Christmas Parade Here Sunday

By Sharon Callaway Roznik
Statesman Staff Writer

"Here comes Santa Claus, here comes Santa Claus," right down Main Street in Kewaskum on Sunday evening, December 2, as friends and family gather for good cheer and a glimpse of the jolly old man himself at the second annual "Christmas in Kewaskum" parade.

Your hosts for the evening are the festive members of the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce. Holiday surprises include over 30 parade entries, five musical marching units, glittering floats, costumed characters to delight the children, along with traditional religious themes to remind us of the "real meaning of Christmas." Student and community organizations, and local businesses are returning for the second year to participate in the parade.

Cash prizes for entries will be awarded by the Chamber and generous donors. First, second, and third prizes, plus three honorable mentions will be selected by a panel of seven judges - a difficult task considering last year's imaginative floats!

The parade committee consists of Gladys Seefeldt, Don Sedgewick, Randy Gust, Mark Vechart, Jane Korth, Lana

Kuehl and Lori Roecker. Larry Martin and Lee Kempf will aid in lining up the entries. The Kewaskum High School Band, KMS Band, Jiggs & Co., Girl and Boy Scouts, Legion Color Guard, WBWI's Bob Bonenfant, WTKM, Church Choirs, and Bert and Ernie, are among the many who have already agreed to join our procession of community spirit.

Lineup for the parade will originate behind the Kewaskum firehouse (north side only) and the Valley Bank parking lot at 5:15 p.m. The parade is scheduled to begin at 6.

The route will follow Fond du Lac Ave., turn east on Main Street, north on Park View, and finally west on First Street where it will arrive at its final destination in front of the Municipal Building. Everyone is united to attend the annual AAL (Aid Association for Lutherans) Tree Lighting Ceremony immediately following the parade.

Winners of the parade entries will be announced at the end of this event.

Leading the ceremony in song will be the choirs of Kewaskum's churches, including St. Lucas Lutheran Church, Holy Trinity Catholic Church, and Peace United Church of Christ, accompanied by the KHS band and swing choir. Don't miss this moving event.

All businesses and residence along the parade route are invited to help "light up" the evening with their own Christmas decorations, and join in the fun.

We ask all spectators to remain on the sidewalks during the parade for safety reasons. No candy will be thrown from the floats. Santa Elves will be handing out goodies to the children.

Donations towards this community event will be greatly appreciated, and can be mailed to the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 300, Kewaskum, WI 53040. Decorated canisters are also located at several local businesses.

Come into town early and enjoy a special KEYS Christmas Concert, featuring the Moraine Chorus at 3 p.m. in the high school. All proceeds benefit the KEY Scholarship fund. All tickets are $2, and are available at Miller's Furniture in Kewaskum and the high school.

Please join us as spectators or participants in welcoming Christmas in Kewaskum. For more information contact Gladys at 626-2898 or Lana at 626-2626.

Cpl. Stelzel's father was a member of "C" Company of Marine Reserves in Milwaukee when it was called to active duty in the summer of 1950 for duty in Korea. He also served in the Marines during WWII and then in Korea where he was wounded and retired from the Corps. He also has two brothers who were in the Marines. Sgt. In other business the board signed the 1991 fire contract for the Town of Auburn.

Village Board Approves 1991 Budget

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Village Board, Monday night, held public hearings on the proposed General, Water Pollution Control, and Water Department budgets for 1991. With no appearances by citizens concerning the budgets, there was little discussion and the budgets were approved.

The 1991 General Budget of $1,311,465, is up 3.3% or $41,000 over 1990. However, due to some increases in revenues and other changes, the tax levy itself, will be down 2.6% or $10,000, from $402,400 for 1989, to $391,896 for 1990.

Village Administrator Dan Schmidt stated he had received the figures for the remaining taxing bodies Monday as well as the village's state tax credit. The bottom line being a gross tax rate for the village of $29.83. Less the state tax credit (which dropped) of $2.25, village residents will be paying a net tax rate of $27.58 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, an increase of 10c per $1,000 over 1989.

Broken down by taxing body, the rate change is as follows: Village of Kewaskum $6.99, down 5.1% from the 1989 rate of $7.36. Washington County $4.07, down 3.7% from 1989 rate of $4.23. State of Wisconsin 20c, down 3% from 21c. Kewaskum School District $16.88, up 3.3% from the 1989 rate of $16.34. Moraine Park Technical $1.69, down 3.3% from $1.75, resulting in the gross rate of $29.83, which is down .2% from the 1989 figure of $29.89. The Kewaskum School District was the only taxing body to show an increase for 1990.

The state tax credit was reduced by 6.6% from $2.41 for 1989, to $2.25 for 1990, thus resulting in the 1990 net tax rate of $27.58 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, which is up .4% from the 1989 figure of $27.48.

The new rate means that a house assessed at $50,000 will see an increase of $5.00, a $60,000 home $6.00, a $70,000 home up $7.00, and an $80,000 house $8.00.

In discussing the Water Pollution Control (Sewer) Department and Water Department budgets, Schmidt noted their incomes and expenditures were basically "a wash" with slight increases.

Schmidt indicated, however, he had been advised by the village's consulting engineer for utilities service, Dr. Raymond Kipp, that the village will have to look at rate adjustments within the next year. Kipp said Kewaskum is not in compliance with the Public Service Commission's standard of a 5.5 percent rate of return on utilities service.

In other action the board adopted an ordinance for the creation of a Municipal Court in Washington County. It also signed an agreement with the cities of West Bend, Hartford, Villages of Germantown, Jackson and Slinger to support the court and its operations. The board then appointed Schmidt as the village's court system representative and

Area Author Traces Five Generations Of Irish Immigrants to Life in Dundee

May Murphy Thibadeau was guest speaker October 6th at an open house promoting the restoration of the old Dundee Mill at its original site.

