C of C Announces Home Decorating Contest Winners

The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce Home Decorating judges have spent long hours of deliberation pondering the outcome of this year's contest.

The decisions were extremely difficult to make this year considering there were only six prizes to award and so many houses to choose from.

Kewaskum can be very proud of the Christmas Spirit they helped to bring out with the multitude of light and innovative ideas. All over town you could hear people talking about the beautifully decorated houses.

The judges have picked the following houses as their personal favorites. Drive around town just one more time to see if you agree

Kewaskum Village Board President Paul Blumer Dies

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Kewaskum's village board president, Paul Blumer died unexpectedly Tuesday evening, December 25th, of an apparent heart attack.

Blumer had been on the board since April, 1979, serving four terms as a trustee prior to his election as president. In 1987, Blumer was elected to the post of president, replacing David Nigh, who retired.

Blumer had recently taken out nomination papers in anticipation of running for his third term as president.

Paul was employed for many years as a car and truck salesman for Honeck Chevrolet. See complete obituary on another page.

No Candidates Yet in School, Village Board Elections

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

As of Wednesday morning, there had been no announced candidates for either the Kewaskum Board of Education or Kewaskum Village Board.

The terms of incumbent school board president Neal Weare and board member Perry Ankerson will expire next spring. According to the School District Administration Office, no one, as yet, has even taken out nomination papers, leaving the two posts up for grabs.

The unexpected death of Kewaskum village board president Paul Blumer, Tuesday, will change the complexion of that race. Blumer had taken out nomination papers to run for his third term as president. His death will leave the post vacant necessitating the need for the board to appoint an interim president until at least the spring election.

With only four days left to file papers, it is unclear how the position will be filled for the new term beginning in April, 1991. One of the trustees could decide to run for the post, resulting in the creation of a vacant trusteeship, or a new candidate could file for the position or a trusteeship, if one should open.

The terms of incumbent trustees Mary Krueger, Kenneth Bonlender and Robert Beisbier are also expiring. Besides Blumer, Krueger and Beisbier had taken out papers, but so far, none had been returned, according to Village Administrator Dan Schmidt.

Deadline for filing papers in either election is January 2nd.

Mixed Reaction to Plans for Private Spa in Farmington

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Approximately 75 Town of Farmington residents attended an informational meeting at the Town Hall Wednesday night to hear the proposal of Wes Pavalon to build a health spa on his 125-acre property in the township.

The meeting, which lasted about three hours, consisted of a video presentation and information about Pavalon's property and plans to build a private health spa including living units to accommodate a maximum of 60 people.

Pavalon and his staff from the Rosebud Trust, provided information on national and international spas which would be used as guides in the construction of the project.

Plans call for the development and construction of a spa targeted at high income individuals, providing privacy, first class amenities and a therapeutic and medicinal health program. Pavalon and his staff expect to draw patrons from all over Wisconsin, the country and, eventually, all over the world.

A preliminary outline for the spa calls for the construction of a main dining building and about 15 to 18 multiple and/or single living units situated on about 40 acres in the northern section of the parcel. The complex would not be visible from the road.

Among the staff working on the project are Dr. Reinhard Bergel of California who is well-known for his association with similar spas, and Dr. George Korkos, who brought the idea to Pavalon, a long-time friend.

Some township residents were concerned the spa would be detrimental to the community. Questions were raised about the impact of additional traffic, the number of employees and what would happen if the project failed.

When the idea became public several months ago, residents became concerned when rumors began circulating that Pavalon also planned to include a casino in the project.

One resident asked what the alternative would be if the plan did not succeed. Michael Bamberger, an attorney for the trust, indicated he did not foresee that happening. "In the worst scenario, it would be used for residences," he stated. Bamberger noted the land is already zoned for single family homes.

Town of Farmington Chairman Jack Theusch said the meeting answered some of the questions raised by residents. "Up to now, we really did not have an idea of what was being proposed."

"From the video and information," said Theusch, "we're looking at a very private upscale spa." If we go by the examples presented at the meeting, he noted, we're looking at rates ranging anywhere from $2,000 to at least $3,500 a week, and that

Space Heater Cause of House Fire

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

A fire which severely damaged a rural Kewaskum house last Wednesday evening is being blamed on a space heater being used in the home's kitchen.

According to Campbellsport Second Assistant Fire Chief Donald Stoffel, his department received the call about 9:30 p.m., stating there was a fire at the Wilmer Klahn, Jr. residence at 397 Hwy. 45N.

Because the call was a house fire Campbellsport immediately called for mutual aid from the Kewaskum Fire Department.

According to Stoffel, the family was using an LP gas space heater in the kitchen when the tank sprang a leak causing a fire to erupt. Klahn tried to put out the fire with an extinguisher, however the extinguisher ran dry before the fire was completely out and the leaking tank re-ignited enveloping the kitchen in flames. The Klahn family managed to escape unharmed from the house and call the fire department.

When Campbellsport firefighters arrived on the scene there was heavy smoke. "Upon entering the home," said Stoffel, "we could still hear the LP tank leaking fuel." Firemen removed the tank and proceeded to battle the fire.

Stoffel said the fire itself was basically confined to the kitchen area, however the entire house sustained heavy smoke damage.

Firefighters were at the scene approximately an hour. The Kewaskum Department provided men and equipment in

Wisconsin's New Recycling Law Begins on January 1

MADISON — Consumers statewide will be required to recycle for the first time beginning January 1, 1991 when used motor oil, worn-out vehicle batteries and old household appliances no longer can be thrown out in trash destined for landfills or some incinerators.

The disposal ban affecting batteries, oil and appliances is authorized by Wisconsin's new recycling law, said Department of Natural Resources Secretary C.D. "Buzz" Besadny.

