Chris Ramthun is First KHS Athlete To Qualify for State Gymnastics Meet

Christine Ramthun

DePere — Kewaskum senior Chris Ramthun became the first Indian athlete ever to qualify for the WIAA state gymnastics meet.

Ramthun placed fifth in both the floor exercise and on the uneven parallel bars in the Class B Sectional competition held here. With the top five girls in each event advancing to the state meet in Wisconsin Rapids, this meant that Ramthun would be competing in both events at state.

While Kewaskum placed fifth out of eight teams with a team score of 90.55, its second highest total of the season. Ramthun by far had the best day for the Indians. The three-year varsity regular scored a 8.0 in the floor exercise and then a 7.35 on the bars, both placing her fifth in a very competitive field.

Stephanie Reindl came up just short of being another State qualifier for Kewaskum. Reindl scored a 8.0 on the balance beam and was in 4th place with just three left to compete. All three, scored higher, bumping Reindl to seventh and out of a state meet berth. Stacy Heberer also did well in the sectional scoring a personal best of 7.3 on the vault.

DePere won the meet with a point total of 107.

chicken Kiev.

Dinner was followed by a brief business meeting whereby the upcoming Krazy Daze promotional raffle was discussed. Any questions on this may be directed to Gladys "Buffy" Seefeldt, who volunteered her time and services for the contest.

The Kettle Kountry Kolors festival was also a subject of interest to all, therefore, committees were decided upon. The following members were good enough to serve on the committees, with a little help from their friends. General Chairmen are Lana Kuehl and Lee Kempf. The Retail Committee is Charleen Barutha and Bob Beisbier; Foods Committee is Jane Korth and Jerry Koch; Music and Entertainment Committee is Bob Lucynski; Civic Groups Committee is Richard Thiemer and Bill Geidel. (Many of these names you will recognize from the Christmas Parade).

Two more people are needed to serve on the Arts and Crafts Committee. If you can find a little extra time to help out, please contact one of the General Chairmen.

ALL the Committees, however, could use some help. It was discovered during the planning stages of the Christmas Parade that the more people that become involved in a project, the less work there is for just one or two.

Everyone enjoyed the spirit and enthusiasm that was shared during the parade. We must again assume this type of enthusiasm if we hope to make Kettle Kountry Kolors successful.

We need EVERYONE to

Board Turns Down Request for More Middle School Teachers

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Despite recommendations from the District Administrator and support from the district's two elementary school principals, Middle School principal David Jones' request to increase his staffing for the 1990-91 school year has been turned down.

On a 4-3 vote Monday night, the Kewaskum Board of Education vetoed a motion to add two more teachers to next year's staff.

In presenting the request, Jones told the board the added teachers were necessary if the school is to provide tutorial assistance as well as a computer course for 7th and 8th graders and an industrial experience course for 6th graders. He also noted the additional staffing would aid in establishing a house plan setting for the students which would provide more individual student/teacher contact time.

In supporting the need for his request, Jones presented the results of a recent survey of the MS teachers. They were asked to identify students which might benefit from a tutorial program. According to the survey, 38 or 29% of the 130 sixth grade pupils could use assistance in one academic area while 24 or 18.5% need help in two or more academic areas.

In the seventh grade, 54 or 49% of the 110 students need help in one area, while 34 or 31% need assistance in two or more areas.

Jones used the present eighth grade for statistical purposes. Those figures indicated 28% of the 129 pupils need help in one academic area, while 20% of the students could use help in two or more areas.

Jones told the board, "We have not changed the student/teacher ratio one iota. We are looking for tutorial assistance outside of the class."

Approximately 25 parents of middle school students were in the audience. Six of them addressed the board in support of Jones' request. Jan Lauenstein said the middle school's Parent Advisory Council whole-heartedly supports the request.

Two parents, Mary Ann Peterson and Marilyn Terlinden told the board that needs of some of the students affect all the teachers and students. Peterson said while her child was not one of the pupils who needed help, "bright students learn very quickly how little they have to work to say on top."

Board member Perry Ankerson told Jones and the audience, "are we recognizing this need at the middle school when we should be recognizing it at the elementary school." Kewaskum Elementary School principal Richard Zarling said the recent addition of instructional aides had relieved some of the similar burden for

Governor Proclaims March 20 As Agriculture Day

Governor Tommy G. Thompson has proclaimed March 20, 1990 as Agriculture Day in Wisconsin. This observance focuses on the important contributions of the farmer to the American economy.

Gov. Thompson called attention to Wisconsin's reputation as America's Dairyland. In Wisconsin, farms rank first in the production of many dairy products, producing 17 percent of the milk, 35 percent of the cheese and one-fourth of the nation's butter.

The Governor also recognized Wisconsin as a top producer in ginseng, corn for grain and silage, oats, tobacco, tart cherries, cranberries and processed vegetables. University research and agricultural education are also acknowledged worldwide, he said.

National Agriculture Day and National Agriculture Week, March 18-24, are projects of the Agriculture Council of America (ACA). In Wisconsin, local projects are organized by agribusiness organizations, churches, 4-H and FFA Chapters, churches and civic organizations.

The Badger Chapter of the National Agri-Marketing Association (NAMA) is the state's coordinating group. Debbie Crave, the national marketing bureau director for the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP) is the 1990 state chairperson.

Dear Fire and Rescue Personnel:

The Kewaskum Village Board, Village President and I would like to take this opportunity to commend you on a job well done. We realize the amount of training, dedication and self-sacrifice given by each and every one of you. Every situation encountered may not be pleasant, but with the Lord's blessing and watchful eye, hopefully something positive is gained.

You ladies and gentlemen, through your volunteer efforts have gained true character and the communities respect, that can not be bought or won, but earned. It is understandably discouraging when the loss of life and property occur.

We want you to know that we commend you on your capabilities, pray for your perseverance and pledge support of resources.

We extend to you the communities gratitude. Thank you!

Sincerely,
THE KEWASKUM VILLAGE BOARD

Kewaskum to Send Three OM Teams to State Competition

The two high school Odyssey of the Mind teams coached by Len Soller each took a Division III first place in the OM Regional Competition at New Holstein High School on Saturday, March 10. The Farmington Elementary School team coached by Mrs. Jacquie Branchford, Mrs. Fran Lider, and Mrs. Kathleen VanDemark took a first in Division I.

