OM Team Wins Prestigious Ranatra Fusca Award at International Competition in Iowa

AMES, IOWA — The Kewaskum High School Odyssey of the Mind team capped off a fine performance at the World Competition held here, by winning the prestigious Ranatra Fusca award for their exceptional creativity.

The Ranatra Fusca is the highest award that is given to an OM team. The large trophy stands in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington D.C., and has the names of all the past winners of the award engraved on it. This year, the names of Ira Sison, James Dionne, Jesse Santoro, Jeff Morlen, Chris Weddig and Chris Schoofs will be added.

"It's like Kewaskum is in history now," said the team's coach, Len Soller, referring to the trophy. "They were just marvelous," he added, speaking of the group. "They put on a superb performance and should really be

The Ranatra Fusca citation reads: "For a highly creative production utilizing multiple use of animated props and costumes, original drive mechanism and flip card scenery changes. A combination which resulted in superior presentation of the highest quality."

Those are the exact words that described the OM team's work and effort that won them the Ranatra Fusca Creativity Award. This is the Odyssey of the Mind's most prestigious award for exceptional creativity given to individuals or teams. The recipients names are also engraved on a large trophy which is on display at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington D.C., National Geographic Section. This puts Kewaskum in the history of our nation!

LA CROSSE — The Kewaskum girls track team capped off one of its finest campaigns ever by placing ninth as a team in the Class B state track meet held here, last weekend.

Led by their state champion 800 meter relay team, the Indians finished with 19 points. Nekoosa won the Class B team title with 40 points.

Girls head coach Perry Koth had nothing but words of praise for every member of the team when interviewed on Monday, none more so than for the school's first state champions in any event in more than a decade.

The foursome of Rachele Zuehlke, Tina Schwartz, Melissa Braun and Kristi

Lubahn crossed the finish line in 1:48.35, tying a school record and finishing just ahead of Whitewater (1:48.90); an incredible accomplishment, considering Zuehlke was a last minute replacement for Kelly Korth, who couldn't run because of a re-occurring ankle injury.

Village to Review Recycling Program

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

One of the non-action items discussed at Monday night's Kewaskum Village Board meeting was the community's recycling program as it now exists and how it should be changed or expanded to meet impending state and federal mandates.

Trustee Larry Williams, chairman of the Public Services Committee, told fellow board members at the last two meetings the village should begin to look in earnest at its program. During Monday's meeting, Williams said, "the recycling we did so far is fine, but there are some more things we can do."

Public Works Superintendent Augie Bilgo told the board, "I think people are getting the message (that recycling is here to stay)." He noted increased participation by residents in separating their recyclable materials from the non-recyclable trash. "Even with the rains of the last couple of weeks," he said, "the amount of grass clippings brought up to the center has dropped."

The board discussed looking into a curbside recycling pickup such as West Bend has and Hartford is looking into. Bilgo noted the village itself has neither the equipment or manpower to institute such a plan on its own. The board agreed such a program would probably have to be contracted out. If that would be the case, noted Trustee Mary Krueger, we would definitely have to make it a mandatory program in order to make it feasible.

The trustees also agreed there were other alternatives which the board should look into before making any decisions or changes. Trustee Bob Beisbier said, "when we do, do something, we want to make sure it is the right thing and not have to come back again and make more changes." Bilgo agreed with Beisbier's comments. "You don't want to be making a lot of changes, otherwise the people will get confused and disgusted and quit recycling altogether."

Wisconsin's new recycling law will affect every resident and while local municipalities will run their own programs, there are approximately nine key provisions in that law which will set the stage for future recycling. They are: Landfill bans - Eleven kinds of common household and office trash will be banned from landfills or incinerators beginning in 1995. They include, aluminum cans, cardboard, styrofoam, glass, magazines, newspapers, office paper, plastic containers, tin cans, tires and combination aluminum/steel cans.

Out-of-State Trash - It is banned from Wisconsin landfills unless the out-of-state community has a recycling program equivalent to Wisconsin's.

Plastic - Plastic containers, except those used for food, will have to have 10% recycled content by 1995. This provision is designed to create a market for recycled plastic.

Newsprint - Newspaper will have to contain 10% recycled paper by 1992, and 45% by 2001. Also designed to create a market for recyclables.

Labeling - Uniform standards will be set up for labeling recyclable containers purchased at the store.

Financing - The state will provide two-thirds of the money for municipal recycling programs starting with $18.5 million the first year and increasing to $40 million a year. The remaining one-third of the cost will be borne by the property taxpayers.

Grants - Businesses that create ways to use recycled material may compete for $8.25 million in state grants.

Diapers - Cloth diapers and diaper services are exempt from sales taxes to encourage their use over disposable paper diapers.

Escape Clause - If a municipality cannot find a buyer for recycled materials, it can seek Department of Natural Resources permission to send it to a landfill or incinerator.

The team was in Division III, the high school division, and their problem was called Geographic Odyssey. The problem called for the teams to build a moving vehicle powered by a rowing motion.