Statesman Staff Writer
Sharon Callaway Roznik

May Murphy Thibadeau, Dundee native and Wisconsin author, has appropriately titled her recent historical novel, "I Shall Not Die, I Shall Live On In You." The book takes each reader through a freedom seeking journey that includes the lives of five generations of her Irish family, and spans over 140 years of history, although Thibadeau states the material is in "story form to focus on aspects of life not possible to an historian or biographer."

Her story begins with her great-great-grandparents, Bridget (Lenihan) and John Green's flight from an Ireland stricken with the Great Potato

Famine and suffering from religious persecutions. Fate brings them to a Canadian lumber camp on Grosse Island in the St. Lawrence River, where John loses his life in a logging accident. Bridget is offered a new husband, as her position in camp requires her to have "support and protection," and the new Mr. and Mrs. James Kilcoyne eventually leave the wilderness to seek new employment, finally settling in Wisconsin in 1857.

The family began farming in the Town of Mitchell, which was settled by Gaelic speaking Irish Catholic immigrants. They felt as if they'd come home. Eight children expand the generations throughout the book, taking us through their loss of son John in the Civil War; memories of one room schoolhouses and small villages that functioned as the "mainstream" of life; the surge for government cash crops and the success of hops cultivation in Mitchell; religious devotion and the Sacred Heart Church in Dundee; water power and the formation of Long Lake; and on to the birth of the author in 1908.

Labeled a "child among grownups," May lived with her grandparents in Dundee after the death of her mother when she was 18 months old. She left at 13 to attend boarding schools. She relates a vivid childhood story of being transported by sleigh from Dundee to Campbellsport during a violent snowstorm, in an attempt to save her from appendicitis. She was rushed to the train, and on to the hospital, where her appendix had burst, but she survived.

Thibadeau attended St. Mary's Springs Academy in Fond du Lac, the Milwaukee Normal School, and later taught in Fond du Lac County Schools and the Armstrong School on the shores of Long Lake. She married Raymond J. Thibadeau in 1941, and they have seven children.

The author ends her book with the emergence of the Kettle Moraine State Forest, and writes, "with each passing year homes were removed, the forests grew and the area has come to resemble more and more the land to which the Irish Settlers came in the 1850's."

May Murphy Thibadeau's various accomplishments include a bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee in 1956; served as the only Milwaukee representative on the nomination committee of the American Association of University Women, which published "Wisconsin Women - A Gifted Heritage;" and traveled with her husband through Europe researching the book "For the Good of Others - Life and Times of Frederick Layton," about a wealthy meatpacker who in 1888 established the first art gallery west of New York, in Milwaukee.

Her other published works include, "Cinder, You're a Lucky Pup," "Scarboro Was I Am," (the story of the Thibadeau family) "The Donkey Stayed in Ireland" - her father's story, and she collaborated with her daughter Camile on "The Browns - Some Descendants of Charles Brown of Suffolk, England."

She was guest speaker at a special open house celebration held this fall, which both honored and promoted the restoration of the original Dundee Mill, into an educational and historical attraction.

The Thibadeaus reside in South Milwaukee, but often return to the Dundee area where memories are etched in "generations of a family that found an area of Wisconsin to their liking. This beautiful vista of level fields and marshes between the kames and drumlins gave them shelter, peace, freedom and time to sing their songs, play their fiddles and dance for over a hundred years."

Second College Savings Bond Sale To Be Held Again in January

The State of Wisconsin will be offering a second round of higher education bonds for sale in January 1991, according to State Senator Carol Buettner (Oshkosh).

"These education bonds were extremely popular during the first sale. There were some 16,000 buyers and the bonds sold in three days," Buettner said.

The tentative date of sale would be January 14 or January 21 and when the sale date is finalized announcements will be made in local and state media. The bond sale typically lasts 5 or 6 working days or until the bonds are sold out.

Bonds are sold in $1,000 denominations though they are sold at a discount price determined by the market conditions at the time of sale. Maturity on the bonds will range from 6 to 20 years.

The intent of the Legislature was that these bonds be used for paying the costs of higher education tuition, fees, room and board, school books and supplies.

"The Wisconsin Department of Administration is taking special steps to make these bonds available to as many buyers as possible. It is our hope that everyone wishing to invest in their child or grandchild's higher education can do so," Buettner said.

A question and answer brochure on these higher education bonds can be obtained by writing the Division of Executive Budget and Planning Department of Administration, 101 South Webster Street, 7th Floor, Madison, WI 53707 or call 608-266-2305.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of GREG THEUSCH, who passed away 15 years ago, December 4, 1975:

Though his smile is gone
And his hands we cannot touch,
Still we have so many memories
Of one we loved so much;
His memory is our keepsake
With which we'll never part.
God has him in His keeping
We have him in our hearts.

Sadly missed by his family.

UWM Offering Courses at UWWC

For the first time, the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee will offer three undergraduate/graduate level courses at UWWC during the spring semester. Two of the courses will be taught by UWWC faculty but all are UWM courses with UWM credit.

UWWC Dean, Joel Rodney, is delighted with the ability of UWWC to bring more of the services of the UW system to Washington County and West Bend. "It shows that the University can function as a system without needless and costly duplication of effort," says Rodney.

The courses to be offered include two three-credit courses from the College of Letters and Science: "Major Women Writers: The Female Hero in Sexton, Levertov, Rich, Atwood and Morrison," and "Business Ethics: Doing the Right Thing and Surviving," and "Introduction to Children's Literature and Storytelling," a two credit Library and Information Science School course.

UWWC Professors Susan Brodie and Mark Peterson will, respectively, teach the Major Women Writers and Business Ethics courses. UWM's Storyteller-in-Residence and a renowned children's literature expert Ann Pellowski will teach the two-credit children's literature course.