The three teams will go on to compete at Stevens Point in the State OM Competition on April 21. Earning a second place in Div. III Omitronic Humor, was the team coached by Mr. Ron Beimborn: Jennifer Beimborn, Benjamin Captain, Carol Groskopf, and Christine Yogerst.

A total of ten teams from Kewaskum area schools participated in this annual event as follows: three high school teams, one middle school team, and six elementary teams consisting of one from Wayne, two from Kewaskum elementary and three from Farmington.

Winning in the long-term problem, Geographic Odyssey Div. III, the team members, Jeff Morlen, James Dionne, Ira Sison, Chris Schoofs, Jesse Santoro, and Chris Weddig wowed the spectators with imaginative costuming and backdrops, lively vignettes of life in each of three geographic regions and a vehicle of their creation that looked like something more suited to Pharaoh's Egypt than the New Holstein gym floor.

Taking first place in the long-term problem, Seven Wonders Div. III, the team used the clever idea of high schoolers being transported back in time for on-site research for their reports. The team members are Brian Repinski, Mike Stopar, Mike Kocher, Jason Noren, and Sheldon Opperman.

From Farmington Elementary School, 4th and 5th graders competing in the problem, Omitronic Humor, took first place with a hilarious skit that had the entire audience laughing out loud, including the judges. Tyler Stiff, Eric VanDemark, Brian Branchford, Mike Danielson, Stacy Siebenaler, Megan Neville, and Mike Kertcher comprised the winning team.

Congratulations to the winners and to all who competed. We'll be rooting for you at State!

elementary teachers. He said he could also see a definite need to provide some aid to teachers at the Middle school.

"I'm all for the house plan in the sixth grade," said Ankerson, "I just don't see the additional cost of doing this will have any effect."

Board member Donald Nowak addressed Administrator David Heather. "You have a cost of $60,000 for two teachers with about one to three years experience. If we have staff with more experience, it could be as high as $105,000." Heather indicated that was a possibility.

Board member Ruth Schmitt told the meeting she would vote against the request. Referring to past discussion, Schmitt told the audience the board was advised the junior high school route was the way to go, with less nurturing of the students. Now the board is being asked to change that.

Despite all the support, the motion to add two teachers was defeated with Schmitt, Nowak, Seymour and Ankerson voting 'no' and Weare, Schulte and Beimborn voting 'yes.'

In other action the board approved final notices of non-renewal for two teachers, the request of Mrs. Alvarado for district approval of a 1991 student trip to Mexico, the hiring of Howard Zemlicka as assistant track coach and the recommended list of courses for the 1990 summer school program.

The board also approved the purchase of 30 new football helmets at a cost of $2,520, and two Rizograph copier/duplicators for $13,200.

The Land O' Lakes Baseball League also received permission to sell beer on school grounds during its league games.

The board also scheduled a meeting for Tuesday, March 13th at 7:00 p.m. in the high school cafeteria to discuss possible attendance area boundary changes for the elementary schools. The purpose of the meeting is for discussion only and no action will be taken by the board.

GUEST EDITORIAL...

By Dr. R. G. Edwards

An idea struck me on Saturday when I saw the headlines in the paper that the dictator of Haiti had capitulated and quit.

The thought struck me with real meaning and power... all these big changes in all the governments all around the world by which so many changes have taken place, and all with comparatively small amounts of bloodshed. I want you folks to list as many as you can recall.

I must add that only this could happen, not by the doings of any man, nor any group of men. Only God in Heaven has exerted his power over the wicked to alter their judgement and to allow freedom for so many people.

It is my wish that everyone pray for continued peaceful solutions.

become involved... civic groups, church groups, clubs, schools and organizations. Come on... share a little of your time with your community. This festival is being sponsored by the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce, but it needs the help of the entire community. We are not just promoting the Chamber or our beautiful Riverhill Park... we are promoting our civic pride. We like it here and we want our visitors to like it here too, enough to want to come back again and again.

If you can volunteer any amount of your time, no matter how much or how little, please don't hesitate to call someone on the committee of your choice. Anything you can do will be appreciated by many.

Winner of the monthly door prize was Miller's Furniture, who generously donated the prize back to the Chamber to be used for Kettle Kountry Kolors.

Following the business meeting, Chamber of Commerce President Lana Kuehl introduced the evening's guest speaker, Marcia Theusch (and her husband, Jack). Marcia is director of the Washington County Economic Development.

She spoke to the Chamber on the large effect tourism has on our state, our county and our community. She also mentioned the profound results surrounding communities have had by trying to capitalize on the tourism business.

Tourists spend $5.4 billion in Wisconsin which incredibly averages to almost $75 million per county. Tourism is now the number two industry in our state. Many tourists are now changing their habits. Instead of the traditional one and two week vacations, people in Wisconsin and surrounding states are now opting for two and three day weekend getaways.

It is up to individual communities to strive to find ways to encourage tourists to their area and then treat them special enough to make them want to return.

Kewaskum has the potential to be a prime tourist area because it is situated in the midst of the Kettle Moraine Area.

The Chamber would like to extend our thanks to Marcia for her very enlightening information. Now it's up to us to make sure the Kettle Kountry Kolors becomes a festival that will draw tourists and the community alike.

Members who attended the banquet included Charleen Barutha, West Bend Savings; Marion Bunkelman, Bunkelman Builders; Dick and Sue Laubach, Family Hair Salon; Larry and Rosie Williams, KL Home and Hardware; Bob and Darlene Beisbier, Kewaskum Frozen Foods; Bob and Barbara Lucynski, WTKM Radio; Jerry and Janice Koch, Regal Ware, Inc.; Ed and Sharron Miller, Miller's Furniture; Lee and Shirley Kempf, LK Heating; Merlin and Gladys Seefeldt, Buffy's Village Inn; Dennis and Lana Kuehl, Kewaskum Statesman; Leroy and Donna Bier, Bier's Jewelry; Richard and Sandy Amerling, Teachers ... fireman ... composers ... computer programmers ... waiters. What do these and all other occupations have in common? They are possible because today's farmers are productive. It is the contributions agriculture make to our way of life that is celebrated on National Agriculture Day, March 20, 1989.

"Because you no longer have to spend the majority of your days growing and gathering enough food to feed yourself, society is free to pursue arts, services and other productive enterprises," says Secretary of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection Howard C. Richards.

"An efficient production agriculture industry also leads to a better quality of life for most Americans. With the threat of starvation a rare concern for most citizens, practices which protect groundwater, soil and other resources can be pursued, even if they mean reduced production," Richards explained.

