Kewaskum Juniors Sponsor Bike-A-Thon

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced recently that the Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club will serve as coordinator for the Kewaskum "Wheels For Life" Bike-A-Thon. The event will be held on September 26, 1992 at the Kewaskum High School track from 9 a.m. - noon.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, which was founded in 1962 by the late entertainer, Danny Thomas, is America's largest childhood cancer research, treatment and education center. The Memphis based hospital has a local impact because it freely provides area doctors and hospitals with assistance in diagnosis and the latest information for treatments and procedures.

The non-sectarian hospital currently follows over 4,500 active patients. Because treatment is provided to all patients regardless of their family's ability to pay, it costs St. Jude Hospital over $215,000 per day to keep its doors open. These funds come primarily from public donations.

Sponsor forms are available at the Kewaskum Statesman, Video Post or by calling Jenny at 626-4074. Prizes are available to individuals collecting $30 or more. Everyone is welcome to participate.

Heated Contests, Good Weather Bring Out Voters Schulteis Defeats Grover in Sheriff's Primary

By Gerry Mueller

Voting at most area polling places was brisk and heavy Tuesday as electors came out to express their preferences in the fall partisan primary. Near the close of poll hours, voters at some places in the area found themselves standing in line to get to the voting booths.

Among the races drawing the most interest was that of Washington County Sheriff where incumbent Sheriff Robert Schulteis was challenged by Washington County Sheriff's Department Sgt. James Grover.

Grover mounted an all-out campaign to win the Republican nomination for the November General Election. Despite a very heavy newspaper and poster blitz the last few weeks, Grover came up on the short end of the tallies. Unofficial counts show Schulteis defeating Grover 7,094 to 5,009. Schulteis will face Libertarian candidate Dave Ameringer in November.

In other county races, for Washington County Clerk, Republican incumbent Art Degnitz defeated his challenger Paul Tuscherer by a vote of 6,166 to 4,670.

Dorothy Gonnering defeated fellow Republican candidate Bruce Miller to win their party's slot for the Washington County Register of Deeds election in November. Gonnering received a staggering 76% of the vote, winning 8,325 to 2,663 over Miller.

On the state level, incumbent Mary Panzer, who formerly represented the old 53rd State Assembly District, warded off the bid of challenger David Schwengel 3,695 to 1,136 to run as the Republican candidate for the redistricted 59th District in November. She will face Libertarian candidate Kevin Schuenemann in that race.

A big surprise came in another highly contested race at the federal level where both Republican and Democratic hopefuls were making their bids to take Democratic incumbent

U.S. Senator Robert Kasten's seat away from him.

Kasten was able to hold onto his party's nomination, beating his challenger Roger Faulkner in the county's voting 8,429 to 2,562.

The upset came on the Republican side of the ballot for Kasten's post where Russell Feingold, a virtual "dark horse," pulled way ahead of the two top and more highly visible contenders Joe Checota and Jim Moody. In county voting, Feingold garnered 4,069 or 73% of the votes. Moody came in a poor second with 720 votes, Checota 584, Tom Keller 90, and Edmond Hou-Seye 59.

Still Time to Enroll at UWWC

Students interested in attending the University of Wisconsin Center-Washington County still have a chance to enroll in classes this fall.

According to UWWC Student Services Director Jan Ford, some classes are closed but there are still several sections in which students may register. "Students who have not yet applied have an excellent chance of picking up some classes," says Ford.

In early July, the campus reached its enrollment targets mandated by the University of Wisconsin. However, in response to high demand for classes at UWWC, the UW Centers allocated additional FTE (full time equivalency) space to the West Bend campus. The UW system FTE formula is determined by total number of credits available divided by 15 hours (the average credit load of full time students as determined by enrollment management policies).

"I'm delighted that we will now be able to accommodate the credit needs of our students, not only those who are currently enrolled but also those applicants who were placed on a waiting list."

Classes began on Wednesday, September 2, but, according to Ford, it is not too late for new students to begin. Interested students are encouraged to contact the Student Services office at 335-5201 as soon as possible.

Forum Sept. 16 On Proposed Ice Age Trail Corridor

Hikers can discuss the proposed Ice Age Trail corridor in Washington County at an open house forum scheduled for September.

The Department of Natural Resources, the National Park Service (NPS) and the Ice Age Park and Trail Foundation (IAPTF) recently completed preliminary planning work for the 45-mile trail corridor. The corridor defines a zone within which the Department may authorize state Stewardship grants to non-profit organizations for the acquisition and land rights for the Trail.

The first forum was held Wednesday, September 9, at the Washington County Courthouse in West Bend. The second forum will be held Thursday, September 16, from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Erin Town Hall, Highway 83 South.

At the open forums, representatives from the Department, NPS and IAPTF will be on hand to discuss the plan. Written comments also are welcomed and should be submitted to the National Park Service, 700 Rayovac Drive, Suite 100, Madison, WI 53072.

POW-MIA Vigil Set for Paradise Mall

The Vietnam Veterans of America, Kettle Moraine Chapter 448, will hold a 24-Hour Candlelight Vigil for POW-MIA's at the Paradise Mall in West Bend on September 11th and 12th.

The vigil will begin on Friday evening at 7 p.m. with an invocation by Rev. Ernest Norquist, father of Milwaukee Mayor John Norquist, who was interned by the Japanese during World War II.

Veterans organizations from throughout Washington County, community and religious leaders, and members of the National Alliance of Families for the Return of America's Missing Servicemen will participate in the Vigil, which is designed to generate public awareness on the POW-MIA issue.