"Some people have been recycling for a long time," Besadny said. "Now everyone in the state must recycle because it's required by law."

According to information compiled by the DNR, Wisconsin consumers discard half a million used household appliances each year, but most already are recycled. Only 9 percent of the 3.5 million to 4.5 million gallons of waste oil produced by do-it-yourself auto mechanics in Wisconsin is recycled. The rest is dumped on the ground, deposited in trash bound for landfills or poured down storm sewers.

Most car and truck batteries are recycled because they contain valuable lead, but 20 percent of Americans are storing two or more old batteries that could be recycled.

The January disposal ban is the first of three bans mandated by the state's recycling law, which Gov. Tommy G. Thompson signed last April. Yard waste may not be hauled to landfills or burned in incinerators that do not recover energy beginning in 1993. And within five years, more than a dozen items must be recycled instead of buried or burned, including newspapers, cardboard and glass, plastic and steel containers.

"By 1995, recycling will be second nature for many Wisconsinites," Besadny said.

According to Paul Koziar of the department's Bureau of Solid and Hazardous Waste Management, good markets currently exist for old batteries, used appliances and used oil.

"All three items contain valuable, recoverable raw materials," Koziar said. "They can be successfully recycled if handled properly and taken to the right place."

Batteries contain lead that can be processed and re-used. Appliances are made of high-quality steel that can be recycled into new metal products, including new appliances. Used motor oil can be cleaned, or "re-refined," producing a motor oil with a quality as high as new motor oil.

"It's important to recycle these items, not only to save landfill space or recover raw materials, but to protect the environment," Koziar said.

According to the department, used oil that isn't recycled can contaminate Wisconsin lakes, rivers, wetlands and groundwater. Used batteries sitting in homes and garages present a safety hazard. Some old appliances manufactured before 1979 feature motors cooled with liquids that contain toxic PCBs (polychlorinated biphenyls). PCBs from appliances that are handled improperly can escape into the environment and pose a health risk to organisms in the food chain, including birds, mammals and humans.

Recycling batteries, oil and appliances is relatively straightforward, Koziar said.

"Some people already recycle these items," he said. "A lot more people need to start by finding out where and how these items can be recycled locally."

Used oil may be taken to public or private drop-off sites, he said. Batteries may be taken to battery retailers, who are required under the state recycling law to accept up to two used batteries a day from each consumer. Retailers may charge a small fee of several dollars for taking used batteries; others may pay rebates when the used battery market is strong. Some local governments charge fees to transport used appliances to recycling businesses.

The department has prepared a directory of businesses or public sites which accept used oil, batteries or appliances. The agency will distribute the list next week to its offices statewide and to local governments and other outlets. Copies will be available upon request beginning December 27 from the Recycling Unit, Bureau of Information and Education, P.O. Box 7921, Madison WI 53707, (608) 267-7375.

More more information contact Paul Koziar, 608-267-9388.

Theusch said the trust anticipates about an average 60% weekly capacity. Based on the maximum capacity figure of 60 people, we're looking about 36 people there at a time.

Wednesday's presentation was just a rough layout of the project, said Theusch. The next step will be for the trust to draw up some definite plans and present them at a public hearing. "If everything goes smoothly," said Theusch, "we're tentatively planning on scheduling that public hearing for January 9th."

Campbellsport Man Injured In Weekend Accident

Fog, mist and slippery road conditions apparently contributed to a three-vehicle accident last Friday night Dec. 21, which left Loren R. Ketter, 59, of 2180 Hwy. DD, Campbellsport in critical condition with head and internal injuries. The accident occurred shortly after 8 p.m. on Highway 67, and County Trunk SS.

According to the limited information available, Ketter was apparently struck while driving a tractor being used to unload corn from a disabled gravity wagon parked on Hwy. 67, just east of Hwy. SS.

A Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Department spokesperson said Ketter was apparently loading corn into a truck parked on the eastbound shoulder of the road with its lights on when he was struck by a vehicle driven by Shane N. Gilles, 16, of N3828 Hwy. V, Cascade. A second vehicle driven by Arnold Seifert of Milwaukee, unable to avoid the accident scene, then hit the Ketter and Gilles vehicles.

Because of the poor visibility, said the spokesperson, the two drivers were apparently unable to stop in time to avoid the collisions.

Ketter remains in the Intensive Care Unit of St. Agnes Hospital, Fond du Lac.

No citations had been issued according to the preliminary information available.

In another weekend accident, a Campbellsport woman was injured in a collision with a Fox River Valley train early Saturday morning, Dec. 22. The incident happened at 1:34 a.m.

Karla J. Theisen, 17, of 2411 County Trunk SSS, was traveling east on County Hwy. F, in Eden, when she broadsided the eleventh car of the train.

According to the conductor's statement, Theisen did not look like she was going to stop as she approached the train. The conductor told authorities he saw Theisen's brake lights go on just before she hit the train.

Corporation Seeking Community Interest in Elderly Housing Project

The Liefkring Schmidt Corporation has notified the Village of Kewaskum of their interest in providing moderate income elderly housing serving Kewaskum and its surrounding communities. The purpose of this development is to service those over the age of 62 years with affordable, high quality housing.

Financing for the development would be through the Farmers Home Administration. Rents would be established and controlled by the FmHA to assure affordability.

The building development will include both one-bedroom and two-bedroom apartments, common social areas with kitchen facilities, an elevator and laundry facilities. The apartments will be furnished with appliances, carpeting and drapes. Private parking will be available along with patio and garden areas.

To meet the requirements of the FmHA, Liefkring Schmidt Corp. is conducting a survey to determine interest in this type of project. The results of this survey will determine the number of units provided. All individuals age 60 and older should respond to this survey to demonstrate to the FmHA the interest and support of the community.

