Breakfast on the Dornacker Farm

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

The Washington County Dairy Promotion Committee invites everyone to their 7th annual "Breakfast on the Farm", hosted this year at Dornacker Prairie Acres the homes of Leo and Pat Dornacker, and Ralph and Arleen Dornacker, and their families.

Join them for an all-you-can eat pancake breakfast on Saturday, June 12, from 6:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at 5047 Cedarview Rd., West Bend, for only $3.50 (Children under five eat free!)

The farm has been in the Dornacker family for 130 years. Leo and Ralph's great grandfather originally started farming here in 1863 after coming to the United States from Germany. Leo and Ralph purchased the farm from their parents, George and Eleanor, 20 years ago. Their parents have been a great help to them throughout the years, lending a helping hand whenever needed.

The family owns 240 acres and rents an additional 360 acres. They raise corn, alfalfa, soybeans, wheat and oats. The crops are used to feed the 230 head of cattle on the farm. Crops not used as feed are sold for cash. There are about 100 Holstein milk cows, 40 steers, and 90 replacement heifers on the farm. The Dornackers use a milking parlor, computerized feeding system, and Slurrystore as part of their herd management.

Leo and Pat were married in 1963 and have two sons. Joel is married to Patti and has two sons, David and Benjamin. Joel is employed at Ram Tool, Cedarburg as a tool and die maker. Jon works as a semi-truck driver for Karavan Trailers of Hartford.

Ralph and Arleen were married in 1973 and live in the original farm house. They have four children. Lori will be attending UW Oshkosh this fall, where she will be in her second year of college, majoring in psychology and Spanish. Bonnie plans to attend Mount Mary College in fall and begin her studies to become an occupational therapist. Allen will be a freshman in high school and enjoys helping on the farm. Cindy, the youngest daughter, will be 6 years old in fall.

The Dornacker family takes pride in helping to produce pure and whole some dairy products like those you'll be able to enjoy at Breakfast on the Farm.

Ralph Dornacker is also Supervisor for the town of Addison, and Leo is on the Planning Commission for the town of Addison, as well as Vice President of Dairy Promotions.

Both brothers enjoy the Knight of Columbus, the Lions, Farm Bureau, the Moose, the Farm union, along with church activities. Ralph is a dealer of Blaney seed.

Their wives keep the farm running with recordkeeping abilities - Arleen programs the production records on her business computer, an essential part of the milk industry in terms of

KHS Commencement Held

The Kewaskum Community High School commencement for the Senior Class of 1993 was held Friday, May 28. The exercise began at 8:00 p.m. with the "Pomp and Circumstance" procession by the Kewaskum Symphonic Band.

The concert choir sang "Wings," followed by the graduation speaker Jenefer VanAssche.

Three students, Carrie Fellenz, Julie Mertz and Daniel Schulteis, shared the distinction of being class valedictorian with perfect 4.0 grade points while James Rix was the salutatorian.

The farewell address was given by international student speakers David Antequera Garcia, and Eero Partanen, Class President Tim Lettow presented the class gift and the closing reflections were presented by Melissa LeRoy.

Diplomas were presented by School Board Members Neal Weare and Ray Engelking.

The graduates chose purple and teal as their class colors, the rose as the class flower, and their song was "Where You Going Now."

The graduating class follows:

Library Celebrates 80th Birthday!

The Kewaskum Public Library will be celebrating 80 years of service to the community with an OPEN HOUSE on Friday, June 4 from 8:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. There will be displays, refreshments and door prizes. Children may also register for the summer library program "GO WILD-READ," at this time.

In 1913, the Kewaskum Women's Club asked the village president for space for a library in the Village Hall at 203 Main Street. A second floor room was converted to a library.

Miss Lilly Schlosser was appointed head librarian temporarily on June 3, 1913, with members of the Women's Club each taking a two-week term as librarian. The first library committee included Adele Gottsleben, Mrs. C. Hausman, and Edna Schmidt. By January of 1914, there were more than 250 patrons registered at the library.

On January 31, 1914, the Women's Club voted to hire a librarian for $52.00 a year, and Miss Gottsleben was appointed librarian by the library board and later hired by the village.

By 1915 there were approximately 500 books and seven magazine subscriptions in the library's collection.

The village board took the responsibility of governing the library in January 1916 by request from the Women's Club. The Women's Club continued their support by having card parties, lecture courses home talent plays, etc. In 1922-23 they redecorated the library. Most of their proceeds were given to the library in its early years and they continued their support with generous donations through the years.

Miss Gottsleben was the librarian until 1921. Between 1922 and 1924, librarians were Mrs. F.E. Colvin and Mrs. Norton Koerble. In 1923, after 10 years of operation, the library owned 1,244 books and received 11 different magazines. Kewaskum's population was 800.

Mrs. Fred (Elsie) Scheif was librarian from 1924 until 1964. In 1950 - 51 a new Municipal Building was erected at 204-206 First Street, which gave the library 1350 square feet of space. By that time the collection had grown to more than 3,000 books and 22 magazine subscriptions. The collection was transported to its new quarters by a brigade of Girl Scouts Kewaskum's population was 1,192.

Linda Borchert, who became a substitute in 1950, was appointed full-time librarian from 1952 until 1978. Evangeline Teeselink, who was hired as an assistant in 1969, took over the position of director in 1978.

In 1982, a three-phase building program on the Municipal Building was started, with the library addition completed in fall of 1985. The library increased in size by 122%, to 2,986 square feet. The old furniture, shelves, etc. were all cleaned and reused. A new check-out desk, card files, magazine shelves, reference area, study room were included in the addition.

