Receives Full Scholarship to Northeastern Illinois

Osterbrink Signs Letter of Intent

KHS Girls Basketball Coach Glenn Eichstedt, left, and KHS Athletic Director David Rizzardì, look on as Pam Osterbrink signs her letter of intent.

Kewaskum High School senior Pam Osterbrink has signed a letter of intent to attend Northeastern Illinois University, Chicago on a $5,122.00 full renewable basketball scholarship.

Osterbrink, a 6'1" center, had an outstanding year as one of Kewaskum's top players during the 1989-90 season. A four-year member of the girls varsity basketball team, Osterbrink averaged 17.6 points per game, with 12 rebounds, 2 to 6 steals and a 60% free throw average during her last year of play. Her career totals included 1,076 points and 204 steals, with a 48% free throw average.

Osterbrink's past season honors included being named 1988-89 Eastern Wisconsin

All-Conference Selection, 1989-90 Team Most Valuable Player, Unanimous First Team All-Conference Selection, Honorable Mention All-State Selection, 1990 Wisconsin Basketball Coaches Association selection and named to the 1990 All-star game on June 16th in Oshkosh.

Pam is the daughter of Mrs. Rita Osterbrink of Kewaskum.

In a press conference Tuesday, Osterbrink said one of the reasons she had selected Northeastern was that it is a small school with an enrollment of 10,000 students. The school also has an expanding women's basketball program, having recently moved up to Division One level competition. "We'll be playing UWM, Green Bay, Parkside and Loyola," said Osterbrink.

Pam's coach Glenn Eichstedt said he felt Osterbrink's school selection would benefit her since their program would allow her to compete from the beginning. Eichstedt said Northeastern's coaches were looking for centers to help improve their program and Pam fits into those plans. He noted NIU assistant coach Annette Tracy had come to see Osterbrink in a game here.

Osterbrink said she will be moving to Chicago after graduation so she can get in some regular play before school begins.

Stricter Refuse Mandates Create More Problems

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Present laws and those that will go into effect in the near future are already causing just as many problems as they are trying to solve when it comes to the issue of America's garbage.

The Village of Kewaskum is facing the same questions and issues that all communities, large and small, throughout the country are trying to cope with and answer. Even if you have a recycling program going, it does not solve the entire problem.

Public Works Superintendent Augie Bilgo told the Kewaskum Village Board, Monday night, that the village's landfill had been closed and capped in accordance with DNR requirements.

Now the village is facing another problem, where to go with its grass clippings which are already beginning to increase. Bilgo told the trustees the one individual who had been accepting the village's clippings in the past will no longer take them because some households had begun mixing their garbage in with the grass. "You can't blame this person when he opens a bag of grass and finds all kinds of garbage including dirty diapers," said Bilgo.

Beside the grass, the village is also facing another problem of what to do with the brush it has collected since the closing of the landfill. "We've got three big trucks of brush," said Bilgo. He stated that he and Village Administrator Dan Schmidt had already discussed the fact that the village is going to have to consider buying a chipper and possibly an extra truck. An expenditure that could run anywhere from $16,000 to $20,000 just for a used chipper, if the village is lucky enough to locate one.

Village Board

"The village will have to start a composting pile to handle the grass and brush," said Schmidt, "but then where are we going to go with the composted material?" Bilgo said if the residents were interested in composting, they would have begun compost piles in their own gardens instead of bagging their clippings and hauling them up to the recycling center. "All we can do is encourage people to cut their grass at least twice a week and leave it on their lawns."

Bilgo also noted residents are placing materials in the garbage which should not be included in the household refuse. These are things which the village's contractor has indicated he will not accept because he cannot dump them at the landfill. "WE could possibly get a whole load of garbage rejected by the firm," said Bilgo.

Bilgo did say that many residents have begun to recycle. "The people who do recycle do a good job," he stated. "We just wish more people would do it."

Several of the trustees suggested that the village look into the mandatory use of clear plastic trash bags to help solve part of the problem. Bilgo noted that was fine for helping to cut down on the mixing of refuse but then what does the village do with the bags from the grass clippings? "We have to dump the bags out because we can't leave them at the landfill either."

The whole issue of garbage and recycling seems to be a circle with no end. "It's fine to implement laws," said Trustee Mary Krueger, "but they've (the government) got to find some place to go with it."

In other business the board discussed several areas throughout the village where parking places are creating safety hazards by obstructing the view of drivers when they pull out into main streets from side streets. The Protection and Public Safety Committee presented a list of sites it had inspected and considered hazardous. The board decided to hold a public hearing on the trouble spots, possibly in late summer, before taking any specific action to limit or eliminate parking in those areas.

In board action the trustees approved the issuance of two bartender's licenses and a beer license for the Kewaskum Athletic Club. It also voted to deny the issuance of one bartender license.

The trustees also approved an ordinance amending the village's code on operator's licenses and fees and the setting of summer hours for the municipal building.

Two proclamations were also approved, one recognizing the General Federation of Women's Clubs Centennial Day on April 24th and the second proclamation for Professional Secretaries Week, April 22-28.

The board then adjourned to closed session.

MPTC Names Karen Koenig As Recipient of Star Award

Karen Koenig, a medical record technician student from Kewaskum, has been named the 1990 recipient of the Moraine Park Technical College Star Award.

She was chosen from among five student finalists by a selection committee made up of representatives from sponsoring businesses within the Moraine Park Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District, according to John Starr, coordinator for the student recognition program.

The other student finalists nominated by Moraine Park's staff were Gregg Heller, Malone, electromechanical technician; Scott Randall, Eden, water and wastewater treatment technician; Kurt Von Heimburg, Hartford, engine technology; and Mary Grace Wagner, Malone, civil engineering technician structural.

As the 1990 Star Award recipient, Koenig will receive a $500 cash award. The four other Moraine Park finalists will each receive a $100 cash award.

Koenig, a former Beaver

Dam resident, is currently finishing her final semester's work to obtain her associate degree as a medical record technician. She will graduate in May.

This is the second year in a row a student from the medical record technician program, located at Moraine Park's West Bend campus, has been chosen. Last year, Sally Deniston of West Bend was the Star Award recipient.

On May 8-9, Koenig will compete with district winners from Wisconsin's other 15 technical colleges for the 1990 state Vocational, Technical and Adult Education (VTAE) Star Award.

Begun in 1984-85, the Star Program is a statewide student recognition program for the VTAE system. In addition to a valuable award for winning, the state Star Award recipient serves as an ambassador for the VTAE system for a year.