They were to travel around the 'world,' actually a 20 x 20 perimeter, stopping in three countries to portray different aspects of life in that country. In the second part of the problem, the teams were to travel around the world in their vehicles, placing flags in 10 different locations around the globe.

In their 11 minute presentation, Kewaskum's squad visited the countries of Egypt, China and Canada, and wowed the judges with the quality and creativity of their sets and props.

The team did, however, accumulate 26 penalty points for various items, thus setting the team back, and eventually placing them ninth in the 45 team field.

"We would have taken first in the competition if not for the penalties," Soller noted, adding that the various rules that the team violated were difficult to interpret. Nonetheless, Soller said he "was disappointed, but not bitter," regarding the rulings. "It would have been nice to win both the competition and the Ranatra Fusca, but I'd rather have the (Ranatra Fusca) trophy."

Although the team didn't get to take home the actual trophy, each individual did receive a medal and the school got a plaque, all of this making Soller very proud of his group.

"Oh, very much so," Soller replied. "They just did a super job. They should be very proud of themselves."

Light Agenda for Village Board

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

While the trustees discussed, at length, several non-action items, the Kewaskum Village Board's action agenda Monday night, was light.

Among action taken was the approval for the annual renewals of Class 'A' and 'B' liquor and malt beverage licenses and bartender license applications. Village Administrator Dan Schmidt advised the board that, beginning in 1991, all new bartender license applicants will be required to take the Vocational School's beverage serving course before the state will allow municipalities to issue a license. He noted that all bartenders who held a valid license for two years prior to the new law would be 'grandfathered in' for future renewals.

The board also approved the Plan Commission's recommendation to approve the request of Roger Strack to divide his property on Bonnie Lane into separate lots.

The board heard a request from Fire Chief Robert Stoltzmann that the village ask the Department of Transportation for permission to install some form of warning sign or flashing light at the fire station's driveway exit which could be activated when engines were going out on a call. "We've had a couple of close calls pulling out into the highway," said Stoltzmann.

Schmidt advised the chief that the request had been submitted before and turned down, but that he would again send a letter to the DOT. He also stated that he had heard the West Bend Fire Department had been contacted and told to remove its flashing sign on 7th and Washington.

Trustee Robert Beisbier, chairman of the Protection and Public Safety Committee, asked that discussion and possible action regarding seven hazardous parking stalls and their possible elimination be placed on a July meeting agenda.

Trustee Tom McElhatton also requested that the village look into the possible extension of the boulevard along Edgewood Road because of increased traffic in the area.

Administrator Schmidt advised the board that three bids had been received on the 1990 phase of the village's sidewalk repair program. Apparent low bidder is Quality Concrete at $55,799, followed by Rennhack Construction, $62,077 and A.R. Melichar $70,098. A formal recommendation from the village's engineer will be made at the next board meeting.

Because of the July 4th holiday, the board moved to change its July meeting dates to July 9 and July 23. The board then adjourned to joint closed session with the Library Board.

KEYS Meets Regal Challenge

KEYS, Inc. (Kewaskum Youth Scholarships, Inc.) recently announced that it has raised over $5,000 during the 1989-90 school year and thus has received a $2,500 matching donation from Regal Ware, Inc. This $2,500 donation was the result of a matching gift program that consisted of Regal Ware's offer to donate $1 for every $2 raised during the school year with a cap of $2,500.

Keys, Inc. is very thankful to Regal Ware, Inc. for this generous contribution.

This matching funds program has not only provided additional incentive to the community, area businesses, and the alumni of Kewaskum High School to support KEYS, but has also challenged the KEYS organization itself to work hard to raise additional funds to meet the Regal Challenge.

This spring, KEYS awarded $12,000 in scholarships to six Kewaskum High School seniors. These scholarships were made possible from the interest earned on the contributions received over the last five years. On behalf of the recipients of the KEYS scholarships and future recipients, KEYS extends its thanks to the community for its support.

It is hoped that the community will continue to support KEYS to provide additional scholarships to the youth of the Kewaskum area into the 1990's and beyond.

Local Woman Helping to 'Rev Up' Interest In Milwaukee's Symphony Orchestra

Mrs. L. N. (Pat) Peterson of Kewaskum, is among approximately fifteen volunteers in southeastern Wisconsin who are hoping to wet the appetite for and create an active interest in Milwaukee's Symphony Orchestra.

Mrs. Peterson, along with the other volunteers, is hosting a series of social gatherings which feature guest speakers who are actively involved with the symphony and working to increase its subscription membership for the 1990-91 concert season.

Approximately twenty women from the Kewaskum, West Bend, Oshkosh, Appleton and surrounding areas were guests at the Peterson home Monday afternoon where they heard an enthusiastic presentation on the orchestra's classical and pops programs for the upcoming year.

Audrey Baird, Director of Audience Relations, and Joanne O'Dwyer, Chairman of the Milwaukee Symphony Women's League subscription drive, spoke to the group about the orchestra's many and varied programs which include not only week-end concerts but week-day and week-night presentations as well. "Many people think the symphony is stuffy," said Baird, "when actually we have something for everyone."

