Washington County's Junior Fair completed its 1988 five-day run with even better weather and higher temperatures than last year. And, as usual, its 19th Annual Livestock Auction was one of the most successful in the surrounding area.

The sale, which was held in the outdoor arena Thursday night, saw 112 animals go across the auction block. The champion and reserve champion market class animals brought even higher prices than last year despite the depressed prices which are beginning to show up at the stockyards.

Each year the auction's buyers show their support of the county's FFA and 4-H youth when they bring the fruits of their yearlong labors to the sale.

In the hog division, 50 animals were sold as compared to 1987's total of 40. The 253-pound champion hog of Erich Masiarchin of Hartford went to high bidder George Prescott, owner of the Pick'N Save food stores in West Bend and Fond du Lac. Prescott's winning bid of $4.50 a pound was 75c higher than last year's high bid of $3.75 a pound.

The 248-pound reserve champion hog of Steve Janz, West Bend, went to high bidder Royal Ford of West Bend, for $5.00 a pound, double last year's high bid of $2.50.

In the sheep division, entries were down by one from last year as 32 animals went for top dollar under the encouraging, coaxing voice and searching eye of the auctioneers. The 110-pound champion lamb of Karl Ankerson, West Bend, went to Hansen Foods for $5.50 a pound, up $2.00 over last year's high bid of $3.50. Terry Groth of Jackson sold his 107-pound reserve champion lamb to Art

Library Receives Quarterly Funding and Aids Grant

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Trustee Ken Bonlender, who represents Kewaskum on the Countywide Library Board, advised his fellow trustees that the village had received $2,711 in shared funding for the second quarter of this year. The money is used to help offset circulation and other library service related costs.

Bonlender told the board it actually costs $1.60 for each piece of material circulated with the funding returning 86c of that cost. He noted the county library system has been working to bring those two figures closer to a break-even line. Last year we only received 80c, noted Bonlender, so there has been a small improvement. He said the County Library Board had also decided to again go with the quarterly payment plan for next year.

As part of a grant program, Kewaskum also received an additional $2,216 in library aids funding.

Bonlender also wanted to draw attention to September 8th, which has been designated as National Literacy Day.

In other business the board opened bids for the construction of a lift station and force main which would service the new industrial park and portions of the northern part of the village.

Two bids were received on the project, Super Excavators, Inc., of Menomonee Falls had the apparent low bid at $147,487.50, with Zunker Contractors of Fond du Lac, coming in at $204,829. The bids were turned over to the village's consulting engineers for review and a formal recommendation at a future board meeting.

Water Pollution Control Department Superintendent Pete Albers also informed the Board he wanted to further discuss, with the engineers, bids which had been received for the sanitary sewer and watermain construction.

In Protection and Public Safety related business, the board approved a Fire Department request to draw up specifications and seek bids for the renovation of the department's telesquitter truck cab to an expanded six-man cab. Trustee Tom McElhatton, who brought up the request, said board approval was now necessary because the cost is expected to exceed $100,000 which requires the village to go out for public bids.

Former Fire Chief Augie Bilgo informed the board the renovation was necessary because of a recent change in the state law which now prohibits firemen from riding on the back or sides of a truck. With a six-man crew on the truck, it is necessary to extend the truck's passenger cab to be in compliance with the law.

McElhatton also informed the board that the village had received many good comments and compliments about the Kiwanis Park from people who attended or participated in the Kewaskum Horseshoe League's recent tournament held at the park.

In other action the board approved the village's contracting with Washington County for preparation of its tax bills and assessment rolls. In a letter from the county, the village was informed that SEWRPC would be discontinuing their data processing and would no longer provide this service to municipalities.

The board also approved four bartender licenses, a one-day beer license for the Lions Club annual picnic and a building permit for a detached garage.

Power Outage Leaves 1,700 West Bend Homes Sweltering In the Dark Monday

An underground cable which shorted out and burned about 5:00 p.m., left about 1,700 West Bend homes without power Monday night.

Black smoke spewed from a transformer of a Wisconsin Electric substation located east of the Mobil Gas Station on West Washington Avenue.

WE officials said they had a spare cable on hand and were able to begin making repairs almost immediately. WE crews worked through the night getting service back to most customers by 10:00 p.m.

The workers completed the repairs by 5:00 a.m. Tuesday.

The outage also caused overheating smoke scares at St. Joseph's Hospital, City Hall and several city pumping stations, however, there were no fires.

Wisconsin Electric reported a record peak usage of 4,685 megawatts during the day, breaking the previous record of 4,451 megawatts sent on June 21st.

Contract Awarded for West Bend Airport Improvements

The West Bend Municipal Airport just east of West Bend will be upgraded under contracts totaling $496,000 which were approved recently by the state Bureau of Aeronautics.

Payne & Dolan, Inc. of Waukesha received a $408,000 contract to reconstruct the secondary runway, extend the taxiway parallel to the primary runway, and reconstruct the apron and connecting taxiway. Darwin Electric, Inc., of Oconto, will install runway lights, taxiway reflectors, and runway end identifier lights under a $88,000 contract.

"The secondary runway is old, badly deteriorated, and has grass growing through the cracks," said Bob Kunkel, acting director of the Bureau. "It is starting to fail because it has been used repeatedly by aircraft larger and heavier than the smaller aircraft it was designed for."

He indicated that this work was needed in 1980, but was not done primarily because of a lack of funding.

The runway will be reconstructed to accommodate the larger aircraft, Kunkel said.