Assistant librarian at that time was Kitty Hlavaty, who took over as director from September, 1987 until October, 1990. The next director was Ortrud Trapp. When she resigned in June of 1991, Luci Bledsoe became director. In August of 1992 when Mrs. Bledsoe took a position in Johnson Creek, the present director, Nancy Bauer was hired.

Today the library owns more than 14,000 books and more than 300 video cassettes. We subscribe to 64 magazines and 3 newspapers. Last year the library circulated more than 30,000 items to its patrons. Children enjoy storyhours during the school year, and a special reading program during the summer. The present staff includes director Nancy Bauer and library assistants Kitty Hlavaty and Darlene Rohlinger. The library is open 34 hours per week to serve you! Please stop in and see what your library has to offer!

their desire to constantly maintain their animals at a high rate of milk production.

Pat is the bookkeeper in the family, tying together all the aspects of farming, an organizing it as efficiently as possible. She also makes sure each farm book is kept up to date.

Some of the highlights of the day include: Live music from WTKM - Hartford and WBKV - West Bend, along with music right on the grounds. Don't miss the barn tours, petting zoo, hayrides, sample shack, and some down-home squared dancing. Several huge tents will be provided. Breakfast will be served rain or shine.

Speaking of breakfast, can they tempt your appetites with pancakes, sweet cream butter, maple syrup, sausage, grade A cottage cheese, fresh wholesome white or chocolate milk, Wisconsin applesauce, assorted cheeses, and creamy ice cream topped with strawberries or maple syrup.

Tickets are available at the farm the day of the breakfast, or from any Dairy Promotion member or by calling Jim Stoffel 626-2443, Betty Pamperin 629-5092 or Nancy Degnitz 692-2376.

Join Leo, Pat, Ralph and Arlene for a sampling of farm fresh foods and old-fashioned fun the entire family can enjoy.

Named to Kemper Executive Council

Carey M. Wolf of INVEST Financial Corporation in West Bend is one of 1,000 investment representatives from across the nation to be named to the Kemper Executive Council. This exclusive organization provides recognition and special sales support to high-performing investment representatives selling Kemper funds and annuity products.

Wolf became a Kemper Executive Council member in January, 1993, and will retain the status and benefits for one year. Less than .4 percent of all investment representatives selling Kemper products across the country qualify for membership in the Kemper Executive Council.

Wolf has been in the financial services industry for 16 years.

Degnitz Awarded Veterinary Nutrition Consultant Certification

Jennifer Degnitz

Jennifer Degnitz a staff member at the Kewaskum Veterinary Clinic, has been awarded the title of Veterinary Nutritional Consultant.

Jenny is going to school to be a Veterinary Technician at Madison Area Technical College. She will be graduating in May of 1994. This summer she's doing an internship at the clinic, working with both large and small animals.

This certification signifies that Ms. Degnitz successfully completed an in-depth continuing education program on canine and feline nutrition. To earn this achievement Jenny had to demonstrate proficiency and knowledge of nutritional-related health conditions, client counseling and risk factor management of pets.

The curriculum is offered to veterinary hospital staff through Hill's of Topeka, Kansas, a company long recognized for its innovations in pet health care and clinical nutrition. The program has been designed to enable veterinary hospital personnel to remain current on the latest and often times confusing area of pet nutritional needs.

Dog and cat owners are encouraged to visit or call the Kewaskum Veterinary Clinic and discuss their pet's nutritional needs with Jenny.

Historical Society to Visit Pioneer Village

On Sat., June 5th members and friends of the Kewaskum Historical Society will visit Pioneer Village, on Hwy. I in Ozaukee County.

Anyone wishing to go should meet in front of the community room at 11:30 a.m., or meet us at Pioneer Village at 12 noon.

If you have any questions or would like to become a member, please call Jake Schmidt at 338-1568, weekdays after 6 p.m.

Sheriff Warns Homeowners About Home Repair Schemes

An incident in the Town of Addison has prompted a warning from the Washington County Sheriff's Department regarding home repair schemes.

The department has investigated a report from a 75-year-old woman who stated that she was visited by two men who offered to seal her asphalt driveway for $250. They started the job, but once they received the money they departed, leaving the job uncompleted.

The vehicle involved is thought to be a 1973-1980 tan GMC pickup truck with an aluminum cap. The only description for the suspects is that they were Hispanic.

The sheriff's department reminds all homeowners to avoid doing business with persons who appear uninvited at their house. Be particularly careful of people who claim to have leftover materials from a job that was completed at a neighbor's home, and which is being offered at a discount "to avoid having to haul it back to the shop."

Older residents are often targeted, and should not be pressured into making a decision. No reputable business person would object to waiting for approval, even if it took a few days.

Typical home improvement frauds involve repairs to driveways, roofs, chimneys and furnaces, and installation of lightning rods. State law prohibits, among other things, the misrepresentation of guarantees, materials being used, special pricing, and necessity of repairs.

The appearance of an uninvited person, offering to perform home improvements as described above, warrants an immediate call to the sheriff's department. Vehicle license plate and suspect description would be helpful.

Wagner Attends Mid-Moraine Dinner Meeting

On Wednesday, May 19th a Mid-Moraine Dinner Meeting was held at the Village of Belgium Community Center. Bob Wagner was elected Vice-President of the Mid-Moraine Municipal Association Executive Board.

Mid-Moraine Municipal Assoc. is made up of officials of villages and cities in Dodge, Ozaukee and Washington Counties. The officials would be trustees, mayors, presidents aldermen, administrators, etc.

The purpose of this association is to exchange information and reports, discuss problems and mutual concerns, and review all pertinent legislative matters of the State of Wisconsin. Through personal contact and other means, they hope to influence state government, county boards and other units of government to become more responsive to the needs of incorporated municipalities.

