School Board Approves Beer Sales Request

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

At a special meeting Monday night, the Kewaskum Board of Education, on a 4-3 vote, approved the request of the Kewaskum Athletic Association to sell beer during its summer week-end baseball games held on school district property.

At a previous meeting, a motion to approve the association's request died on a 3-3 tie vote. District Administrator Dr. David Heather had at the earlier meeting and previous years, indicated his opposition to approving the request. Heather did concede, however, that there had never been any problems as the result of the group's beer sales at the games held at the ball diamond east of the Kewaskum Elementary School.

When the request was originally made at the April school board meeting, Rick Leitheiser, representing the association noted that a portion of the funds raised through the beer sales were used to repair and maintain the diamond as well as provide some equipment for the youth teams.

Some of the school board members stated their opposition to the request noting the school district properties are posted as "Drug Free" zones and that included alcoholic beverages.

After the meeting Jeanne Goeden, one of the board members who voted in favor of the request, explained her reasons for approving the beer sales. "I've spoken to an AODA counselor and a drug support advisor in the area schools," said Goeden, "today, our young people need good examples on how to handle the consumption of alcohol." Goeden went on to say that "too many times they (the young people) see the improper ways adults abuse it."

"A few businessmen and a neighbor of the baseball field phoned me to state that there haven't been any problems with the selling of beer at these events. These people attend the games on a regular basis. I feel with proper supervision this issue can be worked out. We should give those adults the opportunity to make it work. It's their responsibility to provide that good example."

In other business, the board discussed the issue of paying for retired assistant principal Roy Esser's health insurance until age 65. That motion was defeated, however, the board did approve paying the insurance cost for one more year with a review of the request at the end of that period.

In other action the board also approved the applying for grants to be used for the district's drug programs.

A Summer Treasure Hunt...

Rummage-O-Rama Saturday

There's still a little time to clean out your garage and basement and get all your rummage and treasures ready for Kewaskum's Community-Wide Rummage-O-Rama which will be held Saturday, June 22, from 8 a.m. to ?

Rummage-O-Rama, which replaces the annual Krazy Daze Sale, will take place throughout the community, both in residential areas and in the business sector. There are numerous people who have signed up and will be listed on the free maps showing the location of each rummage sale being held. The deadline to be included on the map was Monday, but you can still sign up and participate without being listed on the map.

The Robert G. Romaine Post 384, American Legion, will also be holding a huge rummage sale of their own. In the evening, they will be featuring WTKM's "Music Machine" with disc jockey Jay Hoppe from 7 to 10 p.m. At 8 p.m. the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce will announce the names of the candidates for their Kettle Country Colors "King" Contest. It is hoped the candidates and the curious will be there for this vital announcement. The Legion will also be selling "liquid sustenance" and Homeplate will be selling some of their food items on the Legion grounds.

Rummage-O-Rama maps will be handed out, free of charge, on the day of the sale only. The maps will be available on each end of town, namely at General Store Antique Mall, Sentry Foods, Buffy's Village Inn and at the Chamber of Commerce information booth, which will be located in front of the Kewaskum Statesman on Main Street.

Businesses in the community are also getting involved by offering sidewalk sales, various forms of discounts and many, many specials. There will also be vendors along Main Street and Fond du Lac Avenue. Rummage booths are also being set up on the Kewaskum Mall parking lot.

And let's not forget the food, folks and fun! This year the sale is being held on a Saturday, so their is no excuse for you to miss it. You can bargain hunt all day and party most of the evening. Most restaurants will be serving culinary delights to tempt even the most discriminating palate, not to mention all the coool thirst quenchers being offered throughout town.

Eckl's Main Street Inn will be featuring some of their tasty concoctions while you sit and enjoy listening to the music of Howard Schneider and the Dixieland All-Stars starting at noon.

The Barrel Haus challenges you to build your own taco which they will begin serving at 11 a.m. In the evening they will be offering "Live Music Under the Stars" by "Illusion" from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Homeplate will tempt you with their delectable ice cream treats plus pizza, subs, foot long hot dogs, crab salad, cookies, soft pretzels and pie. Besides all the goodies at their restaurant, they will also have a food stand in front of Sausage Surplus where they will be serving hamburgers, brats, hot dogs and soda.

If it's a bargain in food you're looking for, head out to the Kewaskum Mall where Sentry Foods is offering a hot dog and soda for only 25c. While you are there, check out the rummage being offered on their parking lot.

Buffy's Village Inn will be offering a special "Rummage-O-Rama" plate which includes a cup of Buffy's delicious homemade soup, a quarter-pound beef burger, order of fries and beverage. While you are there, don't forget the pie.

And last, but definitely not least, you will want to stop off at Kewaskum Frozen Foods to buy some of that great summer sausage. And as long as you are there... you might just as well have one or two of their burgers or wolf down a couple of their award winning brats that are being grilled outside. Why pass up such a good thing?

Perhaps while you are in town, you would like to take a stroll up to Kewaskum Kiwanis Community Park and take in part of the softball tournament being sponsored by the Kewaskum Athletic Association. Or catch a few innings of the Kewaskum Athletic Club's hardball game being played on the high school diamond at 1:30 p.m. (Saturday and Sunday). After all that walking and watching such an active sport, you're probably hungry... so back downtown for more to eat!

You might just as well come into Kewaskum early for a late breakfast and then a light lunch and of course, there's always supper. It's really a shame to cook when there are so many people here that are willing to do it for

Four Injured in Farmington Accident

The car of Roy Radecki sustained heavy front end damage in the two-car collision. Radecki and two passengers in his car were injured along with Joey Grotelueschen, driver of the other vehicle. photo by Gerry Mueller

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

A two-car accident late Monday afternoon sent four people to the hospital.

According to Capt. John Theusch of the Washington County Sheriffs Department, the accident occurred at 4:15 p.m., at the intersection of Highway 84 and Jay Road, in the Town of Farmington.

Theusch stated that the preliminary report indicated that a vehicle driven by Joey Grotelueschen of W1667 Hoch-hein Rd., Mayville, was westbound on Jay Road. According to statements taken, Grotelueschen slowed for the stop sign at the intersection and then apparently pulled out onto Highway 84 into the path of a northbound car driven by Roy Radecki of 3559 Hwy. 144, Random Lake. Theusch said because the report had not been completed, it is not clear as to whether or not Grotelueschen came to a complete stop. The Grotelueschen vehicle was hit broadside.

The Boltonville Fire Department and Kewaskum Rescue Squad were called to the scene.

Grotelueschen, Radecki and two passengers in the Radecki vehicle, Todd Thomas of 2160 W. Washington St., West Bend and Ryan O'Brien (address unavailable) were transported to St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend. According to a hospital spokesman, Radecki, Thomas and O'Brien were treated and released. Grotelueschen remains hospitalized.

Teacher Arbitration Law Costly to Property Taxpayers

Guest Commentary by Stanley Peer, President
Wisconsin Association of School Boards

Last fall Wisconsin's voters, by a 2-1 margin, approved a referendum that said the state should not impose mandates on local governments that it isn't willing to pay for. If the Legislature wants schools to teach children about AIDS, for example, or highway safety or the nutritional content of dairy foods, it should be willing to provide the necessary funds, voters said. Local property taxpayers shouldn't be expected to pick up these costs.

Most people probably don't realize, however, that the state's binding arbitration law is also an unfunded mandate. In fact, Governor Thompson in his recent budget message called it "the most burdensome mandate of all."

Here's how the law affects property taxpayers.

Employee salaries and benefits make up from 60 to 80 percent of the average school district's budget. Therefore, districts that fail to get a handle on employee-related expenses can't hope to hold down their overall spending.

The binding arbitration law, passed by the Legislature in 1978, has weakened the board's authority to hold down costs at the bargaining table; the result has been spiraling increases in teacher wage and benefit costs statewide.

Teachers know that if they don't get what they want during bargaining, they can always go to arbitration — where they have a 50-50 chance of winning. What's more, school boards tend to make higher offers, realizing that if they don't, an arbitrator will probably pick the union's offer. It's a no-win situation for taxpayers.

Teachers, on the other hand, have been big winners from binding arbitration. In the past seven years they have consistently received increases in their salaries and benefits of 7 percent or more, regardless of inflation or local economic conditions.

How long can this continue? The governor wants to hold down school costs by limiting increases in state school aids next year to 2.7 percent and keeping down school spending increases to 5.4 percent. If these measures go into effect, how can we afford to give teachers raises of 7 percent or more? The answer is: only by cutting school programs or substantially increasing the school tax levy.

While the Wisconsin Association of School Boards is not seeking to have the arbitration law repealed, we believe — along with Governor Thompson — that changes are called for.

The governor proposes to limit arbitration to cases where the school board's final wage and benefit offer is below the previous year's inflation rate.

If the 279 districts that reached contract settlements with teachers for 1990-91 had been able to limit raises to 5.4 percent — last year's inflation rate — the savings would have totalled nearly $24 million. That comes to $85,000 per district.

Could your district have used an additional $85,000 last year? Perhaps your schools need new computers or more teachers. Or maybe the savings could have reduced the amount on your last bond referendum or lowered your school levy.

At least the decision on how to spend this money would have been up to the local school board and the taxpayers, not to outside forces such as an arbitrator.

While changes in the law won't assure lower school costs or property tax relief overnight, they are a step in the right direction.

Wisconsin's voters have sent legislators a strong message about unfunded mandates. We need to remind them of the biggest unfunded mandate of all — binding arbitration.

This vehicle, driven by Joe Grotelueschen of Mayville, was struck broadside when he pulled into the path of a northbound vehicle on Highway 84 driven by Roy Radecki of Random Lake.

Okay Dam Repair Contract

Board Approves Hiring of New Library Director

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Village Board, Monday night, made quick work for a very light agenda.

Among the board's action items was the approval of a Library Board recommendation to hire Lucille Bledsoe as the Library Director. Bledsoe, who is replacing Trudy Trapp who resigned earlier this month, will take over her duties as Library Director on June 24th.

In other action the board approved two contracts for work on the River Hill Park dam. Lunda Construction of Little Chute, will do the repair work at a cost of $9,540. Quality Painting of Kaukauna, was awarded the painting contract on a bid of $3,995. Village Administrator Dan Schmidt said he anticipated all the work would be completed by fall.

Schmidt also advised the board that the County had awarded a resurfacing contract for its portion of Highway S (Riverview Road). The village had not been informed of the county's action, noted Schmidt. As a result, the village will now have to work out a schedule for resurfacing work on the road portion for which the village is responsible.

In other business the board adopted a new ordinance which permits the issuance of temporary 15-day bartender's license. As the result of a new state law, applicants who have not held an operator's license previously or have not had a license for the past two years, will be required to take the "Responsible Beverage Server" course at MPTC before being allowed to acquire a regular license. The new temporary license will give persons time to take the short course and obtain their one-year renewable license upon completion of the course.

The board also approved the renewal of the American Legion's liquor license, renewals and new operator licenses and the Kewaskum Fire Department's special license for the annual fireworks and picnic celebrations.

Parks Committee Chairman Tom McElhatton advised the board that, as of June 13th, 452 swim passes had been sold.