The selection process begins at the local district level with instructors and other members of staff nominating students. Moraine Park staff screen the nominations and recommend five finalists to the selection committee.

All five local Star nominees will be honored at the annual Moraine Park student awards banquet in May.

Wisconsin Electric's Smart Money Energy Rebate Program Now in Effect

Question: How can you protect the earth and save money, too?

Answer: Participate in Wisconsin Electric Power Co.'s Smart Money Energy Program.

Cash rebates for the purchase and installation of energy-efficient appliances and equipment are now in effect, and most offers will be available until Dec. 31. And, the program offers an environmentally sound way to dispose of inefficient, older appliances, too. Customers who turn in old room air conditioners, refrigerators and freezers between May 1 and Aug. 31 will receive a $50 or $100 U.S. Savings Bond. Customers need not purchase a new appliance to dispose of an old one.

"In the three years that Smart Money offers have been available, our customers have helped save enough energy to reduce the amount of coal we burn in our power plants by 400,000 tons," said Valerie Clarke, residential market manager at Wisconsin Electric. "By reducing our coal consumption, we've avoided producing 36,000 tons of fly ash, which is a by-product of burned coal," Clarke said. "While some fly ash can be recycled, burying 36,000 tons of fly ash would fill a landfill the size of a football field to a depth of 15 feet.

"Less coal burned also means fewer air emissions from our power plants, including 1,500 tons of sulfur dioxide," she said.

The Smart Money Energy Program has other environmental advantages as well.

"The 147,000 inefficient appliances that have been turned in have not been deposited in landfills," Clarke noted. "Instead, some of the metals have been recycled for use in other products, and in 1989, the refrigerants were drained and recycled." The Appliance Turn-In Program was recently recognized with a Governor's Award from Wisconsin Gov. Tommy Thompson for hazardous waste reduction.

"In addition to these environmental benefits, Smart Money offers save our customers money with rebates and lower electricity bills," Clarke said. "And the program saves the company money as well, by deferring the need to build expensive new power plants. Customers energy savings in the first three years of the program have equaled the output of a small power plant."

For more information on the 1990 Smart Money Energy Program, call 221-4800 in Milwaukee. Outside the Milwaukee area, call toll-free, 1-800-922-6253.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWC), which will celebrate its centennial throughout 1990, was formed April 24, 1890. Since its founding, GFWC has served as a unifying force, bringing together local women's clubs from around the country and throughout the world. Clubwomen have been instrumental in the development of kindergartens in public schools, the establishment of 75 percent of the country's public libraries and the enactment of food and drug regulations, to name just a few.

GFWC was organized by Jane Cunningham Croly in 1890 to "unite women's clubs and to enhance community service efforts by volunteers throughout the world." Twenty-one years earlier, Croly, a newspaperwoman with New York World who wrote under the name of "Jennie June," had formed the GFWC's parent club, Sorosis, a club for women that would "manage its own affairs, represent as far as possible the active interests of women, and create a bond of fellowship between them."

Women of all ages, interests and experiences belong to GFWC, but all are united by a dedication to community improvement through volunteer service. "Unity in Diversity," GFWC's motto, aptly describes the Federation and its goals. GFWC encourages its member clubs to explore their diverse interests and use their varied experiences to develop programs which members may select and adapt for their own use. This flexibility has enabled GFWC to continue to grow and adapt to the needs of clubwomen throughout the world.

In order to serve the diverse needs of its membership, GFWC offers programs in six departments: Conservation, Education, Home Life, International Affairs, Public Affairs and the Arts. These programs range from the preservation of endangered wildlife to arts festivals for the disabled and from literacy campaigns to crime prevention. In all cases, local clubs are free to choose those programs and projects which best suit the interests of their members, and more importantly, the needs of their communities.

Kewaskum Juniors have participated in the GFWC Centennial Observance by donating to the Kewaskum Public Library a copy of the GFWC Centennial Cookbook, which features favorite family recipes submitted by Clubwomen from throughout the Federation, prepared a Centennial poster displaying articles from 1890 and headlines of present and future happenings using the Centennial theme "A Past To Remember, A Future To Mold" for presentation at the District and State Conventions, participated in a Centennial fashion show at the Spring District Convention, completed a questionnaire entitled "Agenda for 21st Century" to select special project emphasis in the 21st century, attended Centennial workshops at conventions and conferences and mentioned the GFWC Centennial in several news articles.

Kewaskum Juniors are proud to be a member of the oldest and largest nondenominational, nonpartisan volunteer service organization of women in the world.

Gayle Van Ess Nominated For Jr. Woman of the Year

Members of the GFWC Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club are pleased to announce that Gayle Van Ess has been nominated by her fellow clubmembers as a candidate for the GFWC Wisconsin Junior Woman of the Year Award.

This most meaningful award was established by the GFWC Wisconsin Junior Board in 1989 in honor of the General Federation of Women's Clubs Centennial, which we celebrate in 1990.

Gayle and others from around the state have been nominated for this award for their outside volunteer activities as well as their service performed in their club and other Federation areas during 1989.

To mention a few areas of activity, Gayle served as Senior Choir Director and Vacation Bible School superintendent and teacher at her church. In her public school she was secretary of the Human Growth and Development Committee, served as co-chair on the Protective Behaviors Committee and was a member of the elementary school PTO. Her activities in civic organizations included American Cancer Society Volunteer driver, poll worker for elections and a volunteer worker at Kiwanis Club fund raisers.

Gayle's qualifications will be reviewed by three judges and the field of candidates narrowed to the top four. Each active Junior member in the state will vote for one of the four.

The winner will be announced and the award will be presented at the annual GFWC Wisconsin Convention to be held May 3 and 4 in Stevens Point.

Good luck, Gayle!

$5,000 Check Presented to Executive Director

St. Joseph Auxiliary 'Wish List' Pledge for '90

Sharon Ziegler, St. Joseph's Auxiliary President, presents a $5,000 check to Fred Bury, Executive Director of St. Joe's, as the first installment of the Auxiliary's 1990 pledge to the hospital.

On Monday, April 9, at its regularly scheduled monthly meeting, the Board of the Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend, was pleased to welcome Fred Bury, Executive Director of the hospital, who presented the Board with a brief update on the hospital's administrative structure, goals and perspectives, and the progress of the new building expansion.

Each year, the Auxiliary is presented with a 'Wish List' from the hospital, for items that may or may not be a top priority, due to budgetary restrictions, and this is where the Auxiliary springs into action. Our many fundraisers (Magic Marketplace, the Christmas Love Light Tree, the Auxiliary Ball, Spring Flower Sale, Well-Wisher Gift Shop, etc., etc.) provides the monies to fund these items for St. Joseph's patients and personnel.