Dan Flasch, chairman of the West Bend Municipal Airport Commission and production manager at the West Bend Co., said the runway work would make the airport much more attractive to the additional private and corporate pilots the airport hopes to attract from northern Milwaukee, and

Ozaukee and Washington counties. "This will be a tremendous improvement in the runway," he said. "There hasn't been any work on it since 1967 - it's in sad shape."

Flasch indicated that the Airport Commission had allocated monies for a yearly preventive maintenance program to make sure that both runways won't deteriorate in the future.

The upgrading project also includes the extension of the partial taxiway to the end of the primary runway.

"This will improve safety by reducing the traffic congestion caused when aircraft have to back-taxi on the active runway in order to use its entire length," said Dave Johnson, DOT airport development engineer.

He noted that safety will also be increased by installing new runway end identifier lights to replace the obsolete, inoperative lights now on that runway. "The two white flashing synchronozied lights are important landing aids because their light is very penetrating at night and during marginal weather conditions," Johnson explained.

Medium intensity runway lights and taxiway reflectors will be installed on the secondary runway and taxiway.

The project also calls for the reconstruction of the apron and connecting taxiways, which also have deteriorated because of use by heavier aircraft.

Construction on the project is expected to begin Aug. 15 and be completed this fall.

The project is being funded with 90 percent federal, 5 percent state, and 5 percent West Bend monies.

PIG THEFT

A Port Washington resident has been charged in Fond du Lac County Circuit Court after he and another man allegedly killed a pig and removed the animal from a Town of Ashford farm.

Jonathon M. Wach, 19, faces a charge of felony theft. According to the complaint, Wach and two males, ages 32 and 16, drove to the farm July 10 and parked in front of a pig pen. The 32-year-old apparently struck the pig's head with a hammer, and the defendant allegedly cut the animal's throat with a knife. The three then carried the pig to their trailer and drove away.

A West Bend police officer stopped their vehicle later that night because the trailer's lights were flashing erratically. The officer said he observed the dead animal in the trailer.

Wach has been released from custody on $500 cash bond. His preliminary hearing will be Aug. 12.

Mumps Vaccination Required

The Washington County Community Health Nursing Service reminds all parents of school children that proof of mumps vaccination (or a waiver) is required for all students in grades K-12 for the 1988-89 school year.

This change represents an extension of the existing requirement under which only students in grades K-4 were required to provide proof of mumps vaccination.

Parents will be required to provide proof of mumps vaccination to the school their child attends no later than the 30th school day after school opens. After that date, parents who have not provided proof of mumps vaccination to the school may be subject to a fine of up to $25 per day.

About 81,000 students attending Wisconsin schools in grades 6-12 are susceptible to mumps. Many of the susceptible students were born before 1977, before mumps vaccination was widely used. In 1987, there were 1,741 cases of mumps reported in Wisconsin compared to 325 cases in 1986. The greatest number of cases occurred in students age 10 years and older.

Mumps is usually not a serious illness, but is often entails costs for at least one doctor's visit. Mumps can be followed by such serious complications as encephalitis (brain inflammation) and hearing loss. Students who are sick with mumps miss an average of six days of school per year. Almost 7,000 days of school were missed in Wisconsin during the 1986-87 school year due to mumps.

Mumps vaccine, and all other recommended immunizations, are available at the regularly scheduled clinics offered by the Washington County Community Health Nursing Service. Clinics are held monthly in West Bend, Hartford, and Germantown.

For further information about mumps or other immunizations, please call the Community Health Nursing Service at 338-4462, 644-5204 or 342-2929.

Kohl Releases Kewaskum Steering Committee Names

Democratic U.S. Senate candidate Herb Kohl has released the names of over 1,000 Wisconsin citizens who have agreed to serve on his campaign's Steering Committee.

"The size and diversity of our steering committee shows the strength and depth of Herb's support in every corner of our state," Michele Carrier, Kohl's Campaign Manager said.

Kohl Steering Committee members in Kewaskum are: Gene Akin, 9249 Townline Road, Kewaskum; James Reigle, Box 67, Kewaskum; and Ron Reigle, 3833 Badger Road, Kewaskum.

Steering committee members in each county will help coordinate Kohl campaign activities in their area and will meet with and assist Kohl during campaign stops in their counties, according to Carrier.

"The response to Herb's stance on the issues has been overwhelmingly positive and has enabled our campaign to put together a top notch organization less than two months after Herb announced," Carrier said. "The other Senate candidates have been at it now for many months, but without a doubt, the scope and sheer number of people in our organization rivals or surpasses theirs."

'Century Farm and Home Awards' Program at Wisconsin State Fair

Over 100 families from 48 Wisconsin counties will be honored at the "Century Farm and Home Awards" program held at the State Fair on August 10, 1988. Each family will receive a certificate and metal plaque commemorating 100 years of continued ownership of the farm by the same family. The honorees will be guests at the program and breakfast buffet sponsored by Hillshire Farm Company, New London, WI, the nation's largest producer of Natural Casing Smoked Sausage. This year marks Hillshire Farm's 14th year of sponsoring the program which recognizes and supports family farm ownership and operation.

In order to qualify for the award, a family must have owned the property for 100 years prior to December of 1987. Century Farm owners should contact their county agent to meet the qualifications and receive the award.

Alice in Dairyland, and the Fairest of the Fair, along with Hillshire Farm executives, will be on hand to meet and greet Century Farm guests.

Area "Century Farm and Home

Award" honorees include Kenneth W. and Dolores M. Jandre, 2344 New Prospect La., Campbellsport, and Mark E. and Lynn A. Peters, 3121 Pleasant Valley Rd., West Bend.

