Village Tax Rate to Drop 5.1%

Proposed Village Budget is $1,311,465

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Despite all the recent news about rising taxes, residents of the Village of Kewaskum can take heart in the fact that its Village Board is continuing to work at keeping expenditures and taxes down. The board Monday night, completed its review of departmental budgets for 1991, and while there were some necessary increases, the end result was a proposed general budget which is up only 3.26% or $41,463, from $1,270,002 for 1990 to $1,311,465 for 1991.

Despite the slight increase in the general budget itself, however, the good news to taxpayers is that the tax rate for Kewaskum's portion of their tax bill will drop. The village's general levy will fall 2.6%, from $402,400 to $391,896. Based on those figures, the adjusted tax rate will be $6.99 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, a decrease of 5.1% or .374c from the 1990 rate of $7.364 per $1,000.

Village Administrator Dan Schmidt stated he is still lacking information for two other portions of the total tax bill. They are the county's tax levy and the state tax credit information which will not be available until December.

Using some ballpark figures for that missing information, Schmidt calculated the village's total 1991 gross tax levy would remain approximately the same as last year, about $29.88, down 1c from 1990's figure of $29.89. He stressed, however, that figure is strictly an estimate on his part and the actual figures cannot be calculated until the state tax credit figures come out in December.

A public hearing on the proposed 1991 budget is scheduled for Monday, November 26th.

In other action, the board approved accepting the low bid of Ewald Chevrolet, Oconomowoc, to furnish a 1991 Chevrolet Caprice Classic replacement police squad for a cost of $14,895. Board president Paul Blumer advised the trustees that the two area Ford dealers submitted letters indicating they were unable to submit bids because Ford does not offer a police package this year due to changeovers.

Library Board representative Trustee Gary Gavin advised his fellow trustees that the Library Board was reluctant to move their FAX machine into the municipal offices for use by both the library and village without the permission of the Countywide Library Committee's okay.

The Village Board had considered purchasing a FAX for municipal use, however, it was felt such a move was an inefficient as well as an unnecessary cost when a machine was already available in the next room. "I can't see having two machines," said Gavin, "but the Library Board does not want it moved." "I would rather see the library take that $650-$1,200 and buy books rather than have two machines next to each other." Gavin told the trustees they could request permission from the Countywide Library Committee to move the FAX machine but he did not think they would get it.

Board member Larry Williams said beside the cost of purchasing an additional machine, the monthly phone service charge would also double from $45 to $90 a month as well as maintenance costs.

Gavin also advised the board that the County wide board meetings would be changed to Wednesdays at 9 a.m. instead of the present evening meetings. He indicated the change would make it almost impossible for him to attend the meetings. "I think we should write a letter and complain about Wednesday morning meetings," stated Trustee Mary Krueger. "It's fine for those retired people on the county board, but what about those people who are volunteers and have jobs." Schmidt said he would prepare a letter.

In other business the board voted to hold one meeting for December, on the 10th, rather than hold its two regular monthly meetings because of the holidays.

Gavin advised the board that, after this year, it was very likely there would no longer be a Kewaskum Jaycees. His concern was the organization's baseball program. "We have the manpower and money to continue to operate the program, our concern is insurance while we are at the park. We have 260 kids

Invite Parents to Visit Schools During National Education Week Nov. 11-17

"Educating Everyone Takes Everyone" is the theme for National Education Week, November 11-17. Again this year the Kewaskum School District is inviting parents to visit their children's school and classroom on Tuesday, November 13.

Visitors can drop in anytime during the school day.

participating in the program and we don't want to lose it." Schmidt was instructed to check with the village's insurance carrier. If it becomes an extension of the village's recreation program it is possible the program could be covered, he noted.

In final action the board adopted a resolution supporting the efforts of U.S. Armed Forces personnel serving in Operation Desert Shield. The board then adjourned into closed session.

Woodmen to Honor Kleinke

Modern Woodmen of America Camp 2233 is sponsoring a Community Service Recognition Dinner on Wednesday, Nov. 14 at 6:00 p.m. at the Labor Center Hall, Kewaskum.

Recognition will be given to Marvin C. Kleinke for his outstanding service to the community.

Following the dinner and short program, there will be card games for all ages.

Modern Woodmen members and their families or a friend are invited to attend. The cost to attend will be $2.50 adults, $1.50 children ages 3 through 10, and FREE for children under 3.

Reservations must be in by Saturday, Nov. 10. Call 533-8500.

KEYS, Inc. to Award $16,000 in Scholarships

The Board of Directors of Kewaskum Youth Scholarships, Inc. has announced that six scholarships totalling $16,000 will be awarded to this year's graduating Kewaskum High School seniors. Three $1,000 scholarships will be awarded, which may be used for college or vocational school. The Ann-Marie Horner Memorial Scholarship, also a $1,000 scholarship, will be awarded to a college bound senior. Two additional scholarships worth $6,000 ($1,500 a year for four years) will also be awarded. The money for one of these $6,000 scholarships is provided by the Oscar C. and Augusta Schlegel Foundation.

Kewaskum Youth Scholarships, Inc. was founded in the fall of 1985. In October, 1990, KEYS celebrated its five year anniversary. The purpose of the organization is to provide additional scholarships for Kewaskum High School graduates. Only the interest

Kewaskum School District Policy For Emergency School Closings

District Administrator Dr. David Heather has released for publication the current policy to be utilized when school is to be called off.

As in the past years, radio stations, WBKV (West Bend), KFIZ (Fond du Lac), WHBL (Sheboygan), and WTMJ (Milwaukee) will be used to announce school closings because of bad weather or other emergency situations.

When school is being called off in the morning, the announcement will be on the air as early as possible. When school has begun but weather is bad, or turns bad, it is advised that parents, guardians and other responsible parties listen to one of the radio stations during the day for possible school closing announcements. The district is very hesitant about closing school during the day because we are concerned that parents or others may not be home when children arrive. Sometimes, however, this becomes necessary to avoid excessive problems with getting students home on busses at a later time of the day. Every effort will be made to announce school closings during the day - at least an hour before we dismiss the students.

It is important to remember that if school has been cancelled it means that all activities for that day will be cancelled and rescheduled as necessary.

Confirmation at Holy Trinity

The Sacrament of Confirmation was administered at Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Kewaskum, by the Most Reverend Leo J. Brust on Monday, Nov. 5 at 7:00 p.m. to the following class.

Christopher Bales, Lisa Beal, Deborah Bingen, Steve Bodden, Mary Jo Breit, Lora Delcore, Brian Dobke, Joan Fellenz, James Gildersleeve, Terri Grahl, Rebecca Hammes, Scott Hass, Kristine Heisdorf, Brian Heller, Scott Heller, Gregory

Holl, Jean Holtz, Lynn Johann, Glenn Kirst, Brenda Klahn, Stacy Kode.

is hoped that the community takes great pride in their efforts to provide these scholarships.

Even with the success of KEYS, much more progress is needed to provide even more additional and larger scholarships. Donations now will assist in providing additional scholarships into the 1990's and beyond. If you would like to contribute to KEYS and be recognized for your support of KEYS, please send your tax deductible contribution to KEYS, Inc., P.O. Box 124, Kewaskum, WI, 53040.

January Deadline for 1991 Concerto Contest

WEST BEND — A Jan. 18 application deadline has been announced for music students hoping to enter the 1991 Concerto Contest for Washington County youth.

Auditions for the contest will be held on Feb. 2 at the University of Wisconsin Center — Washington County. The annual contest for pianists and instrumentalists is co-sponsored by the Moraine Area Private Music Teachers and the UWWC Music Department.

Winners will appear in concert on March 23 with the Moraine Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Albert J. Asch, associate professor of instrumental music at UWWC. In addition to the performances, a $100 award will be presented to the senior division winners, grades 9 through 12, and a gift to the junior division winners, grades 6 through 8.

Anna J. Asch, head of the sponsoring teachers group, said that students need to begin work on their pieces well in advance of the audition since memorization is required.

