More Computers, Two New Teachers Approved

By Gerry Mueller
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Board of Education, Monday night, approved the purchase of more computers and programs for the district's schools.

The latest requests for computers include an elementary program called Writing to Write, from IBM. The cost of the three twelve-station labs is expected to cost approximately $151,000. A lab will be set up at each of the three elementary schools.

The program, targeted primarily at the second and third grades, is designed to develop and improve critical thinking and writing skills in the area of language arts.

District Administrator Dr. David Heather stressed that the program "is not a total instructional program, but another instructional tool to help the teachers teach every child." He noted that, while the program is designed for the second and third grades, it can be expanded for use in the other elementary grades. Heather also noted that while the board might consider the price high, they should keep in mind that the purchase would be providing all three schools with equipment and programs.

Some of the board members had reservations over how the stations would be distributed, noting the per-student/station ratio varied considerably because of each school's particular student population. Heather said that could be adjusted by either purchasing additional stations or, shifting some of the stations between the schools, an option to which he had no objection.

Heather told the board he had not planned on presenting the program recommendation this year, however, the timing seemed to be right. We have the money in the Capital Improvements Loan fund for the purchase, he said, and IBM is also offering some rebates and software promotions at this time which could save us an additional $8,000.

The board approved Heather's recommendation with the stipulation that distribution of the stations among the three schools be overseen by the Computer Committee.

The board also approved computer equipment for the high school's Physical Science and Physics area. That request included the purchase of three computers and one printer, at a cost of approximately $6,180.

Another request will provide additional computer equipment at Kewaskum Elementary, for the district's EEN program, KES administration and the library. Funds from the CIL fund amounting to $11,398, will pay for this equipment.

The board also approved the spending of $24,562, to complete the fibre optic hookup between KES and the high school. With this phase completed, the district office, KES, KMS and KHS will be able to communicate with each other and use programs and data housed and maintained at the various buildings without having to physically go from one building to another.

With preliminary enrollment figures in for the upcoming school year, Heather advised the board that he saw a problem area at the KES third and fourth grade levels. Those figures indicate two rather large classes, of about 29-30 students each, at each of those grade levels.

Heather told the board they could consider three options, leave the situation as it is, leave the classes as they are and provide some part time instructional aides, or, split the two third and two fourth grade classes into three classes for each grade.

Heather said his recommendation

Kiwanis Park Pool To Close Sept. 4

As the swimming season rapidly comes to an end, and school is ready to begin, the Kiwanis Park Pool will be operating on a modified swimming schedule.

Beginning on Monday, August 24, thru Friday, September 4, the pool will be opening at 3:30 p.m. and remain open until 8:00 p.m., weather permitting or depending on the number of swimmers. This schedule will be for the week days only.

The weekend hours will remain the same: Saturdays - 10:00 a.m. - 8:00 p.m., Sundays - 11:30 a.m. - 8:00 p.m.

The last day for swimming will be Friday, September 4. We will not be open Labor Day weekend because the majority of the pool staff will have left for college. We would not be able to adequately staff the pool.

I would like to thank all of the Kiwanis Park Pool Staff for making this a safe summer for all swimmers, and a special thanks to the Village of Kewaskum's Rescue and Fire units for their time and efforts in working with our guard staff.

Miss Beckie Sweetman will be the only new teacher on the staff. She was assigned to St. Lucas School by the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod. Miss Sweetman graduated from Dr. Martin Luther College in New Ulm, Minnesota in 1991. She studied music in California during the 1981-92 school year. Besides her teaching duties, Miss Sweetman will also serve the congregation as one of its organists and conduct the Senior Choir. Miss Sweetman replaces Miss Cory Kolbow, who is now teaching at St. John's Lutheran School in Lannon.

In addition to high academic standards, St. Lucas also has many other activities to challenge and encourage students to use their abilities. In athletics the following sports are offered: football (boys), soccer (boys), volleyball (girls), basketball (boys and girls), cheerleading (girls), track (boys and girls), and softball (boys and girls). Steve Strassburg is athletic director and Ron Martinson, Dawn Martinson and Rod Bollinger also help with coaching duties. This year all volleyball and basketball games and practices will be held in Hoenecke Hall which is part of the new school addition.

St. Lucas also enters forensic, art, spelling and science competitions and offers Jr. Choir (Mrs. Debby Hoenecke) and band (Kettle Moraine Lutheran High School) for its students.

Village to Apply for Recycling Grant

By Gerry Mueller
 Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Village Board, Monday night, approved a resolution which will allow the village to apply for a grant to operate a recycling program.

Village Administrator Dan Schmidt said the criteria for applying for the grant was that the village would institute a curbside recycling program. If the grant is approved, the village could receive between $10,000 and $20,000 to aid in its operation of such a program.

The trustees were also advised that, due to the tremendous success, as well as a cost overrun, of the country's Operation Cleansweep, this summer, Washington County will not be holding a Cleansweep operation in 1993.

In response to a letter from the school district, the board decided not to take any action regarding parking in the area of elementary school. The present two-hour parking restriction on Third Street will remain in effect.

In reviewing the village's park reservation fee policy, the board made some revisions. Schmidt indicated the average increase was about $5.00. The new fees will go into effect January 1st, 1993.

The board also approved the recommendation of the Library Board to hire Mrs. Nancy Bauer as the village's new Library Director. She replaces Ms. Lucie Bledsoe who resigned recently. Mrs. Bauer will begin her duties on Aug. 21.

The board also approved the issuing of Special Class 'B' malted beverage licenses for the Kewaskum Historical Society's Early Farm Days on Sept. 13, and the Kewaskum Fire Department's Decathlon event on Aug. 30.

Figures in the village's Demographic Service Review for 1992, show Kewaskum's population has risen from 2,619 to 2,658. Schmidt also noted information received Monday shows the Village of Kewaskum's equalized value has risen approximately 8 percent.

Votes Going 'Hog Wild'

By L.L.K.

If you think the Bush-Clinton race is heated, just tune out of the Republican Convention and listen in on our little pig-kissing contest! Everywhere you go townsfolk are discussing it. And I've heard some of our candidates arguing in a fashion that would rival the Kennedy-Nixon debates.

I've had people stop me on the street and say, "don't worry honey, I'll vote for you." That's OK. You don't really have to. (That is unless you care to throw in a greenback or two on THURSDAY!) Let me make one thing perfectly clear... (thanks Mr. Nixon for that profound statement... I think that's the one that got him in trouble, too!) I really am not on the "campaign trail." I'm not even supposed to be a candidate!

Already I've had two people questioning my integrity. (One was even a police officer... great for my ego.) "You mean they're letting YOU count the votes? Who's gonna be checking you?" Now I may have a few faults... but basically I am reasonably honest. Granted, I do not want to do "kissy face" with a four-legged, snouty animal who's looking to bite my lip (our piggy was a stand-in for Anthony Hopkins in "Silence of the Lambs"), but I will count the money and add up the votes right down to the penny. (Give or take 200 or 300 votes for yours truly).

If you think I would ever consider cheating... goodness no! I couldn't live with all that guilt. But I have heard stories of the "dirty politics" going on in this town... it would make your hair curl (sorry Wendie!)

As a matter of fact, I recently found out that one of our candidates has quite the appropriate nickname for this contest. I'm not going to tell what it is, but if you care to drop a dollar or two in his envelope, I could probably be coerced into sharing this information. (Ohmygosh... could this be misconstrued as bribery... NAH! It's only a suggestion... I'd tell irregardless.)

For sanity's sake, let's call our candidate "P.C." Someone snitched to me that "P.C." has been visiting all the "voting booths" and taping shut all his envelopes. IS THIS FAIR AMERICA? I mean, are we actually going to sit back and let this happen? I think not... you just send your checks and gold bouillon to me in care of Post Office Box 300, and mark your envelope for "P.C." and I will make doubly sure your vote gets counted! Just to show you my heart is in the right place, I'll even drop in a dime or two for him myself.

We can't let this happen in Kewaskum, Wisconsin, America. We are just not going to take it anymore! Got it, "P.C.?" I shudder to even mention that he has also been seen taking money OUT of his envelope and putting it in SOMEONE ELSE'S envelope. (Jonesy... are you holding secret seminars on how to lose at these contests???)

Also, "P.C." is ACTIVELY campaigning for his opponent. Is this legal?? Is this right?? Is this fair?? This guy is B-A-D!! He must be almost as scared of winning this contest as I am. HMMM... perhaps we could form an alliance!

I have been talking to an FBI agent I used to date and he assures me that anyone caught with their hands in the proverbial "cookie jar" (pig envelopes) or found to be tampering with out "voting machines" WILL be prosecuted to the fullest degree. This is serious stuff, folks. I mean you just can't go around "messing" with the political process. THIS IS AMERICA! As Americans we have the duty and the right to choose whomever we please to kiss our pig, without having to worry about whether our vote is being tampered with or counted properly and believe me... I take this responsibility VERY SERIOUSLY!

