Kewaskum's United Way Campaign Off to Good Start

"Kewaskum is off to a good start for the United Way campaign," so said Gerald Zimmer, Kewaskum division chairman of the United Way of Washington County 1989 campaign. As of September 20, Kewaskum was at $7,195 or 23% of its goal.

Donations from employees of the Kewaskum School district make up the majority of contributions to date. "I'm pleased at their level of support," said Zimmer, "and am looking for other businesses and individuals to provide a high level of support as well. We have a way to go, and each gift is important," he said.

This is the first year

Kewaskum is part of the United Way of Washington County campaign. Many of the 36 United Way agencies are available for county residents, and some are exclusive to Kewaskum. "By joining the United Way of Washington County, we have been able to combine resources, have a say on the Board of Directors, and can run a more cost-effective and efficient campaign. All around, I'd say we all benefit," he said.

County-wide the United Way campaign is at 30% with $181,000 in pledges and gifts towards the $610,000 goal. The campaign continues through October 31.

Artist Dan Gerhartz Included in October Exhibition at WB Gallery

October brings an exceptional four-person exhibition to the West Bend Gallery of Fine Arts. This show, presented by Scott Burdick, Rose Frantzen, Dan Gerhartz and Nancy Guzik represent a body of work in the venue of the classical painting tradition. The artists, all members of the Palette & Chisel Club of Chicago and graduates of the American Academy of Art, paint almost exclusively from life. Their work reveals a sensitivity and strength of character and a commitment to technical painting skills.

Scott Burdick a native of Chicago, has won several national painting awards such as the 1988 Society of Illustrators competition and Arts in the Park. Burdick's work has been featured in American Artist and is currently represented in three Western U.S. galleries.

Rose Frantzen hails from Maquoketa, Iowa and credits American Master Painter, Richard Schmid, as a source of knowledge and inspiration. Ms. Frantzen was featured in a 1988 issue of American Artist in an article entitled "Up and Coming Chicago Artists" and most recently completed a painting tour in Ireland.

Dan Gerhartz, a Kewaskum native describes painting as "...a never ending learning process..." Inspiration for his work is frequently derived from the Kettle Moraine State Forest. Gerhartz was the recipient of the 1988 John F. * Anna Lee Stacey Scholarship.

Nancy Guzik's work, although uniquely her own, has frequently been compared to that of Mary Cassatt and Celia Beaux. Nancy grew up in Chicago and before becoming a painter, had extensive experience in film animation for network television and children's libraries. Ms. Guzik has studied at the College of DuPage, Columbia College, The Art Institute of Chicago and the American Academy of Art. Her commitment to technical painting skills, which began at the American Academy under William Parks and Theodore Smuskiewicz continues today under Richard Schmid with the emphasis on painting from life.

Wisconsin Electric Offering Free 'Fire Smart' Kit

According to the Milwaukee Fire Department, nearly 5,000 people in the U.S. die each year as a result of home fires. Now, with some help from Wisconsin Electric Power Co., community leaders can help their constituents be "fire smart" and prevent some of those deaths.

Wisconsin Electric, in cooperation with the Milwaukee Fire Department, is offering a free "Fire Smart" kit to anyone who wishes to present a fire prevention workshop.

Because Fire Prevention Week is Oct. 4-11, the Fire Smart program is a timely topic for an October meeting.

"The Fire Smart workshop can be presented to neighborhood groups, church groups, school groups and others to introduce basic fire safety concepts, said Bonni Yordi, consumer relations supervisor for Wisconsin Electric. "The program encourages people to perform and practice steps to improve their ability to prevent or respond to fires."

Everything a speaker needs to present a community workshop on fire safety is available in the Fire Smart Kit.

Designed for experienced or inexperienced speakers, the kit is a pre-planned fire safety program that takes a presenter step-by-step through a workshop on fire safety. It covers such topics as family fire drills, smoke detectors, and kitchen, smoking, electrical and heating safety.

In addition to a presenter's guide and script included in the kit, Wisconsin Electric has available for presenters a film/video titled, "Fire: Countdown to Disaster," other visual aids and literature for workshop participants to take home.

Call Wisconsin Electric at (414) 221-2000 to obtain a Fire Smart Kit.

Buettner Wants Lid On Earnings Lifted For SS Recipients

(Madison) — Retirees re-entering the workforce would be able to earn more money under a plan pushed by an area legislator.

State Senator Carol Buettner (R-Oshkosh) announced that she will be introducing a Senate Resolution asking Wisconsin's congressional delegation to eliminate the lid on earnings for Social Security recipients.

"We are heading into the '90's at a distinct disadvantage with our labor force," Buettner said. "We don't have enough people to fill the jobs available today in some areas of our state, and it will only get worse as the trend indicates the number of younger workers will decline while the older adult population increases."

Buettner's resolution cites research which indicates that if the current $8,880 income limit were eliminated for Social Security recipients, "at least 700,000 additional older retirees would enter the labor market, increasing the nation's output of goods and services by at least $15.4 billion and government revenue by $4.9 billion." Although this would be offset somewhat by the increase in Social Security benefits paid out, according to Buettner "there would be a $140 million increase in revenue, free and clear."

"Our retirees who choose to re-enter the workforce lose $1 of Social Security benefits for each $2 they earn," Buettner stated. "We need to remove this disincentive so we can attract this vastly underutilized yet rich resource."