The individuals responding to the survey should understand that their response will help in justifying the size of the project and the amenities provided. Individuals not interested in moving to a housing development as proposed need also respond to assure its existence for their future years.

Liefkring Schmidt Corp. has a long-term interest in these housing projects. Therefore, the quality of the structure and its role in meeting the community's needs are our main concerns.

For information on this project and the survey contact:

Mark R. Schmidt, Liefkring Schmidt Corporation, W308 N5584 Windrise Circle, Hartland, WI 53029, (414) 367-3581.

KES 5th Graders Compete in Annual State Quiz Bowl

A team of fifth graders from Kewaskum Elementary School competed in the second annual Wisconsin 5th/6th Grade Thinking Cap Quiz Bowl on November 8, 1990. Out of the 120 5th grade teams that participated, Kewaskum 5th graders placed 37th with a score of 1059.

The Quiz Bowl is an academic competition available to schools in Wisconsin. In order to participate, the school had to purchase a computer disk containing the quiz. On the day of the quiz, all teams participating across the state ran the programs for the first time.

It took about an hour to complete the quiz of 100 questions related to all subject areas. Ten points were awarded for each correct answer given on the first try and five points were given if the answer was correct on the second try. Bonus points were also earned depending on how quickly the correct answer was given.

Low Interest Loans Available for Veterans

Eligible Wisconsin veterans who need money for medical bills, essential home improvements, education expenses or other basic necessities may qualify for a 6 percent annual interest rate loan from the Wisconsin Department of Veterans Affairs (WDVA).

Veterans may use the WDVA Economic Assistance Loan for a variety of essential purposes, such as debt consolidation, home weatherization, purchases for a farm or business, necessary furniture and appliances like a stove or refrigerator, downpayments on mobile homes, garage construction, dental bills, and funeral expenses. However, the loan may not be used for luxuries, such as entertainment or travel.

$4,500.00 is the maximum amount an eligible veteran may borrow, and the loan usually must be repaid within five years. With 6 percent interest, a $4,500.00 economic assistance loan would require minimum payments of $90.00 per month for five years.

To qualify for the loan, the regular combined income of the veteran and spouse cannot exceed $30,000.00 per year. This limit is increased $500.00 for each dependent in excess of two.

In addition to state wartime veterans, unremarried spouses and dependent children of deceased veterans from Wisconsin may qualify for economic assistance loans if they meet WDVA eligibility and residency requirements.

For more information about WDVA eligibility requirements or other state and federal veterans benefits, contact Richard W. Baker, Veterans' Service Officer, Washington County, 335-4457 or the Veterans Service Officer in your county.

County 'WE TIP' Line Helps Clear Vandalism Case

On October 22, 1990, this Department did receive a call of vandalism which occurred in the Newburg area. The vandalism involved the damage of grave-stones in a cemetery in the Village of Newburg. Total damage was estimated at approximately $600. At the time of the vandalism complaint report, there were no good leads as to the parties involved.

On November 19, 1990, a call was received on the WE TIP Line, and an anonymous caller provided the West Bend Police Department with two names of individuals who were possibly involved in the vandalism. Another anonymous call was received through the WE TIP line on December 2, 1990. This caller provided the name of another male suspect who may have been involved in the vandalism incident.

A follow-up investigation was done using the information provided and the investigation lead to the arrest of two males juvenile suspects. Both of these male juveniles were from the Newburg area.

Due to the valuable information received through the WE TIP line this case was cleared with arrests and with restitution having been ordered.

A monetary reward was determined for both anonymous callers and the rewards will be awarded to the callers in the near future. Hopefully this type of success and cooperation will continue as the WE TIP line becomes more familiar and publicized through the local news agencies and other media. It is obvious that the WE TIP line can be a very useful tool in criminal investigations as long as citizens of the community are willing to provide any valuable information they may have.

'Introduction to Children's Literature And Storytelling' to Be Offered at UWWC

World renown author and storyteller Ann Pellowski will teach "Introduction to Children's Literature and Storytelling" at UWWC next semester. The course is one of three UWM courses being offered in West Bend in the spring semester.

The upper level/graduate course is designed to introduce students to the selection and evaluation of children's literature and to study various methods in storytelling. The course may be used as part of the requirements for the DPI Library/Media Specialist license. The class will meet on three Fridays from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. and three Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. beginning Feb. 1.

"Anyone can tell a story," explains Pellowski, "You can just tell it better once you have practiced it in a way that models good storytelling." She adds that plenty of adults are interested in storytelling and it is not just for children. Parts of her newly revised book, "The World of Storytelling" will be used during the class. Although students will examine the sources and history of storytelling most of the class will be a practical exploring of the variety and formats of storytelling.

Pellowski, who is UWM's Storyteller-in-Residence, is the past director of the Information Center on Children's Cultures for the U.S. Committee for UNICEF in New York City. She travels around the world conducting workshops, consulting and teaching courses. She continues to serve as a consultant to UNESCO on children's literature and book production.

She has written many books, monographs, articles and recordings. Her specialties are children's literature from other countries and storytelling. She advised anyone who may be interested in the UWM course to browse her "Family Storytelling Handbook," which is available in most libraries, to get an idea of what her course will be like.

Registration is currently taking place at UWWC. For more information call the Student Services Office at 335-5201. Students call register in West Bend or at UWM.

FIRST FOOT

The "first-foot" tradition came from England, where a glass of wine and slice of bun loaf rewarded visitors who arrived first at a home following the birth of a New Year. A "first-foot", also known as a lucky bird, brought with him traditional symbols of warmth and hospitality — coal, bread and ale. He was welcomed because he "let in" the New Year — but he also represented the old year — always leaving by the back door.