Associate Dean of UWM's College of Letters and Science Jessica Wirth said UWM was interested in offering courses that should attract enrollment. "The faculty who are teaching the courses are all very well qualified," says Wirth. "It's very important to note that these are UWM courses being offered in Washington County and it is critical that we have good enrollments in them" she adds.

UWM has approximately 666 students from Washington County who attend classes in Milwaukee. The School of Education at UWM offers courses throughout the state but most off campus programing is held in the Milwaukee metropolitan area. UWC-Waukesha is the only other UW Center to have an occasional UWM course, offered but, according to Larry Roscioli, Director of UWM's Off Campus Program, this is the first time more than one UWM course has been offered at a time.

According to Rodney, the groundwork for the new UWM-UWWC linkage was laid by then Acting UWWC Dean Dion Kempthorne (now the Dean of UWC-Richland Center) and UWM Vice Chancellor of Academic Affairs John Schroeder.

Rodney sees UWM's recognition of UWWC faculty as another plus in the new course offerings. "I'm especially pleased to be able to have upper level courses taught by our faculty who can use these experiences to reinforce their work at the freshmen and sophomore level," he says.

Students can register for the courses at either UWM or UWWC. Local registration begins Dec. 3 and 4 for continuing students. Books for the classes will be available on both campuses. For more information please call UWWC's Student Services Office at 335-5201.

A Soldier Writes from the Middle East Moraine Park Mulls Start of Marketing Communications Program

Here are two excerpts from the letters of Marine Cpl. Jason Merkel to his parents, Lloyd and Jane Merkel of rural Random Lake. His grandparents are Tom and Millie Herman, owners of Kewaskum Floral Shop. Merkel serves in the Middle East as part of Operation Desert Shield.

Dear Family,

Yea, here I am in the largest kitty litter box in the world. Kind of a nasty place to be.

Right now we are set up in the port of Al-Jubail, about 120 miles south of the Kuwait border. We live in tents set up in a storage lot. We have not been told for sure how long we will stay here, but General Grey, the commandant of the Marine Corps, does not want us to be here more than six months. I hope that holds true.

The longest they can keep us here is 13 months; that would suck.

How did Dad's fishing trip go? I wish I could have been there.

The average temperature here has dropped this month. It used to get up close to 120 degrees in the daytime, but it's dropped 15 to 20 degrees from that. The locals here say it will drop even more once fall comes. That will be nice.

Once in a while it gets extremely humid too. A couple of days ago it was about 99 per cent humid. Talk about uncomfortable! Putting on clothes was a challenge because you and your clothes were sticky and moist. It has cleared up now.

I sure can't wait to start lifting weights again. I was making some great gains when I had to stop for this operation. Our MWR is getting recreational gear in, and there is supposed to be some weights on it. I hope so.

Kim (Jason's wife) went to work a few days ago. That should relieve a lot of her boredom. That big house got kind of lonely because you can only have a one-sided conversation with Amber (the couple's infant daughter).

Kim tells me Amber is growing very good. It would be nice to be there to see it. Kim is sending me pictures to kind of give me an idea of how she is doing. It doesn't equal the real thing, but it's better than completely missing it all.

At least Amber is too young to understand why I'm not around. It should be easy for her to get used to me again. I can't wait to see her again.

Right now we are doing more or less basic military police work (gates, patrols, etc.) But if war breaks out we will do stuff like convoy, escorts, handling of POWs, supply route patrols, VIP security, etc.

We have a lot of off time, but who knows how long it will last? I'm not speaking for all the Marines here though. Our housemate, Scott, is up about 15 miles from the border. I sure would not want to be there.

Dear Family,

Happy Belated Anniversary! I hope you like what Kim sent you. I like the postcards you sent.

We now have some British Royal Military Police working with us. They are great people to work with. In many ways they are just like us, with a few cultural differences. We also work with the Saudi National Guard on the gates, but talk about a "Mickey Mouse" military! No wonder we have to defend their country for them!

I am very anxious to come home again. Last time I didn't get to do much "good" fishing. Kim and I are debating coming home for the '91 county fair. That's another thing I miss (besides family and friends, of course).

I have been able to call Kim twice. That really helps her out a lot. Makes my day too!

Not much more to write about this dump. Saudi Arabia is a hot, humid, barren wasteland. It sucks here. If you have any questions, ask them. It will give me more to write about.

They just said Iraq is pulling back. That just means they have a smaller area to defend in case of war. I wish we would just go in and get it over with. War seems inevitable now anyway.

If you are worried about me being safe, relax. I am at the Port of Al-Jubail, about 120 miles from the Kuwait border. If war happens, I would see very little, if any actual combat.

I'm going to go now. Mail call will go here soon. Tell everyone I say, "Howdy!" If they get the chance to write, tell them to do so. I promise I will write them back. Later.

Moraine Park Technical College has begun the process to add a marketing communications associate degree to its program offerings.

The Moraine Park Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District Board approved a plan that documents demonstrating the occupational need for people trained in the field be submitted to the Wisconsin Board of VTAE. Also at its monthly meeting, Thursday, Nov. 15, the Moraine Park Board directed its staff to develop an implementation plan for the program.

It is anticipated the new program would begin in the fall of 1992.

The program would prepare students in pre-press production and marketing techniques for the publishing, printing and advertising fields. Emphasis would be placed on the use of computer desktop publishing and graphics software.

John Phillips, Moraine Park's dean of business, told the board that the print industry is the fourth largest in the area and the second largest employer behind metal manufacturing.

A survey of 32 responding employers in the area's print industry indicated that 91 percent of those employers would hire marketing communications graduates of Moraine Park. Those firms currently employ 1,077 full-time and 74 part-time people who understand marketing, graphics and the selling of print materials, Phillips said. Those firms expect to have 217 full-time and 69 part-time vacancies within the next four years, he added.

The survey also shows that 72 percent of the employers require more than a high school diploma as the minimum level of education for employment.

