Greg Guelig Headed for National Wrestling Tourney This Weekend

Greg Guelig

Saturday, March 28 was an exciting day for nine-year-old Greg Guelig, a third grader at Kewaskum Elementary School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Guelig of rural Kewaskum.

After qualifying at one of several regional wrestling tournaments held throughout Wisconsin in early March, Greg participated in the Wisconsin Youth Folkstyle State Wrestling Tournament held in Stevens Point. His four years of youth wrestling experience paid off.

Greg was placed in a 16-man bracket and upon defeating all his opponents, became the 1992 State Wrestling Champion of his age and weight class.

Greg was especially pleased that he was able to pin his final opponent in the championship round. His opponent, who also had four years wrestling experience, had never been pinned before. Great job, Greg!

Greg now is headed for the National Wrestling Tournament being held this weekend in Des Moines, Iowa.

Greg would like to give special thanks to Kewaskum High School wrestler Mark Dzedzic and Kewaskum Middle School wrestler Joel Dzedzic for their supportive coaching at the Kewaskum Elementary School's Intramural Wrestling Program, which helped prepare Greg for this year's State Tournament.

Also participating in the tournament were third grader Jason Farchione and fourth grader Mike Farchione, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Farchione of rural West Bend. Jason and Mike, who both worked extremely hard, placed 5th and 6th in their age and weight classes respectively. Keep up the good work Jason and Mike!

Unfortunately, seventh grader Joel Dzedzic received an injury while defeating his second opponent. The injury was not serious enough to stop him from officially winning his second match, however, it did force him to default his remaining matches for the day. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Dzedzic of rural Allen. Good try Joel and better luck next year!

Schaefers Win Battle Over Farm Location

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

Ray and Agnes Schaefer of rural Kewaskum, have been granted a variance by Washington County allowing them to construct a flood zone, after five years of conflict between the Department of Natural Resources and the Schaefers over alleged feedlot runoff into the Milwaukee River.

The Schaefers had waited eighteen months for the judges decision, which came in March 20th. During the final hearing Oct. 3, 1990, Agnes testified for over two hours and was granted the variance from the Washington County Board of Adjustments. But on November 7th, 1990, the State Department of Justice on behalf of the Water Regulation and Zoning Bureau of the DNR filed a lawsuit against the county to prohibit the variance.

The story began five years ago when the DNR accused the Schaefers of polluting the Milwaukee River located on their property - the source of the alleged pollution being a cattle feedlot located in close proximity to the river. According to the Schaefers, water samples were never taken or tested.

The DNR required the Schaefers to build concrete walls and a roof around the feedlot to

County Supervisor Harold Westerman Defeated

Gavin, McElhatton, Roecker Elected to Village Board

By Gerry Mueller

Incumbent trustees Gary Gavin and Tom McElhatton, along with announced newcomer candidate Harry Roecker were village board winners despite some competition in Tuesday's election.

That competition, in the form write-in candidates, however, was not enough to put them in serious jeopardy of losing their bids for a trusteeship. Gavin received 348 votes, McElhatton 326 and Roecker 276.

Of the four write-ins, only Larry Martin made a good showing, receiving 107 votes.

In county elections, incumbent Harold Westerman lost his bid to remain Washington County Supervisor for District 9. In an upset victory, challenger Mary Sauer defeated Westerman by a margin of 31 votes, 444 to 413.

In District 11, incumbent Hilbert Scheunemann was able to ward off challenger James Cotter, winning re-election by a vote of 400 to 251.

In the Kewaskum Board of Education election, incumbent John Schulte received 1,374 votes and announced candidate Ray Engelking got 1,266. There were also four write-in candidates for school board, Ken Weddig, Gail Van Ess, Larry Martin and Clara Trapp.

In voting for presidential candidates George Bush was the Republican winner in Washington County receiving 8,545. Contrary to the statewide vote, Jerry Brown was the Democratic winner in the county, receiving 4,344 votes. Statewide Bill Clinton was the Democratic winner.

Both state referendums, regarding railroad borrowing and legislative raises passed in the county.

All voting results are unofficial until verified by the Board of Canvassers.

Trustee Mark Vechart Submits Resignation Audit Shows Village in Excellent Financial Shape

By Gerry Mueller
Statesman Staff Writer

The results of Kewaskum's 1991 audit show the village remains in excellent financial condition according to the accounting firm of Conley, McDonald, Sprague & Company.

Representatives of the firm gave the village board a condensed report Monday night, touching on a few of the major points of the audit. The single most important fact showed Kewaskum's budgeting procedures resulted in the village being "well in the black" as far as revenues and expenditures were concerned.

The only area which revealed a need for improvement was the Water Utility which showed a drop in net operating income from $36,440 in 1990, to $26,098 for 1991. That situation is expected to improve as the result of the recent rate increase granted by the Public Service Commission in January. That increase is expected to generate an additional $31,000 in revenue.

Conley, McDonald representatives noted the Sewer Utility was showing a good net income and a steady increase in retained earnings.

The village's Tax Incremental Finance District is also in excellent condition and it has reached the point of being self-supporting. Because of that fact, the accountants feel the village may be able to pay off the TIF loans sooner than projected.

As far as the village's borrowing status goes, the village has borrowed only 48 percent of its total borrowing ability. Again, this is an excellent position to be in when lending and rating institutions check out prospective borrowers.

After hearing the report, the trustees voted to enter into another three-year contract with the firm for audit services. Village Administrator Dan Schmidt noted that while fees for the new three-year contract were risen slightly, they were less than other municipalities were paying. "I don't get to say this very often," said Schmidt, "but Janet (the village's bookkeeper) is one of the reasons our audit costs are less, because of the work she does." John Kneple, of Conley, McDonald, agreed with Schmidt's statement, confirming that the village's books are always in good order and cooperation from the staff is excellent. It makes our job a lot easier, Kneple noted.

