Front row: Willard Gruhle, Bret Pearson, Wayland Tessar, Darlene Tessar and Bret Rauch.

"I wouldn't trade my house for any other house in the world!" Those were the words of the Lexington, Kentucky woman whose family now owns the Habitat for Humanity house that the work crew from Peace UCC Church in Kewaskum helped to build in July, 1990. She was speaking to Rev. James Bettin of Peace Church on July 14, 1991 from the porch of the comfortable and affordable dwelling built by a partnership of volunteers and prospective Habitat home owners.

Fifteen members of Peace Church were again in Lexington from July 13-20, helping to construct a new Habitat house as well as to rehab another. On July 24, ground was broken in

Scott Wolff, Son of Kewaskum Couple, Returns from War and Relief Operation

Navy Airman Scott C. Wolff, son of Charles and Jean Wolff of Kewaskum, recently returned from a seven-month deployment to the Middle East aboard the carrier USS Theodore Roosevelt. Wolff is assigned to Navy squadron VFA-15. The Florida based squadron flies a hybrid fighter/attack aircraft known as the F/A-18 Hornet. Desert Storm was the first full-scale combat outing for the Hornet.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Now that the seven-month deployment which began last December for the Virginia-based carrier USS Theodore Roosevelt and her air wing is finally over, Navy Airman Scott C. Wolff and his shipmates in Navy squadron VFA-15 will have time to relive their past in Operation Desert Storm.

But first came the joys associated with homecoming, always an anticipated event for a sailor, but doubly welcomed when a Navy battle group returns from a combat zone. Roosevelt returned to the United States on June 28.

Wolff, the son of Charles and Jean Wolff of Kewaskum, is an aviation electrician apprentice with the Florida-based squadron which flies a hybrid fighter/attack aircraft known as the F/A-18 Hornet. Desert Storm was the Hornet's first full-scale combat outing, and the feisty aircraft gave Iraqi targets much more than a token buzzing.

The commanding officer of VFA-15 Cmdr. Steve Kunkle, who served as executive officer (second in command) during the war, reported that the squadron dropped over one million pounds of ordnance on targets in Iraq and Kuwait and flew 565 combat sorties during 38 days of

Area High School Students Graduate From Maurice's Fashion Board

Ten students from West Bend area high schools recently graduated from Maurice's fashion board for the 1990-91 school year.

Maurice's, a men's and women's fashion store in the Paradise Mall, developed the board as a means of introducing students firsthand to the varying aspects of fashion retailing. Throughout the year, board members learned principles of visual display, participated in charity fundraisers and events, modeled, and assisted in the coordination of community fashion shows.

Tara Angiello and Melinda Vielbaum of Hartford Union School, Michelle Burt and Matt Schmit of Ozaukee High School, Heidi Gilbert and Sherry Shellinger of Slinger High School, Michelle Schaub and Jenny Stelter of Kewaskum High School, Amy Fenster of West Bend East High School, and Karri Zwicker of West Bend West High School were chosen for their high level of interest in fashion retailing, their serious academic goals (a "B" grade-point average or higher), and their participation in community and school events.

Attend Seminar at Platteville for Middle School Educators

The University of Wisconsin-Platteville held its 12th annual "Teaching the Transescent" seminar on campus July 28th to August 2. The conference for middle level educators included more than 750 participants from 133 schools in 11 states, making it the largest single academic event of the summer at UW-Platteville.

Attending the seminar from Kewaskum Middle School was Dave Jones, principal; Ruth Schmitt, school board member; Linda Bastable, Diane Stangl and Jan Uhlman, Middle School teachers.

The seminar is presented by the College of Education's Center of Education for the Young Adolescent (CEYA), and is the oldest and largest professional development seminar for middle level educators. UW-Platteville is nationally recognized for its programs in middle level education, including a citation by the Board of Regents as a "Center of Excellence" within the UW System.

The Teaching the Transescent Seminar is built around teams of teachers and administrators from the same school. These teams work together during the week on a real project that is unique to their school or community. The project was developed during the past year and was finalized during the seminar.

The seminar also featured a variety of group sessions and presentations by speakers on issues in middle level education. Evening recreational programs during the week included a performance of the Wisconsin Shakespeare Festival and a riverboat ride on the Mississippi River. Participants receive two graduate hours of credit from UW-Platteville.

are trendsetters in the community," said Darla Burgess, fashion board coordinator. "The students we selected are ambitious and future minded."

Besides the retail experience the students acquired, fashion board members also received the following special benefits: a 10 percent discount on all Maurice's merchandise while active on the council and a 20 percent discount on all Maurice's merchandise that was modeled in community fashion shows.

In addition, the students are able to use their board position as a future employment reference, and all who graduated from the board received a diploma of achievement.

Valley Bank Appoints Manager Vacation Bible School at St. Lucas Lutheran Church

Kevin E. Volm

William J. Haskey, Executive Vice President of Valley Bank, Kewaskum announced that Kevin E. Volm has been appointed to the position of Assistant Vice President/Manager of the Allenton Office.

Mr. Volm is a Kewaskum native, presently residing with his wife Cindy and family, in Hartford. Prior to joining Valley

June 25, Volm was Asst. Vice President-Branch Sales Manager of the Hartford Office of Federated Bank, S.S.B. since June, 1988. He is a graduate of UW, Milwaukee and Kewaskum Community High School.

Volm has been active in many Hartford and Washington County civic organizations.

On August 12th, St. Lucas Lutheran Church will open its doors to the children of the community with its new "Growing in God's Family" Vacation Bible School. The central thought of the VBS course, according to Vicar Craig Korth, vicar of St. Lucas, is growing and maturing in the Christian faith. "It's amazing to watch the physical growth of little children, but this course is aimed at helping them grow in their love for their Savior." He added, "We want the children of our church and community to grow up with the certainty that God loves them and shows that love most vividly in His Son, Jesus Christ."