The average hourly starting wage for employees with marketing communications skills is $7.26 an hour. The average wage rises to $10.08 an hour after three years of employment.

Moraine Park's proposed marketing communications program would have a capacity of 20 to 30 graduates a year, Phillips said.

Moraine Park President John Shanahan said that an average of 30 to 40 students leave the Moraine Park VTAE District annually to obtain training in graphics and printing at other colleges. A Moraine Park marketing communications program would give those students the option of obtaining their education closer to their homes, he said.

Several of the courses included in the marketing communications program already exist at Moraine Park through the college's marketing associate degree program and expanded desktop publishing certificate.

Additional equipment for photography and graphics productions labs will be needed, Phillips said. "Space will be a problem with this program," he said. It is hoped the college will be able to expand and remodel existing facilities at the Fond du Lac campus to accommodate the new program by the fall of 1992, Phillips added.

Dairy Cow Body Condition Clinic Scheduled for Dec. 4

By Jack Trzebiatowski, Extension Agriculture Agent

The body condition of dairy cows is an excellent way to evaluate the management of the dairy herd. If cows are in proper condition it means that management is on target, it not management changes may be needed.

Dairy farmers in Washington and Ozaukee will have an opportunity to learn about dairy cow body conditions and how to evaluate the condition of their own cows. A clinic is scheduled for Tuesday, December 4th at 1:30 p.m. It will begin at the Trenton Town Hall and then continue at the Ed Hetebrueg farm.

Pat Hoffman, UW-Extension Dairy Specialist will conduct the session. He will discuss how dairy cow body conditions affect lactation performance. The session will then move to the farm where Hoffman will demonstrate the scoring system on cows in the herd. Participants will also have the opportunity to get hands on experience with scoring cows.

A system has been developed that allows the condition of dairy cows to be evaluated and each cow given a body condition score. This gives producers, feed consultants, veterinarians and others a way to measure the performance of individual cows.

The system is based on feeding the back and hindquarters of the cows, paying particular attention to the loin, rump, tail head, hook and pin bones.

The scoring system runs from 1 to 5. A cow scoring a 1 is virtually skin and bones; while a 5 is obese and over conditioned. Each score can also receive a plus or minus.

Dairy cows should have a targeted condition at different times in their lactation. Early lactation cows should score a high 2 or low 3 if they are milking to their potential. Mid lactation cows should score a 3, and at late lactation a 3+ or 4-. Dairy cows should score about a 4. This will put them in good body condition for starting their next lactation.

The program is being offered free to dairy farmers and others. Registration is limited to the first 35 persons. Registration can be made with either the Washington or Ozaukee County Extension offices. In Washington County send registration to 432 E. Washington St., West Bend, WI 53095 or call 335-4477, 644-5204 or 342-2929.

They have one son, daughter-in-law and grandson, Mr. and Mrs. DeWayne Fritz and Jeffrey of Kewaskum.

On Sunday, Nov. 28, three Boy Scouts from Kewaskum will receive Eagle awards. The presentation will be at Peace United Church of Christ during the 10:15 a.m. service. The scouts are Carl Freehauf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Freehauf, Sr.; Joel Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L.N. Peterson, and Gary Woolman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Woolman, all of the village.

Engagements Announced: Mr. and Mrs. Leland Vetter, R. 1, Kewaskum, announced the engagement of their daughter Elaine to Frank Poos, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Poos, Sr., of R.1, Kewaskum. In the neighborhood of close to 2,000 deer were killed in the surrounding during the three-day any deer shotgun season Saturday, Sunday and Monday as the population of bucks, does and fawns was tremendously reduced in a hunting slaughter. Fond du Lac County had registered just under 1,200 deer killed up to Tuesday afternoon, with more expected to come in. Washington County had registered 235 up to Wednesday. Dodge County registered 300 deer already on opening day with two more to go.

Dennis McCullough, 59, widely known village resident, was found dead last Saturday, Nov. 23, in the barn owned by Mrs. Wm. Schultz on Fond du Lac Ave., just south of the Republican Hotel. Death resulted from a broken neck and a blow on the back of the head which he suffered when he fell, evidently ascending or descending a ladder built along the wall in the ice house portion of the building. Dennis is survived by three brothers, Robert Jr. of R. 3, Kewaskum, William of Milwaukee, and John of Great Falls, Mont., and two sisters Mrs. Fred Buddenhagen of Milwaukee and Mrs. Mary McLaughlin of this village.

Jack Majerus, aged 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Majerus of Campbellsport, suffered a serious injury to his hand and arm about 3 p.m. last Sunday when a rifle carried by one of his hunting companions discharged. The group was hunting on a farm north of Campbellsport. The boy was taken to St. Agnes Hospital Fond du Lac for removal of the bullet.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stautz, Waubeka, parents of Clifford Stautz of this village, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Quass, at Boltonville on Sunday. Mrs. Stautz is the former Miss Bertha Eisentraut of the Town of Farmington.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thull observed their silver wedding anniversary with a special high mass at 8:30 a.m. on Monday and in the evening a large crowd of friends and relatives gathered at St. Michaels hall to celebrate the happy event.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Vetter, Beechwood, are the proud parents of a baby boy born to them on Monday.

75 Years Ago

A very pretty wedding took place Thursday, Thanksgiving at the Holy Trinity Church in this village when Rev. A.M. Muckerheide united in matrimony Miss Minnie Muckerheide of the town of Kewaskum and John Thull of the town of Farmington. The bride was attended by Miss Emlia Muckerheide as maid of honor. The Misses Isabella Thull and Rose Muckerheide were the bridesmaids. The groom was attended by Oscar Thull as best man and John and Walter Muckerheide were groomsmen. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Muckerheide of the town of Kewaskum. The groom is one of the town of Farmington's most popular farmers.