All contestants, she said, must live in Washington County, furnish their own accompanist for the auditions and provide a copy of their music for the judge.

Applications must be received by Jan. 18 along with a $4.50 entry fee for the senior division and a $3.50 fee for the junior division. Checks should be made payable to the Moraine Area Private Music Teachers and sent to Asch at 7483 Brookhaven, West Bend, WI 53095.

Asch said that all contestants must perform a movement of a concerto or a solo with orchestral accompaniments. Memorization is required. It is permissible to make cuts of repetitive motifs in the selection for the audition.

Snow will more easily slide off a shovel coated with floor wax.

The 50th anniversary of Elmer and Lorraine Bruesewitz of Beechwood, was celebrated with an open house at Beechwood Hall Oct. 14. It was hosted by their children and grandchildren Jerry (Linda) Rice Lake; Darlene (George) Eischen, Belgium; Audrey Bruesewitz, West Bend; Margie Murphy, Random Lake; five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The couple was married Oct. 12, 1940 at St. Stephens, Batavia, of which they are still members. They were married by Rev. Clarence Kueger.

The only attendant to attend was Val Rae Wettstein, Escondido, Calif.

The couple farmed in Town of Scott for forty-two years, before retiring to Beechwood in 1982.

The couple is in good health. Elmer does the yard work, hunting, fishing, card playing and walking. Lorraine works part time at a green house. Cards and bowling are her hobbies.

Stick cinnamon, used as a spice, is the rolled inner bark of a small East Indian tree.

Celebrates 100th Birthday

Rose Laufer celebrated her 100th birthday October 30, 1990, at the Beechwood Rest Home with her nieces, nephews, great nieces and friends.

Rose was born October 30th, 1890. She was a housekeeper for Father Knorchild in Saukville and Ashford, and Father Hausmann at Lake Church and Holy Angels in West Bend.

Rose came to the Beechwood Rest Home in July 1981, and keeps busy with crafts and plays the maracas in the resident's band.

SPAGHETTI PIE

Diane Stangl

6 oz. spaghetti
2 T. butter
½ c. Parmesan cheese
2 beaten eggs
1 c. cottage cheese
1 lb. ground beef
¼ c. chopped onions
¼ c. chopped peppers
1 (8 oz.) can tomatoes, cut
1 (6 oz.) can tomato paste
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. oregano
½ tsp. garlic salt
½ c. shredded mozzarella

Cook spaghetti and drain (3 cups). Stir butter into hot spaghetti. Stir in Parmesan and eggs. Form spaghetti into "crust" in a buttered 10 inch pie plate. Spread cottage cheese over spaghetti. In skillet, brown ground beef, onions and peppers until cooked. Drain. Stir in undrained tomatoes, paste, sugar, oregano and garlic. Heat through. Pour meat mixture into spaghetti crust. Bake, uncovered, in 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Sprinkle top with mozzarella cheese and bake for 5 more minutes.

Thompson, Beaver Dam; Joseph J. Zadra, West Bend.

IRS Toll-Free Phone Numbers are Changing

In order to improve its service to taxpayers, the Internal Revenue Service is upgrading its telephone systems — and that means a change in the IRS toll-free telephone numbers that Wisconsin taxpayers call.

Effective October 1, the new IRS toll-free telephone numbers will be:

Taxpayer Information: 1-800-TAX-1040 (1-800-829-1040)

Tax Forms and Publications: 1-800-TAX-FORM (1-800-829-3676)

Tele-Tax (Recorded Tax Information & Refund Information): 1-800-TAX-4477 (1-800-829-4477).

TTD (Assistance for the Deaf): 1-800-TAX-4059 (1-800-829-4059)

There will be no change for the local telephone numbers called by Milwaukee-area taxpayers. In Milwaukee, the Taxpayer Information number is 271-3780. The Tele-Tax number is: 273-8100. Throughout the rest of Wisconsin, taxpayers will call the new toll-free numbers.

The changeover in Wisconsin is part of a major undertaking by the U.S. government nationwide. The General Services Administration approved a multi-billion dollar contract to replace the federal government's 27-year-old tele communications system. The present FTS (Federal Telecommunications System) system was initially put in place in response to an order from President John Kennedy, who was not able to place a call on overloaded civilian circuits during the Cuban missile crisis.

Under the old system, the IRS toll-free numbers had a prefix of 424. Under the new system, the prefix will be TAX, or 829. For example, the old taxpayer information number was 1-800-424-1040. The new taxpayer information number is 1-800-TAX (829)-1040.

According to John T. Ader, Director of the Milwaukee District of the IRS, the new telephone system should "greatly enhance the quality of our communications with our customers throughout Wisconsin."

Visit Your Library for Children's Book Week

Your public library extends a special invitation to all children and parents to visit us during National Children's Book Week, November 12 through 18.

When telling about WONDER THROUGH THE PAGES, this year's theme, we join with Rob Reid, the children's librarian of the Eau Claire public library when he wrote:

"We got books on, Spiders saving pigs; Boys eating worms; Bunnies with fangs; Scary books to make you squirm!

We got Boxcar kids; A curious monkey swinging by; We got Ramona the Pest; Hey! Sweet Valley High!

We know where the sidewalk ends; And where the wild things are; We have Amelia Bedelia; And Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star!

We have knock-knock jokes; Even old Doc Suess; You can draw a dinosaur; Or read Mother Goose!

We have books to make you laugh; We have some to make you cry; Nightmares in our closet; Ladies swallowing flies!"

We got books and video tapes, too!

Receives Degree

Among those receiving degrees at the end of the 1990 summer session at Cardinal Stritch College in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, was a local area resident:

Laurie Winkels, 9410 Bolton Drive, Kewaskum, received a Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree.

Pace Program Offered Free at Moraine Park

Men and women 18 years and over, with a preschool child and no high school diploma are eligible to enroll in the free Parent and Child Education (PACE) program at Moraine Park Technical College in West Bend.

Parents attend classes to earn high school equivalency diplomas while their 3-, 4- or 5-year-old children participate in an early childhood program. A parent support time and parent-child activity are also included.

Classes meet Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Moraine Park's Annex Q, located at 1702 E. Washington St., West Bend. Enrollments are accepted continuously during the school year.

Numerous research studies conclude that educational achievement of children is more closely linked to the family's educational attainment and economic status than to any other factor. In addition, most of the new jobs require not only high school but also some postsecondary training.

For additional information or to enroll in Moraine Park's PACE program, contact Claire Ciha, PACE coordinator, Moraine Park Technical College, 2151 N. Main St., West Bend, 53095; or call 334-3413.

Letters to The Editor

To the editor:

What a wonderful afternoon we spent listening to "THE SOUND OF MUSIC." Very nicely done.

We want to thank the entire cast, the band, instructors and those who had a part in its production. What a tremendous amount of time and effort it took.

It certainly makes paying taxes a little easier after seeing how some of our money is spent.

Thank you from all the Senior Citizens for our "SPECIAL SHOW" on Thursday afternoon.

Hearing Survey Set For KEWASKUM

We're interested in how well people in this area over age 50 hear, and just for volunteering to help us with our survey:

1. We'll evaluate your hearing FREE. One of our trained hearing instrument specialists will perform a comprehensive hearing evaluation absolutely FREE.

2. You'll get a copy of your audiogram for your medical files. You'll see precisely how your hearing compares to the average.

Beltone is conducting this survey because the information generated will allow us to continue to provide the best hearing health care to people in this community.

We're expecting a very enthusiastic response to our survey, so please call our office today to schedule an appointment.

Moraine Symphony Orchestra to Begin Season

The Moraine Symphony Orchestra will begin the 1990-91 season on Saturday, November 10, with a program featuring Nancy Van Brunt, soprano soloist, who will sing arias by Mozart, and Gilbert and Sullivan. Also on the program, which opens the 22nd season of the Symphony, are works by Giuseppe Verdi, Antonin Dvorak, and Felix Mendelssohn.