The one-week course will include Bible study, games, songs, recreational activities, and craft projects, all correlated to the Bible lesson themes. Each VBS student's workbook contains the Bible story for the day and related study materials.

"Everything that we do at the VBS will be centered on the Bible," Vicar Korth said. "Summer recess gives the children a break from learning math and history, but the children, and all of us, need to keep our Bibles open all year long."

The Bible School will run from 9:00 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., Monday through Friday, August 12-16th. All classes will be held at St. Lucas Lutheran School directly across the street from the church, at 1410 Parkview Drive.

The VBS is open to all children in the community from ages 3 to 14. Anyone interested in enrolling their children in St. Lucas Vacation Bible School, or wanting further information, should phone 626-8058 or 626-2591.

Charity Agrees to Refund Donations

The Washington County Sheriff's Department has been notified that the Wisconsin Department of Justice has obtained a consent judgement against the Wisconsin Law Enforcement Youth Foundation and its two professional fund raisers. The judgement requires that the fund raisers provide a refund to any requesting contributor who donated money between 1987 and April 1989. During that time period, the foundation received contributions of approximately $900,000.

The consent judgement follows a lawsuit in 1989, which charged them with soliciting for donations while claiming that monies received would be used for the foundation's programs to benefit children. But the fund raisers retained 90 percent of the contributions.

Numerous businesses in Washington County were contacted by the foundation's fund raisers. Donors can obtain a refund form by calling the Office of Consumer Protection at 800-362-8189. The refund program will expire September 9.

Put Your Life in Balance

Putting balance into one's life can help you enjoy your Wisconsin summer and let you look back on it with positive memories.

The first step to balance is a healthy diet. The USDA recommends the following seven guidelines for a healthy diet:

1. Eat a variety of foods.
2. Maintain a desirable weight.
3. Avoid too much fat, saturated fat, and cholesterol.
4. Eat foods with adequate starch and fiber.
5. Avoid too much sugar.
6. Avoid too much sodium.
7. If you drink alcoholic beverages, do so in moderation.

The next step is to exercise regularly. Almost everyone can benefit from exercise - and there's some form of exercise almost everyone can do. (If you have any doubt, check first with your doctor.) Usually, as little as 15-30 minutes of vigorous exercise three times a week will help you have a healthier heart, eliminate excess weight, tone up sagging muscles, and help you sleep better says the National Health Information Clearinghouse. Many people also find that they have more energy to do the things they enjoy when they exercise.

Stress management is another step in a well balanced lifestyle. You emotionally feel more balanced when you learn to handle stress. Stress is a normal part of living; everyone faces it to some degree. The causes of the stress can be good or bad, desirable or undesirable (such as a wedding, promotion on the job, or the loss of a job or relative). Properly handled stress need not be a problem. But unhealthy responses to stress-such as driving too fast or erratically, drinking or eating too much, or prolonged anger or grief-can cause a variety of physical and mental problems states the National Health Clearinghouse. Even on a busy day, find a few minutes to slow down and relax. Talking over a problem with someone you trust can often help you find a satisfactory solution. Develop a positive perspective and learn to say "thanks."

Laughter also has healthy benefits! It goes without saying that people who have joy in their lives are more likely to feel good about themselves. It also seems fairly obvious that having a sense of humor helps people cope with stress. But there's a growing body of scientific evidence that humor and laughter benefit health in measurable ways. Dr. William Fry of Stanford University reports that laughter stimulates the heart, lungs, upper body and back, much like exercise. He says that laughing 100 times a day has the same effect as a 10-minute workout on a rowing machine. Laughter also promotes the release of catecholamine, a substance that aids blood circulation and healing.

Other studies suggest that laughter increases antibodies that fight disease, helps to relieve pain and reduces stress as much as biofeedback therapy. Many hospitals now stock a humor room or "laughmobile" with funny movies, cartoons, games, joke books and even live comedy acts.

So the message is: with a healthy diet, enjoyable exercise and effective stress management, we should all find things to laugh about every day!

Annual Banquet Held Recently for Special Olympics

Kewaskum Special Olympics held their annual banquet July 18th at the Glacier Inn. Among their guests were Mary Fiegl, and Kim Hagelbarger of West Bend, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williams represented the Kewaskum Sno Chiefs, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Weddig represented Modern Woodmen and Mr. and Mrs. Fran Charland and Andy and Alex Charland. wartime operations.

Although the air war was planned with remarkable precision, there were still some surprises, according to Kunkle.

"The massive threat we expected never really materialized, and that was surprising, said Kunkle. "His army and air force were combat experienced, but he must have thought we were 20 feet tall. When Hussein started sending his planes to Iran, that was a surprise. We weren't too concerned, however, that he might later attempt a re-launch from Iranian airbases."

"We kept wondering," Kunkle continued, "if he was just suckering us in. He had a lot of military capability, and there never was a single event that made us say, 'We got him now.' We stayed cautious and were just waiting for his final act. No one believed or expected that he'd take such a pounding."

One thing Kunkle does believe is that the squadron's success, and ultimately the success of the war, rested squarely on the shoulders of men like Wolff, a 1988 graduate of West Bend East High School.

Describing his contribution to the deployment effort, Wolff said, "My job was to help maintain the complex electrical systems aboard the F/A-18 Hornet, such as the flight controls, navigation system and the lighting system."

Of the six aircraft carriers that took part in Desert Storm only four carried F/A-18's. Considered by military hardware analysts to be extremely well-designed, the Hornets lived up to their reputation for dependability and toughness under adverse conditions and while operating at war-time tempo.

"These planes just don't break down," said Kunkle admiringly. "There was also an extraordinary logistics effort made by the Navy to make sure we got the maintenance parts we needed. The logistics pipeline was tremendous."

"As a pilot," he continued, "you have the sense when you get in the aircraft that every crew member in the squadron wants to go with you. The crew men never give you an inferior product. The Hornet is a single-seater, and when you go up you know you've been launched in as perfect a plane as they can make it."