They will also deal with any other matters that are of common interest to member organizations. This is also to make some good contacts with officials in other (networking) municipalities if Kewaskum needs help with a problem. This will also give the Village of Kewaskum high visibility and good representation.

Trustee Dave Goeden is on the Legislative Committee.

MEMORIES

The above photos are of the August Wesenberg accident which happened just south of the Boltonville Cemetery on June 29, 1916. The Wesenbergs resided in Kewaskum. August was killed, and his wife seriously injured. This could have been one of the first, if not the first fatal auto accidents in this area at that time. Do any old-timers remember this accident?

SOCIAL SECURITY... What's In It for All of Us?

By David W. Becker
Branch Manager

"What's in it for me?" That's a commonly asked question... and human nature being what it is, an understandable one. We hear it alot when it comes to Social Security, especially from younger workers. Benefits paid by Social Security are for more than just retirement. Social Security also pays benefits to younger people - disability benefits, payments to the spouse and children of someone with a disability, and survivors benefits for the members of a deceased worker's family.

We can also ask: "What's in it for all of us?" The answer to that question goes well beyond the bounds of assessing each American's personal investment in the Social Security system. When you consider that Social Security has brought generations of Americans from the brink of poverty to a safe plateau of financial independence, it's easy to understand why it is often regarded as one of the most successful of all government programs.

Social Security is a complex "social insurance" system that embodies elements of group term insurance, pension policies, and income redistribution. Unlike private retirement plans, social objectives are an integral part of Social Security.

One of those is ensuring that workers and their families are covered not only in their retirement years but also in the case of disability or death. In addition, the Social Security benefit formula is weighted in favor of workers with lower earnings who have less opportunity to save during their working years. They receive a Social Security benefit that represents a greater percentage of their average earnings than do their higher-salaried counterparts.

Some would argue that they could realize a greater return on their taxes if they were permitted to invest their own retirement funds. It is reasonable to assume that some individuals might invest their money profitably, avoid crippling disability or early death, and generally remain immune to ill fortune. These people would eventually be able to retire financially secure. But how does one determine before the fact who those fortunate few will be? Disability and death are equal opportunity occurrences, striking men and women of all ages. In fact, statistics show that about 42 percent of all men and 30 percent of women entering the workforce today will die or become disabled before reaching retirement age.

One of the advantages of requiring all workers to invest in a national pension program like Social Security is that the financial risks associated with life's misfortunes are spread throughout the population. In addition, a broad-based social insurance system reduces the impact that inflation and other economic setbacks can have on individual contributors.

Rather than considering private investments as an alternative to Social Security, they should be regarded as supplements to the program... especially since Social Security was never intended to be a retiree's only source of income.

So... what's in it for all of us? Considering what Social Security means to individuals in terms of retirement, disability, survivors, and family benefits and what it means to the country in terms of a better standard of living for many of its citizens, Social Security is one of the most important and far-reaching investments Americans, and America, can make.

KHS Child Development Classes Holds Preschool

The child development classes of Kewaskum High School recently held their three-week preschool for area three and four-year-olds. Juniors and seniors from Mrs. Carol Martin's child development class directed the activities for the children.

Each day included storytime, circletime, art and music with all of the activities planned by the students. A special thank you is extended to Shawn Roberts of My Little Friends Day Care of Kewaskum, for speaking to the high school students and giving them many great ideas to make their "preschool" a success.

Rhineland School of the Arts Celebrates 30th Anniversary

MADISON -- The UW-Madison School of the Arts will celebrate its 30th anniversary during its annual one-week program, July 19-23, in Rhineland.

More than 45 beginning to advanced workshops will be offered for adult students with an interest in creative writing, drama, dance, photography, the visual arts, folk arts and folk music.

Featured artists this summer include Diane Glancy (poetry/fiction); Dave Peterson (folk drama); and Muneer Bauhadden (clay sculpture).

The school is sponsored by the UW-Madison Department of Continuing Education in the Arts, in conjunction with the greater Rhineland community. Continuing Education Units (CEUs) and Department of Public Instruction clock hours are offered for teachers and others who want to earn these units as evidence of professional development.

Scholarships funded by area banks, institutions, businesses, corporations, and private individuals are available to help pay for tuition to the school. In addition, scholarships funded by the Wisconsin Rural Rehabilitation Corporation are available to members of family operated farms. Eligibility is based on Wisconsin residency and financial need.

For more information contact your area county extension office or public library or contact the UW-Madison School of the Arts at Rhineland, 727N Lowell Hall, 610 Langdon St., Madison, WI 53703, (608) 3494.

THANK YOU

I want to thank everyone for their kindness while I was in the hospital and recovering at home from the major surgery. A special thanks to Dr. Barger and Dr. Lewis and all the floor staff. A special thanks to my family, Rev. Hennings for his prayers and all my friends, neighbors and relatives, who remembered me.

This meant a lot to me.

June 11 - "A Healing Weekend," a panel discussions from New Horizons.

Realtors Attend Government Day

Darlene Kremer, Marilyn Filler and Gloria Rodenkirch of Hometown Realty of West Bend, Inc. and members of the Washington Board of Realtors, participated in the Wisconsin Realtors Association's annual Realtor and Government Day in Madison on May 5, at the Concourse Hotel.

Along with a briefing on the property tax rate freeze proposal, over 400 real estate professionals from throughout Wisconsin were addressed by Governor Tommy G. Thompson on the state of Wisconsin's economy.

"Realtors from around the state met with their legislators and discussed the property tax freeze and other issues of concern to the real estate industry and the state's economy," said Darlene Kremer, owner/broker of Hometown Realty of West Bend, Inc., 2375 W. Washington St., West Bend.

