Village Should Begin Looking at Future Sewage Treatment Needs

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Engineers from Ruckert & Mielke Engineering, advised members of the village board Monday night, that, while Kewaskum's wastewater treatment plant facility is adequate to meet present needs, now is the time to begin looking at upgrading the operation to meet future projected village growth.

The sewage plant is presently in compliance with all Department of Natural Resources regulations 'except' that governing sludge storage. The DNR requires a sludge storage facility with a "minimum" six-months storage capacity. The village's present "maximum" storage capability is only one month.

As discussed at previous meetings, one way of improving the plant's efficiency, and reducing some of the sludge volume, would be to have the three major industries in the village, Marigold, Kewaskum Frozen Foods and Regal Ware, pre-treat their industrial wastewater before releasing it into the village sewer system.

After hearing the engineer's review of the Wastewater Treatment Analysis, as presented to the board, the trustees approved a motion directing the engineers and plant's staff to meet with the three companies to come up with a mutually feasible program of testing and wastewater pre-treatment. It was the general consensus of the board that the cost of the wastewater testing also be paid for by the major industries involved.

The trustees also directed Village Administrator Dan Schmidt to do a survey of various permit and licensing fees from communities surrounding Kewaskum. Schmidt noted a majority of the village's fees and licenses have not been updated since the early '80s and some even longer ago than that.

Trustee Gary Gavin, representative on the Library Board, advised his fellow trustees that Trudy Trapp, the Library Director, is resigning effective June 1st. The library Board also approved the hiring of Sue Dobke as the new part time library assistant.

Police Chief Richard Knoebel advised the board that two of his part-time officers have obtained full time positions with other departments. While they are continuing to work for the village on a part-time basis, they are working less hours causing some scheduling problems.

The board heard the report and recommendations from the Plan Commission's April 23rd meeting. It reviewed the certified survey map of village-owned land on Wildlife Drive and the site plan for the proposed Shefond south gas station and convenience store.

Schmidt advised the board that the Shefond plan had recently received DNR approval which will allow the company to do preliminary site preparation (ground filling) prior to its applying to the village for building permits.

The board was given an update on the 1991 phase of the sidewalk repair program. Approximately one mile of replacement and/or new sidewalk construction is being planned for this summer. The village will be holding a public hearing on the affected properties in the near future. If there are other property owners who are interested in getting information on having some sidewalk work done, they should contact Dan Schmidt at the Municipal Building.

The board accepted a bid of $3,180 for the re-roofing of the village's storage and recycling building on the south side of the village.

The board also approved a proclamation regarding "Worldwide Kiwanis Prayer Week."

An agenda item regarding an "Offer to Purchase" for land adjacent to Wildlife Drive, by Greg Krueger and Gary Gavin, was tabled.

The board then adjourned to closed session.

C of C Presents Check to Village Towards Banners

KHS Band to Compete in Ontario Festival

Seventy three members of the high school band will be traveling to Toronto, Ontario, Canada for a competitive band festival. These students will be leaving at 10:00 p.m. on Thursday, May 16, 1991 on chartered coach buses and will return early morning on Tuesday, May 21, 1991.

If you see any of those students going on this trip, wish them GOOD LUCK!

KHS Outdoor Concert May 21

The Kewaskum High School musicians will be presenting their annual Outdoor Concert on May 21, 1991 in River Hill Park beginning at 6:30 P.M. Included on the concert will be the Concert Choir, Treble Choir, Swing Choir, Concert Band, Symphonic Band, Jazz Band and the Toronto Band.

Hamburgers and brats will be sold and along with the popular music being presented this should be an enjoyable evening for all in attendance. No admission charge, so we hope to see you there.

Moraine Chorus To Present Spring Concert Sunday

WEST BEND - The Moraine Chorus will present its annual Spring Concert at the University of Wisconsin - Washington County Theatre on Sunday, May 12 at 2:00 p.m. The public is invited and admission is free.

Founded and originally directed by Peter Ayer, the 70-member Moraine Chorus has been performing for over 20 years and includes singers from West Bend, Kewaskum, Grafton, Port Washington and several other area communities. Since Ayer's retirement last year, the group has been under the leadership of Ms. Nancy Van Brunt.

Ms. Van Brunt, a lecturer at UWWC, holds a Bachelors Degree in Music Theory and a Masters Degree in Choral conducting. She continues to study voice with Bettina Bjorksten, Emeritus Professor of Music at UW-Madison.

The Spring Concert will feature a variety of music including madrigals by Weelkes and Vecchi; early American hymn settings by Billings, Edson and Albee; John Rutter's "A Gaelic Blessing" and Mozart's "Missa Brevis in D Major."

Spring Time Is Bike Time

The Kewaskum Police Department would like to take this time to remind everyone about bicycle safety and laws pertaining to them.

Wis. S346.03(9), Rules of the Road, states: "Subject to the special provisions applicable to bicycles, every person riding a bicycle upon a roadway is granted all the rights and is subject to all the duties which this chapter grants or applies to the operator of a vehicle..." In short, this means that all laws pertaining to motor vehicles apply to bicycles, including, but not limited to: Riding on the right side of the road, abiding by all traffic signs and signals, riding single file, etc.

Also, Village of Kewaskum ordinances require that all bicycles operated on the streets of Kewaskum to have a current license affixed to them. The cost of these licenses, which are non-expiring, is $5.00. They can be obtained at the Municipal Building between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

A few safety tips to everyone operating a bicycle are: Keep your bike in good working order, wear bright colored clothing to make it easier for motorist to spot you, put a safety flag on your bike, ride single file, be aware of the area you are riding in and be ready to take evasive action if an obstacle appears and make sure the bike is the right size for the person riding it.

If we all follow these rules and safety tips we should have a safe bicycle season.

Sweating It Out In Saudi Arabia

CPL. BRIAN JACQUE

By Noel Stollenwerk
Statesman Staff Writer

Most Americans on the homeland got only as close to the recent Persian Gulf War as the Cable News Network and Iraqi censors would allow. But for at least one area man, Kewaskum's Cpl. Brian Jacque, the war was more than just some kind of far-off concept. It was a part of his daily life.

At 22 years of age, Jacque, son of Joseph and Kathryn Jacque of Kewaskum, recently returned from the Middle East, where he was serving in the H and S Company, 1st Battalion, 1st Marine Unit. Originally stationed at Camp Pendleton, California, Jacque was deployed for Saudi Arabia near the end of December.

"Basically all we did when we first got over there was wait for the war," Jacque said in an interview last week. "We just prepared ourselves and made sure our gear was ready to go."

Recalling a typical day as "boring," Jacque's primary job when the war began was to be a casualty handler, and his secondary job, a POW handler.

But his unit was "very fortunate," he remembers, as they only had to take care of six wounded soldiers with the most severe injury being a broken collar bone. "We got off very lucky."

The group he was with got off very lucky on a couple of other occasions as well. The final SCUD missile launched by Iraqi troops in the brief war landed just 7000 meters away from Jacque. But that wasn't even his closest call of the war. Jacque recalls the night he was caught in a cross-fire while riding with his unit on an Amtrack train.

"We had some Iraqi tanks pull up on us," he remembered. "They drove the tanks up to us and their gun turret was pointing towards us, and we thought we were dead."

"But they (the Iraqi soldiers) got out of the tank and surrendered to us. (But) We were sweating it for a little while!"

While he recalls being scared plenty of times during his stay in the Middle East, Jacque added. "There was some fear. But at the time, you don't think about it. You just react. But then later you go God, I could have died back there."

Being in the service for four years now also helped ease the nerves when sticky situations developed.

"I'd been in dangerous situations before, so I guess you could say I was kind of used to it," he said, noting that his experience also helped deflect the pain of homesickness. "I'd lie if I said that I didn't think about my family. But I'm used to being away, so it really didn't bother me as much (as other soldiers)."

