Regal Establishes Joint Venture in England

Regal Ware, Inc., Kewaskum, has announced the forming of a joint venture with Moulinex SA of France for the manufacture and marketing of cookware. The new company has been named Regal Swan (Europe) Limited and is located in Birmingham, England.

The formal agreement was signed June 12 in Caen, France. Jean-Luc Darneau has been named Managing Director of the newly formed company and will be responsible for day-to-day operations. James D. Reigle was named a Director and will be Regal Ware's representative at the company.

Regal Swan will continue to produce high quality decorated porcelain on steel under the Swan tradename and will also market Regal aluminum and stainless steel cookware lines.

The new company plans to expand distribution throughout all nations of Europe. The current Swan operation employs about 230 people and it is believed that will be increased gradually.

Regal Ware Chairman of the Board, James D. Reigle, stated "This joint venture offers an outstanding opportunity to further expand our efforts in the evolving European common market and the EFTA countries. It allows us to move forward more rapidly than would be possible on our own. We are pleased to once again become closely affiliated with Moulinex SA and their strong technological capabilities and international marketing expertise."

James D. Reigle and his wife, Patricia, will be living in the Birmingham England area.

Regal Ware, Inc. is a privately-held housewares manufacturer

Beisbier Takes Over Kewaskum Frozen Foods

Bob Beisbier

By Gerry Mueller
Statesman Staff Writer

Bob Beisbier formally announced this week that he is now the sole owner of Kewaskum Frozen Foods. Beisbier, who has been associated with the business since 1961, confirmed that effective June 1st, he had acquired his former partner David Nigh's half ownership in the firm.

In 1979, Beisbier and Nigh became partners in the business when they purchased the operation from Anna Harter-Nigh and her husband Gregor 'Pat' Nigh upon their retirement. Mrs. Nigh's late husband Sylvester Harter opened the store in 1941.

Bob said there will be no change in operations other than the sale of the Papa Ron's Frozen Pizza line to Tom Piwoni of Kewaskum. That transaction also took place as of June 1st.

"The reason we sold the pizza subsidiary," said Beisbier, "is the large increase we've seen in our wholesale and retail sausage business." Beisbier said more and more stores are handling Kewaskum Frozen Foods' products. "That sale freed up both space and employees we need for the sausage business."

There will be no changes in personnel, noted, Beisbier, we presently employ thirty people between our Kewaskum and West Bend stores and may add a couple more in the future. "During the past year Dave and I put a new managerial and supervisory system together and it's been working really well. It allows me to delegate more authority to those employees who are in those supervisory positions. That change has taken a lot of the pressure off me." He said now all the departments have an individual who is responsible for their specific operation.

Al Schickert is our sausage maker and supervisor for that department. Russell Oelhafen

SEWRPC to Develop Kewaskum Master Plan Board Approves Charge for Bulk Garbage

By Gerry Mueller
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Village Board, Monday night, approved charging residents $5.00 per item for 'bulk garbage' brought to the recycling center for disposal.

What is 'bulk garbage'? It's what some communities have begun calling non-normal garbage, things that can no longer be picked up during a community's normal weekly refuse collection. Items such as furniture, sofas, beds, etc., some construction materials.

At their last meeting the trustees voted to place a dumpster up at the recycling center so residents could take those materials there for disposal rather than having to haul them all the way to the Hechimovich transfer center in West Bend. At that same meeting, they asked Village Administrator Dan Schmidt to survey neighboring communities to see what they were doing as far as accepting such items and if, and what they were charging for that service.

Of the seven communities contacted, Schmidt found that all were contemplating or already charging some type of fee. The City of West Bend's goal is to discontinue pick up of construction type materials and furniture. The Village of Slinger already charges $5.00 per large item and requires people to rent a dumpster for their construction debris.

One village resident, Kenneth Neldner, was present at the

Motorcycle Accident Takes Life of Campbellsport Man

By Gerry Mueller
Statesman Staff Writer

A Town of Auburn accident which claimed the life of a Campbellsport man is still under investigation said a spokesperson for the Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Department, Monday.