The board then adjourned to closed session.

Area Man Killed in Fatal Car Accident

Lester W. Hudson, 75, of West Bend was killed in a fatal car accident Thursday, June 13, at approximately 1:30 in the afternoon.

According to the Washington County Sheriff Dept., the accident occurred at the intersection of Hwys. 33 and 144, in the town of West Bend.

Hudson was traveling north in his car when he apparently failed to stop at an intersection, and was hit by an eastbound car, driven by Marlene M. Hetzel, 17, of Slinger and accompanied by passenger Brenda M. Birno, also 17.

The teenagers and Hudson were taken to St. Joseph's Community Hospital, where Hudson was pronounced dead. Hetzel was released after treatment of minor injuries and Birno was transported to St. Joseph's Hospital, Milwaukee.

This Week's 'KING' Nominations

June 12th-June 18th

NOMINATIONS
CLOSE 6 P.M.
ON JUNE 20

Great job, Kewaskum! I knew if I whined enough, you would come through for me and you did! The race is on with only a minimal amount of time left to decide the winners. The nominations this week were fast and furious, with everyone trying to meet the deadline to insure their loved one receives a spot on the roster.

Many are still trying to "pay back" the person who they THINK nominated them. Boy... am I glad that 99 percent of these nominations were anonymous. I can't be coerced into "spilling my guts" about something I don't know. I am the ONLY one who knows who is leading, and I'm not talking! Of course, a little bribery never hurt anyone!

At this writing, there is still time to try to edge out the competition (or vote for them depending on how you look at it). The "lucky 30" contestants already have their names etched in our stone tablets, however, if there is a last minute rush of nominations, this too can change. So if you think you squeaked by without a nomination... think again. I know alot of people who are waiting until the last day specifically so they can "surprise" their favorite candidate.

Now, in case you haven't been paying attention, the winners will be announced on Saturday, June 22, at 8 p.m. at the Legion Hall (outside, weather permitting). The local Legionnaires are sponsoring the WTKM "Music Machine" with disc jockey Jay Hoppe for your dancing and listening pleasure. They will also provide the "mood music" for the announcement of our candidates. We tried to hire Bert Parks but he didn't know where Kewaskum was.

There will also be lots of food and refreshments for sale to soothe and relax the nervous candidates, not too mention blotting out the memory of the "cold sweats" as the winners are made public.

All candidates are invited to be present. (Heck, someone will probably even buy you a beer, if they feel sorry enough for the losers...

or winners whichever the case may be). It's all in good fun, so come on out, support the Legion and stick around to see who won. You know you're all going to be on "pins and needles" if you wait until the paper comes out next week!

On Sunday, the cannisters will come out for the 30 candidates in each category that have been voted the "most likely." To vote for the next batch of finalists who will be announced at the Kewaskum Firemen-Legion picnic, just drop your coins (and paper) into the cannisters bearing the name of your favorite candidate.

Each vote will cost a dime, but don't limit yourself to just one vote. As long as you're voting, you might as well drop in 20 or 30 votes right away. That way you won't have to stand in line so many times to vote. So be sure to save your change for your "favorite fella."

Cannisters will be placed in Family Hair Salon, Kuehl's Suds and Spirits and a local "watering hole" (tavern) where we are currently negotiating terms. If you prefer, you can mail your vote(s) to the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 300, Kewaskum, WI 53040. Or you can drop your money off at the Kewaskum Statesman. I have contracted a daily "Brinks" truck to transport me to Kuehl's Suds and Spirits, where I will place the votes (under the watchful eyes of armed guards) into the proper designated cannisters with my own two little hands. (Vanna, eat your heart out!)

Bear in mind though, that there will only be two weeks for you to vote for the next 20 candidates. The cutoff date for this phase will be July 6th. So don't wait until the last minute or your candidate just might get knocked out of the running without your support.

And remember... if you want to "change the course of history" we are still accepting nominations until 6 p.m., Thursday, June 20th. So you still have a little time to "stuff" the nomination box.

The prize money is now up to $30 per winner in each category with more money coming in. So teens, it might be worth your while to nominate yourself!

Here's the list of this past week's candidates:

Ader Receives Call to Serve North Dakota Parishes

Candidate for Ordination
Kevin K. Ader

Concordia Theological Seminary of Fort Wayne, Indiana, is pleased to announce that Kevin K. Ader has completed his studies for the pastoral ministry of The Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod. He received the Master of Divinity degree in graduation exercises on May 17, 1991, and will serve as pastor of St. Paul Lutheran Church in Kulm, North Dakota, and St. Paul Lutheran Church in Monango, North Dakota, in the North Dakota District of The Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod.

Kevin is the son of Frank and Carla Ader, 580 State Highway 84, Fredonia, and a member of St. John Lutheran Church, Fredonia. He is a 1982 honors graduate of Kewaskum High School. He also graduated with honors from Winona State University, Winona, Minnesota, in 1984 and Concordia College - Wisconsin, in 1987.

As part of his theological training, Kevin participated in a unit of Clinical Pastoral Education at St. Luke's Medical Center, Milwaukee, and served a year of vicarage at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Wahpeton, North Dakota.

Kevin will be ordained into the Holy Ministry July 14, 1991, at St. Paul Lutheran Church, Kulm, North Dakota. A very special Service of Farewell and Godspeed to a Candidate for Ordination will be held at St. John's Lutheran Church, 824 Fredonia Avenue, Fredonia, Sunday, June 23, at 9:00 a.m. to honor Kevin.

Local Girl Scout Adult Volunteers Receive Honors

Adults join Wau-Bun Girl Scout Council to be of service to girls. They give freely of their time, talent, and skills. And their reward is watching the girls of today develop and grow into the leaders of tomorrow.

However, there are times when individuals give service that goes above and beyond that required of the position held. Kewaskum is honored to have five such volunteers.

The Outstanding Volunteer Award, which recognizes individuals who give service beyond that required for the position, was awarded to Lois Bartz, a registered Girl Scout for over half of her lifetime.

For over ten years Lois has been the Kewaskum Area Cookie Station Manager. All of the "behind the scenes" work involved in the cookie sale is done by Lois. No small job! Lois is responsible for training each troop's Cookie Manager, compiling the orders of girls and troops, setting up the cookie delivery site and supervising cookie pick-up.

In addition to her Cookie Station Manager position, Lois is kept busy as a Day Camp Committee Member and a Troop Consultant for the Kewaskum area. She specializes in lashing, knot tying, outdoor cooking, and minimal impact camping. She is especially adept at teaching the girls folk dancing despite the fact that she spends a good portion of her time in a wheelchair.

Kathy Danielson, Linda Enright, Lyn Gundrum, and Sharon Shaw were each awarded the Outstanding Leader Award. This is particularly special because troop members or their family submitted letters of endorsement for this award.

Kathy Danielson not only leads two troops, but is an active Girl Scout volunteer in many other capacities as well. Kathy has served as Co-Director for the Kewaskum Area Day Camp, Farmington Troop Organizer, and committee member for numerous events. Each letter of endorsement referred to Kathy's willingness to go the extra mile.

Linda Enright's troop has grown each year she has been its leader. Her troop focuses on camping and the girls really seem to enjoy it. The girls in her troop love to "brag up" the fact that their junior troop is the only one in town that knows how to cook in a "bean hole." As some of the girl's wrote, "She is a lot of fun to have as a leader!"

The role of the Girl Scout Leader was familiar to Lyn Gundrum long before she became one. Her mother was a Girl Scout Leader as Lyn was growing up. In addition to Girl Scout Leader, Lyn has been active in other areas of Girl Scouting. In the past she has been Co-Director for the Kewaskum Area Day Camp and has organized many local event. It is through her efforts that Girl Scouting is going and growing in the Farmington Area.

Sharon Shaw has been involved in Girl Scouting for only three years, but people in the community know of Sharon's commitment. Although Sharon is legally blind, she doesn't let it slow her down. Her troop is always busy, going on field trips, giving service in the community, or working on some exciting Try-It (Brownie Girl Scout's version of a badge). Sharon also serves as Day Camp Co-Director, Kewaskum Troop Organizer, and Special Events Chair for the Kewaskum Area Girl Scouts.

Because of the commitment and talent of these dedicated volunteers, Girl Scouting is a thriving force in the Kewaskum Area. These women are touching the lives of the girls in the Kewaskum Area, by serving not only as Girl Scout Leaders, but also as role models for the girls in Wau-Bun Girl Scout Council.

Klug - Van Ells

Doreen Klug and Christopher Van Ells exchanged marriage vows on April 13, 1991 at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Town of Scott. Reverend William Robinson officiated.

Parents of the couple are Floyd and Laura Klug of rural Kewaskum and George and Corinne Van Ells of Greendale.

The best man was Dan Gill of Shorewood. Groomsmen included Michael Andrews of Vernon, Mark Van Ells of Greenfield, Matthew Van Ells of Greendale, John Witt of Glenview, Illinois, Steve Bartels of New Berlin, and Scott Baldwin of Milwaukee.

Jill Nyenhuis, Milwaukee served as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Terri Schreihart, Racine, Laura Van Ells, Greenfield, LaVonne McGlin of Palatine, Illinois, Lori Van Ells of Milwaukee, Debbie Yost of Milwaukee and Carmen Zelten of West Allis.

Ushering duties were shared by Michael Engelman,

Kewaskum, Robert Heller of Hales Corners and Dan Kelly of Madison.

Scripture readings were done by Angela Klug, Kewaskum, and Vincent Beres of Wauwatosa. Organist was Lawrence Zimmel, Mayville, flutist, Lisa Heider, Milwaukee. Soloists Kim Woller, Milwaukee and Lee Kempf, Kewaskum.

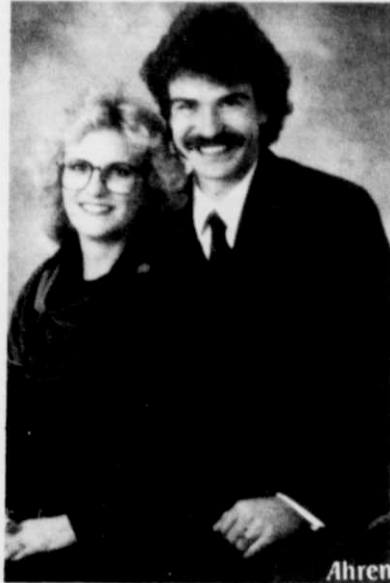

A reception followed at the Quilted Bear, Germantown.

The new Mrs. Van Ells, a 1985 graduate of UW-White-water is employed at KPMG Peat Marwick as an audit manager.

Her husband, a 1985 graduate of UW-White-water is attending UW-Milwaukee for his masters in business administration and is employed at Midwest Express Airlines.

Following a honeymoon to the Hawaiian Islands of Kauai and Maui, the Van Ells reside in Greenfield.

Jones - Gauger

Lisa M. Jones of Fond du Lac and Steven R. Gauger, Kewaskum, are pleased to announce their engagement.

Parents of the couple are Patricia Abraham of Sacramento, Donald Abraham of Fond du Lac, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gauger, West Bend.

