Youth Scholarships, Inc. — which is a non-profit organization that provides scholarships to graduates of Kewaskum High School.

Advance tickets for the special KEYS Christmas concert put on by Pete Ayer Ensemble are available at Miller's Furniture, K & L Home & Hardware and Kewaskum High School. They are $2.00 for adults, or $6.00 for a family ticket.

Set Sunday, Dec. 6, aside for a very special evening of Christmas music for a very special cause — KEYS.

specifies "secondary enforcement" for seat belt violations, meaning that people may be cited for failing to use belts only after the driver has been stopped for another violation. Fiedler noted that there are well over a half-million arrests made each year. "When you add the stops for equipment violations, enforcement of the new law is not an idle threat," he added.

The law covers all vehicles manufactured after Jan. 1, 1972, which came from the factory equipped with seat belts. Fiedler said this includes autos, vans, station wagons, trucks ... everything except, obviously, motorcycles and mopeds. Operators of buses must also be restrained.

Fiedler explained that there are very few exemptions to the Wisconsin law. Taxicabs or vehicles not required to be equipped with seat belts are exempt. Rural mail carriers and newspaper and periodical delivery persons are not required to be belted, nor are survey crews working along a highway. Drivers and passengers who have to stop frequently, such as garbage collectors, law enforcement officers in emergency situations, and the off-highway use of farm trucks for planting and harvesting are other exclusions.

The DOT will establish a rule exempting people who have their doctor's written statement that wearing a seat belt would be harmful due to a physical or medical condition.

Fiedler said he believes that the compliance rate in Wisconsin will be above average in the region and the nation. "Wisconsin drivers are among the most law-abiding in the nation, as evidenced by our top ranking in compliance with the 55 speed limit," he said. "I am sure that this will carry over to the new seat belt law, as well," he added.

Wisconsin's child restraint law still applies to transportation of children under the age of four. Children under the age of two must be in approved child restraint systems, while those between two and four may either be in a safety seat or secured in the vehicle's regular seat belts.

Fiedler noted that separate citations will be issued to the drivers and to all passengers who are not wearing belts. However, drivers will be responsible for citations issued to passengers under the age of 16.

KEYS President Gerald Gosa accepting a check for $250 from West Bend Employees Credit Union presented by Mitch Gebheim, treasurer of the Credit Union. This check brings the Kewaskum Youth Scholarships Fund to approximately $25,000. The Gebheim's have a son attending Kewaskum High School.

Stray Shot Injures Campbellsport Hunter

A Campbellsport hunter who was struck by a shotgun slug suffered two broken ribs in a Thanksgiving Day hunting accident just east of Highway 41.

Ralph Janzer, 20, of 2156 County Trunk F, Campbellsport, was treated and released from St. Agnes Hospital after the accident at 10:10 a.m. Thursday.

Janzer's hunting party of five met a group of 10 other hunters in a field near Church and Kelly Roads in the Town of Byron, police said.

The victim was struck when the hunters shot at a deer that ran into an open area between Janzer and some of the other hunters.

The slug that struck Janzer in the chest may have ricocheted, according to a detective from the Fond du lac County Sheriff's Department who was sent to the scene. The slug, which did not penetrate the victim's jacket, has not been located, he said.

One of the hunters flagged down a passing vehicle which drove into the field to retrieve the injured man and take him to St. Agnes. Another hunter ran to a nearby house at 2404 Church Road to call an ambulance.

The newly married man and his wife were quarreling, and at the breakfast table, the husband tried to make peace. "What's for breakfast, darling?" he asked, with a sweet smile on his face. "Rats!" came the tart reply. "All right, dear," replied hubby. "Cook one for your self and boil an egg for me."

Then and Now Campus Notes

Helen Lauters of Kewaskum brought in the following nostalgic news item pertaining to the record books kept by her grandparents, Henry and Antonia Class, during the year 1913.

Note the prices then and now. Here are some of the items Henry and Antonia sold, and the prices they received.

- Butter (Jan. 28, 1913) 40 lbs. $13.29.
- Cheese (July 3, 1913) sold by gallon; 7 gals. $2.38.
- Buttermilk (Jan. 7, 1913) 5 cents a gal.
- Eggs (Jan. 28, 1913) 10 doz. $3.36.
- Six spring chickens sold for $2.90.
- One "old rooster" for 85 cents.
- Four gallons of lard $4.32.
- Oats 37 cents a bushel.
- Aug. 18, 1913, sold Bessie's calf for $10.00.
- Sept. 3, 1913, load of hay sold for $18.00; $13 a ton.

The list of money-earned notes the following:

Average per cow from butter, cheese, buttermilk and calves $104.61 without our own use of butter, etc.; with calves we raised averaged $109.86 per cow.

Raised three calves — $11 per calf.

An entry each month under expenses included the following:

Grinding, 75 cents; Whiskey $1.00 = $1.75. (That was Jan.).
Feb. 13, 1913: grinding 91 cents, salt 22 cents, whiskey $1.00.

One bu. of clover seed cost $8.25.

Dynamite $7.60.

Each month whiskey made the list, a medicinal aid already then, just like today.

The spelling and grammar were literally mistake-free.

There are 9,388 students enrolled for classes this fall at the University of Wisconsin - Stevens Point.

Because it has limited financial resources, the university is being instructed by the UW System Board of Regents to reduce its population from the all-time high of more than 9,500 last year to about 8,900 by 1990.

To achieve it, admissions standards have been raised and may even be tightened a tad bit more if there are more applications than can be accepted.

Chancellor Philip Marshall has said, for example, that this year's freshman class has the best academic credentials of any entering class in the school's modern history.

Area students enrolled at UW-Stevens Point include:

Kewaskum — James Karpinski, 1779 Hwy. A; Sandra Klein, 930 Prospect Ave.; Jeffrey LaMarche, 1338 Roseland; Heather Marsh, 4971 Hwy. MILWAUKEE — Named to the dean's list for academic excellence at Mount Mary College included:

Stephanie Amerling,

daughter of Allen and Jean Amerling of Kewaskum, a sophomore in occupational therapy and Lynn M. Geldreich, daughter of Richard and Mary Geldreich, daughter of Richard and Mary Geldreich of Kewaskum, a senior majoring in social work.

In the Service

Airman Therese M. Ramthun, daughter of Cora E. Ramthun of Rural Route 4, Campbellsport, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force law enforcement specialist course at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

Graduates of the course studied general law enforcement duties, tactics, weapons training, physical apprehension and restraint and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

She is a 1987 graduate of Campbellsport High School.

Air Force Staff Sgt. Daniel J. Whitty, son of Wilbur N. and Darlene R. Whitty of 220 Spring St., Campbellsport, has been awarded the Joint Service Commendation Medal at Norfolk, Va.

The Joint Service Commendation Medal is awarded to those individuals who demonstrate meritorious achievement or service while assigned to multi-service activities of the Department of Defense.

Whitty is a computer programmer with the Atlantic Command Defense.