Albert (Bud) Asch, who has conducted the Symphony since its inception, is very excited about the up-coming season and indicates that the orchestra has reached a new height of preparation and competence. Asch announced some changes in the line-up of the orchestra which include the appointment of Ed and Judy Muelling as orchestra managers and the hiring of Karla Siegler as concert master. Ms. Siegler brings considerable experience to the position, having earned a degree in Music Education from Northern Illinois University in De Kalb as a violin major and having been the assistant principal second violin with the Rockford Symphony Orchestra for seven years. She was the principal second violin for the Rockford Mendelssohn Club Chamber Players.

The featured soloist, Nancy Van Brunt, has both undergraduate and graduate degrees in Music from the University of Wisconsin - Madison. She has been a faculty member at UWC-Fond du Lac and is currently on the staff of UWC-Washington County where she conducts the Moraine Chorus.

The concert will be held in the University theatre at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $4.00 adults, $2.00 for seniors and children.

For more information contact John Regenfuss at 675-2672. Tickets will be available at the door.

Call the Kewaskum Statesman for all your advertising needs 626-2626.

SOCIAL SECURITY

SURVIVORS SHOULD APPLY AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Surviving dependents of a deceased worker should apply for Social Security benefits as soon as possible following the worker's death. Prompt application will allow benefits to start at the earliest time. And, some benefits cannot be paid for more than a month before the month of application.

Social Security benefits can be paid to these survivors:

- * Unmarried children under 18, or 18-19 if a full-time elementary or secondary school student.

- * Unmarried children 18 or over who were disabled before 22 and remain disabled.

- * A widow or widower of any age (including a surviving divorced spouse) caring for a child of the worker under 18 or disabled who gets benefits.

- * Widow or widower 60 or older.

- * Disabled widow or widower 50-60.

- * Dependent parent 62 or older.

Benefits can also be paid to a surviving divorced spouse at 60 (50 if disabled), if the marriage to the worker lasted at least 10 years. Benefits can be paid to grandchildren or great-grandchildren under certain circumstances.

There is also a one-time lump sum death payment of $255 that can be made to a surviving spouse or, if none, to a child getting benefits.

In order for any benefits to be paid, the worker must have had credit for a certain amount of work covered by Social Security. In 1990, the amount ranges from 1½ to 9¾ years depending on the worker's age of death. To find out how much work credit you need, how much you have earned to date, and to get an estimate of what survivors benefits would be payable, call Social Security's toll-free telephone number 1-800-2345-SSA (1-800-234-5772) 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. weekdays and ask for FORM SSA-7004.

The escalator was patented in 1892.

Are you Ready for a TMR?

By Jack Trzebiatowski, Extension Agriculture Agent

Information regarding Total Mixed Rations (TMR) seems to be everywhere. And although TMRs can pay for themselves in reduced feed costs and improved production, dairy farmers should be sure that their level of management is above average prior to installing a mixer.

All herds, low or high producing, can have the benefits of TMR feeding. However, if average production for Holsteins is below 17,000 pounds of milk per year, adding a TMR mixer probably shouldn't be first on the list of improvements.

Working with a qualified nutritionist is one of the quickest ways to improve production while reducing feed costs. Forage samples should be analyzed approximately every month or whenever feeds change. The rations for your cows should then be rebalanced using the updated forage analyses. Feeding the best feed to the best cows is common sense; however, many producers don't practice this research proven method.

Keeping cows clean and dry is another method to improve your cows' performance. Preventing cows from having access to wet areas, providing clean bedding, and clipping udders are proven methods to reduce the incidence and duration of mastitis in your herd.

Many barnyard improvements are eligible for cost sharing money, particularly if your farm is located in watershed.

Better utilization of DHI records is another way to improve farm profitability. The DHI Herd Summary Report is a well kept secret to many people. The report has been issued to each farmer on DHI since August, 1988. Valuable information can be gleaned from the report such as peak pounds of milk for first and later lactation animals, a 12 month long udder health graph for those dairy farmers enrolled in the DHI monthly SCC option, and information on your herd's expected genetic improvement.

Excellent results can be and are achieved when a TMR is fed. Research indicates that a TMR mixer can pay for itself in as little as 15 months.

Mrs. Veronica M. Timblin, 88, of Rolling Meadows Nursing Home in Fond du Lac, died Friday, Nov. 2, 1990, at the home.

She was born Feb. 13, 1902, in Eden, a daughter of Henry and Emma Yager Braun. On Aug. 28, 1928, she married George W. Timblin at St. Mary's Church in Eden. He died April 29, 1939.

Mrs. Timblin taught in Fond du Lac County Schools and farmed with her husband in Osceola. She was a member of Our Lady of Angels Catholic Church in Armstrong and its Altar Society.

Survivors include two sons, Henry and his wife Carole of Kewaskum; and William and his wife Marianne of Eden; one daughter Mary Crofts and her husband Robert of Eden; 16 grandchildren; and 27 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sunday evening at 7:30 at Our Lady of Angels Church in Armstrong. The Revs. Wayne Barta and Robert Braun officiated. Burial took place Monday at St. Mary's Cemetery in Eden.

Friends called Sunday from 4 p.m. to the time of services at the church.

Twohig Funeral Home in Campbellsport handled arrangements.

EDNA E. GOSCHEY

Edna E. Goschey, nee Birkholz, of West Bend, died Tuesday, Oct. 30, 1990, at the Samaritan Home, West Bend, at the age of 92.

She was born May 2, 1898, in Ozaukee County. After her marriage to Joseph Goschey in Fredonia on Jan. 3, 1918, they farmed in the Town of Auburn and then lived in Random Lake for about a year. For several years they then farmed in the Town of Cedarburg. They moved to Saukville where they lived for several years before moving to West Bend. After a few years they purchased the Goschey homestead which they operated for eight years before moving to a farm in Fillmore. In 1955 they settled in West Bend where she lived up to the time of her death.

Her husband passed away Nov. 14, 1980.

Survivors include five children, Marcella (Vernon) Heider, Edwin, Beulah (Ralph) Nothem and Herbert (Nancy), all of West Bend, and Esther (Frank) Gray of Camp Douglas 12 grandchildren; 24 great-grandchildren; a sister, Esther Voight of Fillmore; a sister-in-law, Mildred Birkholz of Random Lake and other relatives and friends.

Preceding her in death were her parents and a brother, Henry.

Funeral services were Saturday, Nov. 3 at 1 p.m. at Trinity Lutheran Church, West Bend. Rev. Kenneth Merckx officiated and burial followed in Washington County Memorial Park.

Visitation at the Schmidt Funeral Home, West Bend, was Friday after 4 p.m. and at the church on Saturday from 11 a.m. until the time of services.

Memorials to the Goschey family preferred.

A record vote was cast in the village of Kewaskum as well as Washington County in Tuesday's general election. In the county, based on the votes for president, a total of 13,225 ballots were cast, the largest number in history. In the village 475 votes were cast, also establishing a new high. The previous high was 405 votes cast in the 1936 election.

St. Michaels Church at St. Michaels was the scene of a charming autumn wedding ceremony, Tuesday, Oct. 29, when Miss Loraine Staehler, daughter of Math. Staehler, R. 1, Kewaskum, became the bride of Alfred Fellenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fellenz also of R. 1, Kewaskum. The bride's sister, Mrs. Fred Lang, attended her as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Joseph Hahn, sister of the bride and Miss Rita Fellenz, sister of the groom. Michael Fellenz acted as best man for his brother and the ushers were Joseph and Sylvester Staehler, brothers of the bride. The bride's niece Adeline Herriges was flower girl. Joseph Stahler, Jr., nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

A 9½ lb. girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lynn of Milwaukee, Monday, Oct. 28. Mrs. Lynn is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Backhaus of this village.

In addition to the boiler house, laundry and convent wing now under construction at St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend, the erection of another wing to the institution will begin next spring and will triple the facilities of the hospital.