Michael Fellenz, 27, died Sunday as the result of injuries sustained in the one-vehicle accident which occurred over the weekend. According to information from the Sheriff's Department, the incident happened Saturday, June 13th, at 11:35 p.m., on County Highway G, 5/10ths of a mile south of Highway DD and Youth Camp Drive. Fellenz was reported traveling southbound on Hwy. G, when he failed to negotiate a curve. His motorcycle left the road overturning several times, coming to rest on top of its driver. Fellenz was alone on the bike.

The report said Fellenz was wearing protective eyewear but there was no mention as to whether or not he was wearing a helmet. No other information regarding the accident was available.

Fellenz was a former resident of rural Kewaskum and had attended Kewaskum High School. A complete obituary is on another page.

TV Dads Can't Compare to the Real Thing

By Kate Gauvin

When I was little, I used to dream that Charles "Pa" Ingalls from the TV show, "Little House on the Prairie," was my father. Not that I didn't love my own father; he was great as far as real-life fathers go.

But "Pa" was so much more interesting, heroic, almost super-human. I'd sit glued to the television every week and watch as "Pa," faced with yet another life-threatening crisis, handled everything with a god-like ease.

What other man could possibly go on a picnic with his family, fall down, break five ribs and rupture his spleen, ignore his pain and plow a field, slip into a coma, come out of a coma, put out three fires, battle a tornado, rebuild a church, find a cure for cancer and lead his congregation in a rousing rendition of "Bringing in the Sheaves" all within a one hour episode?

The only time my dad was exciting was when I'd watch him attempt to fix something. But how could dropping various parts, losing nails, screws and tools, banging his thumb with a hammer and using colorful language possibly compare with the miraculous feats "Pa" was able to pull off with one hand tied behind his back?

Today, I realize that the character of Charles Ingalls, along with quite a few others television has shown us over the years, is basically a joke. Television fathers are almost nothing like real-life fathers.

Take for example Ward Cleaver from "Leave It to Beaver." Ward, SHEBOYGAN... Lakeland College, a liberal arts college affiliated with the United Church of Christ, awarded bachelor of arts degrees to 319 graduating seniors on May 23.

Commencement speaker was Milwaukee broadcast journalist (WITI-TV, Channel 6) Melodie Wilson. She commented, "I know I don't know everything I need to know yet. And I know I never will. But I know that what I need to know, I won't get from television."

Referring to the nation-wide discussion of the CBS sitcom, "Murphy Brown," she said, "Murphy Brown didn't cause our problems. And Murphy Brown won't provide us with solutions."

"Life is difficult for single parents, but Murphy Brown is no more an example of a single parent in America than the Huxtables (NBC's "Cosby Show") are typical of what is faced by black America," she continued.

"We all need to work on making reality better. Television will follow... as it always does," said Wilson.

VILLAGE OF KEWASKUM

★ NEWS NOTES ★

The Village Board would like to remind the residents of the Village of a topic covered in the Village's Municipal Code. The topic is covered in Chapter 10, Public Nuisances, we shall refer to this problem as a health hazard. The Village has undertaken several steps to improve the clearwater (storm water) discharge in the entire community, but yet people are not cooperating. We find that people cut their grass and catch it just to dump it in a designated clearwater collection point to help plug up and eventually cause water to back up during certain times of the year. The Village would ask that all residents keep their grass clippings and leaves away from the catch basins in the curb area. Also, to refrain from dumping their grass clippings and leaves in ditched areas.

place, in Milwaukee, that is licensed to accept them. If you take it to them, said Schmidt, they will charge you $8.00 minimum. If they have to come and pick it up with a licensed vehicle, it will cost you at least $15.00."

"Then what are we supposed to do with this stuff," asked Neldner. Krueger replied, "Everybody has this problem not just us, we're trying the best we can to solve it. In the meantime, we're not to that law yet, you can call one of our local collectors and they'll come and get it. Once that law comes in, I don't know, I suppose we'll have to go to the State and say, what do you want us to do. We're as much in the dark as you. They (the State) only pass the law, we have to live with it."

"These laws are being put on us at the local level by the State and they're not funding it. They're the ones that mandated that we close our landfill," stated Schmidt.

