Local Resident Published

Lee N. Hames

A local resident, Lee N. Hames, 1828 Hw. 28, has had a short story published in a new book called "Legacies", written entirely by authors more than sixty years old.

Hames graduated from the University of Wisconsin, and spent most of his working life with the American Medical Association in Chicago. While there, he wrote mostly technical articles for medical journals, and only started freelance writing when he retired a dozen years ago. He and his wife moved to the Kewaskum area seven years ago. While at the University, Hames was a member of a creative writing class selected and taught by Sinclair Lewis, a Nobel Prize Winner, and writer of many popular novels. While studying with Wisconsin author, Robert Gard, Hames' radio skit, "Abe Lincoln Slept Here" won the Wisconsin Centennial Play-Writing Contest. Hames also took part in a number of summer writing schools, taught by other famous writers, including John Van Druyten, Wallace Stegner, and Thornton Wilder.

Kewaskum Man Loses Life in Fall at Work Site

A Kewaskum man fell to his death last week at a construction site in the Oak Creek Power plant.

According to the Oak Creek Police Department, Alan R. Martin, 46, 3875 Ridge Rd., apparently tripped and fell through an opening in the fourth story floor, Thursday morning, Dec. 30, while he was setting floats for concrete on the highest of four catwalk levels.

The building Martin was working on is an old boiler facility with ten levels of steel graded floors that range from 3 to 25 feet wide—all of which had railings.

Company officials said employees and paramedics tried to revive Martin at the scene, but were unsuccessful. He was pronounced dead at 12:45 p.m. Thursday with head and chest injuries, the report said.

Martin was employed with Klug and Smith Co., West Milwaukee, who were hired as general contractors to build machinery that would convert the fly ash residue from burning coal into a reusable product.

Officials from the Milwaukee County district attorney's office and the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration were investigating the accident.

Alan was a co-owner of Shluffy's Inn in Kewaskum. He leaves behind three sons, David, Jeff and Craig. Funeral services were held Sunday, Jan. 2, at St. Lucas Evangelical Church.

Physical Therapy Available Here

Candidates File Papers

Four Kewaskum residents have filed nomination papers before the January 4th deadline for the three positions which will become available on the Kewaskum Village Board.

The candidates whose names will appear on the ballot April 5th are William Kulas, Gary Gavin (incumbent), Robert Stoltzmann and John Borland.

The three seats on the village board that will be up for election include those of Tom McElhatton and Harry Roecker, who both chose not to run for re-election, and Gary Gavin, who filed his papers with the other election hopefuls.

There are only two seats up for election on the Kewaskum School Board, those currently occupied by Board President Neal Weare and Jean Goeden, with both filing papers for their positions. With no apparent opposition, Weare and Goeden appear to be "shoo-ins."

Kewaskum Teen in Critical Condition After Car Accident

An eighteen year old Kewaskum High School senior was critically injured in a one-car accident Friday evening, Dec. 31st.

Tricia Sue Butschlick, of 8615 Salisbury Road was returning home from work that evening around 9:30 p.m. According to the Washington County Sheriff's Department, Butschlick was traveling northbound on Salisbury Rd., about five-tenths of a mile north of Sportsmen's Lane, when she lost control of the car and it slid sideways into the ditchline, overturning, and came to rest in a field.

Butschlick was apparently thrown from the car. Road conditions were reported as wet. As of Tuesday afternoon, she is still listed in critical condition, said a spokesperson from John L. Doyne Hospital in Wauwatosa, (formerly Milwaukee County Medical Complex.)

St. Joseph's Hospital Board Of Directors Elects Officers

WEST BEND -- Rueben J. Schmahl, county board chairman, was recently elected president of the Board of Directors of St. Joseph's Community Hospital for a one-year term. He replaces Robert T. Rolfs, who served as the board's president for the past 18 years.

Other officers elected to serve a one-year term include: Thomas W. Kieckhafer, vice president; Richard A. Larson, treasurer, and Gregory T. Burns, secretary.

According to Burns, the hospital's executive director, both Schmahl and Rolfs have more than a two decade affiliation with the hospital. Schmahl was elected to the board in May of 1970 and has served as the organization's vice president since 1975.

