Well Replacement, Industrial Park Improvements and Sidewalks

Board Looks at Big Ticket Items for Village

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Village Board Monday night, reviewed several projects which represent major expenditures for Kewaskum over the next two years. The most critical and pressing item, it appears, will be the replacement of the village's Well #1.

Village Administrator Dan Schmidt told the trustees, "We had hoped to wait until 1989 to replace the well, but conditions have continued to deteriorate." Public Works Superintendent Augie Bilgo indicated the well's capacity had been down to 150 gallons-a-minute, which just allowed the village to keep the fire reservoir at Regal Ware full. Now the well's pumping capacity has dropped even lower. Schmidt said now, if there were a fire of any proportions, the reservoir would be emptied and the village would have to resort to hooking up lines to nearby fire hydrants.

The cost for installation of a new well, and related equipment is estimated at $108,000. Bilgo and Schmidt both noted they had hoped that major repairs at the well about a year ago would have corrected problems. Schmidt said it was hoped the village would be able to salvage the well's repaired pump to use it for the new well.

The board approved authorization for engineers to draw up plans and bidding documents for the work.

The trustees also reviewed the third portion of the village's Capital Improvement Sidewalk Program. Project #3, covers problem areas of sidewalk installation along Riverview, Werner, and Prospect Drives. This work has been broken down into two phases. Part One, would be approximately 1,200 feet of sidewalk, curb and gutter work in the Prospect Drive area. That work is estimated to run about $24,000.

Part Two, would involve about 2,400 feet of sidewalk and curbing on the east side of Riverview Drive and just the north side of Werner Drive. This portion is expected to cost another $24,000, for an estimated total cost for the entire Project #3, amounting to $48,000.

Schmidt noted sidewalk work along a major portion of the south side of Werner drive may be carried over into a Project #4, due to the need for extensive filling and leveling before sidewalk construction could begin.

The third major item to come before the board was a request for authorization to have engineers prepare plans, specs, permit applications and bidding documents to proceed with sewer, water and other related work for the Kewaskum Industrial Park.

Schmidt said early estimates had placed the cost of the project at between $500,000 - $600,000, however, those figures now appear higher than the actual cost should run.

Beside providing service to the industrial park, Schmidt said the sewer line would eventually replace the line now along Riverview Drive which has been constantly plagued with problems. The line would also open everything up to future service that is north, east and west of the village, and it would eliminate two lift stations.

The line could handle one million gallons a day, the capacity of the treatment plant.

The board okayed authorization for the necessary engineering work and preparation of documents to seek bids for the work.

The board also gave Schmidt authorization to look into financing sources for the well,

Schusters to Be Host Family to International Student from Mexico

The Dwaine Schuster family of Kewaskum, are pleased to announce their participation as a host family to Sergio Tapia, an international student from Monterey, Mexico. Sergio will be staying for the 1987-88 school year while he attends school and becomes a member of the Schuster family. The Schusters heard of Sergio's search for a host family through the Youth Exchange Service, a non-profit international student exchange program headquartered in Los Angeles. "Youth Exchange Service made the arrangements concerning Sergio's host home placement, school enrollment and transportation," states Nancy Schuster. The Schuster family hope to show Sergio the beauty and heritage of Wisconsin which their children Lynn, Sandra, and Jessica will also enjoy. Sergio's itinerary will include baseball, basketball and volleyball.

Lora Easum, a YES Representative, had this to say about the program, "The purpose of our program is to help promote world peace through intercultural understanding. By having our students live with American families, they and the host family can bridge many cultural obstacles which they otherwise may never have had the opportunity to address. Through learning and understanding cultural differences, we can hope for a more congenial and peaceful world."

When Sergio was asked what were some of his first impressions of Wisconsin, he replied, "I have never seen such a selection of goods that is offered in my host family's store." Sergio is excited about his opportunity to improve his English and learn about the American culture as well as share his own. He plans to really work hard to achieve these goals.

The Schusters are looking forward to this hosting experience. "We enjoy sharing a glimpse of our American lifestyle with Sergio and learning from him the customs and traditions of Mexico," commented Schuster.

For more information on how you can participate in the unique opportunity of becoming a hosting family, contact YES Representative Judith Blanchette at (414) 334-1752 or Lora Easum 1-800-848-2121.

Kewaskum Fire Department Reports No Structural Fires In 1987

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Kewaskum Fire Chief Donald Ehnert presented his department's fire report for 1987 to the Village Board at its meeting Monday night.

Ehnert said he was happy to report there had been no structural (house or barn) fires in the communities served by his department last year. This includes the village, Town of Kewaskum, and Town of Auburn. The close of 1987 marked the third year in a row that the department did not have a structural fire call.

The department had a total of 18 calls for the year, 13 were actual fire calls, with 5 non-fire calls. The report showed the village accounted for two calls, one fire (grass) and one non-fire call. The Town of Kewaskum had seven calls, six were fire (grass, chimney, etc.), and one non-fire. The Town of Auburn had four calls, three fire (grass, chimney), and one non-fire call.

The department had five mutual aid calls, three were to the Town of Wayne for two house fires and one standby at the Kohlsville Fire Department, and one standby at the Campbellsport Fire Department. The department also put out a grassfire in the Town of Barton.

The department had twelve Jaws of Life calls, with the equipment being used on three of the calls.

Ehnert also advised the board that the firehouse renovations are basically complete except for a few miscellaneous items.

West Bend Man Member Of Olympics Ski Patrol

Mike Husar of West Bend has been selected as a member of the 1988 Winter Olympics 'Team 88' Ski Patrol. He will patrol Alpine Ski events at Calgary's Mt. Allan.

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Michael Husar 26, of West Bend, has been chosen as one of the elite group of Americans to serve on the ski patrol for the 1988 Winter Olympic Games in Canada.

"Team 88", the official ski patrol team, is composed of 63 skiers from around the world with only four members coming from the United States. More than five hundred individuals worldwide applied for a spot on the team. Eighteen came from the U.S., with ten being accepted and four actually making the patrol's team.

Husar has made two trips to Canada for specialized training to prepare him for working on the steep, icy slopes of Nakiska at Mt. Allan, the site of the Olympic Alpine Ski events. Mt. Allan is located approximately 50 miles northwest of Calgary.

Prior to that Husar traveled to several ski areas in the United States training on his own in the hope he would win a berth on the patrol. He said members of the Olympic Ski Patrol receive no compensation for their work and must pay all their own sidewalk and industrial park projects.

The trustees approved a contract with Aquatic Biologists, Inc., to provide a water aeration system and service for the Kiwanis Park swimming pool. The system and service contract will cost $6,630.

The board also discussed lighting for the park's new north baseball diamond and existing southwest diamond. The specs were reviewed and it was decided the village would seek bids on the work. Trustee Mary Krueger questioned whether the motion meant that included authorizing the actual work. Schmidt indicated that it did not. "What you're saying is, this is the only way to go to see if we can afford it," asked Board President Paul Blumer. Schmidt said that was correct, "we can seek bids and note that we reserve the right to reject any or all bids."

Krueger had questioned the motion noting that there had been such a wide difference in figures, from $30,000 to $60,000. She indicated she did not want the board to be committed to a contract if it couldn't afford it. Schmidt said there was approximately $2,000 in a lighting fund, plus some money could be used from the Parks Development Fund.