Last week Friday evening the local city basketball team, accompanied by a large number of rooters journeyed to West Bend and scored a decisive victory over the city team. The final score being 40 to 17. This victory is looked upon by the locals as a very good one as this is the first time the local aggregation ever won a game on West Bend's floor.

Math. Herriges, St.

Michaels, opened his new blacksmith shop last week. He is prepared to do all kinds of blacksmith work and horse shoeing neatly and promptly.

The past Thursday was Thanksgiving and the following New Prospect area residents give thanks: Henry Uelmen is thankful that the coming year is Leap Year. William Bartelt is thankful his flock of geese are picked. Aug. Jandre is thankful that he is still a single man. Chas. Warden is thankful his days of cheesing are nearly done. Menomonie, Wis. — The following Kewaskum area residents are enrolled as undergraduate students at UW-Stout. They are Michael Johann, majoring in applied mathematics; Connie McChain, majoring in early childhood education; Gregg Dean, Corey Garbisch, Joel Miller and Lisa Wheeler, all majoring in general business administration; Christine Schulz, majoring in home economics educational services; Mark Brodzeller, majoring in industrial technology; and Kari Kurtz, majoring in retail merchandising and management.

With an enrollment of approximately 7,400, Stout is a "special mission" university in the UW System. Founded in 1891, it retains its original primary mission of preparing men and women for careers. Because of this, the university continues to have a job placement record of better than 90 percent for its graduates.

An area resident was among the group of students at Cardinal Stritch College, Milwaukee, who were inducted into Delta Epsilon Sigma, national scholastic honor society, on Sunday, Nov. 18.

The newly-inducted was: John Gundrum, son of Lawrence and Cordelia Gundrum, 1930 Stoney Creek Dr., Kewaskum.

Nominees for membership in DES must be undergraduate students who have completed at least half of their degree credit requirements and have demonstrated distinctive academic performance.

Village of Kewaskum NEWS NOTES 'Snow and Ice Removal'

The snow and ice season has arrived bringing along some problems. To alleviate the problem or to clarify a few items let us refer to the Municipal Code, Chapter 8.09, which covers "Snow and Ice Removal."

I. Sidewalks to be kept clear. The owner or occupant of any lot or parcel shall promptly each day remove all snow and ice which may have fallen or accumulated upon the sidewalk in front of each lot or parcel; provided, when ice has so formed that it cannot be removed, the owner or occupant shall keep the same sprinkled with a material which will prevent the sidewalk from being dangerous to pedestrians. If the owner or occupant fails to comply with this subsection, the Superintendent of Public Works shall cause the snow or ice to be removed or sprinkled as required in this section and the cost thereof assessed against the property as a special tax.

II. Snow not to be deposited in the streets. No person shall cause to be deposited snow from his premises or sidewalk abutting thereon onto any street in the Village without a permit from the Superintendent of Public Works who may require to be paid a fee sufficient to reimburse the Village for the cost of removal of such snow.

III. Other sidewalk hazards. This is the deposit of or washing of gravel from a private driveway onto a sidewalk. We ask that this gravel be removed promptly. It should be noted that not only does this gravel create a hazard on the sidewalk, but when it ends up in the gutter it blocks water drainage and eventually blocks/plugs storm sewers.

As for this and all ordinances a penalty is also provided for in Chapter 25.04 of this Municipal Code.

First Half Woes Cost UWWC Men

WEST BEND — For the second game in a row, the UW-Washington County men's basketball team got off to a sluggish start in the first half, and consequently, the Wildcats dropped their second straight contest.

UW-Fox Valley used a strong inside game and timely three-point shooting to propel themselves to a 41-16 lead in the first half, and then held off a second half surge by the Wildcats to win 87-60.

"We have been playing so tentatively," UWWC coach Jerry Meulemans said regarding his team's early season woes. "That comes from our inexperience."

The only thing that kept the Cats close in the first half was the play of forward Karl Klosowski. He scored 19 of UWWC's 26 first half points, using some nice moves and a good shooting touch to try and keep his team in the game.

Down 51-26 at the half, the Wildcats came out fired up in the second half, scoring the first 13 points to pull within 12, at 51-39, with 15:30 to play.

"(Marty) Dobson and (Jay) Leberecht finally gave some help to Klosowski," Meulemans said of the second half surge. Meulemans also credited "better rebounding and more aggressive defense," as a key in the Wildcats comeback.

Despite the inspired play by the Wildcats to open the second half, Fox Valley regained their composure and took control of the contest, methodically working the ball on offense to try and offset the Wildcats zone defense.

Rebounding was definitely a key in the matchup, as Fox Valley controlled the boards 39-28. UWWC also committed 18 turnovers, compared to the visitors' 12.

Klosowski finished with 26 points on the night, while no other Wildcat player scored in double figures. UWWC made just 21 of 55 shots (38%) from the field while falling to 0-2 on the year.

Tough Defense Propels UWWC Women

WEST BEND — Defense wins basketball games, and at UW-Washington County, the women's basketball team has been playing tough "D". So it's no wonder that the Wildcats won their second game in a row, getting an easy 59-22 victory over Milwaukee Area Technical College.

The Wildcats hustled and trapped their way to a 36-8 lead at intermission, allowing coach Tom Brigham a little bit of slack in the second half to try out different combinations of players.

"Our transition game is improving," Brigham said, obviously pleased with his team's performance. "We are working hard on our trapping zone defense," and it seemed to pay off in this game, as UWWC came up with 25 steals in the contest.

Leading the way in both steals and scoring was Jenny Meyer, who finished with 15 points, 6 steals and 10 rebounds. "Jenny did a good job on the offensive boards," Brigham said, noting Meyer had four offensive rebounds. But Brigham did add "We need to work on boxing out."

Rocky Justmann had another fine game, contributing 12 points to go along with her five steals and four assists. "Rocky did an excellent job on defense," Brigham added. Heidi Wagner also chipped in 11 points and four steals.