Buettner pointed out that much new business of the next decade will be service-oriented and many older workers interested in re-entering the workforce would be well-suited for personal contact with customers.

"Older people have the advantage that confidence and life experience brings. Those are two great assets for working with people," Buettner said.

Buettner also noted that eliminating the limit on earnings would make remaining in the workforce more attractive to older skilled workers.

"One program that's been suggested is allowing retirees to choose the amount of time they want to put in. If a company can work out a flexible schedule utilizing a retiree, then both win. The company retains the skills they would otherwise lose out on, and the older adult can 'ease into' retirement," Buettner concluded.

Learn to Snack Smart This School Year

Now that school has started, students from kindergarten to college will be consuming after school snacks. But parents needn't think that snacks are synonymous with junk food.

"Snacks can be an important part of a nutritious diet," said Cathy Paynter of Dairy Council of Wisconsin. "Snacks can provide nutrients and calories, and they're especially important for growing children."

To get the nutrients necessary for good health and growth, health professionals recommend children consume three servings from the milk group, two servings from the meat group, four servings from the fruit and vegetable group and four servings from the grain group every day. (Teen-agers should consume four servings from the milk group each day.)

Each food group provides different nutrients. The milk group provides calcium, riboflavin and protein. The meat group supplies protein, niacin, iron and thiamin. The fruit and vegetable group provides vitamins A and C, and the grain group provides carbohydrates, thiamin, iron and niacin.

"Think of snacking as a way to add one or two servings from the four food groups to your diet," Paynter said.

Try these smart snacks:
 - Yogurt or frozen yogurt with fresh fruit (one milk group serving, one serving of fruit).
 - Cheese and crackers (one milk group serving, one grain group serving)

- Peanut butter and crackers (one meat group serving, one grain group serving).

- Milkshake with fresh fruit added (one milk group serving, one fruit serving)

- Cheese pizza (one milk group serving, one grain group serving)

- Cheese toast (one milk group serving, two grain group servings)

- Fresh vegetables such as carrot and celery sticks, broccoli and cauliflower florets and green pepper strips (one serving from the fruit and vegetable group).

- Fresh fruit such as an apple, banana, orange, peach, melon slice or pineapple cubes (one serving from the fruit and vegetable group).

- Cheese nachos or cheese tortilla (one milk group serving, one grain group serving)

- Muffin with milk (one grain group serving, one milk group serving).

"These snacks are a treat for children," said Paynter, "and they help meet the recommended number of servings from the four food groups."

Both flies and frogs have been known to catch athlete's foot.

Threshold Establishes A Support Foundation

The Threshold, Inc. a Wisconsin non-profit corporation serving children and adults challenged by various disabilities, recently announced that it has established The Threshold Foundation, Inc. (The "Foundation"). The Threshold Foundation, Inc. is a separate non-profit corporation which was created to hold and manage an endowment fund for the benefit of The Threshold, Inc.

Wm. Bailey, President of The Threshold Board of Directors explained: "The Threshold has been providing quality rehabilitation services to disabled citizens for more than 25 years. Each year hundreds of children and adults receive vocational training, employment, education and therapy services, thanks to this wonderful organization. The request for services continues to grow while at the same time the percentage of the operating budget provided by Federal, State and County dollars decreases. It is critical to take steps now to address the immediate and future stability of the organization. Through gifts from the community and consequent earnings, it is hoped that the endowment fund held by the Foundation can grow to become a significant source of support for The Threshold in the years to come."

The Foundation has been determined to be an organization which is exempt from Federal taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. To the extent permitted by the Internal Revenue Code, contributions, gifts, and bequests are deductible for federal income tax, gift tax and estate tax purposes.

Board members for the Foundation are: Thomas Bast, Charles O'Meara, Willard Reis, John Rozek and Robert Steiner. Threshold Board President Bailey stressed that The Threshold, Inc. will continue to rely heavily on the annual contributions it now receives. "These gifts are essential to the maintenance of our programming now. The Foundation provides additional opportunity to show support and concern for the future security of The Threshold, Inc. and the individuals it serves, particularly through various deferred giving vehicles such as wills, trusts and life insurance policies.

The Threshold, Inc. has played a critical role in the lives of thousands of our communities' citizens. It must continue to be in a position to do so in the future. The Threshold Foundation, Inc. can assure that future!"

For additional information please contact: Thomas R. Bergerud, Executive Director, The Threshold, Inc., 600 Rolfs Road, West Bend, WI 53095. Call: (414) 338-1188.

SSI Program Described

By David W. Becker
Branch Manager

If you have limited income and resources, supplemental security income (SSI) may be able to help. SSI is a federal program administered by the Social Security Administration, but financed from general revenues, not from Social Security taxes. It makes monthly payments to eligible aged, blind, and disabled people. People who receive SSI may qualify for other benefits too, like Medical Assistance and other social services.

You may qualify if you are 65 or older, or blind, or disabled, and a lawful resident of the United States. You must also meet certain income and resource limits. Some income and resources are not counted in determining eligibility for SSI. The house you live in and your car, for example, usually aren't counted. The current resource limit is $2000 for individuals and $3000 for couples.

For more information or to apply for SSI, call the West Bend Social Security office at 338-6182. The office is open weekdays from 9:00 to 4:30.