After spending a month on leave with his family in Kewaskum, Jacque returned to duty in California this week. His unit will be deploying near the end of this year for the Western Pacific, and Jacque's Colonel already has informed his unit that one of the ports they will be stopping at is the Persian Gulf. "Except this time we'll be on a ship in the middle of the water."

When asked if he considers himself as being heroic, Jacque straightly replied, "I've had a lot of people tell me 'You're a hero. You're a hero,' and it's like, 'No I'm not, cause I really didn't do anything special.'"

"I don't view myself as a hero," Jacque went on to say. "I just view myself as a man who did his job."

Fourth Mary R. Ciha Memorial Scholarship Awarded Recently

The fourth Mary R. Ciha Memorial Scholarship was presented recently to a University of Wisconsin student at the Polygon Awards banquet at the conclusion of Engineering EXPO 91.

Recipient is Cheryl K. Schmitz, electrical and computer engineering senior, daughter of John and Agnes Schmitz, St. Cloud. A member of Tau Beta Pi, engineering honor society, Cheryl has been on the Dean's Honor list for eight semesters, and a member of the Society of Women Engineers as well as the engineering Exposition committee.

She had been active in Big Sibs/Little Sibs, College of Engineering Evening with Industry programs, the Polygon Engineering Council, and the High School Outreach program. Volunteer activities include Guts/Hash tutor program, United Way's Volunteer Action Center, Girl Scout Computer Badge program, and Madison handicapped activities.

The youngest daughter of Al and Claire Ciha, 9429 Mullen Drive, Allenton, Mary had just one year to complete her Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Engineering when she was killed in a highway accident in Texas on Aug. 13, 1982. The scholarship award states: "A bright and motivated individual, Mary had an inspiring personality, a great sense of humor, lots of social grace, and admirable integrity. Her personal warmth radiated in kindness and compassion for innumerable people in her life."

In memory of this outstanding young woman, this scholarship is offered to Junior and Senior women on a biennial basis at UW-Madison, and is funded by family and friends through the University of Wisconsin Foundation.

Nominations Open May 10 for 'King' Of Kettle Kountry Kolors Kontest

ALL PROCEEDS TO BE USED TO FUND SECOND ANNUAL FESTIVAL

At the bottom of this page is the form which will be used to nominate the future "king" of the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce Annual Kettle Kountry Kolors festival.

This "just for the fun of it" contest was initially set up to raise money to help defray the cost of some of the entertainment lined up for the upcoming fall festival being held this year on Saturday, Oct. 12 and Sunday, Oct. 13.

So ladies, don't be shy... nominate the male "beauty" of your choice... it all goes for a good cause and a lot of fun! (This is also a great opportunity to turn the tables on our male counterparts!)

Here's how it works. Simply fill out the nomination form on this page. Each nomination will cost $1.00. You may fill out as many forms as you like, as long as you enclose the $1.00 with each one.

There will be three age categories: 1) Teen Idol for those future "hunks" aged 13 to 19 years old; 2) Prime Timer for those present-day "hunks" aged 20 to 49, and 3) Sexy Senior for those great looking guys 50 years and over. You can nominate as many as you want from one or all three categories. (Just don't forget the $1.00 or it doesn't count!)

Nominations will open May 10th and close June 20th. You will have six weeks to save your money to nominate all those fellows you feel are deserving of such an honor.

Nominations can either be signed or remain anonymous. They can be dropped off at the Statesman, or mailed to the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 300, Kewaskum, WI 53040.

The 30 nominees receiving the most votes in EACH category (Teen Idol, Prime Timer and Sexy Senior) will be our first phase contestants. These contestants will be announced at the Chamber's Krazy Kommunity Rummage Daze on Saturday, June 22. Time and place will be listed at a later date. (Now read carefully... here is where it gets a little complicated.)

After these contestants have been announced, cannisters will be set up in strategically selected business places in Kewaskum for each one of the candidates. (Strategically selected business means whoever has room to display the 90 cannisters required for all the candidates. Thirty contestants in each of the three categories adds up to 90 cannisters.)

A dime placed in your favorite contestant's cannister will constitute one vote. If you care to drop in $1.00, that means you just gave your candidate 10 votes. You will have approximately only two to three weeks to vote in phase one. Cut-off date and the day phase two finalists will be crowned will be announced at a later date.

In phase two, we cut the candidates down from the original 30 to the 20 highest vote getters in each category. These are the phase two finalists. Then the cannisters (with the names of the 20 contestants in each category) go back out into business places and we all get out our dimes again.

There will be a little longer time to vote in phase two. The voting will end around mid-August, when the 20 candidates will be cut down to the 10 receiving the most votes in each category. Dates and times of the announcement of the 10 finalists in each category will be listed later, and thus begins phase three of the contest.

Phase three means we will only have 10 contestants left to vote for in each category. Hopefully, we will also be able to get voting cannisters in many more business places. Again, you will have approximately four weeks to vote for the final five contestants. These final five candidates for king will be announced sometime in Mid-September.

Then for one last time, the voting cannisters will go out into the business places. You will have until the day of Kettle Kountry Kolors to vote for the eventual winner in each category. Who will end up as No. 1 Teen Idol? Will your candidate be the No. 1 Prime Timer? Who do you know will be crowned Sexy Senior? Will there be father and son teams? What woman wouldn't spend a dime to vote for her man? What man wouldn't spend a dime to vote for someone else to be sure he, himself doesn't win!

It sounds complicated, but as we get further into the contest, more details will be published as we confirm the dates on which the finalists will be crowned. We will try to keep you posted weekly in this newspaper on all that is happening and which candidates are leading the pack. (That way, all you men who are scared to win can vote for someone else!)

Now guys, please don't be shy! Bear in mind that all this hoopla is for a very good cause. We are planning some real great things for the Kettle Kountry Kolors Festival this year. But, unfortunately these things don't come for free. They all carry a hefty price tag. So put aside your modesty men, and let us girls turn the tables on you for the benefit of this community's festival. It will be fun... and just think what we all will have to talk about this summer!

Prizes for the Kettle Kountry Kings have not yet been announced, but we guarantee to make all the embarrassment worth your while.

A NOTE OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to our relatives and friends who attended our 50th wedding anniversary, dinner and open house. Also thanks for the many beautiful cards, gifts, and well wishes.

Extra special thanks to our children and grandchildren for making our "special day" most memorable.

Shown above is a photo recently taken of the new addition St. Lucas Lutheran Church is building onto its present school in Kewaskum. The addition will house five classrooms, offices and a multi-purpose room. The present enrollment is 140 students, up by 80 students since 1976. According to Pastor Edwin Fredrich, the construction cost is about $485,000. The school employs seven teachers. Rod Bollinger is the school's principal and eighth grade teacher.

Understanding Food Labels

More Americans are realizing the importance of eating correctly. But deciphering food labels can be difficult.

To help community members better understand food labeling, the Cedar Campuses is sponsoring a free workshop on Wednesday, May 15, 1991 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Cedar Ridge Retirement Campus.

The workshop will discuss how to interpret food labels, how to identify low fat products, how to interpret low salt claims, and discuss special diet products.

Dietician Jean Niemuth from the Cedar Lake Home, and George Prescott, owner of the West Bend Pick 'N Saves stores will present the workshop.

There is no charge for the workshop but please call the Cedar Campuses at 334-9487 to reserve a seat. The Cedar Ridge Campus is located at 113 Cedar Ridge Drive, 1 mile south of West Washington off West Scenic Drive.

Don't Forget...

Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce MEETING

Wednesday, May 15

6:30 p.m.

Community Room Municipal Bldg.

MEMBERS PLEASE ATTEND!

Dear Dr. Sylvia,

My son has very good grades but constantly has late papers. He always states, "I forgot." How can I deal with this? Does he have some kind of learning disability?