Suzanne Bastian of 1262 E. Green Lake Drive, West Bend, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ruplinger of 9550 Skyline Drive, Allenton, announce the engagement of their children, Debra Lee and Brian Karl. Debra is also the daughter of the late Harvey Bastian Jr.

Debra graduated from Kewaskum High School in 1985 and is employed at Carlson Travel Network in Bayside.

Brian is a 1985 graduate of Kewaskum High School, and attends the University of Wisconsin - Stevens Point majoring in paper science.

An Aug. 15, 1992, wedding is being planned by the couple.

Friends of Abused Families' Christmas Party a Success

On Dec. 8th, Friends of Abused Families sponsored a Christmas party for victims of domestic abuse to help provide them with a Merry Christmas. The party was held at Immanuel Church of Christ and the holiday spirit was shared by all who attended.

While the children waited for the arrival of Santa, they played games for prizes and met McGruff, the crime fighting dog, from the police department. Each child got a picture with Santa and received a stocking. Entertainment was provided by the Kewaskum High School Swing Choir.

A special thanks goes out to Washington County businesses, organizations, and individuals for their generous donations that made the party a success. Each family received gifts and food for Christmas Day through donations from the community.

Volunteers who helped organize the party, wrap gifts, and collect donations also need to be recognized for their work. The true meaning of Christmas definitely was displayed by the people of Washington County by the wonderful response Friends received to help victims of domestic abuse celebrate Christmas.

Continuing Education Available
Moraine Park Technical College offers continuing education courses in agriculture, business, general education, health occupations, home economics, safety and trade and technical fields at all three of its campuses and its 16 instructional centers.

Avoid the Holiday 'Rush' on Wisconsin Roads

For safer holiday travel on roads that may be snowy or icy, State Patrol Administrator Ted Meekma recommends that people drive cautiously and be prepared for changing weather and road conditions.

"The 'Christmas Rush' does not mean rushing on the roads to office holiday parties, family gatherings or your local shopping mall," said Meekma. "Give the gift of safety to yourself and others on the road by driving at speeds that are reasonable for roadway conditions."

Drivers should be prepared to adjust to changing roadway conditions and be on the lookout for possible hazards.

"Tail-gating is especially dangerous when roads get slippery. Even when the road condition is good, you should keep at least one car length between your car and the car ahead of you for every ten miles per hour that you are travelling. When the roads are slick, you should put even more distance between yourself and other cars," said Meekma.

People also should not rush off without scraping their windows and mirrors. Visibility is worse during winter, and a clear view is especially important.

"And on your way there and back, be sure to buckle up your safety belt," Meekma added. "It only takes two or three seconds and is the single most important way to improve your safety on the road."

Law enforcement officials will make your Christmas a bleak one if you get behind the wheel drunk. "Driving drunk in Wisconsin could mean losing your license on the spot and facing hefty costs, if you're lucky. You could also be seriously injured or killed in a car crash caused by your carelessness," Meekma warned.

"Last year, 272 people lost their lives in alcohol-related car crashes. Don't become another statistic this holiday," said Meekma.

Before starting out on the road this holiday weekend, Meekma suggests calling the State Patrol's road condition report services: the number in Milwaukee is (414) 785-7140; in Madison (608)246-7580; and toll-free for the rest of the state 1(800)ROAD-WIS (762-3947). All three numbers use the same report.

Area Students Included in Who's Who Among American High School Students

A total of 185 students from this area have been included in the 24th Annual Edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS, 1989-90.

WHO'S WHO, published by Educational Communications, Inc., Lake Forest, Illinois, is the largest high school recognition publication in the country. Students are nominated by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups, churches or by the publishing company based upon students' performance in scholarship award contests or extracurricular activities.

Final selection is determined on the basis of criteria which include high achievement in academics and leadership in school activities, athletics or community service. Traditionally, 99 percent of WHO'S WHO students have a grade point average of "B" or better and 97 percent are college bound.

The 24th edition of WHO'S WHO, published in 15 regional volumes, features over 650,000 students, or 5 percent of the nation's 12,000,000 high school students. They represent 18,000 of the 22,000 public, private and parochial high schools in the country.

Good News With Community Church Hope for a New Year

The hope for your new year can be as bright as the promises of God. The Bible offers you confidence for the future! Nothing in the coming year - rising prices, unemployment, or family problems can change this solid hope.

The prophet Jeremiah knew the secret: "Blessed (happy) is the man who trusts in the Lord, and whose confidence is in Him" (Jeremiah 17:7).

The person who has never trusted Jesus Christ may see life as hopeless. In the final analysis, he is right, for Ephesians 2:12 says for without Christ man has no hope and is without God in the world.

Jesus Christ offers what you could never purchase and no one can take from you...

Love that is not based on your feelings or merits but on the never-ending mercies of God (Romans 5:8).

Freedom to know and enjoy God because Jesus Christ has taken the punishment for your sins (I Peter 3:18).

Friendship that will never disappoint you because Jesus promised, "Never will I leave you, never will I forsake you" (Hebrews 13:5).

A reason for living because following Christ gives true meaning and purpose of life (John 14:6).

An eternal home where the killjoys of earth - selfishness hatred, and death will all be gone (Revelation 21:4).

As you enter this new year, you can depend on yourself and wish for the best, or you can put your hope in God. Through faith in His Word you can be filled with hope that will never fail and life that will never end.

Community Church meets every Sunday at 10:00 a.m. at their new location at 2005 S. Main St. in West Bend. Sunday School is at 9:00 a.m. for all ages.