This year, the Auxiliary Board voted to pledge to purchase the following items:

1. Pulse Oximeter for I.C.C.U.
2. Noninvasive Blood Pressure Monitor for I.C.C.U.
3. Cardiac Output Module for I.C.C.U.
4. Electronic Standing Scale for 3 West
6. Blanket Warmer for Ambulatory Surgery Unit
7. Three Recliners for Ambulatory Surgery Unit
8. Infant Scale with Stand.

In addition, the Auxiliary will be donating money toward the purchase of artwork for the new hospital expansion.

Silence may be golden, but it never gets you a second helping.

St. Joseph's Auxiliary To Host Membership Tea

On Wednesday, April 25, 1990, the Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend, will be hosting a membership "Tea" at the West Bend Gallery of Fine Arts, 300 South 6th Ave., beginning at 9:30 a.m.

All present active and associate members, as well as prospective new Auxiliaries, are cordially invited and encouraged to attend.

Throughout the year, Auxiliaries work actively in the hospital and/or on our various fundraising activities and do not have the opportunity to really get to know each other. Well, this is your opportunity and YOUR DAY! Come join us for a "get-acquainted" day, and bring a guest or two with you.

Originally organized as a service group, the Auxiliary also has a number of fund-raising projects (Magic Marketplace, the Auxiliary Ball, the Christmas Love-Light Tree, etc.) However, our main endeavor is in in-service work in the hospital. Our Volunteer Service Hours from 1964 through 1989 total 234,200!

Volunteers staff the front information desk, aid in physical therapy, out-patient departments, x-ray, central supply, floor duty under staff direction, deliver mail and flowers, assist in discharging patients, act as tour guides and perform other functions where needed.

The Auxiliary also operates a hospital gift shop - The Well-Wisher. This shop has a variety of gifts and fresh flowers, and also makes available a gift cart for inpatients.

The Auxiliary has also instituted some new activities in the last year or so, for which volunteers are greatly needed, on a continuing basis. They include: Celebration Dinners for new parents, a weekly Bingo Game for inpatients, and the Infant Car Seat Program (originated by The West Bend Junior Women's Club).

In 1985, we opened our membership to male volunteers! We welcome anyone wishing to donate volunteer time to in-service work and/or fund raising.

If you are interested in more information on joining the Auxiliary, but are unable to join us at the membership Tea, you can call our membership and scheduling chairman at 334-5960.

Gov. Thompson is Featured Speaker At Tri-County Pork Producers Banquet

The Sheboygan - Ozaukee - Washington County Pork Producers President David Dorn announced on April 12, that Governor Tommy G. Thompson will be the featured speaker at this year's annual banquet held on April 19th at Circle B Recreation Center in Grafton.

The tri-county organization will honor the governor with a special presentation for his leadership on behalf of Wisconsin Pork Producers.

As part of the program the governor will introduce the new Wisconsin Secretary of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection, Alan T. Tracy. Mr. Tracy was recently appointed by the State Agriculture Board. Mr. Tracy served in the White House as Special Assistant to the President for Agricultural Trade and Food Assistance from September, 1986 to February, 1989. From 1981 until 1986, he held several positions at the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

As they have in the past the Pork Producers will also honor three area youth with scholarship awards and will present their annual "Bell Ringer" award to a woman active in the pork production industry.

The dinner, which served as a fund raiser for furthering educational opportunities within agricultural fields will begin at 5:30 p.m. Serving a family style roast pork dinner has become a popular event throughout the area.

For further information contact David Dorn at 626-2005.

Valley Bankers Add Interest to Education

Recent studies, including one in 1987 by the Joint Council on Economic Education, show that high school students lack knowledge in basic economics and personal financial management. To help educate Wisconsin students in these areas, Valley Bancorporation is preparing a corps of trained volunteers as a resource for local schools.

Volunteers in 65 Valley Bank communities have been schooled in giving presentations on handling a checking account, establishing personal budgets, applying for loans and preparing for careers in banking.

These volunteers are part of the Personal Economics Program (PEP) developed by the American Bankers Association to help students learn basic money management and interest some in the banking field.

Fifty-seven Valley employees attended an all-day training session in Beaver Dam at the end of January to learn about the program and examine the materials developed for the various grade levels.

"The students and teachers have been very receptive to my presentations. How to handle money is a hot topic for teenagers," commented Scott Bordwell, Valley Bank, Janesville, one of the PEP coordinators.

The PEP program includes presentations for grade school, junior high school, high school and civic groups. The program for grade-schoolers includes a cartoon video and comic book. The high school program includes four "problem and solution" videos that address situations like obtaining and using a credit card, handling a checking account and obtaining an auto loan.

"The videos bring a lot of response from high school students because they speak right to them in their own language," commented Bordwell. The programs also include workbooks and test questions.

Peter M. Platten, III, President and Chief Executive Officer, Valley Bancorporation, said, "Valley has embraced this program whole-heartedly because financial education is one of our top priorities. The idea behind PEP is to educate people about banking and personal finances. Many people feel uncomfortable with banks and their services. What we try to do in this program is talk with them at an early age and explain what banks and banking is all about. We think it's just good business, in the long run, for consumers to better understand how to use credit wisely, budget their money, evaluate investment alternatives and plan for their future."

Valley Bancorporation is the third largest bank holding company headquartered in Wisconsin. Valley, with assets of $3.3 billion, currently serves Wisconsin through 103 banking offices with additional financial service companies engaged in leasing, insurance, data processing, software development and sales, trust service, brokerage, and credit card servicing. The company's common stock is traded on the National Market System under the NASDAQ symbol VYBN.

Weekly Health Tip

From Tom Kennelly

UNINARY INCONTINENCE

By exercising the muscles that support the bladder and surround its neck, many incontinent persons can regain control over the passage of urine. The exercise involves tightening, then relaxing certain muscles repeatedly for 15 minutes, 3 times each day. By starting and stopping the flow of urine, victims of incontinence can learn to identify those muscles that need strengthening.

Letters to The Editor

4-11-90

To The Editor:

We have a beautiful library, with Kitty Hlavaty doing a terrific job as director.

I understand she now holds a degree to direct a community of 2000.

Should she be expected to go to school full time at her own expense? Will her job be later guaranteed in this library?