In other business, the board approved several public works projects as presented by Director Jerry Gilles. They included repair work on Pump House No. 2, which includes re-roofing the building, installation of fencing around the building and reservoir and heater replacement. The work was awarded to Heberer Bros. Construction and West Bend Fence Company.

The board also okayed a request to advertise for bids on asphalt work on Riverview Drive south of Main Street.

Gilles showed the board some preliminary sketches for an open-air shelter at the pond in Kiwanis Park. After a short discussion, the board tabled action until the plans and costs could be shown to the Junior Womens Club. The club has offered to provide some financial assistance toward the construction of a shelter.

In other action the board voted to hire Gordon Hoffmann as the village's new building inspector on a 120-day probationary basis. He will replace the village's present inspector, Henry Becker, who wants to retire effective this month.

In department reports, Police Chief Richard Knoebel advised the trustees the village is beginning to receive complaints about individuals using roller blades and skateboards. The board directed Knoebel to look into setting up an ordinance. Knoebel noted the City of West Bend already has such an ordinance in place.

In committee reports, Trustee Gary Gavin informed the board that records show use of the village's library has risen 19 percent since the first of the year.

During miscellaneous business, Trustee Mark Vechart submitted his letter of resignation effective June 1st. Vechart stated the reason for his resignation is the fact that he and his family will be moving out of the village.

Some of Wisconsin's more noteworthy tornadoes occurred in 1899 when half of New Richmond was destroyed and 112 people were killed; in 1955 when 19 people died and 110 were injured in Colfax; and in 1980 when tornadoes and downbursts occurred in Chippewa, Dunn, Eau Claire, and Pierce counties and caused more than $150 million in property damage.

The patient was being transported by a pickup truck when the driver stopped and called 911. The Kewaskum rescue squad met them at HH and 28. A male patient got his right hand caught in a piece of farm equipment and suffered bad lacerations and trauma to the hand. He also had broken fingers and a broken arm. He was transported to St. Joseph's Hospital in West Bend and then to Milwaukee by Flight for Life.

With the advances in plastic surgery, it seems they can do almost anything with the human nose except keep it out of other people's business.

Junior Women 'Clean Up'

The Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club observed a "Clean Up Kewaskum Day" on Saturday, April 4th.

For the fifth consecutive year, the Kewaskum Juniors have focused on a local roadside, picking up litter and recycling as much as possible.

This year, four Juniors and four of their children targeted Kettle Moraine and Hickory Drives. During their three hour trek, a large box of recyclable bottles were picked up, a garbage bag of plastics, a large box of aluminum cans and tin and two bags of trash.

The Kewaskum Juniors encourage all residents to be responsible and dispose of their refuse properly. As Spring approaches, let's all do our part to keep Kewaskum and the Kettle Moraine areas looking beautiful, not only for ourselves, but also for our many visiting tourists.

Painless Way to Stop Smoking And Lose Weight

If you have ever tried to stop smoking "cold turkey" or lose weight you know how painful it can be.

Now the people at Directional Consulting are offering a "painless way to quit smoking and lose weight."

Directional Consulting Institute has been instructing and researching in the field of hypnosis for over 16 years, and one of their certified hypnotherapists will be the featured speaker at the Kewaskum American Legion Post Tuesday, May 5th at 1 p.m., for DCI's quarterly stop-smoking / weight loss seminar.

"Some people spend hundreds or even thousands of dollars on gadgets and gimmicks to help them stop smoking or lose weight. Our students don't have to suffer when they throw their cigarettes away or during weight loss. Both Programs are included in the Fee. Hypnosis has been used to control pain and strengthen the will for generations. We have refined the technique so that smokers and dieters can use it as well."

DCI guarantees that they will reach their goal. "All they have to lose is a little time and lots of weight and a lot of cigarettes."

For further information call (218) 385-3404. No pre-registration required.

Business Kickoff Set for Bob Cross Memorial Run/Walk

Area businesses and schools will get a taste of what's in store for this year's Bob Cross Memorial Run/Walk at the Business Strider Kickoff on Wednesday, April 15. The kickoff will get underway at 7:30 a.m. at the Dairy Queen West, Highway 33 West and County Trunk B, West Bend.

The goal of the kickoff is not only to get area businesses and schools involved, but to also let them know how important their involvement is. Last year, corporate teams generated more than half of the $44,000 raised.

At the kickoff, organizers will announce the goals for this year's June 7 event. They will also highlight some of the event's activities, introduce this year's t-shirt, and distribute materials. Organizers ask that representatives who attend the kickoff generate enthusiasm for the event among their co-workers and fellow students.

Almost 50 corporate and school teams participated in last year's event. B.C. Ziegler and Company took home the corporate strider traveling plaque for raising the most money - $4,447.00.

Seeking Opinions on Town of Farmington Recycling Station

A recommendation to close the recycling station in the Town of Farmington and have curbside pickup of recyclables was made by the Recycling Committee at their March 30th meeting.

The Town Board will like town residents, to attend the Annual Town Meeting on April 14 to voice their opinions on closing the recycling station. The meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the Town Hall.

According to Joan Rosenberg, recycling chairwoman, Farmington has had a recycling station at the old landfill site since the landfill was closed in November of 1989. Residents have also been able to deposit garbage in a dumpster at the site for 75 cents per bag. Many town residents however, contracted with a private hauler for curbside pickup of garbage instead of taking it to the landfill site.

Keeping the landfill site clean has also been a major problem. Garbage has been left at the site when the attendant is not there.