Cathleen Dziedzic Appointed Business Manager at UWWC

Cathleen A. Dziedzic, 6020 Highway 28, Allenton, has been appointed business manager at the University of Wisconsin Center - Washington County, West Bend, effective Dec. 1.

In announcing the appointment, UWWC Dean Robert O. Thompson said that she was selected from a field of more than 100 candidates after a nationwide search.

Dziedzic said part of what she enjoyed about the job was "working with all those different kinds of people with different views." Along with her regular duties

Dziedzic has worked at UWWC since July 1976 and has served as acting business manager since last August. In March 1986, she became administrative assistant to Dean Thompson after spending nearly 10 years as his confidential secretary.

Prior to coming to UWWC, she was secretary to the assistant to the dean for special programs at UW-Milwaukee. There she was involved in such varied programs as the Native American Studies Program, the Spanish Speaking Outreach Institute, the Pilot Project for Inner-City Students, the Honors Program and the Freshman-Community Seminar Program.

Dziedzic said part of what she enjoyed about the job was "working with all those different kinds of people with different views."

Along with her regular duties at UWWC, Dziedzic has filled a number of temporary vacancies such as the one created when her predecessor, Ron Moss, resigned in July after 19 years as business manager to become assistant to the dean at Gillette Community College in Wyoming.

In 1986, she coordinated the offices of Public Information and Continuing Education at UWWC while a search was conducted for a permanent replacement.

As business manager, Dziedzic will be in charge of campus purchasing and expenditures; collecting tuition and fees; supervising fiscal clerks, faculty typists and maintenance supervisors; overseeing personnel, payroll and fringe benefit services; coordinating the use and maintenance of physical facilities, and auxiliary services such as the bookstore and food cooperative; and providing staff assistance to the Board of Commissioners.

Dziedzic received her B.S. degree from UW-Eau Claire in 1971, where she majored in elementary education and minored in French.

She and her husband, Jeff, have two sons, ages 9 and 12.

Over the years, she has been involved in Kewaskum school and Boy Scout activities.

In commenting on her new duties, Dziedzic said she is "excited" about tackling "something new and different."

Part of her excitement is the challenge of continuing at UWWC in a new role, she said. "I love UWWC. It's small. You have to get involved. That's what makes it so exciting; you get pulled into all the different campus areas."

This fair is unique in that the exhibitors try to re-create the atmosphere of an old-fashioned Country Christmas by dressing in costumes of yesteryear and by hosting various special events to make it a memorable experience for their customers. Some of these fun activities include Kris Kringle and Herself the Elf who will give free treats to children, free door prizes, Christmas carollers, and KID KRAFTER KORNER, an area set aside for kids to show their own craftwork.

A special quality control assures the best variety of handmade articles including handcraft, rugs, Christmas ornaments and decorations, toys, ceramics, woodworking, jewelry, live and dried wreaths, tapestries, baked goods and candies and many gift items.

There is lots of free parking and no admission charge.

The upcoming craft fair is run by local craftspeople and the exhibitors are all residents of Washington County, several of them from the Kewaskum area. In addition to this fair, many of our exhibitors also promote craftwork by giving lessons and demonstrations. The fair and the organization that runs it (Washington County Arts, Crafts and Crops

Association (non-profit) were founded in 1958 and have become a tradition for many of the customers. It has a special interest because of the varied activities that are offered and because it has set up a unique screening process that helps to keep the quality of the handiwork high.

Governor Kicks Off Educational Campaign For Safety Belt Law

Complimenting Wisconsin's "law-abiding ethic," Governor Tommy Thompson Friday called on all motor vehicle drivers and passengers to wear safety belts, and predicted that most would buckle up after the mandatory seat belt law became effective Dec. 1.

As he signed the bill into law, the Governor announced a Department of Transportation educational program intended to encourage seat belt wear and to make all motorists aware of the new law and its consequences.

"Once Wisconsin citizens become aware of the law — and with a gentle prod from fellow drivers and passengers — I'm confident the vast majority of our drivers will buckle up," said Thompson.

The Governor noted a DOT 1985-86 accident study showing that 30% of those involved in traffic accidents were wearing seat belts, nearly double the percentage who buckled up in 1983.

A DOT field survey last spring found 26% buckled up.

"Wisconsin citizens have a reputation for abiding by the law, and I believe those who have been reluctant or forgetful in the past will adopt the safety belt habit now that it has become effective," said Thompson.

"I expect Wisconsin will have greater compliance than our neighboring states," the Governor added.

Recent surveys showed 63% compliance in Iowa, 44% in Michigan, 36% in Illinois and 32% in Minnesota. Iowa and Michigan have primary enforcement, while Illinois and Minnesota have secondary enforcement, which means that an arrest can be made only in connection with another traffic violation.

Wisconsin's law will be restricted to secondary enforcement.

DOT's public awareness campaign, which is mandated by the new law, will include installation of 225 roadside signs on state highways throughout Wisconsin. The signs, with the message "Give Yourself a Hug — Buckle Up. It's Our Law," will include 47 on highways entering the state and 178 near major cities throughout the state. Signs will be installed at 50-mile intervals along major highways.

Stateline signs should be installed by Jan. 1, according to Harry Price, DOT traffic engineer, and by Feb. 1 on other roads.

In addition to news media publicity, the DOT has produced public service announcements for radio and television and a leaflet for distribution by state and local law enforcement officers. State highway safety officials, troopers and driver license examiners will participate in broadcast programs, news interviews and other public programs.

Federal highway safety funds will be used to finance the public information materials.

Fe..Fi..Fo..Fum! I smell..

If there's a natural gas leak in your home, what you'll smell is a harmless odorant added to the gas. This odorant is there to warn you that gas may be present and to help avoid an emergency. No matter how slight the smell, you should act at once.

A slight smell may only mean that a pilot light has gone out or a range burner may be partially on and not lit. Check out these things right away.

If you can't find the source of the odor, or if the odor is strong and seems to be everywhere, take these simple steps IMMEDIATELY

- Get everyone out of the building
- Don't use your telephone or turn any electricity on or off — it might cause a spark
- Never light a match
- Open doors and windows if you can do so safely
- Use a neighbor's telephone or a pay phone to call Wisconsin Gas.

Natural gas has a great safety record. Let's all work together to keep it that way.

Q. What's the secret to chewy cookies?

A. Most cookies have similar basic ingredients, but the proportions of ingredients and the method of result in a dizzying array of cookie choices. Cookies that are higher in sugar and especially cookies made with honey and molasses tend to be chewier.

Q. How can cookies be stored so that the crisp ones stay crisp and the soft ones stay soft?

A. Start with plain or lightly glazed bars or sturdy drop cookies. Wrap pairs in plastic wrap and arrange in a can, carton or other strong container. Pad the top with crushed paper and pack containers in cartons. Pad the containers from each other and from the side of the carton. Secure carton with strapping tape and wrap with heavy paper.

Panzer Votes Against Property Tax Relief, Reverses Position

State Representative Mary Grover (R-West Bend) reversed her position for the second time the past week on a measure to increase property tax relief.