When a cease-fire was finally called in the Gulf, the scenario continued to be perfect for some of the ships who returned to homeport in time to experience the early euphoria of welcome-home celebrations. But the Roosevelt remained on station in the Persian Gulf as a deterrent to further hostilities. Then the carrier and her air wing were diverted to a new mission.

In the mountains near Turkey, the Kurdish people, after an aborted rebellion against Hussein's regime, were starving and suffering, having fled before the wrath of the marauding Iraqi army. Mobilized for war, allied forces including the Navy, turned from waging war to providing humanitarian relief during Operation Provide Comfort.

Wolff is philosophical about that time he spent in the Gulf region. He says, "I am very proud to have been part of Desert Storm. I feel that we had no choice but to go to war with Iraq and that for once we showed that we will not tolerate inhuman acts of one country to another."

Before the Roosevelt turned homeward, the carrier had off-loaded 34 million pounds of food, clothing and medical supplies to be used in assisting the Kurds.

Meanwhile, on the carrier, a relief mission of another sort went on for the entire length of the deployment. The outpouring of support the American people helped to keep morale high and to reassure the crew that Americans were behind them. Memories of the public's ambivalence about Vietnam and the resulting lack of support for those who served there were buried under the avalanche of mail that crowded the carrier's post office.

Wolff said, "Thank you for all the letters and packages that kept coming. You don't know how much it meant to us."

(Story contributed by the Navy Public Affairs Center in Norfolk, Va.)

New Rustic Roads Brochure Available

The Department of Transportation has a new guide to Wisconsin's Rustic Road system — just in time for a summer outing along the state's most scenic roads.

Rustic Roads are country or side roads where traffic volume is low, but historic, cultural and scenic values are high. The system was created by the 1973 state Legislature to preserve the state's scenic, lightly traveled country roads for the leisurely enjoyment of bikers, hikers and motorists.

R-26 — a five-mile segment of County MM as it swings south from the intersections of US 14/61 just east of LaCrosse. Offers views of the Mississippi River valley and the Mormon Coulee Creek valley. "Brinkman's Ridge" provides panorama including the Goose Island wildlife refuge. Well worth getting up early in the spring and fall when temperature inversions and low-lying fog often creates surrealistic landscapes of isolated bluff tops in a sea of mist.

R-57 — in Waupaca County from US 10 south along South Foley Road and Town Line Road to WIS 54 east of Stevens Point. Photographer's delight with arch of trees over the road, and deep ravines accented with ferns and wildflowers. A portion of the Ice Age National Scenic Trail follows this route, and an 1860's log cabin used by hikers is located along the road.

R-58 and R-59 — intersecting roads in Oneida County south and west of Minoqua. Both roads are accessed from US 51 and WIS 70, and skirt many scenic northwoods lakes.

Bearskin State hiking-biking trail is also routed over the Blue Lake Road portion. Original log cabins built by original homesteaders are visible as well as canoe launching sites.

R-60 — Canopies of coniferous and hardwood trees enhance the winding route of County K in Vilas County between County Highways N and M through the Northern Highland - American Legion State Forest near Star Lake and Boulder Junction. This road passes old logging camp sites, hiking trails and an old saw mill located in Star Lake. Frequent vistas of northwoods lakes and glimpses of wildlife await visitors.

The Rustic Roads guide includes information about how segments of scenic roads are added to the system, complete descriptions of all 60 segments located in 35 counties, and easy-to-read maps showing their location.

Free copies of the guide "Wisconsin's Rustic Roads — a Positive Step Backwards," are available by writing the Rustic Roads Board, Department of Transportation, P.O. Box 7913, Madison 53707.

Lifeguards, Firemen, Rescue Squad Hold 'Simulated' Drowning

The Kewaskum Fire and Rescue Squads held a joint water rescue practice with the Kewaskum Village Park and Recreation Departments and Lifeguards at Kewaskum Kiwanis Community Park pool on Thursday, July 25, at 7 p.m.

The squads were very impressed with the caliber and expertise of our village lifeguards. Parents of children swimming at the pool can be assured their children are safe when the lifeguards are on duty. The Fire Department felt many things were learned by both parties and plan to hold future practices.

Lifeguards Kim Stielow, Jim Kruse and Brian Breit "rescue" simulated "victim" Missy Rohrer.

Lifeguards, assisted by rescue squad personnel Andy Pesch, John Schmitt and Joe Baasch, lift "victim" out of the water on a backboard.

25 Years Ago

July 29, 1966

Carl Meilahn, Sr., 95, one of Kewaskum's oldest residents and a resident of this area all of his life, passed away early Sunday, July 24, at the Beechwood Rest Home where he had stayed for the past three years. He was a retired farmer of the Town of Kewaskum. Surviving are three daughters and one son, Alpha (Bernard) Novotny, Carl, Jr., Agnes (Ray) Schaefer and Amanda (Lester) Firme.

The annual Krazy Daze street sale in Kewaskum, sponsored by the businessmen will be held next Wednesday, Aug. 3. Merchants throughout the main streets in the village will participate in the event which will continue from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. There will be crazy prices, crazy costumes, food, drinks, music and fun for everyone.

The first annual meeting of the newly created Kewaskum Community Schools, District No. 2, was held Monday, July 25. Under the newly formed K-12 system, seven persons were elected to the Board of Education. A total of 521 electors of the district turned out to cast ballots. Elected to three year terms were Allen Tessar, James D. Reigle and Jack Jadro. Elected to two year terms were Anne Panzer and Richard Edwards. One year term members are Zona Miske and Harry Oelhafen. Defeated in the race for school board posts were Fred Spoerl, Daniel Rodenkirch, Raymond Schaefer, Gerald Secor, Leo Bingen, Burns Nelthorpe and Gilbert Korth.

Births — A daughter, Heather Jane, to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wertz, Kewaskum, Wednesday, July 20. A son to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Poyzer, R.2, Kewaskum, Tuesday, July 26.