Options considered by the committee to solve the current problems included renting dumpsters to hold the recyclables; buying a trailer for recyclables and moving the recycling station to the town hall.

After considering the costs, it was determined that the cost for curbside pickup of the recyclables was comparable to renting dumpsters and hiring an attendant. The town will no longer furnish a dumpster for garbage. Town residents will be responsible for hiring private haulers for their garbage, Rosenberg said.

College Consultant Advises KHS Students

Mrs. Ina Miller, college consultant and counselor from Albuquerque, New Mexico, visited Kewaskum High School last week. Mrs. Miller spoke to college bound freshmen and sophomores in Mrs. Barbara York's English classes. She talked about the college process and the importance of taking "core" classes the entire four years of high school. She emphasized the importance of a strong academic program in high school.

This is the sixth year Mrs. Miller has visited the West Bend high schools and taught an ACT preparation class. She is nationally recognized as an expert on colleges in America and she counsels high school students in her private practice all over the country and at international schools aboard. Jandre - Pecora Annette Marie Jandre and John Joseph Pecora were married December 28, 1991, during an evening candlelight ceremony conducted by Fr. Duane Moellenberndt at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Fort Atkinson.

Parents of the couple are Dennis and Ceil Jandre of Kewaskum and Marion Cassafer of Greenfield and Peter Pecora of Milwaukee.

Dawn Jandre, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and Barb Hiller, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Patty Pecora, sister-in-law of the groom, and Kim Morgan, friend of the bride.

Tom Pecora, brother of the groom, was the best man. Groomsmen included Peter Pecora, brother of the groom, David Jandre, brother of the bride, and Danny Pope, cousin of the groom.

Ushering duties were shared by Bob Jandre and Michael Jandre, brothers of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Randy's Supper Club, Whitewater.

The bride is a 1988 graduate of UW-Whitewater, and currently works as a child protective service worker / intake social worker for Jefferson County Department of Human Services. Her husband is also a 1988 graduate of UW-Whitewater and works as a supervisor at Perlman-Roque, Whitewater, a food distribution center for McDonalds.

The newlyweds spent their honeymoon in Orlando, Florida, followed by a cruise to Nassau. They now reside in Whitewater.

prevent any runoff from entering the river in the event of a flood. Building costs are estimated to be $60,000. The couple agreed to comply with DNR requests and specifications.

Next an application for variance had to be approved by Washington County's Board of Adjustments because of building restrictions in a flood plain. After being turned down twice, the board granted the variance. But the ordeal was not over yet.

In a complete turnaround, the DNR then opposed the County Board's decision and filed their suit, although it was the DNR that had required the Schaefers seek the variance in the first place. They requested that the Board of Adjustments reverse its decision, citing ordinances prohibit this type of structure from existing near the river.

Circuit Court Judge Lawrence Waddick based his decision to approve the variance on three key findings: 1) There was no evidence of pollution 2) The Schaefers had complied with all DNR requests 3) The Schaefer farm had been in existence for 134 years.

"The DNR tried to pressure us, and make an example of us," declared Agnes during an interview at her home. "We now have to wait 30 days to hear if they will appeal," she says, which means the possibility of more delays and suits in higher courts.

The Schaefer farm has been in existence since 1856, and Ray and Agnes have been raising cattle there for the past 56 years. It will pass to the fifth generation when their son takes over the farm.

Will the DNR now require them to construct the wall and roof around the feedlot? What will happen after the April 20th deadline? The Schaefers are asking themselves these questions, and wondering when this ordeal will be over. "If this saves someone else... then it was worth it," comments Agnes. "We are not polluting."

Krejci - DeKarske

Lisa Marie Krejci and Matthew DeKarske were married Dec. 20, 1991, at Holy Trinity Church, Newburg.

Parents of the couple are David and Carol Krejci of Newburg and Allen and Judy DeKarske of Tigerton.

Lori Bies of West Bend, was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids included Sandy Webb of Newburg, Nicole DeKarske and Camila Spolar of Tigerton, Christine Alft of Green Bay and Judith Burnside of Neenah.

The best man was Mark Sambs of Tigerton, and Craig DeKarske of Milwaukee, Ralph Krejci and David Beimborn of Newburg, Richard Thiemer III of Kewaskum and Jeff Molter of Marshfield, were groomsmen.

Samantha and Cody Spolar of Tigerton were the miniature bride and bridegroom.

Amanda Fischer of Newburg was the bride's attendant.

Ushering duties were shared by Richard Thiemer Jr. of Kewaskum and Michael Spolar of Tigerton.

The bride is employed at Prange's in the Fox Valley Mall, and her husband is employed at Master Litho in Neenah.

The newlyweds reside in Neenah.

Marijuana Seized In Germantown

On March 26, 1992 a search warrant was executed in the Village of Germantown by officers of the Multi-Jurisdictional Drug Group and Deputies from the Washington County Sheriff's Department, as well as members of the Germantown Police Department and Milwaukee County Sheriff's Department K-9 Unit.

The search warrant was executed at approximately 7:00 P.M. and as a result of the search warrant, in excess of 1/4 pound of marijuana and other paraphernalia were found at the residence. This marijuana had a street value in excess of $1,500. One of the occupants of the residence was arrested and faces charges of possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver. Additionally, other parties were arrested for various charges, which included out-of-county warrants and possession of controlled substances.

This matter remains under investigation by the Washington County Multi-Jurisdictional Drug Group, which is supported in part by a grant which includes $77,000 in Federal funding. This $77,000 represents approximately 75 percent of the total grant award.

St. Lucas First Graders Visit Library

St. Lucas first graders look forward to their trip to the Kewaskum Public Library every other Friday. The students are learning about the privilege of borrowing books, as well as learning library rules and manners.