The Wisconsin Realtors Association is one of the most politically active trade associations in the state, representing over 10,000 members. The Association is headquartered in Madison.

"Hundreds of people expressed their concern and support for the property tax rate freeze," Kremer said. "We went to Madison to impress upon our elected officials the need to promote the American dream of home ownership and to protect the rights of homeowners in Wisconsin," she added. "Realtors expressed their strong support for the Governor's proposal to freeze the property tax rate, modify the mediation-arbitration law and provide mandate funding to ease the pressure on local property taxes."

Realtors attending Government Day in Madison were optimistic that 1993 would remain a good year for Wisconsin home sales.

Valley Bank Employee Recognized

Valley Bancorporation announced the certification of 91 employees at the Annual Awards banquet which were held recently in La Crosse, Madison, Appleton and Sheboygan. The certification program recognizes employees who have met ambitious educational and experience requirements. There are three levels to the certification program; professional, management and executive.

The Professional Certification Program is designed for all non-officer employees and provides a basis for encouraging them to further their education and to learn more about their banking career. The Management Certification Program, designed for people new to the area of general management, centers around building their supervisory and interpersonal skills. The goal of the Executive Certification Program is to provide executives with state of the art skills in leadership, planning, organizing, directing and coordinating.

An Executive Certification Award was presented to William Haskey, Valley Bank, Kewaskum, at the American Club, Kohler, on Thursday, May 13.

This Certification Program has been developed to encourage professionalism throughout Valley Bancorporation. This year's class of certified professionals brings the total to 590 Valley employees who have achieved this level of distinction.

Peter M. Platten, III, President and Chief Executive Officer, Valley Bancorporation, stated, "We thank our many employees for their commitment to continuing education. Their dedication enables us to build a strong management and employee team that will give our customers the best, most responsive service available. A service organization can only be as good as its employees, and we believe Valley is staffed with the best people in the banking industry!"

Valley Bancorporation is the third largest bank holding company headquartered in Wisconsin. Valley, with assets of $4.3 billion, currently serves Wisconsin through 154 banking offices with additional financial services companies engaged in insurance, trust services, securities, leasing, credit card servicing, and bank support services. The company's common stock is traded on the National Market System under the NASDAQ symbol VYBN.

Prayer to the Holy Spirit

Prayer through application to the Holy Spirit. Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, light all roads so that I can attain my goal. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things as you confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you, even and in spite of all material illusion. I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy toward me and mine.

The person must say this prayer for three consecutive days. After three days, the favor requested will be granted, even if it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after the favor is granted.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of BEU-LAH KOCH.

Time passes by and quietly steals days and years.

Changes are many and always will be, but the love that you gave each of us and the love we feel for you, will last forever.

There isn't a day that has passed that something hasn't reminded us of you. The warm sunshine, a smiling face, a friendly hello flowers blooming, and carrots in the refrigerator are all wonderful thoughts of you.

We wish we could see you again, but we'll have To wait until we join you in heaven.

We're glad we had as many years with you as we did And each of us is glad you didn't have to suffer anymore, When God called you home one year ago, June 7.

*We love and miss you,
Your family*

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of RANDY GIESE, who passed away twenty years ago, June 3, 1973:

This month comes to us with deep regret
It brings the day we will never forget.
His memory still is very dear.
So many times he seems so near.
No longer here our lives to share,
But in our hearts he is always there.
We miss him more each year
Some day we'll meet where there are no tears.

Sadly missed by the family

Fred J. Bury, Executive Director Of St. Joseph's Hospital Retires

WEST BEND... Keeping St. Joseph's Hospital "fiscally fit" had been the major focus of Fred J. Bury, the hospital's executive director.

Bury, 57, retired after 26 years of service, and concluded his administrative duties at the hospital on Friday, May 28.

According to Robert T. Rolfs, president and chairman of St. Joseph's Community Hospital's board, Bury has been a tremendous asset for both the hospital and the West Bend community, and attributes the financial success of the hospital to Bury's efficiency and vision.

"Fred and I have had a close hospital working relationship for more than 25 years. During that time, he has served his community well and has responded to the health care needs of a growing population. He has been extremely cost conscious without sacrificing quality of care," Rolfs said.

The hospital, which opened its doors in 1930, was originally owned and operated by the Sisters of the Divine Savior.

In 1969, St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend, Inc., became a separate, not-for-profit corporation directed by a 19-member board. In conjunction with this reorganization, Fred Bury was appointed as the hospital's first lay administrator.

Under his leadership the hospital expanded its facilities and services many times to meet the demands of an ever-growing population. He was instrumental in the direction and orchestration of two major building expansions.

The first occurred in 1974, and included a $5,500,000 addition to the west side of the hospital's campus. The new facility increased the hospital's bed capacity from 97 to 115 and provided necessary space for the incorporation of new services such as nuclear medicine and special radiology procedures.

To meet the needs of outpatient care, St. Joseph's added 47,000 square feet to the hospital in 1990.

This $8 million project took more than a year to complete and added a new east and northwest wing to the hospital.

Although no additional beds were added, a new maternity unit was built, complete with rooms for labor, delivery, recovery and post-partum care (LDRP rooms). In addition, every department within the hospital was either expanded or remodeled, and many were relocated to streamline the accessibility needed for outpatient services.

Consistent with his philosophy of staying "fiscally fit," Bury and the board of directors introduced the Capital Development concept to the community in 1977. Annually, this organized fund-raising program has provided dollars to purchase new equipment as well as providing financial support for physical improvements and additions. This has allowed a significant reduction in debt service and has kept charges at a minimum.