"National Agriculture Day and National Agriculture Week, March 18-24, give us a chance to celebrate the contributions the food and fiber industry makes to America," said Richards. "And it also lets us approach the problems of our industry together and forge solutions through unity."

National Agriculture Day and Week are projects of the Agriculture Council of America (ACA). In Wisconsin, local projects are organized by agribusiness organizations, churches, 4-H Clubs and FFA Chapters, churches and civic organizations.

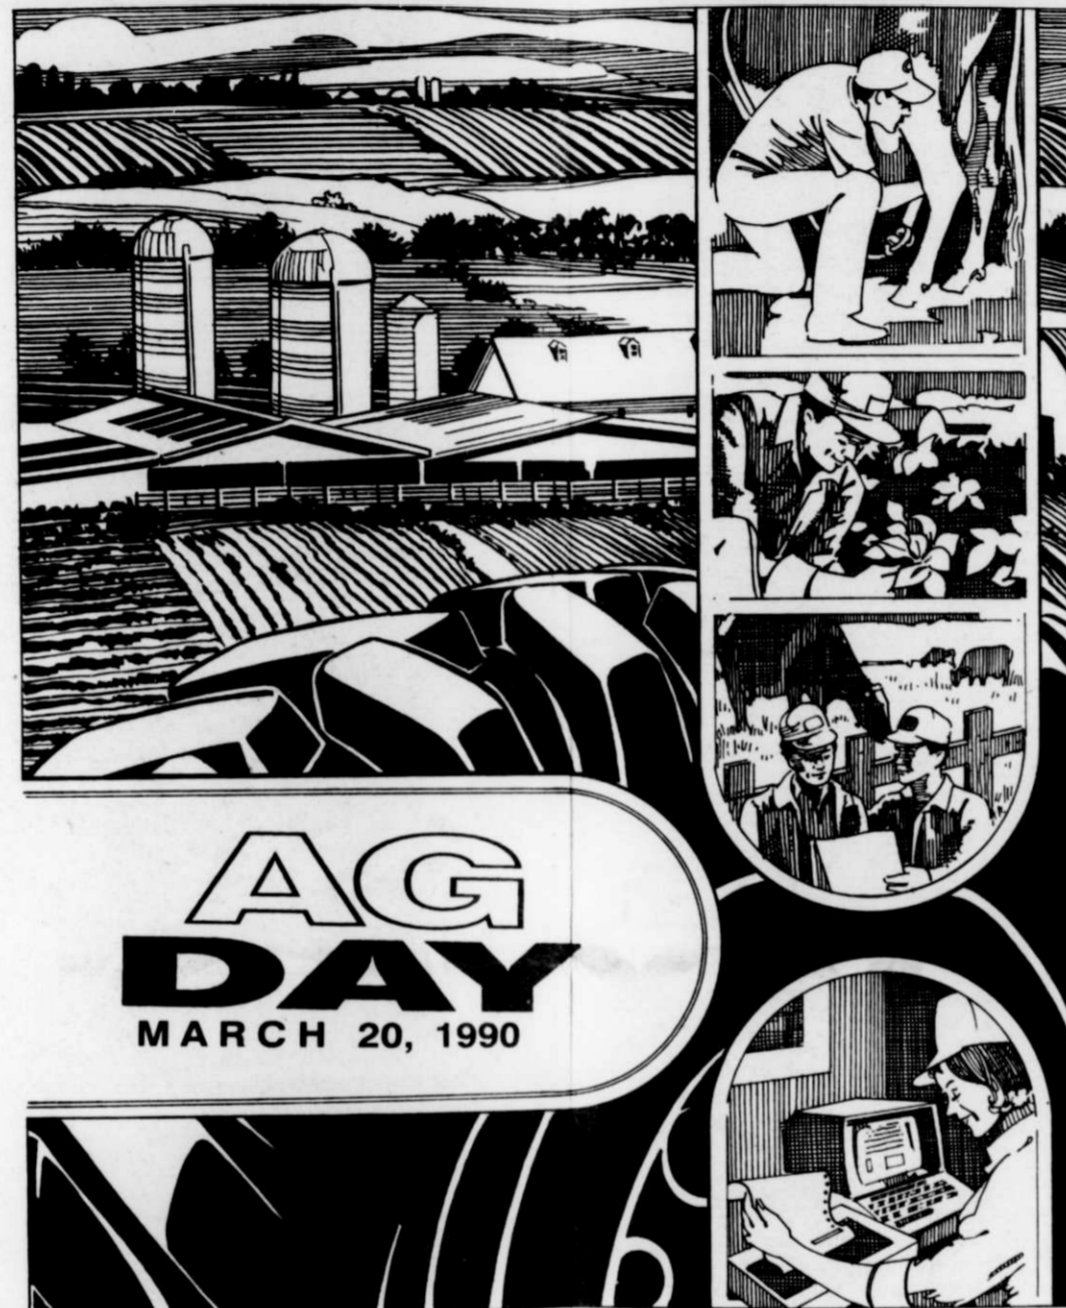

The Badger Chapter of the National Agri-Marketing Association (NAMA) is the state's coordinating group. Debbie Crave, the DATCP national marketing bureau director is serving as the 1990 State Ag Day Chairman.

For more information on Ag Day opportunities, contact Christe McKittrick at the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection, 801 W. Badger Rd., Madison, WI 53708, (608) 266-7106.

Joyce Dixon, representative for the Blood Center of Southeastern Wisconsin, said this week she was pleased with the response to Kewaskum's Blood Drive, held last Wednesday, March 7th.

While the center had hoped to see an increase in donations over last October's drive, Dixon noted Kewaskum remains very consistent in its donations.

Last week's drive saw 59 donors respond to the call for blood, with 57 pints being collected and two deferrals. Last October, 63 donors responded with 58 pints of blood being donated, with 5 deferrals.

The Blood Center of Southeastern Wisconsin is recognized as one of the leading blood centers in the United States. It is a non-profit service organization which provides all of the blood and blood components used by patients in 29 southeastern Wisconsin hospitals. The Blood Center also offers specialized laboratory services on a regional and national level and is recognized internationally as a leader in blood-related research.

GTE Now Offering Call Blocking On 700 and 900 Telephone Numbers

GTE in Wisconsin recently received approval from the state's Public Service Commission to block customer access to certain information service numbers at the customer's request.