Tom Heitman, POW-MIA Committee Chairman of the Kettle Moraine Chapter of Vietnam Veterans of America, explained that the vigil organizers hoped "to accelerate efforts to obtain the immediate release of any Americans still held captive in Southeast Asia and to further ensure the fullest possible accounting of those still missing."

"While the primary focus of the Vigil are the 2,266 men unaccounted for from the Vietnam War, including 40 from Wisconsin," Heitman said, "those missing from World War II and the Korean War will be remembered and honored as well."

A bamboo "tiger cage," similar to those used to hold American POWs in Southeast Asia, will be on display throughout the Vigil as a visible reminder of the plight of those held captive in Indochina.

On Saturday, a "rolling thunder" motorcycle procession will make its way through the streets of West Bend to the Paradise Mall for the Vigil's closing ceremonies.

The public is invited to participate in the Vigil at any time during the 24-hour period.

Teddy, alias Sandy, enjoyed his role in the Fireside's production of Annie.

by S. Callaway Roznik

Teddy, a seven year old shepherd/lab mix from rural Kewaskum, has been enjoying stardom this summer, appearing as "Sandy" in the Fireside's production of "Annie" at Fort Atkinson.

Owner Nancy Frank took the dog in when he needed a home, and the rest of the story is now history. Nancy's friend, who just happened to be artistic director of the musical, told her what the character, "Sandy" needed to do, and Nancy replied, "Teddy could do that!" So with Nancy's expertise in dog training, Teddy became an actor, wagging his way through nine performances a week, June through August. Acting was "in his bones," so to speaking, and he caught on fast to the meaning of applause. He'd eagerly anticipate each performance, winning both the hearts of the audience and also the cast members, especially the children. "The kids in the show really loved him," says Frank. Apparently so did the dog handler Nancy hired to take him to the shows. It seemed he couldn't bear to part with him, and asked Frank if he could keep Teddy. She consented, but not without some mixed emotions.

So now Teddy is content in his new home, retired from the limelight. His new role, the adored family pet, suits him just fine. But in his dreams, who knows --- Teddy --- the next Lassie? Well, even dogs can dream!

County Resident Almost Loses $800 to Telephone Scheme

A Slinger area woman almost lost $800 to a telephone fraud operation. The woman received a phone call from a telemarketer in Atlanta, Georgia who told her that she had won one of several possible prizes. All she had to do was send in $800 to claim her prize. When the woman remarked that she didn't have that much money, the cost of the "prize" was suddenly dropped to $500. The woman agreed to participate in the "contest" and was ready to send the money away, before reconsidering.

It is likely that if she had followed through, she would have been very disappointed. The merchandise, if it is ever delivered, is never worth the money paid by the participant.

Sheriff Robert H. Schulteis reminds County residents that Wisconsin law prohibits paying money to participate in sweepstakes. In the case of the Slinger woman, the telemarketer lied. It was not a contest at all. The woman was merely being asked to purchase a product, without knowing what the product was, sight unseen.

Because these schemes originate from other states, local law enforcement agencies can offer little assistance to victims, other than providing information on other agencies which can help. The best defense is not to participate in "get something for nothing" scheme, especially those in the form of a phone call.

Jennifer Liegl of Kewaskum, has been awarded a scholarship from the Two/Ten International Footwear Foundation. Jennifer was chosen from more than 1600 applicants to this year's program. Jennifer attends the University of Wisconsin.

Founded at 210 Lincoln Street in the historic shoe and leather district of Boston, the Two/Ten International Footwear Foundation was created in response to the suffering of shoepeople during the Great Depression. Now, more than fifty years later, over 13,000 members worldwide support its activities. Each year, Two/Ten provides some $1.3 million in assistance for shoepeople and their families, including college scholarships, job placement services, emergency financial assistance, social services and a comprehensive gerontology program.

The Two/Ten Scholarship Program was established in 1969 to help sons and daughters of the footwear industry meet the cost of education in colleges, universities, vocational/technical schools, and nursing programs. Scholarships are available to children of employees of the shoe, leather, or allied and to students who have worked in these industries for at least 500 hours in the year before an award is received. The awards, which are renewable for up to four years of undergraduate study range from $200 to $2,000. Two/Ten will award $450,000 to over 500 students from across the country this year.

For more information about the program, contact Michael Rosenblum at 1-800-FIND-210. Applications for next year's program are now available.

Daring our Children to Stay Off Drugs; National Dare Day Sept. 10

September 10 is National DARE day, a celebration of one of America's most important (and relatively little-noticed) recent success stories.

It's no longer fashionable for young people to use drugs. This is partly due to a broad social movement against illegal drugs, encouraging children to "just say no" to the illegal substances.

But intelligent and innovative programs are also playing a role, and one of the most important of these is the Drug Abuse Resistance Education program or DARE.

DARE is a preventative program designed to stop drug abuse before it starts. It teaches techniques young people can use in their daily lives to resist peer pressure — it helps make "just say no" a practical strategy.

The DARE program instructors are carefully selected, thoroughly trained uniformed law enforcement officers on full-time duty with the project. They frequent schools to present a truly comprehensive anti-drug education program.

The DARE instructors introduce students to the truth about drugs from a realistic perspective — that of the law enforcement officers who have to deal with the awful public consequences of widespread drug abuse. The students learn that these local police are on their side — and that drugs are the enemy of a successful future.

When I conducted a crime fact-finding tour of the state in August of 1991, local law enforcement officials emphasized their need for increased funding and resources for the DARE program. That's why, last November, I pushed for — and won — an additional $500,000 in Federal funding for DARE officer training.