In other business Krueger updated the board on the last meeting of the County Incineration Committee. She said a major topic of the meeting was discussion of the Inter-community Incineration Agreement and specifically, community representation on an Incineration Commission. Krueger said some communities feel there should be only one representative for each community, however, West Bend feels it should have more since it would be shouldering the largest financial portion of such a project.

Krueger also said more people are becoming interested in the plan because of the limited lifespans of their landfills. Communities like the Towns of Polk and Wayne are sitting back and watching the program with interest she noted.

Krueger also noted some communities want to join but not until after all the groundwork is done and all the initial expenses and start-up fees are paid for by the communities who have supported and been in on the program from the start. She said the committee was unanimously in favor of charging groups who join after the start-up a separate fee of at least 20%, if not more, plus tipping fees to join the program. It's definitely not right for these communities to come in and think they will use the facility for a nominal fee or just the cost of their tipping fees.

Gene Bohn of the Kettle

Moraine Agency also addressed the board on major changes which will affect the village's future insurance coverage.

In closing action, the board adopted a proclamation recognizing the 25th Anniversary of the GFWC Kewaskum Woman's Club.

expenses. Mike calculated he has already spent over $2,000 just for the two training trips he took. Husar thought there was an outside chance members of "Team 88" may have at least the cost of their uniforms paid. Husar expects to spend four to six weeks in Canada during the Olympic Games.

Skiing since he was seven years old, Husar has built up an impressive list of credentials which helped toward his being selected for the team. From 1975-78, Mike served as Junior Patroller at Sunburst Ski Area, Kewaskum. During 1977-78, he completed the National Ski Patrol Systems Basic Mountaineering Program. During the 1981-82 season he attended and passed the NSPS's Nordic Patroller Programs as well as becoming the youngest patroller since 1974 to pass all phases of the NSPC Certified Patroller Program on the first attempt. From 1983-84, he prepared, rewrote and compiled the Central Division's first aid and patrol procedures exams.

That season Husar was also runner-up for the National Ski Patrol's William R. Judd Outstanding Ski Patroller award, being awarded the Silver Merit Star. He was also named Outstanding Patroller for both the Central and South Central Division.

Husar has skied as visiting patroller at several midwestern ski areas and during 1984-85, worked with the Keystone and Arapahoe Basin Ski Patrols in Colorado. Besides serving as a patroller, Husar has instructed numerous courses in various phases of first aid and patroller certification. He is presently the NSP Director for Sunburst Ski Area.

During the last two seasons, Mike has had the opportunity to ski with former Olympians Jean-Claude Killy and Bill Kidd.

Husar is very pleased and excited about being on Team 88'. He feels it is not only a great honor to represent the United States but it will give him a great deal of satisfaction being able to help people as well as the opportunity to meet people and athletes from around the world.

When Mike is not pursuing his first love, skiing, he operates a jewelry store in West Bend with his father Marv and sister Mary.

Kewaskum's Library Sees Increased Use Through County System

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Kenneth Bonlender, Chairman of the Kewaskum Village Board's Library Committee advised the board Monday night, that Kewaskum's library usage had increased in 1987, with part of it due to its membership in the Countywide Library System.

A total of 16,599 books were checked out in 1987. Of that number 10,002 were issued to village residents, 5,261 to county residents, and 1,336 being taken out by out-of-county residents. Bonlender said 1,092 library cards had been issued last year, up about 100 from 1986.

Bonlender also asked for, and received, approval for the library's purchase of a new Canon copy machine. He said $1,000 of the machine's $1,367 cost would be taken care of with funds received through the county system. The balance of the machine's cost would come from money the library staff had budgeted for the purchase of a TV set.

Lawn-Boy Moves National Headquarters From Memphis, Tenn. to Plymouth

Lawn-Boy, one of America's leading manufacturers of walk-behind mowers, will move its national headquarters from Memphis, Tennessee, to Plymouth, Wisconsin, it was announced Friday by Jerome M. Stumbras, vice president of Outboard Marine Corporation (OMC), and general manager of Lawn-Boy.

"In our new location, we intend to use the resources Wisconsin has to make Lawn-Boy the number one brand of lawn and garden tractors, riding mowers, tillers, snow throwers, walk-behind mowers and commercial equipment in America," Stumbras said.

The announcement was made simultaneously at Lawn-Boy's present headquarters in Memphis and at its new headquarters in the former Gilson Brothers Company offices in Plymouth. Lawn-Boy, a division of OMC, recently acquired certain assets of Gilson, including the headquarters and factory in Plymouth, making Lawn-Boy one of the premier full line manufacturers of outdoor power equipment in America.

As a result of this move, approximately half of Lawn-Boy's employees in Memphis will be asked to relocate to Wisconsin, and Lawn-Boy also expects to hire additional personnel at its Plymouth headquarters. Lawn-Boy currently employs more than 600 people at its Plymouth factory and headquarters, which had been temporarily idle prior to its acquisition by Lawn-Boy. The move to Plymouth is expected to be completed by March 1.

"We see the move to Plymouth as a positive step for Lawn-Boy," Stumbras said. "Some of the country's best outdoor power equipment engineers, research and development people, fabricators, and assemblers are located in Wisconsin and the Midwest."

Stumbras added, "We're proud to become part of the Wisconsin community."

Governor Tommy Thompson, who visited with OMC/Evinrude officials last month in Milwaukee, welcomed OMC Lawn-Boy's national headquarters to the state and pledged the full support of Wisconsin resources to the company.

"Lawn-Boy will be joining a growing number of companies that are beginning to realize that their base operations can benefit from the state's many 'pluses'; including close proximity to expanding markets; good balance of cultural, recreational, and educational resources; and a highly motivated work force," the Governor said. "By the same token, we want to recognize Lawn-Boy's parent organization, Outboard Marine Corporation, which has been a valued member of the state's corporate community for many years."

Noting that Gilson also moved their operations two years ago from Tennessee to Wisconsin, Thompson added that he hoped the state's improving business climate and expanding economy will attract other companies looking to relocate or expand.

Lawn-Boy, whose products are sold by more than 8,000 dealers in the United States, had sales of $116 million in 1987. The Gilson acquisition is expected to increase sales of Lawn-Boy products by 50% in 1988.

Lawn-Boy also has manufacturing plants in Sardis and Oxford, Mississippi, in addition to the one acquired from Gilson in Plymouth.

NASAL SPRAY

Decongestant nasal sprays give relief in emergencies by opening nasal passages, but they were never meant to be used beyond 3 days at a time, and then only as directed. After 4 or 5 days use, the sprays can cause swelling of the membranes they first shrank - the 'rebound effect' called rhinitis medicamentosa - inflammation of the nose tissue by the medicine itself.

Eighth Graders Get a 'Taste' of the Business World

Some of the students manned the cafe's service counter. A few peeks were noticeable as students kept an eye out for more customers.

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Eighth grade students of Middle School Home Economics teacher Linda Bastable got a taste of the business world in more ways than one. As part of their class entitled "Teenagers In Today's World," the students got into the restaurant business from the groundfloor up.

Students had the responsibility of doing everything from hiring employes, choosing a manager and picking a business name to setting a budget and purchasing the food. They had to apply for jobs by filling out applications as well as be interviewed for a position.

There were decisions to be made, a name for the restaurant, a menu, and prices that would guarantee the business would show some kind of profit.

The students decided on the name "50's Rock Cafe." Of course that meant following through on that theme with waitresses wearing poodle skirts, bobby socks and saddle shoes. Then there was the restaurant's decor, a juke box, and 45 records suspended from the ceiling set the mood.