General Clinic of West Bend Unveils New $5 Million Complex

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Describing it as, "the most beautiful site he had seen in all his years of practice," James Plunkett, president of Plunkett, Keymar and Reginato, Architects from Milwaukee, talked about General Clinic of West Bend's new quarters which were unveiled to the media during a press conference and guided tour last Thursday. Plunkett noted that, unlike a flat piece of land, the hilltop on which the new $5 million clinic is situated offered some real design opportunities.

Built on, and into the hill, the 56,000 square foot, three-story structure is truly unique as well as being highly functional and efficient in design. But above all, the new clinic is constructed with its patients in mind.

Located at 205 Valley Avenue, just west of the Highway 45 bypass and just off Highway 33, providing easy access, the new building contains almost three times more space than the former clinic at South 17th Avenue.

Presently served by 25 full-time primary care and three part-time physicians, along with a support staff of over 90, including nurses, technologists and office personnel, the facility is expected to fulfill service needs well into the 1990's, with room to extend the staff to at least 31 physicians and their staffs. The new location also provides space for future expansion.

The clinic was designed and built using what is called a 'pod concept.' The heart of the building is a spacious, two-story atrium constructed of massive natural wood columns. From this airy, sky lit central area, four pods, or separate wings extend on the two upper floors. Each pod has its own reception area with patient waiting room, eight doctors' offices, fourteen examining rooms and nursing areas. The exposed south side of the three-story building has been designed with an abundance of windows complimented by natural wood and brick to provide a sunny atmosphere as well as an excellent view of Ridge Run County Park and the neighboring wetlands area where wildlife, including deer, have been observed.

The clinic, which provides services in internal medicine, family practice, pediatric, obstetrics, gynecology, general and vascular surgery, dermatology and ophthalmology, was designed to provide optimum convenience along with meeting as many of the patient's medical needs as possible without having to go to outside facilities.

With these ideas in mind, the clinic expanded its areas of support service with larger quarters for the pharmacy, optometrists and general reception on the main entrance level. The lower third level is devoted to the expanded laboratory, X-ray and physical therapy departments. There is also room for the physical therapy unit to extend its service to sports medicine.

Dr. Charles Geiger, a staff internal medicine physician and the clinic's Medical Director, told media, medicine has expanded and improved, people have become more aware of their health and well-being in the last few years. "This means health care demands have necessitated the need for more and better services. Why did we do it, we did it because we're here. We did it because it makes our job more professional, rewarding and it is good for the community." Geiger said, "We recognize that people want a personal physician, not a 'Doc in a box'."

Asked if he felt the clinic's new expanded services such as x-ray, lab testing and physical therapy, were competing with hospitals, Geiger said he did not think so. "Our business is ambulatory care, while hospitals are basically in-patient care."

It was noted that the expanded in-house X-ray and laboratory services were being well received. We've learned from our patients, noted Geiger, that they like the idea of not having to go somewhere else for these services and then have to come back to their doctor for the results.

The clinic, which began serving the community in 1930 with three doctors, has seen considerable growth over the past 50-plus years. There are now 120,000 annual patient visits, which serve approximately 40,000 individual patients at its West Bend and Jackson offices. The clinic's laboratory does over 100,000 tests annually and about 8,000 patients are seen by its X-ray department.

physicians deliver approximately 350 babies annually.

In describing the new clinic further, Jim Plunkett stated,

"we accomplished what we set out to do, design a facility which is sizeable, yet personal, accessible to patients and very unique, beautiful and comfortable."

While the clinic began seeing patients at its new facility September 5, the general public will have an opportunity to tour the building during open houses set for October 25 and 29.

Guided by Clinic administrators the media had an opportunity to view the two-story natural wood atrium which is the center of the Clinic.

Dr. Charles Geiger, General Clinic's Medical Director, left, addressed last Thursday's press conference on the new Clinic. Speakers also included, seated left to right, Hans Schmelzling, General Clinic Administrator, James Plunkett, President of Plunkett, Keymar and Reginato, Architects, Milwaukee, and Gerald Hussin, Vice President-Manager, Oscar J. Boldt Construction.

From Tom Kennelly

SMOKERS - HEART ATTACK

In addition to the lung cancer threat, habitual smoking pre-disposes smokers to clots in artery walls that can cause heart attacks. Smoking impairs the ability of the lining of blood vessels to resist clotting. Most of the 325,000 annual deaths in the U.S. attributed to smoking are due to cardiovascular failures. Improvement in blood vessels is rapid when the smoking ceases.

KHS Student Representatives Attend DPI/WIAA Student-Athlete Workshop

Four students from Kewaskum High School were among more than 120 high school athletes from 30 schools who learned to develop school programs to promote chemical-free teams during a workshop Sept. 18-19 in Green Bay.

Sponsored by the Department of Public Instruction (DPI) and the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association (WIAA), the student-athlete workshop focused on skills and attitudes that aid students in making responsible decisions about alcohol and drugs. A WIAA "TARGET Team" of six trained educators conducted the workshop, which brought together high school students, counselors, and coaches from across the state.

"These conferences are among the many initiatives the DPI has undertaken to help young people realize the consequences of alcohol and drug abuse," said State Superintendent Herbert J. Grover. "Helping student leaders to develop the tools to resist the lure of drugs will move us another step closer to having drug-free schools."

"We can't expect interscholastic athletics to be of any benefit to teenagers if they don't develop self-discipline," WIAA Executive Director Douglas Chickering said. "Current evidence indicates that alcohol and other drugs are a high priority among some of our students. The WIAA wants to do all it can to fight the battle against the use of controlled substances so our students can thoroughly benefit from their involvement in sports."