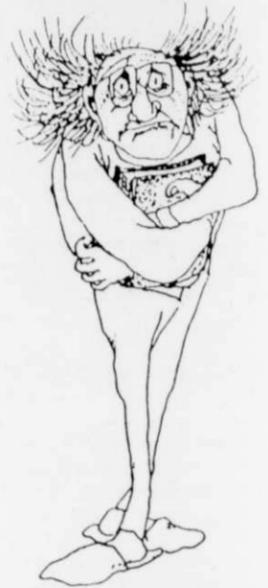

I think the Village and Library Board should know all the "details in full" before they put another person in this same "sad" situation.

Kitty has been director since 1987. It's too bad the Board didn't do their home work at that time.

Kitty, "good luck" on your most difficult decision. You love your job and it shows.

Kewaskum's Karen Koenig, MPTC Star Award Winner, Looks Forward to the Future

Even a car accident failed to dampen the spirit of Moraine Park Technical College's 1990 Star Award recipient.

Karen Koenig of Kewaskum was recuperating at home from the bumps and bruises she recently received in a two-car collision as she talked about the award she had won several days earlier.

A student in the medical record technician program at Moraine Park's West Bend campus, Koenig said winning the award was exciting for her, and surprising, too. There were 19 nominees for Moraine Park's outstanding student award, and just being among the five finalists was quite an honor, she said.

Koenig, who will be 51 on April 23, shrugged off the accident which occurred at a West Bend intersection. After days of "flying high" because of the award, she said, "I think it was meant to bring me back down to Earth."

The former resident of Beaver Dam now looks forward to being an ambassador for Moraine Park and competing with the 15 other Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District winners for the state Star Award on May 8-9.

Her decision to return to school came after a divorce four years ago and a series of low-paying jobs convinced her she needed to improve on her high school education to find a better-paying job.

Koenig was no stranger to Moraine Park's services. She had been taking classes at the Beaver Dam campus off and on since 1973, particularly instruction in sign language because of a partial deafness in one ear. She also had participated in the Women in Transition program after her divorce.

But it was in 1988, when she took part in a Moraine Park adult preview night at Beaver Dam, that Koenig became interested in the two-year associate degree in the medical record program. After talking with the instructors and observing a class, she decided it would be her area of study.

The program's instructors impressed her as being concerned with her success and willing to offer individual assistance, she said.

The medical records field also offers good pay, she said, and is a profession that will always be needed. "I see different ways to go in the medical records field," Koenig said.

She plans to continue her education through continuing education credits and more schooling, ultimately getting a bachelor's degree.

Koenig wants to take the Accredited Records Technician examination which, when passed, would allow her to find employment in all 50 states and Canada. She may try to become a Registered Records Administrator, which would require the equivalent of a bachelor's degree. Koenig said she may ultimately become a medical records technician instructor.

She calls herself "relatively mobile" at her current stage in life. "I see myself working in several places," she said, "maybe even someplace warmer."

But for now, Koenig is interested in remaining in Wisconsin, at least until her youngest daughter gets through her first year of college at the University of Wisconsin - Whitewater.

Koenig will finish her associate degree in May. She said she has her resume done and is currently job hunting, concentrating on employers in Madison and Fond du Lac.

She has five children ranging in age from 19 to 31. She also has six grandchildren, the oldest 11, the youngest 1.

After raising five children, hosting two foreign exchange students in the Beaver Dam School District and being a grandmother, Koenig said now was "a great time to go back to school."

Her children backed her decision. "They've been very supportive about their mother going back to school," she said. "Now they can nag me like I nagged them (about homework)."

After living in Beaver Dam for 20 years, Koenig moved a year ago to a rented room in Kewaskum, located just a few miles north of the West Bend campus, just to make it easier to finish the program.

Koenig receives partial funding for her schooling through the state's Department of Vocational Rehabilitation because of her partial deafness, a program with chronic asthma and a decade-old back injury.

"There is help to go back to school," she said. "It bothers me when people say they can't afford to go back to school. The help is there, you just need to look."

Koenig said there were a few who questioned her ability to successfully return to school, but she took that as a challenge. She said she wanted to prove to herself as well as to others that she could do it.

And Koenig did not take the easy route to her associate degree, completing the hefty 70-credit work load in two years.

"That's a lot of credits," she said, "That's why sometimes I just come home, feed my cat and go to bed."

But the experience has been worthwhile, she said. "It's interesting and challenging work."

It Doesn't Take an Expert to Prevent Abuse

This is the local theme for Child Abuse Prevention Month in April, 1990. April was designated Child Abuse Prevention Month by presidential proclamation in 1983.

Every year since, more and more individuals have become involved in activities that promote healthy families and move us closer to achieving a nationwide commitment to prevent child abuse in all its forms.

There are lots of ways concerned individuals can help. Here are a few suggestions:

Report suspected abuse: call your local County Dept. of Social Services or the Police Dept.

Be a good listener: listen to your own family members and others.

Help a friend: lend support to a troubled friend or neighbor.

Volunteer your time: Call your local voluntary action bureau, Parents Anonymous Chapter or other child welfare agency. Check the yellow pages under "Social Service Agencies."

Be a foster parent: Foster parents are urgently needed for abused children. Call your local Children's Service Society for information.

Make a donation: Social service agencies need your time as well as your donations.

Be an advocate: Get involved in the political process. Talk or write to your senators and representatives about the needs of children and families.

Be involved: Remember, it doesn't take an expert to prevent abuse.

For more information on how you can prevent child abuse, call or write the Wisconsin Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse, 1045 E. Dayton St., Room 202D, Madison, WI 53703. Phone Number (608) 256-3374.

Ten Free Trees Available from Arbor Day Foundation

The ten shade trees are Red Oak, Weeping Willow, Sugar Maple, Green Ash, Thornless Honeylocust, Pin Oak, River Birch, Tuliptree, Silver Maple, and Red Maple.

"These trees were selected to provide shade and beauty, and a variety of forms, leaf shapes, and fall colors," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said.

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting in April or May with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to SHADE TREES, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by April 30, 1990.

Kurt Schmidt, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmidt, R. 2, Kewaskum, was released from St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend, on Tuesday after being confined there for treatment of a wound in his left thigh after being struck in the leg by a .22 caliber rifle bullet last Saturday, afternoon. According to an investigation of the incident, the Schmidt boy was accidentally struck by the bullet while helping his father and uncle Ray Klein, who were working on the Klein farm. Due to the bullet being imbedded so deeply it was not removed. Two Kewaskum youths 17 and 16 years of age, who were walking along the railroad tracks near the farm and were firing .22 caliber rifles in the area, were questioned by authorities, but denied firing the shot which struck Kurt.