Pin Money

New Year's Day hasn't always been January 1 in England, but it has always been a day for giving and receiving presents. Kings and queens received very elaborate gifts on this day. Gifts presented by ordinary people led to the phrase "pin money." It was custom for men to give their wives and daughters money for pins and knick-knacks on New Year's Day.

It was also decided to hold the annual dance on Sylvester evening Friday, Dec. 31st. The following were

This community was greatly shocked last Thursday evening when the news was circulated of the sudden death of Robert Little of the town of Kewaskum after an illness of only two days duration. Mr. Little died December 23rd, aged 56 years. A fitting obituary will appear in next week's paper.

Sickness is the topic of village conversation these days. The LaGrippe being the chief factor.

Bite size morsels for New Year's Eve party

Horns honk, whistles blow, champagne glasses clink and people chime "happy new year!" ushering in 1983.

A bubbly crowd of animated partygoers, boisterously conversing while intermittently sipping drinks and nibbling hors d'oeuvres, allow the host and hostess of the party to join in the fun.

Although much of party's success depends on the guests' moods and spontaneity, setting up an inviting atmosphere with flowing drinks and plenty of food certainly helps.

Dim lights and candles soften the surroundings, providing a stress-free environment. Plants, flowers and decorative food containers add a dash of color.

Background music with few interruptions, such as long tapes or FM radio, helps everyone unwind and socialize.

Seats arranged in clusters initiate small group conversations. Scattered amongst the sofa, chairs, and large stuffed pillows, stand tables amply supplied with ashtrays, candy and nuts.

Crudites — crunchy vegetables such as carrots, celery, cauliflower, broccoli and radishes — and dip are a healthy alternative to crackers and spread.

When the crowd gathers, make sure the room is well ventilated for maximum comfort. Then, start bringing in the luscious delectables you've expertly created.

Ingenuity is a key factor in preparing decorative and delicious edibles. In the vegetable category, for instance, new potatoes may be boiled, sliced, and topped with a dollop of sour cream and caviar.

Cherry tomatoes filled with the same fillings as their counterparts, such as a mixture of cottage cheese or ricotta and chives, chilled, or spinach and mozzarella, heated, make their debut in a last-minute dash.

Artichokes are a fun finger food. Succulent leaves plucked from the displayed vegetable may be dipped in a choice of sauces and drawn through your teeth to eat the pulp.

Celery stuffed with either vegetable cream cheese or peanut butter will keep guests crunching for hours.

Here's a new twist on a classic hors d'oeuvre — Stuffed Mushrooms. This recipe is from Best Loved Recipes of the American People by Ida Bailey Allen (Dolphin Books Doubleday & Co., Inc.).

STUFFED MUSHROOMS

- 20 medium-sized fresh mushroom caps
 - 1/2 cup chopped mushroom stems
 - 2 tablespoons fine-chopped onions
 - 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 - 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
 - 1/2 cup chopped Brazil nuts
 - 1/2 cup cooked or canned tomatoes
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 cup grated American cheese
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- Wash and dry mushroom caps. Cook mushroom stems and onions in butter slowly for 5 minutes (do not brown). Combine all ingredients except mushroom caps. Arrange on a baking sheet; broil 10 to 15 minutes until browned on top. Serve hot. Makes 20.

Ethnic dishes in miniature portions usually make a big hit. Bite-size pizza and quiche offer a taste of European cuisine.

Knishes and pierogies, pockets of dough filled with potato, kasha (buckwheat groats) and several other fillings, are novelty entries.

From the east, mini-eggrolls and Japanese tempura, battered and fried fish, chicken or vegetables, make fine fare with flair.

Well-planned party menus are offered in Recipe For a Great Affair by Annette Annechild and Russell Bennett (Simon and Schuster). Included is the Spinach Quiche Squares recipe that follows.

SPINACH QUICHE SQUARES

- Dough
- 2 cups white flour, unbleached
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 5 tablespoons ice water
- Filling
- 2 packages frozen chopped spinach, defrosted and press dried
 - 1 1/2 pounds shredded cheese (1/2 sharp Cheddar, 1/2 Swiss)
 - 7 large grade A eggs
 - 2 cups half-and-half
 - 1 small onion
 - 1/2 can chicken broth
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon lemon pepper (optional)
 - 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
 - 1 teaspoon sweet basil
 - 3 tablespoons parsley (flakes or fresh)
 - 1 large clove garlic

1. Blend first three ingredients till texture is crumbly. You can use a pastry blender or the knife and fork method.
2. Add water 1 tablespoon at a time till dough pulls together.
3. Form into ball and refrigerate 30 minutes.
4. Preheat oven to 375° and prepare filling by blending ingredients for 30 seconds at high speed.
5. Roll dough into a rectangle larger than your cookie sheet, then place dough on sheet.
6. Crimp edges 1/4-inch higher on sides than the sheet to form rim.
7. Lay cheese on bottom of shell.
8. Add filling.
9. Lay spinach on top and pat lightly.
10. Bake for 45 minutes or until golden brown.
11. Store in refrigerator or freezer on cookie sheet.

12. Cut into 96 squares before serving. To get 96 squares out of one sheet of quiche, cut in half lengthwise, then cut each half in half lengthwise, then turn and repeat widthwise.

*For the dough, you will need a cookie sheet with raised edges all around.

Try your own variations with meat, fish and fowl. Everyone's familiar with "pigs in a blanket" but have you ever tried wrapping prosciutto around a melon cube, or a snow pea pod around shrimp?

How about scaling down shish-kebab (lamp chunks, mushrooms, onion, and pepper fired on a stick)?

For a sophisticated hot hors d'oeuvre, try Meatballs Chablis from Barbara Gibbons' The Light and Easy Cookbook (Macmillan Publishing Co., Inc.).