And this May, I introduced legislation that would provide $50 million in increased operational funding for the DARE program.

My bill would not just expand the funding — it would expand the scope of the program as well. Today, DARE education in many schools is limited to certain specific grade levels. I think all grades (kindergarten) through Grade 12) would benefit from this program, as well as the concerned parents who want to help their children grow up drug-free.

All across Wisconsin, parents and law enforcement officers told me how helpful the DARE program is to the work they are trying to do. I am more committed than ever to the success of this program — and on National DARE Day, I think we ought to express our gratitude to Wisconsin's DARE officers for the terrific frontline job they are doing for our children.

Kewaskum Juniors Open Club Year

The GFWC Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club began their 26th year of community service with their opening club meeting on September 1, 1992 at the Kewaskum Municipal Building.

The program for the evening featured Terry Rosenthal, the Kewaskum High School German teacher, who explained the upcoming student exchange program between Kewaskum High School and their sister school in Germany.

German students will be arriving in Kewaskum on October 1st. They will stay with host families for a three week period during which time they will have the opportunity to experience high school life in Kewaskum. In June, some of our Kewaskum students will travel to Germany for the same experience.

Mrs. Rosenthal's enthusiasm for this new educational opportunity for the students was evident in her interesting presentation. Refreshments and conversation followed the program.

Our club business meeting was called to order by President Terry Christie. Events in which Kewaskum Juniors will be involved this fall include sponsoring a St. Jude's Benefit Bike-A-Thon on September 26th, the Village Employee Appreciation Luncheon on October 22nd and A Kettle Country Christmas Art/Craft Fair on November 21st.

Kewaskum Juniors is an open membership volunteer organization that invites any woman interested in becoming involved in community projects to join us. Membership in Kewaskum Juniors has lots to offer. Call Holly Knurr at 626-4893 for a membership brochure. Our next meeting is October 6th at 7 p.m. Arnie Stommel of Kewaskum will demonstrate the art of cake decorating.

In Kewaskum the boys burglarized the Schaefer Bros. garage. They gained entry by breaking a rear door window and unlocking the door. The cash register was rifled and papers strewn about the floor. About $15.00 in cash was taken. All of the youths were captured Thursday. The little village of St. Lawrence, northwest of Schleis-ingerville, was threatened with extinction last Sunday by a conflagration which took the efforts of several neighboring fire departments to get it under control after the most desperate fight. The fire broke out in the afternoon, probably from spontaneous combustion, in the Miller Cheese Box factory. It was discovered by the little Miller girl who notified her brother. He gave the alarm. The blaze got a good start and spread so rapidly that the factory was down in fifteen minutes. The Hartford and Schleis-ingerville fire departments were both notified and assisted in checking the flames. In this they succeeded only after two houses and two barns had burned to the ground. It looked as if the entire village was doomed.

The St. Lawrence fire department put up a good fight until the other departments came and assisted them. The buildings destroyed by the conflagration are the Miller factory together, with the barn, dwelling house, shed and the residence and barn of Mrs. Emma Pammelsberger. The damage is estimated at about $10,000. The origin of the fire is not known.

An automobile driven by Ed Wietor of Ashford was wrecked last Monday night near Campbellsport as he was driving home after the reception for drafted men that evening. The car ran into a telephone post and was demolished. Wietor and four companions escaped injury.

Dan Gauvin of Wild River Taxidermy, Kewaskum, puts the finishing touches on a rare piebald deer. The unusual yearling doe was taken last year by Trever Roesel of Adell as he bow hunted near Rhinelander. It is estimated that only one out of every 24,000 deer is a true piebald. They differ from albinos (which are protected) in that they have brown eyes and a sprinkling of dark spots over a pure white coat.

'Focus On the Family' Film Series At Campbellsport

Over 50 million parents have been inspired by Dr. James Dobson's Focus on the Family film series. Now, building on that nationwide groundswell of interest, Work Publishing and Focus on the Family, Inc. have released Turn Your Heart Toward Home. In this bold new film series, America's most trusted family life expert brings his vast experience to bear on one of society's most pressing challenges, the protecting and strengthening of family relationships.

The first discussion - provoking film of this six-part series, A Father Looks Back, will be shown at the First Baptist Church of Campbellsport, 320 E. Main St. (Hwy. 67) on Sunday, September 13, 1992 at 7:30 p.m.

The remaining five films will be shown every Sunday evening at the same time through October 18, 1992.

Citing example after familiar example, Dr. Dobson portrays the pressures today's parents are susceptible to. He reminds them of society's slide toward humanism and the undermining influences of radio, television, films and the press, which can only be counterbalanced by a loving home where Christian values are instilled from an early age.

A swelling majority of Americans sense the vulnerability of their own families and are willing to make all commitments necessary to preserve them. Dr. James and Shirley Dobson urge those individuals to get involved and return to the traditional values upon which families are best created and nurtured. Turn Your Heart Toward Home is a personally challenging film series that every parent should see.

Navy Seaman Recruit Ralph A. Boettcher, son of Cliff and Marlene R. Boettcher of W 2556 Auburn Ashford Road, Campbellsport, is currently aboard the amphibious transport dock USS Trenton, homeported in Norfolk, VA and is midway through a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean.

Boettcher participated in training exercises designed to test the readiness of the ship and crew, as well as two separate combined amphibious exercises with the Spanish Navy and Tunisian military forces. The ship participated in exercise Ellipse Bravo in support of Operation Provide Promise involving search and rescue, communications and radar support in the international waters of the Adriatic Sea due to the current situation in what was once known as Yugoslavia. The ship is playing an important role in the United Nations humanitarian relief flights to the war-torn city of Sarajevo.