Mrs. Matthies first grade class is shown in the pictures above. Mrs. Bledsoe, the librarian, is telling the students a story, as they intently listen. Each student is allowed to check out two books for at home reading. This program opens up an entirely new world to these young students and extends their learning capabilities.

St. Lucas Rewarded For Reading with Pizzas

Miss Kolbow's third and fourth graders are shown in the picture above at a pizza party held for the class on Friday, March 13th.

St. Lucas Lutheran School recently participated in the "Book It" National Reading Incentive Program, sponsored by Pizza Hut. The purpose of the program is to motivate elementary school children to read more and to enjoy the wonderful world of reading.

Students had to read six hours at home each month in order to qualify for a free personal pan pizza, which they received each month as a reward. If a child meets the reading goals all five months of the program, his or her name was placed on the Book It Reader's Honor Roll, a classroom record of student achievement. If all children met their reading goals in any 4 of the 5 months of the program, the entire class and the teacher are given a free pizza party.

Mr. Strassburg's six grade students also succeeded in meeting their goals. These students enjoyed a pizza party at Pizza Hut on Friday, April 3.

'Ben Franklin' Visits K.E.S.

"Benjamin Franklin" verbally captivates the students (and some adults) at Kewaskum Elementary School.

Students from the Kewaskum Elementary School enjoyed a living history lesson from "Ben Franklin" recently in a program sponsored by the KES-PTO.

Born in Boston, the fifteenth of seventeen children, Mr. Franklin loved reading and writing as a youngster and started work in his brother's print shop at the age of twelve.

Well known for "Poor Richard's Almanac," Benjamin shared favorite sayings, including "If you would have a friend, be one." The children were encouraged to "Read for yourself, every day" and "Laugh every day."

Franklin was active in politics and served as Postmaster General for King George. Inventions and experiments held a fascination for Ben including static electricity, lightning rods, the Franklin stove and bifocals. He also organized the first volunteer fire department and founded the first lending library.

Mr. Franklin's summary remarks held the focus for his life and those of Kewaskum's students: "Do your best in every thing you do." Ask any student about flying a kite in a thunderstorm, and you'll hear about a most educational and energetic Benjamin Franklin.

Second RIF Distribution Held at Holy Trinity

Tom Weisenberger, the Traveling Troubadour

Sister Janet Heder presents Lanaya Martin a certificate honoring her as Holy Trinity's RIF reader.

Photos Submitted by Ann Neumann

Holy Trinity School recently held its second RIF (Reading Is Fundamental) distribution. Tom Weisenberger, the traveling troubadour, entertained the children for 45 minutes with songs requiring active audience participation.

After the program, each child was able to choose a favorite book and then helped themselves to cookies and juice made available by the volunteer RIF committee who helped make the program a success. Thanks to RIF ladies, Sue Rettler, Mary Boegel, Mary Wietor, Sue Herman, Louise Martin, Sandy Zehren, Nancy Boden, Ann Polzean, Debbie Backhaus and Sandra Gitter.

Lanaya Martin was presented with a certificate honoring her as Holy Trinity's RIF reader. Her name was selected randomly by computer among the 55 other children who entered the contest during Catholic Schools Week in January. Each child entering the contest received a bookmark and a special treat.

The third and last distribution of the school year will be held May 6th when the forensics students from the High School will demonstrate their acting and speaking abilities. Acting are always invited to attend these distributions.

Upper Gallery:

IRRWA, The Source of Art for Easter Light: New Life

Religious and ceremonial art has always been a key element in the creative process of expression. However, since the end of the 19th century, it has been segregated from and created outside of mainstream secular art, offering the general public little opportunity to view it.

From April 1 - 26, the West Bend Gallery of Fine Arts offers a unique glimpse into the realm of contemporary religious art. The 49 works of art on exhibit were created by members of The International Registry of Religious Women Artists, IRRWA, which was founded in California in 1978.

Many of the 28 members exhibiting have extensive religious and secular art backgrounds and have been listed in such publications as The International Dictionary of Art and Artists, The International Contemporary Art Directory, California Art Review, and Who's Who in Art.

The opportunity to view an exhibition like this is significant in light of the fact that today churches seldom employ the talents of artists and artisans to work in harmony with tradesmen in order to express Christian concepts through the visual arts. For the most part, we see worship spaces that are void of contemplative images that could help Christians to experience their faith to a fuller extent. In fact, much of the significant 20th century religious art has been created apart from the church which often makes use of very banal, mass-produced, art-related products.

EASTER LIGHT: NEW LIFE was organized by the West Bend Gallery of Fine Arts, and co-curated by Dorothy Provis of Port Washington and Executive Director, Tom Lidtke. EASTER LIGHT: NEW LIFE will travel to several other exhibition venues and will conclude its tour in 1993 at The Biblical Arts Center in Dallas, Texas.

A public reception will be held for all of the artists on Sunday, April 12 from 1:30 - 4:00 p.m.

The West Bend Gallery of Fine Arts is located at 300 South 6th Avenue in downtown West Bend. Normal gallery hours are Wednesday through Saturday 10:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. and Sunday 1:00 - 4:30 p.m. For more information call the gallery at 334-9638.

Kettle Moraine Kids 4-H Club

The Kettle Moraine Kids 4-H club held their monthly meeting on March 12, 1992 and it was called to order by Erin Stoffel. The Pledge of Allegiance was started by Christine Schmidt and was followed by the 4-H pledge started by Holly Haack. The secretary and treasurer's report were skipped because the secretary and treasurer were absent from the meeting.