Rolfs became active with the board on November 30, 1967. He was elected vice president on September 22, 1969, and assumed his presidential responsibilities on September 22, 1975. Burns noted that while Rolfs has relinquished his presidential duties, he will remain on St. Joseph's Community Hospital's board until September, 1994.

Admired by board peers, Rolfs continues to receive outstanding praise from his hospital associates.

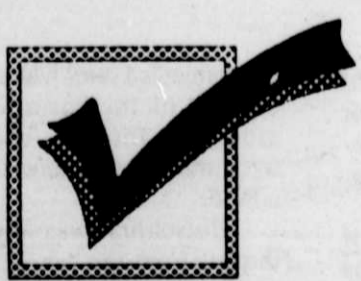

According to Kieckhafer, Rolfs has given a great deal to this community through his involvement at St. Joseph's Community Hospital. "The sound financial condition of the hospital is a result of his many contributions," Kieckhafer said.

Reflecting on his leadership abilities, Larson conveyed that, "from fund-raising to his executive leadership, Bob Rolfs kept the best interests of St. Joseph's Community Hospital on his priority list. He had that personal magnetism that got results and accomplished our goals," Larson stated.

Individuals re-elected to three-year terms were Charles S. Geiger, M.D., Todd J. Hammer, M.D., Thomas W. Kieckhafer, Richard A. Larson, Barbara Martin and Thomas G. Wiedmeyer.

Registrations Being Accepted For Kewaskum Rainbows Group

The Youth and Family Project is sponsoring a Kewaskum Rainbows group for pre-school thru eighth grade children. Registrations are currently being accepted for the four teen week support groups.

Rainbows is a not-for-profit international organization, providing training and curricula for establishing peer support groups for participants of all ages, who have experienced a death, divorce, or other painful transition in their family. The program will be offered through a generous donation made possible by the Kewaskum Kiwanis.

The purpose of the groups is to provide those grieving an opportunity to share their feelings in an accepting environment; understand their new family unit; to assist in building a stronger sense of self-esteem; and to direct them toward a healthy resolution of their grief.

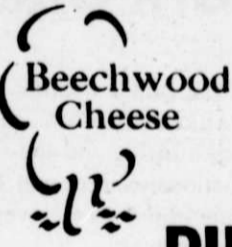

Rainbows is easily implemented with the use of work-books, storybooks, puppets and games. The groups are facilitated by caring, trained facilitators who work with small groups of children to help them put words to their feelings.

Anyone interested in registering their child, should call The Youth & Family Project, at 338-1661 or if anyone has any questions regarding the program, call Joy Breese, Program Coordinator at 338-1661.

Valley Bancorporation Receives National Education Award

Valley Bancorporation, headquartered in Appleton, Wisconsin, has won the American Bankers Association (ABA) Education Foundation's Personal Economics Program (PEP) Bank Award for Outstanding Contributions, for the second consecutive year.

The award, presented to the bank at a ceremony in Reston, Virginia recently, is based on excellence in providing quality banking and personal-finance education to children and adults through the Foundation's PEP

Resource Library Agreement Signed

The Mid-Wisconsin Federated Library System signed a Resource Library Agreement with the Fond du Lac Public Library, providing the continuation of its services to the four-county library system for 1994. The Mid-Wisconsin Federated Library System serves public libraries and their customers in Fond du Lac, Dodge, Jefferson and Washington Counties.

The agreement was signed at the fall meeting of the Mid-Wisconsin Board of Trustees, by Sherlyn Stiewe of West Bend, President of the System Board, and Gordon Loehr of Fond du Lac, President of the Fond du Lac City-County Library Service Board of Trustees.

The $40,520 contract includes interlibrary loan service, backup reference and referral, online searches, and development of specialized collections for backup reference and referral. These services will continue to be available to the public libraries in the system's four-county area.

The Mid-Wisconsin Federated Library System pays the costs of these services to the resource library, which in turn, offers them to the public libraries in the four-county system. Because of the resource library services, the libraries in the system are enabled to give improved services to their patrons.

Representing Washington County on the Mid-Wisconsin Board of Trustees are Board President Sherlyn Stiewe, West Bend; Amy Bauer, West Bend; Bonnie Koepke, Kewaskum; Marilyn Merten, Richfield, and Eugene O'Brien, Hartford.