When asked about accomplishments over the past quarter century, Bury remains humble. He is, however, proud of the fact that since the late 1970s the hospital has remained virtually debt free. And, although health care costs have increased significantly over the past several years, St. Joseph's has continued to provide progressive, quality care while maintaining the lowest average cost per patient discharge of hospitals located within southeastern Wisconsin.

Bury conveys that St. Joseph's has remained financially sound because of the effort, knowledge, skills and concerns of the entire hospital family... the board of directors, medical staff, employees and volunteers. In addition, he attributes this success to the moral and financial support that the community has continually given to St. Joseph's.

"The interaction between the hospital and community has resulted in a good working relationship. We have continued to provide state-of-the-art services, and community support has enabled us to remain debt free through most of the last 20 years. This, in turn, has helped to maintain a lower cost for service," Bury said.

Paul Petri Earns Professional Honors

Paul D. Petri of Bob Fish Pontiac-Cadillac-GMC, Inc., West Bend has achieved the Master Technician qualification level in the 1992 GMC Truck "5-Star Performers" Transportation Technicians Guild program, an annual retail truck service recognition activity designed to improve the performance of technicians nationwide.

In conjunction with the Transportation Technicians Guild, a professional organization comprised of 6,000 service technicians nationwide, Paul has been recognized for achieving Guild Master Technician status. The program's status levels are based on points accumulated in several areas including national certification by Automotive Service Excellence (ASE), Guild Certification, and the successful completion of designated training courses and bimonthly quizzes.

The high level of performance reached by Paul demonstrates the commitment and enthusiasm of a true professional.

Letters to the Editor

Letter to the Editor:

To the 1993 Kewaskum High School Graduates:

I want to thank you for standing up to the current trend to not have prayer at commencement!

God has blessed America tremendously and now it seems America wants to ban God from everything He has given us or allowed us to acquire and do.

It used to be "In God We Trust" and now it seems that people think they are gods and only trust themselves. Our Constitution does not ban the students from praying and I commend you for saying you want to acknowledge that time in that special evening in your lives.

Stand up for God and He will guide and direct you. Don't buckle under the liberals and the threats of the ACLU. Someday they will be asked the explanation - of the decisions in their life as will you and I. God is the maker and sustainer of all and, please graduates, never forget Him. Make Him number one in your lives.

God Bless each one of you. I am proud to be an American who can still pray and today I am proud to be living in the Kewaskum School District, where our youth of today and our men and women of tomorrow stood up against the seeming majority that are moving away from God and the freedom He has given us, to the tactics of the liberals who are trying to get God out of everything He has blessed us with.

Watch Out! When God is removed, we shall fall and freedom will be gone.

Keep God in your life.

School District Chapter I Bowling Party Held

On Thursday, May 20, over 100 parents and students participated in the Second Annual Chapter I Family Night. Chapter I students enjoyed a free game of bowling compliments of Chapter I. The local 7 UP company generously donated free soda to all participants. The photo on the left shows Linda Gerlach assisting her son and Melissa Gerlach, Grade 2, Farmington, prepares to bowl in the photo on the right.

A Message from the Postmaster

Hello Kewaskum Statesman readers and how are you all doing today? This weekend, my parents and some "Fondy" friends are driving over to Kewaskum. We plan to visit the Post Office, eat breakfast and then "shop till we drop" in Kewaskum. Hope to see many of you and introduce you to my parents. Onto some Postal news.

In this week's column, I have some "tips for properly addressing letters." Did you know that the Guinness Book of Records reports that the longest personal letter ever recorded (based on word count) was 1,113,747 words? It took Jacqueline Jones of Lindale, Texas eight months to write the letter, sent to her sister, Jean Stewart of Springfield, Maine.

The first letter to travel by air in the country was written by President George Washington. A Frenchman, Jean-Pierris Blanchard carried it in a balloon from Philadelphia to a small clearing in the New Jersey woods 15 miles away. The date? January 9, 1793.

Thomas Brown, later the governor of Florida, invented the mailbox in 1810. It consisted of a series of numbered pigeon-holes with glass fronts, enabling the people to see whether there was any mail for them in their respective boxes.

A letter has the power to express thoughts and feelings and touch those we care about in a way that's more memorable and lasting than other forms of communication. Keeping alive the art of letter writing also helps promote literacy in our country. YOU can help the Postal Service to speed delivery of your letter by making sure it's completely addressed and that the address is legible.

No one likes to have a letter returned or misdelivered. Making your letters "smart" can help you avoid problems with insufficient or improper addressing which can cause mail to be delayed, misdirected or returned.

Studies indicate that 33 percent of the mail entering our mailstream contain one or more deficiencies. We see hundreds of letters every day, but unlike a misdiald phone number, most improperly addressed mail still gets delivered to the correct party. It is just time consuming and expensive for us to handle. To help you better understand proper addressing, I would like to recommend the following tips:

--As best you can, capitalize everything in the address and type or print clearly.

--ELIMINATE punctuation in your addressing.

--Use common abbreviations such as ST, RD, Cir and BLVD.

--Use the two-letter state abbreviations found in pamphlets available (free of charge) at the Post Office or call us at 626-2575 and we will be more than happy to assist you.

--Use the proper zip code. Did you know that if you address a letter and erroneously put the wrong zip code... it will go to the "erroneous zip code" location and will cause delay as it will have to be corrected manually and reentered into the mail stream from that location?

--Don't know the zip code? Call us as we will be more than happy to assist you. If you are looking one up at the Post Office, the first page of the "state listing" will tell you the zip code or direct you to the proper page for a city that has more than one zip code.