We were updated on the bowl-a-thon and found out we have 17 participants. We filled out our family activity sheet and told of what we did with our family for Celebrate Family week. We also received our candy bars for fundraising. We also talked about the Music and Drama show, Dairy promotion, and the Mother Earth display. The meeting was adjourned by Christine Schmidt and Holly Haack.

Congratulations to the following people who did speeches for the Speaking contest and also to the people who did posters for the poster contest. These people are, Paul Mertz, Greg Guelig, Becky Guelig, David Mertz, Christine Schmidt, Anne Mertz, Holly Haack, Nick Staehler, Katie Staehler, Justin Poenitsch, and Emily Weigand.

The Kettle Moraine Kids also want to thank the Kirchayn 4-H club for giving us a record book demonstration.

Hi from Brazil,

I am presently a passenger with Group III of the Wisconsin Rural Leadership Program's International Seminar in Brazil (enroute from Manaus to Brazilia on Varig (Brazilian Airline). The movie being shown is an "I Love Lucy" black and white film dubbed in Portugese (the language of Brazil).

We arrived in Manaus on the 18th and have found the weather to be wonderful. The temperature is mid to high 80's in Amazonas region where we stayed at a Jungle Tower Hotel (Ariau) which is accessible only by making a four hour (or more) trip up the Rio Negro River. We saw the "meeting of the waters" where the Rio Negro and Solinoes Rivers meet. The waters do not join until three miles farther down due to the acidity of the water preventing their mixing (one is acid, the other is not)

We walked for three or more hours in the rain forest looking at the plants such as gum, rubber and palm trees. Many vines and herbs are harvested from the jungle by natives for financial gain such as manioc, medicine such as guanine. We toured a reserve (Indian reservation) which had 120 inhabitants and found the center of the village to be a soccer field! The success of the local soccer team leads to recognition and advancement for the school as the soccer team had built the building for the children's education.

We found that there are no mosquitoes to really bother us even though it rains everyday! Few insects of any kind which would be a real boost to tourism for Brazil. We have fished and caught perona which are about 12 inches long when fully grown. The ones we caught were 4-6 inches. We have hunted and caught Caymen (alligators) at night.

This morning we toured the market in Manaus where fish and meat are on opposite sides of the "flea market" style building with all sorts of "condiments" in-between. This is where many of the herbal remedies are sold to city residents. Doctors may even recommend a particular vine to purchase for preparation of a tea which cures ailments such as cholera and malaria. The nurses (seated next to me on the plane and also a member of our group) agrees that the remedies do indeed work but that many others sold for stomach aches, etc. may be "snake oil" remedies.

In Brazilia we will be meeting with Embassy officials as well as Brazilian leaders.

I am happy to share my experiences representing Wisconsin in this cultural enrichment program as we learn about the economic and political problems and solutions needed to prevent further deterioration of Brazil's Amazon rain forest.

Sincerely,
Roger Neumann

Hello from Piricicaba, Brazil;

Piricicaba, a city of 240,000 is a University Town. It has a State University which has the Agriculture and Forestry Departments of the University of Sao Paulo. The campus was built 89 years ago and not much has changed since. There are about 2000 students on the registry and they look just like U.S. college students. They like to wear t-shirts with the names of U.S. baseball, basketball and football teams. Not many of the students speak English, although some knowledge of English is necessary to attend the school.

I spend the day with my host Rozni Pinto, who is 27 years old, single, and lives in a small house with his mother, grandmother, brother and sister. He has a girlfriend, also 27 who is an English teacher during the day and works at the laboratory of a sugar plantation after school. She taught at two schools last year but the pay for teachers is too low and it was too difficult for her. Neither Rozni or his girlfriend own a car. Brazil has a 40 percent to 60 percent tax on cars new or used. Gas is blended with alcohol from the sugar cane and cost about $3/gallon.

Rozni and I walked to the bus station and he paid 650 cruzeiros (about 1700 cruzeiros=$1). At the school Rozni works as an errand boy. He delivers letters to the professor's offices, picked up a computer (the students do all the repair work for the school's computers) from the repair area brought student repairman and machine to the professor's office using a small VW station wagon. He ran off copies on a mimeograph machine located on the 3rd floor where he has his "office." This meant about 10 trips up and down the stairs during the day. At 11:30 the lunch room serves rice and beans with a meat, fish or chicken. No choice, just one is offered. Beverage is either tea or water. There are no vending machines for Coke, candy bars or gum. We eat our first real meal of the day here. Breakfast was a slice of homemade bread with butter and a cup of coffee, which Brazilians like sweet and strong.

By working at the State University, Rozni is able to obtain money and one meal so he can attend an economic class at night at the Methodist University. He works from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Night school starts at 8 p.m. and goes to 10:45 p.m. five days a week. Transportation is again by city bus and the school is about 8 miles outside the city of Piricicaba on the way to Sorocaba. (One of our students guides around the city was an AFS student from Sorocaba to Chilton). About 1500 students attend the night classes which are offered in chemistry, foreign language, sociology, economics, and computers.

Total enrollment at the Methodist University is around 9,000. During a lunch break at 9 p.m. we have our next meal a Coke and a HAM burger. There is a large central area where students can order their food and pay for it. As is common practice a ticket is given for the food item purchased and the ticket is presented at the lunch counter. With 25 percent per month inflation in Brazil too much money would be lost and it would take time refiguring the price of each food item daily. All grocery stores use this method including the large modern "Wal-Mart" style store of which Piricicaba has one.

Caterpillar tractor has built the largest manufacturing plant outside of North America here. They presently employ 1,400 and are offering incentives for workers to move here to get 4,000 workers.

People wanting to buy a car often form a consortium. The group of 24 people pool the monthly payment necessary to buy a car. They have a lottery and if you win you get the car. Each month another member gets a new car and they pay cash! There are adjustments for inflation. At the end of 24 months everyone has a car.