"You have to see their point too," said Krueger, "they're also thinking of the environment, nobody wants to hear that, but it's the truth."

After listening to the board, Neldner indicated he understood the village's problem and could now see the village's need to charge.

Schmidt suggested the easiest way to handle the $5.00 charge was to have residents purchase a sticker at the Municipal Building, either in person or by mail. That sticker would then be placed on the item to be disposed of when it is taken to the center. That would eliminate the need for site managers to handle any money.

In other business the board approved the Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission's proposal for the preparation of a master plan for future development of land in the village. The cost of the plan is estimated to be $17,500, and work on the project would begin in September and would require 18 to 24 months to complete.

Trustee Gary Gavin indicated that even though the cost is higher than expected he was still in favor of the plan. "It's something the village needs and I only hope future boards go along with it and do not try to chop it up."

TV Dads

an accountant by trade, came home from work everyday (his suit perfectly pressed, every hair in place) smiling from ear to ear.

He'd call out a cheerful greeting to his two happy sons. His wife, June, also smiling, would greet him with a kiss and hug. June was always immaculate, neat little pearl necklace in place, and always prepared to sit her hubby down, bring him a cup of coffee and his paper, and calmly discuss the events of the day.

The biggest problems Ward had to face were when the Beaver would accidentally throw a ball through a window or when Wally would scratch the car.

This is truly a happy little scenario, but it contains about as much realism as "The Flintstones."

Ward Cleaver never had a rotten day at work, came home with a splitting headache to find June, looking horrible, complaining about the way he leaves his socks on the floor.

His children never talked back to him; Wally never totaled the car and the Beaver never accidentally set the carpet on fire. Ward never had to face any real-life pressures or crises. He was completely unrealistic. Yet, he also managed to become a role model of what a "good father" should be.

Today, hopefully, we all can look back on the television fathers of the past and see that their flawless lives are not what fatherhood is all about. If real life was like shows such as "The Brady Bunch," "Father Knows Best," "The Cosby Show" and the like, we wouldn't need to have Father's Day. Everyday life would be enough of a holiday. But we do have a Father's Day, and for good reason.

Father's Day is for all the times when Dad gave piggyback rides until he slipped a disk. It is for the time you spilled grape juice on his white shirt or told your teacher you learned that latest bit of profanity from him. It is for all the times you screamed at him, threw tantrums, smashed his car, drank that last can of soda, borrowed his favorite shirt without asking or made jokes about his hairline and he loved you enough not to kill you. It is because no one else can tell a bedtime story, bait a hook or dry a tear like a dad.

Today I realize the value of a real-life, average, everyday father. So what if he gets cranky sometimes, has never saved a town from a raging flood, killed a lion with his bare hands, or run thirty miles uphill in a blizzard because I forgot my lunchbox.

He raised me; and that alone is heroic enough!

Central Park in New York City is twice the size of the Republic of Monaco.

The business which has been in continuous operation for over fifty years will continue to serve its patrons by providing the best quality sausage, meats and service. Beisbier said Kewaskum Frozen Foods will also remain active with the local 4-H and FFA chapters, continuing the tradition of awarding annual scholarships and hosting the Washington County Junior Fair's annual carcass shows.

Following the sale of his interest in the business, Dave moved to Florida where he is looking into other business ventures and opportunities. "We all wish him well in his future endeavors," said Beisbier.

HERO, Letterwinners Club, three years of Student Government, serving as secretary her freshman and sophomore years, school musical and two years on the ski team.

In addition, she is recognized as a genuinely nice person by her peers as well as the faculty. Kids vs. Cops Volleyball June 25

The Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse of Washington County and Kettle Moraine Out-patient Services have organized a drug free activity for Washington County Youth.

A "Kids vs. Cops" volleyball tournament will be held on June 25, 1992 from 10:00 to 4:00 p.m. at Frontier Bowl in West Bend. Interested youth ages 13-17 will be teamed against volunteers representing area law enforcement agencies.