MEATBALLS CHABLIS

- 1/2 cup fine bread crumbs
 - 1/4 cup Chablis or other dry white wine
 - 1 lb. lean beef round, ground
 - 1 egg, slightly beaten
 - 1/2 tsp. salt or seasoned salt
 - 1/4 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
 - 2 Tbs. chopped parsley
 - 1 Tbs. minced onion
- Preheat the broiler. Combine all of the ingredients and mix well. Shape into 1-inch balls. Broil on the highest rack until the meatballs are browned. Turn; brown the other side. Serve on picks. Makes 25 meatballs, 35 calories each.

Farmer's Tax Guides Available

The Farmer's Tax Guide publication #225 printed by the Internal Revenue service is now available at the Washington County Extension Office.

This publication is a popular publication for farm families and individuals working with farm income tax returns. It can be used as guide to calculating income taxes and provides information to help complete farm returns.

There are only a minimum number of changes to Federal Tax Laws for the 1990 tax year, and the publication will help individuals understand those changes. Some of those changes are relating to Social Security, Self employment and Federal Withholding.

This publication can be useful to individuals who are trying to make an income tax estimate for the 1990 year and possibly use some tax management strategies to reduce income tax liabilities. Good tax management generally has the objective upkeeping taxable income from fluctuating widely from year to year. With the decline in many farm commodity prices and producers expecting 1991 income to be lower than 1990 there are some tax management strategy that individuals may wish to use for the end of the year.

One such strategy is to purchase production items such as feed, fertilizer seeds and other supplies that will be used in 1991 and 1990. The publication outline limitation and guideline for this and other tax management strategies.

Copies of the publication are available free of charge to individuals who stop in at the Washington County Extension office, Rm 235 of the Washington County Courthouse in West Bend. Individuals that may wish to have a copy mailed to them should send $1.00 for postage to the Washington Co. Extension office, and a copy of the Farmer's Tax Guide will be mailed to them.

A Better New Year

New Year's Day is celebrated in almost every country on varying days during the year. The Chinese New Year is based on the waxing and waning of the moon and comes between January 21 and February 19. Among the Hindus there are many different religious groups. Each group considers a different day as the beginning of the year. Early Egyptians celebrated New Year's Day when the Nile usually overflowed its banks in June. Whatever day of the year that is chosen for New Year's Day by various countries, it seems to be a time of making resolutions to correct bad habits, to correct faults and resolve to make the new year better.

Volunteer Center Has a Special Place for You

HAPPY NEW YEAR!! When making your resolutions include volunteering! Call the Volunteer Center at 338-8256 and let us help you find a special place for you. Remember if you don't see a suitable job listed below, we have many others to choose from.

Day Care Center Aide — To supervise children, help prepare activities (arrange supplies for projects, etc.), help clean up after activity and generally assist staff. If you love children what a wonderful way to show that love and to receive love from the children as well. This is in Hartford.

Administrative Assistant — If you are a retired secretary of if you would just like to keep your office skills updated this is a wonderful place for you. Work with agency staff in data collection, filing, typing and periodically check supplies.

Maintenance Volunteer — For a person with skills in carpentry, painting, and general maintenance & repair. If you have these skills an agency in West Bend is looking for you. Hours are flexible. A retired person would find this a rewarding challenge.

Transportation — To take clients to and from appointments. Should have an interest in working with victims of domestic violence and able to deal with crisis situations. Confidentiality a must.

Volunteer Naturalist Guide — Lead tours at nature center. Tours are one and a half to two hours in length. Share the history and ecology of the area at a series of station markers. If you have an environmental background and an appreciation of nature this is a great way to share that knowledge with others.

Typist — Type news releases, newsletter and other miscellaneous items as needed. This is at a West Bend agency. Keep those office skills active.

Elder Peer Counseling — This program is seeking people for training to be held in April. You will learn of services available to Sr. Citizens in the area and will later be matched to one or two clients in need of these services so that you can assist them. Must be 55 or older.

Nursing homes always need a wide variety of volunteers. If you can play kickball, read newspapers, show films or your own travel slides, play organ or piano for religious services and sing-alongs, or write letters for residents - there is a real need for you.

$6.17 Million in Recycling Grants To Be Distributed in January

MADISON, A second round of grant money will be mailed in January 1991 to local government units designated to administer local recycling programs under Wisconsin's recycling law, said a Department of Natural Resources official.

JoAnne Farnsworth, recycling program manager for the Department's Bureau of Community Assistance, said $6.17 million will be sent January 2 to local recycling units. A first round of checks totaling $6.17 million was mailed last June. A final round of checks for the same amount will be mailed by June 30, 1991.

The department was authorized to distribute a total of $18.5 million to local governments which declared themselves "responsible units" under the state recycling law. Grants must be spent to plan, construct or operate recycling or yard waste and composting programs. The money comes from state income and sales tax receipts (general purpose revenue).

For more information contact JoAnne Farnsworth, 608-267-7154.

Interim High Speed Rail Report Released

Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin today released a consultant's preliminary findings of the Tri-State High Speed Rail Study.

The consultants indicate that some form of high speed rail service between Chicago/Milwaukee/Minneapolis - St. Paul appears to be feasible.

The preliminary finds, suggest that from an environmental, economic, and financial perspective a southern corridor (Chicago, Milwaukee, Madison, LaCrosse/Winona, Rochester, Twin Cities) would produce better results than a northern corridor.

Capital and operating costs were found to be higher for the northern route and estimates of ridership and revenue were lower. The northern route would include Chicago, Milwaukee, Green Bay/Fox Cities, Eau Claire and the Twin Cities.