The tariff, which was approved in early January, states that certain 900 and 700 telephone numbers may be blocked at no charge on a first-time request basis.

"Call blocking is now available in most GTE exchanges in Wisconsin," said vice president-general manager

James D. Blanchard. By making this service available, customers will have the option to control certain long distance calls.

Subsequent requests for telephone number blocking is a service order charge of $12.05 for residential and $14.95 for business. In addition, a $5.00 per-line one-time fee will be levied for blockage of any combination of these numbers.

To obtain further information regarding the call blocking, GTE customers may call 1-800-362-7511.

County Seeks Earth Day Tree Planters

The Washington County Park System is seeking groups of interested people to help plant trees in County parks and other County properties in celebration of Earth Day, April 22nd.

During the week before and the week after Earth Day, organized groups can assist in planting trees with the direction and assistance of park staff. Arrangements can be made for cedar seedlings to be provided by the County. Participants will have to bring their own shovels. Persons or groups interested in donating and providing their own larger trees will be assisted in finding a suitable location at one of the properties near their home.

Many youth groups such as Scouts need an opportunity to work on this kind of project for achievement of rank, according to Land Use & Park Department Administrator Paul Mueller. Others are interested in planting to celebrate an occasion, or as a living memorial to a loved one.

It is important for those interested to contact the Parks office as soon as possible so that arrangements can be made. Contact the Washington County Land Use and Park Department - from West Bend call 338-4445; from Hartford/Slinger call 644-5204 ext. 4445; from Germantown/Metro area call 342-2929 ext. 4445.

Washington County Park staff typically plant from 1,000 to 8,000 tree or shrub seedlings per year in the 1,000 acre park system. The trees are planted to screen the properties from adjacent development and to enhance wildlife habitat. Many are also provided as replacement for drought ravaged plantings from previous years and to fill in barren areas in older screen plantings.

Chair Caning at Cedar Lake Home

Anna Moritz

Anna Moritz loves to cane chairs. She's one of many Cedar Lake Home Campus residents who have learned the intricacies of chair caning and the love of restoring antique furniture.

"Residents enjoy caning chairs and it's very therapeutic," shares Dave Stone, Coordinator of Activities at the Cedar Lake Home. "It's also a way for residents to raise funds for their activity projects."

Caning costs are 35 cents per outside hole. Set in cane is 35 cents per outside inch of running spline. Rushing is 35 cents per outside inch of rushed area of the chair set. The Cedar Campuses uses the best, most lasting cane-material.

For more information on how to have your chair caned by residents of the Cedar Lake Home, contact Mary Fiegel at 334-9487.

'You and Your Aging Parents' Program at Cedar Ridge Campus

Many adults feel torn between taking care of their elderly parents, their own family as well as leading their own lives shares Mary Gumm, a social worker at the Cedar Lake Home.

"To help provide community members with practical, useful information about aging as it relates to their parents and themselves, the Cedar Lake Home is holding a free educational series," says Gumm.

"You and Your Aging Parents" will be held on Thursdays, March 22, 29, and April 5 from 7 - 9 p.m. at the Cedar Ridge Retirement Campus in the city of West Bend. There is no charge for the program, but pre-registration is required.

"I've had people tell me that their parents are beginning to have difficulty managing at home, but the children are unsure as to how much or for how long they can help their aging parents," tells Gumm. "People also feel the pressures of taking care of their own families. They are uncertain how to respond to care challenges."

The kick-off session, March 22, will be presented by West Bend attorney Elaine Shanebrook. She will discuss the importance of legal and financial planning, wills, power of attorney, guardianship and estate planning. Atty. Shanebrook will offer suggestions on how to initiate involvement in the financial affairs of parents.

The second session, March 29 will be on "Myths and Realities on Aging." Cedar Lake Home Campus staff members Mary Gumm, Resident-Family Services Education Coordinator, and Amy Bauer, RN, Director of Nursing, will discuss the aging process, what normal aging is and role changes.

The concluding session, April 5, will give practical tips on caring for an elderly parent and a discussion of community resources and services available. Linda Olson, Director of the Washington County Office on Aging, will be the featured speaker.

Register for this free educational series by contacting the Cedar Campuses Education Department Registrar at 334-9487 (Milwaukee 276-4370). Participants may come to either one, two or all three sessions.

The Cedar Ridge campus is located on the west side of West Bend off Scenic Drive.

PLAYGROUND INJURIES

Over a 4-year period, a record of over 300,000 injuries to pre-schoolers involved playground equipment. Falls onto hard surfaces caused most of the injuries. A 4-foot fall onto solid ground - even a 1-foot fall onto concrete or asphalt - can be fatal. With soft ground covers, such as cushioning mats, wood chips or sand, even an 8-foot fall may be tolerated.

Schools Off Property Taxes Goes to the Senate

Assembly Joint Resolution (AJR) 2, a constitutional amendment to remove school costs from the property tax, received tentative approval by the State Assembly on March 8. If the amendment is also approved by the Senate, it will be placed on the November ballot for ratification by the voters.

"Schools off property tax" is an idea that sounds good, but presents several dangers. The cost to fund this proposal, which would be phased in over 10 years, amounts to more than $3 billion in addition to what we currently spend on education. This is money that the state would have to come up with, most likely through additional taxes.

A significant increase in taxes is a dangerous possibility if this constitutional amendment is passed. To fund 100 percent of the cost of operating schools in this state, either the state sales tax would have to be doubled to 10 percent, or the top income tax rate would have to be raised from 6.93 percent to 12.4 percent. A combination tax hike would require the sales tax to increase from 5 percent to 7 percent, a corporate tax increase from 7.9 percent to 11.1 percent, and an individual income tax increase from 6.93 to 9.7 percent. These are frightening numbers.

Current property tax relief programs total approximately $300 million. Shared revenue payments to municipalities total just under $850 million. Even using this money to pay for the costs of schools, the state would face a shortfall of more than $1.5 billion. The danger of using shared revenues as a funding mechanism is that it will largely result in a shift of the property tax burden from rural areas to urban areas. One of the results of this constitutional change could be that urban areas will see an increase in their property tax burden.

Local control is also placed in serious jeopardy by AJR 2. In fact, during Assembly debate on the issue, regional educational control (rather than local school boards) and forced merger of school districts were proposed. Once the state assumes 100 percent of the funding of schools, it is also very likely that they will want to assume 100 percent control.