MATC was led by Yolanda Purifoy, who had eight points. The Wildcats limited MATC to just nine field goals the entire game, while the Lakestormers didn't help themselves out at the line, making just 2 of 11 attempts.

"Our team is starting to play together," Brigham went on to say. "I'm pleased with our balanced scoring," as all but one Wildcat got at least one basket in the game. UWWC shot 42% from the field, but struggled at the line, making just 44% of their free throw attempts.

The win improved the Wildcats recorded to 2-1 overall.

Deer Hunters Record Most Productive Opening Weekend

MADISON, WI — Bluebird weather and a burgeoning deer herd combined to give deer hunters the most productive opening weekend in the history of deer hunting in Wisconsin, according to Bill Ishmael, deer, bear and furbearer ecologist for the Department of Natural Resources.

Hunters registered 170,821 deer the first two days of the nine-day gun deer season, which runs from Nov. 17 through Nov. 25. The previous highest opening weekend registration total was in 1989, when hunters brought in 143,011 deer and then went on to a record season harvest of 310,192 whitetails.

"Hunting conditions weren't ideal because of the warm temperatures and lack of snow, but with the large deer herd and comfortable weather, hunters were still getting lots of deer," said Ishmael.

Deer registrations were up considerably in northern and western Wisconsin, spurred by increased hunting pressure following the issuance of a record number of Hunter's Choice permits, and in part due to the need to get the deer to a meat processor quickly.

"It looked to be a slower-paced hunt than in previous seasons," added Ishmael. "The warm weather was nice for sitting, so hunters were holding tight and didn't move around much."

Warm weather tends to make the deer hold tight also, but according to Ishmael, rutting activity kept the deer moving around in many areas of the state.

Following is a summary of opening weekend deer registrations around the state:

In the Northwest District, hunters registered 27,326 deer, up considerably from the 17,963 total of last year. In the Cumberland Area of Barron, Burnett, Polk and Washburn counties, registrations hit 12,410, more than 2,000 above the 1989 opening weekend figures.

Fire danger ranges from high to very high in northwest Wisconsin, and DNR Public Information Officer Jim Bishop, Spooner, asks hunters to use extreme caution in the woods. Several weekend fires in the forests were attributed to hunters.

"We have a special fire alert in the Northwest District until we get some rain or snow," said Bishop. "Hunters should be sure to completely extinguish all cigarettes and warming fires, and to make sure ashes from woodburning stoves and fireplaces are cool before disposing of them."

In the North Central District, opening weekend registrations hit 30,870, up 15 percent from last year's 26,939 total. The Wisconsin Rapids Area of Adams, Juneau, Portage and Wood counties totalled 12,095 deer; Marathon County registrations were at 5,831.

While the warm temperatures may account for some of the increase in registrations, DNR Public Information Officer Dave Daniels, Rhinelander, noted that hunting pressure is up considerably in northern Wisconsin, where the deer herd has flourished following the mild winters of the past few

In the Lake Michigan District, hunters registered 34,483 deer, up 10 percent from the 31,262 registered last year. The leading county in the district — and the state — was Marinette County, with 7578 deer brought in the first two days of the season. Marinette County also had the highest registrations on opening weekend in 1989, with 6388.

The Western District led all areas of the state, totalling 45,341 deer over the weekend; registrations were up 17 percent from last year's 38,618. The Black River Falls Area of Buffalo, Clark, Jackson and Trempealeau counties registered 20,056 deer.

The Southern District of southwest and southcentral Wisconsin had 30,620 deer registered the first two days of the season. The total is up 8 percent from 1989's 28,085 figure. The Dodgeville Area of Grant, Iowa, Lafayette, Richland and Sauk counties tallied 16,031 deer, up 7 percent from last year.

Rounding out the state, the Southeast District registered 2181 deer over the opening weekend.

Deer hunters who have Hunter's Choice permits for 67 deer management units in northern Wisconsin may participate in an extended gun deer season for antlerless deer only that runs from Nov. 26 through Dec. 2. A map of the units open during the extended season is available at DNR offices.

NOTE: The extended season is ONLY in 67 specific deer management units and is NOT open statewide. In addition, ONLY hunters with unfilled Hunter's Choice permits or bonus permits for those specific 67 units may tag an antlerless deer during the extended season.

Venison Sausage Lyme-Free If Cured Properly

by Joyce Albrecht
Extension Home Economist

Outdoor enthusiasts are better off checking for deer ticks than worrying about getting Lyme disease from venison sausage. Proper sausage-making should eliminate any Lyme bacteria that might occur in venison trimmings.

In a July press release, UW Madison food microbiologist E.H. Marth discussed his research on the behavior of Lyme bacteria during heating. Marth noted that he was unsure about the survival chances for the bacteria in mildly cooked sausages, such as summer sausage.

Dennis Buege, UW Madison Extension meats specialist, discussed the situation with Marth. They offer the following perspectives on Lyme and venison sausages.

To date, there is no record of infected meat causing Lyme disease in humans, according to Buege. However, since the Lyme bacterium has been found in the organs and blood of infected animals, it could potentially occur in muscle. Lab animals have contracted Lyme disease through feedings.

Small-diameter cooked sausages, such as wieners or ring bologna, are usually heated to 155 F. or higher in the relatively low temperatures [160 F to 180 F] of a smokehouse. This slow heating process and internal temperature should provide an adequate time-temperature margin of safety for destruction of the Lyme organism.

Although summer sausages are usually heated to internal temperatures of only 145 F to 155 F, Buege says this too provides an ample safety margin against the Lyme organism. UW Madison research has shown that 90 percent of the Lyme bacteria in a culture medium died when heated to 122 F to 5.5 minutes.