"We want to provide an activity for our County teens that is a healthy alternative to drinking or using drugs", said Christine Helfer, drug counselor at the Council. "This also gives the kids an opportunity to see our law enforcement personnel in a different role. We think it will be a positive experience for all participants."

Participants will be charged $2.00 which includes lunch and transportation. Area businesses are helping to defray the cost of the event. For more information on registration or to make a donation call 338-1181 or 338-8611.

Area Children Participate In Bicycle Safety Program

Kewaskum area children learned about bicycle safety from the Kewaskum Police Dept.

Local children participated in a Bicycle Safety Program sponsored by Modern Woodmen of America, the Kewaskum Police Department and the GFWC Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club on Saturday, June 6, 1992, at the Kewaskum Middle School. 49 children attended.

Bikes were mechanically inspected in such areas as brakes, chains, sprockets and safety reflectors. The children viewed a bicycle safety video and were addressed by Officer Tom Bauer regarding bicycle safety. The children then answered twenty questions on a written quiz for traffic safety knowledge. The skill test administered by the Kewaskum Police Department evaluated five maneuvers: braking, steering, signaling, riding in a circle and maneuvering around obstacles.

All participants received a Certificate of Participation, reflective decal, spoke reflectors, a safety booklet and pamphlet. Additional bicycle accessory prizes were awarded and refreshments served.

It is the hope of the program organizers that the program helped increase safety consciousness among our young bicyclists.

DESIGNATED DRIVERS!

1992 United Way Campaign Chairman; Theme Announced

Paul Christensen

Paul Christensen, Vice President of Human Resources and Distribution at Amity Leather Products in West Bend, has been named Campaign Chairman of the 1992 United Way of Washington County fund drive.

Christensen, a resident of West Bend, is active in the Kettle Moraine Employer's Group on Health, UW-Milwaukee Alumni Association, numerous Human Resource Associations, and serves on the United Way of Washington County Board of Directors. He has also served on the Board of Directors of The Threshold, is an adjunct Professor at UW-Milwaukee and an Instructor at UW-Washington County. He is a graduate of Carroll College and UW-Milwaukee.

The 1992 United Way campaign theme is WASHINGTON COUNTY CARES. "We really want to emphasize that the United Way is a combined, county-wide effort and that all residents benefit from programs and services we help fund," said Christensen. The campaign officially begins in August, and will cover the nine communities of Hartford, Kewaskum, Jackson, Slinger, Allenton, Newburg, Hubertus, Richfield and West Bend. The 1991 campaign surpassed its $710,000 goal by raising more than $748,500.

"Right now, we're in the process of reviewing our past campaign success, looking at agency needs for 1993 and recruiting more than 200 volunteers who will be involved in this year's effort," said Christensen. "Our key leaders are already in place, thanks to the foresight and efforts of last year's successful campaign cabinet, chaired by Tom Kieckhafer, president of the West Bend Company.

"I see people involvement as the key to our continued success. Our track record shows that businesses and individuals in Washington County are extremely supportive of United Way.

"Earlier this year, the local United Way Board of Directors voted to not pay any dollars to the national organization. What this means is 100 percent of your donation will stay right here in Washington County," said

Christensen.

"With our current economy, the need for United Way programs services is greater than ever. The challenge is to raise the very necessary funds to help our families, friends, neighbors and co-workers who live and work in Washington County," he said.

"I am looking forward to another successful United Way campaign for 1992," continued Christensen. "Washington County is a caring community. We are blessed with a fine quality of life — and United Way plays an important role in ensuring that the quality continues. United Way is a vital county-wide organization that brings us together as one caring community," he said.

Recipient agencies have prepared their 1993 budgets and are currently meeting with United Way Citizen Review Panels, made up of 40 community volunteers. The Panels will make 1993 funding recommendations to the United Way Board of Directors.

Agency needs, along with the giving history of business and individual donors and the United Way operating budget will be combined to determine the 1992 campaign goal. Final approval of the Campaign Goal will be given by the Board of Directors in late July.