In a humanitarian effort during a visit to Haifa, Israel, the USS Trenton's crew responded to a call to donate a rare type of blood to help save the life of an Israeli woman. Of the eight sailors and one Marine who had the blood type required, all volunteered to make the life-saving donation.

Boettcher visited Naples, Italy, for Fourth of July celebrations, during which Trenton's sailors and Marines attended the annual Fiesta Americana held by the city's American community.

Ziegler Livestock Purchase Benefits Food Pantry

Al Froehlich, (left) president of West Bend's Full Shelf Food Pantry, accepts a donation from B.C. Ziegler and Company President Peter Ziegler. The donation will be used to purchase pantry staples that feed needy families in several Washington County communities.

WEST BEND — B.C. Ziegler and Company has used proceeds from livestock purchased at the 1992 Washington County Fair's livestock auction to make a $1,000 donation to the Full Shelf Food Pantry, Inc. of West Bend.

This is the second year that Ziegler has purchased livestock at the fair. The animals, a steer raised by April Schill, Hartford; a hog raised by Ryan Herman, Allenton; and a hog raised by Kevin Rate, Slinger, were raised as part of FFA or 4-H projects undertaken by the youths. The livestock was sold by the company at market prices, with proceeds used for the food pantry donation.

The donation was presented to the pantry's president, Al Froehlich, Thursday, Aug. 27. "We appreciate this donation; we'll be able to use it to stock the pantry with some of our most-needed items," said Froehlich. Those items, according to Froehlich, include canned soups and vegetables, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles and sauce, boxed macaroni and cheese, flour, pancake flour, baked beans, cereal and peanut butter.

The Full Shelf Food Pantry, Inc., which serves families in West Bend, Jackson, Allenton, Newburg and Kewaskum, welcomes all non-perishable food donations.

B.C. Ziegler and Company, headquartered in West Bend, is a financial services firm with retail investment offices nationwide.

Excerpts from As I Remember

by Marvin Martin

In the fall of the year, it was not unusual for neighbors to go to corn husking bees to help the farmer husk his corn, with a lunch after completion. If you were building a home, it was customary for people to help with putting laths in the homes which were plastered.

People did a lot of processing of meats and vegetables. It seemed like late December was the time to slaughter pigs and process them, making sausage, rendering lard, and frying down meat which could be used later on. The fall of the year was oft-times canning time, and the produce of the garden was put into storage, cucumbers were sliced and salted and put up in earthenware jars. Sauerkraut was made the same way.

Anyone interested in improving their photographic skills is welcome to join this informal group at Riveredge Nature Center.

More Math, Science Units Will Be Required for 1995 UW Admission

More high school math and science units will be required for admission to any University of Wisconsin System institution, including UW Center-Washington County beginning in the fall of 1995.

The total number of high school units required for admission will increase only by one, from 16 to 17, because the number of electives was reduced from five to four. A unit is equal to one year of high school coursework.

The new requirements will apply to students who graduate from high school in the Spring of 1995 and later. Such students must take three units each of math and science instead of the current two each. The UW System Board of Regents voted on the requirements earlier this month.

UW Centers Chancellor Lee Grugel said he supported the new requirements because "society needs people who are better prepared in math and science." He said students who plan to attend a UW Center in the future "would be well-advised to take more math and science in high school."

Grugel also said he saw these changes as an opportunity for the faculty and staff at the UW Centers campuses "to collaborate in making sure students learn about the new requirements and are well prepared upon high school graduation."

Jan Ford, Director of Student Services at the University of Wisconsin Center-Washington

County expects that most students hoping to attend a University of Wisconsin institution will have adequate time to take the appropriate number of math and science courses necessary for admission. "As of this fall, students will have three years in which they can complete the appropriate number of math and science courses needed to meet the new admission standards." Ford states that, "while many students are not entirely sure of their post-secondary plans as they move into their sophomore year in high school, it would be advisable for students to keep their bases covered by enrolling in appropriate math and science courses if there is any inkling at all that college is where they are headed." Ford, like other UW System administrators and staff members, will be working hard to insure that the new requirements are thoroughly understood by high school guidance counselors and prospective students and that there are "no surprises waiting for students as they apply for admission in 1995."

Under the 1995 requirements, students who want to attend a UW System school will, in addition to the three units each in math and science, take four units of English; three units of social science; and four units from any of the areas already mentioned, foreign language, fine arts, computer science and other academic areas.

Long Lake Fishing Club in Action

Recently the Long Lake Fishing Club helped give a "special day" to some of Campbellsport's "special" children. Because of the success of our Memorial Day rummage sale some of the $$$s helped to set up a wonderful morning of fishing for the Campbellsport Summer Enrichment Program sponsored by ARC, an organization which provides services for the developmentally disabled. Kathy Konstanz, director and Linda Holzmann, assistant director of this great and needed program hooked up with the Long Lake Fishing Club. Last year the Club got involved with the Hook, Line, and Sinker program and the Environment Awareness Program.

Pontoon captains, Al Mans, LLFC president; Dick Edwards, LLFC executive director; fellow Club members Jerry Blanchette, Ed Hafemeister, and Jim Porfilio and his executive officer Sharon had a wonderful time with the Campbellsport crew. The children arrived by vans to the Porfilio home and were directed down to Tittle Lake to sit at the firepit at the shoreline getting last minute instructions and learning about the Milwaukee River and Long Lake watershed by former Milwaukee school teacher and LLFC member. Putting life vests on before crossing the brow to the five pontoons awaiting them built the already high enthusiasm. The children were all excited as they came aboard their individual ship.