Each participating school sent two students each representing the tenth and eleventh grades and two advisers to the conference. Student participants were Chad Cook, Thad Koontz, Melissa Braun, and Stacey Heberer.

Advisors from Kewaskum High School were Sue Paul-Kenfield and Ken Soerens. Commenting on the conference,

Paul-Kenfield said, "This conference did an excellent job encouraging our students to get involved and improve the quality of their interscholastic athletics. Kewaskum is progressing along with other schools in the state, to put a stop to alcohol and other drug abuse in the community."

It's Easy... Win Las Vegas Trip for Two

MADISON...Every VEGAS MONEY GAME ticket sold by the Wisconsin Lottery will have a chance to be a winner with the game's second chance drawing feature.

"Each week for eight weeks, starting with the September 16, 1989 telecast, five players will be drawn and will each win a trip to Las Vegas for two," Wisconsin Lottery Executive Director William F. Flynn, Jr. said.

Players may send five non-winning VEGAS MONEY GAME tickets in an envelope to VEGAS TRIP, Madison, WI 53776. Entries must be received in our regular mail delivery each Thursday before Saturday's MONEY GAME show, with the final deadline to receive entry tickets Thursday, November 2, 1989.

"Players must mail their entries, none will be accepted at the five district offices."

"Players may enter the drawings as often as they get five non-winning VEGAS MONEY GAME tickets."

"Each group of five non-winning VEGAS MONEY GAME tickets must be placed in a separate envelope."

"Each Las Vegas trip winner will be awarded round trip airfare for two from Milwaukee, deluxe lodging for two in a Las Vegas hotel for four nights, all necessary airport transfers, and $300 cash."

"Trips must begin before February 28, 1990 and there are some additional details we will provide the trip winners as they are drawn.

"Winners will be announced each week on the MONEY GAME television show and will also be notified by mail," Flynn explained.

Regal Ware Listed on 'The Wisconsin 100'

"The Wisconsin 100" for 1989 represent combined annual revenues of approximately $20.1 billion and a total of 149,908 employees.

"The Wisconsin 100" is a ranking and recognition of the state's largest privately held businesses. The list, released Sept. 6, was compiled by the Milwaukee office of Arthur Andersen & Co. This is the fifth year that the accounting and consulting firm has compiled the ranking, which is developed from voluntary responses to a statewide survey.

The companies are ranked according to their gross revenues of 1988. S. C. Johnson & Son, Inc., Racine, topped the list for the fifth year in a row: Fort Howard Corporation, a new member to the list, ranked second this year with Kohler Co. ranking third. Kohl's Department Stores, Inc. jumped up to fourth place this year from its tenth place position a year ago. American Food Group, formerly known as Consolidated Beef Industries, Inc. lists fifth this year.

This year's survey responses indicated a $4.7 billion increase over 1988 combined revenues and over 50,000 more total employees. The companies also reported an estimated $2.9 billion in goods and services purchased from Wisconsin vendors. Fourteen new companies were added to the list this year.

The survey also showed that 35 of the companies were still headed by their founders and that the average age of the companies is 49 years.

More than 1,000 questionnaires were mailed by the accounting and consulting firm to companies throughout the state. To be eligible for "The Wisconsin 100," a company must have its corporate headquarters in Wisconsin, be privately held (not a subsidiary of a publicly owned company or of a company headquartered in another state), have 25 or more full-time employees and have gross revenues of more than $10 million. Cooperative, utilities, financial services, nonprofit organizations, construction and real estate companies are not eligible for consideration.

The Arthur Andersen Worldwide Organization provides professional services in accounting and audit, tax, management information consulting and professional education to clients through 231 offices in 49 countries.

Companies from Washington County ranked on the list include Regal Ware, Inc., Kewaskum, $75 to $150 million - ranked 32; Gehl Company, West Bend, $75 to $150 million - ranked 35; and the Russ Darrow Group, Inc., West Bend, $75 to $150 million - ranked 44.

Christian Composer to Perform at Peace Church

Bryan Sirchio

On Sunday, October 1, Bryan Sirchio, an ordained minister in the United Church of Christ, will perform for and speak to the Senior High Youth and their parents. The event will begin at 4:30 p.m. with get-acquainted games and fellowship. A potluck supper will be shared at 5:30 p.m. with Rev. Sirchio's program to follow.

Bryan Sirchio has been a pastor in two communities in north Wisconsin, and he still resides in Three Lakes where he heads Crosswinds Ministries. He is a graduate of Duke University and Princeton Theological Seminary. He is a teacher, preacher, singer, songwriter and recording artist. His songs are based on Scripture and have a wide appeal in their variety. His concerts involve a combination of solo music, spoken reflections on the messages of the songs, and a good deal of audience participation. Says Rev. Sirchio of his work, "I write songs of spiritual growth, comfort, hope, and evangelistic proclamation, but I also write songs of challenge and accountability; songs on the cutting edge of the biblical call to justice and peace." His latest album on Crosswinds Records is "Wise As Serpents...Gentle As Doves." He is presently recording a new double album on original songs.

Youth from Peace Church invite youth from neighboring UCC congregations to join them for this event. Rev. Sirchio will focus his message on Parent - Youth Communication in word and song.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of BENJAMIN SCHILTZ, who passed away one year ago, Oct. 4, 1988:

A million times we've thought of you.