The Thursday Coffee Prelude series, which runs from September to May, begins at 11:00 a.m. with coffee and donuts, followed by a pre-concert fashion show and a matinee concert.

If you can't fit the symphony into your week-end plans there is the Monday Encore series which runs on Monday evenings from October to June. Performances begin at 7:30.

Of course there are a variety of programs set for the week-ends including the Friday TGIF-6, Friday Sampler 6, as well as a wide selection of classical and pops programs on Saturdays and Sundays.

This year's membership drive is being co-sponsored by the Harley Davidson Company. If you would like more information about the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra and its programs or would like to become a season subscriber and "Rev Up For a Thunderous Season" (the drive's 1990 theme) of excellent music, you can contact Mrs. Peterson. Her phone number is 626-2766, or write to Box 465, Kewaskum, Wisconsin, 53040.

Thirteen Kewaskum High School students were honored for outstanding writing by having works selected for the Eastern Wisconsin Conference Literary Magazine, the Menagerie. They were recognized for achievements at a luncheon at the Altona in New Holstein Tuesday, May 8.

Kewaskum's writers included: Sara Nysse, Jennifer Brigham, Jenny Campbell, Marlene Wodsedalek, Jenny Pesch, Jenny Oneska, Chris Schmidt, Eric Giese, Tom Kuehn, Dina Heckel, Stacey Pamperin, Carrie Fellenz, and Andrea Pascavis.

KHS English teachers collected samples of outstanding writing since the beginning of the year. These samples were judged by a committee of teachers who then sent the winners to Kiel High

Summer Pediatric Program Offered

The Cedar-Haven Rehabilitation Agency (CHRA) will again sponsor its Summer Therapy/Recreation Program to children with special needs.

"This is the 6th year of offering therapeutic activities for Washington County community children who have few treatment/recreational alternatives available to them during the summer months," shares Joanne Bodien, Administrator of the Cedar-Haven Rehabilitation Agency. "It began when community parents voiced a need for such activities."

Each year the number of families who take advantage of this program increases. This year's Washington County program will accept 50 program participants.

A pediatric program in Juneau is being added this summer. This is the first time such a program is being offered. Over 40 children will participate in the Dodge County Summer Pediatric program.

Children are involved in a wide range of recreational activities including swimming, game playing, arts and crafts as well as music therapy. Each week a different theme will be used to interest the children. Some of the themes being used are nature, circus, animal, Disney, family, beach and patriotic.

Individualized physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech therapy treatments are provided upon physician prescription.

This very special pediatric program is conducted at the Cedar Ridge Campus in West Bend, June 11 - August 10, Mondays through Thursdays. For more information call the Cedar-Haven Rehabilitation Agency, 334-1486. This agency is a non-profit division of the Cedar Campuses.

Osteoporosis Debate in Time For Prevention Campaign

A nationally recognized osteoporosis expert says calcium helps prevent the disease, despite the claims of a study that denies calcium's value in preventing it.

Robert P. Heaney, M.D., of Creighton University in Omaha, Neb., said that inadequate calcium in the diet is a factor in thinning bones.

Heaney, who serves on the scientific advisory committee of the National Osteoporosis Foundation, cited recent studies that demonstrate the positive effect of calcium intake in slowing or stopping bone loss. These studies have been published in the New England Journal of Medicine, Journal of Clinical Endocrinology and Metabolism, and Annals of Internal Medicine.

"Those studies showed that bone loss was prevented in elderly persons who consumed 1,500 milligrams of calcium daily," Heaney said.

"And another study shows that premenopausal women with calcium intakes of 900 milligrams a day were losing about 1 percent of spine bone per year. The study said that loss could be prevented entirely by raising calcium intake to 1,500 milligrams per day."

The study that denied calcium's role in osteoporosis prevention was conducted over 20 years by Stanley Garn, Ph.D., a professor of nutrition at the University of Michigan. That study is based on hand x-rays of 745 adult men and women taken from 1963-65 and again in 1985. The persons also reported their eating habits, including calcium and phosphorous intake.

"It's true that calcium alone won't build bone," Heaney said. "And when a person is losing bone because of factors unrelated to diet, then calcium alone won't build bone."

"But it's wrong to say calcium is not a factor in bone loss. It's a significant factor."

Richard Mazess, M.D., of the University of Wisconsin, supported the study's findings. Dairy products are the most common source of calcium in the food supply. But they also have high levels of cholesterol, Mazess said.

Heaney responded that women, who need more calcium than men, should not reduce their dairy consumption. There also are many dairy products available for men and women who need a lower cholesterol diet.

Calcium is not only needed for bones, but also is needed for teeth and is required for muscle use, nerve transmission and blood clotting.

"The study used x-ray measurements of only small bones in the hand when more reliable measures for bone loss are available," Heaney claimed.

"It inadequately describes how calcium intake was measured and apparently fails to account for day-to-day and year-to-year fluctuations in calcium intake during the 20-year duration of the study. Finally, the study fails to describe and correct for variables in study population, such as age, sex, hormonal differences and individual differences in ability to absorb calcium."