Besides the FBI agent investigating our election is big and tough. (And such a cutie!) So... are you paying attention here "P.C.?" Quit messing with our political process! What would your grandchildren say if eventually they read in the Statesman's "25 Years Ago" column that Grandpa "P.C." was incarcerated for tampering with pig kissing votes! Think about it!

Now, speaking about rumors... (Oh, weren't we?) I heard tell that one of the candidate's employees are having weekly deductions taken off their payroll checks so at the end of the month they can load up her envelope. This is good... all contributions are tax deductible! (You are a shoo-in for the semi-finals, dearie!) Better start bribing them with promises of a huge salary increase... that is, if you lose.

Then there's the Billy Ray Cyrus issue... if we get a few more rivalries going, I'm booking Billy Ray for next year, but only if he promises to dance while he sings. I received his tape for part of my birthday gift from sister, Sheri. Big picture of Billy Ray on the front of the case. I don't know Linda... I think John E. is just as pretty... now if only HE could dance! Then all he would need would be a ponytail. (Jeff and Kurt would love that!)

Now my wheels are turning... thinking economically... for the same price, or probably less, we could get John E. to do a few numbers... better yet, as long as Troy has somewhat the same haircut as Billy Ray, we could get John E. and Troy to do a duet! I'm not much of a betting person (uh, huh), but I'd be willing to bet the populace of Kewaskum would pay MORE money to see John E. and Troy, than they would Billy Ray.

Voice your opinions Kewaskum... which is it gonna be? Write a little note to the editor... send in those cards and letters... do we go with John E. and Troy or opt for Billy Ray??? (We might be launching a whole new career, here. But how we gonna keep 'em down in Kewaskum, after they've seen L.A.??) Better start practicing guys and working out those routines. What I'm wondering is who is gonna take care of the high notes? Isn't this how the "Village People" got their start?

On a lighter note... two grey and white kittens have adopted candidate Bob Wagner, because they heard he might be bringing home a "very big brother" for them to play with. If you are the kitten's natural parents or you might be interested in giving them (the kittens... not Bob!) a good home, please call Bob before he takes them on a long, long, long ride out of town... and not just for the weekend!

I actually meant to write this article about "Piggy's Vacation in the Dells" but somehow, I managed to lose my train of thought. (No comment, Larry... and from now on... leave your change at home! My envelope is no place for you to be depositing your excess change! They have banks for that! Or banker's envelopes... if you get my drift).

Anyway with any amount of luck and a little spare time, I'll try to decipher piggy's vacation diary for next week. Wait till you hear about his ride down the "Kongo Bongo" or find out about his miniature golf score. It's colossal! If only I would have remembered to take my camera along! But then again, piggy was traveling incognito! We had to take along six pairs of sunglasses. Not to mention all the disguises! (Not funny folks... did you ever try to disguise a snout??)

Well, three pencils per article is definitely my limit and I am already down to just a stub on the third one, so we'll have to call it quits for this week. You know... as much as I hate writing these articles every week, I must admit, Mama was right. It IS better to give than receive!

Valley Bancorporation Nominated For National Education Award

Valley Bancorporation, headquartered in Appleton, Wisconsin, has been named to represent the Wisconsin Bankers Association in competition for a national education award. The award, sponsored by American Bankers Association (ABA), is bestowed to individuals or banks for exceptional commitment to providing the community with financial education through the ABA's Personal Economics Program (PEP).

This past school year, 100 Valley bankers made more than 465 presentations in their hometowns about banking and personal finance. Using up-to-date audio visual materials provided by the Wisconsin Bankers Association, Valley bankers taught school children, economically disadvantaged adults, scouts and senior citizen groups throughout the state. Their presentations, which mainly focused on handling personal finances, included financial planning, earning credit, applying for loans, balancing checking accounts and understanding various bank services. The bankers also provided information to students that were considering a career in the financial field. Tours of the banks were especially popular with the elementary school children and their teachers.

Besides Valley Bancorporation's national nomination, Nancy Boyce, a Personal Banker for Valley Bank, Appleton, was also recognized by the Wisconsin Bankers Association for her outstanding contributions to community economic education. This school year, Ms. Boyce made 38 presentations to 1,000 elementary school children in the Appleton School District. For her efforts, Ms. Boyce received $100 for her bank's education program.

In discussing the program, Peter M. Platten, III, President and Chief Executive Officer, Valley Bancorporation, said, "Valley has embraced this program whole-heartedly because financial education is one of our top community priorities. Many people feel uncomfortable with banks and their services. With this program, we are able to talk with them at an early age and explain what banks and banking is all about. We think it's just good business, for consumers to better understand how to use credit wisely, budget their money, evaluate investment alternatives and plan for their future."

PEP is a national effort on the part of commercial banks to encourage economic education and is designed to provide practical knowledge and experience to students in the areas of personal economics and banking.

Natural Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

SUGAR ABSORPTION CAN BE REDUCED

A weight loss tablet has been developed that will enable virtually anyone to reduce weight without dieting, without giving up favorite foods and without fear of side effects. While researching the medicinal effects of an herbal extract on controlling blood sugar levels in diabetics, scientists in Japan and India discovered that the herb acted as a sugar blocker thus reducing the amount of sugar absorbed into the body. Studies published in respected scientific journals such as The American Journal of Clinical Nutrition showed that by limiting the amount of sugar that is absorbed, calories are reduced and less sugar is turned to fat. The effect is a natural weight loss.

The amazing herb is now available to the public in tablet form under the label MEGA-THIN 100. It is available immediately because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients.

The discovery of MEGA-THIN 100 has been a windfall for overweight people. One satisfied Los Angeles resident said, "I began taking MEGA-THIN 100 on the advice of my pharmacist. Within 5 weeks I had lost 18 pounds. I'm so glad that I found an easy all-natural product to help me in my battle against excess weight. I could eat normally and lose weight." A Wisconsin resident and a pharmacist himself, began taking MEGA-THIN 100 to shed a few extra pounds and I not only lost the weight, I was able to use MEGA-THIN 100 to help control my weight after I reached my goal."

Pharmacists are praising MEGA-THIN 100 as a safe, effective, drug-free alternative in weight reduction. MEGA-THIN 100 is available at this pharmacy:

Excerpts From I Remember

Our mail was delivered primarily by rail in a mail car which had a person working and distributing the mail. The mail was usually loaded from the baggage car onto the mail car, or if a flyer, first class mail was picked up by a hook on that car.

Our Sunday newspapers were brought into Kewaskum by flyer and dumped off at the intersection of Main and Railroad St. Occasionally these would burst, and papers would go flying all over. The newsboy had to take these papers and put the different sections together. This was often done in the depot or the post office, if they were open. The newspapers that were received in the early days were Wisconsin News, The Milwaukee Journal, Chicago Tribune, Chicago Herald, and The Examiner. Often several German papers out of Milwaukee were also delivered.

Youngsters also delivered The Saturday Evening Post as well as The Police Gazette.

School Board

tion was to split the classes which would both reduce size and also provide room for any additional children moving into the area (noting he anticipated seeing growth in the district if not now, in the future).

Heather conceded his recommendation was the most expensive option since it would mean the hiring of two new staff members at a projected minimum cost of about $60,000, however, he felt it was the best option for the students. He also noted the addition of two teachers would mean an increase in the tax levy.

Board member John Schulte questioned whether the cost could be reduced by hiring first-year teachers. Heather indicated his figures were based on hiring teachers just out of school. If we hire teachers with some experiences, he noted, that cost will be higher.

Although he did not oppose Heather's recommendation, board president Neal Weare said, "I would prefer to go with the instructional aides until the numbers shake and we know exactly what the enrollment is."

After hearing Heather's recommendation and comments from two parents who have children in the classes, the board approved the request to hire two additional teachers, one each for the third and fourth grades.

The board approved the request of Kathy Robinson, District Food Services Supervisor, to purchase three low energy dishwashing machines, a double convection oven, milk cooler and holding cart. The board also approved the recommendation the CIL money be used for the purchase. Heather indicated if loan money was not used, the district would have had to increase lunch prices to generate the extra funds needed to purchase these items.

In other action, the board approved the request of Kidsport Daycare of Port Washington, to lease space at KES to set up and operate an after-school daycare center.

The daycare service would be independently run by Kidsport, a private childcare provider, and have no connection with the school district. The cost would be $2.35 per hour and run from after school to approximately 6 p.m.

Curriculum Coordinator Connie Strand told the board a survey sheet had been sent out and response to the proposed service had been very favorable. Mrs. Diane Stangl asked about the before school daycare which had also been mentioned in the survey. She noted several people had shown an interest in that also.