Panzer voted to sustain Governor Thompson's veto of a $50 million property tax relief bill in a Special Session of the Legislature on Wednesday, effectively killing the bill for 1987. Two weeks ago she had voted for the same bill.

Representative Jeannette Bell (D-West Allis), author of the bill, questioned Panzer's true intentions. She questioned why, "Representative Panzer supported property tax relief two weeks ago and later voted to kill it."

Representative Bell suggested that Panzer was more worried about angering the Governor than she was about getting property tax relief to her constituents. Republican legislators have been urged by the Governor's office to oppose any property tax relief measures proposed by the Democrats this year.

The Governor has twice vetoed increases in the Homestead Tax Credit and the Farmland Preservation programs. Both programs target state revenues directly to property taxpayers. Each time the Governor has defended his vetoes by promising new relief programs sometime in the future. Yet, these promises continue to be unfulfilled.

"I thought we could count on Representative Panzer to support his increase, because she originally voted for it," stated Bell. "Now it looks like she didn't mean it. She and other Republicans seem very content to play political games while the interests of property taxpayers are forgotten."

Wisconsin Students Score Above National Average in Basic Skills Test

MADISON — Wisconsin public school students again scored above the national average on the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills (CTBS) administered last spring, State Superintendent Herbert J. Grover reported.

The CTBS is a commercially designed series of tests designed to compare students nationwide in three subject areas: mathematics, reading, and language arts. Scores range from the 1st to 99th percentile, with the national average being the 50th percentile.

Wisconsin student averages on the CTBS subtests in mathematics, reading, and language arts ranged from the 64th percentile in reading in the eleventh grade to the 75th percentile in mathematics in the same grade level.

"I'm pleased with the performance of our students," Grover said. "These tests give a general indication of how students are performing in three subject areas, and the results show that our schools are effective in helping students attain basic skills."

"I anticipate that even more effective instruction and related testing will occur in the future as districts implement the state's new educational standards," he added. "Wisconsin citizens can be proud of their schools' achievement levels to date and can be confident that school districts and the DPI will continue to address the critical skills of reading, mathematics, and language arts."

Nursing Service Receives Donation To Warnkey Fund

Washington County Community Health Nursing Service was recently the recipient of a generous donation to the Wm. Warnkey Fund. The fund was established in 1985 in memorial to Wm. Warnkey Sr., a long time Washington County resident and former county board supervisor.

The donor of the original and subsequent donations has requested that the gift be used to provide supportive home care services to elderly residents in Washington County who are not eligible for any funding source and unable to pay for the necessary services.

Washington County Community Health, Nursing Service provides a wide range of preventive health programs, in addition to individualized home care services. Home care is available to individuals who are sick and/or disabled, under the care of a physician, and require assistance to meet their health and personal care needs. A staff of registered nurses, home health aides, and therapists are available to provide the services required by the individual and ordered by the physician. Obscenity Issue Deserves Action

By Senator Donald K. Stitt

After immense pressure caused by hundreds of constituent requests, a public hearing was held October 27th on Senate Bill 31. This measure would create a new Wisconsin statute on obscenity. When you consider that SB 31 was introduced last January - and a similar proposal had died in the 1985-87 Legislature - a public hearing on the obscenity issue was long overdue.

As background, the U.S. Supreme Court formulated standards for determining obscenity in the 1973 case Miller vs. California. The test for obscenity outlined by Miller still exists as the basic standard to which law enforcement officials must adhere if they seek to successfully prosecute. The Miller tests, as it is known, holds that something is obscene if:

1. The average person, applying contemporary community standards, would find that the work, taken as a whole, appeals to the prurient interest.
2. The work depicts or describes, in a patently offensive way, a sexual conduct specifically defined by the applicable state law.
3. The work, taken as a whole, lacks serious literary, artistic, political or scientific value.

Wisconsin has suffered without an obscenity statute for seven years because our laws governing obscenity were declared unconstitutional in 1980. Senate Bill 31, in its definition of obscene material and performance, carefully incorporates language that should now withstand a constitutional challenge.

Yet, after continued efforts to bring this bill to the Senate floor for full debate and possible passage, SB 31 still languishes in the Senate Judiciary and Consumer Affairs Committee. Senator Lynn Adelman, Chairman of the Committee, has thus far refused to hold an executive session vote on the bill in Committee.

While retaining a bill in committee is not uncommon in the State Legislature, especially when the intent is to kill legislation, it is unfortunate that legislators are not afforded an opportunity to vote on such a key issue. Based on testimony at the October 27th public hearing, the majority of our citizens wish to see an obscenity statute on our books.

Why? Evidence tells us that the pornography business has become extremely lucrative. For instance, "dial-a-porn" service received 800,000 calls per day in May of 1983 and 180 million during the year ending in February, 1984. Industry observers calculate that adult bookstores outnumber McDonald's franchises. Also, as the volume of pornography has increased, so has the violent content of materials sold.

Also, the growing nature of pornography increases its adverse impact on society. Though no perfect field study exists on the effects of obscene material, experts argue there does seem to be a link between violent pornography and deviant sexual behavior. Most notably, violent pornography may trigger a potential rapist in that the act of rape is now generally regarded as an act of violence and aggression.

Looking forward to the two month floor period that begins in January, I am hopeful that the full Legislature will act on an obscenity measure. Our voters are asking for it.

If you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to contact me, Senator Don Stitt at P.O. Box 7882, Madison, Wisconsin 53707 or call my office at 608-266-7513 or leave a message with the Legislative Hotline at 1-800-362-9696.

Some people believe apes can talk but don't for fear of being put to work.

Maybe it's time you had one for your telecommunications system.

Imagine what it would look like if a football team decided to "wing it" out there on the field without a game plan. It would look pretty silly, wouldn't it?

Well, that's exactly what many companies do when it comes to planning and designing telecommunications systems. The results are costly.

That's where we come in to play. You see, we have shown you the most cost effective way to handle your information. No matter how unusual your needs are. In fact, we're the telecommunications consultant to the Super Bowl and a number of NFL teams. We provide dozens of communication systems that enable the press to get their stories out, spotters to talk with their coaches, and stadium security to talk to each other.

If we can do all that, just think of what we can do for you.

Isn't it time you had a game plan for your telecommunications system? Get in touch with us. Your GTE Account Manager will be glad to help you draw one up.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was received by Dr. R. G. Edwards, Health Officer, Kewaskum, and submitted by him to the Statesman.

COVENANT HOUSE
NINE-LINE
460 West 41st Street
New York, N.Y. 10036

Dear Friend,

Maybe you're one of the lucky ones — someone who would know exactly where to turn if your world fell apart.

But millions of people — especially kids — don't know what to do when they are about to self-destruct... or destroy someone else.

That's why I'm writing you today — to tell you about a bold new national helpline called "NINE-LINE" (1-800-999-9999) which can literally save these kids and parents. And to ask for your special Sponsorship support.

