Electors Approve $4.5 Million School Tax Levy

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

In a meeting which lasted approximately an hour-and-a-half, electors of the Kewaskum School district voted on, and approved a $4,495,777 general fund and debt service tax levy to aid funding of the 1990-91 budget of $8,724,263. That budget figure represents a $1,027,068, or 13.34% increase over the 1989-90 budget of $7,697,195.

Before approving that levy, however, the voters did refuse to act on the original levy resolution as presented, which included an additional $200,000 for capital improvements.

While comments from the audience, in general, were not against the $200,000 for improvements itself, those who spoke on the issue indicated they would rather see the district borrow the additional money rather than add it to the tax levy.

Mrs. Janet Hubbell then prepared to make a motion that the electors approve the amended levy (less the $200,000) and direct the board to borrow the additional funds. Michael Spector, the district's legal counsel who was in attendance, then advised Hubbell that the Annual Meeting's power is limited to setting a tax levy, noting action on the borrowing issue would only be advisory. "No matter what the Annual Meeting may do, the school board has the power, in October, to set the actual levy."

After Spector's comments, Hubbell revised her motion to approve the amended levy and "advise" the Board of Education to borrow the $200,000.

District Administrator David Heather was then asked how the approved levy will affect the mill rate. As indicated at a previous school board meeting, Heather stated he could not present a specific figure since he had no new data on the district's equalized valuation, which also affects that figure. "Last year the equalized valuation increased 3.34%," said Heather, "so I'm projecting about a 2% increase for this year."

Based on that 2% figure, the mill rate would be $16.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, a hike of $1.14 or 7.42% over the 89-90 rate of $15.36. On a $50,000 home, that would represent a tax increase of $57, on a $70,000 home - $80, and on a $90,000 house - $103.

If, however, the district were to see no increase in its equalized valuation, taxpayers could be looking at a mill rate of $16.83 per $1,000, a rise of 9.57%.

In other business the electors approved the standard yearly resolutions regarding the lunch program, textbooks, selling obsolete or unused furniture and equipment, etc.

The voters also elected to keep the board members' salary at $800 per year, plus payment of other necessary expenses not to exceed $15.00 per day.

Board member John Schulte expressed his opposition to the $15 figure. "No one works for $15 a day anymore," said Schulte, "you don't have much incentive to take off work and attend meetings, educational programs or go anywhere at that rate."

Whether it was apathy or just a feeling on the part of the people that their vote really did not matter, there were only 38 electors present and voting at Monday night's meeting. The result being the amended levy was passed 33 for, and 5 against its approval. Eliminating the seven board members, Dr. Heather, his secretary and the ballot tellers who had to be at the meeting, that left only 25 citizens who had enough interest to show up for the meeting. Twenty-five people out of a ballpark figure of roughly 1,700 electors who took the time to attend the school district's most important meeting of the year.

Speed Limit Set for Kiwanis Park

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

In one of the few action items Monday night, the Kewaskum Village Board approved a recommendation to set a 10 Mile-Per-Hour speed limit for the Kiwanis Community Park. The new speed limit begins at Edgewood Road and extends west into the park proper.

The trustees also discussed other needs and repairs for both the Kiwanis and Riverhill Parks, however, no action was taken. The board directed Village Administrator Dan Schmidt to gather more information and cost figures to be presented at a future meeting for discussion and possible action.

In other business the board approved a resolution to establish an account fund to serve as working capital for the village. The fund will be established as recommended by the village's auditing firm during its annual report to the board.

The trustees also approved the preparing of documents for the refinancing of the village's outstanding TIF loan. Possible action on that refinancing is scheduled for August.

The board again tabled action on a study of the village's classification and compensation schedule.

Discussion and possible action regarding removal or changes of parking spaces in eight trouble spots throughout the village was also tabled until next month's meeting.

The board then adjourned to closed session.

Wisconsin Electric Planning Night Out Against Crime August 7

Closely knit and well-lit neighborhoods can help reduce crime rates.

"National Night Out Against Crime" is a unique crime prevention program that is encouraging communities around the country to turn on their outdoor lights, get to know their neighbors and make a crime prevention statement on the evening of Aug. 7.

"It's a fact that criminals shy away from lighted areas. Energy-efficient security lighting is an inexpensive way to deter crime," said Bonni Yordi, National Night Out Advisory Committee co-chair and consumer education supervisor at Wisconsin Electric Power Co. WE is a sponsor, along with the Milwaukee Police Department, of National Night Out.

To help neighborhoods organize events on Aug. 7, a free National Night Out Planning and Promotional Kit is available. Block parties, "walks against crime" and police or sheriff visits to neighborhoods are just a few suggestions found in the kit.

Included are step-by-step instructions on how to plan, publicize and implement activities. Information about free promotional posters and flyers and entry blanks for special prizes also are available in the kit.

"These types of events can reduce crime," Yordi said. "Police statistics show that crime rates decrease significantly when neighborhoods are organized and watching out for crime."

WE Michigan customers also are eligible for promotional items and prizes available through the kit. The National Night Out Against Crime Planning and Promotional Kit is available by calling the Wisconsin Electric Energy Facts Phone at 221-2000, or toll-free 1-800-222-9288.

August 8 is Family Day. Started in 1968 by the Valley Forge Kiwanis International and Freedoms Foundations, the annual observance reaffirms the importance of the family and the vital role it plays in teaching basic truths and values.

The Kiwanis Club encourages local clubs and communities to plan different activities involving families. Ideas range from financing long-distance telephone calls for those whose relatives live in other countries to sponsoring family circuses.

Other suggested activities include a trip to the zoo, a picnic, a family reunion, a bike ride, barbecuing, boating, updating the family photo album or just being together and enjoying each other's company. lil

Craft Fairs Make Money for Artists And Host Community

There's money to be made at craft fairs — and not just by artists.

Consumers spent over $4 million at four craft festivals surveyed at Wisconsin State Fair Park last year, spending over $3 million on craft alone. Visitors spent an average of $32.35 for crafts — much higher than researchers anticipated.

The host community benefits as well. For every $4 of crafts purchased, fairgoers spend another $1 in the host community. The four festivals studied brought West Allis an additional $721,505 in local sales.

"There is money in crafts. If they are good, the public will buy," says Jack Gray, who does tourism-related research for University of Wisconsin - Extension.