MAINTAINING DAIRY CONSUMPTION is a way to prevent osteoporosis later in life. According to the National Osteoporosis Foundation, osteoporosis affects 24 million Americans and causes 1.3 million bone fractures each year. The condition is characterized by an excessive loss of bone tissue and an increased susceptibility to fractures of the hip, spine and wrist.

Young and teen-age girls, along with adult women, need to be aware of the disease to take preventive steps to keep bones healthy. Although the disease mostly strikes women, men also need to be wary of the disease.

Eating a well-balanced diet rich in calcium is the first step towards prevention. Secondly, weight-bearing exercises, such as walking, dancing, and tennis are also recommended to promote bone growth and strength. Estrogen therapy may be beneficial for some postmenopausal women at risk for osteoporosis. Limiting both alcohol and smoking are also important preventive measures for both men and women.

To assist in the campaign, Dairy Council of Wisconsin, Inc. is offering a free guide about osteoporosis and how to prevent it. Call 1-800-325-9121 to obtain a copy of the guide.

DCW is a non-profit nutrition education association serving Wisconsin, the northern 17 counties of Illinois and Lake County, Inc. DCW provides nutrition information to the media, consumers, educators and health professionals.

Seventy-nine percent of the Wisconsin dairyman's income is from the sale of milk, with another 10 percent coming from the sale of dairy animals.

Michael Yahr Wins Scholarship

Michael Yahr, Kewaskum, has been awarded the Freddie Gage Jr. Memorial Scholarship for the 1990-91 academic year, according to Richard H. Daluge, director of the Farm and Industry Short Course and assistant dean in the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences, University of Wisconsin - Madison.

Michael will be a second year student in the Short Course program.

The Freddie Gage Jr. Memorial Scholarship was established in 1986. This gift was given to the Short Course program in memory of Freddie Gage Jr., killed in the December terrorist attack in Rome. The interest from the gift is being used for scholarships and trip awards for Short Course students who have been active in the Future Farmers of America.

Daluge indicates that students may still apply to the Farm and Industry Short Course program until Oct. 1, 1990 for the 1990-91 program. The Short Course program consists of two six-week and one three-week term, beginning Nov. 12, 1990 and concluding March 23, 1991. Application forms are available by writing to 105 Ag Hall, Madison, WI 53706 or by phoning (608) 263-3918.

Volunteers Needed for Blood Pressure Screening

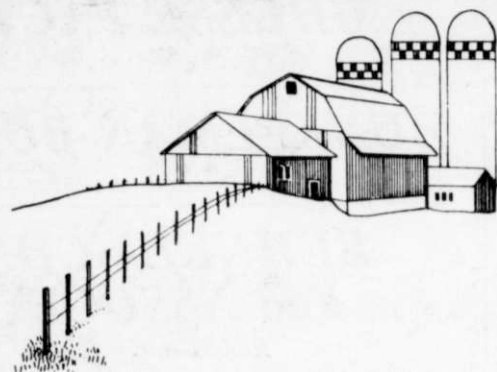

The Washington County Cardiovascular Risk Reduction Program is in need of volunteers to assist in a county-wide screening program.

Training of approximately 6 to 8 hours is provided free in return for a commitment of several hours per month for a year to the program. Good eyesight and hearing acuity are a necessity.

Applicants need to be at least 18 years of age and have the use of a car. For further information call Doris Dauer at 338-5274 or 644-5204 or 342-2929.

A Salute to Wisconsin's Dairy Farmers

In celebration of June Dairy Month, we offer a salute to the people who serve us all — Wisconsin's dairy farmers. Dairy farming in the United States started in Jamestown when the first settlers brought over dairy cows. Since then, thanks to the dairy industry and to the dedication of those who have become part of it, dairy farming has grown to one of our most important agricultural endeavors. We salute the dairy industry for the important role it plays in Wisconsin's economy.

The Breuer family dairy farm near Allenton dressed the kids and grandkids in their Sunday best last Friday. Even the cows sensed the anticipation and looked important.

As a milk supplier to Kemp's Dairy in Kewaskum, the farm was chosen for a visit from U.S. Senator Herb Kohl as he kicked off June Dairy month with an announcement that he will promote Wisconsin milk at the Wisconsin State Fair in August. "Herb's Superb Milk House" will promote Kemp's new flavors of milk - raspberry, strawberry, chocolate, banana, and even root beer. The stand will be located near the south end of the grandstand, at the Fair which runs from Aug. 2 to 12 this year.

The Breuer's enterprise, named Four Way Farms, is located at 7188 County W. Family run for 44 years, the 450 acre farm boasts over 100 Holstein milk cows. Walter and Bernice Breuer retired recently and turned the farm over to their sons, twins Garry and Larry, Terry and Mark. Their family also includes a daughter Jean, and fourteen grandchildren.

Kohl toured the Breuer farm for over an hour Friday afternoon guided by the entire family. The Breuers' name was picked by random selection from a collection of family owned and run dairy farms that supply milk through the Farmers Union Milk Marketing Cooperative to Kemps.

"We were given only a week's notice," said Walter of the Senators visit, "but we managed to get the entire family together for the event."