What is a NINE-LINE sponsor? It's someone who believes saving desperate kids, and parents, and families from heartache is so important. He or she contributes to keep the phone lines open... to actually "sponsor" three kids or more from their home state.

If there's any doubt in your mind why this new number is desperately needed, then take a look at these numbers...

- Every year, almost three quarters of a million kids will run away from home. Many of these kids (as young as 9 and 10 years old) will end up in America's big cities... alone... penniless... with no place to turn for help.

- An estimated 500,000 kids will attempt suicide this coming year....

- An estimated 5,000 will succeed....

NINE-LINE has been developed in response to this crisis. 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, we're there to answer the call. For anyone who needs advice and counseling. Any place in America. No questions asked.

When someone calls NINE-LINE, they're helped instantly by a trained staff member or volunteer who knows what to do and how to be helpful.

Within five seconds, our computers put up on a monitor all the appropriate community services in that city.

If a runaway or homeless kid calls from a street corner, we can direct him to help immediately... or even put him in contact with his family. If a child calls contemplating suicide, our trained staff will counsel him over the phone, ease his pain, and refer him to a support group in his town. And we can stay on the line with a conference call to make sure he is in actual contact with his family or agency that will guarantee help.

NINE-LINE works! And the reason is simple — we've got the experience to make it work. For 19 years Covenant House has been the acknowledged expert in helping kids deal with their problems. (Life Magazine once editorialized that we are "the yardstick by which all others are measured.") Each year, our emergency shelters across America take in more than 25,000 runaway kids — kids facing every kind of crisis imaginable.

But now kids don't have to end up at our door to get help. They can call the NINE-LINE — and keep calling it — if we can continue to keep the phone lines open. Quite simply, to keep NINE-LINE up and running, we need help. We need you.

Each call cost an average of $5. Will you help make sure kids and worried parents can get through to us by sending a sponsorship gift to NINE LINE today?

You and I are living in a world of hurt. But you and I can do something about that... starting now. Please... someone you know may need NINE-LINE soon. Give what you can today. Thanks.

Sincerely,

Pat Connors
Director, NINE-LINE

P.S. The national crisis facing our kids isn't "someone" else's problem. These kids in trouble include all our kids — yours and mine. The boy down the street. The girl next door. Please help now.

To The Editor,

As Treasurer of Citizen Advocacy of Washington County, I would like to thank the people of this fine county for their recent show of generosity in the United Way campaign. As a result of their support, United Way's allocation to Citizen Advocacy for 1988 will be fully funded.

However, due to the large number of requests United Way receives each year from local agencies, allocations, such as the one to Citizen Advocacy, fall short of covering agency budgets. As a result, in order to maintain our service in the community, other funding sources are necessary. Endowments, foundations, donations and fund raisers, are such sources.

A fundraiser that is currently being run is the sale of Entertainment '88 coupon books. These coupon books contain buy one, get one free offers on dining, travel and accommodations, cultural and sporting events, festivals, theater, and much more both locally and throughout the country. The books are on sale for $30.00 apiece of which $6.00 is a donation to Citizen

Advocacy. The books are great for yourself or as gifts. You can make Entertainment '88 purchases and donations as well as obtain information on what Citizen Advocacy is all about and what you can do to help by calling 334-3384 or sending to 2375 W. Washington Street, Suite 107, West Bend, WI 53095.

As the holidays approach, please keep Citizen Advocacy and its work for people with disabilities high on your gift-giving list.

NEW REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 made major changes to our tax system which affect most individuals. The application of some of the provisions of the new law requires the use of new law forms, some of which have been revised, as well as new and unfamiliar ones. There are several new reporting requirements that individuals may be obligated to follow.

For example, if you are claiming an exemption for a dependent who is at least five years old by the end of the year, you must furnish the dependent's Social Security Number on your 1040A. The Social Security Number must be included on your tax return whether you claim children or adults. If the number is not listed on your return or if you list an incorrect number, you may be subject to a $5.00 penalty for each missing or incorrect number.

Many taxpayers will have to file Form 8598, Computation of Deductible Mortgage Interest, with their returns. You do not have to file this form if: 1) your only mortgage on the home was the mortgage you took out to buy the home, or, 2) if you took out all mortgages on the home before August 17, 1986, and you did not refinance any of these mortgages or borrow any additional amounts on these mortgages after August 16, 1986. You must file Form 8598 if you took out a mortgage on your home after August 16, 1986, for purposes other than to buy the home. Also, you must file this form if you took out a mortgage on your home before August 17, 1986, but refinanced it or borrowed additional amounts on it after August 16, 1986.

Another new form which will have to be filed by many taxpayers is Form 8606, Nondeductible IRA Contributions, IRA Basis, and Nontaxable IRA Distributions. You must file Form 8606 for 1987 if you make nondeductible contributions to your IRA(s). If you and your spouse each choose to make nondeductible IRA contributions, you each must file a Form 8606. If you do not have to file an income tax return because you do not meet the requirements for filing a return, you still have to file a Form 8606 with the Internal Revenue Service at the time and place you would normally be required to file Form 1040, or Form 1040A.

The new law also requires that for the year 1987, real estate transactions must be reported to the Internal Revenue Service on information returns by the person responsible for the transaction - generally, the broker. Reporting by the real estate broker is required only if the transaction consists of the sale or exchange of "one-to-four-family" real estate. One-to-four-family real estate is defined as a house, townhouse, duplex, or four-unit apartment building designed to house up to four families; or stock in a cooperative housing corporation. Form 1099 must be filed with the Internal Revenue Service. Copy B or Form 1099 must be given to the seller on or after closing, but by February 1, 1988.

Instructions and worksheets for many of the new forms will be contained in the booklet for the 1987 Form 1040 and Form 1040A, which will be mailed to taxpayers before the filing season.

New Tax Laws Enhance The Value of Home Energy Improvements

By Joyce Albrecht
Washington County
Enhancing Home Economy

Energy-saving home improvements, such as insulating your attic or buying a fuel-efficient furnace, can be a good choice for homeowners looking for tax-free investments.

When investing in energy-savings by lowering your energy bills. These savings, unlike a pay raise or money earning interest in a bank, aren't taxable, so your actual return is somewhat higher than the energy savings.

The new tax law that went into effect this year reduces the number of deductions families can take, making home energy investments even more valuable. While you won't be able to deduct money spent on home improvement from your tax return, say the $200 spent on insulation materials - the savings on fuel puts money in your pocket in future years.

And the amount saved on fuel bills can be substantial. For example, insulating the attic of a ranch-style home, at a cost of about $600, could yield $400 in savings the first year, according to figures from the Wisconsin Energy Conservation Corporation, a non-profit organization.

That's about a 66% rate of return. Even if you don't get quite that high a return, the savings will be significant, since most home heat is lost through the ceiling. In addition, the insulation will last the life of your home.

If you've already insulated your attic, there are other high-yielding energy-saving investments you could make. Replacing a gas furnace or boiler with a new, high-efficiency model is one of the best.