As with all businesses, not everything ran smoothly. There were some minor setbacks and problems such as temporarily running out of ice cream, getting the ingredients right for a malt, or running out of turkey for the sub sandwiches.

At the end of business Friday, the students found there was more to a fast food operation than just walking up to a counterperson and having a burger and fries handed to you in a couple of minutes. When the final chapter closed on this venture, the students had learned there is a lot of work, both mental and physical in running a successful business. It was a good learning experience, but the best part of it all was that the students had realized a profit of approximately $500, enough money to take a trip to Milwaukee and get a firsthand behind the scenes look at the operation of a real restaurant.

Even some of the Middle School teachers stopped in at the 50's Rock Cafe for something to satisfy a hungry sweet tooth.

An Evening of Chamber Music Jan. 29 at UWWC

Musical ensembles provide a unique example of how different people can work together, according to Albert Asch, associate professor of music at the University of Wisconsin Center - Washington County.

On Jan. 29, area audiences will get a double-barreled demonstration of ensemble playing during "An Evening of Chamber Music," arranged by Asch as part of UWWC's Fine Arts Series. Providing the music will be the Washington Brass Quintet and the West-Wind Woodwind Quintet, two new groups that bring together top area musicians.

The five men in the brass group have been together for about two years; the four women and a man in the woodwind group began playing together a year ago.

Six of the musicians perform under Asch in groups he directs: three in the Moraine Symphony Orchestra; three in the Lakeshore Concert Band. But he is quick to point out that ensemble playing is quite different.

"Under a conductor," Asch said, "you can have musicians with different personalities who don't even have to know each other. But with an ensemble, musicianship and personality have to fit. The thing that breaks up ensembles is, not musical incompetencies, but personality conflicts."

Musicians in the two quintets have a lot in common. Nine of the ten work as teachers, band directors or in instrument repair. One is a pediatric nurse. Two are married but play in different groups.

The ten musicians come from five area communities.

As part of the chamber music performance, oboist Asch and four other musicians will join with quintet members in "Serenade" by Anton Dvorak.

Asch likes leaving his baton behind and joining an ensemble. "It's really fun to have the togetherness of a group that really knows the music very well, with no conductor," he said. "Most musicians prefer ensemble to orchestra playing; there's only one instrument on a part, and you're playing practically all of the time."

For maximum enjoyment, Asch advises members of the audience to use their eyes as well as their ears. Along with listening for the instruments in "a lot of solo spots," he said, "watch the way the musicians respond to each other to stay together as a group. That's the most interesting thing."

Tickets for the 7:30 p.m. performance cost $5 with a special $3 rate for students and senior citizens. Advance reservations are advised by calling UWWC, 338-5208.

ETN Classes For EMTs

Two programs for emergency medical technicians (EMTs) in Washington County will be held at the University Center in West Bend and at the Hartford Public Library beginning in late January.

Chuck Wise, Area Business Agent for UW-Extension, says both classes will be conducted by the UW-Madison School of Allied Health Professions through the Educational Teleconference Network (ETN).

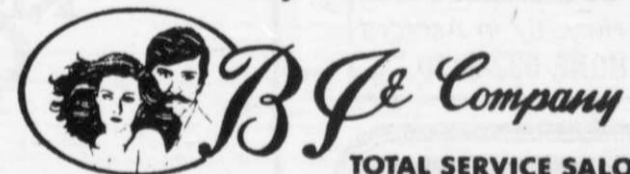

The first program, "Decision Making in the Field; The Crucial Analysis of Acute Emergencies," will be held from 6:30 - 8:00 p.m. on four Tuesdays, from Jan. 26 to May 31. Topics to be discussed are: obtaining the patient history, abdominal pain, burns, and special considerations:

documentation, radio transmissions, and working with hospital staff.

The second program, "Emergency Management Techniques," will be held from 8-10 a.m. on six Saturdays, Feb. 6 - April 16. It will look at such topics as overdoses, traumatic amputations, emotional aspects, unconsciousness, chest trauma, and oxygen administration.

Participants in both programs may apply for continuing education credit with the National Registry of Emergency Medical Technicians. For an enrollment form or for a tabloid describing these and other ETN classes being offered this semester, contact Wise at the University Center, 338-5204. For more information on the EMT classes, contact Linda Pittz, Allied Health, 464 WARF Building, 610 Walnut St., Madison, WI 53706; phone (608) 263-2862.

Buffy's Announces Winners

Kewaskum Area Girl Scout News

After extensive remodeling, Buffy's Village Inn, 1526 Fond du Lac Avenue, Kewaskum, reopened on January 4, and held a Grand Opening on January 8, 9 and 10.

First prize winner of one free meal a month for an entire year was Leroy Thom, right, of West Bend, shown receiving his certificate from owner Gladys "Buffy" Glamann.

Winter never seems long when you are a Girl Scout in the Kewaskum area. There is always something for the girls to do. This Saturday, Jan. 23, the Girl Scouts will hold their International Folk Fair at the Kewaskum High School gym. Twenty-two troops will be participating in dances, songs and skits.

Starting at noon will be the International Flag ceremony. Each troop could choose which country they wanted to represent.

Every ten minutes after the opening ceremony each troop will be performing for the public to enjoy.

Games and samples of foods will be available at a cost of one penny to a nickel. The money raised will be for the Juliet Low Fund.

Everyone is warmly invited to attend this educational event and to also show the young girls of our community that we care.

Starting on Thursday, Jan. 28, Girl Scouts of the Wau-Bun Council will be knocking on doors in their areas selling the ever-popular varieties of Girl Scout cookies. Sale dates this year are Jan. 28 to Feb. 8.

Council leaders are stressing a new sales policy this year. In an effort to give all Girl Scouts an equal chance to sell cookies, Council officials have informed Scouts and leaders that any Scout who sells cookies before the official sale will be penalized. Their cookie order cards will be taken away and held by their troop leader or cookie chairperson for two days.

Persons who are approached by a Girl Scout who "jumps the gun" are urged to refuse to purchase cookies until Thursday, Jan. 28.

Cookies will sell for $2 per box. Varieties offered this year will be Thin Mints, Classic Creams, Jubilee, Hoedown, Savannah, Scot-Tea and Golden Yangles.

Yawning is usually the act of a person who inadvertently opens his mouth when he wishes others would shut theirs.

Church Women to Hold Winter Tea

Church Women United of Washington County will hold their Winter Tea on January 28 (with snow date, January 29), beginning with the Managers Meeting at 12:30 p.m. Friedens UCC on Hwys. C and P, Jackson, are hosting this event. Following the managers meeting, there will be a brief member meeting.

The program for the day will be presented by Jennie Jurger who took part in the Wisconsin Conference UCC Teaching Team to Nicaragua in August, 1987. She comes to share what they learned about the people, the faith, and themselves, through slides and story.

The program will be followed with refreshments served by the ladies of Friedens Church. Church Women United is an ecumenical organization, and we encourage all women of all churches to attend.

Second prize winner Alan "Moochie" Kuehl received a free Breakfast Brunch for himself and his family.

Auditions Jan. 28 For UWWC's Theatre On the Hill Production

"Working," the spring production of UWWC's Theatre on the Hill, could offer the perfect opportunity for busy "working people" to make their stage debut in a musical.

Theatre director Brad Ford said the opportunity is due to the format of the show, which he describes as "a series of unrelated stories."