The bride to be is a 1975 graduate of Goodrich High School, and is employed with Grande Cheese Co., Brownsville.

Steve is a 1979 graduate of West Bend East, and is employed at J.T.E. Transportation, in Adell.

An October 12, 1991 wedding at St. Lucas Lutheran Church is being planned by the couple.

It's a Girl!

A daughter was born to Michael and Kimberle Hughes, Kewaskum, on Thursday, June 13th.

DNR Seeking Input On Underground Injection Wells

The Department of Natural Resources is seeking public input in its study of Class 5 underground injection wells in Washington County.

The study will focus on locating test wells and gathering information about their type of construction.

Class 5 underground injection wells include septic tanks handling more than 1,500 gallons per day; agricultural drainage wells that might receive animal yard, feedlot, dairy runoff or pesticide rinsate; sinkholes; stormwater drainage wells for parking lots, highways, roofs, industrial loading docks and storage areas; industrial or commercial disposal wells or floor drains for service stations, car washes, auto-body shops, dry cleaners, canneries, etc.; abandoned wells; and French drains, commonly known as gravel-filled trenches.

As part of the study, the Department will conduct interviews with local elected and agency officials.

Anyone interested in providing information or participating in the study should contact John Sager at (414) 263-8675.

American Express Travelers Cheques Joins With Area Institutions to Benefit National Trust

Kewaskum Statesman, Thursday, June 20, 1991, Page 11

To celebrate its Centennial year, American Express Travelers Cheques will make a contribution to the National Trust for Historic Preservation every time anyone purchases American Express Travelers Cheques from May 27 through September 3, 1991 at thousands of financial institutions nationwide.

In greater KEWASKUM, consumers can participate by buying American Express Travelers Cheques at WEST BEND SAVINGS BANK.

Two cents for every transaction will be donated, up to $100,000, to help the National Trust preserve America's historic landmarks.

The National Trust, chartered by Congress in 1949, is the leader of America's historic preservation movement. Its mission is to inspire all Americans to care for their heritage through the preservation of historic buildings, objects, places and communities. A nonprofit organization with headquarters in Washington, it owns 17 historic house museums and operates seven regional offices.

As a way to excite consumers about participating in this drive to help the National Trust, American Express Travelers Cheques will offer purchasers a free, limited edition collection of vintage postcard replicas.

The "Centennial Celebration" collection is a book of 4" x 6" postcards featuring full-color nostalgic scenes of U.S. vacation settings. These collectibles, which will be distributed to purchasers by mail while supplies last, are actually made from original black-and-white photographs treated by the highly specialized process of hand tinting. They are suitable for mailing or collecting. In addition, consumers will be offered half-price family memberships in the National Trust.

"American Express has a tradition of delivering quality service — making it easier for America to discover its own past," said Robert M. Bass, chairman of the National Trust. "This major donation is a much appreciated extension of our effort to broaden our work throughout the country."

"This offer really benefits consumers in two ways," said Craig Hoenshell, president, American Express Travelers Cheque Group, USA. "First, they will receive a handsome postcard collection as a keepsake. Second, consumers will know that their purchase will benefit a vital group dedicated to preserving our heritage for the future."

American Express has also issued a special Centennial Travelers Cheque. The commemorative design featuring the Centennial logo has replaced the standard design on most cheques through the end of 1991. The Travelers Cheque was invented by American Express employee Marcellus Berry in 1891.

WHEDA Lending Up in County

More Washington County families used a state mortgage finance program to purchase homes in 1990 than in the previous year, Governor Tommy G. Thompson and the Wisconsin Housing and Economic Development Authority (WHEDA) said recently.

Governor Thompson calls increased lending in Washington County more evidence of a "strong and vital state housing market."

In 1990, 194 families in Washington County purchased homes using reduced-rate mortgage money offered by WHEDA, up five percent from the previous year. To fund the purchases of these homes, $11,245,049 of mortgage revenue bonding was used through the Home Ownership Mortgage (HOME) Program, an increase of ten percent over 1989 activity.

"The HOME Program's success in Washington County reflects Wisconsin's strong housing market," said Governor Thompson. "Increased home ownership will provide Washington County with greater community and economic stability."

More than $317 million of WHEDA mortgage revenue bonds were used to fund 6,945 loans made to Wisconsin families and individuals through the HOME Program in 1990. These figures represent increases of twelve percent and ten percent, respectively, over 1989. No state tax dollars are used to fund the program.

"WHEDA and Governor Thompson are committed to making HOME loans continually available," said WHEDA Executive Director Richard J. Longabaugh. "A recent bond issue of $89.5 million will continue the trend of steadily available reduced-rate mortgage money into 1991."

The HOME Program offers low-interest, fixed-rate mortgage loans to help low-and moderate-income individuals and families buy homes. HOME loans feature downpayments of as low as five percent and 15 to 30 year terms. Qualified participants must be first-time home buyers or purchase in certain target areas of the state. Income and purchase price limits apply. Applications are made through local banks, savings and loans, mortgage bankers and credit unions.

For more information about the HOME Program, call your lender or WHEDA at 1-800-33-HOUSE (1-800-334-6873).

Arts World Inspires Student, Teacher Creativity

As a youth, imagine having the opportunity to sculpt with the aid of a professional artist or perform with a choreographer of a dance troupe. Imagine days filled with poetry, music, and art; fellow students eager to learn, experiment, and display their aptitude; teachers available to guide and inspire; and professional artists willing to share their talents. Such is Arts World.

This year Arts World - sponsored by the Department of Public Instruction and the Wisconsin Arts Board, in cooperation with the Wisconsin Alliance for Arts Education - offers three sessions for students. Fledgling artists who have graduated from ninth-through 12th-grade will attend the June 19 to 29 or July 7 to 13 sessions. A special session for seventh- and eighth-grade students will be held July 21 to 27.

Since 1982, when the summer program began as the Artists Studio, artistically talented Wisconsin youth have gathered to focus on their particular art form, whether it be music, dance, visual art, theater, theater design, or creative writing. Students also partake in a secondary art form in which they may or may not have experience.

Each student has the opportunity to both create and perform. "I not only learned the beauty of creating more exciting artwork, but I learned so much about myself and other people," said one Arts World student.

"Our goal is to provide a flexible learning environment and to stimulate interaction among students. Arts World emphasizes creativity, individual expression, and interdisciplinary experiences in the arts," State Superintendent Herbert J. Gover said.

Lakeland College, near Sheboygan, is the site for Arts World 1991. Classes, held on campus, combine a master teacher with a professional artist to team teach each arts area. In addition, students attend field trips during Arts World sessions.

Students aren't the only ones to benefit from Arts World. Special sessions are held for educators. A mini-institute will be held July 19 to 22 for administrators, administrator/teacher teams, and curriculum directors. In addition, special sessions for teachers will take place June 23 to 29 and July 7 to 13.

Selections for Arts World '91 instructors include faculty from Eau Claire, Madison, Milwaukee, and the surrounding areas. Among those chosen are Chris Stevens Jezewska of Madison's Kanopy Dance Company, Betty Salamun of Milwaukee's Dance Circus Company, and Truman Lowe from the University of Wisconsin - Madison art department. Lowe, a Wisconsin Winnebago sculptor who uses primarily natural materials such as birch and leather, has achieved national recognition for his work.

This year's expanded program will reach 300 students and 90 teachers. Thus far, 1,200 students from 250 Wisconsin communities have participated in Arts World.

Students participating from the area include Lowell K. Peterson, Kewaskum.

Murals Add Creative Touch to KHS Walls

Patti Aupperle and Nicole Gaffke alongside the English room mural.

Kewaskum High School shows off its new murals.

Seniors, Patti Aupperle, Heather Kulcinski and Nicole Gaffke decided to add some color to the walls of KHS. As juniors, the threesome tackled a mural in the 200 hall which represented all sports and activities in an analogous color scheme. The mural was completed outside of class time and is pictured below. As senior Art 4 students, they were at the walls again. This year Heather was challenged with the ALAC room/Locker Room. She decided to create contour figures of the boys sports.

Lastly Patti and Nicole created a mural for Mr. Westphal's English room with subjects from his classes.

Thanks to these three art students for brightening up the KHS walls.

THANK YOU

Jerry and I are very grateful to all our family and friends for the prayers, cards, notes, visits and gifts while I was a patient at Theda Clark and my 15 weeks of rehab at Froedherth Memorial Hospital. We give special thanks to Fr. Tom and the Sisters who took time from their busy schedule to visit me. Your support, concern and encouragement helped me attain goals I was told were unrealistic. We are also thankful for all the help given to my family during that time and am pleased to say I am at home now and improving.

A Graduation Dilemma

It was no everyday problem. A mother, father and daughter all were scheduled to graduate - from different colleges in different towns - on the same day, May 11, 1991.

Anne Marie Kuehl was graduating from North Carolina State University in Raleigh, her mother, Karen, was receiving her master's degree at the University of North Carolina in Charlotte and her father, Robert was to get his degree from Gardner-Webb College in Boiling Springs, NC.

The trio had worked years to arrive at this moment, the culmination of thousands of hours' studying, adjusting to new routines, foregoing many leisure activities, and, for the parents, miles of travel.

Their degrees were as varied as their schedules. While Karen had her BS degree in Early Childhood Education, she pursued her Master's of Education degree in Reading. She is currently employed as a Chapter I Reading Lab teacher. Robert had two associate degrees but sought his bachelor's degree in Business Management. He is a Quality Assurance Manager for Comforto, an office furniture manufacturer. Anne Marie earned her bachelor's degree in Statistics with a minor in Genetics. She's working as a Data Base Manager in the Agriculture and Research Division of ICI.

Those attending Anne's graduation (including her mother and father) included her sister Krista and brother Robb, her grandmothers, Bernice Groh of Kewaskum, Darlene Kuehl of Campbellsport, her aunt, Joan Groh of Milwaukee, and her uncle, Richard Groh of Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Receives Diploma

Aaron Reigle

A former Kewaskum resident Aaron Reigle was among the 1991 graduating class of Triway High School, Wooster, Ohio.

Aaron is the son of Sue Reigle Wooster and Gary Reigle Austin, Arkansas.

Area grandparents are Syl and Alice Bales and Clarence and Marie Reigle.

Aaron will be attending AMI American Motorcycle Institute Daytona Beach, Florida.

The first person known to have reached the arctic was John Davis in 1587.

Why Only Half a Car?

A crane lifted the car to its new home in the Cedar Haven Rehabilitation Agency Clinic in Fellowship House on the Cedar Lake Home Campus.

There were a few strange looks when half a car was being lifted by a crane into the new Cedar Haven Rehabilitation Agency (CHRA). The car was donated by Bradley Auto Salvage, of West Bend for rehabilitation use at the CHRA Clinic.

"It was just what we were looking for," shared Jim Aubert, CHRA administrator. "They provided us with a car that was damaged on the left, and the Cedar Campus staff cut the car in half to conserve on the amount of space it would take up in the clinic."

The car will assist CHRA outpatients and campus residents as they relearn the skills required for every day living. How to transfer into and out of an auto is an important part of the rehabilitation process. "By having the car in the clinic, therapists can train residents, out patients, family members and staff in the safe and comfortable setting of the clinic," explained Jim Aubert.