In addition to the above tips, the destination address should appear in the middle of the envelope with the recipient's name on the top line. The next line should contain the recipient's street address followed by the Post Office Box (if applicable). If for a multi-unit complex or apartment building, the room or apartment number should be placed to the right of the street address. The bottom line MUST show the recipient's city, state and ZIP code. Examples of "smart addressing" are:

MILWAUKEE WI 53201-1212

JOHN DOE
ABC MOVING COMPANY
2222 GREEN ST APT 216
MILWAUKEE WI 53222-1123

As always, we are here to assist you in any way with your postal questions, suggestions, concerns and problems. Delay and/or misdelivery of your mail is one of my utmost concerns. I may not always give you the answer that you like, but I will listen and do my utmost to give you the best possible service that we can. We are here to serve YOU... our customers!

Until next time... TRY to have a good day and a HAPPY EVERY DAY!

Your Postmaster, Bonnie

NOVENA TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN MARY

(Never known to fail). O most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this my necessity. O Star of the Sea, help me and show me here you are my Mother. O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in this necessity. There are none that can withstand your power. O show me herein you are my Mother. O Mary, Conceived Without Sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (three times). Holy Mary, I place this cause in your hands (three times). Sweet Mother, I place this cause in your hands (three times). Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, light all roads so that I can attain my goal. You gave me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evil against me and that in all instances in my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things as I confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you or your mercy towards me and mine. Amen.

The prayer must be said three days, even after the request is granted, and the favor must be published.

YOUR WISCONSIN GOVERNMENT Financing Local Education: Now a Hot Political Issue

By Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance

The impact on property taxes of financing local education has been a continuing political issue in Wisconsin. It achieved greater political prominence at the 1993 session of the legislature with Governor Tommy G. Thompson's (R) proposals to provide property tax relief.

The governor has proposed that property tax rates for each local unit of government, except vocational, technical and adult education districts, be frozen at the 1992 rate. He also seeks changes in the binding arbitration law to limit annual increases in local government employees' compensation.

REACTION TO GOVERNOR'S PROPOSAL

Based on polling information, the general public appears to favor the property tax rate freeze. Also supporting the concept are the Wisconsin Manufacturers and Commerce and other business organizations. Most organizations representing local governments either oppose some aspect of the governor's proposal or oppose the concept.

Organizations representing local government employees, including the Wisconsin Education Association Council (WEAC) representing teachers, oppose the property tax freeze. WEAC suggests instead that the state pick up 65% to 75% of the total costs of public education. WEAC has indicated it is willing to discuss possible changes in the arbitration law if the legislature and governor are willing to discuss changing the Wisconsin school finance system.

The Wisconsin Association of School Boards (WASB) has recommended a 4-year 4% limit on annual increases in teachers' compensation, compared to the 6.9% of recent years. WASB would not accept cost controls or a levy freeze without some change in bargaining and arbitration, and wants state school aids to be increased by at least 6% in each year of the next biennium.

Within Government. Although the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction (DPI) is a state agency, it is headed by an elected constitutional officer, the superintendent of public instruction. This allows the agency more independence than state agencies headed by gubernatorial appointees.

The department publicly opposes the governor's property tax rate freeze. It has given local school districts information showing the effects of the freeze on their districts and has urged them to let the public know the effects of the freeze. By law, school districts must give teachers notice of nonrenewal of contract by March 15. Some districts have given such notices for the 1993-94 school year anticipating that the property tax rate freeze proposal will be enacted and their districts would not have sufficient growth in equalized value to finance any rise in expenditures if no rate increase is allowed.

In a recently issued memo to school districts, DPI pointed out the dire effects on local education if the tax rate freeze is enacted. The memo stated, "A levy rate freeze and less state resources forces Wisconsin schools into the same situation as our neighbors... salary freezes, layoffs, program cutbacks, larger class sizes, elimination of essential programs, and possible school closings prior to the end of the school year." When pressed for the names of districts that might close, DPI officials were reluctant to identify any. The memo also said the state's share of local costs had declined.

State Budget Director Richard Chandler, representing the Thompson administration, fired back with a letter suggesting the DPI memo was misleading and engaged in "scare tactics." Mr. Chandler argued that Governor Thompson has provided for increased financial support for schools. It appears the semantics of the disagreement revolves around "share" (the percentage of school costs paid by state aids) and "amount" (the dollars of state aids paid). The definition of state aids is also an issue.

SCHOOL FINANCIAL STATISTICS

The table below shows, on a statewide basis, local schools costs, enrollment and funding from 1983 through 1993 and projections through 1995. Local school costs will increase from $2.580 billion in 1983 to a projected $5.829 billion in 1995, or 126%. During the same period, enrollment will rise from 784,830 to 866,268 or 10%. The cost per student will increase from $3,287 to $6,729 or 105%. The school property levy will go from $1.374 billion to a projected $3.156 billion in 1995, or 130%.

much the state helps to finance local education is illustrated by the last 4 columns. The columns entitled "State School Aids" list the state payments that go directly to school districts. The AMOUNT will increase from $1.019 billion in 1983 to $2.212 billion in 1995 or 117%. Since the state payments will not rise as fast as the costs, the state's share will drop over the period. It reached a high of 41.3% in 1988 and, by 1995, is projected to be 38%. In effect, both sides are right. The state has paid an ever-increasing amount of money to districts, but the aid payment as a percentage of local costs has declined.

Property Tax Credits. Adding to the confusion is the inclusion of state-financed property tax credits in the equation. School aids are paid directly to a school district and are used to finance its costs. Property tax credits appear on property tax bills and reduce the gross property tax owed by a taxpayer. Towns, villages and cities, which administer the tax, are reimbursed for the credit that is provided on the bill. Schools do not receive any payment.