The Rev. Walter Morgan was the celebrant of the Mass at St. Mathias Church, Town of Auburn, Sunday, April 11, marking the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Meyer of New Prospect. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. John Bowser of Sheboygan Falls, who will observe their 50th anniversary soon.

50 Years Ago

April 19, 1940

Winter made a final gesture Wednesday, bringing a two-inch snowfall to this vicinity. Although the snow was very wet, the high wind kicked up small drifts in some places. The sticky snow clung to trees and wires and disrupted electric service here. This village was without electric power and light throughout the late afternoon and also from about 9 until 11:15 at night. In the afternoon a hot wire fell near the bridge on East Main Street, landing on top of the car of Mrs. Wilmer Prost. Fortunately Mrs. Prost had left the auto only a moment before wire fell and therefore escaped the danger of possible electrocution.

Robert K. Rose, aged six, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Rose, Town of Farmington, was killed instantly at 5:30 p.m. last Sunday when struck by an automobile on Highway 141, in front of his home. The auto was driven by W. S. Feeney of Madison. According to the report of the county sheriff, the Feeney family was returning home to Madison when the accident occurred. Robert was crossing from the east to the west side of highway when he was struck. He was struck by the left bumper of the Feeney car just as he had reached the other side of the road. The sheriff learned that Feeney had no driver's license or insurance and the car's brakes were faulty. Feeney was bound over to circuit court on a charge of manslaughter and reckless driving and bail was set at $1,000 which the man could not furnish. Feeney pleaded guilty to manslaughter and was sentenced to state prison for a one to two year term. However, he was placed on parole.

John J. Kleinhans is building an addition to his cheese factory.

Mrs. Clarence Firme, Beechwood, had a quilting bee on Thursday.

Electric Light Power and Mfg. Company were destroyed by fire Wednesday. The property destroyed consisted of the large grist and flouring mills, crate and box factory and electric light and power plant, aggregating a total loss of about $15,000.

Herman Stern, aged 30, a young farmer of the Town of Wayne, residing on the Mrs. Eva Janssen farm, about five miles southwest of this village, committed suicide early Tuesday morning by hanging himself in the hay barn. It is believed despondency is the cause of the act, worrying over financial affairs.

The approaching marriage of Mollie Seefeld and Wm. Seefeld was announced at the Lutheran Church in Dundee, Sunday.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Martin, residing three miles west of here. On Thursday, April 8th, their daughter Miss Alma, was united in matrimony to Mr. Louis Benedum, Town of Wayne. She was attended by her sister Hulda and Miss Nora Bachman. The groom was attended by his brother Eddie and Herman Lau.

A little boy arrived to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Pamperin, Kohlsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Moritz, Kohlsville, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Saturday evening at Endlich's Hall.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Newton Rosenheimer last Saturday, a baby girl. Congratulations.

TODAY'S AGRICULTURE Wages for Farm Labor

By Jack Trzebiatowski, Extension Agriculture Agent

Finding and keeping good farm help is a major concern expressed by farm families in Washington County. Farmers are finding it difficult to attract and keep competent farm help because of the high level of employment and wage level available from non-farm work.

A question that is often raised is what is the going rate for farm labor. The statistical reporting service of Wisconsin Department of Agriculture recently provided information from a survey that was conducted in January. During the week of January 7 - 13, 1990, a total of 275,000 persons worked on farms in the Lake States region. This includes Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan.

Of the 275,000 workers 165,000 were self employed farm operators, 59,000 were unpaid workers who worked 15 hours or more during the survey week and 51,000 were hired employees.

The average wage per hour for all hired workers was $5.33, 70 cents above January last year. Wage rates for field workers were $6.65 and Livestock workers $4.48. Supervisory employees earned an average of $8.30 per hour.

Comparison of wage rates by type of farm indicated that field crop farms in the Lake States paid an average of $6.82 per hour. Workers on other crop farms earned $7.67 per hour while workers on Livestock and Poultry farms earned $4.49 per hour. Wage rates were also compared by farms with different amounts of gross sales. Wage rates for farms with less than $40,000 in gross sales averaged $7.93 per hour while workers on farms with gross sales between 40,000 and $99,000 earned $4.56 per hour. Farms with sales between $100,000 and $249,000 paid $3.99 to their hired workers and operations with gross value of sales of over 250,000 paid their workers $6.26 per hour.

Another survey on US Farm Labor indicated that benefits such as housing and meals were provided to 46% of hired workers in addition to the cash wages that they have received.

Farmers Advised to Test Soils For Nitrate Levels This Spring

This spring will be a good time to test your soils for nitrate levels because of dry conditions since last fall, says University of Wisconsin - Extension soil scientist Larry Bundy.

UW-Madison soil scientists have developed a pre-plant soil nitrate test to determine nitrogen carryover from year to year. The test measures the amount of nitrate in the root zone available to crops before planting. While most nitrate leaches from the root zone in normal years, says Bundy, dry conditions in recent years have led to higher residual nitrate levels.

"There's an opportunity to use the test this spring to make adjustments for the residual nitrates left over from the last growing season," Bundy notes.

Pre-plant nitrate tests last spring indicated an average of 200 pounds of available nitrogen per acre in the top three feet of soil. This followed drought conditions during the 1988 growing season and below normal precipitation last winter. Studies around the state last year indicated that applying additional nitrogen did not increase corn yields when pre-plant nitrate levels exceeded 135 pounds per acre, says Bundy.

High nitrogen carryover will likely occur when corn follows corn on land that received typical amounts of nitrogen fertilizer last spring and where corn follows alfalfa on heavily manured land. Farmers who didn't adjust for residual nitrate levels last spring will find particularly high nitrate levels in their soils this year.

Live Longer with Laughter and Learning

Moraine Park Technical College will host a live satellite videoconference on the positive aspects of aging May 8 from noon to 2:30 p.m. at Moraine Park's Beaver Dam, Fond du Lac and West Bend campuses.

The program, presented by DeAnza College of California, will dispel myths and stereotypes of aging and look at older Americans as valuable resources. A panel of presenters will share insights on the use of humor in the classroom, education for older people and how to keep minds active and in step with changes. A local discussion period will follow the national program.

Health providers, educators, people from business and government and everyone interested in lifelong learning will find this videoconference interesting.

Cost is $20 and includes a box lunch and program materials. To register by the April 30 deadline, call your local Moraine Park campus, and use course number 510-495-005 to

UW-Madison Small Grain Breeding Program Develops Improved Varieties

New oat varieties in Wisconsin are being improved with help from some distant relatives.