Property tax relief must be addressed by this Legislature. State funding of 100 percent of the costs of schools, however, may not be the answer. This resolution does not guarantee property tax relief to anyone. Renters and the elderly may be especially hard-hit, as they are likely to face a higher income and/or sales tax burden, without any drop in their rent due to a property tax decrease.

AJR 2 does not bring about any action that the state cannot take already. What it does do, however, is severely restrict the legislature's ability to make other educational improvements — including assistance for aging schools. The state simply would not have the money to address major issues such as this.

Assembly Joint Resolution 2 is a dangerous proposal. It is a feel-good, radical proposal. It neither assures overall tax relief nor the advancement of quality education.

The average adult has about 3,500 square inches of skin. The skin has roughly a billion pores.

MEGAMARCH Comes To Wisconsin

MADISON — Lucky Bucks, public education displays and singing terminals are highlights of the Wisconsin Lottery's MEGAMARCH which runs March 1-31, 1990.

"It's time to break out of the winter doldrums and enjoy Wisconsin's MEGABUCKS Lotto*America," Lottery Executive director William F. Flynn, Jr. said.

"MEGAMARCH will feature a special prize level for MEGABUCKS players, offered only during March and a return to shopping malls with our popular public education program," Flynn noted.

The special prizes for players are called "LUCKY BUCKS."

"When a MEGABUCKS player wins a 'LUCKY BUCKS' prize, the terminal will sing the MEGABUCKS theme and print a special ticket."

"The MEGABUCKS computer system is programmed so that every 100th MEGABUCKS ticket for $3 or more for a single drawing purchased statewide, from Superior to Kenosha, will cause terminals to strike up a song," Flynn remarked.

"The LUCKY BUCKS ticket can be cashed after the drawing it was purchased for, and the LUCKY BUCKS prize, as well as any four of six, five of six or six of six jackpot prize will be paid to the ticket owner," he explained.

"The singing terminal and the excitement the LUCKY BUCKS prizes will create will make playing MEGABUCKS in March more fun for players," he continued.

Multidraw tickets for $6 or more will only qualify once for the LUCKY BUCKS prize.

The Lottery will bring the public education booths which drew big crowds last summer and fall, back to 20 Wisconsin shopping centers from Superior to Racine as well during the month.

"We still get letters and phone calls asking about the MEGABUCKS game, so we will go out and answer questions as well as show people who have been watching their friends have fun with MEGABUCKS, how to enjoy playing the game," Flynn said.

"With more than a half-million dollars in unclaimed four of six and five of six prizes waiting to be claimed here in Wisconsin, we will be reminding people to check their tickets and collect their winnings," he promised.

"The public education centers will offer information as well as fun for shoppers during March, just as we did last year. In some locations, we will also be able to offer real tickets instead of samples," he added.

The Wisconsin Lottery has sold more than $400 million in tickets since the first MATCH 3 scratch tickets were sold September 14, 1988.

The MEGABUCKS game alone has accounted for more than $70 million since it went on sale August 10, 1989.

"We have enjoyed great sales momentum since we began selling tickets and I see MEGAMARCH as a great opportunity to keep the ball rolling through spring right into our second summer," Flynn said.

Wisconsin Electric Recognized By Gov. Thompson

Gov. Tommy Thompson recently recognized Wisconsin Electric Power Co.'s Appliance Turn-in Program for its efforts to create "a cleaner, safer Wisconsin."

WE was one of four companies in the state to receive the Governor's Award for Hazardous Waste Reduction.

Since 1987, Wisconsin

Electric has removed 147,000 old, inefficient refrigerators, freezers and room air conditioners from customers' homes and has recycled the aluminum, steel, plastic and copper components. In 1989, the company recycled the chemical components of the appliances as a pilot program for high-volume hazardous waste removal.

The appliances are turned in by WE's residential customers as a part of the Smart Money Energy Program. Customers received a $50 or $100 U.S. Savings bond for each appliance removed from WE's system.

"We're 'purchasing' efficiency through the Smart Money Energy Program as one method to meet growing electrical demand," explained Valerie Clarke, residential market manager at WE. "By helping our customers save money on their energy bills, we help keep rates low by postponing the need for new power plants."

It is common practice to dispose of appliances in landfills, Clarke noted. "Since we remove a significant number of old appliances each year, we want to dispose of them in the safest, most environmentally responsible manner possible. That's why the refrigerators are drained for recycling and capacitors are removed and incinerated before the units are shredded to reclaim the metal and plastic components," she said.

Refrigerants contain chlorofluorocarbons, or CFCs, which were banned from spray cans in the late 1970s because of their effect on the stratospheric ozone layer. Capacitors in some refrigerators manufactured before 1980 contained small amounts of polychlorinated biphenyls, or PCBs, which have been classified by the Environmental Protection Agency for use in the development of appliance disposal policies.

The 1990 Appliance Turn-in Program will run from May 1 through Aug. 31.

Herb and Terry Tennies Honored

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. — Terry & Herb Tennies of Tennes True Value Hardware, West Bend, Wis., were honored recently for outstanding performance in 1989 by The Toro Company. The Tennies' were inducted into Toro's Consumer Professionals Club at a Toro-hosted conference in Bloomington.

The Professionals Club was instituted by Toro in 1982 to recognize Toro dealers who exhibited outstanding performance throughout the year. Toro's regional distributors select dealers from their territories on the basis of retail sales, growth, business commitment to Toro, use of sales/display aids, demonstrated efforts to merchandise and service Toro products, and attendance at Toro sales and service schools.

Toro president David H. Morris welcomed the new group of Professionals, calling them the cream of Toro dealers. "Your dedication to and confidence in Toro made possible the company's remarkable turnaround in the early 1980s and kept us on a track of sustained growth throughout the decade," Morris said. "Moreover," he added, "we are entering the 90s a much better company because of our ever-strengthening dealer base."

The Tennies and fellow dealers earning membership in the 1989 Consumer Professionals Club, spent three and one-half days in Bloomington as guests of Toro. Toro managers conducted seminars and workshops on quality assessment, retail credit, sales techniques and training, advertising, and parts and service. They participated in a panel discussion called "Talk to Toro," where Toro listened to their concerns, problems and issues. A highlight of the three-day program was a day in the company's Windom, Minnesota Manufacturing plant observing assembly of the consumer products they sell.