Burglars broke into the A.G. Koch store in this village some time during the night or early Monday morning and stole cash and merchandise valued at $100 or more. The robbery was discovered by Ervin Koch, one of the partners of the firm, when he opened the store for business. It appears that the burglars were hard up for cash, food and wearing apparel by the strange assortment of merchandise taken. Entrance was gained through the rest room on the west side. Evidently the thieves were in the store for a long time. Merchandise was strewn on the counters so they could pick out the items they desired. Apparently the men were in the store and were scared out about 2 a.m. when an auto accident occurred directly across the street.

The Kewaskum fire department was called to the John Bremser farm about a mile north of St. Michaels at noon last Friday when a field fire threatened to destroy the farmer's oats crop. Mr. Bremser's son was burning weeds in the oats field when the fire got out of control. The flames spread to the shocks of oats which burned very readily in the dry weather. When the firemen arrived the fire was threatening an adjoining field of uncut grain but they succeeded in stopping the flames along the fence. Only about an acre of the shocked oats was destroyed.

After eight straight days of almost unbearable heat in this vicinity a thunderstorm Tuesday night and another light rain Wednesday brought some relief. The heat wave reached a peak on Tuesday when the mercury soared to 100 degrees in the shade and between 110 and 112 degrees in the sun.

Everything is in readiness for the Monster Firemen's picnic and dance to be held at North Side Park, Sunday, August 6th. If weather permits, Kewaskum will entertain the largest crowd of the season.

Edw. Spoerl, Town of Wayne, on Tuesday purchased the blacksmith shop and residence of Herman Marose of Knowles.

Consideration $6500. Mr. Spoerl is a very ambitious young man and an experienced blacksmith. His business ability will surely insure his business success in his new venture. The transaction was closed by Jos. Kirsch, the hustling and popular real estate man of Allenton.

The village of Eden last week received their new auto fire engine which they purchased at a cost of $3100. Where is there another town the size of Eden which believes in protection more than Eden. We take our hats off to them!

Henry Kedinger of southeast of Wayne, had his nose badly smashed by falling from a milk wagon while delivering to the local cheese factory last Saturday.

Frank Guetter, while returning home from Wayne was kicked in the face by one of his horses. It required several stitches to close up the wound.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thull have moved onto their farm near Boltonville. They tendered a house warming Tuesday evening with a large number of friends and neighbors in attendance.

The mason crew commenced work on the new Farmers and Merchants State Bank Monday. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Belger, Jr., of Boltonville on Wednesday, a baby boy.

The announcement of the marriage of Kathryn Straub, Ashford and Mr. Emmer of St. Kilian, was made Sunday. The wedding will take place in August.

Know What to Save When the Freezer Quits

There are many things your family can do to keep the foods in your freezer safe for eating.

When the power is out, keep the freezer shut. Be sure family members know they must not open it, because cold air will escape. Keep the cold air in!!! Foods will stay frozen for two days in a fully stocked freezer. However, if the freezer is only half full, the foods will stay frozen half as long.

If the power is out longer than one or two days, you may need to do one of the following:

1. Put the frozen food in garbage bags inside boxes, or tubs. Cover these with several layers of newspaper or blankets to keep them insulated. Move them to a friend's freezer or a commercial locker or a community facility with freezing capacity.

2. Locate dry ice (25 pounds of dry ice for a 10 cubic foot freezer). Call your power company to find out if they are giving out dry ice in your community and the location of the pick up point. Put cardboard over the food, and put the dry ice over the cardboard. Always wear gloves while handling the dry ice. When you open the freezer, do not breathe the air right away. (it is very high in carbon dioxide and very low in oxygen).

If the food is thawed or nearly thawed, use the following guidelines:

1. Refreeze meats, fruits and vegetables that still have ice crystals in them.

2. Cook and refreeze any raw meat that has no ice crystals left. One may also pressure can raw meats that are still well-chilled.

Lexington for an additional fifteen new houses to be completed in a September building blitz to celebrate the fifteenth anniversary of Habitat for Humanity International. The Peace crew members involved in the July, 1991 project were: Willard Gruhle, Darlene and Wayland Tessar, Gretchen Smith, Bret Rauch, Clark and Bret Pearson, Maury Hovland, Richard Zarling, Clayton Stautz, Marion Erdmann, Charles Petrie, Mary Steinhardt, and Pastor and Betty Bettin.

Housed on the University of Kentucky campus, the volunteers labored in 95° weather beside local volunteers and prospective home owners. The crew from the "north" were praised for their energetic work, which put the Lexington project four weeks ahead of schedule.

Some of the new houses being built are on empty lots donated by the city of Lexington; others replace "shotgun" houses which were built in rows with one room directly behind the other, with no plumbing or electricity, and often with only two feet between structures. Habitat is now making possible a change to decent housing in Lexington as well as world-wide. Millard Fuller, founder and president of Habitat International calls this change "the economics of Jesus."

The congregation of Peace Church has supported the Habitat trip for its volunteers for the fifth consecutive summer, Lexington being the only return project; previous sites were in Nashville, Tennessee, Buffalo, New York, and Zainesville, Ohio. On July 19, the Peace volunteers were honored at a dinner at St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Lexington. Pastor Bettin presented Lyle Hanna, Lexington Habitat President, with a gift of money from Peace Church to further the fifteen house blitz.

The Albert Presley family, prospective owners of the house the Peace crew helped to build, received a surprise gift of Regal cookware, donated by the Kewaskum Company. The Presleys — husband, wife, two sons, and two daughters — will move into their "dream house" this fall, a 900 square foot structure. It consists of a kitchen, living room, bathroom, utility and laundry areas, three bedrooms, a cozy porch, and an attached storage shed in the rear. Their no-interest mortgage payments will be less per month than the present rent they pay for a cramped apartment with substandard requirements. Their Habitat payments then fund another house for another family.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of ISADORE (IZZY) STAHL, who passed away one year ago, August 4, 1990:

Although one year is past, we still shed a tear
Our memories are many, of our grampa so dear

We were at first mad, we tried hard not to yell
But we know by now, the good Lord Keeps him well.