Funds collected in the upcoming campaign will benefit 27 agencies meeting health and human care needs throughout Washington County. These agencies are:

Brad Ford, director of the show and artistic director of Theatre on the Hill said he decided to repeat the production because of the number of people who keep requesting to see it. Returning cast members include: Sue Keyes, Cedarburg, as Sarah Bonham, the mother of six daughters; Mary Beth Sancomb, West Bend, as Jenny; Mary Wittmann, West Bend, as Margaret; Michele Lukovich, Milwaukee, as Janie; Michelle Nigh, Milwaukee as Jody and Lori Vetrovec,

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of MILDRED HEBERER, who passed away four years ago, June 22, 1988:

No one can mend the hearts that broke,
The day you went away.
No one can stop the tears that fall,
When missing you each day.

No one can take your place.

New Child Restraint Law Takes Effect

As the result of revisions enacted by the legislature, the laws regarding restraining children in vehicles have become more broad. The changes took effect May 1, 1992.

Under the old law, a child under the age of 2 had to be in a special car seat. Children who were at least two but less than four years old were required to be in either a car seat or in a safety belt.

The new law requires that children under the age of four be in a car seat, and children who are at least four but less than eight years old be in either a car seat or a safety belt.

The decision to use a seat or belt for those in the latter category is based on the size and weight of the child. If a child is too small to use a belt, then the safety seat should be used.

In addition, the old law did not require persons to have more than three safety belts in a vehicle. This exemption has been repealed.

A violation of these laws carries a forfeiture of $67 when the child is required to be in a car seat, and $43 when the child is in the "car seat or belt" category. Motorists are reminded that law enforcement officers are permitted to initiate a traffic stop solely to investigate violations of these laws.

Persons age eight and up are covered by the mandatory seatbelt law, which carries $10 citation and violations of which cannot be the sole reason for a traffic stop.

IN MEMORY

In memory of "Merlin Dreher" who passed away five years ago in August '92. Happy Fathers Day "Dad".

"A Father's Day Blessing"
When we gather on special occasions,
And its you we cannot see;
Hearts are filled with sadness
Instead of joy

Thinking of how it used to be.
People may think we have forgotten
When they see us laugh or smile;
They know not of the heartaches,
We are hiding all the while.

It happened so very suddenly,
As the winking of an eye;
We never had a chance,
To say our last good byes.

Your face is always before us,
Your voice we would love to hear;
Your smiles we will always remember,
And we all love you so dear.

Your grave we go to visit,
The flowers we place with love and care;
But no one knows the heartaches,
When we turn and leave you there.

Sadly missed and loved by...

Area Air Force Captain With Iceland Air Defense Zone

Kewaskum Statesman, Thursday, June 18, 1992, Page 15

An F-15 "Eagle" takes off on a reconnaissance mission to gather valuable information to defend Iceland's air space.

by Anthony B. Hill

KEFLAVIK NAVAL AIR STATION, Iceland — Two F-15 "Eagle" pilots scramble to gather flight gear and board their aircraft at the sound of a loud, wailing alert signal. They quickly guide their fighters along the runway, hit the afterburners and soar over the snow-covered mountain glaciers and across the wide, open ocean.

They have just been alerted that an unidentified aircraft has entered Iceland's Military Air Defense Identification Zone. It's their responsibility to intercept and escort the intruders out of the air space.

Air Force Capt. Neal F. Kringel, 30, son of Franklin and Nancy Kringel, 852 Riverview Drive, West Bend, plays a major role in supporting this North Atlantic Treaty Organization air defense mission.

Since Iceland is on the Great Circle Route, the shortest flying distance between Europe and America, a lot of air traffic passes over the island. Russian aircraft regularly enter the restricted air space without filing flight plans or identifying themselves. It's the role of the base's 474th Wing component to identify them and find out where they're going.

"I'm chief of safety with the 960th Airborne Warning and Control Squadron. I'm responsible for flight and ground safety. I'm also responsible for the entire flying phase of squadron activities," said the 1979 graduate of Kettle Moraine Lutheran High School, Jackson.

The detection of unknown aircraft comes from ground radar sites or the airborne E-3 Sentry reconnaissance and surveillance aircraft. Within minutes of detection the 57th Fighter Squadron's "Black Knights" rush to intercept and escort the aircraft out of the defense zone in their F-15s.