One boat at a time navigated through the channel leading to Long Lake. Then all pontoons sailed to their favorite fishing spot. They finally moored back at Porfilio's at a designated time period to share sea stories, fun experiences, count the fish, and eat ice cream donated from Kemps in Kewaskum.

The campers that came to Long Lake to go fishing were: Mark Dymale, Tony Comeau, Jonathan Comeau, Jeremy Comeau, Todd Koeller, Terry Koeller, Laurie Holzmann, and Allison Westemeier. The volunteers (the Westemeiers, Shawn, Kari, Amy, and Jerry) and the counselor aides, Liz Gudex, Angie Pieper, and Pete Lochen had as much fun as the campers.

Some of the treasured responses that were overheard on the way home were: "It was a lot of fun!" "I got to hold a yucky worm, but I caught some fish too!" "I caught two fishes! I like driving the boat!" by Laurie Holzmann.

Amy Westemeier was overheard saying, "I liked putting the worm on and casting it out." Allison Westemeier like riding in the boat. "It was fun when it went fast!"

Mark Dymale doesn't speak, but he was laughing and giggling the whole time on the boat. At first Kathy, director, helped him reel the line in, but later he wanted to do it all by himself. She couldn't cast the line out fast enough because he wanted to reel it in again. And the three times he caught and reeled in fish, he clapped and giggled with excitement.

Terry, Shawn, and Kari liked looking at the fish detector and the radio on the pontoon boat they rode on. "Look at the fishes we caught. We caught four fishes so far!", said Jeremy Comeau.

"Thank you again a thousand times over! It was fantastic experience that the kids definitely enjoyed!! You've given them something very special. Thanks again!" was the response from the thank you letter written by Kathy Konstanz.

The Long Lake Fishing Club is not just a fishing club. We are a community service oriented club.

Benton Exhibition At West Bend Gallery

Kewaskum Statesman, Thursday, Sept. 10, 1992, Page 11

The West Bend Gallery of Fine Arts is pleased to present the art of Thomas Hart Benton. His work is rich with connections to the land and interaction of people to the land. While Benton is known for his murals and ambitiously executed paintings depicting the places and people he knew best, his drawings are taking center stage in this exhibition. Benton could paint hillbillies, city slickers, old crumbling farms and steel mills with equal facility. It was his determination to seek out and record, through his drawings, all that interested him. Benton used his drawings as raw materials for his paintings, some based on sketches produced twenty years or more before. Consequently, at the time of his death in Kansas City, at the age of 86, some 1900 drawings remained in his studio. It is from this rich legacy of work that these sixty-six works were chosen. Henry Adams, guest curator for this exhibition, has written an insightful essay which poses the question, "Did Benton draw well?" This exhibition will help the viewer consider a response after viewing this diverse body of work in LASTING IMPRESSIONS.

Benton was born in Neosho, Missouri in 1889. Named after a great uncle who had been a major political figure in the U.S. Senate, he drew from the literary heritage of his family and applied it to his life as an artist, by expressing through his art, a concern for the American people, its land and politics.

Early studies include the Western Military Academy (1906-07) where he began drawing sketches and cartoons for a local newspaper. In 1908, he attended the Art Institute of Chicago. Benton later became a part of the intellectual art movement in Europe, moving to Paris to study at the famed Academie Julian. Here he became briefly influenced by Cubism and Synchromism. The most lasting impressions left by his European visit were the monumental works of the Italian Renaissance and the paintings of El Greco, especially the distortions of the human figure. In 1911, Benton became disillusioned with the European scene and returned to New York where he remained for the next twenty-four years. It was during this period that he established his reputation as one of America's foremost muralists.

In 1935, Benton returned to Missouri, accepting a teaching position at the Kansas City Art Institute. While there he completed his controversial work, "The Social History of Missouri" in 1936, and became an outspoken member of the new Regionalist movement. The Regionalists promoted the concept that art should be created for and enjoyed by ordinary people. Benton worked to solidify an American art which would draw its themes from history, folklore and daily life of common, folkloric and daily life, and in which modernist principles would figure only to the extent that they contributed to a graphic clarity of style easily grasped by everyone. By the end of the 1920s, he had crystallized his style and attitude. During the next decade, Benton, together with John Steuart Curry and Grant Wood, fortified the Regionalist movement in visual art. Benton's murals influenced the policies of governmental art programs during the depression, although Benton himself never completed any for federal programs. An articulate spokesman for the Regionalist point of view, Benton remained an outspoken critic of Parisian modernism. Contrary to common belief, he regarded his work as non-political in nature; in fact, he was scathing in his criticism of social realists who saddled their art with specific political overtones.

This exhibition has been organized through the generosity of Lyman Field and United Missouri Bank, Kansas City, Missouri, N.A., co-trustees of Thomas Hart Benton and Rita P. Benton Testamentary Trusts. The national tour has been developed and managed by Smith Kramer, Inc., a fine arts service company of Kansas City, Missouri.

The West Bend Gallery of Fine Arts is located at 300 South 6th Avenue in downtown West Bend. Normal gallery hours are Wednesday through Saturday 10:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. and Sunday 1:00 - 4:30 p.m. For more information call the gallery at 334-9638.

IRS Explains Audit Process

In an ongoing public education effort, the Internal Revenue Service offers the following explanation of the audit process.

The IRS conducts an audit to verify the accuracy of income, exemptions, or deductions.