Program. Valley Bancorporation was one of four banks selected for the Foundation's PEP Bank Award.

"Thanks to financial institutions such as Valley Bancorporation, thousands of people across the country have a better understanding of basic money-management techniques and the banking industry in general," said ABA Education Foundation Chairperson Linda Sanders in presenting the bank with its award. "Valley Bancorporation should be congratulated on going above and beyond the 'norm' to educate its communities." Sanders is also president of Young Americans Bank in Denver, Colorado.

Through the PEP program, volunteer bankers are provided with the training, information and materials necessary to make presentations on topics such as credit management, balancing a checkbook and applying for a mortgage.

During the 1992-93 school year, 111 volunteers at Valley Banks made over 460 presentations, reaching approximately 10,000 students - one-third of total PEP activity for the state of Wisconsin.

One of Valley's noteworthy accomplishments included its Green Bay bank developing a business/education project called "Adopt a Classroom," which allows bankers to spend regularly scheduled time with students.

PEP, a program of the ABA Education Foundation, was started in 1977. Since then, nearly 9 million people have been reached through almost 216,000 presentations. In the past year alone, more than 4,000 banker volunteers participated in the program.

For information on how to have a PEP banker visit your community group or school, please call Lori Jepson at 414-738-5102.

Construction Begun on County 'DW' Overpass

Road construction was expected to start the past Monday on the construction of County Highway "DW" overpass and State Highway 33 frontage roads near Allenton in Washington County.

The initial work will consist of marsh removal and embankment and bridge construction on County "DW". Work on the frontage roads will be started in early spring.

The work will be performed under a contract let to Reliance Construction Company, Inc. of DePere, Wisconsin, at an estimated cost of $2,421,600. Financing will be shared on approximately a 76/24 percentage by the Federal Government and the State of Wisconsin, respectively, from funds provided primarily by gas taxes.

County Highway "DW" was scheduled to be closed to traffic at the intersection with US 41 this past week. It is anticipated that the new overpass will be opened to traffic by mid-summer, 1994. A marked detour will be provided for this closure following State Highways 175, 33 and County "WW".

The State Highway 33 frontage road work will involve closing County "W" to through traffic at US 41 in April. Business access to US 41 will be maintained at County "W" until the new frontage road to State Highway 33 is opened to traffic. A marked detour for through traffic on County Highway "W" will follow State 33, County "WW," and County "DW" (to the east of the County "DW" overpass work).

It is anticipated that this project will be completed by the fall of 1994.

Every possible effort will be made to provide continuous and safe access to all business and residential properties during this construction. Pedestrians and motorists are urged to use caution in the construction zone.

WDI Family Night Recognizes Accomplishments, Volunteers

Students of the Wisconsin Dyslexia Institute (WDI) have made significant progress in their reading and spelling ability over the past year, Executive Director Rosanne Aman told a gathering of students and families at WDI's third annual Family Night held last fall at the Best Western Hotel. Board members, instructors and guests also attended.

Aman reported that students having completed 100 hours of instruction in 1993 showed average gains of two years in reading ability and one and one-half years in spelling ability.

A highlight of Family Night was the unveiling of a quilt with squares individually designed by students and pieced together with the help of parents and instructors.

An inspirational talk was given by Holly Schuh, a local musician and fabric artist known for her quilts. Schuh is also a remediated dyslexic.

Students, instructors, parents and volunteers were recognized for their achievements.

The evening's emcee, Mary Feind, expressed gratitude on behalf of the students and their parents to Aman, who founded WDI, for her determination and dedication to helping those affected by dyslexia.

Aman gave special recognition to Marie Reynolds, a West Bend resident whose experience with dyslexia was published in the West Bend News. Recognition was also given to Mary Feind and Gayle Van Ess who co-chaired the event and to Holly Schuh and Jill Slesar for their contributions.

Dyslexia is a language-based disorder that can be devastating if gone unrecognized and untreated. The Wisconsin Dyslexia Institute is a non-profit organization using an adapted Orton-Gillingham multisensory approach, a method proven to work with dyslexic persons.

The institute has been serving children and adults of West Bend and the surrounding areas since 1989. For more information on dyslexia and WDI, call the WDI office at 334-8005.