Gray's 1989 Craft Fair USA study was the first of its kind, measuring economic impact of arts and crafts fairs. Each year Craft Fair USA coordinates seven arts and crafts festivals. The survey looked at 3,582 people attending four different festivals in 1989.

"The market is broader than I thought, people come in from all over," says Gray. The researchers found that fairgoers were predominantly women. One out of six were out-of-staters; 91 percent were daytrippers. People with white-collar occupations were more likely to attend fairs.

To target their marketing strategies, fair coordinators and exhibitors must know their buyers — where they live, how much they plan to spend and what they are looking for — Gray says.

Marketing can have a long-term payoff, Gray adds. Arts and crafts fairs often attract "professional buyers" — people who mark fair dates on their calendars and plan ahead for the festival. Four out of five surveyed attend other craft fairs during the year.

The key is to stimulate people, to get them to come the first time, he says. Once consumers become "craft conscious," they will return.

Fitness Firm Demonstration

The Fitness Firm will put on an aerobic demonstration at the Washington County Fair on Saturday, July 28, at 2 p.m. and Sunday, July 29, at 2:30 p.m.

The Fitness Firm is a nonprofit fitness organization based in Brookfield. The Fitness Firm has three major fitness programs: water aerobics, land aerobics and stretch'n tone.

Participation in all classes is not limited by age, sex or shape. The emphasis is on fun and fitness, not skill and perfection. There is no timetable or no competition. All workouts are designed to allow individuals to progress at their own rate as dictated by their personal physical demands.

The nonprofit status means the Fitness Firm can offer members top quality and affordable programs. The "Free Class Option" allows participation in unlimited classes at no extra charge for the duration of a session. Every session offers fresh innovative material and music. But the goal is always the same... to invigorate and shape up individuals through stimulating exercise that is fun and effective. Instructors are certified and trained in fitness techniques with safety in mind.

Make fitness a part of your life... The feeling is terrific.

'Accompany of Kids' Performing at Fair

"Accompany of Kids" now has 18 members, ages 11-15, who come from Menomonee Falls, Glendale, Delafield, Brookfield, Sussex and Germantown. Most of these kids have a lot of stage experience with Falls Patio Players.

In fact you will probably see some of them in next spring's Patio Players production of "The Sound of Music."

The director, John Shull, felt that too much talent was sitting at home between plays, so decided to try a song and dance troupe with these young actors and actresses. Along with associate directors Sheila Rick and Janet Rhode, and sound engineer Tim Sunner, John has watched "Accompany of Kids" grow into a truly professional group.

In a recent performance, there was a problem with power and the sound system went out. These professionals did not skip a beat. They kept right on going with confidence and precision, much to the delight of the audience.

Their recent appearance in the Menomonee Falls 4th of July Parade gave people a look at their dancing ability as they did a high-spirited tap dance routine right down Appleton Avenue.

"Accompany of Kids" appeals to the whole family. Little kids will dance along with them. People of all ages will revel in their talent and fresh approach. See them at the Washington County Fair.

No Tuition Increase at UWWC

For the third consecutive year, students at UWWC will not pay a tuition increase. "More than ever UWWC, which provides an education that is the equal of any in the University of Wisconsin system, emerges as perhaps the best educational value in the U.S.," said Joel Rodney, Dean of UWWC.

With the passage of the UW System budget on July 13, the Board of Regents authorized an average 4.9 percent increase in resident undergraduate tuition at the 13 UW baccalaureate institutions and no increase for UWWC or any of the UW Centers.

Students enrolled at UWWC will pay $631 less in tuition than at UW-Madison or UW-Milwaukee and $277 less than at other bachelor's degree campuses. A semester's tuition and fees at UWWC will be $694.95 which represents $625.50 in tuition and $69.45 in fees for a full-time student. Comparable students attending UW Madison and Milwaukee will pay $941 and students at the other 11 UW campuses will pay $764 in tuition alone.

According to Student Services Director Mike Murphy,

"Fees for UWWC only rose $3.40 over last year." Murphy added that UWWC students can save as much as $2,000 an academic year by living at home while attending school as well.

In 1989-90 and 1988-89, the average resident undergraduate increases were 6.9 and 5.7 percent respectively at other UW campuses, with the UW Centers remaining at the 1987 tuition level.

The policy of holding UW Centers tuition steady grew out of the 1986 Report of the Regents on the Future of the UW System and is aimed at encouraging students to begin their undergraduate education at the 13 UW Centers, which specialize in freshmen/sophomore education. Further encouragement came with such programs as a revised UW Centers Associate Degree, Joint Admission, and preference for UW Centers transfer students.

In addition to the dollar value of tuition at UWWC Rodney sites the quality of education at UWWC, "We're proud of the fact that our transfer students who have completed 2 years of study with us do as well or better than students who start at any of the four year campuses," replied Rodney.

Special Retirement

Rules for Self-Employed

Although, in general, the earnings test is the same for self-employed people as for wage earners, there are some differences. It's important for people who receive earnings from self-employment to be aware of the differences.

The earnings test places a limit on the amount of money a beneficiary can earn without affecting benefits. In 1990, the limit is $9,360 for people 65 to 69, and $6,840 for people under 65. Benefits are reduced $1 for each $2 earned over the limit for people under 65; for those 65-69, the withholding is $1 in benefits for each $3 of earnings. The earnings test does not apply to people who are 70 or older.

The difference for self-employed comes during the first year of retirement. During that first year, wage earners can get a full benefit for any month they don't earn more than 1/12th of the annual limit, regardless of their earnings before retirement ($570 per month for those under 65, $780 for those 65-69). Self-employed people can get a full benefit for any month they don't perform substantial services in their business, regardless of their earnings in any month.

Whether or not services performed in a business are substantial depends on a number of factors. They include the amount of time devoted to the business or profession, including time spent planning and managing, the kind of work done, and how the work compares with what the person previously did.

The more valuable and highly skilled the work performed, the more likely it is to be considered substantial. In general, more than 45 hours of work devoted to business during a month constitutes substantial services. Less than 15 hours a month is never considered substantial.

People who want more information on the retirement test should call Social Security at 1-800-234-5772.

WB Savings Reports Earnings Up 25%

West Bend Savings reported excellent earnings and growth figures as the Washington County based financial institution completed their first half results for 1990.