A million times we've cried.

If love alone would have saved you.

You never would have died.

In life we loved you dearly.

In death we love you still.

In our hearts you hold a place.

No one else can ever fill.

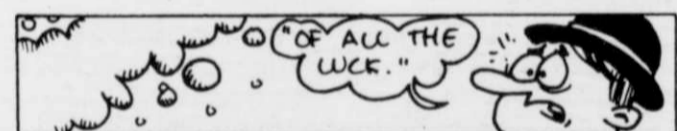

It broke our hearts to lose you.

But you didn't go alone.

For part of us went with you.

The day God called you home.

Sadly missed by his wife Hilda, sisters, sisters-in-law and brothers-in-law, nieces and nephews.

In 1895 there were two cars registered in the state of Ohio. They collided.

Over 1,300 Dinners Served At St. Michael's Festival

As they waited for their dinner ticket numbers to be called, people walked among the booths in St. Michael's Hall buying baked goods, plants, handmade craft items or buying a chance for the quilt raffle.

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Area activities the last few weekends have found the sun shining on them. This past Sunday was no exception as over 1,320 Swiss Steak and Ham Dinners were served at St.

Michael's Catholic Church's annual Fall Festival.

Festival committee members noted the dinner, while not setting a new record, was one of the best turnouts they've had.

Beside the dinner, visitors were able to take a chance on winning a beautiful quilt, buy some baked goods, nuts or even a bottle or two of fresh "hot" horseradish. In the beer garden there was an abundance of music provided by the Bill Thull Orchestra and Eddie Schneider Band.

A silo on the farm of Kenneth Enright, Rt. 1, Kewaskum, located south of Boltonville in the town of Farmington, collapsed last Wednesday short after Enright completed filling the structure. The silo, 12 by 38 feet, reportedly had a slight crack. It was filled about 2 p.m. Wednesday when two more loads of silage were placed in the structure, which had been almost filled in previous haulings. The last silage filled in may have over-taxed the structure with the additional weight being too much.

Why The Leaves Change Color

By Ronda Allen

Kewaskum Statesman, Friday, Sept. 29, 1989, Page 15

Madison, Wisconsin...Autumn in Wisconsin means apples, cranberries and pumpkin pies. It's a time for festivals, football games, leafy smells and color galore! As you wind through the Badger State's woods, bluffs, and rolling countryside this fall season 1989, keep in mind that colorful splendor you look forward to year after year is the result of some very complex coordination in "Mother Nature's" Season Change Department.

First she sends out Jack Frost, but warns not to "nip" too deeply. The air must be chilled to just above freezing to start the coloring process. During growth season the leaves are filled with green chlorophyll and pigments. When temperatures drop, chlorophyll production stops and the color pigments are unmasked. Next, she adds an abundance of bright sunny days to the fall color mix, then a seasonal pinch of rain and viola! Mother Nature has created a brilliant natural palette that will dazzle visitors to Wisconsin.

The coloring process itself is fascinating. Those crisp yellows that we get from poplar, some beech and most birches mean the leaves have few tannins. An abundance of these brownish compounds will cast a brownish-yellow color in certain species of oak and beech trees.

The vibrant reds are the stars of Wisconsin's fall color scene. This is where the sunshine comes in. Sunlight converts sugars that have been trapped in certain leaves into anthocyanins. The more anthocyanins a leaf has, the deeper the red and purple hues. Our Wisconsin maples and sumac are "outstanding in their fields" with these shades of brilliance.

It should be noted that not all trees shimmer with color in their autumn transition. Giants like the willow, alder, elder and some oaks are relatively colorless. But mixed with the entire spectrum, their neutral shades add a rich dimension to a photographers depth of field.

When the leaves begin to fall, it's more than gravity that brings them floating and swirling down to lawns, fields and forest beds. At the base of each leaf where it connects to the tree's stem are abscission cells. When the growing season ends and the leaves begin to dry out, these cells shrink and release the leaf from the stem. Once again, some trees do not conform to the norm. The mighty oak, for instance, never develops abscission cells and unlike other deciduous trees, its leaves hang on into winter until they are "weathered" off their stems.

Since rich fall color in Wisconsin depends on dry weather conditions, plenty of sunshine and crisp, but not freezing temperatures, it should be noted that peak color can be enjoyed at different times statewide. In northern Wisconsin color normally gets top billing mid to late September. Tourists to Central Wisconsin can expect peak color in late September to mid October. Southern Wisconsin visitors will get the full spectrum in early to late October. Even weeks after these general "peaks" have passed, there frequently are pockets of spectacular color remaining to surprise the late visitor.

Highlights in the north include breathtaking vistas along Lake Superior's shoreline, (Highways 13 & 2); Chequamegon National Forest, Flambeau River State Forest, Copper Falls State Park and Pattison Falls State Park (take Highways 3, 13, 27, 53, 63, 70 & 35; Nicolet National Forest, Northern Highland and American Legion State Forests (take Highways 51, 17, 47, 55, 32 & 141).

Wisconsin's Lake Michigan Circle Tour route spans breathtaking fall vistas from Kenosha to Marinette. Take Highway 32 just south of Kenosha north to I-43. Connections will be made on Highway 42 through Two Rivers then 57 to the Door County peninsula. Take Highway 42 down the Green Bay side of Door County peninsula to Highway 57. At the junction of Highways 57 and 29 in Green Bay, watch for signs for the U.S. 41 interchange. Take U.S. 41 north to Marinette and you've completed 300 miles of Great Lake charm.