Even though the final internal temperatures are lower compared to wieners or bologna, the size of these sausages [2-3 inches in diameter] and the relatively slow heating rate in smokehouses means it will take one or more hours to raise the internal temperature from 120 F to 145 F. Although bacteria tend to die more slowly in a food product such as meat than in a liquid medium, the time-temperature exposure of this type of sausage offers a substantial measure of safety. The sale in the sausages may also increase the organism's susceptibility to heat.

Buege encourages meat processors to take their venison summer sausages to an internal temperature of 150 F or higher as an added measure of safety. In Marth's study, 90% of the Lyme bacteria dies when heated to 149 F for 30 seconds.

Cooking venison roasts, steaks or burgers to 160 F [medium] should eliminate any threat. The higher temperature recommendation is due to the faster cooking time in a home oven or stovetop.

Buege emphasizes that there have been no documented cases of humans contracting Lyme disease from eating food containing Lyme bacteria. These recommendations ensure an extra measure of safety.

Early symptoms of Lyme disease may include a red rash (often resembling a bull's-eye) at the bite site or other body areas, fatigue, stiff neck, headache, and "not feeling good." Untreated, Lyme disease can cause arthritis, heart-rhythm abnormalities and neurological problems. The disease can be treated with antibiotics.

Sewage Sludge, Other Organic Materials Provide Cheap Fertilizer

European farmers call it "black gold." Farmers in China have applied the valuable material to their land for centuries.

While few people in the United States probably give much thought to the value of sewage sludge, in many countries it is the oldest and most natural way to fertilize crops.

Now some Wisconsin farmers are also benefitting from sewage sludge applications to their fields. This is especially important with the current emphasis on sustainable agriculture, says University of Wisconsin - Madison soil scientist Art Peterson.

"Sustainable agriculture begins with recycling organic matter," Peterson notes.

In the United States, sewage sludge is often buried in landfills where it produces methane and can lead to environmental problems; or it is incinerated where it loses valuable organic matter. Applying organic materials such as sewage sludge to croplands reduces the burden on landfills and provides a cheap source of fertilizer.

Peterson has studied the benefits of adding sewage sludge to farmland for more than a decade at the Walworth County Farm. He has found that corn receiving sludge applied at annual rates of 3 tons to 6 tons per acre produces yields equal to fields that receive typical fertilizer applications. And a single sludge application can provide other benefits to the soil for several years afterwards.

"Sewage sludge also improves soil structure or tilth," Peterson notes! This will have a long-term beneficial effect on crop production.

Sludge is the solid that remains after sewage has been treated. Milwaukee was one of the first U.S. cities to recycle sewage sludge into an organic fertilizer. For the past 60 years, one Milwaukee treatment plant has dried, bagged and sold sludge nationwide under the name Milorganite.

Treatment plants in Milwaukee and Madison also apply sludge to area farms. Annual sludge application to farmland is based on nitrogen requirements of the crop grown. At average application rates sludge provides 140 to 160 pounds of nitrogen, 110 to 130 pounds of phosphorus, and 25 to 33 pounds of potassium per acre. Most sewage sludge in Wisconsin is applied on land planted to corn.

There is some concern over the heavy metal content in sewage sludge. Land where sludge is applied has to meet a set of criteria established by the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, says Peterson. Sewage treatment plants regularly test sludge for both nutrients and heavy metals such as arsenic, cadmium, chromium, copper, lead, nickel and zinc.

Applied at proper rates and on the right crops, sludge does not pose a human health problem, says Peterson. In general, sludge applications at the Walworth County Farm did not lead to increased metal concentrations in the grain. Most heavy metals in corn are located in the leaves and don't go into the ears, he notes.

Vegetables may be grown on land that has received a sludge application. However, Wisconsin DNR guidelines state that root crops such as carrots, onions and potatoes may not be planted for 18 months after the application.

Peterson and several other UW-Madison researchers are also studying how sludge applications can benefit fast growing hybrid poplar trees. These trees produce pulp in 10 to 15 years and could also provide Wisconsin residents and industries with an alternative fuel.

In addition, Peterson is working with land applications of other organic materials such as leaves and whey, a by-product of cheese making. Results from the application of 20 to 40 tons of leaves per acre at the West Madison Agricultural Research Station has shown that corn produced good yields even without additional fertilizer.

Whey that is dumped into ditches or streams can kill fish and pose other environmental problems. The best way to overcome this is to use whey for human food or livestock feed, or apply it to farmland, says Peterson. Whey provides valuable crop nutrients and its sugars allow soil bacteria to multiply rapidly and improve soil tilth.

"Whey is a complete fertilizer that's just as good as anything that can be applied," Peterson notes.

Cedar Grove First; Indians Fourth Poor Shooting Plagues Indian Girls in Holiday Tournament

KEWASKUM — Already suffering from a shortage of guards, the Kewaskum girls basketball team lost its shooting eye as well in the annual Holiday Tournament over the Thanksgiving break.

The Indians shot poorly from the field in both of their games, resulting in a pair of losses and a fourth place finish in the Tourney.

In Friday night's opening round, the Indians were beaten by Cedar Grove 58-41, sending them into Saturday's consolation game against Campbellsport, which lost to St. Mary's Springs in Friday night's other semifinal, 54-43.

The Indians and the Cougars went down to the wire, but Campbellsport was able to come away with a 34-29 decision. Cedar Grove, meanwhile, showed it was the class of the Tournament, as they beat Springs, 66-45.

"We just didn't show any patience," Indian coach Glenn Eichstedt said of his team's effort against Cedar Grove. "We fell behind and then tried to make up points in a hurry. We hurried a lot of our shots."

The result was the Indians making just 15 of 55 shots from the field (20%). Adding to the Indians' woes was their 11 for 28 performance at the line. Cedar Grove, on the other hand, made 19 of 53 shots from the floor, and 18 of 33 at the line.

"They pressed us a lot," Eichstedt went on to say, noting that the Indians fell behind 24-19 at the half. "They did a tremendous job with their press. They just outlasted us."