Using genes from wild species, University of Wisconsin-Madison agronomists are developing new disease-resistant oat cultivars. Farmers will be able to plant a new high-yielding, leaf-rust-resistant, midseason oat named Horicon next spring.

The researchers released Centennial, an oat variety resistant to leaf rust and stem septoria, several years ago and will also release a new forage oat and an early season oat for on-farm planting in 1991.

UW-Madison agronomists Robert Forsberg and Marshall Brinkman are also developing new varieties of barley, soft red winter wheat, winter rye and winter triticale.

New grain cultivars must possess several key traits to remain competitive in the marketplace, says Forsberg. These traits include high grain yield and quality, resistance to several insects and diseases, and stiff straw.

In addition, plant breeders look for oat varieties with high protein content, wheat varieties with good milling and baking qualities, and barley with good malting quality.

"New small grain varieties represent an elite combination of genes, and a deficiency in just one trait will remove that particular selection from consideration for release as a variety," he notes.

Because diseases often change, older cultivars often lose their resistance, says Forsberg. This means plant breeders must constantly develop new varieties. They found some wild oat species possess genes resistant to diseases such as rusts, red leaf virus and smut.

Unfortunately, plant breeders are unable to cross wild oats with these genes and cultivated varieties because the two are only distantly related, Forsberg says. So breeders first develop an intermediate oat type that makes it easier to cross with cultivated oats. They then irradiate the seed to cause the chromosomes to break and reunite, and hope the desired genes become incorporated into the cultivated variety.

Forsberg notes that 12 to 15 years often elapse from the time researchers incorporate desired genes into older varieties and evaluate the new variety throughout Wisconsin and neighboring states. The genes that provide resistance to oat leaf rust in Horizon and Centennial were first identified in the early 1950s.

"The transfer of desirable genes and the elimination of undesirable traits takes many years to accomplish," says

Forsberg.

New cultivars also must adapt to a wide range of soil types, temperatures and rainfall patterns found in Wisconsin. Forsberg notes that Horicon has yielded well in different regions and environments. The new oat ranked first in field tests in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

In recent years, oat breeders have focused attention on early maturing, high-yielding cultivars. Early season oat varieties generally yield less than midseason or late varieties, Forsberg notes.

Now researchers have developed an early season oat variety with high grain yield and quality. By harvesting grain early, Forsberg says, farmers can avoid or reduce losses due to diseases, high temperatures and severe storms.

Several new varieties of wheat and barley have also been developed, Forsberg notes. Farmers planted Merrimac, a winterhardy, soft red winter wheat, for the first time this fall. Chopper, a forage barley, was also made available for planting in 1989.

Forsberg says using new technologies to breed improved small grain varieties is progressing slowly because of their complex genetic make-up.

Area Farmers Attend Washington D.C. Conference on Agricultural Policies

Three area farmers represented Southeastern Wisconsin at the Second National Conference on Organic/Sustainable Agricultural Policies in Washington D.C., March 23 and 24.

Regional representatives included dairy farmer Kevin Thull from Kewaskum and fruit and vegetable growers John and Barb Schellinger of Hartford. All three attended with financial support of the Wisconsin Farmers' Foundation "Project Isidore."

The Washington Conference is exploring new directions in American agriculture which incorporate goals of food safety, resource conservation, environmental and health protection, and support for the family farm. The Conference reflects growing interest in Wisconsin and across the nation in replacing expensive production technology that is heavily dependent on synthetic chemicals with more cost-efficient, resource-conserving, environmentally sound farming practices.

The 24-year-old Thull operates a 210-acre farm near Kewaskum with 35 cows. The Schellingers grow apples, peppers, tomatoes and other crops on 40 acres near Hartford. All three Washington County farmers are enthusiastic, articulate and realistic about utilizing sustainable practices in their farm businesses.

Farmers Kevin Thull (414-334-3902) and John and Barb Schellinger (414-673-2409) will be available for interviews as of Monday, March 26.

The Wisconsin Farmers' Foundation "Project Isidore" is a multi-faceted program to assist small and medium-sized family farmers throughout Southeastern Wisconsin. Project Isidore is an ecumenical, church-sponsored effort with roots in the Rural Life movement of the Roman Catholic Church. Isidore is the patron saint of farmers. WFFI's Project Isidore has been responsible for many emergency "seed and feed" loans to farmers struggling to retain their land. Haylifts were arranged during droughts. There has also been ongoing advocacy for numerous family farming operations still being squeezed by an agricultural economy in transition.

late March and early May, Bundy says. For accurately measuring nitrogen carryover, you'll need to collect at least 15 soil cores taken from a uniform soil area not larger than 20 acres. Take a separate set of cores from each corn field you expect to plant if the fields have major differences in soil types, last year's crop or past nitrogen applications.

Take core samples to a depth of 3 feet, Bundy says and separate each core according to depth into 0- to 12-, 12- to 24- and 24- to 36-inch segments. Pool the 15 or more samples from the same area, placing the top, middle and bottom segments from the cores into three separate clean buckets marked with the appropriate depth.

Mix the contents of each bucket thoroughly and save about one cup of soil from each depth. Air dry these one-cup samples immediately by spreading them on clean paper for 24 to 48 hours. Or, you can freeze the samples immediately and take them to the soil testing lab while still frozen. The Wisconsin Soil Testing Labs and various private labs in the state will analyze soil samples for nitrate levels.

Expect the highest nitrogen carryover on silt-loam or heavier-textured soils, Bundy says. Nitrogen carryover will also occur under the following conditions: corn after corn which received normal rates of nitrogen in 1989; corn after corn that received manure; and corn after a legume that received manure or added nitrogen fertilizer.

Bundy says nitrogen carryover is not likely where soils are sandy, corn follows a legume that received no fertilizer or manure, or where corn follows a forage legume or soybeans. Use the standard nitrogen credits where first-year corn follows a forage legume or soybeans.

Accurate Soil Sampling Needed To Save Fertilizer Costs on Corn

Corn farmers who take the pre-plant soil nitrate test this spring could save as much as $25 per acre in nitrogen fertilizer costs, says University of Wisconsin - Madison extension soil scientist Larry Bundy.

The pre-plant nitrate test determines nitrogen carryover from year to year. Bundy expects a high carryover from last year because of below normal precipitation since last fall.