Weare said the board could only act on what was on the agenda and that was after school care. "If this passes," he said, "I suggest you ask to have before-school daycare put on the next agenda."

John Schulte said he was against allowing a private contractor to come into a school district building to run a business. Heather informed him that, according to state statutes, if such an application for a daycare center is made to the district, it can not be turned if the provider meets all the statute and insurance requirements as set down.

After some further discussion, the board approved the request. Strand also noted that the service is open to the public which includes 1-5 grade students from St. Lucas and Holy Trinity schools.

Town of Farmington Recycling Station to Close; Curbside Pickup Begins Sept. 18

After more than nine years of recycling the Town of Farmington is closing its recycling station. Curbside pickup of recyclables will begin Friday, Sept. 18. The last day for accepting garbage and recyclables at the old landfill site will be Saturday, Aug. 22.

The decision to close the recycling station was made because of the problem of marketing the recycled items. Lloyd's Cartage will pickup and market the recycled items. Items to be recycled are: clear and colored glass, tin and aluminum food cans, 1 and 2 type plastic containers, newspapers with glossy inserts removed, and corrugated cardboard. Items which can not be recycled are: windows, mirrors, lightbulbs and tubes, pyrex and drinking glasses, chemical bottles, medical containers, laboratory glass, aluminum foil and bottled caps, aerosol cans, paint cans, plastic oil bottles, yogurt and ice cream containers, styrofoam, plastic cups and film, hard plastic toys, pails, medicine bottles & syringes.

The recycling pick up will be the third Friday of each month. With the exception of cardboard and newspaper, which will be bundled, all recyclables will be comingled in a clear 30 gallon plastic garbage bag. These may be purchased at grocery stores. If the recyclables are dirty or garbage is mixed with the recyclables, Lloyds will not pick up the bag. Lloyd's will pick up an average of one bag per household, per month, plus newspaper and cardboard.

With the recycling station closed, there will no longer be any garbage or recyclables accepted at the Paradise Drive site, and anyone dumping will be prosecuted, according to town officials. Each town resident will be responsible for disposing of their own garbage by contracting with a private hauler. Copies of the recycling rules may be obtained by contacting the town clerk, Joanne Oneska.

Wayne Man Killed

Raymond Schulz, 86, of the Town of Wayne, was killed Saturday at his farm when, according to officials, he accidentally shot himself.

Schulz had apparently been shooting rodents in the vicinity of his barn, at 7095 County D, when the 12-gauge shotgun he was using went off, shooting him in the lower abdomen. He died from internal bleeding. A relative found him at approximately 5 p.m., and a Theresa rescue team arrived at the scene shortly after. He was pronounced dead by County Coroner Shirley Hofmaier.

Officials speculate that Schulz may have fallen asleep with the gun, or may have been suddenly startled.

Hofmaier stated there was no one else at home at the time of the accident. No foul play is suspected.

Milk and Cookies... An After-School Favorite

School bells will soon ring again and children will launch another year of reading, writing and arithmetic. After a hard day at school, kids arrive home ready for a quick snack that tastes great. A traditional favorite... milk and cookies... is still the first choice for a snack for kids from nursery school to high school.

Convenience and nutrition are two reasons that milk and cookies are a popular choice. What could be easier and faster to serve? The flavorful combination refreshes and revitalizes kids, tiding them over until dinner is ready.

Countless varieties of cookies are available, from convenient store-bought or refrigerated slice-and-bake cookies to family favorites made from scratch.

Whatever the cookie choice, a glass of frosty cold milk is the perfect accompaniment.

Parents today also have lots of options in the milk they serve, with choices to suit many diets and lifestyles, from whole milk, to 1% and 2% varieties, to skim milk. All of these beverages are excellent sources of important nutrients such as Vitamins A and D, protein and calcium. A host of specialty milks are also becoming widely available in the dairy case.

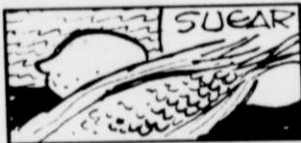

A milk-and-cookies break after a long, hard day of school is a popular tradition for kids who love milk's naturally good taste (it makes cookies taste even better!) And parents can appreciate milk's wholesomeness and nutritional value for growing, active bodies.

Try this cookie recipe: SOFT RAISIN COOKIES

- 1 cup butter, softened
- ¾ cup brown sugar
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla
- 3 cups flour
- ½ cup wheat germ
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ cup milk
- ½ cup raisins

In a large mixing bowl, cream together butter, sugars, eggs and vanilla. Add combined dry ingredients alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition. Stir in raisins. Drop dough by teaspoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated 350 degree F oven, 10 to 12 minutes, or until light brown. Immediately remove from cookie sheet; cool. Makes 7 dozen cookies.

NUTRITIONAL INFORMATION PER COOKIE: 57 calories, 8 grams carbohydrate, 1 gram protein, 3 grams fat, 11 milligrams cholesterol, 51 milligrams sodium, 9 milligrams calcium. (27 calories or 47 percent of calories from fat).

Corn cooks up nice and tender if you use unsalted water to each gallon of which you've added a tablespoon each of sugar and lemon juice.

'Summer Quest' Finale

Over 200 children, including their parents, celebrated the end of the 1992 "Summer Quest" summer library program, sponsored by the Kewaskum Public Library. Organized by Luci Bledsoe, former director of the library, and library assistants, Kitty Hlavaty and Sue Dobke, the event began with a hayride by Bud Schmidt of Schmidt Acres. Each child, along with members of his or her family, had a hayride to River Hill Park. Once at the park, everyone enjoyed their bag lunch as well as the cookies donated by Shefond and SENTRY, and the orange drink donated by Kemps Dairy Products. Each "Summer Quest" participant received a book of goodies. The children who had read at least ten hours received a free book. The Kiwanis Club of Kewaskum had donated $200 for purchase of books to be used as prizes. In addition, West Side Stories, located in both West Bend Pharmacy West and Kewaskum Pharmacy, offered a 40 percent discount on the books as their donation to the summer library program. The children were delighted with their books and are looking forward to next year's program. Shown in the above photograph are Bud Schmidt of Schmidt Acres and David Kletti.

July 31, 1992

The Hartford Police Department is looking for any information on the theft of two (2) very expensive musical instruments. Taken in a burglary to a garage were a 3½ foot tall cello and a 6½ foot tall base violin. Both are a Schmidt brand made in Germany and are made of cherrywood. Also taken were the bows and cases for these instruments. They are valued at $8,000.

The Hartford Police Department is seeking any information on the identity of the burglars and/or the present location of these instruments.

Washington County's We-Tip phone line is 1-800-232-0594. Any information can be provided anonymously and if a conviction results from the information obtained, a cash reward will be awarded to the caller. The caller will be identified by using an assigned number recorded at the West Bend Police Department. All law enforcement agencies within Washington County appreciate any information relating to any criminal activity that may have been witnessed or that anyone may have knowledge of. Cash rewards can be quite substantial if a major crime is cleared and convictions are obtained.

Washington County Sheriff's Dept. Not Involved in Halloween Party

The Washington County Sheriff's Department has no connection with a Halloween party being sponsored by the Waukesha County Deputy Sheriffs Association.

Professional solicitors hired by that organization are selling tickets to the event by phone. These sellers receive 84 percent of the gross proceeds, while the Association receives $25,000 or 16 percent, whichever is higher. The fund raisers will give $1,250 to the association to pay its members to work at the party. The association is not a charity and the party is not a charitable fund-raising event.

A Town of Erin woman reported Friday that she received a call in which the solicitor claimed to represent the County Sheriff's Department.

Organizations Resume Soliciting Funds From County Businesses, Residents

Two organizations have resumed soliciting for money from Washington County businesses and residents.

Wisconsin Citizen Action, formerly known as Wisconsin Action Coalition, has informed the County Sheriff's Department that it is sending door-to-door solicitors to the towns of West Bend and Allenton areas. According to the Better Business Bureau of Wisconsin, WCA is a non-profit "grassroots citizens' lobby." It is not a charity.

The Wisconsin Troopers Association has apparently resumed telephone soliciting, mostly to businesses. The WTA is a for-profit labor organization representing employees of the Wisconsin State Patrol. It has retained a private firm to sell advertising in its magazine, "The Wisconsin Trooper."

The telephone solicitors are employees of this firm and are not law enforcement officers. According to the Wisconsin Department of Regulation and Licensing, the WTA is not registered as a charity and solicitors may not imply that purchasing ads will support charitable work. The WTA has refused to disclose fund raising data to the Better Business Bureau of Wisconsin.

Art Prints Donated To Area Libraries

Mid-Wisconsin Federated Library System recently completed the process of donating 478 art prints and their accompanying shipping boxes and canvas carrying-bags to the 33 public libraries that form the System. The estimated value of this donation is $60,000.