Although the new sweet milk drink was not available for sampling, the family is proud to be a part of the making of this new product. "We're all going to give it a try," Breuer agreed.

The June Dairy Month promotion and Kemp's new sweet milk flavors are all a part of the continuing efforts to promote the Wisconsin Dairy Industry, and honor families like the Breuers who are the "backbone" of Wisconsin's dairyland.

WE PROUDLY SALUTE OUR LOCAL FARMERS

Keeping everyone fed, even in the land of plenty, is no easy task to undertake. Yet the American farmer has undertaken this pursuit as his life's ambition. Although sometimes taken for granted, we acknowledge your dedication, for through your efforts, we all benefit, nutritionally and economically.

We take this opportunity to salute our local farm community and the many organizations whose activities help to improve the quality of life.

THANK YOU FOR A JOB WELL DONE!

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this time to give a big "Thank You" to all of those kind individuals who participated in our annual "Walk For Kindness" on May 6, 1990. Due to your efforts, almost $3,000.00 was raised to help those who cannot speak for themselves.

It seems that true animal lovers always come through when their help is needed. The animals are truly grateful for all they receive.

The staff at the Shelter are always amazed at the kindness of the public. We are so happy that the community gives us their financial support. Money is always needed because we are a non-profit agency and not supported by the County.

Once again, thank-you for all your help.

Activity Day Held at Kewaskum Elementary School

Kewaskum Statesman,
Thursday, June 7, 1990, Page 17

Charles E. Roessger with Blossom the Opossum.

Activity Day at Kewaskum Elementary was met with eager anticipation from the 385 students who participated.

On Wednesday, May 30th classes were entertained by folksinger and storyteller Robbie Clement. A national recording artist, Clement has performed for over 500,000 people in the USA, Europe and the British Isles. He is a regular performer on National Public Radio and has appeared on "Prairie Home Companion," "All Things Considered" and "Kid's America."

Banjo, guitar and jaw harp were three folk instruments used on songs including "Turkey In The Staw," "The Belly Button Song" and "Love Grows One By One." Mr. Clement, raised in a family which encouraged folksinging, defined the talent as "fun songs you play with family and friends that talk about the important things in life." Robbie's critically acclaimed albums include "Heartland Home" and "The Magic Place," 1986 Parent's Choice Honors Award Winner.

Blossom the opossum was a featured star in the live animal program presented by Charles E. Roessger, former educator with the Milwaukee Public Museum. Mr. Roessger's love for animals was apparent in his "Talk With The Animals." He discussed the importance of other forms of life to the human species and gave interesting details on various animals.

Pincushion the porcupine, bearing 25,000 quills was introduced as the animal nicknamed "lost man's meat," whose only natural enemies are the fisher weasel and man. Beulah, the big, beautiful bull snake was shown as a valuable asset to Wisconsin farmers. And finally, Harold, a 15 year old dove was presented as the symbol of peace, love and purity.

Roessger and the children concluded it would be a dull world if we only had human forms of life on earth.

After the two educational programs, sponsored by the KES PTO, students chose locations around the school for sidewalk art, choosing either "Sights and Sounds of Kewaskum" or "Animals on a Holiday" as their theme. Kindergarten classes also drew self-portraits in chalk. Activity Day concluded with refreshments furnished by the KES-PTO.

Classes enjoyed warm, sunny weather to try their hand at sidewalk art.

Sister School Program With Germany Attracts Interest in Wisconsin

Of the 63 schools in Wisconsin that applied to participate in a sister school exchange program, 42 have been matched with schools in Hessen, West Germany. Additional schools in Hessen are being sought to meet the interest Wisconsin schools have shown in the exchange program.

Sister school activities are expected to range from letter and tape exchanges to student and teacher exchange visits. The Education Ministry in Hessen paired the schools, with emphasis placed on the size of the schools, the programs and activities offered, and the size of the community in which the schools are located.

State Superintendent Herbert J. Grover has sent letters to the Wisconsin participants notifying them of the name of their sister school in West Germany. One of the Wisconsin schools paired with schools in Hessen to date is Kewaskum High School.

The Hessen/Wisconsin Sister School Relationship was established during a study trip to Germany last summer.

Weekly Health Tip

From Tom Kennelly

CHOKING

When choking on food or an object, and if alone, quickly lie across a bed, chair, or table, with the head lower than your chest - gravity will then work to help dislodge the object. When in an upright position, gravity tends to keep the object stuck in the throat - despite slaps on the back or the Heimlich treatment - whereas in the upside-down position, gravity works to dislodge the obstruction.

The game was called after four innings because of the 10 run rule.

The Sixers then faced Calvary Lutheran of Thiensville. St. Lucas took the lead in the first by scoring three quick runs. They added one in the third, one in the fourth and four more in the fifth to close out a 9-1 victory.