Pre-plant nitrate tests last spring showed an average of 200 pounds of available nitrogen per acre in the top three feet of soil. Studies indicate that applying additional nitrogen does not increase corn yields when pre-plant nitrate levels exceed 135 pounds per acre.

27 Birds Taken in First Period

Turkey Season Opens with a Bang for Northern Kettle Moraine

Ralph Trapp of Beechwood shot an 18½ pound turkey on the first day of the new turkey season which will run for six successive five-day periods.

Bill Heberer of rural Kewaskum bagged a 21 pound Tom on Thursday. 300 permits were issued for the new Washington-Sheboygan-Fond du Lac Counties zone.

There was nothing but enthusiasm and excitement for the Northern Kettle Moraine's first open season on turkeys as successful hunters brought their trophies in to be registered at Din's Mini-Mart in Dundee. The first hunting period of the season officially opened at sunrise last Wednesday and closed on Sunday, with 20 birds being registered at Din's and another 7 in Plymouth. Department of Natural Resources Superintendent Walt Adams, who oversees the Northern Unit of the Kettle Moraine, said there had been good success in the first hunt period.

A total of 300 permits for the new hunting zone, which includes Washington, Sheboygan and Fond du Lac Counties, were issued with only 75 permits each being allowed to hunt during one of the six five-day periods which will run in succession. Each of the hunting periods will begin on Wednesday and end on Sunday.

Most of the hunters who were lucky enough to bag birds said they had been out scouting before the season began.

Ralph Trapp of Beechwood, bagged his 18½ pound Tom at 10:30 a.m., Wednesday, about one mile west of Beechwood, near Tower Road. Trapp said he missed his first chance at a bird at about 6:15 a.m. "I was out the day before scouting and calling," said Trapp. "I came on this Tom getting ready to roost so I knew he would be in the same place the next morning." Well, Trapp was right. The next morning he went to the spot and called the Tom who answered. Trapp, however, was in for a little surprise. A real 'lady' turkey also happened to be in the area. She flew out of the trees, taking the Tom and Trapp's intended dinner with her.

Trapp said he learned a lot about turkey hunting in the short time he was out in the woods. For one thing, he noted, those birds didn't do anything the way we were told they would, including answering calls.

Another turkey taken on Wednesday, by Henry Haack of New Fane, was one of the banded birds released in the original stocking program back in 1985.

On Thursday, Bill Heberer of rural Kewaskum, bagged a 21-pound Tom near the Jersey Flats west of New Prospect at about 6:10 a.m. Heberer said he had mixed emotions about getting his bird so early in the period. "I'm happy I got a bird, but I would have liked to have gotten in a few more days hunting experience and then bagged my bird." Heberer said he also learned quite a bit about hunting turkeys in the time he was out.

When the project to reintroduce wild turkeys into the Kettle Moraine area began, there was some reservation as to how successful the program would be. There is no question as to how successful that program was now. Turkeys in good numbers, have been sighted as far south as the Town of Barton, north to the Dundee area and east to the Beechwood area.

It is estimated that a hen turkey lays from 8 to 18 eggs in a clutch. If she is able to raise just half of her brood, the turkey population doubles itself every year.

Slinger Speedway Slates Practice Session April 22

The Slinger Super Speedway, located just off of U.S. 41 on Hwy. 144, will swing open its gates for the first time in 1990 on Sunday afternoon, April 22 for its annual practice session.

Cars from the four competing divisions, late models, sportsman, amateurs, and figure 8, will be on hand to test their machines out. The timetable for the day will see cars on the track from noon until 4 p.m.

Admission to the track's seating area will be free while those going into the pit area will be charged.

Following the practice session, Slinger will officially open its 42nd season of action on Sunday afternoon, April 29 with the running of the Leinenkugel Twin 75's.

Tickets, which are reserved for this event, are currently on sale at the track, through all Ticketron outlets, or at Richfield's Pioneer Plaza.

Their cars having collided, Jock and Pat were surveying the situation. Jock offered Pat a drink from his bottle. Pat drank and Jock returned the bottle to his pocket.

"Thank ye," said Pat. "But aren't ye going to have a bit of a nip yourself?"

"Aye," replied Jock, "but not until the police have been here."

Whitetails Unlimited Urges Motorists to Drive with Caution

Motorists are advised to be on the alert for the white-tailed deer during the upcoming spring months. Each spring the white-tailed deer is attracted to roadsides in search of fresh vegetation. Due to the additional exposure from the sun, vegetation grows earlier along roadsides than in forested areas. Each year thousands of deer are killed on the nation's highways as they cross to feed on the newly grown grass.

Conservative figures place the total number of deer killed on the nation's highways at over ¼ million. Property damage is estimated at $1,600 per accident alone, not to mention the incidence of fatalities and physical injury to humans.

To reduce the incidence of deer/vehicle accidents, Whitetails Unlimited is encouraging motorists to observe the following driving tips.

- * Acknowledge deer crossing signs and reduce your speed.
- * Be particularly aware of deer at dawn and dusk.
- * Watch for shining eyes at night. Normally you will see the eyes long before you see the animal.

* When approaching a deer, be prepared to stop and allow the deer to cross.

* Always maintain complete control of your vehicle when swerving to avoid a deer.

* Always drive watchful and alert to any animal movements.

For more information on deer/vehicle accidents or Whitetails Unlimited please write: Whitetails Unlimited, Inc., National Headquarters, P.O. Box 422, Sturgeon Bay, WI 54235.

New Double Play Lottery Game Offers 70% Payback; Win Twice on One Ticket

Wisconsin Lottery Executive Director William F. Flynn, Jr. launched the Lottery's new DOUBLE PLAY instant scratch game shortly before the Milwaukee Brewers home opener. Both events were at County Stadium in Milwaukee.

"We scheduled the DOUBLE PLAY launch on opening day because DOUBLE PLAY is a baseball game, and like the Milwaukee Brewers, DOUBLE PLAY looks like a winner this season," Flynn said.

"Following the success of our HOLIDAY BONUS game, which went on sale last November, we decided to offer another scratch game with a 70 percent payback to players: DOUBLE PLAY.

"Each DOUBLE PLAY ticket plays like a baseball double header. If Your Score beats Their Score, you win the prize. DOUBLE PLAY outhits HOLIDAY BONUS because it's the first time we have sold a ticket which can win more than one prize.

"About 30 percent of winning DOUBLE PLAY tickets will sweep the double header and win not one but two prizes on a single ticket," Flynn explained.

Indian Boys 2nd in Triangular

KEWASKUM — The Kewaskum boys track team got a bit of an idea last Tuesday of what it may see in the coming weeks when the Indians open Eastern Wisconsin Conference action.