The Consumer Professionals club is one of several programs Toro uses to recognize its dealers for their accomplishments in the outdoor power equipment field. Morris said, "We value our customers deeply, and the Professionals Club is a rather overt expression of the value we place on their partnership."

Toro is the nation's leading independent manufacturer and marketer of outdoor maintenance and irrigation products.

Two large "neighborly" doe deer came-a-calling in the village Wednesday morning. Many deer have been seen on the outskirts of the village but this was one of the few times they came into town and were seen on Main Street. The deer were seen around 7 a.m. Mrs. Clarence Reigle reported seeing the two does near her home in Roseland Heights on the west side of the village. They were also reported seen by Art Wilke who resides in the same area. Later Peter Yearling, delivery truck driver for Regal Ware, walked into the Kewaskum Bakery and told Mrs. Roy (Claire) Schwartz, the clerk, she had a customer outside. She looked out to see one doe standing next to the bakery and Rose Miller's tavern on Main Street. The one doe took a walk completely through the village while the other apparently scampered off in another direction.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ritger, 1339 Kewaskum St., born Monday, March 8, at St. Joseph's Hospital, West Bend, was honored as the first baby girl born at the hospital during Girl Scout week. She was presented with a $10.00 bank account by the West Bend Girl Scouts, who also presented Mrs. Ritger with a beautiful plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fehlhaber of 1502 Stark St., have installed a large cross on top of the huge hill (known as Keller's hill) owned by them near their home at the northeast village limits. The cross can be seen for miles when lighted at night by many bulbs and is in keeping with the holy Lenten season.

UWWC Dedication Planned For $2.1 Million Expansion

Dedication services are scheduled starting at 1:30 p.m., Sunday, April 1, for the $2.1 million campus expansion at the University of Wisconsin Center - Washington County.

The public is invited to the opening program in the Union theatre. Afterwards, tours of the new facilities will be conducted by the University Council, the UWWC Student Ambassadors and the UWWC Student Government Association. Faculty, staff and students will be located around the campus to answer questions.

A reception will be held in the Union cafeteria and Fireside Lounge following the tours.

Ground was broken for the project on April 12, 1989.

Leo Groh, chairman of the UWWC Board of Commissioners, will make the formal dedication of the new facilities. Acting Dean Dion Kempthorne of UWWC will accept.

Ray Werhand of West Bend, president of UWWC's University Council, will be master-of-ceremonies for the event. City, county and state officials have been invited to participate.

In mid-March 1989, A. Guenther Construction of West Allis began work on the $2.1 million expansion and renovation project, the second expansion since the campus opened in the fall of 1968.

Construction was completed in time for spring semester classes in 1990. The last expansion took place in 1980.

Two major additions have added about 17,000 assignable square feet to the campus, an increase of about 28 percent.

The largest addition links the union and library into one structure and provides 13,400 gross square feet (GSF) of space. Located here are two computer laboratories, two classrooms, central storage, theatre storage, faculty offices, a book store and a conference classroom.

A smaller addition provides about 5,600 GSF to the Union for expanded dining and maintenance areas with a central loading dock.

The 1980 expansion was designed to accommodate a student body of 540. In the fall of 1988, a record 856 students were enrolled. Last fall, UWWC recorded its highest full-time equivalent student enrollment in history, with classes fuller than ever before.

Along with the new construction and library remodeling, maintenance work repaired existing roofs and heating-ventilating units, expanded parking and created extra storage in a pole building.

In mid-1987, the Board of Commissioners selected Strang Partners, Inc., a Madison architectural firm to work with it on translating UWWC space needs into cost estimates.

On Nov. 20, 1987, the commissioners voted 8-0 to endorse an initial architects' report and send it on to December meetings of the Common Council and County Board.

In endorsing the report, the commissioners agreed unanimously to recommend that expansion should be carried out as a single project rather than in phases. A more-expensive three-step construction program had been presented by the architects as a possible alternative.

By early summer 1988, both county and city had agreed to contract with Strang to prepare specifications for a possible bid-letting. The county vote was a narrow 21-9 margin, one vote over the required two-thirds majority.

In December 1988, plans were reviewed and approved by the UW Board of Regents and the State Building Committee. The groups agreed to fund a quarter-million dollars in moveable equipment for the new facilities.

Bids were let in late December 1988. A low bid of $1,801,663 was received on Jan. 26, 1989. On Feb. 13 the city council gave unanimous approval to proceeding with the project. A day later, the county board added its approval, 28-2.

Former UWWC Dean Robert Thompson said that carrying out of the expansion will "complete the campus" through the end of this century.

Tax Guidance for Farmers Who Received Disaster Assistance Payments

The Internal Revenue Service has issued guidance to farmers who received payments in 1989 under the Disaster Assistance Act of 1989. These payments may qualify for the special tax treatment afforded other crop insurance proceeds received by farmers, according to Milwaukee District Director John T. Ader.

Under federal tax law, farmers who received insurance proceeds for crop damage due to floods, droughts or other natural disasters, or due to the inability to plant crops because of these events, may qualify to report this income from crop sales in the year after the crops were harvested, this provision allows farmers whose crops are destroyed to avoid reporting two years income in the same year.

In order to qualify for the special treatment, the farmer must use the cash method of accounting and must establish that the proceeds from the sale of the destroyed crops would normally have been reported in a year following the destruction.

According to District Director Ader, the new IRS guidance recognizes that payments made by the federal government for crop damage serve the same purpose to a recipient as insurance proceeds and should be taxed in a similar manner.

The favorable tax treatment of federal payments, says Ader, "properly implements the intent of Congress in originally enacting the crop insurance provision."

Dairy Producers Turn Out in Record Numbers to Hear Promotion Results

Record attendance at 10 regional information meetings sponsored by the Wisconsin Milk Marketing Board (WMMB) indicates dairy producers are interested in their promotion, education and research programs, according to Mike Kawleski, WMMB director of producer and industry relations.

More than 3,000 dairy producers attended the meetings held Jan. 29 through Feb. 9 around the state, up from about 2,200 in 1989.

A survey of dairy farmers at the meetings showed 89 percent were extremely or moderately satisfied with the job WMMB is doing. Seven percent said they were neither satisfied or dissatisfied, two percent were moderately dissatisfied, one percent were extremely dissatisfied, and one percent said they did not have enough information to comment.