The championship game was played against Good Shepherd Lutheran of West Bend. The Sixers again scored in the first to take a 1-0 lead. Good Shepherd then scored one run in the bottom of the second and three in the third to take a 4-3 lead into the bottom of the sixth. It was at this time that Good Shepherd scored eight runs on timely hitting to widen their lead to 12-3. Safe Boating Week June 3-9

MILWAUKEE, WI — Every week is safe boating week, says Rick Wolff, Law Enforcement Safety Specialist with the Department of Natural Resources, not just the officially designated week of June 3 - 9, 1990.

Wolff states that with the increasing number of boaters using Wisconsin's waters, safe boating practices are more important than ever.

Personal Flotation Devices

Star Cablevision ESPN Major League Baseball Team Telecasts

ESPN's extensive national coverage of Major League Baseball is now underway, with six games planned each week throughout the regular season. "We understand that a certain amount of confusion has arisen due to Major League Baseball's policy that at times when the Brewers play, ESPN is generally required to locally televise a live alternate game," said Dean Sinclair.

When our viewers tune in and expect to see the Brewers play, and instead find a different MLB game," added Dean Sinclair. "they are understandably disappointed and want to know why the switch has taken place."

In order to understand why ESPN cannot bring some Brewer games into the West Bend market, it is necessary to understand that Major League Baseball must protect the local cable and broadcast rights of its teams within their own home market areas. Therefore, on some week nights (Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays), ESPN is restricted from providing West Bend with Brewer games, even if the team is playing away.

The exception to this is on Sunday nights, when ESPN presents a national game that is EXCLUSIVE. This year's Sunday night schedule will provide a local telecast of the Brewers on June 10, 1990.

Roger Williams, Sr. VP of Affiliate Sales and Marketing for ESPN adds, "It is ESPN's goal to bring the baseball fan coverage of the national pastime as never before. We'll do that with over 160 live MLB games this season, as well as with daily scores, news and highlights on "Baseball Tonight," which airs seven days a week. ESPN's unique ability to feature highlights of other games in progress during network telecasts will also add to the fan's enjoyment of baseball."

Even though fans will generally not see the Brewers play on Tuesday, Wednesday, or Friday nights on ESPN, "they will have the opportunity to see other key matchups and follow the League as never before," said Dean Sinclair.

(PFDs) is the first item that a conscientious boater makes sure is on board, including having an adequate number of PFDs for the number of people on board. Wolff emphasizes that the PFDs should be "serviceable."

"Serviceable" means that the outer surfaces are free from tears, rips and missing parts. In addition, the inside bags of flotation material must be free from holes and leaks. Also, the U.S. Coast Guard label containing the PFD identification number and Coast Guard approval number must be legible and attached. Federal and state law requires that wearable PFDs be readily accessible, and throwable PFDs, including cushions and ring buoys, be immediately available.

"One of the more important safety requirements is to secure batteries and keep the terminals covered," said Wolff. "A common cause of fires on watercraft is the igniting of gas vapors from exposed terminals."

Wolff points out that both federal and state law may require that proper firefighting equipment be on board and properly maintained at all times. "This small step can mean big savings in preventing the loss of life and property."

The operation of a motorboat should be a sobering experience. During the 1990 boating season, conservation wardens and local boat patrols will vigorously enforce the intoxicated boating law, added District Conservation Warden Douglas Hoskins. "Since the law went into effect in 1986, convictions for operating a boat while intoxicated have increased each year."

Wolff noted that persons between the ages of 12 and 16 who want to operate a motorboat without adult supervision must complete a DNR certified boating safety course. A list of courses are available by calling the DNR at (414) 562-9500. "And before you go out, read the boating regulations and make sure the boat registration is up-to-date."

Indians Beat Two Rivers

TWO RIVERS — When a baseball team has good pitching, good hitting, and good fielding, the team is going to win most ballgames.

The Kewaskum baseball team had all those characteristics going for them last Thursday in Two Rivers, and the result was a 13-2 victory for the Indians.

The good pitching came from sophomore Shawn Schneider. The righthander, who was ripped by West Bend East for 10 runs in three innings just a week earlier, gave up just six Raider hits, while striking out nine batters and walking four.

The good hitting came from several sources. Schneider, along with Bruce Waechter and Rich Radtke each had a pair of hits for the Indians, who also took advantage of nine walks and some shotty Two Rivers defense, which accounted for six errors.

The good defense was evident by the fact that the Indians committed no errors, and got out of some sticky situations without much damage being done.

Two Rivers actually got on the board first in the bottom of the first. Two walks by Schneider opened the game, followed by a single which scored a run, but on the same play the runner on first was thrown out as he attempted to advance to third on the play. Schneider then settled down and got a fly ball and a strikeout to end the inning.

The Indians came right back in the top of the third, scoring five runs. Kewaskum got four singles in the inning to go along with two base on balls, two passed balls, and an error.

The Indians got another five runs in the third, this time with the majority of the damage being done by the Raiders, as they committed four errors.

Two Rivers scored another run in the third. After a strikeout to open the inning, Schneider gave up a walk and two singles, scoring a run, and after a stolen base, putting runners on second and third with one out. Schneider responded by striking out the next two batters to get out of the jam.