We can finally face, that God wanted him to join in his race.

The battle continues every day for those he left

We feel as though, God was the theft.

We realize God only chooses the best

God gives us the hardest test, of facing life without our Grampa,

Who has been laid to rest.

Grampa Izzy
We love and miss you,
Shawn and all the family

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of DENNIS HOERIG, who passed away 18 years ago, August 4, 1973:

Though his smile is gone forever

And his hand we cannot touch,
Still we have so many memories
Of the one we loved so much.
His memory is our keepsake
With which we'll never part.
God has him in his keeping,
We have him in our heart.

Sadly missed by his brother,
Joe

Kimberly Petrie Participant In Young Scholars Program

Kimberly Petrie, 5692 Sunset Dr., Kewaskum, was an accepted applicant for the Young Scholars Program held this summer at UW-Superior.

Dr. Francis G. Florey, director of the Young Scholars Program at UW-Superior, says the 16 academically talented students are "bright and highly motivated."

On campus for the fourth consecutive summer, the program is sponsored by the National Science Foundation. At UWS the program is called "Modeling Acid Deposition" (acid rain).

According to Florey, the NSF program is designed to increase student knowledge of and exposure to science and to stimulate participant interest in science disciplines as possible career choices.

"We also attempt to increase student awareness of the academic preparation necessary for such careers," Florey explained. "We also acquaint students with the environment and resources of universities."

By focusing on acid rain, the UWS meets the NSF program goals. Through a combination of classroom and lab experiences, field trips and special guest lectures, the students have an opportunity to learn chemistry, biology, applied mathematics and computer modeling.

Field trips this summer have included a tour of the Midwest Energy low sulphur coal facility in Superior, a tour of the Clay Boswell Power Plant near Grand Rapids, Minn., a two-day camping trip near acid sensitive lakes in Vilas County and a geological tour of the Duluth-Superior area with Dr. Albert Dickas.

Data gathered throughout the country by the National Atmospheric Deposition Program is analyzed by the students through statistical methods and computer modeling. Divided into groups of four, the students work with senior staff to develop a predictive model for acid rain based on such chemical components as sulphate, nitrate, calcium and ammonium.

Studying with chemistry Professor Dr. Tim Cummings, the students gain a chemical background necessary to understand the data that is being modeled. In classes conducted by research scientist Larry Brooke and biology Professor Donald Davidson, the students learn about the environmental effects of acid rain.

Dr. Mohammed Habibullah and Prof. Florey teach multiple linear regression techniques and computer modeling. The students develop their models for acid rain and during the fifth and final week of the program have an opportunity to explain and defend their models to staff and other participants.

"We try to make this a positive experience that the students will carry with them throughout their lives," Florey explained. "It is students like these who will assure that this country remains in the forefront of science and technology."

In the past four years, the NSF has funded the UWS program with more than $200,000. This year's program ended on July 26.

Rolling Labs and Clinics May Pose Potential Danger for Consumers

It sounded like a great deal, and it all seemed so legitimate. You received a phone call from a lab technician offering a free exam. They knew your name and your doctor. So, you agreed to have the test. After all, the tests are free — or so you thought.

People across America have received offers just like this for "free" medical care. The providers aren't the sort you want taking your blood — all they want is to take your money. According to Pat Jackson, Medical Services Director at American Family Insurance, "rolling labs and clinics" are popping up in cities across the country. Begun in California, these labs are spreading to the Midwest. Large metropolitan cities like Chicago and St. Louis are at risk.

This scheme cheats insurance companies out of hundreds of millions of dollars each year. "Rolling labs and clinics are the modern version of the pioneer medicine wagons," says Jackson. They are recreational vehicles or trailers outfitted as diagnostic centers. They come into a community and solicit patients in person, over the phone or by referral from a doctor or hospital. Once a patient is enticed with the promise of "free" services, the insurer is billed for unnecessary tests or tests not done at all. Soon the lab or clinic will pack up and move to another location before patients realize they have been taken.

Every consumer should learn the telltale signs that a clinic or lab is not legitimate.

* They approach patients with offers of "free" tests or physicals which are not covered by Medicare or private insurers.

* After the "free" tests are evaluated, you are pressured into having more tests. Before proceeding, you will be asked to complete insurance and medical history forms.

* Materials and equipment may appear crude. Business literature may be unprofessional and contain errors in grammar or spelling.

* Cleanliness and basic hygiene of the staff may be poor. This can expose patients to unnecessary health hazards or serious disease.

* The staff who perform tests or exams do not have a license or medical training.

Sometimes, says Jackson, it's not easy to tell that the clinics are not legitimate. For instance, the phony outfit may use the name of a legitimate clinic without authorization, but have the money sent to their own post office box. The clinics and labs also change their names when they relocate.

Insurance companies, especially ones who do not question medical claims are easy targets for the labs/clinics. Some insurance companies don't take time to thoroughly investigate each claim. Furthermore, there are more labs/clinics than insurance companies and government agencies have time to investigate.

These fraudulent claims cost insurance companies billions of dollars each year, and policyholders end up paying. A one-day "exam" can result in thousands of dollars billed to the insurance company, some as high as $12,000. According to the U.S. House Subcommittee on Health and Long-Term Care and other federal agencies, health-care fraud drains an estimated $25 billion a year from the nation's health-care system, and it's getting worse.

Consumer vigilance is essential in preventing health care fraud. Prevention on the part of individuals and insurance companies can help curb attempts at fraud.

According to Jackson, individuals should choose their doctors just like other products or services — with questions, research and caution. Don't be afraid to get a second opinion. If a doctor or clinician is vague, ask questions. If you're offered free medical care, take an extremely close look. If you have questions, call your family doctor or the county medical society. Don't give insurance information to clinics that personally solicit your business. Find out if your insurance company has a medical services department, which screens medical bills for accuracy. If so, you may call them with your concerns.