State Veterans Day Officials Say Nov. 11th Events Have Added Significance

Army veteran and chairman of the state's Board of Veterans Affairs who was recently appointed State Veterans Day Co-chairman by Governor Tommy Thompson. "This year's Veterans Day will be even more significant because Iraq's invasion of Kuwait threatens to create another generation of American wartime veterans."

As Co-chairmen of Veterans Day in the state, Ms. Vasarella and Arthur H. Schultz of Eau Claire, a World War II veteran and past state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, are promoting Veterans Day activities, which educate the public about the sacrifices and contributions of veterans.

"There are some misconceptions about Veterans Day. It doesn't glorify warfare," Ms. Vasarella said. "Veterans Day is a time to pay respect to the millions of Americans who answered the call of duty to protect our country and other nations threatened by aggression and tyranny."

Throughout Wisconsin on November 11, ceremonies and events in small communities and large cities will pay tribute to the 556,400 veterans living in the state and the more than 26,000 Wisconsinites who died in America's wars.

In Door County, for instance, veterans service organizations will hold a program in an area high school that educates students about the achievements of American veterans. This program was started decades ago by World War I veterans.

In Milwaukee, veterans organizations will again march in the annual Veterans Day Parade. This year, former prisoners of war and other veterans will hold a special ceremony at the Southeast Wisconsin Vietnam Veterans Memorial at Veterans Lakefront Park.

At Veterans Administration Hospitals, color guard ceremonies will honor men and women who served in all wars. Members of the Wisconsin Veterans Home at King will convene for a special service commemorating their fellow veterans. Ms. Vasarella will be the keynote speaker.

To show statewide support

In 1918, on the eleventh hour, on the eleventh day of the eleventh month, people celebrated the end of a world war that they hoped would end all wars.

Unfortunately, those hopes that were so prevalent on Armistice Day at the end of World War I never materialized. By the time the November 11 armistice anniversary holiday was changed to Veterans Day in 1954, more than 405,000 Americans had died in World War II and 54,246 in the Korea War.

"On Veterans Day, we honor 27 million living American veterans and the 1.1 million veterans who died in our nation's wars," said Carole Vasarella of Marinette, an for veterans, the governor on October 31 issued two proclamations. One proclaimed November 4-11 as Veterans Appreciation Week in Wisconsin, and the other requested all state citizens to honor veterans on November 11.

"These ceremonies will remind people about the sacrifices veterans have made to protect our nation and its principles," Ms. Vasarella remarked. "With the danger of a Mideast war, people also will be reminded of the hardships, hazards and loneliness of military service. Freedom has a price, and because they've paid that price our present and future veterans deserve everyone's gratitude and respect."

Parents: Teach Your Children 'Street Smarts'

"Street crossing is not the first thing you think to teach your child. You just tell them, 'Don't go in the road.' But that's not really enough." Susan Kavulich, Pedestrian Safety Program Manager for the state's Department of Transportation knows the statistics. Pedestrian injuries are a leading cause of death for young children in Wisconsin.

Because learning pedestrian habits is so important to the lives of young children, the Wisconsin EMS (Emergency Medical Services) for Children Project wants to be sure that all parents know how to teach their children "street smarts" for pedestrians. Susan Kavulich points out that children need specific instructions about where and how to cross the street.

"It is not enough to say, 'Be careful.' First, teach your children where to cross," Kavulich says. "Have children cross at corners and crosswalks when available, and avoid crossing between parked cars. Next, teach your children how to cross. Tell them to stop when they get to the curb or the edge of the road. Then tell them to look left, right, and left again to see if a car is coming. If it is, let it go by and then look left, right, left again. When it's all clear you can cross, but keep looking."

The EMS for Children Task Force emphasizes the importance of teaching children in rural areas how, as well as where to cross. It doesn't make sense to say "Only cross at the corner" if there are no corners or crosswalks nearby. And even in towns and cities, children need to learn how to safely cross a street.

Kavulich recommends practicing the "look left, right, left" street-crossing steps with all young children. "You can act as a role model for your children," she says. "Say the steps aloud whenever you cross the street. And then be sure they can tell you how to cross before you let them cross by themselves. Of course, very small children, under the age of five, should never cross streets alone. And even older children should have adult supervision when they are crossing busy highways or streets. All pedestrians — children and adults — should walk on the side of the road facing traffic when there are no sidewalks. And all pedestrians should wear reflective clothing when they are walking at night.

"It wouldn't be hard to bring the number of pedestrian deaths and injuries down," Kavulich says, "if everyone practiced 'street smarts.'"

Best Students Name Best Teachers For New Who's Who Directory

Lake Forest, Ill — A select group of America's teachers are being honored by their toughest critics, their former students, in the inaugural edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICA'S TEACHERS.

All of the 24,500 teachers being honored were selected by their former students who themselves are currently listed in WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS, or THE NATIONAL DEAN'S LIST, publications which recognize the top 5 percent of our nation's high school and college students respectively. Paul Krouse, publisher of WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICAN'S TEACHERS said, "There is no greater honor teachers can receive than to be recognized by former students for their excellence and dedication. In this publication we clearly have the best teachers in America selected by the best students."

The students were requested to nominate teachers who "made a difference in their lives" by helping to shape their values, inspiring interest in a particular subject and/or challenging them to strive for excellence. Many of the students commented about the enthusiasm and knowledge their teachers demonstrated in the classroom, and many praised their teachers for their ability to relate to youngsters on a personal as well as a professional level. One student wrote about her teacher saying, "she made education something pleasurable, instead of a dreadful ordeal, by letting me spread my wings and showing me the best way to fly."

Local educators honored in WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICA'S TEACHERS include...

Kewaskum — David Kevin Dillman, Kewaskum High School; Judith Lavarda Jacak, Kewaskum, High School; Timothy Michael Leader, Kewaskum Elementary School.

WEST BEND — Ann Marie V. Henkel, West Bend West High School; Eunice A. Safford, Barton Elementary School; Douglas James Zarling, Silverbrook Middle School.

CAMPBELLSPORT — Patti Lynn (Deglow) Pelischek, Campbellsport Elementary School; Sharon Ann Vollendorf, Campbellsport Public School District.

A New Look at 4-H

At the heart of 4-H is the 4-H Club. The club has always supplied the foundation for the 4-H program to grow and change. Once again the club is supporting a move to more "non-classic" or "non-traditional" 4-H programming. 4-H on a local, state and national level has identified the problems facing our young people today. The ever growing population of youth at risk is demanding attention and 4-H in turn is responding to the necessity of these demands. In response to youth at risk, 4-H has taken two primary approaches. First, we have attempted to create special interest clubs. Special interest clubs focus on involving a high risk group of youth in one or two primary activities. In some inner cities it may take the shape of a skate board club, basketball or maybe a dance club. These 4-H'ers focus their energies in learning about their heritage, communication, leadership, lifestyles and community living just like the more classical 4-H programs. The idea behind this is to cater to specific interest of a high risk group. Centered around the club, we are developing a new support foundation for 4-H.

Another approach to the changing 4-H program has been to expand the existing program. This expansion includes 4-H clubs identifying issues that are effecting them and then developing plans of actions to meet those needs. Programs currently being implemented are recycling, earth care, friends helping friends, and drug awareness just to mention a few. These new projects are truly being developed at the ground floor. The burden of responsibility falls heaviest on the clubs, and well it should, for it is upon that foundation that 4-H can change.

The new decade brings many new opportunities. 4-H will look different than it ever has before, but the club will always be there giving strength and courage to the 4-H program of the 90's and beyond.

Is Your Child Overweight or Just Robust?

By Joyce Albrecht, Extension Home Economist

Is your child naturally robust, overweight, or gaining weight that he or she will grow into? As a parent, you may not be able to tell if your child actually has a weight problem.

The best person to tell you whether your child is too fat is your health care provider.

Children come in a range of normal shapes and sizes. Comparing your child to other children may not tell you very much.