Worried Mom

Dear Worried Mom,

Children who "forget" their homework rarely have memory problems. Ask your son if he can remember sports records or other areas which interest him. I feel very sure you will find that his forgetting his homework is unrelated to his actual lack of memory capability.

There are some organizational strategies which will assist him. First, he needs a strategy for remembering his assignments. Assignment notebooks may work well. Large spiral notebooks may be easier to keep track of than small notebooks. He may choose a different assignment memory plan of his own. Children who come to our Clinic often come up with their own creative ideas for remembering assignments. Since they've invented them, they are more anxious to defend their plan and tend to use it more effectively.

Second, he needs a regular study time and place, away from the traffic of the household, so that he may learn good study and work habits. Lying on his bed listening to music while studying or sitting with a parent at the kitchen table are not good study habits. Once children have a regular study time and place, exceptions may be made for school or social activities.

After he has completed his schoolwork, you or his dad should look over his accomplishments so that you may examine the quality of his work. Encourage him briefly if he's done well and ask him to redo or correct his work if it is poor. Parents shouldn't correct the work as a teacher would, but should give it an overall look, at least until middle school. By then, most children should be able to manage on their own.

The next step after your parent review is to watch him put his homework papers in his backpack which will then be ready for school. If he puts his work away immediately after completion, it will be more likely to make it to school with him.

Your son may also want to invent his own strategy for storing his work for school. Some children prefer organizers or folders for each subject. Others use one folder for homework only.

If these strategies are not effective, ask his teacher to send a note home on days when all his work is in on time, so that you and your husband can let him know how pleased you are. I don't know how old your son is, but if he's a second or third grader, stars or stickers on a chart may help him to see how successful he's become. Baseball or football cards work well for third through sixth graders. First, try these approaches without stickers or cards, since it would be better if he could learn the responsibilities without reward. My book, Underachievement Syndrome: Causes and Cures, has some other suggestions to use should you need a better understanding of your son's problem.

According to the U.S. Department of labor the fastest declining category of jobs is that of shoe sewing machine operator.

1. People seem to mumble more frequently.
2. You hear conversations, but have trouble understanding them.
3. You often have to ask people to repeat what they have said.
4. You find telephone conversations increasingly difficult.
5. Your family complains that you play the TV or radio too loudly.
6. You no longer hear normal household sounds such as the dripping of a faucet or the ringing of a doorbell.
7. You have trouble hearing when your back is turned to the speaker.
8. You have been told that you speak too loudly.
9. You experience a ringing sensation in your ears.
10. You have difficulty understanding when in a large group or crowd.

By themselves, none of these signs is an indication of a hearing problem. However, if you recognize any of them repeatedly or in combination, it may signal a hearing loss. A yearly hearing test is recommended to determine if a hearing impairment exists and how it can be helped.

During Better Hearing and Speech Month, the Beltone Hearing Aid Service Center at Kewaskum Pharmacy, 927 Fond du Lac Avenue, Kewaskum, is offering free hearing examinations. To make an appointment, call 626-2087.

Campus Notes

NORTHFIELD, Minn. — Craig G. Hubbell of 1010 Hillside Dr., Kewaskum and David J. Siemers of 1343 Sylvan Way, West Bend, is among 899 St. Olaf College students to be recognized for academic achievement at the annual Honors Day convocation Wednesday, May 8.

St. Olaf Professor James May will be featured speaker at the event, discussing "Running the Racecourse of Honors: What Price Glory?"

Honors Day is held annually in May at St. Olaf to recognize students who have attained a 3.30 grade point average or higher. (Students in St. Olaf's Paracollege are not listed because the Paracollege doesn't give letter grades).

Scholarship and award winners also are honored, as well as those elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honor society, and other academic achievement organizations.

Charlotte, NC — The University of North Carolina at Charlotte recently held an initiation ceremony for membership in Phi Kappa Phi honor society.

Phi Kappa Phi is a national organization recognizing and encouraging superior scholarship in all academic disciplines. To be eligible, a student must rank scholastically in the upper five percent of the junior class, the upper 10 percent of the senior class, or the upper 10 percent of the graduate enrollment.

Among the inductees was Karen E. Kuehl, who is pursuing a Master's of Reading Education degree. She is a former West Bend resident who now resides with her family in Forest City, NC. She is the daughter of Bernice Groh of Kewaskum and the daughter-in-law of Darlene Kuehl of Campbellsport.

Local Odyssey of the Mind Teams Compete at State

Kewaskum Statesman, Thursday, May 9, 1991, Page 7

April 20th at Stevens Point the balsa wood Odyssey of the Mind team competed against 14 other regional winners.

The 15 gram structure held 220 pounds. The skit ran like clock work and finished within the eight minute time limit. The spontaneous team was challenged with a hands-on problem of building tiers with clay toothpicks and tag board on which nails had to be supported.

Overall everyone was very pleased with the Farmington teams performance. They placed 9th out of 15 teams. The team members impressively represented the Kewaskum School District.

As a post script the team supporting the most weight was from Green Bay with 395 pounds.

Team members were James

Broughton, Troy Staehler, Tami Meeker, Erin Theusch, Brenda VanDemark, Matt Paulson, Stacy Siebenaler.

The coach, Mrs. Lider said, "I really want to thank the students for working so hard, the parents for their cooperation, and the Farmington staff for their support. It's such a combination that makes losing impossible."

fail to come in on time, and a previously flawless trailer hitch fail to operate correctly. As a clincher, two penalties, both subjective calls by the judges, dropped the team to sixth place out of nine competing teams in their division.

Len Soller, coach of the team says, "This is an incredibly talented group of young men. They explored every avenue they could to arrive at a superb solution to a very difficult problem. The problem was so difficult, the fact, that four teams dropped out of regional competition and three others dropped out of state competition. Even when all that went wrong, these boys put on an entertaining show before a packed room, displaying not only their creative talents but also incredibly good sportsmanship and in the words of the state problem captain, "...very good judgement." I am very proud of these young men. They were excellent ambassadors for Kewaskum."

Ira, James, Chris, Matt and Craig will graduate this year. Sheldon is a junior who hopes to compete again next year.

The Kewaskum High School team coached by Mr. Len Soller, and the Farmington Elementary School team coached by Mrs. Fran Lider won the right to compete at the 9th State Competition of Odyssey of the Mind by placing first in their respective long-range problem category and division in the Regional Competition held at New Holstein on March 9.

The University of Wisconsin Stevens Point hosted the State Competition on April 20, 1991. First place teams from each of 15 regional competitions were represented at the state level.

Just as at the Regional, teams were awarded points for the solution and style of their long-range as well as points earned for a spontaneous problem which is first posed in competition so team members can't plan specifically for that problem. It is always a surprise!

It was another amazing production: Even more elaborate scenery than last year's World Competition performance, period costumes, and an action packed '30's Good-Guy vs. Bad-Guy story line ala Dick Tracey. Unfortunately, the team's performance at State Competition in Steven's Point on Saturday, April 20 was a classic illustration of the universality of Murphy's Law. If it could possibly go wrong, it did.

Ira Sison, James Dionne, Chris Schoofs, Craig Kulas, Matt Kuehn, and Sheldon Oppermann worked incredibly long hours developing, improving, and expanding their regional award winning solution to Omer's Buggy Light, this year's long term problem selected by the team, only to have sets literally fall apart, musical and sound effect cues

Auxiliary Presents Checks to St. Joseph's Community Hospital

Auxiliary President Sharon Ziegler presents a $10,000 check to St. Joseph's Executive Director, Fred Bury, fulfilling almost half to the Auxiliary's 1991 pledge to the hospital.