The average furnace in use today has an annual fuel utilization efficiency of about 60%. New furnances have comparable ratings of 80% to 96%. Basically, if you have a 60% furnace and you go up to 90%, you'll reduce your fuel use by one-third.

If you've insulated your attic, there are still more investments to be made. The Lake Superior District Power Company computed the saving from energy-saving measures for a typical 1500 square foot home with few energy conservation improvements, no sidewall insulation and about 3 1/2 inches of insulation in the attic. Based on these calculations, homeowners could expect fuel bill savings as follows: adding ceiling insulation, a 7-12% cut; storm windows, 10-15%; caulking or weatherstripping, 4-8%; and wall insulation, 5-20%. Also, turning back your thermostat each night will cut your bill 1% for each degree for an 8 hour set back period. (For example, if you turn your thermostat from 65-60 degrees F for eight hours each night, you've save five percent on your fuel bill).

The savings on these relatively low-cost investments can add up. Last year, the average Wisconsin household spent about $1,000 on fuel costs. A 10% savings adds up to $100. This is well within the grasp of most homeowners. And when you make home energy investments, you realize savings each year because the modifications are permanent.

An added incentive for energy conservation is the likelihood that fuel prices will go up. Most people gauge fuel costs based on the price at the gas pump, but most homes are heated with natural gas or electricity and these prices have remained high or gone up in recent years.

The U.W. Extension office offers a number of publications to help you save money through home energy improvements. Contact the Washington County Office and ask for: How to Insulate Basement Walls; Saving Energy in the Older Home; Energy-Conserving Window Treatments; What Every Homeowner Should Know About Home Energy Audits; In the Bank or Up the Chimney and How to Figure Heat Loss and Fuel Costs.

Record Registration Reported at UWWC

Official 1987 fall semester registration reports show a new record headcount of 784 students at the University of Wisconsin Center - Washington County.

The total topped the previous high of 777 reached in the fall of 1986. UWWC is the fifth-largest of the 13 UW freshman-sophomore centers. Combined enrollment at the UW Centers this fall is 10,826 up 737 (7%) over last fall.

Reports show UWWC enrolled 291 new freshman, down from the record entering class of 342 in 1986. Another 354 of this fall's students were enrolled at UWWC last spring, 40 were turned after an absence of at least one semester and 88 transferred in from other colleges. Eleven other newcomers to campus are special students not working towards a degree.

Other fall statistics compiled on UWWC by the UW Centers registrar in Madison show:

- UWWC women students outnumber men by a 431 to 347 count.

- Two-thirds (510) of the UWWC students are enrolled full-time, carrying 12 credits or more, higher than the 57% rate for all 13 centers.

- More than a fourth of the UWWC students (173) are sophomore, who have earned 30 or more credits.

- Fifteen men and two women are attending school under the G.I. Bill or other Veterans Administration benefits.

- All except four UWWC students are residents of Wisconsin.

Since the Washington County center opened in 1986 increasing numbers of students have enrolled full-time. A measure of this trend is provided by each semester's full-time equivalent (FTE) count, obtained by dividing all credits carried at a center by 15-credits.

This fall semester, UWWC has an FTE of 576, down from 588 a year ago.

Enrollments at UWC-Fond du Lac Reach High Point

Enrollments at the University of Wisconsin Center-Fond du Lac are at the highest point in the last ten years following a two-year experimental period when tuition was reduced to be comparable with the VTAE schools. Currently 600 students are enrolled for the fall semester. The campus also enrolled 133 students from Taycheedah and Kettle Moraine Correctional Institutes. Those students are a part of the Postsecondary Re-Entry Education Program offered by the UW Centers.

Half of the students on the Fond du Lac freshman-sophomore campus are not from the 1986 and 1987 graduating classes. These students have delayed their education for work, family reasons or are re-entering their college program started earlier.

Fifty-seven percent of the student body are women. Of those women, thirty-one percent are age 24 and above. Twenty-eight percent of the men are over the age of 23.

Most of the students live near the campus or in the surrounding communities. One-third live more than 10 miles from campus. Seventy-nine percent of the student body lists Fond du Lac County as their home residence. Thirteen percent list Dodge County. The Fond du Lac campus also has students attending from Calumet, Winnebago and Green Lake Counties.

The main high school feeders for the current semester are Goodrich, St. Mary's Springs, Campbellsport, Waupun and Horace Mann.

3. Witch hazel compresses can soothe.
4. Lying down, even briefly, can help.
5. Your pharmacist can suggest a salve or suppository - one not containing a 'caine' ingredient such as benzocaine, which may add to irritation with continued use.

Postal Service Offers Choice of Christmas Stamps

The Postal Service says "now" is not too early to start your Christmas card AND STAMPS shopping.

The Postal Service recently introduced the official 1987 Christmas stamps. Once again, postal customers will have their choice of contemporary or traditional stamps to adorn their special holiday messages.

The contemporary Christmas stamp, which features red, blue and gold glass balls hanging from the limb of a Christmas pine was designed by artist James Dean of Annandale, Virginia.

The traditional stamp was issued at the National Gallery of Art, which displays Giovanni Battista Moroni's 16th century painting, "A Gentleman in Adoration Before the Madonna," on which the stamp is based. Moroni's painting was adapted by veteran stamp designer Bradbury Thompson, of Riverside, Connecticut.

The Moroni painting is the 14th art masterpiece on display at the National Gallery to be featured on a U.S. Christmas postage stamp. A portraitist of the Brescian School, Moroni has works exhibited in museums across the United States and around the world.

For the contemporary stamp, "USA 22 Greetings" is printed in a single line of bright green lettering across the bottom of the design.

The Postal Service noted that the contemporary design is in a horizontal format, while the traditional design is positioned vertically.

Christmas Seals Help Create a Smoke-Free Future

Eighty years after the first Christmas Seals began fighting the number one killer in America — tuberculosis — the colorful bits of paper continue to battle the nation's foremost killer, which today is smoking, said Ronald Franzmeier, President of the American Lung Association of Wisconsin.

Franzmeier announced a $823,000 goal for the 1987 Christmas Seal Campaign. Last year, he said, the state Lung Association served over 300,000 Wisconsinites with programs and services aimed at the control and prevention of smoking-related diseases, and reached smokers in 90 percent of Wisconsin counties with quit-smoking programs.

"That's a 26 percent increase over last year's programs and services," he said. "These positive steps toward a non-smoking future are encouraging, but they are only the beginning." According to a 1986 report by the Wisconsin Center for Health Statistics, 28 percent of Wisconsinites smoke, resulting in almost 16,000 unnecessary deaths.

"Demand for programs that will help prevent smoking-related diseases is increasing rapidly," Franzmeier said. "We hope people will continue to give generously to Christmas Seals to help us provide these programs."

Lung Association programs aimed at the prevention of smoking include four types of stop-smoking groups and help programs for adults, and "don't start" educational programs for elementary and high school students designed to change attitudes toward smoking.