Calling the corridor "promising in terms of ridership, revenues, and financial and economic benefits," the consultants report indicates that some form of rail service at speeds of 125 mph or more appears feasible.

The three-state study analyzed three alternate levels of high speed rail in the two corridors - Amtrak service upgraded to 125 miles an hour, a 185 mph faster service modeled after the steel wheel/steel rail TGV French rail service, and the 300 mph super speed "maglev" option still being developed.

Capital costs at current prices were estimated at $9.96 billion for upgraded 125 mph Amtrak service, $3.1 billion for 185 mph TGV-type service, and $5.6 billion for maglev.

The consultant's findings indicate that although the higher speed options are projected to attract more riders, the increased fares would be inadequate to cover the much larger capital costs.

Travel times along the corridor would be significantly reduced with any of these forms of high speed rail, the preliminary report indicates.

An upgraded Amtrak service would cut travel time between Chicago and the Twin Cities about in half - from 8 hours 45 minutes to 4 hours and 20 minutes, according to the preliminary report. Travel time would be reduced to 3 hours and 15 minutes with the 185 mph TGV option, and would go down another hour - to 2 hours and 15 minutes with the Maglev option.

The completed report for the study is expected to be issued in March, after the consultants have completed all remaining study tasks.

The current study is being conducted by a consortium of Transportation Management Systems, Inc. of Great Falls, Va., and Alfred Benesch & Co. of Chicago.

Noodle New Year's Decorations

To form beautiful, lacy snowflakes for your party decorations:

1. Glue different shapes of dry noodles together.
2. Use a piece of waxed paper to form your snowflake on, then as the formation dries the paper will peel off.
3. Use a small brush or toothpicks to dab on white glue. You may want to use smaller pieces for bracing when joining two curved pieces.
4. Let your snowflakes dry for at least 2 hours. Handle the flakes gently as you hang them by strings. Save them for other special occasions; if they break, they're fun to repair.

Debra Rimmel Earns State Ranking In Coca-Cola Jr. NASTAR

Debra Rimmel

ASPEN, Colo. — A Kewaskum resident has placed ninth among Wisconsin's 16-18 year-old skiers, for the 1989-90 ski season. Debra Rimmel received the ranking, awarded by Coca-Cola Jr. NASTAR National Standard Race), because of her outstanding racing performance last year, according to NASTAR Commissioner Bob Beattle.

Skiing at Big Powderhorn, MI, Rimmel posted a personal season-best handicap of 26. Coca-Cola Jr. NASTAR State Rankings are based on a skier's best handicap of the season. A handicap is the percentage difference between a skier's race time and the theoretical time of the fastest NASTAR racer, U.S. Ski Team member Bob Ormsby. Rimmel's handicap means she raced within 26 percent of Ormsby.

NASTAR, the world's largest recreational ski racing program, operates at 180 ski areas nationwide. Each fall members of the U.S. Ski Team race at the NASTAR National Pacsetting Trials to determine the fastest NASTAR racer and establish the "Zero" handicap against which all recreational racers can compare themselves all season long.

"Debra should be very proud of her accomplishments," says U.S. Ski Team's Director of Development, Deb LaMarche. "The U.S. Ski Team looks very closely at the top-ranked Coca-Cola Jr. NASTAR racers in scouting for promising young skiers with Ski Team potential," she added.

The Coca-Cola Jr. NASTAR program ranks the top 10 boys and girls in six age categories in all 50 states. The top-ranked skiers earn a listing on selected Rankings posters distributed state-wide, a State Leader patch and a certificate of achievement. First place winners also receive a pair of I SKI sunglasses and the "Lip-Proof" from Bonne Bell.

Last season, more than 100,000 youths participated in the Coca-Cola Jr. NASTAR program. In addition to national and state rankings honors, young skiers can earn gold, silver or bronze medals every time they race.

Indians Drop Nonconference Tilt to St. Mary's Springs

KEWASKUM — What a difference a couple of weeks make. Just two weeks after shooting a remarkable 21 for 21 at the free throw line in a game against Chilton, the Kewaskum boys basketball team struggled at the charity stripe in its contest with St. Mary's Springs, and consequently dropped a 76-68 decision to the Ledgers.

The Indians connected on just 14 of their 27 tries from the line, for just over fifty percent for the game. St. Mary's Springs wasn't much better, hitting on just 10 of their 19 shots, but it was the Ledgers free throw shooting down the stretch that helped preserve the win.

The Ledgers used a strong inside game to take control early, as they led 14-10 after the first quarter of play. The Indians quickly regrouped in the second stanza, however, as they came right back in the second period to take a 26-25 lead at halftime.

But St. Mary's Springs found the range from the outside at the start of the second half, getting a pair of three-point shots from Josh Ketterhagen and Andy Pilsil to open up an eight-point lead, 49-41, after three quarters of play.

The Ledgers opened their lead to as many as 12 at the start of the fourth period, but the Indians again battled back, this time behind the strength of senior forward Mark Felix.

Felix scored 12 points in the final period of play, including back-to-back hoops just over midway through the quarter, which pulled the Indians to within eight.

A basket and a pair of free throws by guard Matt Seiser pulled the Indians to within five with just over a minute to play, but that's when Ketterhagen started his march to the free throw line, which saw him convert 4 of 6 opportunities to ice the game for the visitors.

Felix, who has been quiet offensively for most of the season, finally broke free for 24 points to lead the Indians. Seiser also came alive for the Indians in the game, as he chipped in 18 points in the losing cause. Joel Fleischman also scored in double figures, as he collected 13 points.

For St. Mary's Springs, Brad Andrews led the way, as he poured in 24 points, while pulling down 12 rebounds. Ketterhagen finished the game with 13 points, while Pilsil ended up with 12.