Because of this, he said, "someone can have a leading role and still have only one to two rehearsals per week for the first four weeks" of preparation. He added, "For someone who's wanted to be in a show up here but fears the time commitment, this is the perfect time to be involved."

Rehearsals begin the day after auditions, which are set for 7 to 10 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 28, in the theatre at the University of Wisconsin Center - Washington County. Ford, an assistant professor of theatre and communications arts at the center, will be looking for a cast of 20 to 30 persons, about equally divided between men and women.

Ford said that both UWWC students and community members are welcome to tryout. Alternate audition times will be arranged to accommodate individual schedules, he added.

"Working" is written by Studs Terkel with music by Stephen Schwartz, best-known for his "Godspell" score. The show will open with a traditional Dean's Night Performance on March 10 and continue for two weekends: March 11-13 and 18-20.

For further information, contact Ford at UWWC, 338-5200 in West Bend.

Cub Scouting Activity Update

Christmas caroling at Meadow Creek Apartments on Dec. 19

Steve Siegel

After caroling, the pack treated the scouts to Homeplate ice cream, hot chocolate or a sundae.

The November Pack meeting for the local cub scouts centered on communication and we were most fortunate to have as our guest speaker, Mr. Steve Siegel of the WBKV Radio Station in West Bend.

Mr. Siegel pointed out how radio signals are transmitted and what goes into operating and maintaining a radio station such as WBKV. The differences in signals between AM and FM were discussed which explained why one type of signal can skip in the atmosphere and be heard hundreds or even thousands of miles away. In addition Mr. Siegel explained how a radio station earns money by selling air time to advertisers so that they can advertise their products or services. In addition he mentioned how a radio station provides public service messages such as closing of schools during snowstorms, announcing upcoming events of importance in the community, as well as having programs on the air that address our daily lives. It was a most interesting and informative presentation and we were all very happy that Mr. Siegel was available to address our group.

In November the local scouts had a food collection project where every home in town was targeted and one week the scouts went out and placed plastic bags on the doorknobs of each and every home. The plastic food bags had writing on them announcing this as one of the scouts projects and that the following week they would return to pick up the bags, hopefully full of canned goods for those in need.

We were most pleased with the response of our fine community as we collected quite a good variety and amount of food items. Kewaskum can be proud of itself for its fine response and the scouts as well for all the leg and arm work involved.

December was the month for a number of scouting activities. One activity which was well received was the scouts caroling at the Meadow Creek Apartments here in town on December 12th, 1987. The residents appreciated the spirited rendition of many holiday classics and the singing was well received and enjoyed by all those involved.

Following the musical outing the scouts were treated at the HomePlate by the scout pack itself for Ice Cream and Hot Chocolates. All in all it made for an enjoyable day and got everyone into the holiday spirit. Thanks to all those involved.

We have a most active scouting program set up this year and look forward to much more in the way of talks, activities, and outings in the new year.

Star Cablevision Announces Changes

The monthly cost for full cable service in West Bend will decrease by .68 percent ($.68) on February 1 according to Dean Sinclair, System Manager. Sinclair said, "As the cable industry matures, the rates are becoming more balanced. The prices of the premium channels are coming down in response to the marketplace."

Cinemax and the Disney Channel are premium channels which will each decrease, Cinemax will be $8.95, and the Disney Channel $6.95 a month. The Remote control for changing channels will decrease to $3.95 a month. Basic service will become $16.50 a month. "As a whole, the monthly cost for full cable service is decreasing," Sinclair said.

The connection charge for cable service has increased from $40.00 to $45.00. Cable related service calls to the customer will remain at a no charge basis.

Star Cablevision customers were notified last month of rate changes for cable service which will be effective February 1.

They have added stereo equipment to many of the channels, and have also added The Learning Channel to keep up with technical advancements.

Star Cablevision serves more than 7,000 customers in West Bend, Kewaskum, Jackson, Town of Trenton, Town of West Bend, Town of Polk, Town of Barton, and soon the Town of Addison, Allenton area.

UWWC Offering Night Courses

A four-year cycle of night courses allows persons with daytime job and home responsibilities to pursue a college degree at the University of Wisconsin Center - Washington County.

During the 1988 spring semester, which begins Jan. 27, ten courses in seven fields of study are scheduled during evening hours.

Over the next four years, more than 30 different courses in 11 academic disciplines are planned for the evening cycle. Evening course listings through spring semester 1991 may be obtained by contacting the UWWC Student Services Office 338-5201 in West Bend.

Mike Murphy, director of students services, said the evening courses have proven helpful to students working towards a two-year associate degree at UWWC and a business degree from a four-year campus.

During the next four years, five different night courses will be offered in economics; four in history and English; three in mathematics, business and music; two in geography, philosophy, sociology and psychology and one in anthropology.

Several of the night courses are offered at alternative times during the day. A total of 99 courses in 26 fields of study are available at UWWC this spring.

New student registration begins Jan. 20 and 21 and continues through the first week of classes.

Like the words in the popular limbo dance song ask, "how low can you go?" that is what we were wondering of the thermometer Tuesday morning when temperatures in the area dropped to 31 degrees below zero and possibly lower. The severe cold wave followed a 4 to 6 inch blanket of fresh snow on Friday and Saturday which kept village and county crews busy opening highways and streets. By Sunday temperatures had dropped below zero and by Monday night they had dipped to 20 to 22 below. The climax in cold weather was reached early Tuesday morning when the mercury dipped to an unofficial 31 degrees below zero. Some residents reported readings of -34 and -36 and others even below these figures. This is almost unbearably cold. It was the second coldest weather ever recorded and the lowest ever for a January 15. Black River Falls, Wisconsin, with a -50 reading, reported the lowest temperature in the state and nation.

A business transaction was completed on January 18, whereby Charles Miller, who formerly managed Millers Electric Store for Millers, Inc. purchased the entire stock of electrical merchandise and supplies. The new owner will continue to operate the business which is one of Kewaskum's leading establishments, at its present location. Mr. Miller will also keep on handling the accounts which were incurred during the previous business. Miller's Electric Store will continue to handle Philco radios, Westinghouse refrigerators and ranges, Kirby vacuum sweepers, Thor and Maytag washers and a complete line of up-to-date small appliances. Mr. Miller is in a position to give service and repairs on all electrical equipment. The electric store has been operated in the late Clem. January 15 was a gala evening for the members of the Kewaskum Woman's Club and their husbands, charter members and guests, for it was the 25th anniversary of the founding of the club. Several charter members are still active in the work of the club. One outstanding feature of this organization is the fact that it was able to remain in tact as a club for 25 years and do active civic work for the village and the community. Mrs. D. M. Rosenheimer was the first president and at this occasion also is serving in the same capacity. Twenty-two years ago, Mrs. A. L. Simon, wife of a former school principal of Kewaskum wrote a poem for the club, a reprint of which follows:

THE WOMAN'S CLUB

A Woman's Club was started in a little town,
It caused a storm of gossip, to spread the news around
Some said it was a pity, that women old and young,
Should have to have a meeting place, to exercise their tongues.
But others more discreetly, made speeches far more neatly
And said, "That Little Woman's Club will paint this old town red."
For the time has surely come, when woman's work is not all done.
In the kitchen!
Tho she bakes good bread and pies:
-soothes the baby when it cries
Dusts the rooms and swats the flies, she's a wonder!
Before the maples run their sap, while the gossips stand and gap,
She'll put our town on the map,
And then we'll thank her.
For the good that she has done, to our people, old and young.
Tip your hats, boys, every one, to our women!
So that little band of women formed a club one winter's day
And the first thing that they started, was a public library.
Everyone was urged to boost it, and donations were in style,
But to learn the newest fashion, took some folks a long, long while.
Some were such terrific tightwads, in their hands their coins they held,
And they squeezed those poor old dollars, till the very eagles yelled-
There were others far more liberal, who gave their dollars with a smile,
And they put forth all their efforts, to be helpers all the while.
A committee was appointed, all the businessmen to see,
But mercy! Those poor women got more knocks than sympathy.
One man roared in all his fury, with voice of blissful jeer,
Said, "To run a Public Library, I'll give you just one year;"
And another full of anger, shook his fist and scowled like sin,
Till that poor, brave old committee, knew chances here were pretty slim.
One man said, "To spend such money is a horrible disgrace,
All you'll make of all this nonsense, is a blamed good sparkin' place."
But, mid all this blood and thunder, that committee worked away,

And the funds kept right on coming,
getting better day by day.
And this little band of women, are proved to show today,
Almost three years since they started, they've done good in many a way:
For they've helped to keep their village real progressive all the while,
Tho' they still lack Woman's Suffrage, they do big things by the mile.
If you want to read a good book, there's the Public Library.
If you want to see real neatness take a backyard peep some day.
If you want to do the latest, swat the fly for all your worth,
For you know its but an insect, very harmful on this earth.
And to close my little poem, I have one more word to say,
If you want to be a helper do a little good each day.
For the Woman's Club is trying to give their town what is best,
May the helpers all get busy, and the knockers take a rest!

Othmar Bonlender of St. Kilian, a graduate of the Kewaskum High School, who has been employed by Gehl Bros. at West Bend, left Saturday for Washington D.C., where he will be in the employ of the internal revenue department.

Otto Backhaus, local ice dealer, and his crew of men have been busy the past week cutting the annual ice harvest on the Milwaukee River adjoining the ice house. The ice machine operated by Mr. Backhaus could be heard buzzing all week cutting out the square blocks. After being pried loose, the cubes were guided by hand to the conveyor which carried them from the river into the icehouse to be stored until next summer when they will be sold to local merchants and private homes. The ice this year is about 16 inches thick and nice and clear.

Mrs. Anna Backhaus, 67, widow of the late Otto J. Backhaus, and mother of Mrs. Christian Backhaus of the Town of Kewaskum, died January 13, at Sheboygan Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Emma Seefeld, widow of Paul Seefeld, Sr., native of Kewaskum, died at her home in the village of Dundee on January 16.

P.G. Van Blarcom, 80, a native of the Town of Auburn, and former principal of the Kewaskum Public School, a retired public official and real estate dealer, died January 18 at Fond du Lac.

At the regular meeting of the Kewaskum Advancement Association held last week Thursday evening, it was decided to hold another Homecoming this year. Hereafter the event will be held annually. The officers of the association were instructed to proceed to make the necessary preliminary arrangements, set a date and report at the next meeting to be held in February. The affair will be held sometime the latter part of July or the forepart of August. It will be the largest event ever held in this village. No money will be spared to make it such an event that will be remembered by all. The homecoming has proven a noted affair for Kewaskum and is talked about for miles around. Last year the attendance was very large. This year, however, if the weather permits, the attendance ought to exceed that of last year. There will be more attractions and amusements.

Fire from spontaneous combustion started in the finishing room at the factory of the Kissel Motor Car Company in Hartford on Saturday night, but the heat from the fire opened the valves of the automatic sprinkling system and put out the flames before any serious damage was done.

Five eclipses, three of the sun and two of the moon, are phenomena that will mark the procession of the planets of the present year.

Pesticide Applicator Certification and Recertification

Is your pesticide certification card still good or has it expired? or do you need to be certified to use restricted use pesticides.

During the past years many new products have been classified as restricted use. This requires the user to be certified to purchase and use the product. Most corn rootworm insecticides are classified as restricted use products.

There are two ways to become certified or recertified. One is to attend a one day certification program. Programs will be offered in the area at the following dates and locations.

January 22, 1988 at the Ozaukee County Courthouse in Port Washington

February 12, 1988 at the Washington County Courthouse in West Bend.

February 26, 1988 at the Ozaukee County Courthouse in Port Washington.

These sessions start at 9:00 a.m. and finish about 4:00 p.m.

In order to attend, it is necessary to register in advance by contacting the Washington County Extension Office, 432 E. Washington Street, West Bend, or phone 414-338-4477, 644-5204, 342-2929. Registrations should be received one week before the session you plan to attend.

The cost is $20.00 for educational materials, $5.00 for the refreshments and lunch and $3.00 for postage. The postage charge can be saved if materials are picked up at the Extension Office.

The sessions are for private applicators, not commercial applicators. A private applicator is an individual that applies pesticide on land owned or rented themselves and produces an agricultural product. Commercial applicators are certified at area meetings. Contact the Extension Office for a list of commercial certification sessions.

The second way to become certified is to purchase the study materials and study on your own. When you are ready, then make arrangements to take the evaluation at the Extension Office. When using the self method a passing score of over 70% is needed on the evaluation. When the evaluation is taken at a session the score must be over 50%.

The educational program is provided by University of Wisconsin Extension and the certificate is issued by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection. Certificates are good for five years.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of Frank Hergges, who passed away seven years ago, January 20, 1981.

When evening shadows are falling,
And I'm sitting all alone,
To me there comes a longing,
If he only could come home.
Often my thoughts do wonder,
To a grave not far away,
Where I laid my dearest husband,
Just seven years ago, today.
God took him home, it was his will,
But in my hearts he liveth still.

Sadly missed by his wife and family.

Fifteen more turkeys became permanent residents of the Northern Kettle Moraine State Forest's relocated turkey population.

The five gobblers and ten hens were released last Thursday morning. Seven birds were released at one of the original release sites in the Town of Mitchell and the remaining eight birds were freed near the Kettle Moraine Youth Camp north of New Fane.

A Department of Natural Resources spokesman said the new birds were released in an effort to introduce new bloodlines that would help to minimize the inbreeding of offspring from the original flock. The new birds were released in areas where the DNR knew flocks existed and were wintering.

Steve Block of the DNR said, in the 4½ years since the original release of 48 birds in the northern unit, numbers have continued to increase. "From figures estimated through reported sightings of flocks at various locations," said Klock, "we feel there are approximately 400 turkeys now living in the state forest area." "We've had several sightings of flocks containing as many as 65 birds and more reports of flocks having around 30." With data such as that, the DNR feels the turkey relocation project is a success.

Dale Katsma, DNR Wildlife Manager, who has overseen the project from the beginning said the northern unit's survival rate has been excellent. Originally the DNR had hoped the flock would double each year. It appears the program has met or exceeded its expectations. "According to the numbers we've got," noted Klock, "we're on target or a little better."

Over the past four years only four carcasses of dead birds have been retrieved from the original release. One bird was struck by a vehicle, one killed by an unknown predator, possibly a fox, and no cause available for the remaining two.

The turkeys that were released Thursday morning had been captured about 9:30 p.m., Wednesday night at wintering grounds in Iowa County. The birds were released as soon as possible Thursday morning to prevent them from losing some of their wild instincts. At the original release Katsma had noted that turkeys tend to domesticate quite quickly and easily and holding them for more than 12-14 hours could be detrimental to their survival instincts.