Most tax returns are selected for audit by an IRS computer program that scores returns for the probability of errors. Other methods of selection include screening claims for refund of previously paid taxes and matching information documents issued for income, such as wages paid and dividends and interest earned.

While some audits do result in increased tax liability, many cases are closed without change, and sometimes an audit results in a tax refund. The IRS makes a special effort not to keep auditing the same people over and over on the same issue.

Only about one percent of all returns filed are audited each year. Some audits are done at the taxpayer's place of business, others at an IRS office, and many more through the mail. Increasingly, the IRS is looking for ways to help people get their return done right in the first place.

If you disagree with the results of an audit, you always have the right to appeal. If you are interested in learning more about the examination process, you can order the free IRS publication 556, Examination of Returns, Appeal Rights, and Claims for Refund, by calling toll-free 1-800-829-3676.

Pointers For Parents

Education Starts at Home

Even while school is in session, your home is the chief learning center for your child—and what's learned at home can really enhance the learning experiences that go on in school, educators agree. Here from Dr. Robert J. Kealey, executive director of the Elementary Department of the National Catholic Education Association (NCEA), are some suggestions for valuable home learning experiences:

- At least once a week, take your children on a planned trip—to a museum, the zoo, nature trails, sporting event, the beach, the shopping mall. A day at the beach can be fun and a half hour walk along the shore to collect shells can be most educational. A journey through a supermarket or other store instructs children in how items are grouped together, which is the same thinking process needed to classify elements in chemistry. On the way home discuss the experience and what was learned.

- Each day a few minutes should be set aside for the family to do nothing but read. This will establish a daily habit as parents serve as healthy role models.

- Children should also be involved in a variety of activities that foster writing skills. These activities can be as simple as writing a shopping list to writing a letter to a classmate or a report about a favorite TV show or activity. Keeping a diary also fosters the writing habit.

- Families should plan their weeks and days. Children should take part in this planning in order that they may learn and exercise true responsibility.

- Spiritual growth is also important. Each week should see the family regularly attend church together, spend some time reading brief selections from the gospels, discussing the meaning of this passages and praying together.

Monitoring of Wisconsin's Wolf Pack Continues in the Northwoods

PARK FALLS... Wisconsin's largest endangered species, the Eastern Timber Wolf, continues to be studied in an effort to better understand its niche in the state's woodlands. Over the past 12 years, Department of Natural Resources research biologists have learned a lot about this elusive, shy animal.

Wolf monitoring has been done since 1979 using trapping and radio-collaring, winter tracking studies, and summer howling surveys. The state's wolf population in 1979 was estimated to be about 25 animals. Today that population stands at 40, the most in recent history.

Adrian Wydeven, endangered resources biologist for the DNR, said that between October 1979 and October 1991, 64 wolves were trapped 73 times in Wisconsin and adjacent areas in Minnesota. These 28 males and 36 females included 31 adults, 23 yearlings and 10 pups, he said.

Wydeven found that adult males averaged 75 pounds and adult females 60 pounds. And, while sex ratios were about equal in adults and pups, yearlings represented 18 females to five males.

A disease known as canine parvovirus is believed to have decimated wolf numbers in 1985, when the population dropped to 15. Wydeven said that between 1981 and 1986, 22 of 32 wolves captured tested positive for parvovirus. Fortunately for the wolves, immunity toward the disease may have developed. None of seven wolves live-trapped in 1988 and 1991 tested positive for parvovirus.

Human actions, not disease, remain the biggest threat to the wolf's existence. Since monitoring began, 26 of the wolves fitted with radio collars have been found dead, 15 from human causes, including 12 which were shot.

Last May, the Alpha, or dominant, female in the Moose Lake Pack in Douglas County was found dead from a gunshot wound. Any pups she may have had perished with her, eliminating the pack's pup production for the year. A month later that Alpha's yearling daughter was trapped and radio-collared. It is believed she will take over her mother's role in ensuring the pack's survival.

Wisconsin's Timber Wolf Recovery Plan calls for an eventual population of at least 80 wolves. According to Wydeven, achieving this goal will take public understanding and recognition of the wolf's rightful place in the state's forest lands. It also takes money to continue the research carried on by Wydeven and others. Much of the funding for wolf monitoring comes from donations made to the Endangered Resources check-off on Line 19 of the state income tax form.

1992 Duck, Goose Season Dates Set

MADISON, WI — Waterfowl hunters planning for the 1992 Wisconsin duck and goose hunting seasons need to note changes in duck hunting hours and reduced goose bag limits following action taken by the Natural Resources Board at their August meeting in Superior.

The board approved a 30 day duck season for Wisconsin beginning at noon on October 3. Dates and bag limits for the 1992 duck season will be similar to the 1991 season but hunting hours have been changed, according to Jon Bergquist, DNR wetland and waterfowl ecologist.

The season dates for the northern duck zone are from noon on October 3 through October 11 and October 17 through November 6, Bergquist said. The season dates for the southern duck zone are from noon on October 3 through October 6 and October 14 through November 8.

"Shooting hours will be one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, except on October 3 when the season opens at noon," Bergquist said.

The daily bag is the same as last year and may consist of not more than 3 ducks to include not more than 2 mallards of which only one may be a hen, one black duck, one pintail, one redhead and 2 wood ducks. The season on canvasback is closed.

The major change in the goose season will be reduced bag limits. "We anticipate Horicon Zone hunters will receive only one or two tags this year because of poor production by the Mississippi Valley Population of Canada geese," Bergquist said. "The daily bag for Canada geese will be one in all of the zones." Bergquist also noted that Collins Zone hunters will receive three tags this year instead of the six they received last year.