County 4-H Ambassador in France

Rebecca Schwoch, daughter of Elmer and Inez Schwoch and member of the Badger Booster 4-H Club, is currently participating in the International 4-H Youth Exchange (IFYE) Ambassador Program in France. Below is her report on some of her experiences in the IFYE Ambassador Program.

"Bonjour" from France, "The United States International 4-H Youth Exchange Delegation to France arrived in Paris at 7:00 a.m. on Wednesday, June 29, 1988. We immediately met our guide and began our sight-seeing adventures in Paris. Even after only a few days we have noticed many similarities and differences. This is very logical, since the French represent a very different culture."

"You do not have to walk too far into Paris in order to find a 'Burger King.' This is one of the most obvious effects of Westernization on Europe, but it is very contradictory. You see, the French readily accept our American, fast-paced way of life, but they do not as readily accept Americans. However, our delegation is making every attempt to change France's view of America and her people. Hopefully, by August 8, when we return, we will have done just that."

"Another striking characteristic of the French is their conservativeness. Extra toilet paper is available only when you ask and glasses of water 'snort assez pour un oiseau' (are enough for a bird). But while the water is hard to come by (except for bottled), the French are very generous with their bread. Last night for example, we ate in a French restaurant and they brought us bread every 15 minutes (or when the basket was empty)."

"Overall, Paris is fabulous. We have seen all the major sights and of course have been practicing a lot of French. Soon, we will be going into the Loire Valley and then into Brittany, where we will stay with host families. Our optional tour during the first week of August will include a very thorough tour of Aix-en-provence in the South of France."

"I look forward to seeing you and discussing my experiences upon my return. Please allow me to once again express my extreme gratitude for your generosity. You have helped to give me the opportunity of a lifetime."

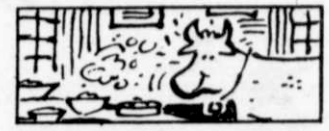

As they say in France, "Merci beaucoup et bientot" (Thank you very much and be seeing you)

In this age of information, voice-activated computers have reduced the time needed to process messages by eliminating the dictation/transcription stage. Does this new computer system mean the demise of such occupations as medical transcriptionist? Not so, says Ruth King, supervisor of health occupations at Moraine Park Technical College's West Bend campus.

"Jobs are plentiful," she affirms. "Once upon a time, there were only three schools in the state that offered a medical transcription program. Now because there is such a demand for graduates, almost every technical college has the program, or is trying to get it."

King attributes this demand for graduates to an increase in the number of people seeking health care across the United States. The specialization of the health care industry and regulatory agencies that require reports have also contributed to the demand.

"Voice-activated computers will not be prolific for a long time," says King. "It's surprising how many places still use typewriters. We have added a Word Processing course to our curriculum so that the students are able to use either a typewriter or a computer."

Many hospitals and health care centers that are setting up medical transcription departments for the first time are looking for someone qualified to run that department. "We had one graduate who went up to the Minneapolis Children's Hospital," recalls King. "They didn't have a transcription department. This student set up and supervises their department."

The program can be completed in one year — King says this attracts students who have been out of school awhile and are looking to advance themselves quickly. "It's a quick, intensive program that offers a very good salary range," she says. "Our students are typically older. It's been several years since we've had anyone right out of high school."

Moraine Park's medical transcription program prepares graduates for jobs in hospitals, outpatient clinics, neighborhood health centers, home health agencies, nursing homes, rehabilitation centers, community mental health centers, psychiatric facilities and doctors' offices. Transcriptionists can also work for services or as independent agents.

Students interested in enrolling in the program should be able to type 45 words per minute and have proof of hearing acuity. The program teaches typing speed and accuracy, medical terminology and dictation skills.

"One of the major changes going on in the field is its approach toward professional status," King says. "A transcriptionist can be certified and more and more ads are asking for certified people. Certified people also tend to take more money."

Letter to the Editor:

Having followed the doings and undoings of our School Board for the past few years with all of the problems that have been involved, I surely hope that they get together and do some serious thinking concerning the hiring of the new superintendent.

We have a very fine candidate in our midst who has already proved himself in our local school system.

I refer to Mr. Clark Pearson of Kewaskum. He is a resident, paying taxes, a parent, a proven school administrator, very qualified and a fair man. Often our own talent is overlooked and someone is "imported" to do our jobs.

I and many of my neighbors request that Mr. Pearson's candidacy be given consideration. There is no doubt of his ability to do the job.

Dairy Farmers Deal with Drought Issue

MADISON — The Board of Directors of the Morning Glory Farms Region of Associated Milk Producers, Inc., endorsed the objective of the National Milk Producers Federation and join with other of the nation's dairy cooperatives in seeking emergency legislation to counter the impact of the drought on dairy farming income through:

1) Aggressive federal feed assistance in drought areas.

2) Increased dairy price support level of at least ten percent to offset feed price increases and to assure an adequate domestic milk supply.

"We concur with the AMPI Corporate Board, National Milk Producers Federation and other dairy farmer groups in their efforts to relieve drought stricken dairy farmers," says Gregory Blaska, AMPI Morning Glory Farms Region President. "We must temporarily increase the dairy price support level to offset the increased costs resulting from the recent drought."

"We urge members to actively support the legislation necessary to raise the price support level to deal with this emergency situation," continues Blaska.

"We also support every federal effort to help drought areas through federal feed assistance."

Associated Milk Producers, Inc. is the nation's largest dairy farmer cooperative with some 22,000 members across 21 central states. The Morning Glory Farms Region represents 9,000 member farm units in the Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio areas. AMPI members produced slightly over twelve percent of the nation's milk supply in 1987.