The last two columns in the table show the total of the tax credits and state school aids. The percentage of state costs was in the mid 40's through 1991, then jumped to 50% and is projected to drop to 45.7% in 1995. In 1993, the amount of the school levy credit is $319 million. The jump in state participation to 50% in 1992 occurred when Governor Thompson, through the partial veto, changed the name of an existing credit from the general government tax credit to the school levy tax credit. Neither taxpayers nor school districts received additional state money, but, because of the name change, the state could claim it was financing a greater share of local education.

The second credit is the lottery property tax credit, $204 million in 1993, which applies only to owner-occupied residential property. It is not a reduction of the property tax levy on commercial, manufacturing and agricultural land. When the 2 property tax credits are added to the amount of school aids, the state's share is projected to be 45.7% in 1995.

Between 1993 and 1994, the total amount of state payments, aids and credits, will decrease by $36 million as the amount of the lottery credit declines. The school aids increase of $64 million will not be sufficient to offset the decreased lottery payment. All of these nuances of school finance will be further explored when the Joint Committee on Finance considers the Governor's budget bill (SB 44).

MEETING NOTICE

The Kewaskum Board of Education Negotiating Committee and the Kewaskum Auxiliary Personnel Negotiating Committee will meet to exchange contract proposals for the establishment of a successor agreement beginning July 1, 1993. The meeting will take place on Thursday, June 3, 1993 at 7:00 p.m. in the Kewaskum High School Library. This meeting is open to the public.

KEWASKUM WATER UTILITY WATER TESTING SAFE DRINKING WATER ACT

The Kewaskum Water Utility is currently contracting with state certified laboratories to have water analysis performed to comply with the Safe Drinking Water Act passed by the United States Congress. The village is required to have performed 31 Inorganic analyses, 39 Synthetic Organic analyses (Pesticides), and 41 Volatile Organic analyses. This is a total of 111 different chemicals and chemical compounds to be tested for.

In the past most laboratory tests were done in parts per million, ppm. (Same thing in metric is mg/L) Today most all of the tests performed are in parts per billion, using people as an example, we would need more people in this country. One person in a billion people would equal 1 part per billion.

So far in 1993 the Water Utility has issued purchase orders for just over $3,700.00 to various testing facilities to comply with the water quality testing requirements of the Safe Drinking Water Act. This does not include staff time or the Lead and Copper testing requirements beginning July 1 of this year. This is in addition to the monthly testing that the State Laboratory of Hygiene provides to the water utility at no charge.

The Safe Drinking Water Act is, and will continue to have a significant impact on the municipal water utilities in Wisconsin and the rest of the country.

The Arc De Triomphe in Paris was ordered built by Napoleon and took three decades to complete. It's equivalent to a 16-story building.

Wildlife Encounters of Another Kind

As the weather warms and more people venture out to enjoy the great outdoors, encounters with wildlife also increase. Most of these encounters are enjoyable for humans and usually don't disrupt the animals for more than a few minutes. However, there are exceptions that can be very disruptive to animals, and not very pleasant for people.

ABANDONED?

Early in spring and summer people may find young animals they think are abandoned or orphaned. In almost all circumstances, that is not the case. Many wild animals leave their young in hiding for brief periods while they search for food. Or the animals may have been "spooked" away from its young by the human intruder. It's best to leave the area quietly to allow the parent to return as soon as possible. If you are sure a young animal is orphaned, call your local Department of Natural Resources office for instructions.

A HELPING HAND

There are a few cases where a helping hand really is helpful to wildlife. If hatchling birds get blown down during a wind storm, try to replace the birds and their nests as best as you can. You may see young birds just after they leave the nest (fledglings) and think they need assistance. At this stage in their development, it is normal for these birds to flutter along the ground to low shrubs as they learn to fly. The best assistance you can give fledglings is to keep pets away.

You can also help a duck brood or turtle get across a busy street. And there are other times where brief intervention can help wildlife. However, don't try to move young animals into your home or to another location. It's a myth that a parent won't take back its young once humans have touched it, but please don't take wild animals out of the wild. If you are in doubt about a wild animal's need for your intervention, leave it alone.

NATURE'S COURSE

Occasionally you may encounter sick or injured wildlife. The death rate for many species of young wildlife is high, and it's normal in the wild to see 50 percent or more of the young die within a few weeks of birth. The reproductive rates of most species have evolved to balance these high death rates. There has been an increase in sick furbearing animals, especially raccoons, during the past few years. This is probably due to decreasing trapping and hunting of furbearers.

Please do not attempt to handle a sick or injured animal and keep children and pets away. Wild animals can cause injury to people, and some wildlife diseases can be transmitted to humans.

Unless the animal is a rare or endangered species, the best course of action is usually nature's course. However, if the animal appears vicious and presents a concern for the safety of small children, contact your police department or the local DNR office for advice and assistance. The Department of Natural Resources does track reports of sick wildlife and will investigate unusual occurrences.

RACCOONS IN THE ATTIC

Other encounters with wildlife involve animals in places where they aren't wanted or shouldn't be. Woodchucks in the garden, skunks under the porch, raccoons in the attic, and geese on the lawn are just a few examples.

Often common sense approaches can solve these problems. Preventing access is easier than trying to remove an animal once it has moved in. Routine home maintenance, such as repairing holes in the siding, roof or foundation should help. It helps if chimneys have a grated cover and fencing is placed at the base of decks and porches. For advice or assistance, contact the Animal Damage Control office of the Department of Agriculture at 800-433-0688.

Most encounters with wildlife are interesting, pleasant experiences when approached with respect and common sense.