If you don't have a regular health care provider, make an appointment with a doctor, nurse or registered dietitian. It will be easier for that person to decide if your child is overweight if you have a height-weight history for your child since birth.

During the appointment, your child will be carefully weighed and measured on equipment that gives accurate information, as home scales may be inaccurate. The height and weight of your child - along with past heights and weights - will then be recorded on a growth chart developed by the National Center for Health Statistics. It shows the range of healthy heights and weights for children.

Being at the high end of the range in an age group is not necessarily unhealthy.

Putting your child on a diet, even if he or she is overweight, is not usually recommended. Restricting your child's food intake could be harmful to his or her physical growth and psychological well-being.

If parents are overly concerned about how fat their kids are, the children may begin to doubt their own self-worth. Parents need to reassure kids that they'll be just as loved no matter how their bodies turn out.

Surveys have shown that girls as young as ten years old are dieting. Some dieting is typical. However, if your child starts obsessive behavior - constantly weighing himself or herself, seeming overly concerned about natural body changes, or constantly talking about food without eating - it may be time to talk to your health care provider.

There are times when seemingly excess weight gain is normal. For example, children usually gain weight just before a growth spurt, and will grow into the "excess" weight. The following are several hints on how to encourage healthy attitudes and patterns:

Turn off the television set and send them out to play. Children spend an average of 24 hours a week watching television, which is more time spent on any activity with the exception of sleep. The amount of time watching television correlates directly to obesity: for each additional hour spent viewing television, the prevalence of obesity in children goes up by two percent.

Check out local parks and recreation departments. Many of them offer classes for very low fees. Perhaps your child would like to participate in aerobic dance, karate, gymnastics, tennis, swimming or other kinds of classes. Have your child join organizations that include physical activities.

Encourage school officials to emphasize "lifetime athletic activities" such as swimming, cycling and tennis. Physical fitness activities at school should help children develop a lifelong habit of aerobic exercise.

Try to establish a regular meal and snack pattern. A regular and reliable meal pattern will help avoid unplanned and unmanaged eating behavior. Skipping meals is not an accepted form of weight control, especially for children.

Keep plenty of "good" foods around for snacking (fresh fruits and vegetables, low-fat dairy products, whole-grain breads, etc.) instead of ones which are high in calories and low in nutrition. Don't try to regulate how much of the "good" foods the child eats - children should learn to listen to their own hunger cues to tell them when to stop eating.

Set a good example and get involved with your kids. Join your children outside and play ball with them, go rollerskating, or go on a bike trip. Exercise benefits everyone, and can also be a fun family activity.

Prevent Indoor Air Pollution

Food for Thought — By Joyce Albrecht, Extension Home Economist

Taking a deep breath probably doesn't seem like a health risk. But research shows that air inside homes and other buildings can be more polluted than outdoor air — even in large, industrial cities.

If you're like most people, you spend 90% of your time indoors. This is why indoor air pollution is so dangerous. To help you reduce or eliminate this health hazard UW-Extension has recently published a checklist to help you identify any air quality problems you may have. The check list points you to a series of factsheets that tell you where to look for sources of indoor pollutants and how to eliminate them. To get a copy, contact Washington County UW-Extension Office, 432 E. Washington Street, West Bend 53095. Ask for B3439, "Indoor Air Quality Checklist." The price of the bulletin is .30.

Health effects of indoor air pollution range from the severe to the moderate. Some pollutants, such as radon and tobacco smoke, may cause certain types of cancer. Other pollutants, such as nitrogen dioxide from unvented kerosene heaters and gas stoves, primarily cause eye, nose and throat irritation.

Don't rely on symptoms as indicators of poor indoor air quality. By the time cancer and other long-term effects show up, indoor pollution has already done its damage. And, since short-term effects can be very much like allergy or influenza symptoms, the pollution that cause them often goes undetected.

What can you do? An old adage applies to this newly discovered problem: an ounce of indoor pollution prevention can be better than a pound of cure. This means it's easier and more cost effective to eliminate or control sources of indoor air pollution than to clean the air that is being polluted.

So take a look at your house. If someone in it smokes, ask him or her to do it outdoors. This will reduce the cancer risk for everyone in your home. It will also reduce the risk of respiratory infection and disease to children, who are more susceptible to indoor pollution.

Damp walls, ceilings, carpets and furniture can release biological pollutants, such as bacteria and mold, into your air. Other biological pollutants include house dust, mites, animal dander and pollen. These pollutants can cause eye, nose and throat irritation, dizziness, lethargy and even influenza and other infectious diseases. To control pollutants caused by dampness, remove or clean and dry damp carpet and furniture. Install fans vented to the outdoors in the kitchen and bathroom. And empty the water trays in air conditioners, dehumidifiers and refrigerators frequently.

Organic gases from paints, paint strippers, pesticides, aerosol sprays and other household products can cause eye, nose and throat irritation as well as nausea and damage to your liver, kidneys and nervous system. Control this source of indoor pollution by purchasing these products in quantities you'll use quickly. Then use them outdoors or in well-ventilated areas, and dispose of unused portions immediately and safely.

Radon, another indoor air pollutant, is a natural gas estimated to cause about 10% of all lung cancer deaths in the United States. Since you can't see or smell it, the only way to know if your indoor air contains a high concentration of radon is to test it. Home test kits are inexpensive and easy to use. If the radon level in your home is high, look for cracks in the basement and fill them; they allow radon to seep in from the soil.

Here's a list of UW-Extension's Indoor Air Quality publications, available at the Washington County UW-Extension office

Waiting List for Moraine Park's Tool and Die Program

People are waiting in line to enroll in the Machine Tooling Technicians program at Moraine Park Technical College.

The two-year vocational diploma program for tool and die makers has had full enrollment for years and a waiting period of up to two years to get in, according to Roger Gibbons, dean of trade and technical programs for Moraine Park. The program is offered at Moraine Park's West Bend campus.

Machine Tooling Technicians graduates are taught how to construct molds, dies and tools — those components on manufacturing equipment that form materials into products.

"We can't give students a target time to get in," he said. "That makes it pretty hard for people to make plans."

The result is that some prospective students end up going out of the district for training, Gibbons explained, or settle into other jobs and give up their ambitions to become tool and die makers.

"It's not a good situation right now and we've been dealing with that for years," he said.

What makes the Machine Tooling Technicians so popular is the demand for graduates of Moraine Park's program. Employers are clamoring for skilled tool and die makers, Gibbons said, resulting in virtually 100 percent employment for Moraine Park's graduates. There is about a two-to-one ratio of job openings to Moraine Park tool and die graduates.

"They're very well qualified graduates. We've got an excellent reputation," Gibbons said, adding that some companies prefer to hire Moraine Park graduates exclusively.

"Right now we're faced with waiting lists. We have employers who need these graduates and we're at a point where we just can't take more students without expanding facilities," Gibbons said. "There's a real strong case for expansion in that program."

Right now Moraine Park has plans to expand all three of its campuses in Beaver Dam, Fond du Lac and West Bend. Dubbed JOBS 2000 because it would provide more skilled workers needed by area industries, the plan calls for an 81 percent increase in size for the West Bend campus. An expansion of the Machine Tool Technicians program is a part of that plan.

Currently, the tool and die program at the West Bend campus can accommodate 48 new students a year. Those students who complete two years of study earn Machine Tool Technicians diplomas. Students who complete the first year of study can earn a Machine Tool Operation diploma if they choose not to continue, Gibbons explained.

There are good job opportunities for Machine Tool Operation graduates, he said, although most Moraine Park students go on to complete the Machine Tooling Technicians program because of the greater earning potential that training provides.

With the expansion, Gibbons said, enrollment in the Machine Tooling Technicians program could be increased to 64 new students each year.

In addition to expanding enrollment in Machine Tooling Technicians, Moraine Park is developing a companion associate degree program called Manufacturing Tooling Engineering Technical.

This new two-year program is a response to changes taking place in the field of tool and die work. A dichotomy is going on in tool and die making, Gibbons said.