Each year, the Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend, adopts a renewed spirit to challenge itself to an even greater monetary pledge than that of the year before. As the dollar amount pledged has increased, so have the number and frequency of fundraising activities expanded, to meet our needs in reaching these goals.

In the past, the Auxiliary has always outdone itself, seeking new and unique ways to raise funds for the equipment, training sessions, scholarships, etc. so important to keeping the quality of St. Joe's at such a high level.

Well, this year, we've really outdone ourselves. 1990 was such a successful fundraising year for us (Magic Marketplace, the Auxiliary Ball, the Christmas Love-Light Tree, Infant Car Seat Rental Program, Spring Plant Sale, Pick 'n Saves' "We Care" community cash-back program, the well-wisher Gift Shop and its highly-successful flower cart, etc. etc., that, on the occasion of the hospital's Auxiliary Brunch on January 29, we were already able to give a $2,000 check to Fred Bury, St. Joe's Executive Director, and Surprise! Surprise! We had another check waiting for him - to the tune of $10,000 - at the April 15th. Auxiliary Board meeting.

The 1991 Auxiliary Pledge in the amount of $27,000, was made to cover the cost of the following items:

Blanket Warmer - Emergency Room	1,768.00
Artwork for new/remodeled departments	232.00

Washington County Dairy Banquet Planned for May 30 at Amerahn

The Washington County June Dairy Committee will again be sponsoring a Dairy Banquet. The Banquet is planned for Thursday, May 30th starting at 7:30 p.m. It will be held at the Amerahn, located just north of Kewaskum on Hwy. 45.

The program format will be similar to past years, featuring a delicious catered meal, followed by a short program and music and dancing with Bill Thull and his orchestra.

The featured speaker this year will be Tom Pieper, Holstein Consultant with the Holstein Association. Tom has had an opportunity to travel to Russia to visit some of their farms and other interesting sights. He will show slides and tell the group about his trip. This will be an opportunity to learn something about Agriculture in the Soviet Union.

Tickets for the event are $5.00 per person. The Washington County Dairy Promotion Committee is helping to sponsor the event by picking up some of the costs. The $5.00 price is a reduction from previous years. Tickets are available from a number of individuals throughout Washington County and members of the Banquet Committee. Individuals that wish to have information about tickets or purchase tickets can also contact the Washington County Extension office at 335-4477; 644-5204; 342-2929 Ext. 4477. All tickets must be purchased in advance. There will be no ticket sale at the banquet.

The Dairy Banquet was started to provide an opportunity for farm families and urban families to get together, share a meal and comment concerns about agriculture and food production. The Dairy Banquet Committee is urging farm families to plan on attending and to invite some non-farm friends to participate with them. This will help further the goal of better communication between farm and non-farm individuals.

Letters to The Editor

May 2, 1991

Dear Editor,

On Monday, April 30 the Kewaskum Middle School Jazz band under the direction of Mr. Eric Christie performed for a dinner meeting of the Wisconsin Towns Association, Washington County Unit. I would like to express my sincere congratulations to this group for their impressive performance. It was a pleasure to see a group of our young people put so much effort and obvious pride into such an undertaking. In a time when we hear so much about the trouble that many of the young people create, it was gratifying to see these people who chose to direct their talents in a very constructive and fulfilling way. Congratulations to their parents, their school, their conductor and to the kids themselves. They made me proud to be able to say that they were from Kewaskum.

Sincerely,
Dan Stoffel

Speaking Contest Successful for Area 4-Her's

Forty-three area youth used their special speaking talents at the Washington County Courthouse in West Bend on April 23. The 4-H'er's, ages 8-18, centered their speeches around the topic "Recycling!"

The speakers were challenged to demonstrate both their speaking skills as well as their knowledge of recycling and solid wastes. There were a variety of creative topics including such titles as "American Crisis," "A Tale of Two Cans," and "Is It Really Garbage?" Cash awards were provided by the Belle Albright Memorial.

George Allmann, Myra Peters, Eugene Roos, Mary Breuer, Nancy Vanvooren, JoAnne Schacht, and Claudia Trzebiatowski served as judges for the contest.

Top Speaking Awards went to Marlo Deshotels, intermediate interpretative; Anne Mertz, intermediate original; Kim Riedel, senior original.

FFA Holds 40th Annual Banquet

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Future Farmers of America chapter marked a milestone when it held its 40th annual banquet Thursday, April 25th, at the Amerahn Hall.

The event was attended by 100 guests and 30 chapter members. As always, the highlight of the evening was the recognition of those young people who have worked hard the past year in their chosen agriculture activities, from special projects to judging competitions.

Scholarships to the graduating seniors were also presented. This year Tim Herman and Jenny Degnitz were recipients of FFA Alumni scholarships presented by Alumni member Jon Etta. Jenny was also the recipient of the Kewaskum Veterinary Clinic and Kewaskum Frozen Foods scholarships.

Rick Kreif was awarded the first annual Doug Enright Memorial Scholarship. Rick was also named member of the year. Tim Herman received the Midwest Livestock Producers award presented by Pat O'Brien of Midwest and the DeKalb Outstanding Senior Award. Jim Van Beek received the East Central Select Sires award presented by Dave Hahn and the Star Chapter member award. Ken Van Beek received the Star Green Hand Award and Jeff Steinert was the recipient of the Roman Muckerheide award.

Besides the serious moments, there was a good deal of laughter. FFA Advisor David Rizzardi was the good natured target of a prank instigated by the outgoing officers. With some apprehension, Mr. Rizzardi went along with the "Ooga-Booga" episode, asking, "I won't get dirty will I?" (Nooo, Mr. Rizzardi, but no one said anything about not getting a little wet!)

Back row: Randy Backhaus, Assistant Advisor; John Hupfer, Treasurer; Rick Kreif, Reporter; Tim Herman, President, and Ag Instructor and Advisor Dave Rizzardi.

Jon Etta, left, of the Kewaskum FFA Alumni, presented scholarships to Tim Herman and Jenny Degnitz. Degnitz was also the recipient of the Ogi Veterinary Clinic and Kewaskum Frozen Foods scholarships. Rick Kreif, second from right, received the first annual Doug Enright scholarship, and Dave Nigh of Kewaskum Frozen Foods. (Drs. Charles and Greg Ogi were not able to attend the banquet to present their scholarship).

OOO-GA, BOO-GA!! Advisor Dave Rizzardi, center, went through a strange greeting ceremony to welcome this mysterious guest. Mr. Rizzardi's spirits weren't dampened by the proceedings but we can't say the same about other things. As you can see by the expression on Jenny Degnitz's face, "she" knows what's about to happen!

FFA president Tim Herman congratulates the 1991 Honorary Chapter Farmers, Mrs. Janet Landvatter, high school office secretary and John and Jim Herriges.

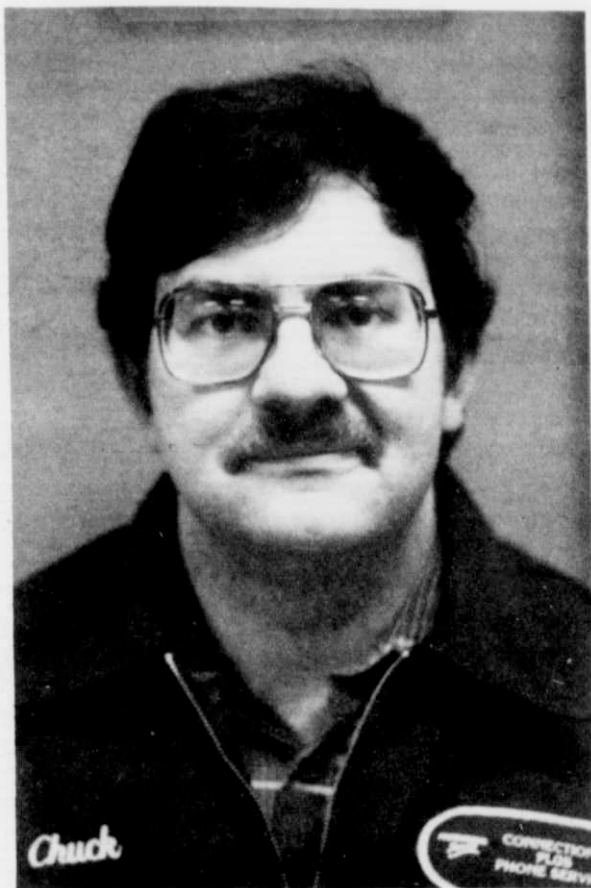

Terry Schaub, who works with the FFA judging teams also received a gift, a shirt with a 'slow moving' sign... need we say more?