Richard A. Larson, president of the association, stated that before tax earnings were $521,980 which represented a 25.7% increase over the $350,580 reported for the same period in 1989. Larson added that 1989's annual results figures were the best in the decade.

West Bend Savings expanded its assets by 5.7% to a new high of $125,208,200 as of June 30, 1990. Loans and investments increased by 6.35% while savings deposits grew by over 5%. The association's capital and reserves of $7,706,799 represent a 10.3% increase from June, 1989. Larson stated that the bank has met or surpassed all of the fully phased in reserve and capital requirements by a substantial margin.

Service corporation and subsidiary activity accounted for 19.5% of the overall net earnings. Larson indicated that based upon the economic outlook for Southeastern Wisconsin and the continuance of the association's sound business management, West Bend Savings' earnings should continue to increase throughout the remainder of 1990.

Menagerie Excerpt...

My Idea of the Transportation of 2050

MY IDEA OF THE TRANSPORTATION OF 2050

It is mid-morning on a humid day in August 2050. A big transport plane is waiting to be loaded at the Billurley Air Terminal, 150 miles from New York City. But unlike the planes in the twentieth century, it is not standing on the runway. Instead, the huge airliner is hovering above the terminal, five hundred feet in the air, like an over-sized blimp.

Flight 8679, departing from New York City for the West Coast and Australia. It is the newest kind of passenger airliner, an Ultra Jet. Twice the size of the historic 747, it travels at speeds close to three thousand miles an hour.

Still hovering in the air, the plane begins to load. Some passengers are flying their own airplanes into the Ultra Jet from the departing gates at the terminal. These planes are stored in the ferry compartment until the passengers arrive at their destinations. Then they fly off the giant ship one-by-one as the cargo doors open. While this is going on, the people who didn't bring a plane are stepping off and going into an airtaxi — a transportation unit that hooks to the side of the jet and then detaches and takes the people to their destinations.

Besides airports there is one terminal for space flight, the Earth International Space Port, near Kewaskum, Wisconsin. It is used largely by people who have business on the satellite space stations, or by those going to one of the new space station resorts. There are very few of these resorts, which keep them out of reach of all but the extremely rich, like me! But prices may be dropping. In the last issue of the Wall Street Journal there is talk of the famous billionaire playboy Chris Schmidt taking over the resorts. If so, he will be only the second person in history to take on Donald Trump Industries. The last person was Merv Griffin.

Compound May Yield Potent New AIDS Drug

MADISON, Wis. — A team of scientists at the University of Wisconsin - Madison School of Pharmacy has designed a chemical compound that blocks the action of a key enzyme required for the AIDS virus to reproduce.

The compound, shown to be extremely potent, could eventually lead to a new, more effective drug against AIDS, according to team leader Daniel H. Rich, a UW-Madison professor of pharmacy and chemistry.

"Once this compound is developed into a drug by a pharmaceutical company, it has the potential to be a very effective treatment for AIDS with few side effects," said Rich.

The research, reported in a recent issue of the Journal of Medicinal Chemistry, represents a new approach in the pharmaceutical battle against AIDS. The approach focuses on preventing the enzyme HIV protease from doing its essential job. Before the AIDS virus can reproduce, HIV protease must "chop" a large protein produced after the virus invades a cell into smaller proteins.

"Drugs that inhibit HIV protease may prove to be more successful in suppressing the human immunodeficiency virus - and less harmful - than drugs such as AZT, DDI and CD4, which involve disrupting other cellular activities," Rich said.

The compound is designed to inhibit only one specific enzyme without affecting other enzymes in the body, making it less likely to produce significant side effects, said Alexander Wlodawer, director of the National Cancer Institute's crystallography laboratory. Wlodawer headed a session on HIV protease at a recent conference on new treatments for AIDS sponsored by the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases.

"HIV protease inhibitors may result in drugs that produce better results than existing AIDS drugs, or may be most effective when given in combination with other drugs," said Wlodawer.

Scientists began examining this approach less than three years ago, when it was discovered that HIV protease is one of a class of enzymes that triggers specific biochemical reactions in the body. These enzymes are known as aspartic proteinases. Renin, which stimulates production of some of the substances needed to raise blood pressure, is another example of an aspartic proteinase.

Rich and colleagues have been active for 12 years in studying the molecular mechanisms of these enzymes and designing compounds of naturally occurring substances that inhibit them. Their research, funded by the National Institutes of Health, has yielded other compounds important in the continuing development of renin-blocking blood pressure control drugs.

"Everything we learned from that research became instantly applicable to HIV protease once it was categorized as an aspartic proteinase," said Rich, who was recognized for his work in February with a $5,000 Vincent du Vigneaud award, created to honor the Nobel-prize winner.

Since the discovery, hundreds of other researchers and pharmaceutical companies have been striving to develop a compound that prevents HIV protease from functioning. "Several different groups are coming up with related, but different compounds," he said, noting that the British affiliate of Hoffman-La Roche has produced compounds nearly identical to his group's. "Their compounds have been extremely effective in stopping the AIDS virus from reproducing in the laboratory."

The next step in the painstaking process of introducing a drug for patient use is to refine the natural compound into improved versions, then reproduce it into an artificial copy by genetic engineering or chemical synthesis.

The synthesized chemical compound and the target enzyme then are made into a crystal, which is exposed to an X-ray beam similar to that used in a CAT scan, producing a three-dimensional image that is stored in a computer. The Wisconsin compound has been crystallized by Wlodawer of the National Cancer Institute.

Once it appears in a scientific journal, the crystal structure - which precisely details the spatial relationship of all atoms in the compound, enzyme and site where they fit together - can be used by pharmaceutical companies as a model for simpler, potentially better molecules that can be adapted into usable drugs.

"This is one of the most challenging parts of the drug process, because medicinal chemists must overcome problems such as how the drug will be metabolized, how it will be distributed in the body, if it will penetrate the body's cells and if it will enter the brain," Rich said.

Scientists from G.D. Searle are collaborating with Rich on the development of drugs from the compound.

Valley Reports Earnings Increase; Declares Dividend

Valley Bancorporation today reported net income of $7.546 million, or $.63 per share for the quarter ended June 30, 1990, up from $7.120 million or $.60 per share in the same period last year. On a year to date basis, Valley earned $14.848 million or $1.24 per share versus $14.216 or $1.20 per share in 1989.