There remains a strong need for traditional tool and die methods, an essentially labor-intensive, made-by-hand process. But growing rapidly is a need for tool and die makers who can understand and use computers to manufacture dies and other tools. "More and more companies are going to that," Gibbons said.

Moraine Park's proposed new program, targeted to begin in the fall of 1991, is designed to address this changing face of the tool and die business.

Although computer processes are incorporated into the Machine Tooling Technicians program, Gibbons said it is not feasible to provide hands-on-tool and die making training and all the computer training at the same time. For that reason the Manufacturing Tooling Engineering Technician program is being developed with a heavy emphasis on computer work.

This new program would start with 18 students, Gibbons said. Enrollment would expand as industry called for it.

Besides emphasizing computers, Moraine Park will also expand the scope of its training with the new associate degree program.

There is a growing need for people who can build fixtures on automated assembly lines. A fixture is the custom designed component of the line that holds the product being manufactured, twisting and turning as needed for robotic assembly.

Such training will be incorporated into the new Manufacturing Tooling Engineering Technician program. With that training, Gibbons said, "We're really expanding employment opportunities" for Moraine Park graduates. Firms that may not need tool and die makers may need someone to build fixtures, he explained.

Junior Women's Bike-A-Thon Raises Money for Cancer Research

Members of the GFWC Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club organized and conducted the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital "Wheels For Life" Bike-A-Thon on Saturday, September 15th at the Kewaskum High School track. The sunny crisp morning greeted fourteen eager bike-athon riders.

A total of 184.75 miles were ridden by the participants. The total amount of pledges collected were $482.45.

Founded by Danny Thomas in 1962, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is the largest childhood cancer research-treatment-education center in America. Although located in Memphis, TN, the hospital has a local impact because area doctors and hospitals can use, at no cost, treatments and procedures developed at St. Jude.

Those participating in the bike-a-thon were David Kletti, 7 miles; Daniel Kletti, 9 miles; Matt Schroeder, 15.75 miles; Luke Martin, 25.5 miles; Josh Stangl, 15 miles; Erica Christie, 9.5 miles; Lisa Oppermann, 26 miles; Jane Schinske, 23.5 miles; Patrick Enright, 3 miles; Daniel Enright, 12.5 miles; Nicole Enright, 13 miles; Eric Christie, 4 miles; Lanaya Martin, 11 miles; and Linda Enright, 10 miles.

Kewaskum Juniors would like to thank all those who participated and anyone who supported this cause.

New Dairyland Seed DX Hybrids Add Genetic Edge

For 1991, Dairyland Seed is proud to announce the release of three new hybrids.

New D 1192 provides 95-day income in a 90-day maturity hybrid. Outstanding drydown allows this 91-day hybrid to produce as much income per acre as the best 95-day hybrids on the market. Its moisture comes in 2 1/2 points lower than DX-1095 and 3 points lower than Pioneer hybrid 3737. This hybrid features excellent cold emergence and excellent performance on loams and clay loam soils. If you go with a 95-day corn, we think DX-1192 can provide you with the Genetic Edge you've been looking for.

Another addition to our lineup is DX-1100. This 100-day hybrid has gotten outstanding results in our research trials. This hybrid shows excellent performance on loams and clay loam soils. It features excellent drydown and cold emergence. We recommend that those of you who plant 100-day corn, plant some DX-1100 on your farm in 1991.

We also are introducing a new 105-day corn, DX-1204, for 1991. DX-1204 replaces DX-1104 in our lineup. DX-1204 shows outstanding yield potential and will come in a little later than DX-1103, but slightly earlier than DX-1106. DX-1204 does well at all plant populations, but seems to shine even brighter at high plant populations. It has excellent adaptability to a wide range of soil types.

Dairyland Seed is a family owned and operated seed company in West Bend, Wisconsin. For more information on the above hybrids write P.O. Box 958, West Bend, Wisconsin 53095 or call (414) 338-0163.

Dairyland Seed Offers Soybean Cyst Nematode Kit

Dairyland Seed Co., Inc. of West Bend, Wisconsin, has announced the availability of a free Soybean Cyst Nematode Detection Kit. This kit is easy to use and explains how a farmer can determine whether he has a cyst nematode problem, what his economic threshold for cyst levels is and how to manage fields to reduce the cyst impact on his farm.

To obtain your free Soybean Cyst Nematode Kit, please contact Customer Service, Dairyland Seed Co., Inc., P.O. Box 958, West Bend, WI 53095 or phone (414) 338-0163.

Jim Yahr Elected to Statewide Association Board of Directors

Jim Yahr, General Manager of Yahr's Ready Mix, West Bend, was recently elected to serve a three year term on the Board of Directors for Associated Builders & Contractors of Wisconsin, Inc., (ABC) a statewide construction industry trade association.

Yahr, a ready mixed concrete supplier, is also active in the Kettle Moraine Toastmasters, Wisconsin Ready Mixed Concrete Association, and in West Bend Jaycees. He received his Business Administration Degree from Carthage College in 1980. He has served on ABC's Membership Services Committee for 2 years and was appointed by the ABC Board of Directors to serve a one year term on the Board during 1990, using some combination of the years 1985-1990 P&CP.

If you would like more specific information pertaining to the P&CP on your particular farming operation, contact the Washington County ASCS Office at 334-4765.

1991 CAB and Yield Information

Congress is working on farm legislation for 1991 and subsequent crop years. Because this legislation has not been enacted, ASCS cannot be sure of the calculation for crop acreage bases (CAB's) or yields for 1991. In addition, the provisions of the 1991 wheat, feed grain, cotton, and rice programs cannot be determined until the enactment.

We believe you can safely assume that your CAB's for 1991 will be computed using an average of the acreages of planted and considered planted acres (P&CP) for the crop in prior years. The exact formula will depend on the language in the law and whether the county ASC committee has determined that a crop has a history of having been produced in a rotation pattern. It is possible that CAB's will be computed

Last year's Ag 3 class sorting through the "fruits of their labor" in the fruit and cheese sale. The FFA is now taking orders for this year's sale. Contact any FFA member or the High School before November 13th.

The Kewaskum FFA is again holding their annual fruit, cheese, and sausage sale. The prices are as follows:

FRUIT: $14.00/case for California Navels; $12.00/case for Florida juice oranges; $12.00/case for Florida grapefruit; $13.00/case for mixed; (1/2 navel and 1/2 grapefruit).

CHEESE: $4.75 for 2 lbs. of cheddar cheese; $2.50 for 1 lb. of string cheese; $1.75 for 8 oz. squeaky curd cheese; $13.00 for small gift pack and $17.00 for large gift pack.

SAUSAGE: $3.25 for 1 lb. package plain or garlic or $5.50 for 2 lbs. package plain or garlic (Kewaskum Frozen Foods Sausage).

Each case of fruit weighs approx. 40 lbs. The mixed cases consist of a half case of grapefruit and half a case of navel oranges. All fruit is hand inspected by FFA members.

The cheese will again be coming from the award winning Schneiders Cheese Factory located in nearby Waldo. The small gift pack consists of 2 lbs. of cheese and a 12 oz. stick of sausage. The large gift pack consists of 4 lbs. cheese and a 12 oz. stick of sausage. (The sausage in these gift packs will be Schneiders own sausage).

Call the High School Office and place your order by November 13th. The fruit will arrive during the second week of December. When we notify you that the fruit has arrived, you may pick up your orders behind school in the Ag. Shop. The fruit must be paid for at the time of delivery or pick-up. Please leave your number when placing an order.

Minutes of Village Board Meeting

Special Meeting
October 29, 1990
7:00 P.M.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in Special Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

In the absence of President Paul Blumer who asked to be excused and would be arriving late, Administrator Schmidt called the meeting to order. Trustee Thomas McElhatton was absent; all other Trustees present. A quorum was present.