Dear Editor:

Kewaskum Juniors had the delightful opportunity this past weekend to participate in Kewaskum High School's Post Prom Party decorating the West Bend Y and acting as chaperones.

Anyone who has ever organized an event of this magnitude can appreciate all the work that is involved. Many hours of preparation and organization was put forth particularly by one individual who doesn't even have a high school student benefiting from the party. His concern and care for our Kewaskum youth is evident as he unselfishly gave again this year of his time and talents. It was our pleasure to work with Ken Weddig in an event we strongly support.

Our hats off to you, Ken, for an excellent job!!

To Washington County Residents and Employers:

Representing the United Way of Washington County member agencies, we want to reassure Washington County businesses and residents that we support United Way of Washington County. Personnel and financial matters regarding the national United Way of America should not be misconstrued.

We have a community-minded

United Way that is equally concerned as we are about the situation at the national level. Appropriate action has been taken by the United Way Board to withhold membership dues until local volunteers are satisfied that funds will be used properly.

Strong civic and professional leadership spearhead United Way of Washington County. Fund raising efforts to address the social and human needs are vital to helping our agencies provide direct services to residents who need our help.

The United Way of Washington County plays an important role in the 9 communities they serve. We can be reassured that dollars raised during the fund drive are well utilized here in Washington County, serving 1 in 4 residents of our County.

Be Creative with Cheese During Lent, Say Dairy Council Nutrition Expert

"Not macaroni and cheese again!"

If that's what you hear during Lent, then you need to get out of a rut. Nutrition experts at Dairy Council of Wisconsin (DCW) offer these suggestions for using cheese creatively:

- * Top a baked potato with vegetables or meatless chili. Sprinkle shredded cheddar, colby or monterey Jack cheese — or all three — on top.

- * Add julienne strips of a variety of cheeses — Swiss, American, brick, monterey Jack, mozzarella and others — to a large tossed salad.

- * Sprinkle blue cheese over all kinds of salads — tossed, fruit, pasta.

- * Add small cubes of cheese to cold pasta salads. If using plain macaroni, select colorful cheeses such as colby or cheddar; with rainbow pasta, choose light-colored cheeses such as mozzarella or cojack.

- * Lay a sprinkle of American cheese or sprinkle shredded cheddar or mozzarella over tomato soup — or prepare cubes of cheese to stir into soup instead of crackers. Serve with bread and fruit for a "peasant" meal.

- * Mix chopped green onions into cottage cheese. Spread on toast or a bagel and broil for a "no-tuna melt."

- * Make a "cheese sub" sandwich, using thin slices of several cheeses — Swiss, American, cheddar, brick-along with onion, tomato, lettuce and Italian dressing.

- * Mix shredded cheese into scrambled eggs as you prepare them.

- * Use muenster instead of — or in addition to — the American cheese in a grilled cheese sandwich.

- * Replace the meat in tacos with canned refried beans. Top with Monterey Jack or colby cheese instead of cheddar.

- * Sprinkle freshly grated Parmesan cheese over spaghetti or egg noodles at serving time. Or lay a slice of American cheese on top to melt.

- * Add shredded cheddar cheese to your favorite vegetable dips.

- * Vary the cheese in your omelets — try Monterey Jack, Swiss or mozzarella instead of the usual cheddar.

DCW nutrition experts recommend that, even during Lent, you continue to eat a variety of foods from all food groups, and eat in moderation.

Dairy Council of Wisconsin (DCW) is a non-profit nutrition education and marketing association whose work in Wisconsin, northern Illinois and northwestern Indiana is made possible through funds provided by dairy farmers.

A fair-sized vote was cast in the village in the spring election Tuesday considering there was opposition for only two offices. A total of 221 votes were cast. Charles Miller, owner of Miller Electric Store, was elected president, defeating Atty. Lyle Bartelt by better than four to one. Miller received 173 votes to 41 for Bartelt. Miller replaces president A.P. Schaeffer who failed to file nomination papers for re-election.

Miss Dora Buslaff, 75, an aunt of Edmund Buslaff of this village and one of the Statesman's oldest correspondents, passed away Tuesday, April 7, at her home in Waucousta. Death came as a great surprise as her correspondence was still received this week. These were the last items written by Miss Buslaff, who wrote and reported the news for Waucousta for approximately 40 years.

A man identified as Henry Degner, Town of Kewaskum resident, was instantly killed several minutes after 6 p.m. Friday, April 10, when the Ford Model A car he was driving was struck by the northbound Northwestern Railroad streamliner flyer the "400", with terrific force at the Main Street crossing of this village. The crash was heard just as we were going to press. The car was smashed into small pieces, being completely torn apart. The upper portion of Degner's body was badly mutilated. Parts of the car were strewn along both sides of the tracks over a wide area. The main part of the machine was lifted off the tracks and thrown some distance against the depot damaging boards and windows. Evidently Degner's body was also thrown against the depot and glanced off with such momentum that it was carried along the platform and then rolled off onto the siding tracks. The body was taken to Millers Funeral Home.

Andrew Kraetsch, an old settler and Civil War veteran of this county, breathed his last at Chicago where he had been staying with some of his children. Death came suddenly Wednesday, March 28, 1917, as a result of a heart stroke. His age was 84 years and five months.

Otto Plaum has sold his farm east of Boltonville and will make his home at Random Lake.

Art Trapp, Beechwood, bought a Ford car last week.

The following class of children were confirmed in the St. John's Lutheran Church at New Fane by Rev. Gutekunst last Sunday: Arnold Klug, Raymond Haack, Lawrence Stange, Erwin Gatzke, Alfred Schultz, Walter Molken-thine, Helen Bleck, Laoda Kumrow and Ethel Kleinke.