County Fair

Holli Etta of Kewaskum took reserve champion honors with her beef steer entry. The animal was also purchased by Pick-n-Save Food Stores along with the champion steer and hog.

Degnitz for $5.75 a pound, $2.25 higher than the 1987 high bid.

Entries in the beef division were down three from last year's sale as thirty animals were auctioned off. George Prescott of Pick-N Save, again prevailed in the hot and heavy bidding as he not only purchased the champion beef steer, but reserve champion beef steer as well.

Matt Merry of Hartford sold his 1,255-pound champion Hereford steer for $3.00 a pound, up 90c over last year's top bid of $2.10. Holli Etta of Kewaskum sold her 1,275-pound reserve champion beef steer to Pick-N Save for $2.20 a pound, up 70c over 1987's high bid. The 1,280-pound homebred and raised reserve champion beef steer of Matt Millikin, Hartford, went to ABCL Construction for $1.00 a pound, down 20c from last year.

The 1,270-pound champion dairy steer of Brian Butzlaff, Kewaskum, went to Don's Elevator for $1.40 a pound, also down 20c from 1987. The 1,295 pound reserve champion dairy steer of Dallas Wodsedalek, Kewaskum, went to high bidder West Bend Elevator for $1.20 a pound, the same price paid in 1987. The 1,360-pound homebred and raised champion dairy steer of Jim Schulz of West Bend, was sold to Honeck Chevrolet for $1.00 a pound, down 20c from 1987. David Schulz sold his 1,315-pound HBR reserve champion dairy steer to Sausage Plus for 85c a pound.

While it has not been officially confirmed, George Prescott may have set a new auction record for one individual buyer by purchasing three champion animals, the champion hog and champion and reserve champion beef steers.

After the champion and reserve champion animals were sold, prices did tend to drop off slightly in comparison to last year's sale, averaging about 10-25c a pound lower. However, bidding was active and excellent and, with a little teasing and goodnatured prodding from the auctioneers, prospective buyers continually managed to come up with another 10 or 20c to bring up the price of an animal.

In comparison to the Fond du Lac County Fair, which was held the week before, Washington County's livestock auction fared considerably better. Fond du Lac's champion beef steer was reported to have gone for only $1.10 a pound, while other prices averaged 60-75c lower than bid in 1987.

Another very important attraction of the fair was the crowning of the "Fairest of the Fair." The title again returned to Kewaskum, as Beverly Jean Schulz, 19, was selected 1988's Washington County "Fairest of the Fair."

Beverly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Schulz, 8140 Island Drive, Town of Wayne. She is a graduate of Kewaskum High School where she was involved in a variety of school activities including musical groups and cheer-leading. Schulz also served as president of the National Honor Society and was selected as a June Dairy Month Queen. A sophomore at the University of Wisconsin - Madison, Beverly is working toward a degree in secondary education.

As Fairest of the Fair, Schulz presented award ribbons at the various judging events during the fair. She will also act as the county's official representative at various functions and participate in activities throughout the year.

IRS Offers Year Round Assistance

The deadline for filing the Federal individual income tax return comes around once a year on April 15, and the filing of the return itself only represents a reconciliation of financial transactions occurring during the year that have tax consequences.

Taxpayers should routinely appraise their current financial situations to determine if there may be any potential tax consequences. This could range from a decision to establish an individual retirement account; revise the W-4 withholding statement filed with employers; purchase major depreciable business property; sell a personal residence; or start a new business.

Persons considering major financial transactions that may have tax consequences might be wise to consider getting help from a professional tax practitioner. The IRS may also be able to help.

The IRS is available year round to provide assistance to persons who need information for their tax planning decisions. The following are some services that are available from the IRS throughout the year:

Toll-Free Telephone Assistance

Taxpayers can call the IRS Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. with request for tax information, to inquire about a billing or notice. The toll-free telephone number to call is 800-424-1040.

To Order Tax Forms or Publications

The IRS has a special toll-free telephone number persons can call to receive tax forms, and over 150 free tax publications. Tax forms and publications are shipped within 24 hours. The toll-free FORMS telephone number to call is 800-424-3676.

Taxpayer Education Programs

The IRS sponsors an Outreach program that is designed to address tax issues that are of interest to a specific audience. IRS can tailor a program that will provide specialized tax information to participants that have a common tax situation. Issues can range from discussions covering depreciation of business property, to tax issues relevant to single parents. Programs are offered to fraternal, social and business organizations.

Small Business Workshops

The IRS offers half day and full day workshops for owners and managers of new small businesses. During the session participants are alerted to the many tax responsibilities connected with operating a business and are given an opportunity to do practical exercises completing business tax returns. Also, persons have an opportunity to ask questions that may have tax consequences unique to the type of business they are in.

There are other services offered by the IRS and listed in a free Publication 910, Guide to Free Tax services. Publication 910 can be ordered by calling the IRS's toll-free FORMS telephone number.

SPECIAL PROJECT BEGINS AT THERESA MARSH

Members of Ducks Unlimited and the Department of Natural Resources participated Wednesday in groundbreaking ceremonies at the Theresa Marsh Wildlife Refuge for the Ducks Unlimited Matching Aids to Restore State Habitat (M.A.R.S.H.) project aimed at increasing duck production with new pair ponds and nesting islands. As part of the $100,000 project, a series of dams and dikes will be installed along the Rock River floodplain to regulate moisture levels during the growing season and annual duck and goose migration. Currently the 5,000 - acre marsh, which opened in 1948, is home for 30,000 - 35,000 geese and 10,000 ducks.