Jacak Headed to State Track Meet

SETS KHS HIGH JUMP MARK

By Noel Stollenwerk

MAYVILLE - After coming up just short in his bid for a berth in last year's State Track Meet, Kewaskum's Travis Jacak was not going to let history repeat itself here, last Thursday afternoon.

The KHS sophomore, who finished third in last year's sectional competition, set the school record by clearing 6-5 in the high jump. That mark was good enough to best the competition in the WIAA Sectional, thereby advancing him to this weekend's State Meet in LaCrosse.

Jacak was the only Indian boy athlete to earn the right to compete in LaCrosse, as several other KHS competitors fell just short.

"I was real happy for Travis," KHS coach Jerry Gosa said.

"Three kids cleared 6-5, but he made it on his first attempt. He won on (less) misses. He was just jumping real well."

Senior Dan Schulteis finished third in the discus (135-11), barely missing the required top-two finish. Other KHS athletes who fell short were Wade Kreis (pole vault and long jump), Brian Bruendl (triple jump) and Jeff Dirmeier (1600).

Kreis also barely missed qualifying, taking fourth in the long jump. The junior had a fine all-around afternoon, setting a personal best in the pole vault (12-0) as well, finishing fourth.

"He's done an excellent job," Gosa said of Kreis, who could be one of the more valuable athletes returning next season.

Bruendl also came through with his best jump of the season (40-2), while Dirmeier's 4:46.5 clocking was one of his better efforts.

As a team, the Indians finished tied for eighth with Union Grove (28 points). Elkhorn won the meet, scoring 74 points, 15 ahead of runner-up Sheboygan Falls.

"We did much better than in the years past," Gosa said of the team effort. "I wish we could have gotten Brad (Jackson) and Jim (Wichtoski) through to Sectionals."

Jackson and Wichtoski were both expected to advance to the Sectionals, but Jackson was unable to clear the opening height at the Regionals at Pewaukee Monday. Wichtoski, meanwhile, scratched on all three of his long jumps.

Jackson, who recently set the school record in the pole vault (13-5), had to battle windy and rainy conditions during his jumps. Soon after his attempts failed, Meet officials decided to postpone the rest of the pole vault competition until the next day.

"I was trying to get them to postpone it (before Jackson jumped)," Gosa said, noting his efforts were fruitless. "It was blowing and raining like crazy. The only consolation that I have is that he is a junior and will be back next year."

Jacak will be competing on Saturday morning or early afternoon in his bid to place at State. The field events are slated to get underway at 10:35 Saturday morning.

Lady Indians Second in Track Sectionals

KHS QUALIFIES FOR FIVE EVENTS AT STATE

By Noel Stollenwerk

MAYVILLE - With athletes qualifying in four events plus a relay, the Kewaskum girls track team will once again be well-represented at this weekend's State Track Meet at Memorial Stadium in LaCrosse.

The Lady Indians placed second as a team (49 points), behind only East Troy (62), who was the lone team to have more qualifiers (six) than Kewaskum. To qualify for the state meet, an individual or relay had to place in the top two, or to be among the top eight performers in all of the sectionals.

Leading the way for the Indians was senior Christa Schmidt, who will participate in three events at the State Meet. Schmidt took second in both the 100 hurdles (16.0) and 300 hurdles (47.3), both of those times being personal bests.

Schmidt also helped the 1600 relay set a school record (4:08.7) in taking second. Other members of the unit included Ginger Wiesner, Mary Yahr and Missy Rohrer.

Wiesner also had a perfect afternoon, taking second in her only other event, the 400 (60.5). The other Indian athlete to earn the right to advance was senior Robyn Winninghoff, whose toss of 111-10 in the discus netted her a second.

Just missing the mark was senior Beth Kempf, who fell two inches short of her bid in the shot put. Also falling short were Chrissy Neumann (1600) and Mary Yahr (100 hurdles), who had both took third in Monday's Regional meet at Pewaukee.

In that meet, the Indians finished second again, this time being beaten by fellow Eastern Wisconsin Conference member Sheboygan Falls, 122-101.

KHS Bats Are Absent in Twin Bill Losses to West Bend East

By Noel Stollenwerk

KEWASKUM - Going into his team's first game of the year, Kewaskum baseball coach Doug Gonring had lauded the Indians as a potential power at the plate.

But after the team was swept in a doubleheader by West Bend East here, last Tuesday afternoon, it was easy to see why the Indians came up short in the 4-0 and 7-5 decisions.

The Indians managed just a double by Mark Strobel in the third inning of game one for their lone hit, and then came back in the nightcap to produce just three more hits.

Perhaps a big reason for the ineptitude at the plate was the fact that the Indians were missing several regulars, who had to sit out because of suspensions or other violations.

Junior Doug Buechel was the recipient of the lack of support in the opener, as he went two innings, giving up a pair of runs. Both runs came in the second, as a walk and hit batsman helped get the West Bend East rally started.

The Indians, meanwhile, were unable to put the ball in play, much less find any holes. Kewaskum batters struck out 13 times in the opener, as Sun pitchers Brad Geldnich, Adam Wagner and Jeff Baker stymied KHS.

In the nightcap, the Indians led most of the game, but a three-run sixth by the Suns put them ahead for good.

Down, 5-4, Geldnich led off the inning with a triple off loser Todd Muckerheide. Curt Schroeder and Ryan Hill followed with back-to-back doubles to give the Suns the lead.

The Indians, despite just the three hits, scored three times in the opening frame, and then added single runs in the fourth and sixth.

The Suns, meanwhile, countered with 12 hits off of Muckerheide and KHS starter Mark Schlosser.