Representatives from the Dodge County Library Service, the Fond du Lac City-County Library Service, the Jefferson Library Council, and the Washington County Library Service met at Dodge County Headquarters in early July to individually choose those prints that would then be channelled back to the libraries in their respective Counties.

MWFLS expresses its sincere appreciation to Pat Pawl, Director of the Dodge County Library Service, for her personal interest and support of this distribution as well as for donating use of DCLS work space which made this dispersal possible and able to proceed in a business-like fashion.

ME AND MY DAD

by June Sandra Karshen
Dear Dad,

As you always tell me that you only listen to half of what I say, I decided to put all my thoughts down on paper. I followed a great author's immortal advice when he said to "Look in thy heart, and write."

I have been digging deep and have come to realize that my memories are strong, even though they have been dormant for years. At times, the ideas flowed so quickly that I had to stop and take a walk outside to catch my breath. I went through an entire stack of your red bandana hankies that I keep for you when you visit me.

Dad, I am so very lucky and so very proud to have you for a father. Through all of our ups and downs, know that I always loved and admired you.

I want you to do me a favor. After you've read my article, take my words and tuck them away. And when the time comes for you to leave me, if I should not be there beside you, right at that moment, please remember all that you have given me... of yourself.

Sandy

"Dad, define courage." "Courage is overcoming your fears." "Do you think you have it?" "No. But your mother did. Your mother was a very courageous woman."

I asked my father this question quite recently. I was surprised at his answer for in my opinion he possesses a great deal of courage, as did my mother. Born in 1914, John Severin Karshen grew up during World War I, the Roaring 20s, and struggled like the rest in the Great Depression of the 30s. He was present at the bombing of Pearl Harbor and bravely served in World War II from beginning to end as a paratrooper of the 11th Airborne Unit. Now in his twilight years, Dad is battling a rare and fatal degenerative disease called Progressive Supranuclear Palsy.

"SAA...DEE! Sandy, don't you come when I call you?" "Dad, I was down at the shed getting tools. I heard you call my name, you don't have to whistle!"

Some things never change. I don't think the war years ever left my father, for when he married my mom and had my older sister Joan and me, we all joined the Army along with his hunting dogs and our toy poodle Jacques.

He ran a tight ship at home and when Dad called... we all jumped. Boy, could he whistle! The problem was his was a generic war cry. This wasn't Captain VonTrapp paging his children and staff with varied tones as in "The Sound of Music." No, if my dad was in the backyard whistling to his hunting dog, the rest of us assumed we were being summoned and ran into file.

"Sandy, check that oil level every time you take the car out of the garage." "Dad, the manual says that checking at every fill-up is sufficient." "Do it anyway!"

Rules. Dad always had rules. Not only did he verbally convey his wishes, we were reminded with notes and other artifacts.

I still remember the time he nagged Mom, Joan, and me about backing out of the driveway. He was convinced that the day would come when one of us would back out and hit either a tree or one of the other cars.

Accordingly, on each of our cars he placed a note above the ignition switch that stated, "when backing out, watch out for trees and other objects." Along with this, bright red reflective tape was placed around every tree bordering, and in the near vicinity of the driveway. Okay, Dad, I think we got the message!

We got it all right... but did he? I watched one early evening as Dad backed up our brand new station wagon and was closing in on one of the trees. I remember thinking to myself, "surely he read his message on the dash, and surely he sees that bright red tape wrapped around the tree he's about to back into!" I guess when you make the rules you can break them, because he hit that tree all right.

As no damage was done, I dashed into the house to inform my fellow comrades that Sergeant Karshen had not heeded his own words of advice. My dad merely replied, "Let that be a lesson to you!"

"Sandy, you must learn to say only things of consequence." "But Dad, if I do that, I won't have anything to say!" "That's right."

My father still can't tolerate my constant, uncontrollable urge to chatter. He calls me Windy, short for Windbag, and whenever we're in a heated debate he'll rebuttal with, "listen to that yap, it never stops!"

Years ago, as fishing partners out on the calm and peaceful waters of various Wisconsin lakes, Dad was unable to bear the incessant ra-ta-tat-tat of my conversations. As I loved to fish and I loved to talk, there was nothing he could say that would stop my rambling... well, almost nothing.

One expedition stands out in my memory. We had just anchored at a secluded spot where Dad had convinced me that we'd be "reelin' 'em in." As I sat there in my fluorescent orange life preserver and Dad's hand-me-down "lucky" fishing hat, I began to shoot the breeze at my captive audience.

Dad was getting angry. I could see in his face that troubled waters lie ahead. "Sandy! Would you keep quiet!" As I must have looked stunned and hurt at the same time, he added, "You're scaring all the fish away." Well that last comment did it. My passion for fishing outdid my desire to babble. From that moment on, when the boat motor shut off, so did my mouth.

"Dad, you couldn't stand me when I was growing up. Could you?" "Why do you say that?" "Well, you were always so hard on me."

From my perspective, nothing ever seemed to be good enough for my dad. When I'd come home from school with my grades my dad would say, "these should be straight A's!" When I'd show him samples of my writing he'd say, "This is terrible. This is below the level you should be at." When I'd completed a project he'd assigned me to do around the house, he'd say, "Do it over. If you can't do something right, don't bother doing it at all!"

The worst was when I'd try and stand up to him. I'd notice how he'd let things pass when it came to my sister Joan. Although he was strict with both of us, I always sensed an unfairness or imbalance when discipline was being handed out, the scale being tipped in Joan's favor. Mom sensed it too. When Dad refused to listen to what I had to say my Mom would intercede with, "you're much too hard on the Little One and you let the Big One get away with too much!"

Dad would just silently walk away. After one of these episodes Mom used to tell me how my dad was stricter with me because he felt he had let Joan get away with too much from the beginning. It was too late to correct and he didn't want to make the same mistakes with me.

Parents Can Help Maximize Children's Learning

The role parents play in a child's education doesn't stop after they buy the school supplies and fall wardrobe.

Karen Bogenschneider, University of Wisconsin - Extension family policy specialist, says many studies suggest children do best in school when their parents are involved in all aspects of their children's educations.

"No one is more interested in your child's education than you are," she said.

UW-Extension 4-H youth specialist Trisha Day said parents can do things at home to help children do better at school. For example:

— Schedule certain periods of the day for homework and designate a place in the home as a comfortable study area.

— Act as role models to show children that learning is a lifelong process. Check books out of the library, enroll in continuing education courses or workshops. Don't expect your child to be excited about learning if you don't value education yourself.

— Supplement skills learned at school with activities at home. Reading together, even with your teen, provides opportunities to communicate about issues and values. Trips to the grocery store or games like cribbage, Monopoly or Life can reinforce basic math skills.

— Take part in learning opportunities with your children. Visit museums, galleries, concerts or plays.

"Allow your children to experience as many new places, people and opportunities as possible," Day said.

"Encourage questions. Ask questions yourself. Reflect and discuss the day's activities later to see what your children learned and how they perceived things."

Day and Bogenschneider said parents also need to set clear expectations at the outset of each school year.

"You don't have to be pushy or demanding to communicate that education is important to your family," Bogenschneider said.

"Expectations are built in small pieces in things we say or do, like limiting television, including books as birthday presents and asking your child what he or she wants to accomplish during the school year."

One activity Day recommends is a "School Days" recording. Parents interview each child with a tap recorder as the school year begins, asking what grades the child wants to earn, which classes he or she thinks will be toughest and what extra-curricular activities he or she wants to pursue. Families then play back the recording at the end of the semester to see what the child actually experienced.

Finally, Day and Bogenschneider said parents should think of themselves as education partners with their children's teachers. Research shows teachers are more likely to say a child is doing well if the child's parent is involved in the school.

Activities they suggest for parents include:

— Talking with teachers and counselors to make sure your child is in appropriate classes for his or her ability.

— Continuing communication with the teacher through notes, phone calls or meetings.

— Paying attention to your child's school newsletter, notes from the teacher and class assignments.

— Getting involved in school activities like parent-teacher organizations, fundraisers, booster clubs, class trips and curriculum committees.

The UW-Extension publication "Family Times" provides more activities parents and children can do together to improve education and family communication. For more information, contact Jan Felthous, Summer Extension Home Economist, at 335-4479 or 333 East Washington Street, West Bend, WI 53095.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Something still smells funny about the firing of Special Deputy Kurt Vogelsberg by the Sheriff because Vogelsberg is Jim Grover's campaign treasurer.

The April 17 West Bend News quotes Schulteis as saying that he was fired because of departmental conflict. Does he really expect anyone to believe that? The Sheriff also states that Kurt Vogelsberg never worked any hours in 1992. The Sheriff also states Vogelsberg sent letters out from the department. How could Kurt Vogelsberg create a conflict and send any letters out from the department if he never worked any hours in 1992? I would like the Sheriff to produce these letters.