On a motion by Trustee Robert Beisbier, seconded by Trustee Larry Williams and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board moved to have Trustee Mary Krueger serve as President Pro-Tem until President Blumer arrived.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion by Trustee Larry Williams, seconded by Trustee Kenneth Bonlender and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board authorized the signing of change order No. 3 regarding Well No. 4 and Pump Station. The item included in the change order had all been discussed previously and it was noted two items would be paid by the engineers and one item by Regal Ware.

On a motion by Trustee Gary Gavin, seconded by Trustee Kenneth Bonlender and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board authorized the purchase of a 1990, 3/4 ton pickup for the Department of Public Works as presented in the 1990 budget. The truck is a year end closeout and will include a snow plow. The truck is to be purchased from Honeck's Chevrolet at a cost of $17,200.

President Paul Blumer arrived at 7:15 p.m. for the beginning of the budget discussion. Administrator Daniel S. Schmidt was asked to review the preliminary budget proposals for 1991 for the Administrative, Park & Recreation, Police, Public Works and Municipal Building. Superintendent of Public Works Augie Bilgo, Chief of Police Richard Knoebel and Deputy Clerk/Bookkeeper Janet Knops were present to assist with the proposed budget discussion. Generally the departmental budgets reflected slight increases, averaging out to a budget increase of 3.3 percent. The revenue side of the budget was also reviewed indicating an increase in revenue amounting a 4.0 percent increase. The Board instructed the Administrator to make a few changes, leaving the end result basically the same as the proposed results.

The Board reviewed the Debt Service Fund, Special Revenue Fund and TIF Budget proposals for 1991. The budgets had no increases or decreases with the end result being a stable Village budget.

Administrator Daniel S. Schmidt presented some general observations regarding the proposed budget's impact on the local taxpayers. If the Village budget as proposed is adopted, a village taxpayer would see an estimated $.35 per $1,000 assessed value decrease or a 4.8 percent decrease. Using some estimates and general information, it appears the county and state will remain constant or see a slight decrease, with the Kewaskum School District taxes increasing an estimated $.54 per $1,000 assessed value increase or 3.3 percent increase. The VTAE appears to reflect a $.06 per $1,000 assessed value decrease or 3.3 percent decrease. The estimated total end result should reflect a gross tax similar to that of 1990. The Board was reminded that several assumptions were used and that the end or net tax is based on the State Tax Credit as well, but in general the tax rate looks favorable for Village residents.

On a motion by Trustee Mary Krueger, seconded by Trustee Kenneth Bonlender and carried by the majority roll call vote to adjourn. Roll call vote was 6 "Aye," 0 "Nay," 1 "Absent."

OFFICIAL NOTICE

VILLAGE OF KEWASKUM WASHINGTON COUNTY, WISCONSIN

Public Notice is hereby given that pursuant to Chapter 65.90 of the Statutes, the Village Board of the Village of Kewaskum will meet on November 26, 1990, at 8:00 p.m. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street, Kewaskum, WI for the purpose of budgeting for the Water Pollution Control Department, Water Department and Special Revenue Funds for 1991 and holding the subsequent public hearing.

A summary of the proposed budgets is published herewith, and a copy of the complete budget is open for inspection at the office of the Village Clerk of the Village of Kewaskum this November 8, 1990.

Published by the authority of the Village Clerk of the Village of Kewaskum, this 8th day of November, 1990.

Register Your Snowmobiles Now

MADISON, WI — Snowmobilers should register their snowmobiles now so they're ready to go when the snow arrives, advises Dick Royston of the Department of Natural Resources licensing section. "Snowmobiles cannot be legally operated without displaying valid registration decals," said Royston. "We're encouraging everyone to register their snow machines now." If you can't wait for the decals to arrive, Royston added that snowmobiles can be operated if you go to a DNR office and get the registration receipt validated.

More than 75,000 snowmobile registration renewals have been mailed. The renewals must be signed and returned to the DNR for processing for owners to get this season's validation decals.

"Don't wait for the snow, because you might miss some good early season riding," added Royston.

For more information contact Dick Royston, 608-266-0158.

Featured in Golf Magazine Art and Love of Nature Come Together for Andy Stoffel

by Mark Leslie

Published in and reprinted from the Golf Course News. Edited by Mark Leslie, Yarmouth, Maine.

Andy was contacted about 6 weeks ago by Mr. Leslie wanting to do a feature article for national coverage on his wildlife and golf art.

After an hour and a half on the phone, the article "ON THE GREEN" developed.

Let us know if Andy Stoffel is not one of a kind.

"Here's a guy - the oldest of 13 children - who grew up quickly, yet may grab hold of a dream of his youth. A guy who hammered nails for years while running his own roofing and siding company, yet handles a paintbrush with the aplomb of an award-winning artist. Who bought a farm to build a housing development, then constructed a golf course on it instead. Who first opened his course on the honors system, with golfers putting money in a can before teeing off. Who wakes to water his course at 4 a.m., works all day, then returns after dinner to fertilize and prepare for the next day. Who has pulled two loves together into two distinct careers that are, well, inseparable.

Andy Stoffel, 1; owns and maintains his own golf course, Auburn Bluffs in Campbellsport, Wis., and 2) paints wildlife/golf course pictures that people are encouraging him to mass produce.

"I love my work on the golf course. It's a real challenge keeping beautiful greens ... And I love my painting. I'm always getting new ideas and they stay in my head until I get them on canvas. If I don't paint it, it won't leave," Stoffel said.

From the time he was a boy drawing pictures while the teacher spoke of history or arithmetic, art has been a crucial part of Stoffel's life.

"I've always felt the need to sketch or paint," he said. Stoffel first used his self-taught skill in the Army. He used it in his roofing and siding business. And he's perfecting it today.

While stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington with the 32nd infantry div., when he was 18, Stoffel always managed to keep up with his sketching and storing up ideas.

He had been asked to redo some murals on the mess walls of ducks, bear and elk scenes, but instead volunteered for special forces guerrilla warfare training with Gerloch's guerrillas.

Stoffel said, we had 200 sq. miles of Olympic National Forest to live off the land, with the scenery and beauty the national park offered and not having to spit shine and shave for 6 weeks, I thought I died and went to heaven.

I now, often refer back to many of those scenes in my paintings. I many times spend as much time researching my subject as I do painting."

In the siding business while giving an estimate, Stoffel would sketch the house and add color to show the homeowner what it would look like. "I sold the job everytime," he said.

Then came a back injury that led to his new life as an owner-operator of nine-hole, Auburn Bluffs, which the artists appropriately calls a "scenic" challenge.

He started entering duck stamp competitions, winning prizes and receiving encouragement from other artists.

"I've always been fascinated with nature," he said, and one day it clicked: "Why not combine the wildlife with the golf course?" he asked himself.

There certainly was enough wildlife on the course's 107 acres tucked into Kettle Moraine State Forest.

Now, putting his paintbrush to an 18- by 24 inch canvas instead of a wall, Stoffel said: "I'm using my golf course for all my ideas, but I ad lib. They're my own dream shots. I'm just putting them to the canvas."

"Being a superintendent, I have the opportunity to observe nature at my finger tips."

Responding to suggestions from golfers, friends, family, salesmen and other passerby, Stoffel has had postcards printed of several of his paintings.

He had one scene printed on 500 T-shirts (which quickly sold out) and another on 500 sweatshirts. He is eyeing other markets.

"I want to finish a 24-painting series. I've got 20 done now," he said, adding that would be enough for two calendars.

In fact, a radio station has chosen one of Stoffel's creations to be the May painting on a 1991 calendar, and will name him May Artist of the Month. Fifty thousand calendars will be printed.

"Winning the 1988 WOW artists of the year award, sponsored by the Miller High Life Co., inspired me a great deal, it was my 1st award and gave me lots of recognition," Stoffel said.

Excitement fills Stoffel's voice when he speaks of the future, and the hopes he holds dear.

Owners at two other courses want him to paint their courses so they can put up the paintings in their clubhouses and use them as scorecards.

Others have suggested he have place mats made of his paintings.

More T-shirts and sweat-shirts loom ahead.

People are starting to collect prints of his series.