The CHRA Clinic in the renovated Fellowship House is slated for completion in the early fall. The clinic provides comprehensive outpatient and inpatient rehabilitation services including occupational, physical, and speech therapy for all ages.

The CHRA Clinic is located at the Cedar Lake Home Campus, Fellowship House on Hwy. Z, two miles south of Hwy. 33. If you would like more information call 334-1486.

KEWASKUM 4-H EXPRESS

The June meeting of the Kewaskum 4-H Express club was called to order by President Michelle Schaub. Pledges were given by Mark Jaycox and Tina Jaycox.

Reports were given by Marlo Deshotels on the volleyball tournament, and Sara Lemke on the demonstration contest from last year.

Entry forms for the county fair are due to Sue Johnson or Diane Lemke by June 21. We will be working at the refreshment stand at the fair on Sunday, July 28 from 6:00 - 9:00 p.m.

We decided to go to Familyland on June 23. We will be leaving from Sentry's parking lot at 8:00 a.m. and will return around 6:00 or 7:00 p.m.

A demonstration was given by Stefanie Westerman and Rachel Westerman on Chinese jump ropes. The meeting was adjourned by Mark Jaycox and Dawn Pomeroy. Refreshments were served by the Lemke and Deshotels families.

Those members who are celebrating their birthdays in June are: Tina Jaycox, Stefanie Westerman, Heather Hackbarth and Debbie Pomeroy.

Congratulations to the following seniors from our club that graduated this year: Michelle Schaub, Sara Lemke, Yuka Saito and Robin Rehbein. We all wish you good luck and success in the future!

The July meeting will be held on Thursday, July 11 at 6:00 p.m., on the upper side of River Hill park. Each family is asked to bring a dish to pass.

Moraine Park Announces New West Bend Campus Administrator

West Bend — Moraine Park Technical College President John J. Shanahan has announced the appointment of Maureen Josten as the new administrator of Moraine Park's West Bend campus. Josten, a long-time West Bend resident, will replace Lee Flanders who is retiring after 34 years of serving the vocational education needs of West Bend and Washington County.

"Moraine Park is dedicated to the economic growth and development of West Bend and Washington County," said Shanahan in announcing the appointment. "Maureen Josten is an outstanding individual who has demonstrated her leadership skills in a number of positions at our college. I am confident she will continue Moraine Park's efforts to increase program offerings and other services at the West Bend campus."

Josten first came to Moraine Park as a part-time instructor in 1971. In 1979 she joined the staff full time as an adult and continuing education supervisor. In 1986 she became an associate dean in the General Education Division with supervisory responsibilities for a variety of the college's activities, including Adult Basic Education, workplace literacy, testing and assessment and the GOAL Skills Centers.

In an interview following her appointment, Josten said she plans to continue the "leadership demonstrated by Lee Flanders over the many years he has served this campus."

"I am pleased to be serving Moraine Park's constituency in my home community," Josten continued. "We have a very talented staff at the West Bend campus, and I plan to work closely with them." The new administrator said she wants to be an active part of the community and hopes to become involved in a number of civic and business organizations. "By listening closely to the concerns of community leaders and other citizens, we can better meet the educational needs of our area," she said.

Josten begins her new position on July 1.

Top Drivers To Test Skills In State Truck Driving Championship

The top fleet truck drivers in the state will put their driving skills to a gruelling test June 22 in the 1991 Wisconsin State Truck Driving Championships at Fox Valley Technical College in Appleton.

The Truck Driving Championships, sponsored annually by the Wisconsin Council of Safety Supervisors, an affiliate of the Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association, to promote highway safety, is the toughest test of a truck driver's knowledge and job performance. The most dramatic competition is the field course, beginning at 7:15 a.m. Saturday, June 22 and lasting throughout the day. There are six parking and maneuvering exercises requiring precision driving and steady nerves.

In one test, the driver of a typical 60-foot tractor trailer must maneuver his right wheels down a straight line between two rows of sponge rubber balls mounted within two inches of either side, without toppling any of the balls.

In addition to the field course, competitors are required to make a typical pre-trip inspection for the trucks, looking for a series of safety defects planted by officials. Each also undergoes a personal interview and an hour-long written examination testing his knowledge of the trucking industry, safe driving rules, first aid, and firefighting.

"The contestant making the highest total score in each of the events is designated the Champion of His Class," said Larry Hartung of Robert Hansen Trucking, Inc., Delavan, Wisconsin, Chairman of the 1991 Wisconsin State Truck Driving Championship.

In addition to the best driver awards in each truck category, Vehicle Condition Award is given to the driver with the best score for a pre-trip inspection. Also presented is a Rookie-of-the-Year Award, for the best score by a new contestant.

To be eligible for competition, a driver must have been employed for at least one year by a fleet trucking company and have a one-year accident-free driving record.

Spectators are welcome to come out to the Fox Valley Technical Institute Truck Driving Range in Appleton to watch the competition. Parking and admission are free.

Campus Notes

An area student is among students named by Dean John R. Palmer of the University of Wisconsin-Madison School of Education to the dean's list of top scholars this past semester.

The honor is earned for maintaining a 3.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale.

The student is Shelly Ann Gibson, 8127 Forest View Rd., Kewaskum, special education.

Survey to Look at Community Recycling Programs Statewide

MADISON, WI — Municipal recycling leaders statewide will team with members of the Department of Natural Resources this summer to sort and separate community recycling program techniques.

As part of its ongoing research into recycling behavior, the department will conduct in-depth interviews with both municipal officials and citizens over the next several months to find out what works — and what doesn't — in community recycling programs. Study results will be shared with local governments across the state.

"We don't want to re-invent the wheel," said DNR Marketing Manager Lyn Vest. "But there may not be one best model. By extracting the elements that make the good community programs good, and then matching those with other communities that have similar characteristics, we can help solve a lot of problems."

Many Wisconsin communities with recycling programs have already volunteered to take part in the study, Vest said. But municipalities are not the only stakeholders. The department will also ask business leaders for their suggestions on developing markets for recyclables, and ask citizens for their opinions on different types of community recycling programs.

The goal of such a comprehensive survey of Wisconsin recycling behavior, said Vest, is to provide cities and counties with workable solutions that meet the urgent need to reduce, reuse and recycle the more than six million tons of trash that now go into Wisconsin landfills and incinerators each year.

By 1995, more than a dozen additional waste items will be banned from Wisconsin landfills and some incinerators under the state's sweeping recycling law, which took effect April 27, 1990. Bans on landfilling lead acid batteries, major appliances and waste oil started this year.

"Our study will develop measurement tools that will help communities determine their own needs," Vest said. "Then, we'll follow up with practical assistance on how to get those needs met."

For more information contact Lyn Vest — 608-267-0861, Ed Nelson — 608-266-8910.

Down Home Country Days Are A Comin'

Down Home Country Days are coming to the Northern Kettle Moraine on July 6th. The community of Dundee is planning a day of "turn of the century" activities to help with their efforts in creating a community park and restoring the old Dundee Mill, an historical landmark.

Come gather under the 100 foot tent and take a walk back in time. Sample some goodies at the old fashioned ice cream parlor, watch a one horse sweep grinding corn, or paddle boat down the Old Mill Stream.

You'll forget what decade you're really in with all the excitement of River boat activities, horseshoe tournaments, music by country singer and guitarist "Saundra" along with all the lip smackin' down home country cookin-including homemade pies and baked goods.

Games for all ages will be featured, as well as rummage sales, pontoon rides on Long Lake, Hell's 1/2 acre, and hand leather stitching.

Down Home Country Days will take place at the Dundee Mill Park, Dundee, located on Hwys. 67 & F, on Sunday, July 6th from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. So bring some friends and come join in on all the fun.

Law Enforcement Agencies Challenge Wisconsin Motorists to Buckle Up

To celebrate the passage of a permanent safety belt use law in Wisconsin, nearly 100 law enforcement agencies across the state are participating in a "Law Enforcement Safety Belt Challenge" to increase safety belt use in their jurisdictions.

"Over the next three months, the State Patrol, county and local law enforcement agencies are going to rev up their public education efforts and actively enforce Wisconsin's safety belt use and child restraint laws," said Portage County Sheriff Tom Wanta.

Area police departments participating are Fond du Lac Police Department, and West Bend Police Department and Washington County Sheriff's Department.

The Law Enforcement Challenge was designed by Wisconsin's Safety Belt Task Force as part of an overall strategy to boost safety belt use statewide.

Among the activities law enforcement agencies will pursue as part of the Challenge:

- * promoting the "70%+ Honor Roll," which honors area businesses, civic groups, community organizations or agencies which get at least 70 percent of their employees or members to buckle up regularly;

- * participating in the Saved by the Belt program, which awards crash survivors whose lives were saved or injuries minimized because they were wearing safety belts or were using a child safety seat;

- * increasing public information efforts, through news releases, displays, and presentations;

- * developing an enforcement strategy to ensure that the state's safety belt and child safety restraint laws are enforced effectively and correctly.

"Our latest statistics indicate that about 53 percent of the people using Wisconsin roads are buckling up. By the end of 1992, we'd like to see at least seven out of 10 people using their safety belts regularly," said State Patrol Administrator Ted Meekma, who chairs the task force.

"By participating in this Challenge, law enforcement officers across the state are going to bring us closer to our goal," Meekma added.

Meekma says that strict enforcement of the safety belt law is key. In a survey conducted by Wisconsin's Safety Belt Task Force last fall, about 15 percent of the state's law enforcement agencies reported that they do not aggressively enforce the state's safety belt use law.

"I predict that this cooperative venture by Wisconsin law enforcement is going to be a great success," Oshkosh Police Chief Jim Thome added. "By joining forces, we will make a real impact on the safety of our communities."

Agencies performing the most, and the most effective, safety belt education and enforcement activities will be honored in October. All agencies will receive certificates of recognition, and the first place winners will send representatives to the 1992 "Lifesavers" National Conference on Traffic Safety in Denver.

Letters to the Editor

Letter to the Editor

WOW?

WOW is an acronym for the Waukesha - Ozaukee - Washington County consortium which receives Job Training Partnership Act funds from the federal government via the State of Wisconsin for pre-employment training, targeting individuals with barriers to employment. The funds are provided for a number of programs which serve adolescents, adults entering the labor force for the first time and employees laid off due to reductions in the work force in private industry, to name a few. The subject of this letter is adolescents who have been identified as "at risk" of not graduating from high school, abusing alcohol and drugs or suffering other emotional trauma which may eventually affect their lives.

For the fiscal year (FY) 1991 (7/1/91 to 6/30/92) the WOW consortium has budgeted $110,150 for "at risk" youth in the three county area. This money is further divided into specific programs for Summer Youth Employment, Youth Tryout and Special Youth Programs. The "Special Youth Programs" portion of this budget is allocated for full year programs to work with youth and assist them in developing pre-employment skills, career development and job retention skills. The amount budgeted for this purpose in FY 1991 is $70,000.