The loss dropped the Indians record to 3-4 overall. Kewaskum will be back in action over the holidays, as they take part in the Campbellspport Holiday Tournament, to be held Dec. 27-28 on the Cougars home floor. Also participating in the tournament will be Slinger and Waupun, which will be the Indians opening round opponent on Thursday, beginning at 6:30.

Former KHS Cheerleader Coaching Fond du Lac Squad to National Competition

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

She just came along as a spectator to watch a friend's daughter perform as a member of the Fond du Lac St. Mary's Springs Spirit Squad cheerleaders. One thing led to another and former Kewaskum resident Darcell Salm, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schmidt, Rt. 1, Kewaskum, soon found herself assisting the squad's advisor Carol Huck.

Having been a cheerleader while a student at Kewaskum High School and later college, Salm was no stranger to the hard work and dedication needed for a successful team.

Salm since has become more involved in coaching, spending about 20 hours of her own time voluntarily coaching the squad, freeing Huck to attend to administrative chores.

Darcie left teaching recently after the birth of her son Mason. She said working with the squad keeps her in touch with young people.

Salm's coaching has apparently paid off for the squad. This summer the team received the Award of Excellence at cheerleading camp, earning them the right to participate in the Nationals competition next week.

Training for the Nationals to be held in Dallas, Texas, Dec. 27-31, began last August. The squad has put in a minimum of 12 hours a week practicing since then.

Competition will be stiff for the St. Mary's Springs Spirit Squad, the only Wisconsin team out of 132 squads participating in the Large Varsity Squad competition. The only other Wisconsin team participating in the Nationals is from Fox Valley Lutheran of Appleton which will be competing in the Small Varsity Squad Division.

The squad's 2½ minute routine contains cheers, tumbling and dancing. Salm said the girls have come a long way in four months. "They have the skills to place in the top 20."

When Salm and her squad are not practicing, the girls are out working to raise the $3,000 needed to pay the squad's expenses to travel to Dallas.

"They may not take first place," said Salm, "but I know they are a group of winners."

Ice Fishing Maps Now Available

MADISON — Ice Fishermen! No more cutting through a foot of ice to find 6 inches of water underneath. An index for the 2500 Wisconsin Mapped Lakes will help many ice fishermen enter the charmed circle of experts.

A lake map is actually a hydrographic chart. So what's a hydrographic chart? A hydrographic chart is simply a high-faluting term for a map showing the various depths of a lake along with other information that is so desirable to have for fishing...such as kind of lake bottom (mud, sand, gravel, etc...).

Suppose you want to fish for northern's. You know his feeding habits and at what depths and over what kind of bottom he would be. With a Wisconsin Hydrographic Chart you can see at a glance the general contour of the lake bottom and the exact depth of any given place along with the kind and condition of the bottom.

Suppose you want to fish for Northerns. You know his feeding habits and at what depths and over what kind of bottom he would be. With a Wisconsin Hydrographic Chart you can see at a glance the general contour of the lake bottom and the exact depth of any given place along with the kind and condition of the bottom.

The index is available at no charge by sending a self-addressed, stamped (45c) No. 10 business envelope to: Wisconsin Ice Fishing, Box 5096, Madison, Wisconsin 53705-0096.

Indian Girls Beat Falls, 40-26

SHEBOYGAN FALLS — Although he admitted that the victory wasn't necessarily overwhelming, Kewaskum girls basketball coach Glenn Eichstedt had few qualms about his team's 40-26 win over Sheboygan Falls here, last Thursday night.

The Indians for the most part dominated the insuperior Falcons, whose girls basketball program has been on the down slide the past few years. Eichstedt said that it was believed that the Falcons had won just one or two games the past three or four years.

"But that win was this year, so I guess they are a little more competitive than in the past," he said. "We just tried to focus on what we needed to do, instead of worrying about the other team."

That emphasis paid off nicely in the early going, as the Indians ran a more deliberate type of offense. The Indians had a nice inside-outside combination going in the first half, as Nicole Doherty and Amy Chesak combined for all but four of the Indians points in the half.

Chesak scored all 11 of her points in the opening half, while Doherty chipped in nine points, as the Indians jumped out to a 12-6 lead after one quarter, and extended their lead to 24-10 by halftime.

"We got some good inside play out of Nicole," Eichstedt said of the senior forward/center, who finished with a team-high 13 points on the night, as well as contributing seven rebounds.

"We also had some solid outside," from Chesak, said Eichstedt, who noted "When you have both of those things going for you (inside-outside), it's pretty tough to defend."

"We got off to a good start offensively," he went on to say. "Our patience allowed us to get shots from where we like to take them. We played very much within ourselves."

Quite possibly the only downpoint of the night occurred in the third period, when the Indians scored just four points. The Indians tried running more of a weave type offense, according to Eichstedt, trying to get some easy layups. But when those kinds of shots presented themselves, the Indians didn't see them.

"We made them into what we wanted to do, but then we didn't take advantage of that," Eichstedt said, adding that "We haven't really worked on that much, so it's not something that we use often."

Kewaskum got nice balance on the boards, as they collected just as many offensive rebounds (15) as defensive. Senior Kelly Rohlinger led the Indians with nine rebounds, while Carrie Krause hauled down seven.

The win upped the Indians mark to 1-3 in the Eastern Wisconsin, while they improved to 2-6 overall. The Indians will take part in the Beaver Dam Holiday Tournament on Dec. 27-28 as they open with a game against a tough Beaver Dam squad Thursday, beginning at 8:00.

New Years -- New Life

For New Year's the ancient I-ranians, or Persians, followed the custom of giving eggs as gifts to their friends. Since an egg brought forth life, it meant the same thing as our expression of "turning over a new leaf."