"During the question and answer period, producers were interested in the specifics of how and why WMMB is promoting and researching new markets for Wisconsin dairy products," says Kawleski. "They asked questions regarding availability of Wisconsin cheese in national markets, the status of research to develop non-food uses for milk components, and what the results were from the Belle of Wisconsin promotion. This indicates that producers want to become even more savvy in milk marketing."

Will Dahl, WMMB general manager, cited issues and trends the state's dairy industry must address so it remains a leader through the 1990s. They include: consumer concerns about nutrition, health and convenience; food safety; environmentally sound packaging; surplus milkfat; and biotechnology.

"To face these issues, we must continue to build partnerships - or strategic alliances - with businesses and groups we have never thought of as partners in the past. And, we'll have to change the way we think of ourselves, too. Wisconsin dairy farmers are in the food business, not just the dairy business, stated Dahl.

He reported that WMMB is working to build alliances with food processors and brokers, wholesalers, distributors, retailers and foodservice operators. "This is the team that will take us to our goal - selling more dairy projects to consumers," he said.

Other presentations at the regional meetings highlighted the challenges and opportunities facing WMMB's research, market development and education committees. WMMB outlined how its five regional marketing managers have helped increase dairy product sales by working with retailers and distributors to market Wisconsin cheese using co-op advertising, display contests, product demonstrations, merchandising seminars and point-of-purchase materials. WMMB is the first and only promotion organization to use this approach in markets nationwide.

County Wisconsin Conservation Corps Project Approved

The Wisconsin Conservation Corps (WCC) Board approved the Washington County application for a WCC crew at their board meeting in Waukesha on January 25. The county is one of eighteen project sponsors selected to receive the services of a WCC crew for one year to complete conservation and community development projects.

The WCC crew will consist of a crew leader and 6 young adults. The WCC will pay for wages, safety equipment, and other crew support at a cost of $75,700. The Washington County will supply the equipment, supplies, and transportation needed to complete the year of work projects.

Among the projects to be undertaken by the crew include landscaping and painting, nature trail sign installation, pit toilet construction, rock retaining wall construction, trail development/rehabilitation, tree transplanting, and picnic

The Washington County project is scheduled to begin on April 9. Young adults interested in working on the project should contact their local Job Service office or Tim Perry at the WCC Southeast Regional Field Office, 30 W. Mifflin, Suite 408, Madison, WI 53703, (608) 267-2720. Candidates must be 18 to 25 years old and unemployed to qualify.

The Wisconsin Conservation Corps was created by the state legislature in 1983. It offers meaningful conservation-related job experience to unemployed young adults which increases their chances for future employment in the private sector. At the same time, Wisconsin communities benefit from a variety of important wildlife, forestry, recreational, and community development projects they could not afford to undertake without the help of the Corps. With the addition of the newest round of projects, WCC will have 47 ongoing projects in the state.

The application deadline for the next round of project selection is March 30, 1990 for projects that will start in July. Projects are selected on their ability to meet the conservation and corps member education objectives adopted by the board. Local governments and non-profit organizations interested in applying for a project should write to the Wisconsin Conservation Corps, 30 W. Mifflin, Suite 406, Madison, WI 53703, or call (608)266-7730.

THANK YOU

Prayer through application to the Holy Spirit. Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, light all roads so that I can attain my goal. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things as you confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you, even and in spite of all material illusion. I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy toward me and mine.

The person must say this prayer for three consecutive days. After three days, the favor requested will be granted, even if it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after the favor is granted.

DNR and UW Cosponsoring Fishing Class

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources and the School of Natural Resources at the University of Wisconsin - Madison are co-sponsoring a class for people who want to learn a more scientific way to catch fish.

DNR employees Tom Sheffy and Jack Sullivan will team up with local fishing guides to teach the class, Scientific Fishing Tactics and Techniques; Walleye and Musky. The intensive four-day course will be held on Lake Tomahawk, just south of Woodruff-Minocqua. There will be two sessions; one meets June 14 to 17, and the other from June 21 to 24.

The class integrates knowledge of fish behavior, lake ecology, weather and modern equipment, with old-fashioned hard work to bring anglers better catches. Anglers will put in 16-hour days, with lectures and demonstrations sandwiched between morning and evening fishing trips on Lake Tomahawk.

The class is limited to 10 boats of 20 anglers, who must provide their own equipment. Registration will be on a first-come, first-served basis, with preference to those who register in pairs.

The class fee is $195 per person, which includes instruction, lodging and meals. To register, write the CALS Conference Office, Jorns Hall, 650 Babcock Drive, Madison, WI 53706. Make checks payable to the UW-Madison. The course fills quickly, so register early.

Illinois Garbage Thwarted

By Senator Don Stitt

I am pleased to announce that I was successful in my fight to charge Illinois municipalities a tipping fee to dump their garbage in Wisconsin landfills.

It is a fact that Wisconsin's landfill dilemma exists on many levels and for different reasons. One real problem is that each year we are importing more and more Illinois garbage to our landfills.

By 1995 it is anticipated that over one-third of all residential and commercial garbage buried in Wisconsin may be coming from Illinois. This is a significant percentage.

Currently, the volume of Illinois garbage, for instance, is more than double our previous estimates. From five Illinois counties, we receive nearly 450,000 tons per year.

The Department of Natural Resources estimates that Wisconsin has approximately 10.5 years of existing municipal waste landfill capacity. This is based on current rates of 3,800,000 tons disposed annually.

Our landfill capacity stands a good chance of increasing if our recycling efforts reduce the amount of solid waste that is disposed. Based on present rates of disposal, our per capita landfill capacity is approximately eight tons.

But as we pursue various ways to clean up our landfills, the dilemma posed by out-of-state waste in Wisconsin is critical.

That is why I addressed this problem through the enactment of a solid waste capacity fee — known as a tipping fee — for solid waste generated outside of Wisconsin.

The argument is simple: if we are going to accept the burial of increasing amounts of Illinois waste in Wisconsin, it seems fair to charge a fee to do this. After all, out-state solid waste is a contributing factor to our landfill concerns.

By adopting Senate Amendment 58 to SB 300, we have created a tipping fee structure that would take effect January 1, 1995.

The graduated scale of the fee would be based on solid waste capacity in Wisconsin and the capacity in the state from where the solid waste is generated.

For example, if a state has at least as much solid waste disposal and incineration capacity per capita as Wisconsin, they would pay a zero tipping fee.

A state which possesses at least 75% as much solid waste disposal and incineration capacity per capita as Wisconsin would pay a fee of $2 per ton.