Sheriff Schulteis states that he offered Kurt Vogelsberg a leave of absence. Of course, Kurt Vogelsberg would lose his Special Deputy Sheriff certification if he took a leave of absence, which would have caused him to lose his job. No certification — no job! The Sheriff did offer Kurt Vogelsberg training after the advice from the Sheriff's attorney. The offer for the training was given the night before the training class was to start.

The Sheriff stated on July 29, "I have got strong values about keeping politics out of the department. If you don't like my values, vote me out of office." The Sheriff's values never seem to be hurt by his son or his wife, who are also Special Deputies. The Sheriff's son is quite active in the Sheriff's campaign, wearing campaign t-shirts, participating in parades, etc. . . . along with his wife. Why didn't he ask his son to take a leave of absence? He is a Special Deputy just like Kurt Vogelsberg. I guess the Sheriff didn't have strong values about that. Maybe we should vote him out of office as he says.

P.S. TO THE SHERIFF: Please don't have your sister, Nancy Harris, respond to this as you did in my last editorial.

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter in regards to the letter from Joan A. German. Joan A. German is extremely misinformed or intentionally misleading people with half the facts. I am an ex-Washington County Sheriff's Deputy; I worked for the Washington County Sheriff's Department for 17 years. Sgt. Grover is 100 percent accurate; there have been numerous awards given for writing seatbelt tickets. The awards consist of coffee mugs and t-shirts, just as Sgt. Grover stated in his brochure. I am also against this and feel, as Sgt. Grover does: Education is the key to seatbelt use — not citation.

I am a police officer, a professional person, like a nurse or a lawyer or a fireman. I perform a community service. I don't think it is appropriate to receive an award for doing my job. I am sure a nurse doesn't get a coffee mug or a t-shirt as an award if she takes a certain number of patients' temperatures or gives a certain number of shots to patients. I think Sgt. Grover's point is that no one gets an award for solving a burglary or a felony crime, and no one should.

Where are our priorities and where is our pride in our profession? I feel as Sgt. Grover does . . . we must get back to common sense law enforcement.

Letter to the Editor:

I, Linda A. Cross, am announcing my candidacy for Superintendent of Public Instruction for the State of Wisconsin.

I do so because I believe it is time to have a professional educator — specifically a classroom teacher — at the helm of education in the State of Wisconsin.

Changes in education need to be made in the classroom not by excessive levels of educational bureaucrats. I have been — for 23 years — and continue to be — a classroom teacher. I know what's happening there.

I believe that DPI has been overly influenced by the leadership of teacher unions too long to the detriment of students, teachers, and taxpayers. This must change.

As a Hortonville teacher, I have no affiliations with the major teacher unions. I am an independent teacher.

I have experience in education administration as well, serving as English Department chair for 17 years. I believe that an attitudinal change toward education is essential in Wisconsin and the nation as a whole.

People must believe that education — learning — is the key to personal success and our state and nation's success in the world.

All members of society must bear their share of responsibility, for excellence in education to become a reality. Students, often feeling without purpose in life, need to hear the good news that they are needed in Wisconsin.

That society needs them to play a positive role.

That their role — their job — at this age is to be a student to prepare themselves not only for their future, but also for Wisconsin's future.

Today's students must be better educated to compete in a global economy.

Wisconsin's economic standing in the world is inevitably linked to our youth — to their preparation and their performance as they enter the world as adults and take responsibility for their own destiny.

"Tough Love" in school may be needed for those who refuse to take up the challenge. Students and parents must take individual responsibility for quality education and demand excellence in their schools instead of acting as victims of the social order.

I believe in the total quality management approach to education that has been pioneered by Wisconsin businesses and government. Madison is the world center for quality improvement and its resources should be directed toward public education.

We must be sure that standards have been set before simply throwing money at problems in education.

As a small business person — an owner of a small marina and a gift and clothing shop — I understand what Wisconsin businesses need from the education system — employable graduates.

Students must leave school with the skills to contribute in a global marketplace.

I am eager to make a contribution to education on a statewide basis. Put a person who knows the problems in the position to implement the solutions.

As a teacher, administrator, and business person, I think I would bring to the DPI a wide spectrum of experiences which makes me uniquely qualified to be the next Superintendent of Public Instruction for the State of Wisconsin.

Dear Editor:

I heard the editorial on WTKM about my attitude on seatbelts. I think Mrs. German is confused. I am very much for seatbelts as stated in my brochure. I believe in positive law enforcement. I believe in education in seatbelt use instead of citations. The fine for a seatbelt violation is $10.00, and the cost to taxpayers to process the ticket far exceeds the fine, a cost which all taxpayers pay. We must educate people that seatbelts save lives, but we should do it in a positive manner.

Mrs. German is a State Trooper and has an excellent example of a program which shows the importance of seatbelt use. We have numerous community events in the summer, i.e. the fairs, picnics, etc. These events, with an exhibit showing how seatbelts work, is a perfect time to create a positive approach towards the use of seatbelts.

I have talked to many officers who would be willing to participate in programs such as this on a voluntary basis. I believe we need to have a positive attitude of law enforcement towards the citizens of this community, especially our youth. We need to let the citizens know the officers are here to help and enforce the law if necessary.

Sincerely,
Jim Grover

A GUEST EDITORIAL FOR

We Will Leave No Child Behind

By Herbert J. Grover, State Superintendent

As another school year begins, society demands that educators motivate, teach, and direct young people. And whether we are parents, teachers, government officials, employers, or senior citizens, we all have a role in education. We must work together for the benefit of our children. We must "LEAVE NO CHILD BEHIND."

This is our school year theme: Leave No Child Behind. It comes from the National Children's Defense Fund and gives us the goal of providing education, healthy lives, and opportunity to every child.

Adults assist children through early life's mazes, guiding and directing their development. We push young people to reach their potential, giving them the freedom and support to explore ever-lengthening passageways to the unknown.

We must stand by our children, protecting the development of their roots and helping them keep their feet firmly on the ground. This gives them the tenets of citizenship, helps them resist negative peer pressure, and builds the foundation to pursue greater things. We must lead them, providing them with environments conducive to learning, helping them discover answers to their questions, calming their fears, and helping them build their dreams.

We are all vital to every child's life. Parents must talk to their children, and teachers must talk to parents. Citizens from every walk of life must take an interest in their local schools and their community's students. Success for children requires parent-school partnerships as well as commitment from those who do not have children in school. Parents and other adults have an obligation to show an interest in every child's education, to volunteer in their local schools, to serve on committees and school boards, and to vote in local, state and national elections.

As our children grow, our prime goal is to help them attain independence. And, while independence may mean the loss of our "creations" we must put aside our apprehension of loss and let our children learn, develop and mature into the responsible citizens they yearn to be.

We hold much power. We are all educators, and each one of us holds key pieces to the creation of educated, motivated children.

As State Superintendent, I urge each citizen to make the 1992-93 school year a continuation of a new age in innovation: partnership education. Our children are our future, and only we can help them see their towering potential. I implore each of you to help children see their ability, guide them through the winding halls of life, and stand by to open doors they cannot yet reach.

Then Wisconsin will truly LEAVE NO CHILD BEHIND!

MADISON... They're here... the hot, muggy days of summer we long for during the chill of winter. But the hot, muggy days can bring more than relief from sub-zero temperatures.

For active people who work and play in it, hot, muggy weather can cause the core body temperature to rise so quickly that the internal cooling system can't keep up, causing heat-related problems such as heat exhaustion, heat stroke or heat stroke, says Brad Sherman, director of the Sports Medicine Center at UW Hospital and Clinics.

There are three forms of summertime heat-related ailments:

HEAT CRAMPS. A sharp, sudden pain, usually in the calf muscle, felt while running for a frisbee or kicking a soccer ball, for example, is probably a heat cramp. Relieving the cramp requires water, rest and gentle stretching until the pain is gone and the muscle is comfortable.

HEAT STRESS. Unlike a cramp, heat stress, sometimes called heat exhaustion, is marked by skin that is cold and clammy in spite of the heat, and by nausea or lightheadedness. In many cases, the affected person is unaware of symptoms. Water and a day or two of rest out of the sun may be all that's required to return to normal, but it's best to check with a physician before returning to vigorous physical activity.

HEAT STROKE. Less common but far more serious than heat cramps or heat stress, heat stroke is experienced by a handful of people in Wisconsin every year. This life-threatening heat emergency can strike suddenly, says Sherman. Heat stroke's symptoms include hot, dry skin and delirium or convulsions. Anyone with symptoms of heat stroke should be taken immediately to a hospital emergency room, for minutes count in this critical illness.