Time to Review 'Stranger Danger' Rules with Children, Sheriff Says

Washington County Sheriff Robert H. Schulteis reminds parents that this is a good time to review "Stranger Danger" rules with their children. And the sheriff adds that this should include teenagers as well as younger kids.

"Washington County is relatively free of child enticement incidents. But this has created an atmosphere of complacency. Our children may not be as aware of the potential dangers as more 'street-wise' kids in larger cities are," the sheriff said.

The sheriff urges parents to review these concepts with their children:

--Most people in the world are strangers and they like children. But strangers must follow these rules. If they don't, you should run and tell someone.

--Rule: a stranger must never ask a child to get into a car, truck or van.

--Rule: a stranger must never offer candy, toys or anything else to a child.

--Rule: a stranger must never ask a child to go with him (or her).

Children should be told to find their parents or a trusted neighbor if a stranger breaks one of these rules.

"We don't want children to be afraid of everyone. They should be assured that most people are good, and are not a threat. But the child should know what to do just in case there is a problem," the sheriff stated.

Panzer Tours Restat

WEST BEND... As part of her continuing effort to keep close contact with businesses throughout the 20th Senate District, State Senator Mary Panzer (R-West Bend) recently toured the Restat Company with company president Jim Martin.

"I greatly appreciate the opportunity to meet with the employees at Restat and tour their beautiful facility that once housed the West Bend recreation center," said Panzer.

Restat, a division of the F. Dohmen Co. has been in operation since 1985, employing over 45 people. Restat provides benefit management to companies as it relates to prescription services. Restat has reduced both pharmaceutical cost and the burgeoning labor cost associated with drug claims processing through the use high tech data processing.

"The pro-growth attitude of Restat exemplifies why West Bend has such a thriving economy," according to Panzer.

Panzer, who represents the city of West Bend in the State Senate, said the business climate throughout the 20th Senate district has remained strong despite prediction of doom and gloom.

"I found the exchange to be very interesting and insightful, which will enable me to have a better understanding of the prescription industry as it relates to health care," according to Panzer.

Facts on Fiber

(NAPS)—Eat better and live longer: Low fat, high fiber diets may reduce the risk of certain types of cancer.

High fiber cereals and fruit can help you stay fit and may reduce the risk of certain types of cancer.

According to Dr. Carolyn Clifford, chief of diet and cancer at the National Cancer Institute, "Americans basically need to double their daily fiber intake from an average of 11 to 14 grams to a recommended 20 to 30 grams. This means consuming a variety of plant-based foods, such as cereal grain products, fruits and vegetables."

A recent report in a leading consumer magazine identified Wheatena® High Fiber Toasted Wheat Cereal as the only hot cereal that was high in fiber. One serving of Wheatena (1/3 cup uncooked) has five grams of dietary fiber, or 20 percent of the Daily Value for fiber.

Cong. Sensenbrenner Rated Best In Congress for Voting to Cut Spending

(Washington, D.C.) -- Congressman Jim Sensenbrenner (R-Menomonee Falls) was rated first in the entire Congress for voting to cut federal spending, according to new study by Congressional Quarterly. The study analyzed 1993 Congressional votes on all appropriation bills' amendments to cut spending.

Every year, Congress must pass 13 appropriation bills to fund the federal government. This year, the House had 175 votes on these bills, of which 85 were votes to cut current or future spending. Congressman Sensenbrenner supported spending cuts 95 percent of the time, more than any other member. "I am proud of my voting record, because these votes rarely receive public attention. If members of Congress were serious about cutting spending they would support every cut, no matter how small," Rep. Sensenbrenner urged.

On the average, Republicans were willing to support spending cuts much more than their Democrat counterparts. In the House, Republicans supported spending cut legislation an average 80 percent of the time compared to only 38 percent by Democrats. In the Senate, Republican support averaged 53 percent compared to 34 percent by Democrats.

"This study is another good example for the public to see those members of Congress who vote to cut spending and those who simply talk about it," Rep. Sensenbrenner concluded.