More than 2,000 Soviet aircraft have been intercepted here since 1963. Now, since the collapse of the Soviet Empire and changes in the world order, the air defense mission has been modified.

"We've been here to intercept Soviet aircraft. With the change in the Soviet Union, we've seen a reduction in that activity," said Col. Michael B. Lackey, 474th Wing commander. "We're taking a conservative approach to the situation, but still maintain readiness to perform the same mission. The airmen here are just as prepared and ready to respond because they're responsible and realize how important the mission is."

Kringel knows the need to maintain air superiority through training exercises that prepares them for a quick response when unknown aircraft intrude Iceland's air space.

"We're usually equipped with U.S. E-3 aircraft and air crews. Since they've been replaced with a NATO E-3 and crew, our role has relaxed. We still perform the same mission, but flexibility is the key. I've been working from more of a managerial aspect than actually flying," said Kringel. "We're looking forward to getting American crews back."

Winter storms send bitter coldness, snow, rain and very high, chilling winds, making life and work here difficult to cope with.

Experiencing extreme patterns of daylight that vary from as little as two hours a day during the winter to as much as 21 hours a day throughout the summer provides a unique living atmosphere. And a proud Icelandic culture gives Kringel a look at a different way of life as he continues to provide the best support he can.

"Iceland is an extremely interesting area. It's definitely different than my last assignment in Japan. We're a small, close-knit community. The country is beautiful and rugged. It isn't cold during the winter as most people think. In fact, it's warmer than where I grew up," said Kringel.

Kringel is a 1984 graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Whitewater, with a bachelor's degree in secondary education.

Prescotts Purchase Westfair Mall

West Bend's retail/commercial lease sites have once again expanded, thanks to George and Judi Prescott. Recently, their wholly-owned corporation, South Main Center, Inc., purchased the former Westfair Mall at 1701 S. Main Street, West Bend.

Prescott plans to convert the mall into a strip center, providing retailers and merchants with visibility and access to Main Street.

The mall had previously been owned by Joe Driessen, Vice President of Polacheck Co., Inc. of Milwaukee for the past nine years. Dave Heying, President of the Economic Development Corporation, commented that "this purchase will be good for West Bend because any time a local person takes an unoccupied area and brings it back to life, the end result will improve the economy of West Bend."

According to Mayor Michael Miller, "great things will soon be happening at the mall. I am very pleased Prescotts have purchased the building and are going to be remodeling it. George has a very good reputation about keeping up his buildings, as attested to by the Pick 'n Save stores."

There is approximately 50,000 square feet of space available in the center. Inquiries have already been received from a number of retailers interested in relocating to the area, or simply moving to the location from another part of town. One of the reasons for the high interest is: "the location is prime retail space. South Main Street is the Gateway to the City of West Bend, and the Paradise and Main Street intersection is a highly traveled area with high visibility which is extremely attractive to merchants," said Betty Pearson, Executive Director of the West Bend Area Chamber of Commerce.

The key is turning it from an internal mall to a strip center. And with George Prescott behind the renovation, good things are to come to West Bend. Sherri Larson of Prescott's Supermarkets, Inc., says there have been offers to purchase the half of the complex north of Pick 'n Save. This would be another way to insure that the center could be an active and thriving center well into the future. Ms. Larson indicated that all options are being evaluated.

Letter to the Editor

June 8, 1992

Letter to the Editor:

To the Citizens of Washington County,

During the month of May we held an "Open House", our annual "Walk For Kindness" and "Summer Scrub". We invited the residents of Washington County to visit The Washington County Humane Society, meet the staff, the Board of Directors and look at the variety of animals available for adoption. We looked to the community to help us with donations of time, money and supplies to spruce up the shelter.

We were overwhelmed with the positive response. There were many of you who went out of your way to help us out and we'd like to take this opportunity to thank you. Pioneer Truck Stop donated the Pepsi Wagon. Thanks Steve! We gave away coupons from Dairy Queen. Thanks Jerry and Nancy! McDonalds donated orange drink! There were many people who brought baked goods to our bake sale, brought their animals to the shelter for the public to enjoy, gave dog obedience demonstrations, gave out wildlife advice, and Drs. Ogi and Schneider manned the veterinary booth. There were volunteers that came and helped us with our walks, and helped us clean up WCHS. To make sure that someone is not forgotten, I'm just going to say thanks to one and all.