Remember, as the saying goes, you can't get something for nothing. An offer for free medical services is probably just what it appears — too good to be true.

Gauger Receives Herb Kohl Scholarship

Herb Kohl presents a $1,000 scholarship award to Kewaskum High School student Pam Gauger.

"The Herb Kohl Educational Foundation 1991 Scholarship Award was presented to Pam Gauger, student at Kewaskum High School by U.S. Senator Herb Kohl.

The Kohl Scholarship recognizes students who have demonstrated academic potential, outstanding leadership, citizenship, community service, integrity and other special talents.

The Kohl Foundation has awarded 100 students throughout Wisconsin with $1000.00 scholarships."

'Herb's Superb Milk House Returns to State Fair Aug. 1-11

"Herb's Superb Milk House" will return to the Wisconsin State Fair Aug. 1 - 11 with a new flavor of Wisconsin milk on the menu.

U.S. Senator Herb Kohl, who operates the stand at State Fair, said that peanut butter will be the new flavor for 1991. Chocolate, strawberry, raspberry and root beer also will return this year, Kohl said.

Kohl opened the milk house in 1990 as a way to promote Wisconsin dairy products, and served more than 110,000 glasses of the flavored milk to fairgoers.

The milk is produced by Wisconsin cows, but the flavoring is added by Kemp's Dairy in Kewaskum.

"The idea was a big hit with fairgoers last year," Kohl said. "It's a terrific way to boost our dairy industry and a great chance for me to meet people from all over the state," Kohl said.

"It's the perfect way to touch bases informally with folks in Wisconsin," Kohl said. "People can drop by for a cool drink and let me know what's on their minds. I plan to be there as much as I can when the Senate is not in session."

Herb's Superb Milk House is located at the south end of the grandstand.

Modest Tuition Increase Planned For UW-FDL

After two years without an increase, the tuition at UW-Fond du Lac will increase by 3.4% or $21 per semester. The yearly tuition for the campus will therefore be $646 per semester and $1,293 per year.

The tuitions of all UW institutions will increase by 3.4% this year. Thus, tuition at UW-Madison will rise to $1,946 and to $1,580 at UW-Oshkosh. These figures do not include fees which range from $75 per semester at UW-Fond du Lac to over $125 at UW-Madison.

Dr. Brad Gottfried, Campus Dean at UW-Fond du Lac, in announcing the tuition increases, stated that the students of Wisconsin are receiving an outstanding educational value, regardless of which UW institution they attend. "Our tuition is a contradiction of the phrase: you get what you pay for. While our tuition is the lowest in the state, our students receive the highest quality education because we offer small class sizes, committed instructors, and a wide range of courses and extra-curricular activities."

Minutes of Village Board Meeting

Mid-Monthly Meeting
July 22, 1991
8:00 p.m.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in Mid-Monthly Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First St.

President Mary Krueger presided. All Trustee Members were present. A quorum was present.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion by Trustee Gary Gavin, seconded by Trustee Mark Vechart and unanimously carried by voice vote, the minutes of July 8 & 15, 1991 were approved as printed.

Fire Chief Robert Stoltzmann apologized for disagreeing with Superintendent of Water Pollution Control over an incident last week pertaining to the seal coating of the streets and parking lots. The Board was also informed that the seal coating trucks messed up the parking lot and knocked over a guard post. The contractor will be informed of this and be asked to correct the post.

Chief of Police, Richard L. Knoebel asked the Board to check on the placement of a street light on the corner of Roseland Drive near the creek. Also the Board was informed that only four people applied for the part-time police officer job none of which were certified and two would not be able to work the hours needed. The discussion was directed around the time and cost for training such officers as well as the possibility of going with a full-time officer. The cost to certify a new officer is estimated at $6,000 to $7,000 and the time frame is two years with no reimbursement from the state.

On a motion by Trustee Gary Gavin, seconded by Mark Vechart and carried by voice vote, with Trustee Thomas McElhatton voting "Nay," the Board asked to have the Police and Fire Commission review the police manpower situation and report back to the Board.

Superintendent of Water Pollution Control Department, Peter Albers reviewed the proposal with the Board regarding the locator for pipes, electric wires, etc. On a motion by Trustee Robert Beisbier, seconded by Trustee Robert Wagner and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board authorized the purchasing of a Metrotech 850 Locator and clamp model 5120 at a cost of $2,899.

Administrator Daniel Schmidt reported that under the Department of Public Works he had to report that a leak in the No. 1 water tower would be fixed hopefully on Tuesday and that some additional work regarding the tower would follow as soon as possible. It is hopeful the work will not cost a great deal.

Employing Farm Workers

There are a number of rules and regulations that employers must follow when they are hiring workers for farm employment. The rules and regulations come from a number of sources, both State and Federal agencies that are concerned about the fair and equitable treatment of employees and the collection of the appropriate taxes. One of the areas where many questions have been raised is the area of minimum wages for farm workers.

There has been some recent information in newspapers, farm publications and other sources about the increase in the Federal minimum wage rate and how it applies to farm workers. Most farms in Wisconsin are exempt from following Federal standards, because they do not meet the required number of workers. Information provided by the U.S. Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration indicates that farm workers employed by anyone who uses no more than 500 man days of farm labor in any calendar quarter of the preceding calendar year is exempt from minimum wages and overtime pay under the federal rules. However, farms that meet this requirement would need to follow federal guidelines.

Other farms need to follow the minimum wage guidelines established by the Wisconsin Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations. Those rates have not changed from previous years. The minimum hourly wage rate for agriculture employment for individuals, age 18 and over is $3.60 per hour. The minimum hourly rate for individuals employed in agriculture under age 18 is $3.25 per hour. The Wisconsin law does not provide a probationary wage for agriculture workers during the first 60 days or less of their employment.

It is important that employers are aware of all of the rules that they must follow when employing agricultural workers. When minors are employed there are a number of additional concerns that employers must follow. They include such items as maximum hours and time in which minors can work and the type of employment that is permitted for minors.