Visitors won't want to miss Wisconsin's Kettle Moraine in the southeastern section of the state. And those blaze oranges, crimsons and yellows can be seen from high viewing points at Holy Hill, south of Hartford, Parnell Tower, near Plymouth, and Lapham Peak outside Delafield. For a panoramic view of the Wisconsin River Valley, visitors are invited to take in the beauty from Rib Mountain State Park in Wausau, then wind south around Waupaca's chain of lakes to Hartman Creek State Park.

The Baraboo Range and Wisconsin River bluff country along Highways 78 and 60, clothed in autumn finery, are two outstanding fall color regions in southern Wisconsin. Other bright spots are Blue Mound, Wyalusing, Nelson Dewey and Governor Dodge State Parks and oak-clad hills around sparkling Lake Geneva.

As you travel, treat yourself to the fine quality food products available along our scenic routes. Wisconsin apples are crisp and juicy, and Wisconsin honey is unbeatable. Cranberries, fruit jelly, and of course, several kinds of world-famous Wisconsin cheese make any fall trip more enjoyable.

Hikers will enjoy exploring the wonders of autumn in Wisconsin's 58 state parks and forests and along the state's 48 designated rustic roads. Bikers will enjoy Wisconsin's fall beauty on any of the five dedicated bike trails statewide and on hundreds of miles of trails that wind through all seven Wisconsin tourism regions. For bicycle trail and complete Wisconsin Fall information, contact the Wisconsin Division of Tourism Madison Information Center at 1-800-372-2737 in Wisconsin and adjacent states or write: Wisconsin Division of Tourism, P.O. Box 7606, Madison, WI 53707.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

September 21, 1989

Editor, Kewaskum Statesman
P. O. Box 98
Kewaskum, WI 53040

On September 12, 1989, I reported to the Washington County Board of Supervisors that an anonymous donor wished to make a substantial gift to the residents of the county. The donor wished to contribute up to $250,000.00 to purchase lands to be used for a public golf course.

After initial discussions, it appears that there are potential sites available which may meet the unique requirements of a golf course, while being properly located geographically. Three community leaders who have shown past interest in the sport of golf, graciously offered to fund the cost of a soils evaluation of the potential sites. Permission was obtained to obtain soil tests.

Following the report and press accounts, the county has received calls indicating considerable interest in the golf course concept. The callers were anxious to press for a timetable. It is important for the public to realize that projects of this nature take time. Although the county will be working with the donor so that the gift can be received prior to the end of the year, if possible, first priority must be given to a proper evaluation of sites and to the development of the concept itself. The County Board of Supervisors must give full consideration to the issue while, protecting the legitimate interests of the donor.

A few individuals have objected to withholding the name of the donor. The donor does not desire any public acclaim for the gift. If at a later time the donor consents to receive public acknowledgement, disclosure will be made. For the present, Washington County is also withholding the location of the sites to be given consideration. This is done because there is no current agreement with any land owners, although property is available. There are competitive and bargaining reasons, including protecting the privacy of current landowners, which require that all locations be withheld for the present. Once all site evaluations have been performed, the remaining sites may be released to the public. In any event, the public will be fully informed well in advance of any formal decision in the matter.

Interested citizens should keep in mind that the County Park and Planning Commission will be scheduling a hearing this fall on a proposed county park and open space plan. This hearing will provide a forum for discussion of the need and desirability of a public golf course, in the context of other park and open space needs.

Finally, I would like to express to the donor my personal gratitude and that of the County Board of Supervisors for this most generous proposal. I am certain that the public is most appreciative as well.

Respectfully,
Reuben J. Schmahl,
Chairperson
Washington County
Board of Supervisors

National Package Seal Collection Program Helps Area Schools Acquire Free Equipment

Scott Paper Company and area retailers have announced plans this fall to repeat a retail package seal collection program first introduced in 1987 to help our schools acquire new teaching aids and replace worn equipment free.

The program, called "Learning Tools for School" enables pre-schools to high schools to save proof-of-purchase "apple" seals from Scott paper products and redeem them for 29 different name-brand items including computers, software, audio-visual aids, reference books and sporting goods.

The beauty of "Learning Tools for Schools" is that the benefits of community participation are realized by the schools right here in our community.

A wide selection of items for varying quantities of "apple" seals is available including a set of eight picture - word books, a General Electric VCR, and an Apple IIGS System with color monitor. Schools can earn as many items as they wish as long as they submit the specified number of seals for each one. Scott packages carrying LTFs apple seals will be in stores from mid-August 1989 through January 1990. Schools have until February 28, 1990 to turn in seals. Students, teachers, parents and local service organizations are being asked to help schools organize seal collection campaigns and save "apple" seals for participating schools.

In light of the financial crunch in education, this program offers schools an exceptional opportunity to obtain state-of-the-art teaching equipment at no cost. Learning Tools for Schools is a continuation of Scott Paper Company's commitment to the communities of this country and to education in particular.

"Learning Tools for Schools" "apple" seals can be bound on these Scott brands: ScotTowels, Viva Towels, ScotTissue, Cottonelle, Scotties, Viva Napkins, Scott Family Napkins and Sofkins.