The win gave the Indians a 2-1 record in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, 5-3 overall. Next week, the Indians are at Plymouth on Monday, and then host New Holstein and Campbellsport on Tuesday and Thursday, respectively.

Huskies Use 6 Run Fourth to Paste Indians

NEW HOLSTEIN — A pitcher's duel turned into a rout here, last Tuesday, as New Holstein used a six-run fourth inning to pull away from Kewaskum, and beat the Indians, 7-0.

The Indians' Bruce Waechter and the Huskies' Troy Schneider were hooked up in a pretty good battle, neither pitcher allowing a run through the first three innings.

But it all caved in on the Indians in the fourth. A pair of singles started the Husky rally, followed by four straight walks (two by Waechter and other two by reliever Dave Pauers) and another single. After a strikeout and a sacrifice fly which scored a run, Schneider smashed a double, his second hit of the inning, which drove in two more runs and made it 6-0.

Schneider was just as much trouble on the mound, as he limited the Indians to just six hits in the game, although the Indians did have their chances early.

In the second, Waechter and Chris Donath led off the inning with consecutive singles, but the Indians were unable to bring them home, as a popup, a fielder's choice and a strikeout retired the side. The Indians also had a pair of runners on base with no outs in the third, but were unable to score.

For the game, the Indians stranded eight runners on base. Chris Weddig was a bright spot offensively for Kewaskum, going 2x3 at the plate, including a double. No other Indian had more than one hit, much in part to Schneider's presence on the mound. The Husky veteran finished with eight strikeouts and four walks.

Indians Down Cougars in Slugfest

CAMPBELLSPORT — One night after they managed just six hits and no runs against New Holstein, the Kewaskum Indians baseball team exploded here for 15 hits and 13 runs. It turned out to be enough, but just barely, as the Indians downed Campbellsport 13-10.

Kewaskum got on the board with a five-run second inning. Mark Felix started things for the Indians with a single and advanced to second on a passed ball. After Randy Schlice walked, Brian Dobke singles to score Felix and moved Schlice to third.

After a strikeout and a fielder's choice which scored Schlice, Dan Heisdorf singled to drive in Dobke, making the score 3-0. Bruce Waechter then came up and drilled a Troy Schill pitch over the fence for a two run homer.

The Indians matched their five-run output again in the fourth. Sophomore Jason Krahn led off the inning with a solo home run, making it 6-0. Chad Cook then walked, followed in order by a Heisdorf single, a Waechter double, a sacrifice by Shawn Schneider and a single by Dave Pauers. Pauers later scored on a single by Schlice.

Cook, meanwhile, was cruising along on the mound for the Indians. The sophomore southpaw struck out the side in the first inning, and through three innings, he struck out six and hadn't allowed a hit. With a 10-0 lead and Cook on the mound, things were looking like a laugher for the Indians.

But the Cougars finally broke through and got to Cook in the fourth. Cook gave up a pair of hits in the inning, walked a batter, and gave up a couple of sac flies, as the Cougars had three men cross the plate, making it 10-3.

Kewaskum added another run in the top of the fifth, making it 11-3, but Campbellsport responded with a pair in the bottom half of the inning, cutting the lead to 11-5.

The Indians continued to answer the Campbellsport rallies with more scoring of their own. Kewaskum put up two more runs in the top of the sixth, extending the lead to 13-5. Krahn's big two-out double scored both Kewaskum runs.

Campbellsport came right back in the bottom half of the inning. Cook, who tired in his first pitching appearance of the year, was replaced by Brian Leitheiser. The senior Leitheiser had some control problems, walking the first two batters he faced and five in all.

Kevin O'Brien followed the two walks with a blast over the fence, cutting the Indian lead to 13-8. Leitheiser got out of any further damage in the sixth and after the Indians didn't score in the top of the seventh, Leitheiser continued to have problems in the bottom of the inning.

Leitheiser gave up a pair of singles and two more walks, loading the bases with one out. After a strikeout, Leitheiser walked O'Brien, forcing in a run to make it 13-10. With the winning run at the plate, Indian head coach Tom Bartelt decided to bring Cook back into the game.

The strategy worked, as Cook got Bill Kertscher to fly out to the rightfielder for the final out of the ballgame.

Waechter led the Indian offense with four hits, including three doubles to go along with his homer. Heisdorf, Pauers, Felix, Krahn and Schlice all had two hits apiece. O'Brien and Bill Lackas had a pair of hits for Campbellsport.

Track Team Brings Home First Place from State

"Her injury has never really been that serious," Koth said of Korth's ankle. "But Saturday (the day of the finals) it got to the point where she felt she couldn't run. We taped it and iced it, but nothing worked."

So Koth turned to Zuehlke, who was a member of last year's state qualifying 800 relay team, but had run the race just once this year.

"I had confidence in Rachelle because of her experience from last year," Koth said, although he added he was a bit concerned about problems with the handoffs, seeing the junior only had a few minutes to practice before the race.

But Zuehlke came through with what Koth deemed "a perfect handoff" with Schwartz and by the time Lubahn got the baton as the anchor, the Indians were 10-15 meters ahead of the pack, and the senior Lubahn held on the rest of the way.