All employees must keep information on the following items for at least 3 years for each employee. Name and address, date of birth, dates employment began and ended, time work began and ended, total hours worked daily and weekly, rate of pay for each payroll period, wages paid each payroll period, amount and reason for each deduction, the output of employee if paid on any other than a time basis.

Individuals desiring more information on employment should contact the Wisconsin Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations, Equal Rights Division, P.O. Box 8928, Madison, Wisconsin, 53708, telephone 608-266-6860 or the U.S. Department of Labor, Wage and Hour Division, A Milwaukee phone number is 414-297-3585.

PRAYER TO ST. JUDE

Daily prayer to St. Jude. O glorious apostle, St. Jude, true relative of Jesus and Mary, I salute thee through the Most Sacred Heart of Jesus.

Through this heart, I praise and thank God for all the graces He has bestowed upon thee. I implore thee through this heart to look down on me with compassion. O despite not my poor prayer, let not my trust be confounded. To thee God has granted the privilege of aiding mankind in the most desperate cases. O come to my aid that I may praise the mercies of God. All my life will be grateful to thee and will be thy faithful client until I can thank thee in heaven. Amen.

New Technology Puts Fertilizer Where It Counts

A new technology gives farmers the opportunity to place fertilizer right where it counts in their field.

Studies in Wisconsin and other states have found that both yield and soil nutrient levels can differ within a field. Nutrient levels differ across a field for several reasons. Manure applications often may not cover the entire field or are more concentrated in certain areas. The shape of a field can influence fertilizer spreading. Different soil types affect crop productivity and the amount of nutrients removed.

Currently, soil test results are often averaged and fields treated with a single fertilizer rate, says University of Wisconsin - Madison soil scientist Nyle Wollenhaupt.

"We may overapply fertilizer in some areas and not apply enough in other areas," he notes.

The new technology takes into account differences in fertility levels to allow for pinpoint fertilizer applications. The technology begins with intensive soil sampling. Soil fertility maps are created from the soil test. A computer mounted in a truck uses the maps to adjust fertilizer blends and apply nutrients at the correct rate as it moves across a field.

Studies have found that the new computer-driven technology can increase profits anywhere from $3 to $20 per acre. The technology could also provide environmental benefits from more efficient fertilizer use.

Detailed soil sampling can also help farmers handle and apply manure better, says Wollenhaupt. Farmers can apply more manure to areas with low phosphorus or potassium levels and avoid areas with high nutrient levels.

At this point, Wollenhaupt notes, the new technology may not be practical for all farmers because of the costs of intensive soil sampling and equipment. He notes that soil sampling, soil testing and map making costs can be spread out over several years.

Farmers will have to be convinced that it's profitable and practical, adds Larry Bundy, UW-Madison extension soil scientist.

"It's a new technology that would be appropriate on a very limited scale at this point, but there's potential for expanded use," Bundy says.

Eventually, the technology may also enable farmers to apply herbicides more efficiently.

Equipment for variable rate applications and ammonia seeding rates "on the go" is being tested this spring, says Wollenhaupt.

GENERAL TRUCKING

Dear Dr. Sylvia,

Now that summer's here, my children complain constantly of boredom. There are no friends in the neighborhood, so they'd like me to taxi them to activities or friends' houses continuously. I don't mind some of that, but shouldn't children be able to keep themselves busy sometimes

Dear Taxi Driver,

Children should have some stimulation afforded by friends and activities during the summer so you will undoubtedly want to invest some time behind the wheel to provide entertainment and fun. However, it's also very healthy for children to learn to play alone for some part of each day. Aloneness stimulates imagination, creativity, initiative, and independence.

You and your children may want to begin brainstorming a whole list of activities they could do on their own. Once the brainstorm list is completed, post it to inspire your children. Insist they spend at least an hour a day without peers, siblings, or adults. You may want to call that hour "independent time." Don't allow television or computer games, but encourage them to choose any other activity, e.g., reading, writing, games, imaginative play, gardening, baking, arts or crafts, or just daydreaming. Eventually children not only learn to enjoy their time alone, but may even extend it beyond your suggested time. Some children will find the value of aloneness, but if you don't establish "time alone" as a routine, most will continue to believe they must have peer or adult entertainment. You will watch your children's confidence and interests increase when you put aside time for them to get to know themselves and explore their own interests.

Record Number of Hunter's Choice Permits Available for '91 Season

MADISON, WI — The deadline for applying for Hunter's Choice permits for the 1991 Wisconsin gun deer hunting season has been moved up to Friday, Sept. 20 because of the record number of permits expected to be issued, said Bill Ishmael, Department of Natural Resources deer, bear and furbearer ecologist.

"Based on preliminary 1991 antlerless quota information and hunter success rates over past seasons, we expect to issue 586,455 Hunter's Choice permits this season," Ishmael explained. "Last season, there were 514,370 Hunter's Choice permits available and 80,777 of those were bonus permits."

This year the department will be using an optical scanner to read the handwritten information on the Hunter's Choice application forms. This process is similar to the system used for Canada goose permit applications last year. Ishmael said that the earlier deadline for applications and use of the optical scanner are necessary to meet turnaround-time requirements to get Hunter's Choice and bonus antlerless permits into the hands of hunters before the nine-day gun deer season starts on Nov. 23.

"Applicants will be asked on the Hunter's Choice application form if they wish to be considered for an antlerless bonus permit in addition to their Hunter's Choice permit," Ishmael added. "And depending on the outcome of the state's budget bill being worked on now, there may be a $12 charge for the extra permit and a $3 application fee."

The department will sort all Hunter's Choice permit applications received by the Sept. 20, 1991 deadline by mid to late October. The successful applicants will then be notified by mail, according to Ishmael. Hunters that have been selected to receive either one or two bonus antlerless tags — depending on the deer management unit — will also be notified by mail. Those selected to get antlerless bonus tags will have to reply by mail to the department by early November with their fees to get the bonus permits.