All three conditions can be prevented by following precautions for exercising in sizzling summer weather. "With common sense and some preparation, heat illness should not occur," Sherman emphasizes.

In high heat and humidity, the body's most basic need is water. "The person most likely to get in trouble is one who's become dehydrated, probably from not drinking enough fluids before or during exercise," Sherman says.

Plain cold water is best to prevent heat illness. Special drinks aren't necessary, the body uses water easily to replace fluid lost in sweating. But don't wait until you feel thirsty before drinking, says Sherman.

"Your thirst mechanism can't keep up," he says. "It's best to drink plenty before starting an outdoor activity, and make sure you keep hydrated both during and after the activity."

Try to avoid working out during mid-day if possible, but if you friends.

Preceding him in death were a brother-in-law, Jerome Noegel and a nephew, Ronald.

Funeral services were held Sunday, Aug. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at St. Lawrence Catholic Church, St. Lawrence. Fr. Alois VanBeek was the celebrant and burial was Monday at 10 a.m. in the parish cemetery.

Memorial are appreciated. The Phillip Funeral Home, Slinger, served the family.

must, wear a lightweight hat that lets air circulate around the head. In fact, all clothing should be loose and light, the body's main cooling mechanism is perspiring, so air circulation can be critical, says Sherman.

How hot must it be before there's a danger of heat illness? Sherman says it's not only the heat, but the humidity, too. If the air is very humid or very still, perspiration won't evaporate, and the body has a tough time getting rid of excess heat. A very humid but moderately warm day can be more dangerous than a hot, but dry day, Sherman adds.

Children are particularly susceptible to heat illness because they heat up more and perspire less than adults. Parents or supervisors should plan water and rest breaks for kids playing hard in hot weather, Sherman says.

Acclimating to hot weather also helps to avoid heat illnesses. At the beginning of the season, most people should limit hard work or vigorous activity to 30 minutes.

"As people become accustomed to the hot weather environment, the thermo-regulatory system gets more efficient, and they lose less fluid. As a result, they're better able to tolerate the heat and can increase their active time outdoors," Sherman explains.

"By following common sense guidelines about easing into physical activity, drinking lots of fluids, avoiding the mid-day heat and wearing appropriate clothing, people can completely avoid these problems. Summer exercise can be invigorating and safe."

Leland Vetter, 49, of Beechwood, was removed to Memorial Hospital, Sheboygan, in the Kewaskum Fire Dept. Ambulance about 8:15 p.m. Monday with injuries he suffered when a bull he was attempting to return to his barn pinned him against a post in the farm yard. Vetter's 16-year-old son, Dale, rescued his father by using a hay fork to subdue the animal, it was reported. Neighbors, armed with forks, succeeded in directing the animal into the barn. It was to be loaded for shipping. Vetter suffered a cracked pelvis and possible internal injuries.

At 4:50 p.m. Friday, the Kewaskum Fire Dept. answered a call to the Merlin Dreher home at 320 Main St., where a kitchen range and hood were damaged and a section of cupboard charred in a stove blaze. Dreher said he was preparing French Fries and left the kitchen while they were cooking. He heard a noise and returned to find the range and cupboard ablaze, caused by the oil overheating and burning. A dry chemical was used by the firemen to avoid water damage. The house suffered extensive smoke damage.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Reysen, Beechwood, have made announcement that their daughter, Carolyn, is the fiancée of Ronald Beimborn, Newburg, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Beimborn. His foster parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bloecker. Miss Reysen is a 1962 graduate of Kewaskum High School. Beimborn is a 1963 alumnus of West Bend High School.

At the Holy Angels Church at West Bend last Monday, occurred the marriage of Miss Leocadia Wilger of West Bend and Math Herriges of St. Michaels. Rev. Stupfel conducted the nuptial mass assisted by Rev. J. Herriges uncle of the groom. The attendants of the happy couple were Alois Herriges, Miss Martha Wilger, Jos. Wilger and Miss Gertrude Herriges.

Erwin Kirmse, Town of Fredonia, met with a frightful accident last Friday afternoon. He was in the field cutting clover when a stone became lodged on the platform of his mower. Without throwing out the gear of his machine, Mr. Kirmse jumped off his seat and stood in front of the sickle bar to remove the stone. Just then his team started up and his right foot was caught in the knives. Before he could stop his horses his foot was nearly cut off at the ankle. He mounted the mower and drove home at a gallop and medical aid was summoned. Dr. Coerper of Waubesa brought Mr. Kirmse to the hospital at West Bend where Dr. A. H. Heidner assisted in dressing the leg. It took 147 stitches to do this. Mr. Kirmse is doing nicely and will not lose his foot.

A Piano Harp will be disposed of by Gertrude Dieringer at Schrauth's River Bank Hall, Aug. 22. Dance will follow. Good music will be furnished.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. And. Rodenkirch, a baby girl on Tuesday.

The Wayne Crusaders held their August 11 meeting at the Kohlsville Fire Department. Bridget Ritger, President, called the meeting to order, with Julie Schulz and Tim Novotny leading the pledges. The treasurer reported we have raised $142.58 in our "Penny Save" with our goal at a mile of pennies. All members were urged to continue to collect pennies, and we will be doing so at Kettle Kountry Kolors also.

The County Fair was reported on, and the club did an outstanding job in all areas. Those receiving top honors include: Julie Schulz (Grand Champion Beef), Brad Oelhafen (Champion Dairy Beef, Brenda Oelhafen Memorial Trophy and Top Intermediate Showmanship), Melissa Ritger (Best in Class, Yearling Dairy Calf), Kevin Parish (Champion Market Hog), Sean Parish (Reserve Champion Market Hog), Keith Herman (Reserve Champion Home Bred and Raised Market Hog, Champion Corn Stalk), Joe Hawig (Showmanship Trophy, Intermediate Class - Hogs), Jolie Bingen (Showmanship - Beef, Seniors), Andy Bingen (Junior Showmanship - Sheep), Sheila Martin (Champion Dwarf Rabbit, Grand *Champion Child Care Exhibit), Bridget Ritger (Merit Award - Vet Science Exhibit, Merit Award, *Child Care Exhibit), Tim Novotny (Merit Award, Drawing and Painting), Deanna Wagner (Brian Bowser Memorial Award, *Drawing and Painting), Jeanine Steier (Merit Award, Glass Etching, Grand Champion Cake Decorating), Angela Ritger (*Sewing Exhibit), Rebecca Schellinger (*Child Care Exhibit). *Denotes State Fair Selections.

Thanks were extended to all the families who helped make the many tasks of the county fair lighter, and brought the club to the top in many areas.

We received a red placing on our educational booth, entitled, "Don't Throw It All Away." First Premium in Beef Herdsmanship, Second Premium in Swine Herdsmanship and Third in the Anything Goes competition.

Kerry Peterson and Ryan Herman gave their reports on 4-H Congress.

Record books are due by August 31 to Mrs. Ritger or Mrs. Oelhafen. Everyone is encouraged to do a good job, and hopefully we will be as successful with county awards, as we were at the county fair.

We will be involved in Kettle Kountry Kolors again this year with a food booth. Sign up will be at the September 8th meeting. Fair checks will also be distributed at that meeting. It will be the final meeting of the 4-H year, and Cloverbuds will graduate.

We have also formed a correspondence program with Boys Town in Nebraska, with their 4-H members. All letters should be submitted with your record books.

Dairyland Seed Introduces Seven New Soybeans for 1993

The Dairyland Seed DSR research staff is pleased to announce the introduction of 7 exciting new DSR soybean varieties for 1993. They cover maturity ranges I through III. A number of these products feature exciting genetic yield punch. Beyond that, they add resistance to cyst nematode and phytophthora root rot. In particular, the new DSR-273 brings a Group II soybean product with cyst nematode resistance into the DSR lineup.

"We've taken a lineup that was exceptionally strong and made it even better. While that may seem hard to do, we just had to release some of these new DSR's for 1993," said Hunt Wiley, Soybean Plant Breeder.

In the earlier maturity group, soybean plant breeder Dr. Bill Campbell says, "I feel DSR-173 is an outstanding product. I believe this has a chance to be the 'DSR-317' of Group I soybeans."

A more complete review of the new varieties just right for this area follows:

DSR-138: Plant new DSR-138 next to your DSR-128 this year. DSR-138 shows the same high field tolerance to phytophthora and carries the Rpslc gene for race resistance. It has a full 3 bu/a. advantage over DSR-128 in our research trials. DSR-138 also has shown tolerance to brown stem rot.

DSR-173: This outstanding soybean is generating tremendous excitement in our sales force. It replaces DSR-196 as it is 3 bu./a. higher yielding though 2 days earlier. Also outyields DSR-170 by more than 4 bu./a. although 2 days later. DSR-173 has an excellent rating for emergence and standability plus tolerance to: iron chlorosis, brown stem rot, and phytophthora! As an added feature, it carries the Rps 1a gene for phytophthora resistance.