The Indians came into the tournament missing a pair of key players. Eichstedt reported that starting guard Amy Chesak came down with mono and will be sidelined for an indefinite period, as will Brenda Falk, who suffered a hip injury.

That left the Indians thin at the guard position, forcing Eichstedt to use forward Kelly Rohlinger in the backcourt. Rohlinger responded well, scoring 13 points to lead Kewaskum.

"She did a real nice job," Eichstedt said of Rohlinger. "She gave us a great effort." Nicole Doherty also played well, scoring nine points in the defeat. Jenny Dekker led Cedar Grove with 18 points, while Rachel DeRuyter chipped in 11.

That sent the Indians into the consolation game against Campbellsport. Once again the Indians had trouble finding their shooting range, as they connected on just 14 of 48 shots (29%).

Campbellsport was even worse, hitting on just 26 percent of their tries (12 of 45), but the difference was at the free throw line. That was where the Cougars got ten more points than the Indians, making 10 of 21 shots, compared to Kewaskum's 0 for 3.

"We just didn't do a good job of attacking the basket and getting fouls called," Eichstedt said. "They were able to penetrate inside, while we were unable to do that effectively."

The Indians held a 8-6 lead after one quarter of play, but the Cougars came right back to take a 15-13 lead at intermission. The Cougars stretched their lead to four after the third quarter, but the Indians battled back to force a tie at 29-all with 1:10 to go in the game.

But the Indians next three possessions netted them just one shot, while Campbellsport was able to score five points to put the game away.

"I felt that we played good enough defensively to win," an obviously frustrated Eichstedt said of the game. "But offensively, we were just never able to get into any kind of routine. We just didn't play well as a team offensively."

The Indians were led by Janel Flynn, who scored 11 points in a losing cause. Campbellsport was led by Janel Emmer and Jodi Klotz, who tallied nine and eight points, respectively.

Eichstedt added that Campbellsport did a good job on defense as the Cougars' zone "really contained us." He added, "We're going through some growing pains on offense right now, but hopefully we will learn from our mistakes."

Of the tournament champion Cedar Grove squad, Eichstedt said "They really put on a show defensively. You really have to give them credit. They really played well."

Indians Second in Triple Dual

The Indians came in second at the triple dual held in Kewaskum on Wednesday. The Indians defeated both Grafton and Brown Deer, 40-36 and 43-36, and lost to Campbellsport rivals, 26-48.

With an unexpected second, the Indians did extremely well considering they gave up seven forfeits in seven different weight classes.

In the first match, the Indians faced off against Grafton where all but one wrestler, Chad Muckerheide, pinned their opponents. Although the freshmen newcomer did not pin, Muckerheide wrestled a tough match and defeated Mike Zirbes at 152, 9-0. Carrying through to the second match against Brown Deer, Muckerheide also won by a decision, 13-2. Unfortunately Chad Grohall of Campbellsport, stopped Muckerheide in the last round as Muckerheide was defeated in a close match of 9-8. As the lone freshmen on the team, Muckerheide looks tough and hopes to have a good season.

Also doing well were Mark Dziedzic and Jeff Sabish at 125 and 130. Both Dziedzic and Sabish pinned all three opponents. Dziedzic, who was out last season due to a broken arm, proved to be prepared as he pinned each of his opponents in 3:35, 1:13 and 2:00.

Sabish, the only senior on the team, pinned in :55, 2:12 and 1:24.

At 145, Josh Kurtz kept the team spirit up, pinning Mandel

WINTER PARKING

The Winter Parking Restrictions and Snow Emergency Parking Restrictions go into effect on December 1, 1990.

Municipal Code Section 7.04(3) Night Parking Restrictions, reads as follows: Signs have been erected at or reasonably near the corporate limits as provided in Section 349.13, Wisconsin Statutes, no person excepting physicians or licensed emergency vehicles on emergency calls, shall park or stop any vehicle on any public street or highway within the village between the hours of 2:00 A.M. and 6:00 A.M. from December 1, to April 1, of each year; provided that, notwithstanding such restrictions vehicles may be parked a period of time not longer than 3 minutes for actually loading or unloading of passengers, and provided further that no other regulation restricting parking as to place, time, or manner violated thereby.

The fine for violating the ordinance is:

$5.00 if paid within three (3) days of the issuance of the parking citation.

$10.00 if paid after ten (10) days but before 28 days.

After 28 days, the amount is $20.00 and a notice will be sent to the Motor Vehicle Department to suspend your vehicle registrations and refuse renewals until the citation is satisfied.

An important fact is the owner of the vehicle is responsible for the payment of the citation whether or not he was the operator.

Municipal Code Section 7.04 (4) Removal of Illegally Parked Vehicles. This section covers the issuance of citations to and possible removal of such vehicles in violation of this ordinance. In addition to other penalties provided by Section 7.04(6) of this code, the owner or operator of a vehicle so removed shall pay the cost of towing and storage.

of Grafton and Sanderson of Brown Deer in :52 and :54 respectively. In Kurtz's match against Campbellsport's Jacob Wenger, Wenger came short of putting any moves on Kurtz, yet Kurtz was unable to pin him. Kurtz won by decision 7-0.

Todd Muckerheide, the sophomore at 171, received a forfeit against Grafton and pinned Paul Reneau of Brown Deer in :40. Todd was defeated however, in a close match against Mike McCready of Campbellsport 6-7.

Varsity newcomer, Mark Morell did well for his first varsity performance earning a record of 2-1 as he pinned both Grafton and Brown Deer.

Kapp, 3-0, stuck Grafton's Jason Dierkes in 2:19 and decided both Brown Deer and Campbellsport.

The Indians look sharp for the young wrestlers. With such a start at the season, the Indians hope to continue their good work throughout the season.

Th Indians wrestle at Cedar Grove on Thursday.