"Any leftover antlerless — only bonus tags remaining after the by-mail-only process will be made available to the public on a first-come, first-served basis before the gun season opens," Ishmael said. "These leftover permits will be available at designated DNR offices. The list of office locations will be published in early November when we have a better idea of how many leftover permits will be available."

The information requested on the Hunter's Choice permit application includes name, address, date of birth, telephone number and deer hunting license number. Other questions asked include the Deer Management Unit for which the hunter is applying, bonus deer permit consideration, and regular Hunter's Choice preference or Landowner preference.

A sample of the character shapes for letters and numbers is supplied on the form. Ishmael stressed the importance of using the specific character shapes so the application can be accurately read by the optical scanner. Applicants are asked to use either a black or blue ballpoint pen when filling out the application.

Ishmael noted that each year the department receives hundreds of incomplete or inaccurate application forms which cannot be processed, or which cause delays in getting permits back to the applicants. Hunters are reminded to take care so that applications are filled out completely to help speed the permitting process.

Nutritious Dairy Snacks

According to government food consumption surveys, snacks provide about 20 percent of a child's total daily intake of calories. If that's the way the cookie crumbles, let's make sure those after-school snacks make a good contribution to a balanced diet, says the National Dairy Board, which recommends these nutritious dairy snacks:

•Cut up cubes of cheese and store them in small plastic storage bags in the refrigerator. Leave some pretzel sticks close by which youngsters can use as picks to pick up the cheese cubes.

•Make any flavor of instant pudding the usual way but use one cup milk. Pour into refrigerating bowls, cover and refrigerate. Leave a dish of raisins and nuts close by so children can decorate their pudding with cute faces.

•Cut up chunks of fruit—melons, orange sections, strawberries, grapes, apples and pears. Let little ones dip the fruit chunks in lemon or vanilla yogurt.

•Freezer yogurt in the freezer and cones in the pantry.

•Cut up some fresh, crisp vegetable sticks and serve with a cream cheese or yogurt dip.

•Serve snacks with milk. For a free leaflet of after-school snacks, write: National Dairy Board, c/o Lewis & Neale, Box MM2, 928 Broadway, New York, NY 10010.

Special Seven-Day Antlerless Deer Muzzle-Loader Hunt Approved for 1991

MADISON, WI — A separate seven-day muzzle-loader hunting season for antlerless deer has been approved for 1991 by the Natural Resources Board, Bill Ishmael, Department of Natural Resources deer, bear and furbearer ecologist, announced today.

The muzzle-loader season will begin immediately following the close of the regular nine-day gun deer season," Ishmael said. "The regular gun deer season runs from Saturday, November 23 through Sunday, December 1, 1991. The muzzle-loader season will begin on Monday, December 2, and run through Sunday, December 8, 1991."

For the purposes of the separate muzzle-loader hunting season, the firearm used must loaded through the muzzle, possessing exposed cocking hammers and fired from the shoulder. No telescopic sights will be allowed on the firearm during the separate season, although they may be used on muzzle-loaders used during the regular nine-day deer season. "It's important to remember that this separate muzzle-loader season will be for antlerless deer only," Ishmael stressed. "Hunters eligible to participate are those who have unused Hunter's Choice permits or antlerless only bonus tags. No antlered bucks will be allowed to be harvested except by Class A and C Disabled Permit holders."

Hunters wishing to participate in this separate muzzle-loader hunting season must remember to fill out and file their Hunter's Choice permit applications for the deer management unit of their choice by the Friday, September 20, 1991 application deadline.

The separate muzzle-loader season will be open in all deer management units where there are Hunter's Choice permits or antlerless only bonus permits issued. The Mississippi Riverblock units (74A, 74B, 59B and 61) will not be open during this hunt.

The three state parks where there is a special muzzle-loader only hunting season open during the regular nine-day gun deer season also will not be open during this separate muzzle-loader season. Governor Dodge, Perrot and Blue Mound state parks, as well as other state parks open during the regular firearm season, will be closed for deer hunting during this separate muzzle-loader hunt.

Muzzle-loader hunters must wear blaze orange outerwear as required in the regular gun deer hunting season regulations. Bow hunters participating in the opening weekend of the late bow season, Saturday, Dec. 7 and Sunday, Dec. 8, 1991, will also be required to wear blaze orange on these two days.

Group hunting will be allowed, but all members of the group must use muzzle-loading firearms. The closed season on coyotes in the Northern Wisconsin will not be in effect during the separate muzzle-loader season.

In another season regulation change approved by the Board, the hunting hours for both the regular firearm season and the separate muzzle-loader only season will be from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset daily.

Football Practice To Begin Aug. 14

This year the WIAA has issued a new rule saying that we cannot issue equipment before the first day of practice. Therefore we will issue equipment the first day of practice.

Practice starts Wednesday, August 14th, in the new gym at 8:00 a.m. The first three days of practice will be without pads, because we will be running the mile on the track. Practices will run from 8:00 to 11:30 a.m. with a 20 minute break at 9:45 a.m. We will be practicing on Saturday, August 17.

PHYSICAL CARDS OR

ALTERNATE YEAR cards must be turned in before you start practice. These cards are available in the high school office and they will also be available in the weight room in the evenings. You need a physical every two years.

USER'S FEE: Each athlete must pay a one time users fee of $15. per year. This will cover all sports for this year. This must be paid in the high school office. If you have a problem with this matter contact Coach Pearson.

WEIGHT ROOM: The weight room is open every Monday Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:00 to 7:30 p.m. If you have not already been doing so, I urge you to get into the weight room. Whatever you can do to make yourself stronger will certainly help make you a better football player.

RUNNING: We will be doing a lot of running again this fall. Be in good shape when practice begins. We will have a timed mile and 40 yard dash the first days of practice. The more preseason running you do the better off you will be. Running up hills is excellent conditioning for the legs.