"I'm just looking for that one big break, one big backer," he said. "People say my work is getting better with each painting."

"You strive for the day you can get on your feet. In my case, I will pursue my art as I'd like to." Like he does in the off-season between early Oct. and late March.

Still, his golf course has a pull of its own.

Construction began on Auburn Bluffs in 1979. It opened in 1982. Stoffel built the clubhouse and began work there full-time in 1984 when he left the siding business.

"I did put a few houses on the land," he said. But he pictured a nine-hole golf course on the rest of the land and has never regretted his decision.

Three holes run down between bluffs. One of the stands elevated 80 feet above the fairway. Little ponds formed by the glacier put their stamp of beauty on the layout.

"Three clergy friends who golf my course, keep telling me it is just like heaven, only not as far away."

The course has been going "hot and heavy ever since we built the clubhouse," Stoffel said.

"Last Fri. morning to Sun. night 700 golfers played the course."

Stoffel is up at 3 to 4 every morning, operating the manual irrigation system. He returns to his home next to the course around 4:30 p.m. Then it's back for more chores on the course after dinner.

He said: "You never run out of ideas to improve. As you get a few dollars saved up, you improve. Who wants an instant golf course? - All you do then is mow grass and look at it.

"Golfers enjoy seeing changes and improvements and to watch a course grow."

Stoffel added that it is easy to paint a perfect green, "but keeping up with all the changes in disease and turf management is not. As any greenskeeper, I always want nice greens for the golfer and the course. I am sure anyone in the business knows and understands, you learn to work with Mother Nature and not against her."

"It's a lot of work, but if you have a regular schedule and stick to it, it's OK. I do 90 percent of the greenskeeping, Stoffel said, adding that his wife, Karen, helps mow the course when she's not working her regular job.

A student changes the cups and performs other duties. Daughter Samantha, 13, lives with them. But son Chris, 24, and daughter Tara, 22 live a distance away.

Andy's son Chris helped build the entire course along with some close friends and the support of the community.

"I'm so doggone busy working on the golf course during the season. But the four or five months in the off-season I'm a full-time artist," he said.

Menagerie Excerpt

I have A "Cold" Heart!

I am the common cold, and I'm about to attack my next victim. This victim has been trying to do too much, not getting enough sleep, and overall just not taking proper care of herself, so I've come to give her punishment. Sometimes I can be really nasty; other times I'm pretty mild, but today I feel EVIL, EVIL, EVIL!

I begin Thursday afternoon. Today the victim has a tennis meet, so I'll just tire her out and start in on the throat. She doesn't heed my warnings; instead she goes to bed late and only takes in seven hours of sleep. Well, I'll just have to make matters worse. Friday I make her throat very sore and combined with the "stuffed up" head I gave her, she sounds like a bullfrog. "It's Friday" she says to herself, "I can make it through one more day," and she does. But I do prevent her from going to a friend's house Friday night because her mother says that she must stay home and get a lot of sleep. Too bad, she's trying to get rid of me, but I'm not that easily gotten rid of. She gets fourteen hours of sleep, but I don't make it easy for her. I cause her to toss and turn all night long and to wake up just about every hour, either sweated wet or with terrible chills. I am so mean!

Saturday and Sunday I do about the same. I give her a very congested head, a wicked bass voice, and the worst of all a sharp, continuous pain in the neck. Wow, do I put her through torture! She's starting to fight me off though with all of her rest, but I have one more trick, her ears. Monday morning I cause the pain in her ears. I've been working on them for a day or two now. She feels it now; I surely did a good job this time. Of course, I've been doing these ear infections since she was quite small; I think that I've become a pro.

On no, she's making it harder. She went to the doctor Monday morning, and he gave her some medicine to cure, the ear infection and a decongestant. I'm going to be killed. What can I do? My most hated enemy is medicine!! Well, I'll just have to fight it with all I've got left. I'm now causing extreme pains in her ears. I'm making them continuously "pop" as they try to clear up. I know that this really hurts. Now all I can hope is that she pushes herself too much this next week, so that I can cling on and make her life miserable longer. But... if she doesn't get careless, I may just have to go for the time being, but I will return, and she will pay double when I do return for sending me away.

Venison Sausage Lyme-Free If Cured Properly

Kewaskum Statesman, Thursday, Nov. 8, 1990, Page 24

Outdoor enthusiasts are better off checking for deer ticks than worrying about getting Lyme disease from venison sausage, according to University of Wisconsin - Madison specialists. Proper sausage-making should eliminate any Lyme bacteria that might occur in venison trimmings.

In a July press release, University of Wisconsin - Madison food microbiologist E.H. Marth discussed his research on the behavior of Lyme bacteria during heating. Marth noted that he was unsure about the survival chances for the bacteria in mildly cooked sausages, such as summer sausage.

Dennis Buege, UW-Madison extension meats specialist, discussed the situation with Marth. They offer the following perspectives on Lyme and venison sausages.

To date, there is no record of infected meat causing Lyme disease in humans, according to Buege. However, since the Lyme bacterium has been found in the organs and blood of infected animals, it could potentially occur in muscle. Lab animals have contracted Lyme disease through feedings.

Small-diameter cooked sausages, such as wieners or ring bologna, are usually heated to 155 F or higher in the relatively low temperatures (160 F to 180 F) of a smokehouse. "This slow heating process and internal temperature should provide an adequate time-temperature margin of safety for destruction of the Lyme organism," Buege says.

Although summer sausages are usually heated to internal temperatures of only 145 F to 155 F, Buege says this too provides an ample safety margin against the Lyme organism. UW-Madison research has shown that 90 percent of the Lyme bacteria in a culture medium died when heated to 122 F for 5.5 minutes.

"Even though the final internal temperatures are lower compared to wieners or bologna, the size of these sausages (2 to 3 inches in diameter) and the relatively slow heating rate in smokehouses means it will take one or more hours to raise the internal temperature from 120 F to 145 F," Buege says. "Although bacteria tend to die more slowly in a food product such as meat than in a liquid medium, the time-temperature exposure of this type of sausage offers a substantial measure of safety. The salt in the sausages may also increase the organism's susceptibility to heat."

Buege encourages meat processors to take their venison summer sausages to an internal temperature of 150 F or higher as an added measure of safety. In Marth's study, 90 percent of the Lyme bacteria died when heated to 149 F for 30 seconds.

Cooking venison roasts, steaks or burgers to 160 F (medium) should eliminate any threat, he says. The higher temperature recommendation is due to the faster cooking time in a home oven or stovetop.

Buege emphasizes that there have been no documented cases of humans contracting Lyme disease from eating food containing Lyme bacteria. These recommendations ensure an extra measure of safety, he says.

Early symptoms of Lyme disease may include a red rash (often resembling a bull's-eye) at the bite site or other body areas, fatigue, stiff neck, headache, and "not feeling good." Untreated, Lyme disease can cause arthritis, heart-rhythm abnormalities and neurological problems. The disease can be treated with antibiotics.

Kettle Riders Schedule Snowmobile Safety Course

The New Fane Kettle Riders Snowmobile Club will be holding its annual snowmobile safety course for youths 11 through 16 years of age.

The classes will be held Saturday Dec. 1 and Dec. 8, from 1 to 5 p.m. All youngsters are welcome to attend the course. You do not have to belong to the club. Deadline for class sign-up is Nov. 20.

To register or for further information call Glen or Gerry Mueller, 626-4406.

Don't Store Venison In Garbage Bags

Dennis Buege, University of Wisconsin - Madison extension meats specialist, cautions deer hunters not to store venison trimmings in garbage bags. Garbage bags are not designed for food use, and may transfer chemicals to the meat. Wisconsin meat inspectors require meat processors to remove colored garbage bags from incoming venison and repackage the meat in approved wrappers.

Instead of using garbage bags, tightly wrap the meat in several layers of freezer paper, Buege suggests, or place it in clear plastic food-storage bags, ice-cream pails or other rigid plastic food containers.