Hunting hours in all goose zones will be from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, except on October 3 when hours will be from noon to sunset for the duck season opening, Bergquist said.

Four time periods have been established for the Horicon Zone: Period 1 - September 26 to October 23; Period 2 - October 5 to November 6; Period 3 - October 19 to November 20; and Period 4 - November 7 to December 14.

Four time permits were also approved for the Collins Zone as follows: Period 1 - September 26 to October 6; Period 2 - October 7 to October 18; Period 3 - October 19 to November 1 and Period 4 - November 2 to 20 and November 30 to December 4.

The board approved a season beginning on September 26 in the Exterior Zone with a daily bag of one. Bergquist added that the season will end on December 14, unless the harvest objective of 20,000 birds is reached at which time the season will be closed.

The goose seasons in the Mississippi River subzones will not open until October 3 and will run concurrent with the duck seasons in both the north and south parts and then continue through December 14.

Bergquist advises goose hunters to check the 1992 waterfowl season pamphlet for dates of special Canada goose seasons and closing dates for other geese in each zone and subzone. Also hunters are reminded that the deadline for Horicon and Collins zone applications is August 28.

Indian Spikers Move to 2-0 in EW

By Statesman Sports Writer

PLYMOUTH — Kewaskum volleyball coach Dave Rizzardi expected that his Indian team would probably beat Plymouth here, last Thursday. So when he looked at the scoreboard in the first game and saw his Indians down 7-2, Rizzardi was a bit concerned.

"It got me a bit worried, yeah," he said, although the worry was short-lived. That's because Kewaskum was able to get on track, coming back to win the opening game 15-10, and then trounced the Panthers in the second game, 15-0, to win the match and up their record to 2-0 in Eastern Wisconsin Conference action.

"We started out slow...again," Rizzardi said of the first game. "Our passes weren't there, and we weren't moving our feet on defense." A couple of hard spikers by the Indians were handled well by Plymouth, and "that might have taken a bit out of us."

But that's when senior Kim Sabish showed her leadership, firing up her team with her back-row play. "Kim really took control in that first game," Rizzardi said, adding "She really got us going."

Sabish's play helped the Indians slowly pull away from the Panthers to take the first game, and set the stage for the second-game wipeout.

"It was a combination of our serving, and their poor passing," Rizzardi said of the shutout. Christa Schmidt did a good job serving, according to her coach. "She really had a nice run in that game, so did Ginger (Wiesner)."

Schmidt served up three aces in the game, helping Kewaskum win the match. Schmidt also led the Indians offense with eight points, tying Julie Mertz in spike kills with four each. Sabish and Rachelle Krahn each had six assists.

The third game was a nailbiter, as Plymouth eventually came out on top, 15-13. "Our second unit really did a nice job," Rizzardi said of his juniors. "It was a real back-and-forth game."

All in all, it was a good night for the Indians and Rizzardi, who is encouraged by the way his team comes back after falling behind. "They're not going to give up without a fight," he said. "I was real happy with the way everything went."

Hopefully the wins will keep on coming, as the Indians play Chilton away on Tuesday, and then return home on Thursday to host Kiel. "The girls are looking forward to (this week)," Rizzardi said, noting that both Chilton and Kiel split with the Indians in their opening tournament, won by Kiel.

SHEEPSHEAD WINNER'S

5 handed winner's on Wednesday, Sept. 2nd were: Carol Treesh, 58-2-56, 20-2-18; Frank Krueger, 67-15-52, 21-8-13; Andy Bolender, 54-5-49, 19-3-16; Walter Bartelt, 50-2-48, 19-1-18; Marion Darmody, 51-4-47, 13-3-10; Faye Keller, 48-2-46, 22-2-20; Vern Schneider, 53-7-46, 15-4-11.

The next 5 handed will be Thursday, Sept. 10th and Wednesday, Sept. 16th at 8:00 p.m. sharp. Schmitt's Never Inn.

Frosh Spikers 2-0

By Statesman Sports Writer

PLYMOUTH — Kewaskum's freshman volleyball team is following in the footsteps of their varsity counterparts, as the young Indians swept their two matches this past week.

The Indian frosh beat Two Rivers on Tuesday, sweeping all three games, 15-5, 15-7, 15-12, and then came back on Thursday to beat Plymouth, 15-6, 15-7, 8-15.

Even in the third game loss to the Panthers, the Indians had reason to be pleased, as they fell behind 14-1, before battling back to make the score much more respectable.

"The team set the ball up well for our spikers," frosh coach Janet Molebash said of the Plymouth match. "We started out slow with our serves, but picked it up to dominate the game." Molebash pointed to Kelly Schrefler and Erin Stochausen for their serving efforts, while adding that Michelle Thull and Tanya Laubach combined for 13 spike kills.

The Indians JV's stumbled a bit in their opening match against Two Rivers, losing 9-15, 15-8, 9-15, but regrouped to come back strong against Plymouth, winning 15-13, 15-1, 14-16.

Serving was the key for the JV's against Plymouth, as Joanne Theusch "had two excellent serving games," according to coach Mary Holfeltz. Theusch had ten straight serves in game two, while "Tracy Jacak played a great net game." Also, Sara Weinreich "served well," according to Holfeltz.

Indians Roll in First EW Test

By Statesman Sports Writer

KEWASKUM - The Kewaskum volleyball team's first stab at things in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference provided Indian coach Dave Rizzardi with some rather encouraging thoughts.