Commenting on the first half results, Peter M. Platten, III, Valley's President and Chief Executive Officer, said, "We are pleased with our earnings growth over 1989 - we continue to experience solid loan and deposit growth and are encouraged by the stability in asset quality. Based upon our 1990 operating plan, Valley's earnings were slightly below target. Revenue from nonbank income sources has not developed as anticipated and contributed to our variance from plan."

On January 21, 1990, Valley completed the cash acquisitions of the $118 million-asset First National Bank, Chippewa Falls, and the $21 million-asset Peoples State Bank, Three Lakes. Both acquisitions were accounted for as purchase transactions, therefore the consolidated results of operations only include the operations of Chippewa and Three Lakes from the date of acquisition forward.

The return on average assets for the first half of 1990 was .92% compared to .97% for the same period in 1989. The return on average equity decreased from 12.89% in 1989 to 12.37% in 1990.

Platten said Valley's outlook for the balance of 1990 remains positive. "Barring a significant weakening in our regional economy," he said, "we expect to generate steadily greater earnings momentum during the year. We remain confident 1990 will be another record year for Valley although slightly below our targeted earnings."

At its Board meeting held recently, the Valley Board of Directors declared a dividend of $.28 per share ($1.12 annualized). This dividend is payable September 7, 1990, to shareholders of record August 31, 1990.

Valley Bancorporation is the third largest bank holding company headquartered in Wisconsin. Valley currently serves Wisconsin through more than 100 banking offices with additional financial service companies engaged in leasing, insurance, data processing, software development and sales, trust service, brokerage and credit card servicing. The company's common stock is traded on the National Market System under the NASDAQ symbol VYBN.

Buettner Named to Special Committees

State Senator Carol Buettner (Oshkosh) has been named as a member of two special study committees.

Buettner will serve as a member of the Special Committee on Prenatal Care and Special Committee to Review Sexual Assault Laws.

"The Special Committee on Prenatal Care will examine present services to low-income women and especially those women with high-risk pregnancies. It is important to make sure women get prenatal care to avoid the problems associated with low-birth weight babies," Buettner said.

This committee will attempt to identify financial or other barriers to obtaining prenatal care. After studying current prenatal services by health maintenance organizations and other health care providers, the committee will determine if any changes are needed in funding for these services.

There are 10 legislators and 10 public members on the committee who will report to the Legislative Council by January 15, 1991.

"The Special Committee to Review Sexual Assault Laws will look into issues relating to admissibility of evidence and penalties in these types of cases," Buettner said.

This sixteen member committee will suggest changes in the sexual assault laws and file a report to the Legislative Council by January 15, 1991.

"Typically these special committee reports help educate citizens and legislators about these issues and result in new legislation to help solve the problem," Buettner said.

A $633,000 bond issue for a high school addition, expansion and improvement program was defeated for the second time this year by electors of the Kewaskum High School District at a referendum election held Monday at the school. The electors voted 253 to 142, a margin of almost 2 to 1, against issuing bonds for the project. A similar referendum was also rejected last February when the school board was unable to win approval of the voters. A total of 395 ballots were counted in Monday's referendum, which was far under the 501 votes cast last February. School officials had anticipated a favorable vote if the turnout was large. There are approximately 1,800 eligible electors in the school district.

Louis E. Marten, 75, a resident of Kewaskum for the past 19 years, who was in the custom lumber sawing business here for the last 15 years, passed away unexpectedly of a heart attack at his home Tuesday, July 20. Before moving to Kewaskum he farmed in the Town of Barton.

Three persons were killed instantly and three others seriously injured in an auto crash at a crossroads on Highway 28, a half mile south of Batavia, late Sunday afternoon while returning to their homes from the Firemen's picnic at Batavia. The collision occurred in front of the William Theis farm known as Theis Corners. The dead were Edward Ramel, 58, Town of Scott, who is related to the Ramels in this community; Marlow Ramel, 17, his son and Robert Krier, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krier, whose father is general manager of the Krier Preserving Company. Injured were Muriel Woog, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Woog, Rita Demler 15, and Norbert Huiras, all of Random Lake. According to Traffic officer Gary Hubers of Sheboygan County, there were no witnesses to the crash and officers were at first unable to determine how it happened. At the time it was believed both cars were going in the same direction - south on Highway 28. From the dust seen and tire marks, however, the Krier car evidently approached the state highway from the county road, traveling toward the east. Mr. Ramel, his son and young Krier were killed instantly after the terrific crash which plummeted both autos in the front yard of the Theis home. Mr. Ramel, who drove one car was thrown near the machine, while his son was hurled to the front of the farmhouse. The body of Krier, driver of the other car, was close to the road. All of those killed died of fractured skulls.

Paul Kral of this village, who starred in athletics for Kewaskum High School the past few years entered "Baseball's Hall of Fame" by pitching a no-hit no-run game for the West Bend Benders against Menomonee Falls Sunday in the Land o' Lakes league. West Bend won the game 17 to 0.

75 Years Ago

July 24, 1915

The Village of Kewaskum is now in gala attire and everything is ready for our mammoth homecoming celebration to be held this evening and Sunday, July 24 and 25. Great preparations have been made and with weather permitting, we expect to entertain one of the largest crowds ever brought together in the confines of our little city.

While temporarily deranged, Albert Wehlitz, age 25, a farmer, committed suicide some time on Tuesday at the family home two miles northeast of Campbellsport, in the Town of Auburn, by shooting himself with a twelve-gauge shotgun belonging to his brother. The body was found about 7:30 o'clock last night in a bedroom at the family home. Wehlitz had been employed for some time on the farm of Frank Brunet near Campbellsport, but on Monday evening Mr. Brunet brought the young man home and at the same time warned William Wehlitz, a brother of Albert, to watch the latter as he had been acting queerly. The older brother paid no attention to the matter however. Deputy Coroner Joseph Murray of Fond du Lac was notified and after conducting an investigation at the Wehlitz home, decided an inquest was unnecessary.

About fifty guests surprised Mr. Chas Garbisch of the Town of Scott last Sunday evening in honor of his birthday anniversary. The event was enjoyable celebrated with dancing and playing cards. At midnight refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gerner, Corinda Groeschel and Charles Gerner spent Sunday at Kiel. They had made the trip in Ed Gerner's new Reo car.

A baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Math Volm of the town last week.