CONSTIPATION

Constipation [failure to have a BM for more than 3 days] may be remedied or prevented by: 1) drinking plenty of fluid; 2) regular exercise; 3) a diet of high-fiber foods - whole grains, fruits, vegetables and unprocessed bran. Grandma often used prunes, raisins and figs to avoid constipation. Our pharmacy has laxatives for occasional constipation, but they should not be used habitually.

After receiving the Wisconsin American Legion's Dedicated Service Award, Senator Stitt joined (from left) Robert Frautschy, the Chairman of the State Legislative Committee; Ed Ciechanowski, the past Ozaukee County Commander and Carol Vasarella, the Secretary of the Board of Veterans Affairs for the State of Wisconsin.

State Senator Donald K. Stitt (R-Port Washington) was recently presented with a Dedicated Service Award from the State of Wisconsin American Legion.

Stitt called the award "a tremendous honor for a state legislator" and said that he considered it to be one of his "highest achievements in public office."

The award was presented to Stitt at the American Legion's annual state convention in Eau Claire. Robert M. Frautschy, Legislative Chairman for the American Legion, presented Stitt with an ornate and distinguished plaque at the podium in front of the convention delegates.

In his comments, Mr. Frautschy said that Senator Stitt has been a leader on veterans' issues in the State Legislature, especially in his role as the ranking Republican on the budget-writing, Joint Finance Committee." Frautschy added

Stitt told over a thousand delegates in the packed convention hall that this award really belongs to the American Legion's members - its rank and file.

"It's people like yourselves, providing countless services to our nation's veterans, who should be honored today. Without your past dedicated service to America and your guidance toward the future, many of us may not be here today knowing that our freedoms are safe," Stitt told the audience.

In his closing remarks, Stitt told the members of the American Legion that they had many friends in Madison, and that he would continue to help lead the fight on veterans' issues before the Legislature.

Skills Workshop For College Students At UW-Fond du Lac

In just one month colleges across the state will be opening their doors to thousands of new students. This experience sometimes can be very traumatic for a recent high school graduate. What can I expect? Will I be ready for college level studies? What is the best way to prepare? These and many other questions will be discussed during a college skills workshop being offered through the Office of Community Outreach at the UW Center-Fond du Lac.

Campus Dean, Dr. Bradley Gottfried, will conduct the skills workshop to be held on August 15, 16, 17 from 7:00 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. in room 101 of the science building.

Major topics to be discussed are: how to take class notes, techniques to use when reading college textbooks, study and test taking strategies, how to prepare for finals, and preparing for different types of tests, i.e. short answer, essay, multiple choice and oral exams. There are different study preparations for each.

This workshop can help in making that first year of college an enjoyable experience. There is a $1.00 registration fee for the workshop.

For further information call the Office of Community Outreach at 929-3622.

West Bend Mutual Announces Day Care Insurance

At a series of agency meetings throughout the State of Wisconsin, West Bend Mutual Insurance Company introduced their new Day Care insurance program. The program is designed for day care centers licensed by the State of Wisconsin.

"Very few insurance companies offer day care insurance," according to John Bykowski, Vice President - Marketing at West Bend Mutual. The insurance program was tailored for day care centers licensed by the State of Wisconsin including family day care (centers licensed to care for 1-8 children) and group day care (centers licensed to care for 9 or more children).

The company is offering combined single limits of $100,000, $300,000 or $500,000.

Bykowski said, "Our program gives day care operators the opportunity to buy insurance from a financially sound domestic carrier."

According to John Dedrick, president, "Our company feels it has an obligation to meet society's insurance needs. This product demonstrates West Bend Mutual is serious about improving both the image of the industry and the availability of important insurance coverages."

coverages."

"Day care insurance has been difficult to get. Many insurance companies have been shying away from this difficult line. However, in Wisconsin, the claims have not been as bad as some of the other areas. The State of Wisconsin does an excellent job of administering the licensing of day care centers," Dedrick commented.

The company plans on inspecting each risk it insures. The company wants to make certain that each day care center is in compliance with the stiff regulations of the Wisconsin Department of Health and Social Services.

The company will be excluding sexual and/or physical abuse, assault and battery or corporal punishment, communicable diseases and punitive damages.

For more information on West Bend Mutual's day care insurance program, contact John Bykowski, Vice President - Marketing at the company's home office.

Taxpayer's Extension Deadline Is Near

If you are one of the taxpayers who filed for an extension of time to file your 1040 individual income tax return, the Internal Revenue Service reminds you that August 15 is the deadline for filing the return.

According to the IRS, anyone can file an extension of time to file the federal income tax return that is due April 15. Filing an extension automatically gives a person until August 15, or four months, but does not extend the time for paying any taxes that may be due with the tax return.

The IRS said that if a person filed for an extension on Form 4868, Application for Automatic Extension of Time to File, but is yet unable to meet the August 15 deadline, they may file for an additional extension. However, the IRS cautions that an additional extension of time to file the return is not automatic. An additional extension is subject to the approval of the IRS. Generally, an additional extension is granted only to persons who can show some reasonable cause or undue hardship that prevents them from meeting the four month extended deadline. Persons filing for an additional extension of time to file can be given two additional months to file the return, or until October 15.

To file for an additional extension you must file Form 2688, Application for Additional Extension of Time to File, and is available from the IRS. The application must state in detail the reason why you need an extension and the application should be filed sufficiently in advance of August 15 so that the IRS will have an opportunity to review the application and notify you whether the application is approved.