If this money were to be allocated by population within each of the counties in the consortium, Washington County would receive 24% of the total funds or $16,800 in FY 1991 to work with at risk youth in the county. The Private Industry Council (PIC), which is the governing body of the WOW Consortium and located in Waukesha County has allocated money for county wide programs in Waukesha and Ozaukee County. They have, however allocated $0 for this $70,000 in FY 1991 for the provision of these services in Washington County by a Washington County Agency!!! They have agreed to fund a Waukesha County Agency, to provide services in the West Bend School District for $6,500 and provide "unspent" (scraps?) 1990 funds to cover one other school district in Washington County through The Youth Project. This, despite the fact The Youth Project submitted a proposal to the Consortium to provide a COUNTY WIDE program for $16,188. GO FIGURE!

I guess the WOW acronym stands for WOOOOO What happened to Washington County? If you want to be heard, call the Youth Project at 338-1661 for the phone numbers of Washington County PIC Council members, and others, to express your concerns.

To the Editor:

YMCA Tot Time recently completed a successful year serving 3, 4 and 5 year olds in the Kewaskum area. Tot Time is grateful to various individuals and organizations who donated time and services to the program.

We appreciate visits allowed by the Kewaskum Police Department guided by Officer Tom Bauer, Kewaskum Library, Kewaskum Fire Department, Sparks' Apple Orchard, Kraus Pumpkin Farm, West Bend Children's Theatre and Kettle Moraine YMCA.

We thank Dr. Stephen Van Ess and Kathy Rady for helping with our health units. We thank Gretchen Smith for her special help in the classroom.

Parents are a special part of the Tot Time program, participating on a regular basis. The staff extends a big "Thank You" to the parents of all Tot Timers for their cheerful classroom assistance and their interesting and nutritious snacks.

HERMAN SABISH

Herman C. Sabish, 86, of 418 E. Main St., Campbellsport, died Sunday, June 16, 1991, at St. Agnes Hospital.

He was born Dec. 7, 1904, in Milwaukee, a son of Herman J. and Helen Becker Sabish. On Oct. 7, 1929, he married Marie Mack of Campbellsport. She died on Aug. 3, 1965. In June 1968, he married Eva Staudinger in Kenosha. She died on June 6, 1984, in Kenosha.

Mr. Sabish was a carpenter for 10 years, and then was employed at West Bend Co., retiring after 26 years. He resided in Campbellsport until 1968 when he moved to Kenosha and resided there before moving back to Campbellsport in 1989.

He was a charter member of the Fond du Lac Knights of Columbus, was a member of the West Bend Co. 25 Year Club and St. Matthew's Catholic Church, Campbellsport.

Survivors include two brothers, Paul J. of Campbellsport, and Ralph L. and his wife Agnes of Fond du Lac; nieces and nephews; and many other relatives.

Preceding him in death were two brothers, Stanley W. and Christ J.

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. Wednesday at St. Matthew's Catholic Church, Campbellsport. The Rev. Michael Moran officiated and burial was in the parish cemetery.

Friends called Tuesday after 4 p.m. at Twohig Funeral Home in Campbellsport, where a parish vigil was held at 8 p.m.

ALVIN REICHL

Alvin O. Reichl, 88, of N911 Elmore Drive, Campbellsport, died Friday, June 14, 1991, at Milwaukee County Medical Complex, following heart surgery.

He was born Nov. 2, 1902, in Edgar, a son of Frank and Emma Hartmann Reichl. In 1923, he married Mabel Yoos. In 1980, he married Viola Schneider Klug. Mr. Klug was raised in Waubesa in Ozaukee County.

Survivors include his wife, Viola; two sons, Robert and his wife Lucille of Marinette, Glen and his wife Shirley of Amberg; three daughters, Joyce Wendlandt and her husband George, Arlene Nessman and her husband William and Dorene Sparr and her husband Ray, all of Milwaukee; stepchildren, James Klug and his wife Debbie, Steven Klug and his wife Sally, Bonnie Hermann and her husband Edward, and Kenneth Klug, all of Cedarburg; and many grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Preceding him in death were two brothers and one sister.

Funeral services were held at 8 p.m. at Schmidt Funeral Home, West Bend. Cremation followed.

Friends called Monday from 4 p.m. to the hour of services at the funeral home.

LESTER W. HUDSON

Lester W. Hudson, 75, of 6011 County D, West Bend, died Thursday, June 13, 1991, at St. Joseph's Community Memorial Hospital, West Bend, due to injuries suffered in an auto accident.

He was born Jan. 11, 1916, in Cudahy, to Milton and Anna (nee Kissinger) Hudson, and moved to West Bend with his family at an early age.

He married Irene Bartelt, Sept. 7, 1940, at Zion Ev. Lutheran Church, Town of Wayne.

He served in the U.S. Army during WWII in the European Theater, owned and operated an auto body shop in West Bend and also worked on auto body repair for Tennes Buick and Vrana Auto Body. He retired in 1982.

He was a member of Zion Ev. Lutheran Church, Town of Wayne.

Survivors include his wife; two children, William L. (Kathleen) and Linda A. Hudson, both of West Bend; three grandchildren, Michael, Daniel and Elizabeth; a sister, Irene (Harold) Smits of DePere; a brother, Alfred (Elsie) of Sussex, and other relatives and friends.

Preceding him in death were his parents; a sister, Ellen and a brother, Milton.

Funeral services were Monday, June 17, at 2 p.m. at Zion Ev. Lutheran Church. Rev. Dennis Strong officiated and burial followed in the church cemetery.

Visitation at the church only was Monday from noon until the time of services.

The Myrhum Funeral Home, West Bend, is in charge of arrangements.

VIOLA H. DONATH

Viola H. Donath, nee Binder, of Lake Worth, Fla., died Monday, June 10, 1991, at the Maclean Rehabilitation Center, Lake Worth, at the age of 87.

She was born Aug. 4, 1903, in the Town of Farmington, to William and Minna (nee Aurig) Binder and married Lloyd Donath on May 5, 1924, in Batavia. He passed away May 1, 1976.

She was a former member of St. Martin's UCC, Fillmore, and lived on St. Rose Avenue, Fredonia, until moving to Florida to live with her son.

Survivors include two sons, William (Mary Ann) of Van Dyne and Ira "Chuck" (Carol) of Lake Worth; five grandchildren, Vicky (Dale) Kolessa, Randy (Denise) Donath, Karren Donath, Eileen (Dick) Clark and Lorna (Steve) Miller; eight great-grandchildren, and other relatives and friends.

Preceding her in death were her parents.

Funeral services were held Saturday, June 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the Myrhum Funeral Home, West Bend. Rev. David P. Jerger of St. Martin's UCC, Fillmore, officiated and burial was in Fillmore Union Cemetery, Monday, June 17, at 11 a.m.

Visitation at the funeral home was Saturday from 4 p.m. until the time of services.

Officer Trained to Expand D.A.R.E. Program in County

In an effort to expand the nationally recognized D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) Program in Washington County Schools, Detective Marie Joers of the Washington County Sheriff's Department, recently completed a special 80 hour training course at the Illinois State Police Academy.

The training prepared Detective Joers to teach a 17 week series of lessons that will give fifth and sixth grade youths the skills they need to resist drugs.

The detective of Washington County was instructed in teaching techniques, elementary school operations, the use of visual aids, officer/school relationships, communications skills, child development and classroom management. The final training session involved the officers "student teaching" a D.A.R.E. lesson in a local classroom.

The D.A.R.E. curriculum includes officer led lessons on drug resistance, self-esteem, assertiveness, self stress management without drugs, any decision making. It concludes with a graduation ceremony in which students pledge to stay off drugs.

The D.A.R.E. program was designed to be taught by officers because students are frequently much more sophisticated about substance abuse than classroom teachers. Veteran police officers answer student questions based on their training and experience.

D.A.R.E. officers are selected based on their interest in working with children, their ability to maintain a positive rapport with the students, schools, and the community.

D.A.R.E. is the largest and most successful drug education program in the U.S. today.

PFC Gerald L. Schaeffer, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Schaeffer, 1710 Barton Avenue, West Bend, was killed in action at DaNong, Vietnam, on Friday, June 10, according to word received by his parents. Gerald was born July 8, 1944, in the Town of Farmington, attended St. Michaels School and Kewaskum High School. He enlisted in the Marines on Nov. 23, 1963.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roden of West Bend observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home on Sunday, June 12. John Roden of St. Michaels and Rose Schiltz of the Town of Auburn were married at St. Michaels Church by the late Rev. Jos. Beyer, on June 8, 1916.

In an unusual accident at 3:55 p.m., Tuesday, at the intersection of Main St. and Fond du Lac Ave., an auto driven by Lucille Nischke, 49, Kewaskum, sideswiped another car, crossed the intersection and crashed into the show window of the Yoost Meat Market. Mrs. Nischke reported to Police Chief Roland Pledl that she was westbound on Main St. and her brakes failed when she reached the intersection. Her vehicle sideswiped another car driven by Margaret Nohr, 41, R.3, West Bend, also westbound, mounted the safety island, continued across the highway, mounted the sidewalk and crashed into the window. The large show window and three front basement windows were smashed and the show window sill damaged and there was damage to the front of the building. The right front of the Nischke vehicle and the left door of the Nohr vehicle were also damaged. Only 20 minutes after that accident, at 4:15 p.m., another mishap occurred at the same intersection. A truck driven by Fred Wesenberg, Jr., 18, of 1217 Meadow Lane, Kewaskum, and owned by the Schaefer Trucking Co., Kewaskum, was northbound on Fond du Lac Ave. Wesenberg made a wide right turn onto Main St. and failed to clear the safety island and damaged the lights and directional lights on same.

During the electrical storm late last Friday afternoon lightning struck the roof on the east end of the barn on the L. Rosenheimer farm in the village. The bolt then passed along an aerial wire fastened on top of the barn to the L. Rosenheimer farm in the village. The bolt then passed along an aerial wire fastened on top of the barn to the Henry Ramthun home where it ran along the south side of the house, knocking loose several bricks as well as splintering a few sideboards on the outside of the home which fell to the ground. Some damage was also done to the barn. Luckily the bolt was a cold one otherwise both the barn and house might have caught fire. Jac. Schlosser, Sr. who occupies the farm was in the barn at the time the lightning hit. Although given a scare, he was uninjured. Mrs. Ramthun reports that kettles in her home were lifted right off the stove when the bolt struck.

Mrs. Elizabeth Borchert, 69, lifelong resident of the vicinity of Campbellsport, was found dead Sunday, June 15, at her home where she lived alone. Deputy Coroner P.J. Trier of Fond du Lac County, who investigated the death, said Mrs. Borchert apparently expired Friday night, probably from a fall off a ladder found standing aside of the body which was found in the living room of the home.

Plans are progressing right along for the Kewaskum Firemen's annual picnic to be held on Sunday, July 13. The big feature will be the appearance of 50 Menominee Indians from the Menominee Indian Reservation at Keshena, Wis., who will perform in the afternoon. The famous original Menominee All-Indian Band will play and 12 big additional acts will be staged by these Indians including a genuine Indian pow wow and real Indian wedding. Little Joe Wolfe, a Neopit Indian, will lead the war dance pow wow.