A severe hail storm passed over Boltonville Wednesday afternoon at about 3 o'clock and did considerable damage to grain, corn and other small vegetables. The main sweep of the storm was about three miles in width and lasted for a stretch of about five miles.

Marion Tuttle of New Prospect lost his valuable horse last Tuesday. The veterinarian did everything to save it, but of no avail.

Drink Plenty of Fluids in Summer Heat

By Melanie Yager, Extension Summer Home Economist

How refreshing an iced drink tastes on hot summer days! During hot weather, people and their pets perspire more. Perspiring helps keep our bodies cooled. We need to drink extra fluids to keep our cooling systems on track.

Lemonade is a traditional summer drink, and is a good choice because the lemons give us lots of natural vitamin C. Natural fruit juices, such as pineapple juice or orange-grapefruit juice, are refreshing ways to get a natural blend of vitamins and minerals. Fruit-flavored drinks do not provide nutrients, unless synthetic vitamins are added. Such drinks do provide fluids and calories.

Iced tea is a popular cold drink, and tea has no calories unless sugar or honey are added. However, tea has a drawback for women of childbearing age and children. Tea contains "tannic acid," a substance that prevents the body from absorbing as much as 80% of the iron in foods. Iron is needed for healthy red blood cells. Low blood iron (called anemia) is a common problem in women and children; tea keeps the blood cells from getting the iron they need. Other beverages are better choices for many women and children.

Other treats that melt to be liquids also give our bodies the fluids they need. These foods include sherbet, ice cream, jello and frozen yogurt. Homemade frozen treats for children may be made from mixtures of fruit juice and milk or yogurt, poured into ice cube trays or molds, and served on a stick or a plastic spoon. Such treats offer much more nutrition than do the purchased treats made without fruit or dairy products.

Both pets and people need water during hot weather. Be sure your pet has a good water supply. Keeping a pitcher of water in the refrigerator will allow family members to pour themselves a refreshing, cold drink and help them "beat the heat."

Local Businessman Plays Important Role in Reptiles' Survival

Kewaskum Statesman, Thursday, July 26, 1990, Page 15

by Sharon Callaway Roznik

For all intents and purposes, hobbies basically start out as hobbies and stay that way. But every now and then they have way of snowballing... of devouring and consuming a person with an incredible desire to learn more. For Dave Jacak of Campbellsport, it started with one Burmese Python, a family pet.

This particular python was suffering from a mouth infection, and Dave's search began to find someone who could help - not an easy task. He finally contacted Gulf Coast Reptiles of Fort Myers, Florida, and owner Eric Thiss directed him to the Milwaukee Public Museum and a man named Gary Casper, who is studying to be a doctor of "Herpetology" (the study of amphibians and reptiles). It was from him Dave acquired the much needed medicine for his snake. But this was only the beginning.

Dave was frustrated by the lack of knowledge in general, and, through talking with Eric and Gary, realized the need for public education regarding the care, behavior, and treatment of these misunderstood creatures. Since then the Jacak household has grown to include an impressive array of exotic reptiles. Large glass tanks with wading pools and heat lamps are home for several iguanas, Burmese pythons, a Savannah Monitor, a Water Monitor, an Anaconda, and two South American Caimens.

Jacak has been involved with a Milwaukee Animal Rights Group, after they contacted him to take in a rescued six year old South American Common Caimen, similar to an alligator. The previous owner had abandoned him on the streets and left him for dead after wrapping the reptile in dry ice to kill it. Instead it put the Caimen into hibernation. With Dave's help the reptile is now thriving, although his growth is stunted from previous abuse and insufficient diet.

An advocate for the rights of these reptiles and amphibians, Dave abhors the use of their hides in the fashion industry as "alligator handbags" or "snakeskin boots," or the removal of them from their natural environment. They are usually purchased by well-meaning, but ignorant individuals whose lack of knowledge on how to care for the animal invariably leads to neglect and death.

"That's why I'm interested in the captive breeding of these creatures, and the study of Herpetology," says Jacak. "I'm involved in research and public education along with my partner Kevin Miller, of Fond du Lac. We house several larger pythons at another location for use in breeding. Once you introduce the market to captive breeding, they'll leave the wild ones alone."

Dave chose working closely with the Burmese python because he had always wanted to handle the giant reptiles. Breeding females should ideally weigh over 110 lbs., which makes it easier for them to successfully carry and hatch the eggs. Males are kept smaller. This year his breeding attempts were unsuccessful due to the smaller size of the female, now over ten feet long. He will try again, and pampers her with her favorite food, a 3 to 4 lb. rabbit monthly. "You put a rat in there, she won't touch it," smiles Dave, and the rest of his menagerie is amply indulged.

They all receive highly balanced diets supplemented with vitamins to make up for what they lack not being in their native environment, such as natural sunlight. He spends three to four hours nightly, and a ten hour day on Thursdays meticulously cleaning each cage, keeping them as bug and germ free as possible. Temperatures are regulated at all times, for heat plays a critical role in aiding their digestion process.

A darkened tank in the corner housed an immense, coiled male python in its molting stage. They shed as they grow, and because snakes have a scale over their eyes, they lose their sight during this cycle, becoming sensitive and aggressive.

Perhaps reptiles and the study of Herpetology should be taken more seriously. As Dave points out, one of the most advanced global projects going on right now is the reintroduction of the iguana into the rainforests of Panama as a source of meat. Dr. Dagmar Werner, a West German biologist, believes her release of 4000 captive bred iguanas could save the destruction of the rainforests being done by the beef industry. The iguana is considered a gourmet dish in Latin America, with a taste similar to that of poultry, and a decent sized iguana contains as much meat as a large chicken. Local education of the rural communities is taking place. Reptiles are contributing to the salvation of our environment.