St. Matthias Catholic parish in the Town of Auburn, located on County Trunk S near New Fane, within the Kettle Moraine State Forest, celebrated the centennial of its founding on July 29, at a solemn High Mass at 10 a.m. The Rev. Walter Morgan is pastor of the congregation. The celebration also served as a proper observance for the recent remodeling of the structure for the 45 homeowners in the area who belong to the parish. The Mass was sung by the Rev. Elroy Pesch, O.F.M., Cap. the first "priest-son" of the parish who was ordained earlier this year. Land for St. Matthias church was purchased in 1859 with construction getting underway in 1861. The parish was dedicated on Trinity Sunday by Bishop Henni of Milwaukee, and the Rev. John Reindl of the former village of Barton was the first pastor, conducting services once a month. In 1863 the parish was made a mission to Holy Trinity Church in Kewaskum. From 1877 to 1881, the parish was a mission of St. Michael's Church, and after 1881 it became a mission of St. Matthew's parish in Campbellsport, with the Rev. Johann A. Bertram and Father Heller serving. Since 1907, it has been attended by the chaplains of St. Joseph's convent in Campbellsport. It was attended by various priests for a period of 10 years until the Rev. John Bertram became pastor, a post he held for 24 years.

WE Offers Rebates for Installation Of Energy-Efficient Sodium Fixtures

MILWAUKEE — Turning on outdoor security lights can help turn off crime while saving energy and money for customers of Wisconsin Electric Power Co.

Under a limited offer, up to two $40 rebates per customer will be given for the purchase and installation of energy-efficient high pressure sodium fixtures now through Aug. 31.

"Security lighting, which plays a significant role in crime prevention, costs just pennies a night with high pressure sodium fixtures," according to Bonni Yordi, supervisor of Consumer Education for WE. "A 35-watt high pressure sodium light provides the same amount of light as a 150-watt incandescent bulb, but saves more than $120 in energy costs and $15 in replacement bulb costs over the life of the lamp."

The rebates are offered as part of Wisconsin Electric's

Smart Money Energy Program in conjunction with National Night Out activities.

National Night Out, Aug. 9, is an annual nationwide event to heighten crime prevention awareness and increase neighborhood involvement. Homeowners, apartment dwellers and businesses are asked to turn on their outdoor lights from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. and also spend a symbolic hour outdoors to demonstrate solidarity against crime. Local law enforcement agencies are working with community groups throughout the state to promote such neighborhood activities as block parties, parades and barbecues for National Night Out.

More information on the rebates and National Night Out activities is available from Wisconsin Electric's Energy Facts Phone, 221-2000 in Milwaukee, or 1-800-222-9288 outside Milwaukee.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of Merlin "Red" Dreher, who passed away one year ago, August 3, 1987:

God saw he was getting tired,
And a cure was not to be,
And he put his arms around him
And whispered "Come with Me."

With tearful eyes we watched him suffer,
And saw him fade away,
Although we loved him dearly,
We could not make him stay.

His golden heart stopped beating,
Hard working hands to rest,
God broke our hearts to prove to us.

He only takes the best.
Deeply missed by mother,
children and grandchildren.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of Dennis H. Hoerig who passed away fifteen years ago, Aug. 4, 1973:

We often sit and think of you
And speak of how you died;
To think you could not say goodbye to us
Before you closed your eyes.

The flowers we place upon your grave,
May wither and decay
But the love for you who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.

Sadly missed by Joseph
Hoerig and family.

Protecting Drinking Water Ranked As Top Local Priority

The protection of drinking water supplies is the number one local environmental concern for members of the League of Women Voters, according to the results of a nationwide survey released by the League of Women Voters.

When asked by the survey to prioritize local environmental health concerns, League members ranked "ensuring the safety of community drinking water supplies" first. Hazardous waste, often linked to drinking water contamination, was rated by League members as the most important national environmental health concern.

More than 11,000 members of the League of Women Voters participated in this survey which was conducted in 570 communities in 48 states. League members would pay extra for safe drinking water. Eighty-nine percent of those surveyed would be willing to pay higher water bills to remove a suspected cancer-causing agent from drinking water.

The LWVEF survey found, however, that confidence in local water quality is not always based on a thorough self-selected sample of League members, who are generally considered well informed on community issues, 20 percent did not know if their drinking water comes from ground or surface supplies, and 25 percent could not estimate the average monthly cost of their tap water. Also, a surprising 57 percent could not identify the most serious health contaminant in their drinking water.

The perceptions survey made public was designed to prepare League members for the LWVEF Water Quality Issues Survey — the first nationwide community-based survey of drinking water conditions. The LWVEF will use the results of the Water Quality Issues Survey to assist local chapters in their efforts to design model educational projects addressing water-quality issues and concerns.

Support for the League Safe Drinking Water Project has been provided by the William H. Donner Foundation, the Overbrook Foundation, Texaco, the General Waterworks Corporation and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Win Prizes for 1989 Growing Season

NEW BRIGHTON, Minn. — Make forage production in 1989 easier. Enter the 1988 World's Forage Analysis Superbowl and win prizes that make next year's forage growing more productive. Many thousands of dollars worth of prizes are offered to high placing entries.

Despite this year's drought conditions, contest sponsors anticipate more entries than ever. Dairy managers will need forage analysis more than ever this year. Forage analysis is critical to formulate rations that will make the best use of forages.

Four ag equipment manufacturers have outstanding prizes for grand prize winners. The prizes come from the top of their machinery line-ups.

Deutz-Allis is donating two prizes to the World's Champion Forage Producer. The farmer entering the highest quality forage sample will receive one year's use of a Deutz-Allis 85-hp, two-wheel-drive or front-wheel assist tractor of his choice.