It's easy to see that Washington County has a lot of animal lovers. To all of you who helped us out in May and throughout the year, THANKS!!!

Sincerely,
Dianne Horlamus, Director
The Washington County Humane Society

News from the Farmington 4-H'ers

The May meeting was great! Kandy O'Neil gave a recycling program. With her we played: Recycling Feud, some people went shopping in Kandy's Kountry Store to find recyclable packaging in the store, and we sorted out some garbage she had under recycle - landfill - reuse - compost. She showed us some of her own compost jars with apples, a toothbrush, toothpaste, paper, and aluminum cans.

We are looking into several different fund raisers including car washing.

Many of our club members are helping at BREAKFAST-ON-THE-FARM.

Some of our club members will help set up for county fair.

Jenny Hermann gave a drawing demo. She showed us the four basic drawing shapes triangle, square, circle, and rectangle. She showed us a portrait she did of a picture out of a magazine. It was very impressive. She told us why shading is important. Jenny also showed us her art equipment: a slate, paint, pencils, watercolor, colored pencils, erasers, oil pastels, an exacto knife, texture pencils, and chalk.

The June meeting's demo will be from the horse project. They will use a live animal.

When You Carry a Fishing Rod, Carry Your License

By State Conservation Warden,
Doug Bilgo

It happens every year about this time. After a long, icy winter, the sight of open water on lakes and streams stirs something inside. It's time to start oiling reels, replacing line and sorting through the tackle box. If you haven't already, it's time to buy your fishing license.

As a conservation warden, I'm continually amazed by the number of anglers I encounter who remember fishing rods, tackle boxes, bait and assorted conveniences, but forget to bring a license. I'm not talking about people who fish without buying a license. The Department of Natural Resources issued 3,128 citations to those people last year. When you pay $84.00 in forfeitures, you learn to buy a license pretty quickly. I'm talking about people who simply don't think to bring their licenses along.

Many don't realize that failure to exhibit a license to a warden on request is itself a violation, punishable by forfeitures ranging from $72.00 to $139.00. More than one ill-prepared angler has been spared the forfeiture because a warden has taken the time to accompany the angler back to a car, cabin or campsite where the license has been left.

Unfortunately, this takes time. Because of continued growth in the use of our waterways, and new challenges in protecting the environment, wardens are facing increasing demands on their time. With public safety and resource protection chief among our responsibilities, anglers who forget to carry their fishing licenses this year may be in for an expensive lesson.

There are a lot of good reasons to carry your license. That small slip of paper represents an investment you've made to protect the quality of the Wisconsin fishing experience.

Over half the cost of your license goes towards programs to preserve and improve fish habitat, and to stock lakes and rivers that need help with fish populations. Another third goes towards law enforcement efforts to protect that investment, and public access and educational programs designed to help you enjoy it.

Fishing is a tradition we all hope to pass on to future generations. Your license reflects the state's responsibility to its children. There's a simple rule that's easy to follow: "When you carry a fishing rod, carry a license." It could help you avoid an expensive and embarrassing incident.

"Just a little boy"

*He stands at the plate with heart pounding fast,
The bases are loaded; the die has been cast.*

*Mom and Dad cannot help him, he stands all alone.
A hit at this moment would send the team home.*

*The ball meets the plate, he swings and he misses.
There's a groan from the crowd with some boos and some hisses.*

*A thoughtless voice cries, "Strike out the bum."
Tears fill his eyes, the game's no longer fun.*

*So open your heart and give him a break.
For it's moments like this, a man you can make.*

*Keep this in mind when you hear someone forget.
He's just a little boy and not a man yet.*

EDITOR'S NOTE: One of our readers sent in this poem and asked that we share it with you. With Little League season approaching, parents need to remember to set an example while in the stands and encourage the growth of true sportsmanship by keeping the fun in the game for all children and adults.