"It was very encouraging," Rizzardi said of his squad's 15-5, 15-12, 8-15 victory over Two Rivers here, last Tuesday night. "It was a very good start for us."

Rizzardi was pleased with various facets in the win. One which had to pop to mind was the fact that the Indians got off to a fast start, unlike past trends which saw them fall behind early in matches.

"We started out pretty good," said Rizzardi, who was quick to point out that the Purple Raiders "didn't have as much of an attack game as we did."

The second game, though, Two Rivers was able to put a scare into the hosts, as the Raiders jumped out to a 12-6 lead. "We were having trouble passing... committing a lot of unforced errors."

After a few timeouts, however, the Indians were able to regroup, freezing Two Rivers at 12, and eventually overtaking them to win the game and the match.

"We were able to overcome that (falling behind)," Rizzardi said. "For that to happen in the first match of the season... it gave me a lot of encouragement. I know that this team won't go down easy. Knowing that we will never be out of a match until it's over... that's the best thing."

Just as delightful to Rizzardi was the play of his senior letter-winners. "All were able to contribute," he said, noting 6-2 spiker Robyn Winninghoff returned to action after being sidelined with an injury. "She's not 100 percent, but she looked pretty good."

Also looking good was the Indians' setters, Kim Sabish and Rachelle Krahn, who contributed 11 and five assists, respectively. Julie Mertz led the team with eight points, six by way of spike kills, while Christa Schmidt added five spike kills.

Rizzardi was also pleased with the Schlice twins, Bonnie and Marty, for their defensive efforts, while also praising the work of junior Ginger Wiesner, who served 17 times without a miss.

"You can't forget her. She's performed so well, stepping in and playing under all that pressure."

Getting off to a good start in the EW is a priority of Rizzardi's and he said he's happy with the way the team is playing. "Everybody's contributing" adding, "it's hard to mention everyone."

After a meet at defending EW champion Chilton on Tuesday, the Indians host Kiel this Thursday, before getting ready for Saturday's Campbellsport Invitational, which gets underway at 10 a.m.

Indian Boys Win CC Triangular

By Statesman Sports Writer

CAMPBELLSPORT - After getting nudged out of a first place finish by Howards Grove just a day earlier, the Kewaskum boys cross country team went out and took first in a triangular here, last Thursday.

The Indians finished with 39 points, while runner-up Campbellsport had 43 and New Holstein 47. On Wednesday, the Indians were edged 33-37 by Howards Grove, but beat fellow Eastern Wisconsin Conference foe Sheboygan Falls, which finished with 51 points.

At Campbellsport, New Holstein had two of the top three runners, but Kewaskum's consistency paid off, as Jeff Direier (18:26), David Gosa (18:26) and Randy Thull (19:06) finished 4-5-6, while Damien Doherty was eighth (19:10).

Other Kewaskum finishers were Jake Thull (16th, 20:51) and Dean Kries (17th, 20:52). New Holstein's Jason Meyer won with a time of 17:11.

In Wednesday's meet at Sheboygan Falls, Gosa led the way for Kewaskum with a time of 18:51, good enough for third, while Dirmeier was fifth (19:22). Randy Thull was next (sixth, 19:24), followed by Doherty (seventh, 19:33) and Jake Thull (16th, 21:18).

The Indian girls finished second at Sheboygan Falls, being the victims of bad luck in the process. Sheboygan Falls won with 26 points, followed by Kewaskum (38) and Howards Grove (70).

Kewaskum's Lynn Thull was winning the girls' race, but missed a cone in the final stretches and was disqualified. That made Chrissy Neumann the top Indians finisher, taking second with a time of 14:54. Greta Kuphal was fourth (15:17), followed by Rachel Chambers (sixth, 15:35), Susie Gauvin (ninth, 16:15), and Laura Dehler (17th, 20:03).

The lady Indians finished third at Campbellsport, finishing with 49 points, while New Holstein had 37 and the host Cougars 42.

Thull paced the Indians with her third place showing (14:21), followed by Neumann (sixth, 14:27), Kuphal (eighth, 14:36), Chambers (10th, 15:34), and Dehler (22nd, 20:17).

L and R Trophy Wins Thursday Crown

By Statesman Sports Writer

KEWASKUM — Albeit a bit late, the Thursday night championship in Village of Kewaskum Athletic Association men's softball league was finally decided here, last Thursday, at the Kiwanis Community Park.

L and R Trophy thwarted T's Lounge's bid for an unprecedented third softball title this year, beating T's in two straight games for the championship.

T's, which qualified for the title games with three victories in the qualifying rounds after finishing fifth during the regular season, was shut out by L and R in the first game 7-0, and then lost the second, 9-4.

In the first game, Russ Schlosser hit a pair of home runs and a triple for L and R, but also hit into the first triple play of the year in his final at bat. For T's, Don Menzel went 3x4, with two doubles, and also added a couple of diving catches in the outfield.

In the second game, Ken Heisdorf went 4X4 with a homer

THERE'S A BEE IN THE HOUSE
If a wasp or bee gets into the house, reach for the hairspray. Most insect sprays only infuriate them, but the hairspray stiffens their wings, immobilizing them immediately. This works on all winged insects.

CATTY REPLY

Pushing ahead of the housewives waiting in line at the supermarket, the smartly dressed woman snatched a can from the shelf and extended it along with a dollar, toward the checker.

"You don't mind if I get ahead of you just to get this can of cat food, do you?" she asked the shopper she had displaced.

"Goodness no," said the lady. "Not if you're that hungry!"