Students Find Support in Small Business Courses

Campus Notes

Ann Koenig, Campbellsport, a student in Moraine Park Technical College's Developing Your Small Business Course.

For everyone who enrolls in a small business management course there is a unique plan to build a new career.

Three examples from the recently completed Developing Your Small Business course held at the Beaver Dam, Fond du Lac and West Bend campuses of Moraine Park Technical College illustrate that point:

Chuck Vogel of Beaver Dam hopes to use the information he gained from his class to expand his new telephone system installation business. "Even though I knew there was a need for a service like this in the area, I didn't have business stepup experience. I knew I could get it from Moraine Park at a reasonable cost."

Vogel started his Connections Plus Telephone Service in November a few months after being laid off from a full-time job. After working part time installing telephones for a firm, Vogel said he decided to strike out on his own. "It felt like the right time to start my own business," he said. "I think there's a lot of room for it."

Working out of the back of his home, Vogel installs new and used residential and commercial telephone systems.

He said Moraine Park's small business course gave him valuable information on marketing, planning, advertising, dealing with government regulations and business location.

— Anne Koenig is a farm wife with two jobs, the reason she enrolled in Developing Your Small Business at Fond du Lac.

She and her husband own Claybank Acres, a dairy farm outside of Campbellsport. Their son opened his Bob Koenig Landscaping business at the farm four years ago. "Of course, mom does the bookkeeping, advertising, purchasing and helps out on the jobs," Anne Koenig said.

"It all works relatively well," she said of the relationship between the farm and landscaping businesses. "We help each other."

But as the landscaping business prospered, Koenig said she realized she needed assistance. "I was really looking for something that would help me. It was the business part, the federal forms and that sort of thing."

She found out about Moraine Park's course through a newspaper article and enrolled. "He was just an excellent teacher," Koenig said of Tom Evenson, the course instructor. "The class was wonderful. I was so impressed. He took all the time in the world to listen to me."

The information she received not only helped with the landscaping business, she said, it can also be applied to the dairy business.

Koenig is most pleased with the advice on business planning. "That's the key to the success of anything, to have that plan and follow it."

— West Bend's Frank and Therese Falter hope to open their own small business in the next year or so. The husband and wife enrolled in Developing Your Small Business to find out how to avoid business pitfalls. "We wanted to learn from others and not make mistakes," Frank said. "The class has pointed out a lot of things we hadn't thought about before. Now we've done demographics and are looking at best locations."

Frank works full time for a carpenter, but his background is in food production. He graduated from Moraine Park in 1984 with associate degrees in food science technician - canning and freezing and food science technician - dairy. He worked with several firms in the food industry before losing his last job in 1989 during a staff reorganization.

Frank said he's worked in carpentry off and on since 1975, but that he'd like to start his own food-related business.

Therese is a part-time office clerk. "I've got 12 years' office experience doing just about everything," she said.

Both are confident in their business plans and said they're looking forward to the opportunity to be their own bosses.

Chuck Vogel, Anne Koenig, Frank and Therese Falter all said they plan to take the remaining four courses in Moraine Park's small business and training development program.

Krueger, Shaw Recommended for Moraine Park District Board

Raymond Krueger of Kewaskum and David Shaw of Beaver Dam have been recommended to join the nine-member Moraine Park Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District Board.

Krueger and Shaw were selected April 30 from five candidates by an appointment committee made up of the county board chairpersons of the 10 counties within the Moraine Park VTAE District.

Current board member Philip Baranowski, administrator for the Green Lake School District, was recommended for re-appointment.

All Moraine Park District Board members serve three-year terms.

The committee's recommendations will now be sent to the VTAE Board for final approval.

Krueger and Shaw will replace Ray Thompson of Beaver Dam and Margaret Nitschke of Mayville. Thompson did not apply for reappointment to the board. The appointment committee did not choose to reappoint Nitschke because committee members wanted the geographic makeup of the board to reflect population changes indicated in the 1990 census.

With the new members, the board will have three members from Fond du Lac County, three members from Washington County, two members from Dodge County, and one member from Green Lake County.

Krueger is employed at Regal Ware, Inc. He is also a trustee with the Washington County Central Labor Council.

Shaw is district manager in Beaver Dam for Wisconsin Power & Light Company. He formerly had been director of development for Marian College and director of corporate relations for Marquette University.

By its bylaws, the Moraine Park District Board consists of three private sector employers, three private sector employees, two members-at-large and a school district administrator.

Currently serving on the board are Jenice Bowie, a teacher from Fox Lake; Daniel Klawitter, production repair technician from Fond du Lac; Ruth Mueller, self-employed dairy farmer from St. Cloud;

Under the direction of Richard P. Hoffman, the Coe Concert Choir and the "Collage" Vocal Show Ensemble are making their spring tour. On May 4, the groups appeared at Roosevelt High School and at Coe alumni party in Des Moines, Iowa. On May 5 the Coe Concert Choir participated in the worship service at Stanley Presbyterian Church in Stanley, Kansas, and at a Coe alumni party in Kansas City, Missouri.

The Coe Concert Choir plans a trip to Europe in January of 1992. Membership is open to any Coe student.

Shannon McFadden of Kewaskum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat McFadden, is a member of the COE Concert choir.

Lyn Schuette, president of W.B. Place & Company, Hartford; Kathryn Sweet, Town of Fond du Lac clerk; and Joseph Zadra, chairman of the board for The Gehl Company, West Bend.

The new appointments will take effect with the start of the district's 1991-92 fiscal year, July 1.

The Moraine Park VTAE District is comprised of all of Fond du Lac and Green Lake Counties; most of Dodge and Washington Counties; and portions of Calumet, Columbia, Marquette, Sheboygan, Waushara and Winnebago Counties.

Order Tree Seedlings Now

Eagle River...Spring is a good time to order tree seedlings according to Sandy Lotto, Forester at Trees For Tomorrow.

Container grown red pine, white spruce and blue spruce seedlings may be obtained from Trees For Tomorrow Natural Resource Education Center in Eagle River in time for late Spring planting.

The seedlings are grown in styrofoam blocks each in its own cell of soil and fertilizer. They can be ordered any time, in quantities greater than twelve trees per species. Little skill is needed to plant them and survival is higher than traditional bare root stock. A planting instruction guide is given with each seedling order.

Red pine, white spruce and blue spruce are available now through September but order your seedlings soon as quantities are limited. They are shipped via UPS collect or can be picked up at the Center. Proceeds from the seedlings sales go to support the Center's natural resources education programs.

For a free brochure and order form, write Trees For Tomorrow, Seedling Program, P.O. Box 609, Eagle River, WI 54521 or call (715) 476-6456.

Trees For Tomorrow began in 1944 when a group of nine paper and power companies formed the non-profit organization to reforest vast areas of Wisconsin woodlands which had been over-harvested and neglected.

TORNADO TIPS

After the Storm... What Do You Do?

If a tornado should hit, remain calm — panic never helps. Most tornadoes are short-lived, lasting only four or five minutes, on the average, according to the Wisconsin Division of Emergency Government.