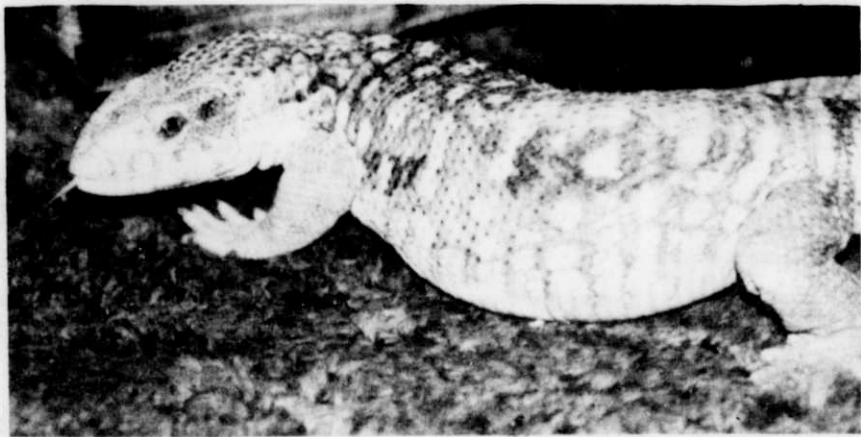

"In the future I plan on continuing my work in captive breeding, and public education, and I have hopes of getting into more advanced research such as clinical investigations of venoms," says Dave as the Savannah Monitor moves like a small dinosaur up the side of the couch. His wife Patty, owner of Patty's Place restaurant in Campbellsport, also enjoys their newfound roommates. Days often start at 4 a.m. and end late. Dave also works full-time as owner of Main Street Tattoo in Kewaskum, where his fine artwork includes, you guessed it, snakes.

The Savannah Monitor enjoys a stretch on the living room floor for the photographer.

Dairyland's Magnum III Alfalfa Guarantee Continues

This past year Dairyland Seed became the first seed company in the history of the industry to guarantee a product when it guaranteed Magnum III alfalfa. Magnum III was guaranteed to outperform other products that claimed to have better disease resistance and better winter hardiness. Despite those claims by the competition, none of them are guaranteeing the performance of their product in side-by-side comparisons next to Magnum III! The reason is simple, Magnum III is better!

Dairyland Seed is proud to announce for 1991 that the Magnum III Guarantee continues. Some competitors are saying the Magnum III Guarantee is a gimmick. Others say it is too complicated and nobody can collect. The forms have been designed with the assistance of top hay growers. Thanks to their help, over 300 farmers are already participating in this Guarantee program.

The reason so many people are participating in the Magnum III Guarantee is because after they have seen the forms, they understand the Magnum II Guarantee is not a gimmick. They also understand it is easy to participate in the Magnum II Guarantee. Many farmers already have experienced the superiority of Magnum III. However, some remain skeptical. Others may not want to bother with the paperwork. Help them by encouraging them to plant their Magnum III side-by-side in the same field under the same conditions with the present alfalfa they are growing.

To participate in the Magnum III Guarantee, contact Dairyland Seed for more information.

Keep Thirsty Crops Strong with Plant Food

Thirsty fields may need plant food as much as they need a cool drink. Adequate soil fertility will help crops withstand the drought conditions that pervade much of the Upper Midwest and Northern Great Plains, says Tom Perlick, manager, Centrol Services.

Producers in these areas should definitely test their soils and apply fertilizer accordingly. "Higher soil fertility levels enable roots to grow and penetrate deeper in search of moisture," Perlick says. "Also, both row crops and small grains will develop thicker foliage canopies to prevent loss of soil moisture through evaporation."

Crops mature faster and become well-established before the driest months of July and August, he explains. In addition, potassium stimulates closing of the plant stomata, reducing transpiration and water requirements.

Phosphorus and potassium move to plant roots by diffusing through the film of water covering soil particles, Perlick says. Under dry conditions, that film becomes very thin, inhibiting the movement of P and K.

"However, if you have a high concentration of P and K less water is needed to get the proper amount of nutrients into the plant. That allows the crop to tap into nutrients as it would under normal conditions. If you have a low concentration of water and a low concentration of P and K, the plants aren't able to uptake nutrients as readily."

In addition, under extremely dry conditions, heavy clay soil collapses around itself, tying up potassium so the plant can't get at it, according to Perlick.

Drought has an effect on nitrogen levels as well. "Lack of moisture slows decomposition of organic matter, so not as much nitrogen is mineralized," he says. "The release of boron and other micronutrients may be impeded as well."

Soil testing is the key to proper fertility. "Fertilizing according to soil test is one of the best defense mechanisms farmers have to protect themselves against drought," adds Perlick.

Home Improvement Loan Program

According to Richard W. Baker, County Veterans' Service Officer, to finance home improvements, qualified Wisconsin Veterans can now borrow $3,000 to $15,000 at an annual interest rate of 8.25 percent for 15 years. The interest rate is fixed for the life of the loan, and there's no prepayment penalty.

Administered by the Wisconsin Department of Veterans Affairs, (WDVA), the Home Improvement Loan Program (HILP) helps eligible veterans with low or moderate incomes finance construction, repairs and remodeling that increases their home's livability or energy efficiency.

To qualify for HILP financing, a veteran must meet the following requirements:

The house must be the veteran's principal residence.

The veteran must have at least 10 percent equity in the fair market value of the property (WDVA may use the equalized assessed value in this calculation)

The combined annual income of the veteran and spouse (or co-applicant) cannot exceed $36,500. This limit will be raised to $39,000 after July 1, 1990. Combined income limits are higher for permanently disabled veterans who receive service-connected, 100 percent disability compensation from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs.

The veteran must meet WDVA eligibility standards for military service and state residency.

WDVA may take either a first or second mortgage lien on the property to secure the loan.

Although HILP may be used for a wide-variety of improvements, a few are not allowed. Non-qualifying improvements include: deck or patio construction, home appliance purchases, fencing, landscaping or adding recreational facilities such as swimming pools, saunas and tennis courts. Currently, there are also eligibility restrictions on land size and commercial or agricultural use of the property.

For additional information on HILP or other veterans benefits, contact Richard W. Baker, County Veterans' Service Officer, 432 E. Washington St., West Bend, WI 53096-7986 or call 338-4457.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Volunteering lets you share your knowledge and talents while it also provides opportunities for making new friends. You can volunteer by calling the Washington County Volunteer Center, 338-8256. We'll find the best place for you!

A new family oriented agency in West Bend is in need of a number of volunteers to help with planned events that will help families get to know each other and become friends. Times are: Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 - 11:30 a.m. Also needed are people to care for children while parents are involved in adult activities. This would be from 6 to 9:30 p.m. and also 9 to 11:30 a.m. Training is provided where needed.

Do you know how to make inexpensive toys? Are you willing to show others how they could make some? Call and we'll tell you where you are needed!

Plans are being made now for volunteers to work in the schools this fall telling the story of artists and their work. This will help children have an appreciation of art. The volunteer will prepare and present art information to children in the West Bend Schools one morning a month. This can be arranged for your schedule.