Campbellsport Resident Participates In PBS Tour, 'A Civil War Sojourn'

Campbellsport resident George Haydon revisited the past this Fall as a participant in "A Civil War Sojourn," a special PBS tour presented by the Channel 10/36 Friends, Inc. The Friends is a nonprofit support organization for southeastern Wisconsin's public television stations, Channels 10 and 36. During ten days in September and October, Haydon joined 20 other history buffs on a unique educational journey through the battlefields, cities and historic landmarks explored in the critically acclaimed PBS series, "The Civil War."

"A Civil War Sojourn" took place mainly in Virginia, the primary battleground of the war. The group visited Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville and other Virginia battlefields, and even watched a battle reenactment by costumed actors. They also traveled to Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, where in July of 1863 more than 50,000 soldiers were killed, wounded or captured.

A highlight of the trip was dinner at Jefferson Davis' Confederate White House in Richmond, Virginia. Actors in full confederate dress recreated the atmosphere of historic Richmond as they served authentic foods and played music from the period. A living history performance, which included the participation of the tourgoers, concluded the memorable evening.

Mary Lou Hall, Development Associate with the Channel 10/36 Friends, said, "The days were packed with activities and all the folks said the trip surpassed their expectations." Hall said, "A Civil War Sojourn" reunion was held recently and the group exchanged trip photos and went to see the movie "Gettysburg" together. The Friends organization is currently planning another tour for September and October of 1994. "The Trip of a Lifetime: Destination D-Day," which is based on World War II documentaries and dramas aired on public television, will include visits to London, Portsmouth and Normandy. For further details, contact the Friends at (414) 297-8051.

St. Luke's is First In State to Offer New Laser Treatment to Snoring Sufferers

MILWAUKEE... St. Luke's Medical Center in Milwaukee is offering a new laser technique that is revolutionizing the way doctors treat snoring and selected cases of sleep apnea.

Treatment consists of three to five outpatient hospital visits, about 10 to 15 minutes each, where the uvula or unsupported tissue in the throat, is reshaped using a laser technique. The procedure is performed under local anesthesia, and patients report minimal pain and continue with normal activity. Snoring reduction occurs almost immediately. St. Luke's is the first hospital in the state to make this treatment available to patients.

Some 45 percent of normal adults snore at least occasionally, and 25 percent are habitual snorers, according to the American Academy of Otolaryngology, Head and Neck Surgery. Problem snoring is more frequent in males and overweight persons, and usually worsens with age. The noisy sounds of snoring occur when there is a partial obstruction of the free flow of air through the passages at the back of the mouth and nose.

Many times the problem is caused by a long palate that may narrow the opening from the nose into the throat, as it dangles in the airway, it acts as a flutter valve during relaxed breathing, and contributes to the noise of snoring.

The new procedure employs a hand-held carbon dioxide laser to burn away portions of the soft, unsupported tissue in the throat. About 85 percent of loud snorers produce the sound in their throats and would be candidates for the procedure, which was developed recently in France. The remaining 15 percent of people who snore do so because of problems in the nose, often the result of fracture, and cannot be treated with the new procedure, called Laser Assisted Uvula-palatoplasty (LAUP).

"Snoring is not only a social problem, disruptive to family life, it can be a medical problem as well," said Dr. James Barton, ENT physician on staff at St. Luke's performing the laser assisted surgery. "The snorer may not sleep restfully and may have difficulty staying alert and awake during the day.

When loud snoring is accompanied by frequent episodes of completely obstructed breathing, the condition is the much more serious obstructive sleep apnea. The new laser procedure is usually not the treatment of choice for most cases of sleep apnea."

A report in the April, 1993, issue of the "New England Journal of Medicine" indicates that sleep apnea is more prevalent in the general population than was previously believed, and sufferers of obstructive sleep apnea are often unaware of it.

Dr. Barton sees the new laser procedure as a big advantage to both patients and physicians since it is performed in an outpatient setting, under local anesthesia. "This eliminates the need for adults to miss work or be incapacitated for several weeks following conventional surgery," he said.

For more information about this new laser treatment for snoring, call the Laser Center at St. Luke's at 414-649-6499.

Wintertime Colds and Flu May Cause Dehydration

This winter, during the all too familiar cold and flu season, it is important for parents to make sure their children are consuming an adequate amount of fluids.