DSR-189: DSR-189 matures slightly later than DSR-173 and has similar outstanding yield potential — outperforming Hardin by 3 bu./a. in our research trials. DSR-189 carries the Rps 1c gene for phytophthora resistance as well as excellent tolerance to phytophthora root rot. DSR-189 has limited availability and supplies are allocated.

DSR-254: This soybean has everyone excited as it topped our strip trial circuit last year as DST-2316. It has shown the potential to yield with DSR-262 even though it is 2 days earlier, and has significantly better standability! DSR-254 is a very compact soybean that loves high populations. Superb in a drilled situation! It features good phytophthora root rot tolerance and white mold tolerance. A terrific soybean — definitely one to look at next to your DSR-262 soybeans.

DSR-273: CYST NEMATODE RESISTANCE! Introducing yet another strong cyst nematode resistance line — DSR-273. It is the finest Group II soybean available today with resistance to cyst nematode. DSR-273 has resistance to race 3 and 4 of cyst. It also has resistance to brown stem rot and excellent tolerance to phytophthora root rot. Its yield comes close to DSR-262 and is better than Asgrow A2943. The Group II cyst bean you're looking for!

For more information on these or other Dairyland soybean products, write Dairyland Seed Co., Inc., P.O. Box 958, West Bend, WI 53095.

WEEKLY COLUMN

Sensenbrenner Supports Release of Locked JFK Files

(Washington, D.C.)... On August 12, the House of Representatives passed H.J. Res. 454, to make public the records related to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. I supported the bill.

It has been nearly 29 years since President Kennedy took his fateful trip to Dallas, but the American public has not lost its interest in this case. Following the assassination, President Lyndon Johnson commissioned a criminal investigation headed by then Supreme Court Justice Earl Warren. The results were published in the "REPORT OF THE WARREN COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY," but the files, information, and testimonies used to draft this report were locked away for 50 years. The recent movie, "JFK" and publication of several new books have brought intense scrutiny and criticism of the Warren Commission's findings. Due to speculation on the locked files' contents, the House of Representatives passed J.J. Res. 454 opening the documents and government records relevant to the Kennedy assassination.

Specifically, this bill transfers all documents to the National Archives and makes them available for public inspection. H.J. Res. 454 also establishes an Assassination Materials Review Board which will determine whether certain documents and materials should be withheld from disclosure due to national security, privacy or other necessary reasons.

The Senate already passed a similar version last month. The House bill gives the courts selection power of the Review Board members, whereas the Senate provides for presidential selection. The House and Senate differences must be resolved before the President can sign a final bill.

The American public still has questions, and this bill may unlock the door to many answers. The Kennedy assassination is a painful memory, and releasing the locked files may help us better understand what took place that day in Dallas.

Public Information Meeting On Regional Land Use Plan For Southeastern Wisconsin

A public information meeting has been set to discuss the recently completed Regional Land Use Plan for Southeastern Wisconsin 2010. The meeting will be held on Wednesday, August 26, 1992, at 7 p.m. in Rooms 119/121 of the Washington County Courthouse in West Bend.

The Plan, developed by the Southeast Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission (SEWRPC), reviews major elements of the comprehensive regional plan and presents a new 2010 recommended land use plan for the region. SEWRPC representatives will be present to emphasize trends and recommendations for Washington County.

Most Washington County communities are growing at a rapid pace. A number of communities are in the process of developing comprehensive plans while others are discussing the need for planning and growth management. This meeting will provide information which will be helpful in local planning efforts.

Although the program is directed toward local elected and appointed officials, developers, realtors, builders, economic development organizations, and interested citizens may want to attend.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Washington County Economic Development, Land Use and Park, and UW-Extension Departments. For more information contact Dan Wilson, Resource Agent, at 335-4480.

New Shelter in Kiwanis Park Funded by Junior Women

Although not in big demand with the cool summer we have experienced, a shade shelter was available in the Kiwanis Park Pool/Beach area. The shelter was constructed this spring by Heberer Brothers. The GFWC Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club provided the funds necessary to construct the shelter. Funds were raised primarily through loyal community support of Kewaskum Junior's annual quilt raffle and art/craft fair. It is the hope of the Kewaskum Juniors this shelter will provide comfort to all beach visitors for many sunny summers to come.

Panzer Calls for Full Implementation of Youth Apprenticeships

West Bend....President George Bush visited Wisconsin recently to examine first hand, Wisconsin's innovative youth apprenticeship program. The President met with the twelve West Bend students who are enrolled in the program as well as with participants from other parts of the state.

State Representative Mary E. Panzer (R-West Bend) applauded Wisconsin's youth apprenticeship pilot program and said that it should be expanded to include the entire state.

"This program is a winner," said Panzer. "Taking the youth apprenticeship program statewide will open a wealth of opportunities to all of Wisconsin's children."

High school juniors and seniors who decide to enter the youth apprenticeship program leave the classroom for a portion of each week and receive technical training and work experience through the participating business.

"Youth apprenticeships give kids the concrete skills they can use in the real-world," said Panzer. "Not everyone needs to take calculus."

The youth apprenticeships program is being tested at several printing companies around the state. Notable among these is the West Bend specialty printer Serigraph Inc. Twelve West Bend students are scheduled to enter the youth apprenticeship program at Serigraph this fall.

"The nineties are going to require a highly skilled work force for new high-tech, high-wage jobs. These kids from West Bend will be ready," said Panzer.

Starting this Fall, printing companies across the State will begin implementing youth apprenticeship programs on a pilot basis. This innovative concept evolved from the recommendations of Governor Tommy G. Thompson's Commission on a Quality Workforce.

The program is a cooperative effort between business, the school district, and the technical college. Enrolled high school students will attend classes for three hours in the morning in tech-prep to finish their high school diplomas. The students then go to a technical college training site for an hour a day of printing instruction. Finally the students go to the work place for three hours of on-the-job learning under the supervision of a skilled worker.

After completing the apprenticeship, the student has four different paths to select for a career. He can choose to put his newly acquired skills to work by entering the jobforce or he can pursue his interests further in the adult apprenticeship program. He can also decide to continue his education in either a 1-2 year Associate Degree program in vocational education or attend four year college.

Considering a large percentage of Wisconsin's student population never graduate from college and are often unprepared for the technical rigors of the Workplace, this innovative plan takes a bold step in the right direction to achieving a successful formula for Wisconsin: high skills, high productivity and high quality in the workforce equal high pay, and a high standard of living.

Forfeits End Softball Regular Season

By Statesman Sports Writer

KEWASKUM — Forfeits, of all things, played a major role in determining which teams did, or did not make the playoffs in the Village of Kewaskum Athletic Association softball races last week.

On Thursday night, just one game out of the four scheduled games was played, and that ended quickly. L and R Trophy blasted On-R-Own 12-0 to nail down one of the top two seeds. L and R will play C.C.'s in a makeup game before the playoffs start to determine the first and second seeds.

C.C.'s was one of the teams to receive a forfeit win on Thursday, as were C.C. Cody's and Emun Mill Gamefarm. Emun Mill as slated to play Mugshots in a game that would have determined the final playoff spot, but the Mugshots team showed up a bit late, sending Emun Mill to the playoffs.

A forfeit almost cost Schluffy's a spot in the playoffs on Tuesday night, as well, as Schluffy's, needing either a win against T's Lounge I or a loss by Amerahn, ended up being part of a double forfeit, as neither T's Lounge I or Schluffy's had enough players.

But Amerahn, needing a win against last-place Neuville to make the playoffs, was unable to chalk up the victory. Neuville Chevrolet scored twice in the top of the seventh to tie the game, and then added another run in the eighth to win 14-13.

In other games Tuesday, first place T's Lounge II won easily over Hometown, 10-0, while C.C. Cody's outlasted Campbellsport Building Supply, 13-7.

In the final week of regular season play in the Monday night women's league, Riverview Tap and Shefond nailed down the final two playoff spots, joining T's Lounge in the battle for the championship.

Riverview qualified by beating Kohlsville Auto Body 6-2 in their first game, and then downed Kewaskum Frozen Foods in the second contest, 11-3.

Shefond, meanwhile, lost their first contest to Kohlsville Auto Body 5-4 in eight innings, but came back to defeat Kewaskum Frozen Foods 9-5, to clinch a berth.

T's Lounge had just one game on the night, beating Kohlsville Auto Body 7-6 in nine innings.

Playoffs got underway this week, with the schedule for games listed below.

Hunting Application Deadlines

Most of the hunters have not even purchased their 1992 hunting licenses as of yet, but, some of the Application Deadlines are quickly approaching.