Lubahn wasn't as fortunate in the 300 hurdles race. By the time it came for the finals, Lubahn had run in four events including Friday's qualifiers, and the senior ace was showing the signs of the hectic weekend.

"She was having some problems with her legs," Koth said regarding Lubahn, who qualified with the fastest time in the hurdles on Friday afternoon. "She just didn't have the quickness that she did the day before."

The result was a gutty four-place finish in 48.67, still a commendable performance. And although Koth said he felt bad for perhaps the Indians' best athlete, he said she had nothing to be ashamed of.

"She gave it everything she had," the KHS mentor said. "She was in three events (at state), and that's a lot of running. She had a great, great career. She has nothing to feel bad about."

The Indians got another fourth-place finish out of senior Tina Weddig. Weddig came through with a toss of 120'10" in the discus, just one inch ahead of the fifth-place finisher.

"That's really good," Koth said of the distance. "I think that was the senior in Tina. She knew it was her last meet and she knew what she had to do. She just went out and did it."

Another Indian who just went out and did it was Ingrid Ankersen. The junior capped off her fine season by leaping 33'2.25" in the triple jump, netting her a sixth-place finish.

"Ingrid came through again," Koth said. "That was great to see. She worked real hard all season, and then she just peaked at the right time. She just really came on at the end."

Ankersen missed out at a chance to qualify for the high jump competition though. After a court injunction was obtained to allow both Ankersen and Slinger athlete Stacy Kunding to try and qualify for the 5'11" height on Friday morning, Ankersen missed on all three attempts, thus negating her a shot in that event.

The injunction was obtained because of a mistake by meet officials in the Edgerton Sectional meet. The officials didn't raise the bar in proper increments, thus not allowing them a fair shot at advancing to state.

The Indians had runners in three other events who didn't place in the top six. Braun qualified for the finals in both the 100 and 200 dashes, only to be forced to run into a stiff 30mph wind on Saturday. The result was Braun's finishes of eight in the 100, and seventh in the 200.

"Because of her style of running, Melissa has trouble running into a wind," Koth said of the junior sprinter. Also, during the course of the 200 dash, Braun hurt her back and didn't finish as strong as she could have.

The 1600 relay team also had its problems, the main being that they were seeded seventh, thus drawing the seventh lane, the outside lane. It was a position unfamiliar to the Indians, who came in having the fastest time in the state in the event.

After the first leg was run, the teams were allowed to run in the first two lanes, thereby giving the early leaders the advantage. The Indians meanwhile would have to run back out to the seventh lane to make their handoffs. With its two fastest runners occupying the last two legs of the race, Kewaskum was at a big disadvantage.

"If I had to do it over again, I'd probably put my fastest runners first," Koth said regarding the race. "Going out and coming back in (to and from the seventh lane) pushes you back an extra 10-12 meters. Even with Kristi's (Lubahn) speed on the anchor, she still couldn't catch up."

When asked if he was at all disappointed that maybe the team could have done better, Koth replied "No, not at all. There's just so many factors that go into a meet like this," he said, noting the wind and the injuries. "Overall, I was real happy. We finished in the top ten in our Class - you can't feel bad about that."

Indians Eliminated in Golf Sectional

EAST TROY — The Kewaskum Indian golf team ran into some of the best talent in the state at the Class B Sectional golf meet held here, last Tuesday.

Just making the meet by virtue of a single stroke in the regional meet the week before, the Indians were just no match for the top teams in the meet, and wound up finishing seventh in the eight-team meet.

Nevertheless, the Indians capped off a fine season, which saw just one senior on the varsity, that being Mark Heather. Ryan Amerling also closed out his year by placing seventh in the sectional, just missing a trip to the state meet. The top five individuals advance to state.

Amerling shot an 87 (42-45), just three strokes off the fifth place mark. Corey Krahn was next for the Indians, as he shot a 91, on rounds of 45 and 46.

Spring Wild Turkey Harvest 6,500 Birds

MADISON, WI — Preliminary totals for Wisconsin's 1990 spring wild turkey hunting season indicate that the harvest will be about 6,500 wild turkeys, reports Ed Frank, turkey program coordinator for the state Department of Natural Resources.

A record 29,696 turkey hunting permits were issued by the department for the six hunting periods running Wednesday through Sunday, April 11 through May 20. An additional 181 permits were issued by the U.S. Army at Fort McCoy.

The first four hunting periods (April 11 - May 6) had favorable weather and harvest success rates were slightly higher than last year, according to Frank. The last two hunting periods (May 9 - 20) had cold, rainy weather. But since 1990 is the first season ever with six hunting periods, Frank said no direct comparison can be made to prior years.

The indicated success rate of 22 percent for the entire 1990 season, however, compares favorably with 1989 when 21,280 permits were issued and 4,406 turkeys were registered, giving a 21 percent success rate.

Approximately 71 percent of the turkeys registered were adult gobblers, Frank added, compared to an average of 61 percent adults over the past four years. Frank said the harvest of fewer young turkeys this spring supports earlier information that indicated the 1989 turkey hatch was below average.