If the program continues to progress at the same successful level, Katsma will recommend opening a limited turkey season for the Northern Kettle Moraine in the spring of 1990.

Katsma is still asking for the support and assistance of area residents in reporting sightings. If people watch the birds with binoculars, said Katsma, they can read the large yellow and red tag numbers. That information would really help us. Sightings can be reported by calling the DNR at 1-892-7296, or writing to, DNR, P.O. Box 408, Plymouth, Wisconsin 53703.

Be Safe on the Ice With Recreational Vehicles

Snowmobilers and all-terrain vehicle operators should exercise caution before preceding onto ice-covered lakes and streams, advises Gary Homuth, recreational vehicle safety officer for the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources.

"We recommend that snowmobilers and ATV operators stay off of all rivers and streams due to the possibility of rapidly changing ice conditions," said Homuth. "Currents under the ice result in undependable ice."

The DNR does not authorize funded recreational vehicle trails that cross lakes. Although many local clubs have marked trails across lakes, Homuth suggests operators seek an alternate route whenever possible.

For those snowmobilers or ATV operators who choose to travel over lake ice, Homuth advises that they avoid river and stream inlets and outlets, and that they be alert for dark spots. Dark spots can indicate thin ice or open water.

Forty-five percent of snowmobile fatalities over the past three years have occurred on lakes and rivers, according to DNR records, and a majority of those happened during the hours of darkness when operators struck docks, stumps, trees and parked vehicles.

"Snowmobile and ATV operators driving at night should reduce their speed to one half of their usual travel speed during the day," Homuth advised. "Don't overdrive your headlights."

Dave Kuphal also wrestled aggressive, putting Paul Peterson on his back in the last ten seconds. However, it wasn't enough to beat Peterson as the score ended up 11-7.

Minutes of School Board Meeting

December 14, 1987

The meeting was called to order in the Farmington Elementary School gym by President Ralph Horner at 7:04 p.m. All Board members were present.

President Horner announced that the meeting was being taped by West Bend Cable TV for broadcast at a later date. He asked Ms. Kleinhans if the meeting had been noticed as required by the open meeting law. District Administrator Kleinhans replied that it had been.

Clerk Schmitt led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Schmitt/Trapp motion to approve the agenda. Perry Ankerson asked why relations with legal counsel was being discussed in closed session. Ron Theusch replied that Attorney Spector had indicated that it was legal to do so and that there would be better response in closed session rather than in open session. Motion passed 7-0.

Student Government reps announced that the Student Government will be sponsoring a blood drive on Friday, December 18th from 8:00 a.m. to noon and they hope to have 100 donors.

Audience to visitors: It was brought to the Board's attention that more cafeteria tables are needed at Farmington School. It was also mentioned that more janitorial help is needed at Farmington School and that the janitors employed by the district are unevenly distributed.

Schmitt/Trapp motion to approve the minutes of November 9, 1987 with the following correction: Page 2, paragraph 6, Mr. Ankerson informed the Board that Attorney Mike Spector called him at work the afternoon of November 9th. Attorney Spector told Mr. Ankerson that he had permission to be speaking with him. It was Mr. Ankerson's opinion that the removal of an item from the agenda is a violation of Board policy, a violation of the law, and a violation of the First Amendment - the right of free speech. Motion passed 5-2 with Mr. Ankerson and Mr. Theusch voting no.

Perry Ankerson stated that two employees from West Bend Cable TV told him that Mr. Horner had contacted them regarding the taping of Board meetings. President Horner replied that West Bend Cable TV contacted him offering their services.

Nowak/Trapp motion to approve the minutes of November 23, 1987 with the following change: Page 2, paragraph 5 should read motion passed 6-0. Motion passed 6-0-1 with Perry Ankerson abstaining.

Clerk Ruth Schmitt read policy #8130 - Standing Committees. Theusch/Trapp motion to take the policy back to the committee to make the necessary corrections. Motion passed 6-1 with Perry Ankerson voting no.

Ruth Schmitt read policy #1200 - Communicable Diseases and policy #3160 - Tax Levies: Partial Apportionment. Both policies will come before the Board for approval at the next meeting.

District Administrator Kleinhans asked Clara Trapp for a copy of the letter she said (at the Policy Committee meeting of 11/30) she had sent to the municipalities regarding the collection of tax money. Mrs. Trapp said she and Ruth Schmitt had spoken with the municipalities and she had decided against sending a letter to them.

The next Policy-Legislation - Bylaw Committee meeting will be Tuesday, January 19, 1988.

Supervisor of Buildings and Grounds Boehlke went over the statistics he had previously provided to the Board members concerning costs for repairing the tennis courts. Mrs. Trapp suggested that perhaps the two south courts should be repaired and the two north courts could be left as is for the time being. It was decided that the Finance - Transportation - Buildings and Grounds Committee should discuss the matter further.

The next Finance - Transportation - Buildings and Grounds Committee meeting will be Monday, January 18, 1988.

Negotiations Committee chair, Ron Beimborn reported that the committee had met with the KAP without a mediator on December 2, and that another meeting was scheduled with a mediator on January 7th. The committee has met with the KEA a number of times and two meetings have been scheduled for December 15th and 17th.

Ron Theusch made several statements relative to Boardmanship and the definitions of the roles of Board Members, as part of an on-going attempt to set goals for the Board of Education. His comments included the need for an inservice to aid in defining roles, as he feels the differing ideas about roles causes confusion, particularly in relationship with the administration and day to day running of the school district. He feels that people are tempted to bypass direct lines of communication and consequently the question of who is in charge arises. He referenced Opportunities Unlimited and the point that Board Members should never deal directly with employees.

When asked about sources for inservicing sessions, District Administrator Kleinhans said there are several options available. One source would be private consultants, who are primarily made up of former superintendents. Utilization of the WASB, which charges a flat fee (of $130) to have their representative run a meeting tailored to the specific needs of each Board, was mentioned as another possibility. Thirdly, an organization from Nebraska is available and does inservices nation-wide.

Theusch/Ankerson motion to pursue an inservice with the WASB one evening and that the District Administrator investigate the costs and dates available. Discussion followed. Ron Beimborn felt timing was a problem because within a few months there may be two new members on the Board.

Don Nowak agreed with this and suggested that an inservice right after an election would better serve the needs of the Board. Motion failed 3-4 with Mrs. Trapp, Mrs. Schmitt, Mr. Nowak and Mr. Beimborn voting no.

Schmitt/Trapp motion to approve the payroll and accounts payable in the amount of $754,612.69. Motion passed 7-0.

Business Manager Cherna Gorder asked what the Board's preference was regarding the building of the budget. Ruth Schmitt replied that she would like Ms. Gorder and the principals to organize a preliminary budget and then have a meeting with the principals to have them explain their budget to the Board members.

Perry Ankerson asked for a separate line item for the costs at Beechwood School. He also requested a printout by object to accompany the bills.

Schmitt/Ankerson motion to appoint District Administrator Penny Kleinhans as acting deputy clerk for the upcoming school board election. Motion passed 5-0-1 with Clara Trapp abstaining. (Ron Theusch had left the room.)

Schmitt/Trapp motion to approve Marge's Glitter Shop as the costume vendor for the KHS musical. Motion passed 5-0-1 with Ron Theusch abstaining. (Perry Ankerson had left the room.)

Theusch/Schmitt motion to allow talk to continue with the KEA relative to the calendar with no constraints on the alternating before and after Labor Day starting dates for 1988-89. Motion passed 7-0.