For more information about earning "Learning Tools for Schools," write to Scott Paper Company, "Learning Tools for Schools," P.O. Box 4207, Chester, PA 19016 or call 1-800-TEL-SCOT.

1990 Waterfowl Stamp Contest Set

MADISON, WI — Information on deadlines and rules for the 1990 Wisconsin Waterfowl Stamp Design Contest is available from the Department of Natural Resources, Harry Libby, DNR contest coordinator said.

The contest is open to any Wisconsin resident, 18 years or older, who is not a member of the judging panel or a member of a judge's immediate family. Waterfowl Stamp Design Contest winners from the past two years are not eligible.

Deadline for entry is Friday, December 15, 1989. All entries must be postmarked no later than that date to be eligible.

"Species of waterfowl commonly found living in Wisconsin, or appropriate subject matter relating to waterfowl hunting, must be the dominant feature of any design," Libby said. "Species which were not selected as waterfowl stamp winners in the previous three years will receive preference."

The 1989 Wisconsin Waterfowl Stamp Contest winner was Rick Kelley of Hudson with his entry showing common goldeneyes. The 1988 winner was Samuel J. Timm of Wautoma with hooded mergansers and Allan Kraayvanger of Franklin won in 1987 with his Canada geese. Other subjects that have won previously include canvasbacks, lesser scaup, pintails, bluewing teal, American widgeon and buffleheads.

The design must be the artist's original creation and shall not be copied or duplicated from previously published art, including published photographs. Artists are not limited in the choice of colors or mediums, but the medium selected must be of permanent quality like pen and ink, oil, watercolor, etching or pencil. Photographs are not eligible and metallic paints and fluorescent paints should not be used.

Artists are reminded that lettering will appear on the finished stamp, but are not to try to fit in the words on the entry. They are asked to keep some areas open to accommodate the lettering. The open areas can be light or dark in tone, but should be relatively free of harsh contrasts from dark to light.

"The judging panel for the contest will be made up of three to five members, appointed by Secretary Besadny, representing a cross-section of expertise," Libby said.

Owen Gromme of Portage was the first winning artist in the contest with a painting depicting woodducks in 1978. Since then there have been 10 other winners in the past 11 years; Rockne Knuth of Fond du Lac is the only double winner so far.

Special Agricultural Goose Damage Hunting Permit Program Announced

HORICON — Canada goose hunters will be able to assist farmers in reducing goose crop damage again this year through a special hunting program announced by the Department of Natural Resources. The program is a cooperative effort between DNR, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Waupun Animal Damage Control Office, and farmers plagued with severe crop losses to geese. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service granted a special 4,500 Canada goose quota to the Horicon and Theresa Zones. This quota is to be used to address specific damage problems on individual farms.

Last year, the program was activated in the Horicon Zone. There were 14 permits issued to farmers last year with 239 tags issued to hunters. It is felt that no more than 210 geese were harvested under this program in 1988.

This year, both the Horicon and Theresa Zones are included in the program. To qualify for the program, landowners / leasees must have experienced at least $1,000 damage due to geese within the calendar year or will experience that amount of damage despite attempting to reduce damage using techniques recommended by the county animal damage agent or the DNR. New this year is the regulation that the hunter tags are only valid Monday through Friday when regular goose hunting pressure is low.

Hunters with 1989 Horicon Zone of Theresa Zone goose permits are eligible to use agricultural tags in their regular goose permit zone. Hunters with goose permits valid during the effective dates of the landowners permit must use their regular tags before they can be issued agricultural tags. Hunters with a permit that is not yet valid or has expired may be issued agricultural tags. Hunters must pick up the hunting permit and tag directly from the farmer with the agricultural damage permit.

Farmers wishing to determine their eligibility for the program should contact the Waupun Animal Damage Control Office (USDA) at 1-800-433-0663 or (414) 324-4514. Hunters wishing to determine which farmers have agricultural goose tags should contact DNR at (414) 485-3030 for an updated list of permit holders.

Indians Fall Short of Homecoming Victory

by Laurie Telschow

It seemed that Hurricane Hugo was an unwelcome visitor at the Indians Homecoming Friday night and as the winds whipped up, so did the Chilton Tigers, carrying away a blustery 13-6 victory.

Chilton 0-2, was the first team to score taking the ball 90 yards downfield and ending the series with a quarterback sneak in which Todd Nett dove into the end zone. Chilton's Kris Zacharias made good on the PAT, putting the score at 7-0.

Kewaskum found themselves fighting the elements, namely the wind the entire 2nd quarter and never seemed to gain any field position. Chilton almost capitalized on a 14 yard KHS punt putting them in great field position on the KMS 20 yd. line, but the drive was halted on a pass play in which Chilton's Keith Steffes fumbled and Scott Heller pounced on it at the 4 yard line.

Early 3rd quarter action saw the Indians pick up one first down on its first possession but the drive was then halted. On the kick, the center snapped the ball over KHS kicker Bruce Waechter's head and he was unable to get a kick off before being tackled. This set the Chilton Tigers up on the 8 yard line and it didn't take them long to capitalize on the excellent field position. Three plays later the score stood at 13-0 with difficulties on the PAT causing no extra points.

In the fourth quarter, the Indians put some points on the board with about 3 minutes left in the game. Quarterback Brian Leitheiser connected twice with sophomore Kim Marx for 23 yards and 9 yards respectively. The second reception turned into a TD for the Indians. The 2 pt. running conversion was stopped short.