A more surprised man than Herman Falk of the Town of Auburn, you could not have found last Thursday afternoon when the Chief of Police of Lake Geneva, Wis. appeared at his home and read a warrant charging Mr. Falk with speeding at Lake Geneva. When the act was done, we have been unable to ascertain. Mr. Falk willingly went with the chief the same day to Lake Geneva to prove his innocence. This office is in receipt of a report from a reliable source that Mr. Falk claims he never was in or saw Lake Geneva. There is no question but what the officer who swore out the warrant made a guess as to the license number and found that the owner of the number was Mr. Falk.

Grand National Tractor Pull at Tomah July 5-7

TOMAH, WI - Budweiser presents the Wisconsin Dairyland Grand National Truck and Tractor Pull in Tomah, Wisconsin, July 5-7 at Recreation Park. Pullers will compete for a purse of $120,000. The event is sanctioned by the National Tractor Pullers Association (NTPA), now in its 22nd year. The NTPA is the dominant sanctioning body in truck and tractor pulling, America's most powerful motor sport.

The Wisconsin Dairyland Grand National Truck and Tractor Pull is one of 15 events on the 1991 NTPA Copenhagen/Skoal Pulling Circuit, which this year comprises events from Wyoming to New Hampshire and will feature nearly 100 competitors who pull exclusively on the Grand National level.

At this Grand National event, fans will have the opportunity to see the Unlimited Modified tractors, the most powerful vehicles in any motorsport today and their drivers among whom are the legendary Banter Brothers, winners of 16 Grand National Point Championships over a 25-year career, and Gardner Stone, last year's Grand National Points Champion in the Modified division, who drives a four jet turbine engine tractor named "General Stage IV".

Also, fans will see the reigning NTPA champions in the Super Stock division, Randy Hinton and Darryl Vaske, of Bancroft, Iowa. The strong running alcohol-powered tractor of the Conner Brothers out of Missouri, will also be competing.

Look for the NTPA champions in the Two Wheel Drive division such as Brent Nation of Pleasanton, Kansas. Also, fans will see the reigning Four Wheel Drive champions, winners of this crown two years in a row, Paul and Jim Holman of Wauscon, Ohio.

The action gets underway in Tomah at 7 p.m., Friday, July 5, when the Two Wheel Drives hook to the sled. Sessions continue on Saturday and Sunday with pulls at 1 and 7 p.m. each day.

The Wisconsin Dairyland Grand National Truck and Tractor Pull in Tomah has been recognized by competition pullers as the No. 1 pull in the nation seven times. Promoted by the Monroe County Fair Association, the event attracts over 70,000 pulling fans each year. Admission is $12 per session and all ticket sales are on the grounds.

Prevent Milk Production Drop During Hot Weather

If you begin to worry about heat stress affecting your dairy herd when it's already hot and humid, you've started too late, say Randy Shaver and Terry Howard.

The University of Wisconsin-Madison extension dairy nutritionists advise dairy farmers to take steps to reduce heat stress in dairy cattle before hot weather arrives.

Concentrate on ventilation, feed bunk management and water availability to reduce the effects of heat stress. These are all simple management practices, but it is important to reduce the effects of heat stress during hot weather, according to the dairy specialists. With tight milk prices, you can't afford a drop in milk production and income.

"During hot weather, the dairy cow feels uncomfortable and has increased respiration. Cows are also more affected by heat when it's humid," says Shaver. "A cow eats less, which causes her to lose body condition and produce less milk."

The high-producing, early lactation cow is more susceptible to heat stress and suffers a greater loss of milk yield and body condition than a low-producing, late-lactation cow. But heat stress can also affect dry cows, reminds Shaver. A cow under heat stress two to three weeks prior to calving is more likely to have calving problems, retained placenta, low peak milk yield and problems breeding back.

Cows need good ventilation and shade to keep cool. If you plan to leave your cows in the barn during hot weather, make sure your barn has good air flow, they say. In addition to proper mechanical ventilation, air flow can sometimes be improved by simply opening doors and windows. If you plan to build temporary or permanent shade outside, install it near feed bunks to encourage cows to eat more, says Shaver.

Although not common in Wisconsin, sprinkler systems are another option to keep your cows cool. You can install sprinkler systems in free-stall setups, but keep the sprinklers away from the free stalls, they advise. You want to keep this area dry to reduce mastitis infections.

You can prevent production losses by adjusting rations during hot weather, says Shaver.

Cows tend to eat more grain and less forage in hot weather, which changes rumen fermentation and lowers fat test. As rumen bacteria change from fiber to starch digesters, rumen pH falls and the increase in acid along with the shift in acetic acid/propionic acid ratio causes fat test depression.

The specialists recommend feeding rumen buffers, such as sodium bicarbonate, to maintain feed intake and prevent metabolic changes. Feed 6 to 8 ounces of sodium bicarbonate daily, from the beginning of June until September. Feeding your cows sodium bicarbonate before hot weather arrives minimizes shifts in rumen bacteria and acids, and helps maintain blood acid-base balance. It is important to get the jump on heat stress because once digestion, metabolism and fat test are impaired, it is difficult to alter the ration or use buffers to recover.

Fat test depression can be more of a problem in stall barns when cows are fed forage and grain separately. If managed properly, total mixed rations are helpful because they prevent wide swings in forage consumption relative to grain, says Shaver.

In hot weather, feed 1 to 2 pounds of vegetable fat (from whole oilseeds) or animal fat (from relatively saturated animal tallow) per cow per day to increase the energy density of the ration and maintain adequate energy intake, says Shaver and Howard. Fat is termed a cool nutrient because it does not ferment during digestion like forage and grain. This reduces heat generated in the cow's rumen from fermentation, which helps reduce heat stress on the cow, making her feel more comfortable. Whole cottonseed and full-fat soybeans are good fat sources. Whole cottonseed can replace up to 6 pounds of forage, which may improve performance during hot weather, adds Howard.

Cows need a more protein-dense ration during hot weather. Rebalance the ration assuming that your cows will eat 5 percent less dry matter, they say. For example, a cow producing 90 pounds of milk per day has to eat a ration with 13 percent protein to maintain her milk production. Normally, she eats 50 pounds of dry matter per day. If her dry matter intake drops 5 percent to 47.5 pounds per day, she receives only enough protein to produce 85 pounds of milk, they explain. By increasing the protein in the ration to 19 percent you offset the lower dry matter intake. Since cows respond quickly to additional protein, you only need to increase protein levels during extended periods of hot weather, they add.

You can also encourage cows to eat more by managing feed bunks more effectively. Feed cows smaller amounts of feed more often and make more feed available in the evening or early morning, when it's cool. Cows change their feeding habits during hot weather, reminds Howard. They will eat more fiber feed during the night when it is cooler. This keeps feed fresh and prevents it from heating, making it more palatable to the cow.

Make sure cows have ready access to plenty of clean water. Cows producing 65 pounds of milk a day will drink about 35 gallons of water a day in hot weather, says Shaver and Howard. Force-feed 3 to 4 ounces of salt in the ration and make it available free-choice so cows can replace electrolytes lost through perspiration, they advise.

Citizen Advocacy Celebrates 13th Anniversary

The members and supporters of Citizen Advocacy of Washington County, Inc. gathered together at the Linden Inn March 22nd to celebrate their 13th anniversary of activity in Washington County with a dinner and an evening of festivities. A pleasant social hour of cheese, crackers, punch and fellowship preceded a savory buffet supper.

Citizen Advocacy of Washington County is an organization dedicated to helping our fellow area residents who have mental or physical disabilities enjoy the rights and privileges that they deserve. Genial volunteers are paired with our neighbors who need an "advocate" to help them deal with financial, legal or perhaps personal problems. Many of these pairings have become long-term matches that have brought satisfying friendships to those involved. Current relationships range from almost 12 years to 3 weeks.

Barbara Deters, President of the Board of Citizen Advocacy, welcomed the dinner guests and invited Sue Moser, Executive Director, to introduce Colleen Lampman, the guest speaker for the evening. Sue informed the listeners that Colleen Lampman has been the coordinator of the LaCrosse Citizen Advocacy Program for the past 8 years. She was honored recently by the YWCA as the Outstanding Woman of the Year for Activism in LaCrosse for 1991. In an interesting and positive speech, Colleen spoke glowingly of the richness that the many wonderful volunteer advocates have brought to the lives of others, and in so doing have enriched their own lives.

Colleen Lampman's speech was followed by an awards ceremony with Sue Moser, Barbara Deters and Assistant Program Coordinator, Lynn Zemlicka, presenting the certificates and appreciation awards. Joan Pick and Don Frohmader assisted in giving beautiful yellow silk roses to the people in those thriving relationships that are the goal of Citizen Advocacy. The rose is a symbol of friendship, unfolding each day with greater beauty.

Outgoing board members Georgette Raab and Dale Tietz were given certificates and thanked for the time, energy and strong support that they had given to Citizen Advocacy. Collene Anderson was recognized with a certificate of appreciation and a pin, designed and partially donated by Jim Gugg of HTG Jewelers of West Bend. The pin bears the tree design that symbolizes the stalwart, life-giving strength of Citizen Advocacy. Collene's involvement on the board will be greatly missed.

The Richfield Lions and Lions Wives were thanked for their continuing support, their financial help with the new brochure, and the beautiful sign in front of the Citizen Advocacy office.

Frank DeRaimo and F/D Publishing were lauded for support, understanding, generosity and a great willingness to meet the varied printing needs of Citizen Advocacy. A 1991 Entertainment Coupon Book was given to thank everyone in Frank's office for their magnificent efforts in Citizen Advocacy's behalf.

Barbara Deters acknowledged the many generous supporters who are the strength of Citizen Advocacy. Whether they have given time, work or financial aid, each gift has enhanced the growth and influence of this service organization.

Heartfelt appreciation was extended to all of those business organizations that donated toward the evening. Name tags were given by Emmons-Napp of West Bend, Hansen's Piggly Wiggly in Jackson provided the punch, Barth's Linden Inn, the cheese and crackers, Hankerson's Bakery of West Bend, the beautiful cake. The tables were decorated with flowers from RLS Flowers and Gary Cross provided the lively music for everyone's dancing and listening pleasure following the meal. The West Bend Woman's Club, together with individual donations, helped make the celebration possible. The Ben Franklin Store of West Bend gave the graceful yellow silk roses of friendship that were presented to advocate and partners in celebration of their long relationships.

Sue Moser thanked the staff members for their on-going efforts. Lynn Zemlicka and Susan Maurer have given generously of their time and efforts. There are also closely associated volunteers who unstintingly do the work of paid employees. Hallie Stollenwerk especially was thanked for coordinating the dinner.

All were thanked for coming out on a dark and stormy night and adding their good spirits to the pleasant evening, celebrating the strength of concerned relationships in Washington County.

Grand Slam Newest Instant Scratch Game

It might be...It could be...It is! GRAND SLAM, the newest instant scratch and win game from the Wisconsin Lottery.

GRAND SLAM has more than 1,000 tickets winning $1,000 cash prizes, according to Wisconsin Lottery Executive Director William F. Flynn, Jr., who added "players also have a chance to win twice on the same GRAND SLAM ticket."