While splitting wood, Edward Baumhardt, south Eden, had the misfortune of cutting his foot.

Dear Dr. Sylvia,

By being firm, can you damage a child's spirit? What type of discipline do you recommend?

Sensitive Mom

Dear Sensitive Mom,

Firmness does not damage children's spirits. It provides them with safety and security they require in order to take risks. They know that they can take chances on new ideas or activities because they have confidence that their parents will let them know if they've gone too far.

Rigidity and cruelty, however, can be damaging. Kids who live in fear of punishment have little energy for adventure or curiosity. Often when their authoritarian caretaker is not patrolling they do sneaky and naughty things.

Research suggests that authoritative (neither too authoritarian nor too permissive) parenting is best for children's growth and development. A positive, but firm parenting style sets clear limits and gives good direction, but doesn't dampen spirits. Parents shouldn't hesitate to take charge. You may appreciate this quotation from an article on gifted children which I wrote:

If God had meant gifted children to run our homes, She would have created them bigger.*

Perhaps you could view firmness as the important V of LoVe: Visualize the letter "V" as a model for guiding your children's power. When they're very young they begin at the bottom of the

"V" with limited freedom and power. As they mature and are able to handle more responsibility, the limiting walls of the "V" spread out, giving them continually more freedom while still providing definite limits. During adolescence, as they move to the top of the "V," they become capable of considerable independent decision making and judgment, but should continue to recognize that there remain adult prerogatives in guiding them. They are thus readied for moving out of the "V" into adult independence and personal decision making.

Now reverse that "V" so that it looks like this "A." Children brought up at the base of this figure are given too much freedom and wide limits. They become accustomed to independent decision making before they're able to handle their freedom responsibly. As they move toward adolescence, parents become concerned that their children may misuse their freedom. They worry about the dangers that arise in school and community. Cigarettes, alcohol, drugs, and promiscuous sex are perceived as threats from which their children must be protected. So they begin to set limits. They take freedoms away. Adolescents who had too much control as children now feel overcontrolled by parents. Their statements echo their feelings of restriction. "My parents are controlling me. They used to treat me like an adult and now they treat me like a child," they complain. They push all limits and oppose and rebel. They feel angry and depressed. They lie and cheat. Worried parents overpunish and narrow the limits further, resulting in even more rebellion. Ugly adolescence turns the formerly happy home into an armed camp. Once freedom is given, it isn't easily taken away. The "V"-shaped guidance is much smoother and more comfortable for children and parents alike.

Empowering children with adult decision making provides power without wisdom. It leads to formidable and continuing conflicts between children and their parents as they compete for the power that parents give too early and try to recover too late. The resulting adversary mode may force adolescents to rebel too stubbornly, parents to respond too negatively, and both to lose the positive home atmosphere that can be so valuable in educating children.

Easter Seal Wisconsin Craftsmen Stories Offer Hand-Crafted Gifts Made by Disabled Artisans

People with disabilities who are unable to work away from home gain a sense of self worth and an addition to their income by selling home-crafted items in four Easter Seal Wisconsin Craftsmen stores.

Through a unique program called Homecraft, Easter Seals and the Wisconsin Division of Vocational Rehabilitation are working together to provide retail outlets for crafts made at home by people with disabilities. The outlets are called Wisconsin Craftsmen stores.

According to Meg Klungness, director of the stores, the program helps artisans develop independence and foster a sense of pride and self confidence through the sale of crafts they have made.

Stores feature everything from large furniture items like pie safes, hutches and book shelves to rag rugs, patchwork quilts, dolls and baby clothes. The variety is impressive and the stores are always filled with thousands of other crafts such as oil and water paintings, lawn ornament windmills, hat racks and Americana-style wall hangings and knickknacks. Because these crafts are hand made each is a one of a kind item. It also means that the Wisconsin Craftsmen stores have continually changing stock.

Each artisan is in the Homecraft program because he or she is unable to work outside of their home due to their disability, and each has received training through the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Although having a disability is a common tie for individuals in the Homecraft program, each artisan has his or her own reason for participating. "I do this to keep myself busy and to give myself something to do during the day," says Bob who has difficulty with his memory and can't walk due to a 1979 motorcycle accident. Now he works in his garage making toys and Christmas ornaments. "It keeps me feeling productive," he says. "And it supplies me with a little spending money."

Another artisan, Melvina, makes quilts and dolls. She has a rare disease that makes her weak and unable to work at projects for more than a limited time. "The neat thing about working at home is I can work any hours I want," she says. "so I hit things when I am strongest and I can back off when I start to feel fatigued."

More than 2,000 disabled artisans supply the four Easter Seal Wisconsin Craftsmen stores.

Many supply no more than a few items each year, but others, like Bob and Melvina, are regular contributors.

Having so many suppliers creates some special problems for product supply and distribution, says Klungness. With so many artisans working from their homes it is easy for them to lose touch with current trends, she says, which can lead to a gradual falling behind in styles and colors. To counteract this, Klungness regularly updates the artisans about the latest trends through newsletters. With artisans living throughout the state, a distribution network has been set up to pick up crafts from more than 17 sites and distribute them to the four stores.

Easter Seal Wisconsin Craftsmen stores are located at: 14 North Carroll St., Madison; 19680 W. Bluemound Rd., Waukesha; 623 N. Milwaukee St., Milwaukee and at 124 Rittenhouse Ave., in Bayfield. The Bayfield store is open from May 1 through September 30th.