Horicon Zone Goose Permit Applications along with Collins Zone and Exterior Zone are due by August 28th. There is no longer a Theresa Goose Zone as in the past. The Horicon Zone has been expanded to include the Theresa and Pine Island Zones. The eastern boundary line will be Hwy 45, for the Horicon Zone.

One other consideration for the Horicon Zone hunter will be the fact that the maximum allowable harvest of Canada Geese for Wisconsin will be 66,700 birds, down about 100,000 from last year. What does this mean, a daily bag limit of one goose in the Horicon Zone and hunters selecting the Horicon Zone will probably receive only one or two tags, depending on the number of applications received.

The deadline for hunters choice applications will be September 20th. The deadline for Bobcat, Otter and Fisher will be October 2nd. The deadline for Spring Turkey Applications will be December 10th.

The application fee for the above listed applications is $3.00 and is paid when the application is picked up.

If you have any other questions on the applications or any other topic feel free to give me a call.

With the opening of school next week, it means the fall sports season is ready to get underway, as football, volleyball, girls tennis and cross country practices got underway the past couple of weeks. Above are some scenes from the Indian football drills, including (1) Coach Clark Pearson (back to camera) working with defensive lineman on the two-man sled; (2) the Indians running sprints while practicing kick-off coverage; (3) and assistants Perry Koth (white) and Randy Westermann (blue) going over defensive coverages. A preview of football, as well as the other fall sports will appear in next week's Statesman.

Help Build a Baseball Diamond

A baseball diamond lights up the eyes and imagination of the young ball player. When the first step is taken onto a ball diamond, visions of future diamonds in the big leagues flash into the young dreamer's mind. Stretching the double into the triple, stealing home base, or hitting the home run that wins the game are all part of being a young player.

These dreams can become a reality with the creation of the Dundee Sportsmen's Club ball diamonds. They are needed! Our major leaguer's to be have no place to go after they finish Little League. Those so needed skills they have just begun to learn can no longer be developed further because there is no place presently for them to play. A pony and league area playing field is needed. The Sportsmen's Club is at present starting one diamond for our community's young people.

You can support the Club's efforts and the future dreams of many of our young people by attending the Dundee Sportsmen Club's Annual Brat Fry, Sunday, Sept. 6 from 10:00 a.m. till?

Features include:

- Drawing for $5,000 raffle at 6:00 p.m.;
- Beverly Kay, psychic numerologist, will predict your exciting future 12:00 noon - 8:00 p.m. (come early);
- Huge Rummage Sale from 8:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m.;
- Music by Soul Survivors, 2:00 - 6:00 p.m. (60's and 70's music);

FLAG FOOTBALL

The Kewaskum Athletic Club - Youth Division is again sponsoring a Flag Football League this fall for all 6th, 7th and 8th graders in the Kewaskum School District. One goal of this program is to teach football fundamentals which can be used at the high school level.

The cost to play will be $5.00 per family. The $5.00 contribution is a membership fee to the Athletic Club and allows participants in any Athletic Club sponsored programs for the year. All players interested should fill out the application below along with the $5.00 and send it to Jerry Marx or Tom Bartelt.

 Kewaskum, WI 53040

Tom Bartelt

All players MUST attend an organizational practice on August 29 at 1 p.m. at the Varsity Football Field behind the Kewaskum Elementary School.

Participants are the key to the success of these programs. Any parent or person interested in coaching or helping to run this program should contact Jerry Marx or Tom Bartelt or attend the organizational meeting on August 29, 1992.

SPECIAL NOTE: This program depends on participation of the players and parents willing to give a few hours of their time. We are in dire need of coaches, time keeper, announcer and people to run the yard markers. If enough volunteers do not come forward in the next 10 days, there is a very strong possibility we will have to drop this successful program for the kids.

Kewaskum Athletics Claim Rock River Title

By Statesman Sports Writer

KEWASKUM - It certainly has been a good summer for the Kewaskum baseball teams.

After the Kewaskum High School baseball squad claimed their first-ever Eastern Wisconsin Conference baseball crown, the Kewaskum Athletics completed the sweep, beating Juneau 15-2 in eight innings to capture their first ever outright Rock River Northern Division Championship. The Athletics scored in every inning on their way to winning the first league title, Land O'Lakes, Tri-County, or Rock River, since 1950.

Several members of the Athletics played on the 1988 squad that won the Tri-County Grand Championship, but even in that record-setting year, the Athletics finished in second place during the regular season.

"We really ripped the ball," a jovial Doug Gonring, player/manager of the A's, said regarding the game. "It really felt great (to win the title)."

Actually, the A's didn't clinch the title with their win on Saturday. The clincher came on Sunday when second place Oakfield, which had lost to Horicon on Saturday 3-2, dropped a 9-2 decision to Slinger, giving Kewaskum a two-game lead with just one contest left.

Kewaskum sits on top of the Northern Division with a 12-3 mark, with Slinger now in second place with a 10-5 record.

The A's wasted little time in getting on the scoreboard Saturday, as Gonring drilled a three-run homer in the top of the first to give Kewaskum the lead for good. Gonring's blast scored Mark Schlosser and Dave Donath, each of whom had walked.

"It's about time," Gonring said about his 3x5, 5 RBI performance. "It was good to hit the ball again."

A's outfielder Andy Hoenecke is probably feeling the same relief, although his lack of hitting the past few weeks came with good reason - he had a broken arm. Hoenecke returned to the A's lineup recently, though, and has since gone 7x15, with six RBI's.

"It's nice to have him back," Gonring went on about Hoenecke. "We really missed him when we were struggling the last few weeks."

The A's chalked up single tallies in the second, third and fourth innings, and then erupted for four runs in the fifth. Hoenecke, Kevin O'Brien and Dave Donath each had run scoring doubles in the inning.

The A's got two more in the sixth, on Hoenecke's two-run homer, and then won the game via the 12-run rule with three runs in the seventh.

Tim Heberer came through with one of his usual steady performances on the mound, scattering six hits in six innings of work. Heberer struck out five and walked none before giving way to Dennis Aupperle, who allowed two hits the rest of the way.

The Athletics pounded out 17 hits in their seven innings on the plate. Rick Peck went 3x4, marking him 11x14 his past four games, and 14 for his last 19, while Donath and Terry Koth each added a pair of hits. Also, Mark Schlosser drew three walks, and went 1x2 with a solo homer.

The A's finish their regular season this Sunday at Slinger.

A's Capture First-Ever Grand Championship

Although it appears he doesn't have a clue where the ball is, the Athletics' Mark Schlosser showed Saturday that he can still see clearly, as he was one of three A's to rip homers in their 15-2 title-clinching win over Juneau. Don Menzel (right) also has been a key to the A's success this season, as he fanned 16 Fond du Lac batters in a 10-3 win the previous week.

Athletics Win Pair; Move Closer to Title

By Statesman Sports Writer

HORICON — The Kewaskum Athletics baseball team moved even closer to clinching the Rock River Northern division baseball title, as the A's chalked up two more wins recently.

Making up a game that had been called because of wet grounds, the Athletics manhandled Fond du Lac 10-3, behind the pitching of south loner Don Menzel.

Menzel, one of three defies that manager Doug Gonring has called on to pitch this year, struck out 16 batters in the win over FDL, 13 through the first six innings. Menzel allowed just six hits in the contest, and also walked six more.

"He was unbelievable," Gonring said of Menzel's outing, adding that the Athletic hitters "finally got going," collecting a total of 10 hits, led by Barry Wenzlaff's 3x4 performance.

The game also marked the return of A's outfielder Andy Hoenecke, who broke his arm after getting hit by a pitch earlier in the year. Gonring said that he welcomed Hoenecke's return, as the Athletics had been struggling at the plate in recent weeks.

Hoenecke wasted no time in making his presence felt, as the Athletics took on Horicon the following day, coming from behind to score 11 runs in the three innings, en route to a 14-5 win.

Hoenecke went 3x5 in his second game back, collecting a double and three RBI's. Rick Peck, who also has been ripping the ball as of late, joined Hoenecke in collecting three hits, as Peck went 5x8 in the two weekend games.

Gonring got another good outing from Tim Heberer, who gave up eight hits in seven innings of work. Heberer looked a bit shakey in the third, when Horicon erupted for five run homer. But the lefty threw goose eggs the rest of the way, before giving way to Doug Stern in the eighth.

Terry Koth, Dave Donath and Greg Rinn each ripped solo home runs for Kewaskum, with Koth and Rinn collecting three hits, and Donath two. In all, the Athletics ripped out 19 hits.

Still, the A's trailed 5-3 heading into the seventh, before putting up a four-run inning, followed by two more in the eighth, and another five in the top of the ninth to seal the win.

The twin wins gave the Athletics an 11-3 mark in the Rock River North, a game and a half ahead of Oakfield.