Ankerson/Schmitt motion to approve the purchase of a hoist from Wilkinson-Capstran in the amount of $2,750 plus $150 for rustproofing. Motion passed 7-0.

Theusch/Ankerson motion to approve the purchase of a bell/clock control system from Simplex at a cost of $1,229. Motion passed 6-1 with Clara Trapp voting no.

Ankerson/Schmitt motion to approve a contract from Pam Soderberg as L.D. long-term sub replacement. Motion passed 6-0. (Ron Beimborn had left the room.)

Schmitt/Ankerson motion to approve Sharon Blank as KHS Guidance Department head. Motion passed 6-0. (Ron Beimborn had left the room.)

Theusch/Schmitt motion to accept the resignation of Jim Borusky as Student Council Advisor and approve the appointment of Rob Charlier-Anglim as the new Student Council Advisor. Motion passed 6-0-1 with Ron Beimborn abstaining.

Theusch/Schmitt motion to approve the resignation of Fran Charland as KHS football coach. Motion passed 7-0.

District Administrator Kleinhans advised the Board of the upcoming state convention to be held in January and requested them to contact the administration office if they are interested in attending.

Ms. Kleinhans reported that the District prevailed in the land transfer hearing. Ron Beimborn congratulated Ms. Kleinhans for her fine presentation at the hearing held in Madison.

Business Manager Gorder informed the Board of the hiring of Kathleen Robinson as the new Food Service Supervisor for the school district.

Nowak/Trapp motion that no meeting be held on December 28th. Motion passed 6-1 with Perry Ankerson voting no.

Superintendent Kleinhans announced that John Baitinger has been hired as the guidance counselor at the High School to replace David Wietor who resigned. A teacher profile sheet will be provided at the next meeting. A posting to fill Mr. Baitinger's full-time art position has been done.

Business Manager Gorder referred the Board to the memo in their Board packet from Wausau Insurance Company stating that they have agreed to provide the defense for Ms. Kleinhans in the Kleinhans/Trapp lawsuit. Perry Ankerson instructed Ms. Gorder to contact Wausau Insurance to inquire whether prior bills will be assumed.

Perry Ankerson requested that board goals be on the next Regular Meeting's agenda.

Nowak/Theusch motion to adjourn to executive session. Motion passed 6-1 with Ralph Horner voting no.

Indian Gymnasts Split in Two Meets Against Tough Foes

The Kewaskum Indian gymnasts fared well in their two meets against tough competition last week. The girls split, winning against Port Washington Tuesday, and falling to West Bend East on Thursday.

In the Port Washington meet, injuries to 5 of the Pirate gymnasts spelled a 80.96 - 67.6 victory for the Indians. Because of those injuries, Kewaskum coach, Sue Paul-Kenfield didn't get overly excited about the victory, but she was encouraged about one thing.

"We continued to do well in floor exercise again," Paul-Kenfield noted. "The girls were all working hard." Hard enough in fact to sweep the floor competition. Ingrid Ankersen, Carrie Batzler, and Julie Swenarski went 1-2-3 in the event with scores of 7.4, 6.95, and 6.1 respectively.

Batzler also added another second in the bars competition, while Ankersen posted a third on the beam and Swenarski, a third on bars. Two other Indians placed in the meet. Chris Ramthun had a second on the beam and Angie Nowak added a third in the vault competition.

For Port, Amy Webb scored an impressive 9.25 on vault, good enough for first, before injuring herself on the bars, forcing her out of the competition. Jackie Murphy posted two firsts on the bars and beam, with scores of 6.4 and 7.1.

In Thursday's meet against West Bend East, the Indian gymnasts posted their best team score of the year, but still fell away short of the talented Suns, 95.66 - 81.94.

East gymnast - Joanna Froelich was a triple winner on her way to winning the all-around competition with an impressive score of 7.91. Froelich won the vault competition, the floor exercise and the balance beam routine with individual scores of 8.85, 8.5, and 7.05.

For the Indians, the only girl to place in the meet was Ingrid Ankersen. Ankersen took second on the balance beam, scoring an even 6.0, and a third in the vault competition with a 7.25. Ankersen ended up taking second in the all-around also, averaging a 6.44.

The J.V. meet was also won by the Suns by a score of 64.34 - 57.1. Sun gymnast Dina Stehling contributed a first in the floor exercise, a second on the vault, and a third on the beam on her way to winning the all-around competition with a 5.39 average.

The Kewaskum J.V.'s came away with two first-place winners. Chris Ramthun took the honors on the vault with a 6.75 score and Joy Castro came away with a first on the balance beam with a 5.1. Jodi Batzler added a second on beam with a 4.8. Kim Stielow placed third on vault with a 6.05 score and Wendy Fiedler added a 3.75 on bars, good enough for a third.

Indian JV Boy's Team Struggling

The Indian J.V. boy's basketball team has had its problems as of late. After winning two straight games, including their conference opener against Chilton, the J.V.'s have dropped seven straight games in struggling to a 2-9 mark midway through the season.

The most recent Indian defeat came in a heart breaking 56-52 loss at the hands of Sheboygan Falls. The Indian J.V.'s led throughout the game until the latter stages when the Falcons used a full-court press to force some turnovers and enable them to take home the victory.

Brian Leitheiser led the Indians with 16 points and 10 rebounds, while Bruce Waechter added 12 points to the Indian cause. Paul Marti led Falls with 20 points and 16 rebounds.

"Both Bruce and Lighty are doing real well," J.V. Head Coach Wes Gaedtke commented, noting that the two of them are both average double figures in points.

Redmen Split Two in South, Return to Win Two

Ripon College men's basketball team got back underway for the 1988 half of the season with a series of two games played "down south," followed by two successful home games. Last Wednesday Ripon beat Carroll College 81-64 in Ripon's Storzer gym, scene of Ripon's 77-66 win over Concordia College three nights before. The squad opened the 1988 leg with an 82-68 win in Jackson, Mississippi over Millsaps College on January 5, followed by a 94-90 overtime heart-breaker loss to Division II level Rhodes College in Memphis, Tennessee. The three wins and one loss leave the Redmen with a 8-3 overall record.

In the game against Carroll the Redmen shooters were just too much for the visitors, and the Redmen pulled away for the win. Team leader for the Redmen was Tyrone Kleinhans of Kewaskum, 29 points, who was awesome.

Against Rhodes, Ripon leader was Kleinhans with 26 points. Playing with an injury he had a great game inside. Against Millsaps, Kleinhans had 13 points.

SLINGER SPEEDWAY RACE DRIVERS HONORED

Four area drivers received awards recently at the 1987 Annual Awards Night of the Slinger Super Speedway. Honored in the Late Model division were Tony Strupp of West Bend, Russ Heberer of Kewaskum and John Zimmermann of Markesan. Zimmermann was also named Rookie of the Year. Curt Pfeil of West Bend was named in the Amateur driver division.

Indians Lose Thriller at Home In Overtime Against Falls

The Kewaskum Indian boy's basketball team found themselves in quite an exciting battle last Friday against Sheboygan Falls. The Indians rallied in the last two minutes of regulation time and forced the game into overtime, before eventually falling to the Falcons, 71-67, in front of a wild home crowd.

Indian Head Coach, Dale Schatz, disappointed about the loss, was still very satisfied with his players' efforts.