There is need for volunteers to walk through parks in the West Bend area on a regular basis making sure the park is inviting and clean. If you like to walk, this may be for you! You will be assigned to the same park each time. This is a chance to be outdoors and also be doing a community service.

Big Brothers and Big Sisters has young persons waiting for a friend who can spend time with them. Some group outings are planned, too. A commitment for at least a year is requested. This is a great opportunity for someone who has a special love for children.

There is always a wide variety of volunteer opportunities in area nursing homes. Some of the needs right now are for people to: play kickball, read newspapers, serve ice cream, show films (or slides of your own vacation), help residents write letters, transport residents, and help with activities. Most of these jobs can be arranged to meet your schedule.

Drivers needed to transport people who need treatments in West Bend and Milwaukee. If you can help occasionally it will make a big difference to those who drive on a regular basis.

A person with video camera experience is needed to film the every day activities of the hospital auxiliary. Equipment is provided. Donation of your time to this project will make possible a permanent record for this helpful community group!

Amateur Racing at Slinger Features Local Boys

Brian Oelhafen, driver of Amateur #12

Brian Voigt drives Amateur #8

Voigt, #87, edges out Oelhafen #12 to take the checkered flag in a heat race at Slinger.

It seems just like yesterday, it was off to school for the young 1987 KHS graduates, Brian Voigt and Brian Oelhafen. Today it's off to the races as they compete in the Amateur Division at the Slinger Super Speedway in Slinger every Sunday evening.

As in every sport there are the "ones-to-watch," giving the spectators an interesting event. Brian Oelhafen, son of Jim and Carol Oelhafen is that type of competitor when he is behind the wheel of the black and yellow #12. Being aggressive and taking the high line around the quarter mile banked asphalt track is where to look for Brian.

This 1988 Slinger Amateur Rookie drives a 1977 Chevy Monte Carlo with a homemade chassis, set up by Larry Richards of Montello. The car is powered by a 400 Chevy engine built by Dave Becker of Dave's repair of Allenton.

Finishing in the top ten in a field of 35 cars is a great accomplishment for this young man. Brian started his career in 1987 when he bought a Mercury Montego from Voigt Salvage of Kewaskum, and used cow stantions from his dad's barn for the roll cage. He has come a long way in a short time.

Brian has a host of wonderful memories, winning over 12 races in 2 years and competing with his dad and Brian Voigt. His most memorable event happened when the throttle stuck during a race and he hit the wall going 60 miles an hour. It tore the car in half, but with teamwork from the pit crew, family and friends it was race-ready for the next weekly show at Slinger. That night he won his first race!

In order to perform on the track as well as Brian does, the maintenance of the car and the dedication of the pit crew are very important. Brian has that commitment from his crew chief, Paul Sworske of West Bend. "I couldn't do it without him" was Brian's remark concerning Paul. Other members of the crew are; Jim Oelhafen, Brian's Dad, who started racing in the Amateurs this year at the age of 43; Shelly Petsch, Brian's fiance; and his long time friend and competitor Brian Voigt.

With the initial monies for the complete car, there is the continuing cost of maintenance to be competitive. Helping to defray some of the monies are these sponsors on #12; Dave's Repair Service of Allenton & Cooley's Inc. of West Bend, Strobel Oil, D&M Supply, Goeden's Auto Body and Voigt Trucking and Recycling of Kewaskum; Nordic Beef Farms, CC's Bar, and Carol Oelhafen Advertising all of Wayne; and Vigortone Ag Products are lettered on the car as sponsors. Brian says he is "still looking for sponsors."

When Brian's not working at Mold Makers Inc. in Menomonee Falls, he "eats and sleeps" racing. He loves what he is doing and enjoys the teamwork that goes into the sport of racing stock cars. His goal is to win the 1990 Amateur Championship. Whatever happens, Brian Oelhafen will be one of the competitors to watch as he takes on all challengers on the high banked Slinger Super Speedway.

Brian Voigt is one of those competitors. His talents behind the wheel show he's ready to take that challenge. Brian is an easy-going driver as he starts at the rear of the pack... "picking off his rivals one by one" to cross the finish line for a top point position.

This 21 year old salesman for JR Racing Parts House of Slinger, drives a 1971 Chevy Monte Carlo which was rebuilt for racing in 1988 by Brian and his crew. The amateur legal car is powered by a 400 Chevy engine built by Dave Becker of Dave's Repair, Allenton.

Sponsors are important in this ever cost-increasing sport. On the red, black and silver #87 these businesses support Brian in his efforts to achieve success and appear on the car; JR Racing of Slinger, Dave's Repair of Allenton, Voigt Trucking, and Recycling, Team Video, Amerahn Ballroom, Kohn's Mobil Mart, D&M Supply, all of Kewaskum; Neumann's Dairy Farm of West Bend and Nordic Beef Farms of Wayne. This young man says he receives "a lot of support" from his mom and dad, Al and Mona Voigt and wishes to express his appreciation for all their help.

Maintenance is one of the keys to a successful season. It will show on the track as to how well the driver and car will perform. Anyone who has competed in racing stock cars knows that you must have a dedicated crew. Brian relies on Steve Stray and Jeff Voigt of Campbellsport, Bubba Schneider, John Snuggs and Scott Dummit of West Bend and Brian Oelhafen of Wayne for that help at the track and in the shop. The Chevy Monte Carlo has been in the Victory Circle for two feature events in a very competitive division.

In his spare time Brian enjoys working on race cars and pitting for Bubba Schneider who races at Plymouth on a quarter mile clay track. During the winter, Brian races on ice at the various lakes in the area. Last season he finished 4th in points in a field of 30 cars at Lake Winnissippi. Races are scheduled every Sunday afternoon, weather permitting. Fishing and snowmobiling are also on the list of hobbies for this soft spoken young gentleman.

Good friends, teammates and yet competitors are words to describe these two former Kewaskum classmates. Together they have many years ahead of them to reach their goals. With time and patience, Brian Oelhafen and Brian Voigt will face the challenges of racing, taste the bittersweet victories and later achieve that success they both are looking

State Tourney Hopes Squelched as Slinger Upsets Indians in Regional

KEWASKUM — What if? That will be the question that will linger on the minds of the Kewaskum baseball team and their fans for a long time.