Lung Association services for state residents who have lung disease include a summer camp for children with asthma and an information and referral service for adults.

Individuals or businesses which have not received their 1987 Christmas Seals can obtain them by calling the Lung Association at 258-9100 in the Milwaukee area or toll free 1 (800) 242-5160.

Christmas Seal contributions may be mailed to the Lung Association at P.O. Box 500, Hudson, WI 54016.

Park Stickers and Licenses Make Great Gifts for Christmas

Want to guarantee a good time for someone in Wisconsin's outdoors? State park admissions stickers and recreational licenses make easy Christmas gifts for friends and family, says Doug Poole, chief of the Department of Natural Resources' Licensing Section in Madison.

"1988 Wisconsin state park admissions stickers will arrive soon in Department offices just in time for people to give the stickers as Christmas gifts," Poole said.

Park stickers are sold at all Department offices. They cost $14 for residents and $30 for nonresidents. If you prefer to buy park stickers by mail, send your order and the correct fee to the Department's Licensing Section, P.O. Box 7924, Madison, WI 53707. Stickers you pay for by mail will be sent to you.

Gift certificates for fishing, hunting and other licenses, both residents and nonresident, are also available, but only through the Department's Licensing Section in Madison, Poole said.

"All you have to do is tell us what type of license you'd like to buy, who you're giving the license to, and pay the correct fee," Poole said. "We'll fill out a gift certificate and mail it with the license to the person you're buying the license for, or

Holiday Mailing Tips Offered

Bulky brown paper and loose string are out when it comes to wrapping holiday parcels; proper addressing is in, says Milwaukee Field Division General Manager/Postmaster Norman L. Miller.

"The name of the game is for customers to address cards and packages properly, with the name, house number and street, or the apartment number," Miller says. "The city, state and ZIP Code should all be on the last line, — be sure to use the ZIP Code! And put your return address and ZIP Code in the upper left corner."

Miller also suggests writing a parcel recipient's name and address on a slip of paper and putting that inside the parcel. "Remember, too, that Postal Service standards require a surcharge for oversized envelopes," Miller says.

The Postal Service offers these additional suggestions for mailing correctly:

* Cushion the contents of packages carefully with crumpled paper, commercially available foam shells or air-pocket padding, and leave no empty space in the box. If the gift item is small, use a padded mailing bag.

* Seal your parcel with one of these kinds of tape: pressure sensitive, nylon-reinforced kraft paper or glass-reinforced pressure sensitive. Don't use cellophane or masking tapes — they're not sturdy enough.

* Don't wrap a carton in brown paper or tie it with twine; paper can tear and twine can get tangled in mail processing equipment.

* Address not just packages, but cards and letters too, with smudge-proof ink.

* Put the recipient's name and address in the lower right part of the top of the package, and your name and address in the upper left, and remove all other labels and addresses.

* Try to avoid sending cash, but if you must, use Registered Mail. Use it for irreplaceable valuables, too.

"Attention to these few mailing pointers will help assure that your cards, letters and packages will arrive on time and in good condition," says Miller. "And it will help us serve you better, too."

we'll give you the license and certificate to give to your friends and relatives personally."

County Photo Contest Winners Announced

The Washington County Tourism Council recently announced the winners of the Amateur Photographers Photo Contest which ended October 30, 1987.

Approximately 350 entries were received. Dennis Bandle, President of the WCTC, extends his appreciation to all the photographers who submitted slides or photos. "The quality of the photos, combined with good composition and the imagination of the photographers, made selecting only a few winners difficult for our judge," said Bandle.

Professional photographer William Stonecipher of West Bend judged the contest for the WCTC. Rules of the contest called for pictures to be taken in Washington County in any of five categories — events, scenery, activities, places of interest, and creativity.

First place winners in each of the five categories plus a category created by the judge are:

- SCENERY — Annie Grammel, Hubertus
- EVENTS — Lora Schreiber, West Bend
- ACTIVITIES — Linda Borcharding, West Bend
- PLACES OF INTEREST — Myron Schmidt, West Bend
- CREATIVITY — Bob Trimble, West Bend
- ANIMALS & WILDLIFE — Cheryl Parker, Hartford.

Jean Stoffel of Kewaskum won an Honorable Mention in the Places of Interest category.

First place winners were notified by mail and will receive gift certificates which can be used to purchase photographic supplies and equipment. The certificates were donated by Laurel's Camera, Schober's Cameras & Supplies, and Art's 1-Hour Photo, all of West Bend, Camera Case of Hartford, Kennelly Pharmacy of Kewaskum, and Germantown Serv-U Pharmacy of Germantown.

"This contest is the first of what we hope will become an annual event," said Bandle. "We encourage all amateur photographers to take pictures throughout the year to enter in next year's contest."

Winning photos and a selection of other entries will be exhibited in various locations throughout the county. Dates and locations will be published in all county newspapers.

December 3 will end an 84 year tradition for the Village of Kewaskum. At this time Glen A. Rimmel will assume ownership and operation of the Stellflug Meat Market, which has been owned by the same family for more than 84 years. Rimmel has purchased the market from Mr. and Mrs. John G. Stellflug, who have owned it since January 1, 1948. Previous to 1948, the market was operated by the late Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stellflug, parents of John G. Stellflug, since June 1, 1913. Before that, from Aug. 1, 1879 to June of 1913, the market was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wunderle, parents of Mrs. John W. Stellflug. There was a short period early in the century, after the death of Mr. Wunderle, that the market was leased to another party but ownership has been retained by the family since 1879. Rimmel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rimmel, has been employed by the Stellflugs for over six years. Although his immediate family has never been in the meat business, the Rimmel name is by no means strange to the business since several of his uncles have been in the meat business for many years. The Stellflug family will, in the near future, move to New Holstein, where they will own and operate a Super Valu Supermarket. The store will be independently owned and operated by the Stellflugs.

County game warden Bob Lake announced Monday that deer registrations in Washington County for the nine-day season that ended Sunday evening totaled 82.

James E. Sparks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sparks, Kewaskum, is undergoing nine weeks of basic recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois.

Nuptial vows were exchanged by Joyce Marie Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Keller, Kewaskum, and Robert Edward Blank, West Bend, on November 24.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Scarpace, Route 1, Kewaskum, on November 27.

Twins, a boy and a girl, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Coulter, St. Kilian, on November 15.

Mrs. Theresa Wollert, 50, wife of Fred Wollert, former residents of Kewaskum, but now of Dundee, was fatally injured in a stove explosion at her home on November 24, while she was getting things ready for Thanksgiving. To start a fire, Mrs. Wollert poured kerosene into the living room stove at her home. There was still several pieces of coal sparking in the stove and the kerosene exploded. Flames shot up and caught her clothing. Badly burned, she was rushed to St. Agnes Hospital in Fond du Lac, where she died at 11:30 p.m. the same evening.

In the presence of family members at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Rosenheimer in this village on November 26, their daughter, Ruth, was united in marriage to William E. Wierdsma, Milwaukee.