"It was a tough loss," Schatz said, "Still, we played some super ball. I was very proud of our ball club. Our hustle was super. I think this experience (the close game) will help us a lot in the future. I expect to be in a few more of these kinds of games, but hopefully with us winning."

Schatz used a platoon system against Falls, using his starters for the first 2 or 3 minutes of the period, then inserting his "second wave" for 2 or 3 minutes, and then putting his starters back in for the remainder of the quarter.

"Our game plan was to keep a fresh five in there at all times and time them (Falls) out," Schatz commented. "We knew they were going to press, and we wanted to do the same. We figured on a track meet and that's what we got!"

The platoon system worked out great in the first period as the Indian intensity on defense enabled them to hold a 12-10 after the first frame. They stretched that lead out to nine, at 30-21, with about two and a half minutes left in the half. But Falls wasn't about to roll over, as they made a little run of their own, outscoring the Indians 10-1, to pull even at 31 going in at halftime. Mike Peterson led the Falcon attack in the period, scoring nine points.

The Indians came out fired up in the third period, still using their wave system, and outscored the Falcons 24-19, and held a 55-50 lead after three quarters. Eight different Indian players contributed to the scoring punch in the third, as they used a very balanced scoring attack, not letting Falls concentrate on just one player to defend.

In the fourth, the Indians began to falter. A couple of turnovers and steals by the Falcons suddenly had the Indians looking at a five point deficit, 64-59 with just over two minutes remaining. Two free throws by Steve Johnson and one by Ted Anderson pulled the Indians to within two, at 64-62 with a bout a minute to play. Then Anderson came up with a couple of big plays.

The Falcons brought the ball down court and got it into their big guy, Brett Snyder, who went up for the shot, and Anderson came out of nowhere, doing his best Mark Eaton impersonation, and blocked Snyder's shot. After an Indians turnover, Falls came down again, got it in to Snyder again, and Anderson swatted it away again. A jump shot by Indian guard Rob Baitinger tied the game at 64 and a Falls turnover gave the ball back to the Indians with :07 seconds left. But a desperation shot by Johnson from about 30 feet was off target and forced the game into overtime.

Sheboygan Falls came out with two quick baskets to take a 68-64 lead. A free throw by Johnson and jumper by Baitinger cut Fall's lead to 1 at 68-67. The Indian's fouled Falcon Brek Rammer with just seconds to go. Rammer made the first, but missed the second, but the Falcon's Snyder was there for the rebound and the Indians quickly fouled him. Snyder calmly sank the two shots and ended the Indian's hopes for a victory.

Snyder led the Falls attack with 25 points while Rammer added 15, and Peterson 12. For the Indians, Rob Baitinger led the way with 15, Johnson added 13, and Anderson had 10 points to go along with 10 rebounds. Indian center and leading scorer, Joel Fleury, was almost non-existent on offense, scoring just 2 points, but collecting 11 rebounds.

The loss extended the Indians losing streak to 9, and now they must face the tough task of traveling to Chilton to take on the league-leading Tigers.

The Indians next home game is Tuesday, January 26th, when they host the Two Rivers Raiders starting at 7:45.

Use Caution to Prevent Ski Injuries

With the skiing season in full swing, Children's Hospital of Wisconsin and orthopedic surgeon Kevin Black, MD, advise using caution and good sense to prevent injuries.

Whether your children are downhill or cross country skiers, the only good use for straps on ski poles is for hanging them up at the end of the season, said Dr. Black.

"The newer downhill ski poles do not even have straps because of the injuries caused by failure to release poles," noted Dr. Black. Although cross country ski injuries are uncommon, especially among children, he said, "we do see overuse problems, such as tendonitis, and many more problems related to the hands, such as thumb sprains."

Of the two sports, downhill skiing is far more dangerous. "We see 100 downhill injuries for every cross country injury," Dr. Black said. "Comparing these sports is like comparing cross country running to football."

Most serious ski injuries occur in older adolescents — especially boys of high school age — and adults up to about age 40, Dr. Black said.

"Younger people are injured because they are aggressive and want to ski fast and hard," he said. Older skiers are usually injured due to inexperience. Fortunately, Dr. Black added, youngsters are very resilient. "The reason that is fortunate is because kids are fearless and do crazy things no adult would do."

Often, injuries occur because aggressive young skiers set their bindings tight to keep them from releasing during sharp turns, Dr. Black said. But, the tighter the setting, the less chance the binding will release as it should during a fall. This means twisting forces can be transferred from the boot and ski to the leg and knee.

Changes in ski equipment, such as taller boots, have resulted in different injuries than were seen 10 or 15 years ago, according to Dr. Black.

"Now, when the binding fails to release, instead of a boot top fracture, we see tears in the major knee ligaments both inside and outside the knee."

Unlike bone breaks, which heal well, he said, tears in ligaments can result in permanent damage. "It is hard to make the knee as stable as it was before the injury," Dr. Black said. "No matter how well the knee is reconstructed, you lose something after a major knee injury."

For a season of carefree skiing, Dr. Black advises skiers of all ages to keep the following safety tips in mind:

- Ski on trails appropriate for your ability.
- Buy or rent good equipment that fits properly.
- Dress appropriately, with several light layers of clothing that can be removed, rather than a single heavy layer. Boots should be snug but comfortable.
- Set bindings for your size and ability and have them tested. "Functional testing, performed at many ski stores, will assure the binding releases at a preset pressure," said Dr. Black.
- Never mix alcohol with skiing. "Typically, the worst injury we see — a shattered thigh bone — occurs in the young male who has had a few beers, skied too fast, lost control and hit a tree," Dr. Black said.
- And, finally, quit skiing when you are tired. "It is easier to injure yourself when you are tired," he said. "Physically, the muscles just do not react as quickly."

Kewaskum Girls Basketball Team Dominates Oostburg

by Michele Wiedmeyer

With what may have been called their best performance of the season, the Kewaskum girls' basketball team defeated the Oostburg Flying Dutchmen last Friday night by a wide 17-point margin, 51-34. The Dutchmen, who are unbeaten in their conference and have suffered only one loss other than Kewaskum, were surprised to find themselves trailing the Indians most of the game.

Early play saw both teams pretty evenly matched, with Kewaskum on top at the end of the first period, 14-11. Oostburg's main threat seemed to be in sophomore Rebecca Leet, who scored 12 of her total 17 points in the first half. But Kewaskum countered with Debbie Felix and Pam Osterbrink, each of whom had six points to maintain Kewaskum's 3-point edge at halftime, 18-15.

Momentum seemed to shift toward Kewaskum in the second half, where the Indians outscored the Dutchmen 17-11 in the third quarter and 16-8 in the fourth. Maintaining possession of the ball in an effort to run the clock down and keep the ball out of their opponent's hands was the Indian's strategy in the second half, and it paid off. Their lead was increased due in part to selective shooting and good ball control.

Leading the way for Kewaskum was Pam Osterbrink with 18 points and nine rebounds. Jenny Schneider followed with 12 points, 10 of which came in the second half. Debbie Felix added 11 points and four rebounds.

Also cited for good play were Brenda Theusch and Debbie Donath. Theusch, who controlled the ball well at the point, added four assists and four points. Donath made some key assists in the fourth quarter to Osterbrink and also added four points.

Their record now moves to 7-4 overall.

The JV team was defeated by the Dutchmen, 28-51. Kristi Lubahn led the Indians with 12 points and also led the team in steals and assists. Cindy Donath followed with 8 points. They fall to 1-10 overall.