Closely inspect your property, including automobiles, for damage. Check immediately for electrical problems and gas leaks and report to utilities or the fire department if danger is imminent.

If you have extensive damage, contact your insurance company immediately. In the meantime, secure your property from further damage or theft. Heavy rains often follow a tornado.

Take an inventory of the damage to speed your insurance settlement. Your policy may provide coverage for additional living expenses should you not be able to stay in your home. There is also a policy provision for paying the expense of debris removal.

If you have not suffered damage, be a good neighbor and help those who need it. But, do not telephone directly into or visit a disaster area. Reports will be broadcast, so let the rescue work proceed unhampered by spectators and curiosity seekers.

Do not enter a building damaged by a tornado until you are sure it is safe and will not collapse.

Use only approved or chlorinated supplies of drinking water.

Check food supplies. Food may contain particles of glass or slivers of other debris. Discard canned goods with broken seams.

Get food, clothing, medical care or shelter at Red Cross Stations or from local communities if necessary.

Notify your relatives of your safety. Local authorities may waste time trying to locate you if you don't send word. Do not tie up phone lines if they are needed for emergency calls.

Cooperate in the general clean-up of debris. You are responsible for cleaning debris from your own property.

During repairs and clean-up wear shoes and gloves. Glass, including fiberglass insulation, can injure unprotected hands and feet.

WHAT IF YOU ARE A VICTIM? Do your best to protect yourself, your family and your neighbors from further damage.

Make sure authorities are notified that you are a tornado victim.

Be prepared to cooperate with trained and authorized officers and volunteers who will arrive to give you aid.

Do not sign contracts for repair work, removal of rubble, or new insurance without consulting authorities.

Wisconsin Electric to Place 'Mr. Ouch' Stickers on Dangerous Electrical Equipment

Kewaskum Statesman, Thursday, May 9, 1991, Page 15

Mr. Ouch soon will be appearing on more than 100,000 pieces of Wisconsin Electric Power Co. equipment to warn children to stay away. The company will be placing the safety stickers on its equipment now through the end of August.

MILWAUKEE — Children, be on the lookout for Mr. Ouch. He's a scary character, but his job is to keep you safe.

Mr. Ouch, a danger symbol to warn youngsters to stay away from potentially dangerous electrical equipment, will soon appear on more than 100,000 pieces of Wisconsin Electric Power Co. equipment.

Wisconsin Electric is conducting a massive effort to place "Mr. Ouch" stickers on pad-mounted transformers, switch-fuse units, primary junction boxes, pedestals and other equipment, most of which is on customer property. Crews will be placing the stickers through the end of August.

The sticker depicts Mr. Ouch as a menacing ball of electricity. It also shows a child in distress and includes the words "Hazardous voltage inside. Can shock, burn, or cause death."

Mr. Ouch is endorsed by the National Electrical Manufacturers Association and has been tested among various age groups, including pre-school children who are too young to read.

Wisconsin Electric also is conducting an intensive program to introduce Mr. Ouch to more than 60,000 children in day care centers and schools throughout the company's service territory.

Free brochures, coloring books and comic books on electrical safety are available to Wisconsin Electric customers by calling the Energy Facts Phone at 221-2000, or toll-free, 1-800-222-9288.

FmHA Has Subsidized Mortgage Funds Available For Low, Very Low Income Rural Housing Loans

Ron Caldwell, State Director of the Wisconsin Farmers Home Administration, (WI FmHA), announced today that funds are available for low and very low income rural residents who wish to purchase or build a house. The Section 502 Rural Housing (RH) loan program is available to those applicants who are unable to obtain other credit because they lack the required down payment or are unable to make payments at the interest rate charged by local lenders.

Caldwell explained, "To be eligible for the RH program, applicants must show they have adequate and dependable income to meet their household living expenses, make payments on their other loans and the FmHA loan. While this program is targeted to low income households, applicants must demonstrate they have a good credit record."

The program is for those who wish to live in rural area. This includes small communities and cities of up to 10,000 population. Residents of the cities of Beaver Dam, Fort Atkinson, Marshfield, Menomonie, Monroe, Watertown and Whitewater also qualify.

Information can be obtained from any of the 48 FmHA County Offices located throughout Wisconsin. Telephone numbers of the local

Managing Crop Residue To Reduce Soil Erosion

Leaving crop residue on your fields is the key to reducing soil erosion, says Nyle Wollenhaupt, University of Wisconsin - Madison extension soil conservation specialist.

Conservation tillage is one of the best and most cost-effective ways to increase residue cover, Wollenhaupt notes. Residue management will be especially important in the coming years as farmers move toward conservation compliance. Conservation plans must be fully implemented by 1995.

"We found from many years of research that as little as 30 percent crop residue measured on the ground immediately after planting can reduce soil erosion by 50 to 65 percent," says Wollenhaupt. Conservation tillage is defined as leaving at least 30 percent residue on the ground.

Erosion occurs when raindrops hit bare soil and detach soil particles. Runoff then moves soil within or off the field, says Wollenhaupt. Crop residue absorbs the impact of raindrops and slows down water movement. Grass waterways, contour strips and terraces also slow down water movement, and are recommended in areas most susceptible to erosion.

Wollenhaupt recommends you evaluate your tillage practices and make adjustments where necessary to increase residue cover. The best place to start is by measuring residue cover in your fields using the line-transect method.

To use this method, stretch a 50-foot or 100-foot measuring tape diagonally across a field right after planting. Check at each foot interval to determine whether a piece of residue is touching the mark. Look straight down at the line. When in doubt about whether the residue is touching the line, do not count it.

The percent ground is the number of pieces of residue that touch the 100-foot tape or rope at the foot intervals. If you count 35 pieces of residue that is your percent ground cover. When using a 50-foot tape, check every 6 inches to get 100 observations. Take at least three measurements in each field to get a more accurate estimate. Wollenhaupt recommends.

Contact the Soil Conservation Service or your county land conservation or extension office if you would like help in measuring residue cover in your fields.

If your residue cover is low, consider making some changes in your tillage plans. Wollenhaupt suggests making fewer trips across the field, cultivating to a shallower depth, or using a field cultivator rather than a disc. Field cultivators can bring residue back to the surface.

Two passes with a disc in corn stubble leaves about 35 percent residue on the soil surface, Wollenhaupt says. A third pass with the disc could lower residue cover to under 30 percent and may put the farmer out of compliance.

Equipment manufacturers are developing tools that leave more crop residue in fields. Farmers should experiment with their equipment to find out what combination works best, Wollenhaupt says.

"It's not the equipment that makes a conservation tillage farmer," Wollenhaupt stresses. "It's how you use the equipment and how much residue you leave." It may take a few years to work out any "bugs" in your tillage plans, he adds.

Soybean growers may especially face problems with meeting conservation compliance requirements. Discing soybean stubble twice will put the amount of residue out of compliance. Growers may have to no-till plant crops that follow soybeans in the rotation to meet conservation requirements, Wollenhaupt says.

Cattle branding was practiced 4,000 years ago. Old tomb paintings show Egyptians branding their cattle.

WE to Again Sponsor Smart Money Energy Rebate Program

MILWAUKEE — The stage is set and the curtain is up, displaying the full repertoire of Wisconsin Electric Power Co.'s Smart Money Energy Program.

"Our entire line of 1991 offers for residential customers is available now," said Marti Schmall, residential market manager at Wisconsin Electric.

The popular Appliance Turn-in Service for refrigerators and room air conditioners will run until Aug. 31. Rebates for central air conditioning tune-ups are available until Sept. 30. Rebates for central and room air conditioning, and lighting and electric water heating are available until Dec. 31. Free timers for electric water heaters, spas and appliances also are available until Dec. 31.