Only 30 percent of the mallard ducks stocked at Moon Lake, Now Mauthe Lake, in the Town of Auburn, by the state conservation commission during 1931, were killed in Wisconsin, according to W. F. Grimmer, superintendent of game management. Of the remaining percent shot out of the state only four of the bands attached to legs of ducks were returned. It was because of the general difficulties involved in attempting to stock a migratory bird, that mallard propagation and stocking efforts at Mauthe Lake were discontinued at the end of 1932.

William L. Gatzke, 64, prominent Village of Beechwood tavern-keeper, passed away on November 27 at his home following an illness of two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Math. Herriges of our neighboring little village of St. Michaels are the parents of one of the largest families in this region, if not the largest. They have fourteen children, the last one, a baby boy, having arrived last week on November 24.

Training Pays Off for Job Seekers

Looking for a job can be the hardest work there is. Often it means sending out reams of resumes, being grilled at countless interviews and even getting some rejection letters before a job offer materializes. In today's fiercely competitive job market, training is more important than ever when it comes to landing a job.

People in some fields have an easier time than others. When Moraine Park Technical College's 30 associate degree nursing students graduated last May, 26 of them already had jobs lined up. The story was similar for engine technology graduates. In both cases, excellent preparation and a healthy labor market made finding that first job easier. So did Moraine Park's Placement Office where Placement Specialist Tom Hundertmark helps students find jobs no matter what the field. The process begins well before graduation when Hundertmark visits classes and talks to those who will be graduating at the end of the semester. "I talk to them about how to prepare a resume, cover letters and about the interview process," Hundertmark said. Once a resume has been put together, the student files it with the Placement Office.

Hundertmark keeps in touch with area employers about job openings. "Often a company will call me with a specific need," Hundertmark said. "I go to the file and pull the names of students or recent graduates who fit that need and send copies of the resumes to the company. Employers will call me rather than place an ad and be inundated with hundreds of applications," he added.

Students are also encouraged to make contacts with prospective employers. The job market is a competitive one today, requiring real commitment from the job seeker, Hundertmark said. Some students make early contact with an employer and begin working part-time in an internship program well before graduation. That kind of arrangement will often lead to a permanent job upon graduation.

Moraine Park's track record for placing graduates is a good one: In the past three years, more than 89 percent of graduates have found employment within six months of graduation. The record would be even better if more graduates were willing to relocate outside the district, Hundertmark said.

One reason for the success in placing graduates is Moraine Park's use of its advisory committees, nearly 70 in all. The committees are made up of citizens representing various vocational areas from throughout Moraine Park's district. Doctors and nurses serve on the associate degree nursing advisory committee, while manufacturing representatives advise the computer integrated manufacturing program. These groups meet regularly with Moraine Park staff and inform them of the market needs in the field they represent. When a new program is developed, an ad hoc advisory committee is formed to outline the competencies required in that field. A curriculum is then developed with those competencies in mind.

"Historically, one of the strongest suits of our vocational system has been the relationship with local advisory committees and the resulting ability to respond to ever changing economic forces," said Katie Soles, administrator of Student Services at Moraine Park.

As the baby boom generation reaches middle age, the "baby bust" generation is coming to the fore. Economists predict that with fewer people joining the work force, skilled workers will be in greater demand than ever before. In the meantime, it's not a market where employers come to students. To find the right job, Hundertmark urges students to make a commitment to finding a good job and to have a respectable grade point average. "Employers are looking at grades more than ever," he said.

Predictions about what skills will be in demand in the future are difficult to make with any accuracy. For this reason, said Hundertmark, it's important for people to choose a field they enjoy and then do the best they can in preparing themselves for the marketplace.

Forms Available for President's Volunteer Action Awards Program

President Reagan announced the seventh annual President's Volunteer Action Awards Program to honor the outstanding volunteer achievement by individual citizens and organizations. This is one of two major recognition programs administered by the White House Office of Private Sector initiatives.

The President will present these awards at a White House ceremony next spring. Award categories include the arts and humanities, education, the environment, health, human services and jobs and material resources, international volunteering, mobilization of volunteers, public safety, youth and the workplace.

In a cooperative effort between the private sector and government, VOLUNTEER - The National Center, a private, nonprofit volunteer support organization, and ACTION, the Federal Domestic Volunteer Agency, are co-sponsoring the program for the seventh year. Funding for the program is provided by private sector corporations and foundation sponsors.

"In announcing the program, the President said, 'One of the characteristics that best describes Americans is our willingness to work together to help friends and neighbors in time of need. The spirit of initiative, brotherhood, and unity that has motivated Americans from earliest times, today lives on through the actions of the heroic citizens we honor with this award.'

Any group may submit the name of a volunteer for consideration of this National Award.

Nomination forms are available at The Volunteer Center of Washington County, 304 South Main Street, West Bend, WI 53095. 338-8256.

Kewaskum Grapplers 1-1-1 In Triple Dual; Four 3-0

Steve Kapp, Kewaskum, using one of his moves on Bart Schuster of St. Mary's Springs.

Dennis Aupperle, Kewaskum, pinning Dean Emmer of Campbellsport in 3:40.

Dan Heisdorf using his cradle against Ron Sabish of Campbellsport. Pin 1:40.

By Bob Castro

The Kewaskum Indians had a record of one win, one loss, and one tie at the annual triple dual against St. Mary Springs Fondy, Grafton, and Campbellsport, Wednesday, Nov. 25. Also, four grapplers went 3-0 for the night. They were Bob Castro, Dan Heisdorf, Chris Charland, and Dennis Aupperle.

In the first dual against the Ledgers from Fondy, the Indians won 39-24. The first dual went fast. First fall, there were five forfeits. Secondly, there was the excellent efforts of the Indians' pins by Dan Heisdorf 3:56, Chris Charland :53, and Dave Kuphal 3:40.

The second dual was against Grafton, which the Indians tied 36-36. The dual also went fast since there was a forfeit or pin at each weight class. There were pins from Kapp 1:31, Heisdorf 1:40, a technical fall by Charland and Aupperle 2:56. However, it wasn't enough to win the dual.

The last dual was against Kewaskum's big rival, Campbellsport Cougars. Although the Indians lost 22-45, there were some fire performances on the mat by the Indian wrestlers. The first matches went by fast with pins by Rick Huspen of Campbellsport, who placed 3rd at state last year, and Dean Heltemes, and a forfeit to Kevin Pierret. However, there was a close one at 119 against Steve Kapp, and Todd Flitter, who was state runner up last year. After a tough battle, Flitter ended winning a close match 4-0.

Bob Castro also wrestled an aggressive match against Ron Huspen at 126. Although Castro was a little light for his weight class, he ended up beating Huspen, 14-5.

The next matches also went by fast with pins by Heisdorf in 1:40 and Charland 3:39. This followed by three Campbellsport pins and a forfeit.

However, the meet is never over until the fat lady sings. Yes, it was the heavyweights. It was Dennis Aupperle against Campbellsport's Dean Emmer. Aupperle handled Emmer throughout the match, beating him 10-0, before pinning him in 3:40.