"If 'Your Score' beats 'Their Score,' you win the prize on that line, with each ticket offering a player two chances to win," Flynn explained.

"The game offers a top prize of $1,000, with more than 30 percent of all winning tickets winning twice, or sweeping the double header, as we baseball enthusiasts say," Flynn added.

GRAND SLAM is the second consecutive 'limited supply' instant game from the lottery.

"We only printed about 16 million GRAND SLAM tickets, so they'll sell as fast as opening day seats at Milwaukee County Stadium," Flynn remarked.

Wisconsin Lottery players have shown plenty of enthusiasm for sports type instant scratch and win games. Baseball and football theme games sold well last year.

"Looking at the percentages (60 percent of sale returned to players as prizes) in GRAND SLAM, I see this game as the power hitter in our summer line-up, which includes BIG DOUBLE MOOLA and MOOLA MANIA for players who want to be on our game of the week — the MONEY GAME show.

"I predict GRAND SLAM will lead the instant scratch division right through the all-star break," Flynn said.

"Players can give GRAND SLAM a try-out at more than 5,000 Wisconsin Lottery retail outlets from Superior to Kenosha," Flynn noted.

Moraine Park Unveils Industrial Screen Printing Lab

Starting in September, West Bend will be home to a new training program unique in the country.

Expressing gratitude for the industry's support, Moraine Park Technical College officials showed off the college's new industrial screen printing facilities April 15 to local high school graphic arts instructors and vocational coordinators.

Moraine Park will hold its first industrial screen printing class in Sept., but wanted local high schools to learn about the potential of the less-than-one-year diploma program now. The program will prepare students to become screen press operators, with an emphasis on problem solving techniques and quality, said instructor Dan Wangerin.

Judy Neill, instructional development administrator at Moraine Park, said the industrial screen printing program is "unique in the state and the country."

Seventeen people attended the tour of the 2,300 sq. ft. facilities located at 603 Hi Mount Road, subleased from Serigraph Inc. Representatives from Dodgehead, Fond du Lac, Germantown, Hartford, Laconia, Slinger and West Bend school districts attended.

"This is an exciting venture," said Betty Brunelle, vice president for instruction at Moraine Park. Although the college has always worked closely with related industries in developing new instructional programs, she said the screen printing industry has been outstanding in its support.

Serigraph has donated the facilities through June of next year. A nominal monthly rent will be charged after that. Serigraph and screen printing firms from across Wisconsin and the nation have donated both used and new equipment for the 24-week program.

Wangerin said 16 pieces of equipment have been donated so far with 5 more expected. He estimated the value of the equipment at between $75,000 and $100,000.

"We wish we could repeat (this support) over and over again," Brunelle said. "This doesn't happen too often."

Brunelle said the program has a unique design because it incorporates paid internships at Serigraph.

John Torinus Jr., Serigraph's president and chief executive officer, said he hopes the industrial screen printing program with its paid internships will become a model for other technical job training programs in the state.

Torinus said Serigraph needs highly skilled employees. "We are operating in a world of virtually zero defects." He gave the example of a Serigraph client who complained about 11 defective decals in a shipment of 80,000, demanded Serigraph personnel fly to the client's plants and sort out the defective decals and billed Serigraph for the delay. "This is how our customers think out there."

To get that level of quality production, Torinus said, Serigraph needs highly skilled screen press operators, the reason Serigraph and other manufacturers in the $10-$13 billion industry are so supportive of Moraine Park's new program.

Torinus, who is a member of the Governor's Commission for a Quality Work Force, said, "If we want to be a high-wage society — which we do — we have to be a high-productivity, high-skill society."

Although Serigraph is offering the internships as part of the program, Torinus said he does not expect the company to "monopolize these graduates."

Wisconsin is the center of the screen printing industry, Torinus said. Serigraph and Northern Engraving in Sparta are the world's largest screen printing firms, and several other firms are scattered across the state, he said.

Graduates of the program, if hired by Serigraph, would receive starting wages around $7 an hour, about $2 more than someone starting at the company without the training, Torinus said. Graduates would also have an opportunity to advance more rapidly. An experienced screen press operator can earn up to $19.50 an hour at Serigraph, Torinus said.

Wangerin will begin a second class in the program in January. Ultimately, the program will be able to graduate from 24 to 30 students each year.

The FDA... Helping You Stay Healthy

Have you ever wondered....

- how long can I keep canned foods?
- are generic drugs as effective as name-brand drugs?
- is the blood supply really safe?
- is the product advertised on TV approved by the FDA?

The Food and Drug Administration's Public Affairs Officers — representatives to consumers in communities around the nation — receive and answer thousands of questions like these each year.

You have probably heard of the FDA but what does this federal agency really do? It is FDA's job to see that the food we eat is safe and wholesome, the medicines and medical devices we use are safe and effective, the cosmetics we use won't hurt us, and that products emitting radiation, like your microwave oven, won't harm us. Feed and drugs for pets and farm animals also come under FDA scrutiny.

How does the FDA regulate all these products? The FDA employs about 1200 investigators and inspectors around the nation. It is their job to see that the products we use every day are made right and labeled truthfully. About 3,000 products a year are found to be unfit for the American consumer and are taken off the market.

Regulating industry to protect the public is FDA's first priority. Helping educate consumers about health problems is another important job of the FDA. Millions of publications a year are distributed to consumers and health professionals regarding important issues such as AIDS, food poisoning, nutrition, and medical quacks.

TODAY'S AGRICULTURE Time to Cut Alfalfa

By Jack Trzebiatowski, Extension Agriculture Agent

Many alfalfa producers have started cutting their first crop of hay. With the warmer than normal weather conditions the crop is rapidly reaching maturity.

An alfalfa scissors cutting project is being used to evaluate the advancing maturity of the 1991 alfalfa crop in Washington County. The project involves taking a small sample of alfalfa each week and testing for feed value, an indicator of maturity. Samples were taken on May 13, and 20th. Additional samples were taken on May 28, June 3 and 10th. The sample locations in the county are at the Bob Kirchner farm near Kewaskum and the Bob Schuetz farm near Jackson.

The results of the first two samples were as follows: Bob Kirchner farm; May 13, 1991, (CP (crude protein) = 31.42%, ADF (acid detergent fiber) = 17.48%, NDF (neutral detergent fiber) = 24.14%, and RFV (relative feed value) = 290. May 20, 1991, CP = 25.83%, ADF = 22.77%, NDF = 31.66%, RFV = 209.

Bob Schuetz farm; May 13, 1991, CP = 32.08%, ADF = 19.27%, NDF = 23.53%, and RFV = 292. May 20, 1991, CP = 25.99%, ADF = 23.55%, NDF = 31.95%, and RFV = 206.

These data show the advancing maturity of the crop. It is suggested that producers cut the crop when the relative feed value is about 150. The relative feed value is a good indicator of the feed value of the forage. A relative value of 100 means the crop is equal to mature alfalfa hay. At that stage it has less value for livestock than feed with higher relative feed values. Another way of looking at the quality of feed is to strive for forage with a

CP of 20% ADF of 30% and NDF of 40%.

It is expected that the values of most forages in the area have matured to the levels where producers should be cutting this week. There are reports that some fields located on south facing slopes are showing some blossoms.

Information on results of each weeks samples will also be available on each Saturday at 7:00 a.m. on WTKM and 7:10 a.m. on WBKV.

This project is being supported by Rock River Laboratory, Watertown, and Farmers Elevator, Allenton. These businesses are covering any testing charges associated with the project.

Most Advanced Cancer Treatments Are Now Available in Wisconsin

Three forms of immunotherapy, a promising new cancer treatment, are now available at St. Luke's Medical Center in Milwaukee to treat individuals across the Midwest with a broad range of common cancers.

Immunotherapy uses the body's own immune system, boosted by promising drugs such as Interleukin-2 (IL-2) and interferon, to fight disease. It was pioneered in the early 1980s by Dr. Steven Rosenberg, researcher and chief of surgery at the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md. St. Luke's is one of the few community hospitals nationwide working the NCI to develop and treat patients with the latest in cancer care therapies.

John P. Hanson, M.D., medical director of St. Luke's Immunotherapy Program, says he is pleased to help make immunotherapy available to patients in the caring atmosphere of a community hospital such as St. Luke's.

"With immunotherapy we now have hope for better results in some of the most resistant cancers we are treating," Dr. Hanson said.

Immunotherapy is considered the first-line therapy against kidney cancer that has spread to other parts of the body, and melanoma, the life-threatening form of skin cancer.

Three distinct immunotherapy treatments are now available at St. Luke's. In IL-2/LAK therapy, a category of white blood cells called lymphocytes are filtered from the patient's blood stream, then bathed in IL-2 to boost the cells' natural cancer-fighting ability. These enhanced cells, "lymphokine-activated killer" (LAK) cells, are then returned to the patient's blood stream along with additional doses of IL-2.

IFN/IL-2/LAK therapy is similar to the previous treatment, except that before white blood cells are filtered out of the patient's blood stream doses of interferon (IFN), another lymphokine, are given. The interferon both attacks the tumor and makes it more visible to the immune system.

In the third treatment, IL-2/TIL therapy, a section of the patient's tumor is removed and "tumor-infiltrating lymphocyte" (TIL) cells, another weapon in the body's immune system, are isolated from the tissue. The cells are incubated with IL-2 in the lab, where they multiply up to 500,000 - fold. After being treated with a single dose of Cytoxam, a chemotherapy drug, the patient receives the multiplied TIL cells along with additional IL-2.

In addition to treatment patients with advanced kidney cancer and melanoma, doctors can use immunotherapy in individuals with a wide range of cancers including lymphomas, and cancers of the lung, breast and colon.

People interested in receiving more information about St. Luke's Immunotherapy Program should call the program office directly at 414-649-5818 or the hospital's Vince Lombardi cancer information line at 1-800-252-2990.

Campus Notes

A number of Ripon College students have been named to the institution's spring semester Dean's List, which recognizes academic excellence.

To qualify for the Dean's List at Ripon College, students must achieve a 3.4 grade point average on a 4.0 scale while registered for at least 12 hours of course work.

Founded in 1851, Ripon College is a nationally-recognized liberal arts institution located in Ripon, Wis. Ripon is one of a select number of colleges and universities included in "Barron's 300 Best Buys in College Education," which describes the College as "a place where the personal attention is conducive not just to academic growth, but to personal growth as well."

Among the 184 students named to the College's Spring 1991 Dean's List are: April R. Wulff, daughter of Arlene and Eldon Wulff of Kewaskum.

KMS Boys Conference Track Results

8TH GRADERS ARE CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS!

8TH GRADE KMS 1991 CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS

Kneeling: Cory Rammer, Kevin Boylen, Kevin Klahn, Chad Trzecinski, Brian Redig, Jason Link, Jacob Thull and Doug Neuman. Standing: Coach Jerry Gosa, Frank Fry, David Gosa, David Horner, Dan Survis, Tim Strigenz, Travis Jacak, Ruben Oppermann, Nathan Cartwright, Paul Reis, Mark Jaycox, Tyler Dieringer, Rich Farchione, Craig Erdmann, Andy Matthies and Mike Harycki. Missing from photo: Josh Boegel, Andy Bronner, Jason Clutts and Shane Engelking.