Nearly 200,000 inefficient appliances have been exchanged for U.S. Savings Bonds in the first four years of the Smart Money Energy Program. "This year, customers can choose to receive a bond or a cash rebate of $25 for each refrigerator or $50 for each room air conditioner they turn in," Schmall said.

"The Smart Money Energy Program is designed to help customers use energy more efficiently," Schmall explained. "This helps us reduce the need to add expensive new equipment and facilities to our system, which in turn helps hold down energy costs."

Since 1987, Smart Money efficiency measures have saved more than 250 megawatts, or the equivalent of two small power plants.

For more information about the Smart Money Energy Program, call 221-4800 in Milwaukee, or toll-free 1-800-922-6253.

At the annual parish meeting of Holy Trinity congregation, held following May devotions on Sunday afternoon, members of the congregation voted to build a four-classroom, second story addition to the present school building. The estimated cost of the project is $70,000 to $100,000. The present school is still comparatively new. It was built in 1948 or 1949, which makes it only about 17 years old, but the school is overcrowded and some classes are still being taught in the old school building which also houses the sisters' home.

Marvin Martin and Eugene Bohn of Kewaskum attended the 7th annual insurance education and sales conference held at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, last Wednesday and Thursday. Part of the evening's program was a talk by Henry Jordan, star defensive tackle of the world's professional champion Green Bay Packers.

The Kewaskum track team won its second straight meet with a 60-58 victory over a tough Lomira team. Winning in only five events, the squad won by taking a second in every event except the mile.

Last Tuesday just about noon Matthew Hurt, aged 32, a very prominent and industrious young farmer of the Town of Ashford, met with a serious accident while operating a gasoline engine which was being used to run a feed cutter, when a handkerchief which he had fastened about his neck, suddenly became caught on the shaft of the engine. Before the engine could be stopped Mr. Hurts' clothes had been ripped off his body and he had been hurled against the wall of the barn and thrown about with terrific force by the engine. His skull was fractured and his entire body covered with bruises. He lies today unconscious at the home of his father Nicholas Hurt and is not expected to survive. Mr. Hurt is married and the father of two children.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Gatzke, Beechwood, a baby girl on Tuesday. Congratulations.

Mich. Johannes, Jr., this week received his new Studebaker touring car, which he recently purchased from Geo. Kippenhan.

Emil Gessner and Paul Feuerhammer of New Fane were Saturday callers at New Prospect. Emil is doing a big harness and shoe business there.

A number of the Campbellsport boys motored to Beechwood Saturday and did not forget to call at J.F. Walsh's as usual. The bunch consisted of Ray Wenzel, the hustling oil man, Frank Bauer, the hustling hotel man, Jas Farrel, the foxy elevator man and Paul Koenig, the spattering cement man.

School Districts to Receive Dividends

(MADISON) — The trustees of the Wisconsin Association of School Boards Insurance Plan recently approved the distribution of $2.7 million in dividends to 315 member school districts across the state. The plan is underwritten and serviced by Wausau Insurance Companies. The Kewaskum School District is included as a plan participant.

"The WASB Insurance Plan has turned in another outstanding performance in the first year of its second decade of service to school districts in the Badger State," said Ken Cole, executive director of the Wisconsin Association of School Boards.

Cole added that much of the plan's success is due to the efforts of school districts themselves. "Since 1980 when the WASB Insurance Plan began, member districts have worked hard to implement safety plans and other loss prevention strategies," Cole said. "These efforts had paid off in fewer claims being filed and the payment of dividends to the nearly three-fourths of Wisconsin districts protected under the plan."

For policies effective in 1990, the dividends amount to 15 percent of premiums paid for workers compensation, 25 percent for general liability and 27 percent for automobile insurance.

The dividends will be distributed after the policies are audited, Cole said.

According to Cole, the WASB Insurance Plan generated more than $15 million in premium revenue during 1990.

Lac Lawrann Volunteers Selling Wildflowers

Volunteers are a special group of people, especially when they combine their efforts for a special project, then work becomes fun and plans become a reality. The volunteers of the Lac Lawrann Conservancy hope to do just that with their spring wildflower sale set for Saturday, May 11. The sale will be held from 9 a.m. until sold out in the machinery shed of the former Schmidt farmstead. The farm, 300 Schmidt Road, is the entrance to the conservancy.

Volunteers have been digging wildflowers and perennials from their gardens and their friends gardens for weeks in anticipation of the sale. The community has participated in these preparations by contributing potting containers.

The volunteers' sale offers a variety of often hard to find wildflowers, Jack-in-the-pulpit, spring beauty, wild ginger, buttercup, coneflower, hepatica, violets, wild geranium, bee-balm, trout lily, Virginia blue bells, black-eyed susans, are only a few of the selection available just in time for Mother's Day. Volunteers will be available to help the buyer select the right plant for the right site. Dan Wilson, UW-Extension Resource Agent will also give short presentations at 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. on the planting and care of wildflowers.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for educational programs, trail improvements, restoring the Schmidt farm for use as headquarters for the conservancy and for publishing Ann Maurin's diary of Lac Lawrann.

The original 20 acres of the Lac Lawrann Conservancy was donated to the City of West Bend Park System in 1979 by Lawrence and Ann Maurin. Through years of work and love

County Sets Record Collecting Pennies for Rainforest

In honor of Earthweek, schools and businesses in Washington County collected pennies for the Children's Rainforest in Guatemala over a period of about two weeks. As a part of this project the children learned much about the rainforests of the world through special studies during Earthweek.

of $6,927.96 that will buy almost 200 acres of rainforest in Guatemala. "Next year we plan to do even better with this project," said Popelka.

Last year Earthweek projects of this intensity existed only in Germantown through the dedication of Chuck Ritzenthaler, a science teacher at Germantown's Washington High School, and his students and fellow teachers.

Indian Tracksters Beat Cougars; Third in Eastern Wisconsin Tri Test

By Statesman Sports Writer
KEWASKUM — The Kewaskum boys track team did an almost 90 degree reversal in a matter of 48 hours last week. On Tuesday, the Indians traveled to Two Rivers for a triangular also featuring Plymouth. The Indians struggled against the tough Eastern Wisconsin Conference opponents, coming in third with 23 points.

But the Indians bounced back in a home meet with Campbellsport on Thursday, recording twelve of 16 first places in routing the Cougars 98-38.

The Indians had a couple of strikes against them before they even began competition in Two Rivers, as a handful of individuals were unable to compete for one reason or another, leaving Kewaskum quite shorthanded for the meet.

So first places were few and far between for the Indians, who got one from junior Randy Schlice, who won the 100 dash with a wind-hampered time of 12.24. He also was a part of the Indians' victorious 400 relay unit, which also consisted of Kim Marx, Dan Schulties and Jerry Sese. The foursome came across the wire in 46.55.

The Indians were also helped by third place finishes from Brian Brundl in the high jump and Schulties' third in the discus. Schulties also competed in the shot put competition, where he capped off a pretty good day by placing fourth.

Other fourths were recorded by Brad Jackson (pole, vault), John Schmidt (1600 run), and Dave Bowser (triple jump).

The Indians reversed their fortunes on Thursday, as they got fine performances from a number of individuals in crushing Campbellsport.

The biggest surprise came in the 100 dash, where Sese upset Schlice, who is the Indians usual ace in that event. Sese came across the line in 11.5, just edging Schlice (11.6).

Schulties was a double winner for the Indians, taking the top spot in both the shot (37-8) and the discus (113-7). Bowser was also a double winner, taking the triple jump (34-8.25), and the 200 dash (25.6).

Brad Jackson, Jeff Dirmeier

and Heath Heise each had a hand in a pair of wins as well. Jackson won the pole vault (10-6), Dirmeier the 1600 (5:20), and Heise the 400 (57.6), while the three teamed up with Wade Kreis to win the 1600 relay in 4:04.