Once again the Indians ended the night with a 1-1-1 record.

Campbellsport 56, Kewaskum 54 Cougars Shade Indians With Strong First Half

The Campbellsport Cougars used an explosive start, and tough man-to-man defense, to hold off a furious fourth quarter rally by Kewaskum, and pull out a 56-54 win over the visiting Indians last Tuesday night.

The Cougars came out like a house of fire in the opening minutes and jumped out to a 12-0 lead. They increased it to 16-2 with the Cougars' Scott Goebel scoring nine points in the first frame. The previously unbeaten Indians finally woke up at this point and started their own run. They tallied nine straight points to end the quarter and cut the Cougar lead to 16-11.

The Indians switched from a 2-3 zone to an aggressive man-to-man defense in the second quarter. This switch flustered the Cougars for a moment, but they adjusted to it and continued their onslaught on the boards. By the end of the quarter, the Cougars had increased their lead to 12 at 34-22 and seemed to have the Indians on the ropes.

After making some adjustments at halftime, the Indians came out and, relatively played the Cougars even in the third. At the end of three quarters of play, the Cougars were still in command, 44-34.

So far in this young season, the Indians have owned the fourth quarter of play and they lived up to that billing Tuesday also. Behind the play of guards Steve Johnson and Rob Baitinger, who each scored six in the last quarter, the Indians rallied to pull within 47-44 with about two and a half minutes to play.

The Cougars scored two quick baskets to make it 51-44. The two teams traded baskets and free throws to make the score 56-50. At this point, Baitinger was fouled and made one of two free throws. The Indians rebounded the missed free throw and Johnson hit a three-pointer to cut the gap to 56-54. The Indians made a quick foul and after the Cougar's Goebel missed the free throw, the Indians took the ball to half court and the Cougars knocked it out of bounds at the six second mark.

Coach Schatz inserted his two best shooters, Greg Dean and Noel Stollenwerk, into the lineup as the Indians set up their play. Dean got the ball and drove baseline and attempted a pass inside to center Joel Fleury, but the Cougars' Scott Goebel got there first and intercepted the pass and ran out the clock for a Cougar victory.

Rob Baitinger led the Indians in scoring with 16 points with Steve Johnson getting 12, all in the second half. Joel Fleury also added 10 rebounds. The Cougars were led by Goebel with 19 points.

The Indians (2-1) now have until Dec. 4th to get ready for their conference opener against Chilton at home.

Deer Hunting Season Is Success; Area Kill Down

Although Wisconsin's nine-day deer hunting season ended on a soggy note Sunday and kept many hunters out of the woods over the weekend, the hunt was another successful one according to the Department of Natural Resources.

The DNR is compiling preliminary deer-kill information this week. Officials had predicted the state's 650,000 hunters would kill about 260,000 during the season, around average. The record kill is 274,302, set in 1985. Last year 259,240 were shot.

The DNR's Northwest District reported more success and could break its record due to an increased kill, many of them large, record bucks, but the number killed in this area was down considerably from the previous year.

At the Pike Lake DNR station near Hartford the harvest was down 38 percent in Washington and Ozaukee Counties. The approximate total is 697 animals, compared with 1,123 last year. The buck total is down 8 percent 427 to 386, while the antlerless kill is down much more, from 666 to 310, a drop of 53 percent. The number of hunters choices in the unit dropped 6,025 to 2,800, a 53 percent dip.

Business was slow at the DNR's headquarters of Mauthe Lake and most other registration sites in Washington and Ozaukee Counties on the opening weekend of the season due to the deer kill being way down in the area. There also may have been fewer hunters.

At the Mauthe Lake station there were 181 deer registered during the opening weekend, compared with 200 a year ago. A breakdown showed 84 were bucks and 97 doe. Quite a few large deer were registered. The count for the first two days for Washington and Ozaukee Counties was 299, which was 116 fewer than last year's 415 after the first few days.

Seven hunters died from gunshot wounds and at least 10 others died of apparent heart attacks. Fortunately no fatalities or serious injuries were reported in this area.

Girls Tip Campbellsport For Third Straight Win

After two previous non-conference victories over Slinger and Lomira, the Kewaskum girls varsity basketball team pulled through a rough game against the Campbellsport Cougars, Tuesday night by a score of 54-46.

At the beginning of the game the Cougars took control and allowed only 8 points to their 12.

"Campbellsport received two or three shots everytime they would miss a chance at the basket and that is why we fell behind," stated Coach Milt Dickensen. "Toward the end of the game the girls got in there and rebounded, so we received two or three shots to their one," Dickensen added.

In the fourth quarter the Indians held the Cougars to 5 points to pull out a lead and more importantly a victory.

The big scorer of the night was Debbie Felix with 19 points. She also pulled down 8 rebounds for the Indians.

Brenda Theusch followed with 14 points.

"Campbellsport had the two best ball players that we have played against this whole season. They were Sue Welsh and Kelly O'Brien. If we could have stopped them the score would have had a bigger margin," stated Dickensen.

This moved the Indians to a 3-0 record.

The JV team lost to the Cougars by a score of 27-44.

The Cougars controlled the whole game. At no time did the JVs even come close to the Cougars.

The top scorer was Trisha Roher with 10 points. She also brought down 7 rebounds to help her team out. Cindy Donath came through with six points.

The JV team has a 0-3 record.

Tuesday the girls basketball team began their conference season against the Chilton Tigers, at home.

Indian Girls Win Opening Conference Game Here, 44-24

The Kewaskum girls' basketball team played their first conference game here against the Chilton Tigers on Tuesday. The Indians won with a score of 44-24.

Pam Osterbrink was high scorer and also had the most rebounds with 15 and 10, respectively. Debbie Felix was not far behind with 14 points and six rebounds.

Coach Dickensen commented

Kleinmans, Secor On Ripon College Basketball Teams

Kewaskum has players on both the men's and women's varsity basketball teams at Ripon College this season.

Tyrone Kleinmans, No 40, a 6'2" power 208 lb. junior forward from Kewaskum, is a returning letterwinner on the men's team. A graduate of Deerfield High School, he is the son of Jim and Penny Kleinmans. The Redmen will be counting heavily on Kleinmans and other returning lettermen upperclassmen to lead this year's drive to the championship for the third straight year. Tyrone averaged 14 points per game last year. He will be expected to rip his share of rebounds and will be one of the most explosive players in the Midwest Conference. Kleinmans was named to the all-tournament team as Ripon College won the consolation title of the Stevens Point Tip-off Tournament two weeks ago. He scored 17 points and pulled down 7 rebounds in Ripon's 71-67 loss to UW-Stevens Point and scored 19 in his team's action in trimming Concordia College of Milwaukee, 117-69.

Sandy Secor, No. 25, 5'7" junior guard, is a two-year letterwinner back from Kewaskum on the women's Redmen team. She is the daughter of Gerald and Mary Secor and a graduate of Kewaskum High School.