That's because Slinger, who came into their regional final game against the Indians with a 6-18 record, scored three runs in the top of the seventh inning and held on to upset the Indians 6-3, to finish the Indians' season.

Kewaskum, who came into the game with a 17-9 mark, had been looking to make a return trip to the WIAA State Baseball Tournament in Stevens Point. But Slinger and their starting pitcher, Scott Bricko, had other ideas.

The big lefthander allowed just four Indians base hits, as he continually fooled the Kewaskum hitters with a good breaking ball. Bricko struck out 11, while walking just 4.

"He did a real nice job," a disappointed Indian head coach Tom Bartelt said after the game, agreeing that Bricko's curveball really kept his club off-balance the whole game. "Their whole team played a real good ballgame."

The Owls gave Bricko a run to work with before he even took the mound. Brian Jacklin led off the top of the first with a walk off Indians starting pitcher Chad Cook. A passed ball allowed Jacklin to advance to second, and after a flyout to left, he advanced to third on a groundout by Bricko.

Tony Lehman then came through with a clutch two-out base hit to score Jacklin and give Slinger the early 1-0 lead. The Owls made it 2-0 in the third, as Jeff Leitheiser drilled a triple to the right-centerfield gap, and then scored on a single by Bricko.

The Indians, meanwhile, were being held in check by Bricko on the mound. Although Bricko didn't have pinpoint control on his curve, he fooled the Indian hitters into swinging at some bad pitches. The seemingly uninspired Indians needed a pep-talk, and that's exactly what they got as they came in for their half of the third inning.

"We were really flat in the early going. We just weren't up for the game," Bartelt said, adding that when he assembled his troops on the sideline "I told them they had better wake up and get going if they wanted to win the ballgame."

The Indians did wake up, as they took their first lead in the bottom of the third. Cook led off the inning with a walk, and courtesy runner Kim Marx took over, stealing second. Dan Heisdorf followed with a walk, and when a ball got away from the catcher on a pitch to the next batter, Chris Weddig, Marx stole third.

On the next pitch, Heisdorf took off for second, and Weddig hit a chopper to the hole between first and second. The second baseman, who was going to second to take a possible throw to cut down Heisdorf, got to the ball, but couldn't field it cleanly, allowing Marx to score, and leaving runners on first and second.

Chris Donath, who has been on a tear after returning to the team since being declared eligible, then smashed a double to the gap in right-center, scoring both Heisdorf and Randy Schlice, who came in as a courtesy runner for Weddig. The Indians couldn't bring Donath home, but still came out of the inning leading 3-2.

After the Owls tied things up at 3-3 with a single run in the fifth, the game remained tied until the seventh. After Cook walked Slinger's Buddy Mechinech with one out, and then ran the count to 2-0 on the next batter, Bartelt decided to replace the sophomore with Ken Krause, the Indians top reliever.

It looked as if the Indians might get out of the inning, as Krause got a fielder's choice for the second out, but he followed that with a walk to Jacklin, to put runners at first and second with two outs.

That brought up Leitheiser, who promptly smashed his second triple of the game, scoring a pair of runners to give Slinger a 5-3 edge. A controversial ball call against Krause allowed Leitheiser to score, making it 6-3.

Down to their last hope in the bottom of the seventh, Weddig and Donath each collected a two-out single, and a passed ball moved the two up to second and third with two out, but Bricko stayed tough, getting Bruce Waechter to strike out to end the rally and the Indians' season.

Donath collected three of the Indians four hits, as the junior went 3x4 with a pair of RBI's. Cook, "did a good job," on the mound for the Indians, according to Bartelt. The southpaw struck out five, walked four, and only allowed five base hits in his six-inning stint.

Asked whether he had considered bringing in the Indians' other ace starter, Shawn Schneider, in the seventh, Bartelt responded "No. Earlier in the game, yes, but not that late. Krause's my reliever, he has been all year."

"Anybody can beat anybody on a given night," the Indians mentor said, noting his team found that out the hard way. "I thought we had a good enough team to go a lot farther (in the tournament)."

Kewaskum, which finished the 1989 campaign with a 3-21 mark and then suddenly got hot and advanced to last year's state tourney with a 6-21 record, finished the season with a 17-10 record.

Slinger, meanwhile, advanced to the West Bend Sectional last Friday, where it beat Cedarburg 6-4, before being eliminated by West Bend West in the Sectional final 11-0. The win by West (20-8) advanced them into this year's state tournament at Bukolt Park in Stevens Point. Slinger finished with a 8-19 record.

Heisdorf, Schneider Named To EW Conference First Team

Kewaskum and Plymouth, co-champions of the Eastern Wisconsin Conference baseball loop along with Kiel, each landed a pair of players on the first-team all-conference squad at the annual coaches meeting held here.

Senior outfielder Dan Heisdorf and sophomore pitcher Shawn Schneider were named to the elite first team, while the Indians had another senior outfielder, Bruce Waechter, and another sophomore pitcher, Chad Cook, named to the second team.

Heisdorf batted leadoff for the Indians the entire season, and was definitely the catalyst on offense for the team. Heisdorf finished fifth in the league in batting, collecting 24 base hits in 66 at bats for a .364 average.

The centerfielder also played steady defense for the Indians all season, committing just XX errors. Heisdorf, a second-place finisher in the state wrestling meet this past winter as well, was a menace on the base paths also, stealing a team-high XX bases on the year.

Schneider, the only sophomore and one of only three underclassmen named to the first team, steadily improved throughout the season to post some pretty impressive numbers in this his first year on the varsity level. The righthander finished the PHYSICAL CARDS OR ALTERNATE YEAR cards must be turned in before you start practice. These cards are available in the high school office and they will also be available in the weight room in the evenings.

USER'S FEE: Each athlete must pay a one time users fee of $15.00 per year. This will cover all sports for this year. This must be paid in the high school office. If you have a problem with this matter contact Coach Pearson.

WEIGHT ROOM: The weight room is open every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 6:30 to 8:00 p.m. If you have not already been doing so, I urge you to get into the weight room. Whatever you can do to make yourself stronger will certainly help make you a better football player.

RUNNING: We will be doing a lot of running again this fall. Be in good shape when practice begins. We will have a timed mile and 40 yard dash the first days of practice. The more preseason running you do the better off you will be. Running up hills is excellent conditioning for the legs.