Dates Set for Small Business Counseling

Are you the owner of a new small business or planning to start one? If so, did you know that you can have up to 90 minutes of FREE and confidential business counseling? Yes, this service is offered to you by UW-Extension in cooperation with the Small Business Development Center.

You can schedule an appointment with Area Business Agent, Chuck Wise, at UW-Washington County, 335-5204. This could be your opportunity to have those questions answered that you've been wanting to ask, but didn't know where to begin, such as: What kind of government forms will I need? How and where do I get a Seller's Permit? Do I have to collect taxes and how? Should I maintain a sole proprietorship, or should I consider a partnership or incorporate? How can I determine if a business I'm considering is worth the asking price? Would I, or should I be able to do my own bookkeeping? How would I write up a business plan or financial projection? Where are there small business entrepreneur-friendly lending institutions or programs? Will I need the services of a professional, such as a lawyer, CPA or insurance broker?

If you need any of these questions answered or have some of your own, call 335-5204. Appointments are now being scheduled for Tuesday, April 14 and Monday, April 27 at 9:00, 10:30, 2:00 or 3:30 at the University, 400 University Drive, West Bend. We'll be glad to help you.

IRS Offers April 15th Tax Help for Wisconsin Taxpayers—from Daylight to Midnight

It's marked in red on your calendar and now it's almost here: April 15. About half of Wisconsin's taxpayers will wait until the last minute to file their taxes. That's why Wisconsin's IRS is planning special efforts — and special hours — to help.

On Wednesday, April 15, the last day of the tax filing season, Wisconsin's IRS is extending its telephone service. On that day, the IRS phone lines will be open from 8 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. People throughout Wisconsin can call the IRS at 1-800-TAX(829)-1040. People who live in the Milwaukee area may call 271-3780.

If you live in the greater Milwaukee area and want one-on-one help with your taxes, there's a lot of assistance available. You can visit the IRS office in downtown Milwaukee or the one in Waukesha. The Milwaukee office is located in the Henry S. Reuss Federal Plaza at 310 W. Wisconsin Avenue. The Waukesha office is located at 20711 Watertown Road. In-person tax assistance will be available in both offices from 8 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

If you can't visit the IRS office, representatives of VITA (Volunteer Income Tax Assistance) will be available to help taxpayers fill out simple federal and state tax forms. They'll be at the Marc Plaza Hotel, 509 W. Wisconsin Avenue, in the Empire Room located on the lobby level, from 5 a.m. until 6 p.m. This year, WMIL-FM 106 will be providing country music support to those taxpayers seeking help at this site.

If you need help after 6 p.m., volunteers will also be available at the Milwaukee Post Office, 345 W. St. Paul Avenue, from 6 p.m. until midnight to offer assistance.

Taxpayers who come to the sites should bring all their necessary tax documents, including W-2s (wage and earning statements) and 1099s (interest earning statements). If possible, bring a copy of last year's return. For those who need extensions, the proper forms will be available.

Rock Oldtimers Will Name Five 'Fame' Nominees

When members of the Rock River league's Oldtimers' association gather for their annual business meeting this weekend, they'll be arm-in-arm with memories of the past.

Site of the meeting, starting at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, is the baseball league's Wall of Fame room in Mayville's historic White Limestone Schoolhouse.

Memorabilia from the Rock's colorful 62-year past now decorate the walls of one of the 134-year-old landmark's first floor classrooms.

Most of the items are one-of-a-kind museum pieces: Trophies, plaques, pictures, posters, pennants, pre-WWII uniforms, jackets, cleats and socks and dozens of old newspaper clippings, record lists and score sheets, many from the 1930's.

Prime among the business scheduled is nominating five Rock league alumni for the '92 Hall of Fame ballot. Those chosen will join the five unsuccessful candidates from the 1991 ballot. Five of the 10 then will be elected to the Hall by the Oldtimer membership in mail voting next September.

Regarding 911...

The Washington County Sheriff's Department has been advised by Wisconsin Bell that some customers in Dodge and Fond du Lac Counties will not be connected to their local sheriff if they dial 911.

The affected residents have Kewaskum (626) phone numbers in Fond du Lac County (289 customers) and Allenton (629) phone numbers in Dodge County (57 customers). These persons will be connected to a telephone operator if they dial 911. They may wish to consider using the appropriate 7-digit emergency numbers for police, fire or rescue services to save time.

This is contrary to previous understanding from Wisconsin Bell and GTE, which this agency relayed to the public, indicating that such telephone customers would be routed to their local sheriff. Such an option is not available until those counties either arrange for special routing of those customers or convert from their current Basic-911 system to Enhanced-911.

The Dodge and Fond du Lac residents should contact their local government officials if they desire 911 service. Washington County does not have any role in this process.

Wisconsin Bell has advised us that Sheboygan County residents with Kewaskum (626) phone numbers can dial 911 and be connected with their sheriff, because that county has an Enhanced-911 system.

Navigable Waters Protected

Now that the warmer weather has arrived most of us have a number of outdoor projects that need to be worked on. If you have property adjacent to a lake, river, or stream be sure to contact the Dept. of Natural Resources before starting the project.

Many activities affecting navigable water require permits or approvals from the DNR. Some activities require permits from other agencies like County Zoning, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and Local Municipalities.

This past winter there was a lot of ice damage to area lake shorelines. This was the result of a mild winter with little frost, and shorelines gave instead of the ice. Long Lake, Fox Lake, and even Lake Winnebago showed signs of extensive shoreline damage.

A new application is also available this year for persons wanting to place riprap along their shoreline. Riprap is a layer of loose rock or other similar material placed to prevent erosion. The new application is a short, fill in the blank form and will help to speed up the application process. The applications will be available at the Mauthe Lake Office.

If you have any other questions on water regulatory permits feel free to contact me.