EW member Chilton looked strong as it took top honors in a triangular held here, with Kewaskum and Campbellsport. The Tigers rolled up 98 points easily outstanding the second place Indians, who had 58. The Cougars came in third with 24 points.

Chilton took first in thirteen of the sixteen events, while Kewaskum ended up with three firsts, thereby blanking the Cougars in that category.

The Indians were led by Brian Jackson, who took first in the pole vault, clearing the 11'9" mark, the highest he's ever cleared in a meet.

In his first-ever high school track meet, the Indians' Rich Radtke came through in grand style, jumping 5'6" in the high jump competition and giving his team a first place finish in the event. Radtke also added some points in the long jump, where his leap of 17'1 3/4" netted him a fourth place finish.

Sophomore Kim Marx earned the only other Kewaskum first in the 300 hurdles. Mark's time of 45.6 won him that event, while he finished a close second in the 110 Hurdles with a time of 18.1.

Marx also helped propel the 400 relay team to a second place finish. Marx joined Aaron Miller, Randy Schlice, and Doug Mueller on the runner-up team, which finished just .7 behind Chilton's winning time of 46.8.

Each member of the 400 relay team added points in another event, with Schlice taking second in the 100 dash, Miller taking fourth in that event, as well as a third in the 200, and Muller finishing second to Radtke in the high jump.

Joe Rehbein also added a pair of seconds to the Indians' cause, running the mile in 5:11, and the two-mile in 11:12. Jeff Diermier also added a fourth in the mile.

Dan Schulteis, following in his brother's footsteps, placed third in the 110 hurdles. Schulteis' brother, Marty, was the Indians' ace in the hurdle events last year, eventually going to the State Meet, where he finished second in the 110. The younger Schulteis added a fourth in the discus.

Dale Bowser and Greg Holl also added to the Indian total as they finished third in the triple jump and fourth in the shot put, respectively.

Rock River Alumni Slate Four Dates

Oldtimers' association members of the 61-year-old Rock River league have four dates on deck for 1990.

They had five, but annual Rock River Night, previously scheduled at Milwaukee County Stadium for July 21, has been scrubbed by a vote of the league's team representatives.

Leading off on Saturday, April 21, is the organization's annual business meeting, slated to start at 1:30 p.m. at Dodge Center, Horicon. Hall of Fame nominations also will be discussed at the session.

Next up, on Thursday, July 5, Oldtimers will get together for a senior citizens' day game when the Brewers tackle the world champion Oakland A's at County Stadium.

Date No. 3 is a season-ending Rock River championship playoff game in early September at which the membership is invited to be guests of the league.

Meanwhile, back on the Rock's diamonds between April and September, all friends of home talent baseball have an open invitation to attend Sunday and holiday afternoon league games where admission and refreshment prices are respectfully low.

Then comes No. 4, the Oldtimers' 1990 grand finale, its 11th Hall of Fame Dinner, scheduled for Saturday night, Nov. 3, at the Mayville Golf Club.

Rock River alumni — past players, managers, umpires and team officials — can join the Oldtimers' association by writing Sec. Bud Bellon, 101 Cedar Ridge Dr., West Bend, WI 53095. Annual membership is $3.00.

University License Plates Available For All Four-Year UW Campuses

Step aside, Bucky Badger. Make room for the Falcons, Phoenixes and Hawks.

These are just some of the symbols available on the new collegiate scholarship license plates being issued by the Department of Transportation.

To date, 9 out of 10 requests for the new university plates are for the Madison campus, and the state DOT believes that people erroneously think of the new license plates as "Bucky" plates.

"Actually, the new license plates are available for all thirteen 4-year campuses, with their individual school symbols or mascots," explained Norbert K. Anderson, administrator of the DOT Division of Motor Vehicles. "And the plates are available to anybody, not just alumni," he added.

Car, light truck and motor home owners can order the collegiate plates either as personalized plates at a cost of $30 plus the registration fee initially and $20 plus the registration fee for each renewal.

The Legislature approved the University plate as a way to raise money for scholarships. "People actually are donating to the scholarship fund on the campus of their choice, and receiving a special license plate to show their support," Anderson said. The $20 portion of the license plate fee that goes to the scholarship fund is tax deductible," he said.

Although order forms are available from all Division of Motor Vehicles' Customer Service centers, plates are ordered from Madison. Applications for personalized university plates must be ordered by mail from Madison.

Because the campus symbols take up space on the license plate, personalized messages are restricted to five characters. As in regular personalized plates, the Division will not issue plates with offensive or misleading words, Anderson said.

While the scholarship portion goes to the scholarship fund of the school of choice, the fees for the UW-Madison plates initially will be used to pay off a deficit in the Athletic Department. When the deficit is erased, the license plate revenues will go to a scholarship fund at the UW-Madison.

Ripon Redmen Split Two Doubleheaders

The Ripon College baseball team continued scoring high but splitting doubleheaders last week. The Redmen split a non-conference doubleheader at Marian Wednesday winning the first game 7-6 in 10 innings and losing the second 10-8. Ripon also split a conference doubleheader at Beloit Saturday winning the first game 8-2 and losing the second 5-3.

The Beloit split leaves Ripon's record at 2-2 in the North Division and 4-8 on the season. Ripon, Beloit, St. Norbert and Lawrence are all 2-2 in the division.

In the first game at Marian, Ripon scored two runs in the second, tallied four in the fifth and plated the winning run on a lead-off triple by Lance Bestland of Wilmont, Wis., and a sacrifice fly by Eric Peterson of DeForest, Wis. The Redmen rode the relief pitching of Tom Sewall of Fond du Lac, Wis., to the win. Other key hits in the game were RBI singles by Pat Corrigan of Appleton, Wis. and Scott Young of Ripon, Wis., and sacrifice flies by Young and Rick Staehler of Kewaskum, Wis.

In the second game, Ripon jumped to a quick 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning but couldn't hold on. The Redmen had the tying runs on base with no outs in the top of the seventh but couldn't bring them home.

In the first game at Beloit, Ripon scored three runs in the second inning, added two more in the fifth and tacked on three insurance runs in the seventh for an 8-2 lead as Mike Williams of Berlin, Wis., picked up his second conference victory on the mound.

In the second game, Ripon took a 1-0 lead in the first when Young walked, stole second and third and scored on a wild pitch. Ripon scored again on RBI singles by Corrigan in the fourth and by Bestland in the seventh but couldn't bring home the winning runs.