To pull behind the tractor, he will also have his choice of Deutz-Allis hay tools. The choice includes a large round baler or square baler.

Grand prize winners will be selected in both hay and haylage divisions. New Idea is awarding the Grand Prize Hay Division winner a free year's use of a 5209 Disc Mower Conditioner. The unit has a nine-foot-three-inch cutting width that allows cutting up to 10 mph.

Grand Prize Haylage Winner receives Gehl's CB1060 forage harvester for one year. Featured are the Auto-Max protection system and Gehl's metal-stop option.

This year's contest includes a special category and prizes for first-time entrants. Farms never competing in the World's Forage Analysis Superbowl before qualify for this category. The winner in this category receives Scholssow, Inc.'s 20-foot Arrow Front feeder wagon with steel insert.

In addition to these grand prizes, many thousand dollars worth of prizes will be given away to entrants. Leading ag firms have donated alfalfa seed, hay and silage inoculants and preservatives, so many farmers can improve their forage next year.

Firms donated prizes include: Agri-King, Inc., Agro-K Corp, Automatic Equipment MFG Co., BASF Corp, CADCO, Inc., Cargill Hybrid Seeds, Cenex/Land O' Lakes Seed Dept., Church and Dwight, DeKalb-Pfizer Genetics, Domain Inc., Forage Research, Inc., Furst-McNess Company, Garst Seed Company, George's Seeds, Inc., Jacques Seed Company, Kaltenberg Seed Farms Inc., Maddy Nutrition Corp, Mobay Corp., Nickerson American Plant Breeders Inc., Northrup King Co., Pioneer Hi-Bred Int. Inc., Plant Genetics Inc., Sun Seeds, Techniserve, Vigortone Ag Products, Vita Plus Corp. and Wayne Feeds.

Winners will be announced at the World Dairy Expo, October 5-9, in Madison, Wis. Winning samples will be on display.

All sample analysis will be conducted by Wisconsin DHI Cooperative, supported by University of Wisconsin Extension Specialists. Forage experts will analyze each sample through near-infrared spectroscopy. Information on protein, fiber, digestibility and nutrient value will be given on a dry matter basis.

Join the winning forage team by entering the 1988 World's Forage Analysis Superbowl. The contest is sponsored by Holstein World, Wisconsin DHI Cooperative, World Dairy Expo and University of Wisconsin - Extension.

Entries are due Sept. 9, 1988. For an entry form and complete contest rules, call 1-800-328-6795, ext. 484. Or write: World's Forage Analysis Superbowl, 2135 Rimrock Road, Madison, WI 53713.

Feed Purchase Decisions for Drought Victims

by Jack Trzebiatowski
Extension Agriculture Agent

This year's drought conditions are likely to result in feed shortages for dairy farmers and livestock producers. These farmers will need to evaluate their situations and determine whether they should: 1) purchase relatively expensive feed and continue to produce at normal levels or 2) reduce livestock inventories to levels that can be profitably maintained with existing or purchased feed. While neither of these options is desirable, one of them will have to be chosen because available feed supplies are going to necessitate one of these adjustments.

Purchasing feed and maintaining production at normal levels is likely the option that many farmers will prefer because it leaves the farming operation intact. This option can be a very costly decision because purchases of high-priced feed can result in substantial losses if milk or livestock sales do not offset the costs of the purchased feeds and other variable costs. This latter point should be carefully considered by farmers who are thinking of maintaining their livestock with relatively large quantities of purchased feed.

Determining the advisability of purchasing feed is a six-step process. The steps of this process are as follows:

1. Estimate the supply of feed that will be available for feeding livestock if no additional feed is purchased.

2. Determine the number of livestock that could be maintained by the supply of feed that will be available.

3. Determine the number of livestock, if any, that cannot be carried with the available feed supplies. These "surplus" livestock are the livestock that will need to be slaughtered or maintained with purchased feed. These "surplus" livestock will generally be young stock and the lowest producing breeding stock.

Feed Purchase -

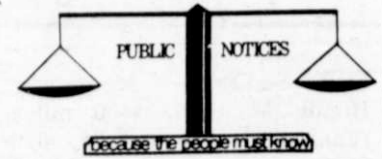

4. Determine the quality and the cost of the feed that must be purchased to carry the "surplus" livestock.

5. Determine the receipts that will be obtained if the "surplus" livestock are retained and fed purchased feed.

6. Compare the receipts related to the "surplus" livestock to the costs of the purchased feed. If the receipts from the "surplus" livestock equal or exceed the purchased feed costs plus other variable costs, retain the "surplus" livestock and buy feed. Conversely, sell the "surplus" livestock if the receipts from these livestock are less than the variable costs needed to maintain them.

When making feed purchases producers should consider whatever alternative feeds that may be available and substituted for hay or corn. A guide to break even values for alternate feed purchases is available from the Extension Office.

Trout Anglers Urged to Use Restraint

MADISON, WI — Drought conditions will not lead to a closing of the 1988 Wisconsin inland trout fishing season, Department of Natural Resources fisheries management officials announced.

"There's tremendous variation in the condition of trout streams statewide and the effects of the drought," said Doug Morrisette, director of the DNR's Bureau of Fisheries Management. "Streams in the northwest and western parts of the state remain good, while the north central and northeastern stream flows are extremely low."

Streams in the southern part of the state are "holding their own," according to fish managers there. The streams are at what are normal August low levels right now.

The major drought-caused damage to trout has already been done. It increased young-of-the-year mortality and mortality to older fish because of low flows and high water temperatures.