Also winning for the Indians were Kreis in the long jump (18-1), Marx in the 300 hurdles (44.6), and Mark Stephani in the 800 (2:22).

Indian Netters Drop Pair in EW

By Statesman Sports Writer

KEWASKUM — While the weather hasn't been very cooperative for the Kewaskum boys tennis team this spring, even more nasty has been the Indians' opponents in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

The Indians dropped another in matches to EW foes last week, both coming by 7-0 margins. Sheboygan Falls was the victor on Monday, while Chilton beat up on the Indians Thursday night. It wasn't a totally lost week for the Indians, though, as they did come up with five wins in a triangular with Germantown and Milwaukee Vincent on Wednesday.

Against Falls, the weather was a big factor in the outcome, as both squads had to contend with severe wind. The Falcons didn't let it bother them as much, however, as all seven Falls players, with the exception of their No. 4 doubles team, won in straight sets.

At No. 4 doubles, Kewaskum's Dan Staehler and Shane Oppermann put up a good showing before eventually falling 6-2, 4-6, 2-6.

On Wednesday afternoon, the Indians got together with Germantown and Vincent for a round robin triangular. Germantown ended up the winner in the meet, scoring 15 points, while Kewaskum was second with 5, and Vincent third with 4.

The doubles teams were the hot item for the Indians that day, as they came up with four of the five team wins. The only singles player to score a victory was at No. 1 singles, where Brian Blair beat his opponent from Vincent, 6-3, 7-6.

On the doubles scene, it was Curt Ammel and Kevin Hein teaming up for a 6-0, 6-4 win. Also, Keith Herman and Bob Schreffler came up winners, 6-4, 6-4. Kevin Gundrum and Adam Pilachowski posted a 6-4, 6-4 win, while Aaron Rettler and Dan Staehler were elevated to the varsity and came away as 6-0, 6-0 winners.

Against Chilton, the Indians were a bit shorthanded due to illnesses, and it had some effect as the Indians were shut out for the second time in a week.

A couple of players did put forth some impressive efforts for the Indians, though. At No. 2 singles, Blair won the first set of his match 6-4, but then struggled the rest of the way in losing the final two sets 1-6 and 2-6.

Staehler and Oppermann also won their first set, 7-6, but then couldn't put away their foes, and lost 4-6, 1-6. Gundrum and Pilachowski also put up a good fight before falling 6-7, 5-7.

UWWC Tennis Teams Split

By Statesman Sports Writer

SHEBOYGAN — The UWWC men's and women's tennis teams continue to travel in opposite directions this spring, and each squad stayed on their respective path in their matches against UW-Sheboygan here.

The women's teams stayed hot with a tough 4-3 win over their foes, while the men continued to struggle, dropping a 5-2 decision to the hosts.

For the Wildcats women, Debbie Ferge, Connie Peterson and Heidi Wagner won at No. 2, 3 and 4 singles, respectively, and Wagner teamed up with Jenny Meyer at No. 2 doubles to post a thrilling three-set victory, giving UWWC the win.

Ferge went to three sets as well, before pulling out a 6-2, 2-6, 6-1 win. Peterson and Wagner, meanwhile posted straight set victories over their opponents.

For the Wildcat men, only Gary Spaeth at No. 5 singles, and the team of Curt Tuescher and Spaeth at No. 2 doubles were able to come out on top in their matches. Spaeth took care of his singles opponent in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, while the duo rolled over their foes 6-1, 7-6.

Huskies Upend Indian Girls

By Statesman Sports Writer

KEWASKUM — After pounding their opponents for over 50 runs the previous week, the Indians got a little of their own medicine last Tuesday against New Holstein.

The Huskies scored early and often, and then late and often as they pounded the Indian pitchers in a 17-7 whitewash.

New Holstein exploded for eight runs in the top half of the first inning off Indians pitcher Stacey Heberer. Down 8-0 before even coming to bat, the Indians didn't give up and instead started a comeback in their half of the second.

Kewaskum picked up three runs in the second, using base hits by Janel Flynn, Patti Aupperle and Julie Wagner to go along with a couple of stolen bases to tally the runs.

The Indians added a pair in the third as Aupperle and Flynn again came up with clutch hits after Carrie Krause had reached base.

But the Huskies responded with a pair in the fourth, and then put the game away by scoring three in the sixth and four in the seventh. The Indians put up single runs in both the fifth and sixth innings, but it wasn't enough to match the high-powered Husky attack.

Flynn had a good day at the plate, ripping three hits, including a pair of doubles. Aupperle and Wagner each collected two hits for Kewaskum as well.

Indian Girls Win Marshland Invite

By Statesman Sports Writer

MAYVILLE — Just as the Kewaskum boys track team had an up and down time of things last week, so did the Indians girls.

The definite highlight of the week came on Monday, when the Indians defended their title at the Marshland Invitational here by scoring a whopping 144 points to outlast the rest of the field and win the championship for the second consecutive year.

Then, just one day later, the busy schedule took its toll as the Indians had several key performers unable to participate in the triangular with Plymouth and Two Rivers, and ended up taking third with just 43 points.

But Monday's triumph over the six-team field more than made up for that. The Indians were 15 points better than the host Cardinals, while Hartford took third with 125, followed in order by Columbus (64), Waupun (59) and Horicon (5). Senior Ingrid Ankerson came up with the most impressive win of the day for the Indians, leaping 34'.25" to win the triple jump and set a new school record in the process, breaking her own mark of 33-10 that she set in her first jump of the day. Ankerson also captured first place in the high jump, clearing 4-10 for the win.

Sprinter Melissa Braun had a fine day also, having a hand in three of the Indians firsts. Braun won the 100 dash (13.99), and then came back to lend a hand in wins by both the 400 relay (54.2) and the 800 relay (1:55). The other members of the winning 400 unit were Rachelle Zuehlke, Tina Schartz and Kelly Korth, while Rachel Gosa teamed up with Braun, Schwartz and Korth in the 800.

The Indians got good point production out of the weight events, where Robyn Winninghoff and Marlene Wodsedalek finished 1-2 in the discus with tosses of 90-3 and 89-10, respectively. Wodsedalek added another second in the shot, where her throw of 31-9.25 was bettered only by Kewaskum's Tammy Schmidt, who had a personal best of 34-25.

Seconds were recorded by Laurie Vogt in the 1600 (5:56) and by Korth in the long jump (16-7.5). Korth's effort was her best-ever in the event.

After their winning effort in Mayville, the Indians had a tough time on Tuesday in their meet with the two EW schools. With a few individuals already out with illnesses, coach Perry Koth watched as another three top performers had to be withheld because of injuries.

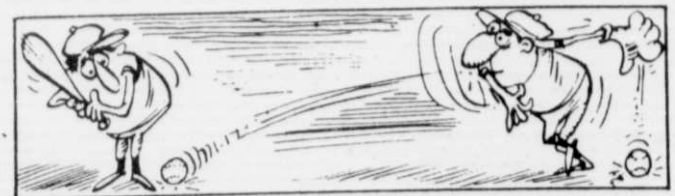

Braun pulled a muscle while taking second in the 100 dash (13.7), and was unable to compete in any other events. Also Julie Mertz (tendonitis) and Vogt (quad) were injured, even though Vogt managed to take second in the 400 with a time of 68.6.

The Indians did get good efforts out of other regulars, such as Ankerson's first in the triple (32-1.5) and Korth's first in the high jump (14-7). The only other first recorded by the Indians was in the 800 relay, where Ginger Wiesner stepped in for Braun and didn't miss a beat, as she teamed up with Schwartz, Korth and Zuehlke to post a 1:59.1 time and take first.

The Indians also got seconds from Ankerson in the high jump (4-10), Jessica Rohrer in the 100 hurdles (19.9), as well as the 400 and 1600 relay units.