After Chilton was unable to gain enough yardage on their possession, the Indians again got one more chance to score. Leitheiser however wasn't able to connect with his receivers as he was forced to run due to some tight Chilton defense. As the clock ticked down, hopes of Homecoming Victory 89 diminished as Chilton took home its first victory of the season. Coach Pearson commented after the game "Although we played hard... we just came up short under less-than-ideal conditions."

The Indians travel to Kiel on Friday night to battle the Raiders.

KHS Netters Post 1st Victory For New Coach

By Laurie Telschow

Patience is a virtue and as a new coach, not knowing what to expect, patience is what Coach Eichstedt displayed consistently and his patience paid off with his first victory last week Thursday over Chilton. This was an especially sweet victory for the new coach considering it was also Parents night.

Kewaskum 0-5, going into the match and having lost to Chilton just weeks before, finally pulled it all together and produced what they wanted... a victory.

Key factors in the win included Tammy Troeller's victory at No. 4 singles and a doubles win posted by Shawn Erdmann and Jenny Thull. The doubles team of Erdman and Thull with their come from behind victory sealed the match.

Jessica Rohrer improved her conference record to 4-2 at No. 2 singles, avenging an earlier loss to Ellie Lutz. This time Rohrer downed her in straight sets. Debbie Rimmel also maintained her conference winning streak at No. 3 singles with a 6-0 record. Kim Frank and Carla Lemke were also victorious in their match, moving their record to 3-3. Coach Eichstedt commented "All the effort, practice and positive attitudes finally paid off."

Flag Football League Games

The second week of the Kewaskum Athletic Club flag football league was played last Saturday. In the first game the Regal Ware Raiders defeated the Lions Club Packers 18-0. Beau Coulter had a hand in all three scores for the Raiders. In the first half Beau Coulter scored one touchdown on a kick-off return and another on an interception. In the second half a Beau Coulter to Matt Tonn passed was good for another touchdown.

In the second game the Gruber Tool Bears defeated the Amerahn Redskins 7-6 in a good defensive game. All the scoring in this game came in the last 2 minutes of the 1st half. Shawn Fideler took a punt and returned it all the way for a touchdown for the Bears. The very important extra point try was good. On the following kick-off Ryan Herman returned the ball for a touchdown for the Redskins. The extra point try failed. The second half was all defense.

This Saturday, September 30th, the 1 p.m. game features the Redskins against the Packers followed by the Bears against the Raiders.

Kewaskum's Vogt Pushes Toward State Competition

Laurie Vogt, KHS cross country's running sensation, is well on her way to reaching her goal of the season which is to make another appearance at the WIAA State Cross Country Meet in October.

Vogt recently finished in fifth place, earning herself yet another medal in the Plymouth Invitational with a time of 13:08.

The next closest Indian runner was Teresa Anderson who clocked a 14:45 for 37th place. Overall, the Indian girls finished 8th out of 14 teams with 227 points. Winning the event was Luxemburg-Casco.

KHS Coach Dave Drexler was real pleased with the girls' efforts commenting that "The girls are pulling together more and the times are coming down."

Whitetails Unlimited Inc. Provides Free Hunter/Landowner ID Cards

With bow hunting season open, sportsmen are taking to the field in pursuit of the elusive white-tailed deer. Most sportsmen and women can testify to the fact that each year more and more private land is being posted against hunting and trespassing.

Statistics show that as the number of hunters increases, the land available for hunting decreases. On a national average, over 90% of sportsmen and women will be hunting on PRIVATE PROPERTY.

What percentage of these sportsmen will obtain permission to hunt the property they select? Trespassing and hunter/landowner conflicts are a growing concern. Trespassing has been cited as the #1 reason for landowners to post their property to regulated hunting.

Most of us have a pretty good idea as to why private landowners make the decision to post their land. It is usually due to a few unpleasant experiences with inconsiderate sportsmen who are causing the posting of hundreds of thousands of acres each year. Polls taken of landowner opinions show that most landowners do not mind hunting on their property but do want control over who uses their land for recreational purposes.

As part of its Project P.O.L.I.T.E. program (Permission Of Landowner In order To Enter) Whitetails Unlimited, Inc. has designed a hunter/landowner identification card which will help to curtail this growing problem.

This is how it works: When a sportsman has decided where he/she would like to hunt, he/she approaches the landowner for permission. Upon introducing himself, the hunter/landowner identification card is presented. Once permission has been granted, the landowner signs and dates the card which has been completed with all necessary information by the landuser (sportsman). The landuser retains the portion with the landowner's signature. The landowner retains the portion of the card containing the specific information on the landuser: name, address, phone number, vehicle make, and license number.

The ID cards give the hunter a tool to supply a private landowner with proper identification. It also encourages the hunter to ask for permission to hunt on private lands. Properly implemented, it assists landowners in controlling hunters on their property. Proper identification will make private landowners receptive to allowing respectful hunters on their lands. This in turn will open and keep land open to regulated hunting.

FREE hunter/landowner identification cards are available by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Whitetails Unlimited, Inc., Attn.: Project P.O.L.I.T.E., National Headquarters, P.O. Box 422, Sturgeon Bay, WI 54235.

NOTE: a 25c stamp will provide you with approximately 6 hunter/landowner ID cards.

It's PRETTY difficult to expect life to begin at 40 if we drive like 60 at 30.