"It's felt by almost all fish managers that a closure now would not save fish," Morrisette explained. "The bulk of the exploitation takes place early in the season, but if the drought were to continue we still have the season closure as a last resort."

Instead of the closure, the department is asking that trout anglers restrain their efforts on the trout streams. That can be done by:

- not catching a complete bag limit,
- limiting fishing hours on the streams,
- not spooking fish during the hot times of the day,
- avoiding fishing large pools where fish are congregated,
- practicing catch and release,
- landing fish quickly and not tiring them completely,
- avoiding excessive handling which exposes the fish to disease,
- releasing trophy-sized fish, and
- reporting all violations to conservation wardens.

"We are asking trout organizations and individual sports-persons to be responsive and accountable to these requests," Morrisette said. "Originally the Trout Unlimited statewide president had requested a season closure. These requests we are making are more liberal, but still will provide an added

The Kewaskum Horseshoe League hosted its first Open Tournament on Sat. July 23rd and Sun. July 24th. The Tournament committee, Rob and Joan Struebing, Al Rohlinger, Rita Boegel and Herb Theisen, indicated the event was a success.

A total of 107 horseshoe pitchers participated in the event. They came from as far away as Sun Prairie, Green Bay, Marshfield, and Genesee Depot. Jeff Heligendorf of Milwaukee commented, "Well run tournament, ... best layout of facilities I've ever seen. You people have a lot to be proud of. See you next year!" Rob Struebing, head of the committee, said it was comments like that, that were received from all the people who participated in our tournament. "It was like a broken record," he said proudly.

Age of the pitchers varied. Royce Wruke (85) of Horicon was the oldest while Missy Fleweger (9) of West Bend was the youngest. Both pitchers indicated that it isn't how old you are to pitch horseshoe, it's the fun and the chance to meet and compete with different people. "I've pitched a lot of tournaments in my time," said Royce, "and I'm still looking forward to meeting other people and the fun that's involved."

The final standings of the tournament were put into a computer. As far as the League knows, this was the first time that a computer was used in an open tournament. Thanks to Herb and Diane Theisen who donated the use of their computer, the results of each game were tabulated very quickly.

Future pitcher of horseshoes for Kewaskum Horseshoe League. When asked what he thought of the tournament, Justin Wessing said, "when can I play?"

The standings and ringer percentages of the tournament are as follows:

Gilles Holds Off Kojis for Plymouth Win

by Dick Jepsen

Rookie sensation Brian Gilles of Elkhart Lake outdueled Budweiser Point leader Bill Kojis Saturday night at the Sheboygan County Fairgrounds in Plymouth to win the 30 lap modified feature sponsored by WGLB Radio of Port Washington.

In the sportsman division it was Sheboygan's Randy Markwardt in the Markwardt Sales & Service Camaro finally getting his second win at the Fairgrounds after winning the season opener May 21st and Rick Hed of Sheboygan tied Tim Veldmann and Jim Kroening after his win to give all three drivers three feature wins on the quarter mile track.

Kewaskum's Don Goeden led the opening three circuits of the modified feature before Dave Deicher of Plymouth running in the sixth position spun in turn four igniting a seven car melee involving defending champ Dick Berth, Tim Melis, Frankie Heimerl, Kelly Skelton, Gregg Curzon and Wayne Goetsch.

Only Goetsch, Berth and Heimerl returned but all finished several laps down. Goeden back under green led Brian Gilles, Jim Melis and Dan Dittrich as the field began to string out. Melis dropped out on lap seven with mechanical problems giving third to

Misfortune struck Goeden on lap twenty when a flat tire brought him to a stop in turn two bringing out the second of three red flags. Gilles running second inherited the lead and battled briefly with Greg Otte on the restart before Bill Kojis moved to second with six laps remaining.

The duo ran side by side the last five laps of the event with Gilles taking the victory one length ahead of Kojis at the checkers before a thunderous ovation from the large crowd. Third went to Otte, fourth to Dan Dittrich and fifth to Bill Johnson III of Slinger.

In the sportsman main event it was Plymouth's Steve Hoffmann and Mike Akright of Sheboygan Falls dueling for the top spot until a spin on lap five stopped the action. Defending champion Gary Laack of Glenbeulah still looking for his first feature win this season joined the lead duo after the restart.

Red appeared once again on lap ten when Marv Kellar spun in turn two and was hit by Keith Borth. Laack pulled alongside Hoffmann when racing resumed and as they exited turn four the leaders made contact slowing, both allowing Randy Markwardt in third to shoot through for the lead. Markwardt the evenings fast qualifier walked away from the field to notch his second win of the '88 season. Hoffmann held off the challenges of Frank Geiger for second with Jim Pitzen and Mike Akright finishing a close fourth and fifth respectively.

In hobby stock action Mike Plate, despite a first lap spin that brought out the red, paced the field for seven markers as six cars battled several lengths behind for second. Mike Borth passed Jeff Leonhard for second just before the red appeared when Barb Miller stalled in the backstretch on lap six. Rick Hed moved past Borth for second on the restart and took the lead on lap eight holding it to the checkers. Rick dedicated his feature win to 7 year - old birthday boy, Jesse Schmidt. Jim Kroening of Milwaukee got by Borth with three laps remaining for second relinquishing Borth to third.

Ken Blaine of West Bend won the mod semi and Bob Heinemann of Sheboygan took the sportsman semi honors. Trophies and prizes for the evening were courtesy of WGLB, B100FM of Port Washington.

Next Saturday night it will be Bob Werner Chevrolet Cadillac night.