With at least 50% capacity, the out-state fee would be $4 per ton; with at least 25%, the fee would be $6 per ton. An $8 per ton fee would apply to a state with less than 25% capacity.

There is one other interesting aspect to this graduated fee structure. The fees would double if the solid waste generated in any state remains at the same level or increases in two consecutive calendar years.

The doubling of fees would continue until solid waste generated in that state qualifies for a lower fee.

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources would be required as of January 1, 1991 to determine the solid waste disposal and incineration capacity of Wisconsin and adjacent states. These calculations would be used for setting the January 1, 1995, standards.

The money collected from tipping fees would be put into the state's Environmental Fund for the clean up of contaminated dump sites.

One concern about enacting an out-state tipping fee is whether or not it is constitutional. Under interstate commerce laws, the state cannot ban the importation of garbage because it is considered a commodity.

However, the tipping fee amendment has been drafted so that it is fair and constitutional using laws in other states as a model.

Furthermore, the intent is not to build a wall around Wisconsin. The intent is to apply an across-the-border fee for garbage so states like Illinois pay their fair share.

But more importantly, the idea is that as Wisconsin makes sweeping efforts to recycle its waste, we should encourage states like Illinois to do likewise.

Since we are struggling to reduce the disposal rate of solid waste in our landfills, it makes sense to protect these efforts so we are successful.

By forewarning Illinois five years in advance of a graduated tipping fee, for instance, we give their state and local officials time to plan for more landfill space or to begin similar recycling efforts.

I believe this is an important component of Wisconsin's recycling efforts.

THE KEWASKUM STATESMAN

Osterbrink On First Team All-Conference

Kewaskum's Pam Osterbrink was a unanimous choice for the first team in the all conference voting done by the Eastern Wisconsin Conference coaches last week in New Holstein.

Osterbrink, a 6-1 center, was four-year participant on the Indians' varsity squad. This season Osterbrink averaged 16.9 points, and 12 rebounds per game in conference play. Including nonconference games, Osterbrink averaged 17.6 points, 12 rebounds and 2-6 steals per game in leading Kewaskum to a 14-11 record. Osterbrink wound up her high school career as the 2nd all-time leading scorer in Kewaskum history, trailing only Linda Larson.

Joining Osterbrink on the first team were Player of the Year Sherri McNamara from New Holstein, Zelly Zahn of Two Rivers and Heather Kulow and Erica Young of state qualifying Plymouth.

Plymouth and New Holstein shared the co-championship with identical 11-1 marks. Plymouth eventually advanced to the state tournament before losing in the opening round.

Kewaskum's Kristi Lubahn

and Tina Weddig received honorable mention in the voting. Lubahn averaged 6.2 points per game and Weddig 4.9 and both were instrumental in helping the Indians to the sectional finals, where they were beaten by Monona Grove.

Gerhartz Selected As One Of Eastern Wisconsin's Best

Steve Gerhartz, the standout 6-4 center for the Indian boys basketball team this past season, was a unanimous selection to the first team all conference squad, selected by Eastern Wisconsin Conference coaches last week in New Holstein.

Gerhartz averaged 15.9 points per game and 11.1 rebounds per game. His point total, 191, was good enough for fourth place in the league, while his rebounding total, 134, was the best in the league, easily outdistancing Player of the Year Chris Hein of Plymouth, who finished the year with 97.

An excellent jumper, Gerhartz was a three year member of the varsity team, starting for two and a half years. This past season saw Gerhartz getting bottled up underneath and maybe not getting many calls to go his way, but the senior leader went about his business anyway and still came through with an exceptional year.

Joining Gerhartz on the first team were Hein and teammate Gabe Miller of Plymouth, and Corey Shimulunas and Ted Swiontek of Two Rivers. Plymouth and Two Rivers were co-champions of the EW, each with 11-1 marks. Plymouth boys team also advanced to the state tournament in Madison, a week after the girls team accomplished the same feat.

Indian junior Mark Felix was voted to the second team all conference squad as well. Felix, who averaged 13.2 points per game, good enough for seventh in the conference improved dramatically over the season and was a key for the Indians late in the year.

Two-Year Farm Truck, Motorcycle, Moped Registrations Now in Effect

Farm trucks, motorcycles and mopeds are now registered for two years instead of annually, according to the state Department of Transportation.

The two-year registration period was adopted by the state Legislature as part of the state budget. The fees have not changed, but will be collected for two-year periods instead of annually, as in the past.

Norbert K. Anderson, administrator of the DOT Division of Motor Vehicles, said the registration period for farm trucks is currently underway. The two-year registration fee is $42 for trucks up to 12,000 pounds, the same as the previous $21 annual fee. People with personalized farm plates will pay $62 for the two years, which includes the $10 annual personalized plate fee.

Anderson said motorcycle and moped plates expire in April and renewals will be mailed in March. Biennial registration fees for all mopeds and regular issue motorcycles are $14, which is unchanged from the $7 annual fee. Personalized motorcycle plates will cost $34 for the two-years, which also includes the personalized fee.

Current farm truck, motorcycle and moped license plates will be validated through their expiration dates in 1992 with black on green stickers.

Anderson said the two-year registration period will reduce processing of about 300,000 farm truck, motorcycle and moped registrations this year, resulting in significant biennial cost savings. The idea originated from one of the DMV "quality circle" employee work groups that meet regularly to improve work procedures and reduce production costs to a minimum.

Anderson Finishes Successful Basketball Season at UWWC

Ted Anderson capped off a successful season with the UWWC Wildcat men's basketball team by being named to the first team of the Wisconsin Collegiate Conference all-conference squad.

Anderson, a former standout at Kewaskum High School, was a one-man wrecking crew for the Wildcats, who finished sixth in the Eastern Division of the twelve-team conference with a 3-9 mark.

The 6-5 center was second in the league in scoring average as he pumped in 23.3 points per game with a league-leading 280 points in 12 games. Only Scott Armes of UW-Fox Valley had a higher average (26.0) than Anderson, but Armes only played in six games.

Anderson was by far the best rebounder in the league, grabbing 181 rebounds on the year, good for a 15.1 average. The next closest to Anderson on that category was averaging 11.1 per game.

Anderson was also fourth in the league in field goal percentage, hitting on 129 of 241 shots, for a 53.5 percent clip. Mike Haight of UW-Marinette was next closest to Anderson in field goals made with 92.