At the Scenic Moraine Boys Middle School Conference Track Meet held at Kewaskum on May 21st, the Kewaskum 7th graders finished in 3rd place and the 8th graders finished in 1st place. Scores for the 8th grade team were as follows: Hartford 47, Slinger 54, Germantown 92, Pewaukee 99, and Kewaskum 107.

Placing for the Kewaskum 8th grade Conference Champions were the following individuals, their place, their respective event and their time or distance:

Dan Survis - 4th place discus 119' 0", 6th place 110m hurdles 16.9, and 5th place 200m dash 26.8.

Andy Matthies - 6th place discus 112' 11".

Jacob Thull - 2nd place long jump with a personal best of 16' 1/2" and 5th place 100m dash 13.5.

Travis Jacak - 1st place and Conference Champion in the high jump with a personal best and school record of 5' 7".

Paul Reis - 6th place high jump 5' 2" and 5th place 110m hurdles 16.8.

Tyler Dieringer - 4th place 100m dash 13.5 and 4th place 200m dash 26.8.

Nathan Cartwright - 4th place 400m dash with a personal best time of 1:00.4.

Cory Rammer - 5th place 400m dash 1:00.6.

David Gosa - 3rd place shot put with a personal best of 39' 11" and 1st place and Conference Champion in the 1600m run with a personal best and school record time of 4:58.0.

Frank Fry - 4th place in the 1600m run with a personal best time of 5:24.6.

Andy Bronner - 1st place and Conference Champion in the 800m run with a personal best time of 2:17.7.

Mike Harycki - 2nd place

800m run with a personal best time of 2:17.8. Great job by the 800m runners. A big turning point in the meet that put Kewaskum ahead of the competition.

The 400m relay team of Tim Strigenz, Paul Reis, Travis Jacak, and Jacob Thull took 2nd place and set a school record with their best time of the season 51.7.

The 800m relay team of Travis Jacak, Kevin Boylen, Craig Erdmann, and Rich Farchione took 3rd place and set a new school record with their best time of the season 1:50.2.

The 1600m relay team of Rich Farchione with a 400m split of 1:00.7, Cory Rammer with a 400m split of 0:59.7, Mike Harycki with a 400m split of 1:04.0, and David Gosa with a 0:57.4 split took 1st place and were the Conference Champions and set a school record of 4:02.2. Great job by this relay team that was undefeated for the year! This relay was also the margin of victory in dual meets against Germantown and Pewaukee. Special recognition to Chad Trzecinski, Tim Strigenz, Paul Reis, and Kevin Boylen who ran the 1600m relay as an exhibition team in all the dual meets and only lost to the Kewaskum 1600m relay team all season!

Congratulations to all the track team members! Definitely a true team victory! (For the conference meet only two athletes per school per event may be entered. Every 8th grade athlete from Kewaskum placed in the meet!) This is the first 8th Grade Boys Conference Track Championship in many years! Truly an excellent season!

Special recognition to the 8th grade team for finishing the dual meet season with a 6-0 record and winning the Conference Track Meet. All your hard work, effort and dedication paid off. Plan on track for the spring of 1992!

The 7th Grade track team had a great season and a close finish at the conference track meet. The 7th grade boys were unbeaten in their first five regular season dual meets and were edged out by Pewaukee in the last dual meet of the season 54-51.

The conference meet became a three way race for first place among Kewaskum, Pewaukee, and Waupun, who came on strong at the end of the season. Kewaskum finished in third place with 94 points behind Waupun with 101 and Pewaukee with 104. Placing for Kewaskum 7th grade team were the following individuals, their place, their respective event and their time or distance:

Tim Gundrum - 2nd place shot put 34' 6 1/2".

Pat Schmitt - 6th place shot put 29' 1".

Ryan Herman - 1st place and Conference Champion in the long jump 15' 3" and 4th place 100m dash 14.2.

Peter Reis - 4th place high jump 4' 10" and 1st place and Conference Champion in the 110m hurdles 16.8.

Matt Wiedmeyer - 6th place high jump 4' 6" and 4th place 200m dash 29.2.

Aaron Kurth - 2nd place 100m dash 13.7.

Chris Justman - 4th place 400m dash 1:08.8.

Damien Doherty - 2nd place 1600m run with a personal best time of 5:36.6.

Joe Hawig - 4th place 800m run 2:43.4.

Jason Liegl - 5th place 800m run 2:46.0.

Marc Herman - 5th place 200m dash 29.7.

The 400 m relay team of Aaron Kurth, Marc Herman,

Ryan Herman and Eric Rahlf were unbeaten during the season and are the Conference Champs with a time of 54.6.

The 800m relay team of Joe Fry, Todd Cartwright, Chris Justman, and Jason Liegl took 4th place in 2:08.1.

The 1600m relay team of Damien Doherty, Peter Reis, Matt Wiedmeyer, and Eric Rahlf were also unbeaten during the entire season and took 1st place and are Conference Champions with a time of 4:24.3.

These 7th graders did a great job all season and they should have a good shot at the conference championship next season.

Schneider No-Hits Plymouth

By Statesman Sports Writer
KEWASKUM — While he has a long way to go before posting any Nolan Ryan - type numbers, Kewaskum's Shawn Schneider sure is making a name for himself in the Indian record books.

The junior righthander pitched his second no-hitter in as many years last Tuesday, as he triggered the Indians to a 2-0 win over the previously league-leading Plymouth Panthers.

Last season's gem, a 4-0 decision over Two Rivers, was the first in over ten years at KHS. By pitching his second 'no-no', it is believed that Schneider has set himself alone from other pitchers in school history.

Schneider struck out nine Plymouth batters, while walking just two in the win. He didn't do it alone, however, as his Indian teammates came up with several outstanding defensive plays to help preserve the no-hitter.

One of the biggest came in the second inning, as a pair of Panthers reached base, one on a hit batsman and another on a walk. The next batter hit a grounder that was booted by second baseman Kim Marx - Marx would redeem himself later, but Indian rightfielder Todd Muckerheide gunned down the runner trying to score from second for the second out of the inning. Schneider then got himself out of the jam by striking out the next batter.

The momentum carried over into the bottom half of the inning, as the Indians scored the only tallies of the game in that frame.

Marx singled to start the rally and moved to second on a passed ball. Jason Krahn came up with a clutch double to score Marx, and he later scored on an error on a ball hit by Mark Felix.

That was all the scoring Schneider needed, although he was greatly helped by a few fine defensive plays by Marx. The junior second baseman made a nice play to throw out a runner in the second, and then came up with a dandy in the fifth, skying high to knock down a sure single and then throwing the runner out at first.

Marx and Muckerheide weren't the only Indians to post some gems in the field, as the whole team, despite committing three errors, played a sound defensive game.

The win improved the Indians overall mark to 4-4, including a 3-1 mark, good enough for first place, in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

Wisconsin Ice Age Trail

A program on "Wisconsin's Ice Age Trail" will be held at the Lac Lawrann Conservancy, 300 Schmidt Road, West Bend, on Tuesday, June 25, beginning at 7:00 p.m. Nancy Frank, Volunteer Coordinator of the Ice Age Park & Trail Foundation, will present the program. Nancy is a Co-producer of Channel 10/36's "Outdoor Wisconsin" program.

The evening will begin with glacial history of Wisconsin, Ice Age Trail history, a slide show, and discussion of the trail system in the local area. National Park Service maps and membership forms will be available. Refreshments will be served after the program, donated by Lac Lawrann Conservancy volunteers. Volunteers will also lead visitors on a short walk through the Conservancy, weather permitting.

There are 500 total miles of the Ice Age Trail in Wisconsin. The trail through West Bend runs from Hwy. 33 and University Drive to Glacial Blue Hills Park. Lac Lawrann Conservancy has glacial landforms, including kettle ponds, an esker, and a kame.

The program on Tuesday is free and open to adults and children. We would appreciate visitors make reservations, so we will know how many people will be attending. Please call the West Bend Park Department at 335-5080 or Bette Pours at 334-9634.

Big 6th Inning Downs Indians

By Statesman Sports Writer

KIEL — Things looked pretty good for the Kewaskum baseball team here last Wednesday night.

After winning the day before to move into first place in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, the Indians found themselves up 5-0 heading into the bottom of the sixth against Kiel.

But things fell apart for the Indians, and the result was a heartbreaking 6-5 loss to the Raiders, temporarily knocking the Indians out of the EW's top spot. The loss dropped the Indians to below the .500 mark on the year (4-5), and to 3-2 in conference action.

Indian third baseman Mark Felix got things rolling in the top of the second, as he drilled a pitch over the fence for a two-run homer. Dave Pauers had reached on a single.

The Indians seemed to have things in control after scoring another three-spot in the fifth. Randy Schlice singled a stole second, and Kim Marx added a walk later in the inning. Jason Krahn then ripped a double scoring both Schlice and Marx. Felix, who went 3x3 in the game, added a single to score Krahn, and the Indians led 5-0.

Meanwhile, Indians sophomore Todd Muckerheide was cruising along on the mound, shutting down the Raider hitters. But he tired in the sixth, giving up three runs and leaving with two men on base.

Reliever Matt Schlosser also had his problems, throwing a wild pitch to score a run, and then walking a pair of runners, loading the bases. Pauers then was brought in to try and put an end to the rally, but he gave up a double, scoring two runs and giving Kiel the 6-5 advantage.

West Bend Readies for Badger State Games Regional Sports Fest

For the second straight year, West Bend hosted the Badger State Games Region 6 Sports Festival. Nearly 1,000 area athletes of all ages and abilities were expected to compete in the regional June 14, 15 and 16.

"The success of the West Bend regional is the direct result of outstanding volunteer organization and community spirit," said Otto Breitenbach, Badger State Games executive Director. "The Badger State SG Games salutes the entire West Bend area, and urges athletes to take advantage of this opportunity to participate."

Last year's Region 6 event attracted 748 athletes. Seven other communities host 1991 regionals: Eau Claire, Merrill, Sparta, Manitowoc, Sun Prairie, Whitewater and Milwaukee.

The regional features competition in seven sports: basketball, bowling (Frontier Lanes), adult golf (Camelot Country Club), girls and womens gymnastics, novice tennis, track & field, and wrestling. Basketball kicked off Friday, June 14 and concluded Sunday, June 16. The remaining events took place Saturday at West Bend area venues. Wrestling and bowling are the only regional sports which offer on-site registration.

Regional qualifiers advance to the Badger State Games finals competition June 28-30 in Madison. The finals feature 24 sports.

Sponsors of the Region 6

Sports Festival are: Northwest Airlines; Gehl Co.; Russ Darrow Group; Bank One; WTMJ-TV; Regal Ware, Inc.; Serigraph, Inc.; Weasler Engineering; M&I First National Bank; Amity Leather Products; The West Bend Co.; City of West Bend; West Bend Mutual Insurance; West Bend Area Chamber of Commerce; and Wesbar Corp.