The effects of colds and the flu, such as diarrhea and vomiting can cause dehydration, especially among children, said Jane Chevako, MD, medical director of Children's Urgent Care at Children's Hospital of Wisconsin.

"Viruses and germs associated with colds and the flu spread from person to person very easily," Chevako said. "To help protect themselves from illness, children need to practice good hygiene and good hydration techniques."

Chevako recommended that small children, infants and children younger than 18 months, consume plenty of clear liquids when they are ill. Pedialyte, a fruit-flavored drink which is used to restore vitamins and minerals which are lost during diarrhea and vomiting, is one of the safest drinks available for small children, she said. It can be purchased at many local grocery or drug stores.

Other safe clear liquids include weak tea, fat-free broth or bouillon (made from powder or cube), flavored gelatin dessert with nothing added, Popsicles or soda pop.

Older children also should consume safe clear liquids mentioned earlier or Gatorade, Chevako said.

Children should not drink tap water when they are sick, Chevako said. Because tap water does not contain the essential electrolytes found in the other drinks, such as sodium and potassium, it can dilute the amount of sodium in the bloodstream and may cause a seizure, she said.

Parents should not only be concerned with how much fluid children are taking in when they are ill, but also with how much fluid they lose, Chevako said. A child is not consuming enough fluids if he or she cannot produce tears, saliva and urinate every six hours, she said.

Chevako recommended that parents take their child to see a physician if he or she is consuming enough fluids, but is becoming dehydrated. Dehydration, caused by wintertime colds and flu, can lead to serious health problems, she said.

Children's Hospital is a private, independent, not-for-profit regional pediatric medical center. The hospital serves all children in Wisconsin and Michigan's Upper Peninsula who need its specialized services without regard to race, creed, color or ability to pay.

A large, two-story barn filled with hay, straw and other farm crops, 14 head of livestock and some farm equipment were destroyed in a fire at the Jake Bruessel Jr. farm on the Ridge Road, about three miles southwest of Kewaskum last Thursday evening. The farm is owned by Mrs. Loretta Kirchner, who now resides in California. Mr. and Mrs. Bruessel and family are renters and live in the farm house. Neighbors who saw smoke coming from the barn notified the Bruessels and the Kewaskum fire department was called around 6:15 p.m. When the 29 firemen arrived at the scene the blaze was already out of control. The fire apparently started in the upper part of the building. Firemen concentrated their efforts on removing livestock and equipment from the barn and with the help of neighbors managed to save several animals, a flock of chickens, two tractors and a 1 1/2 ton truck. The firemen also confined the blaze, keeping it from spreading to other nearby buildings. Freed livestock were driven into a field and the chickens were taken to a neighboring farm. A grain blower, four calves and 10 hogs were reported lost.

Father William Mayer, formerly of Kewaskum, a chaplain in the U.S. Army, arrived October 17 to spend a two week leave here with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ours, and other relatives in the area, after spending the past four years in Germany. Chaplain Mayer left Thursday for his next assignment at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rahlf, Route 1, Kewaskum, announce the adoption of a baby girl born September 6. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Enright, Route 1, Kewaskum, on October 23. Mrs. Enright is the former Ann Schaefer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Schaefer of Kewaskum. A son was also born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Duquaine, Johnson Mobile Park, Kewaskum, on October 23.

50 Years Ago

December 3, 1943

It probably would not do any good to look now, but there are diamonds in those Kettle Moraine hills extending northeast to southwest near Kewaskum. Authority for this statement is Edwin Olson, Milwaukee's only certified gemologist, who revealed the probable presence of the stones in an address before a Milwaukee luncheon club recently. Although the last Wisconsin diamond was discovered in 1912, Olson believes that as more and more of the glacial kettle country comes under cultivation, more gems will be found. The best stone of the 20 or more found to date was a 20-carat diamond near Theresa, he said. The diamonds found in the Kettle Moraine area resemble chunks of glass, but when they are cut correctly and polished they may be as valuable and beautiful as those from any other area, Olson says. For prospective diamond hunters, Olson said, there is a simple test by which one may tell whether a stone is a diamond. Just turn it on an angle and try to see through it. Only real diamond is completely opaque at a slant, he said. Even if a person found a diamond in the kettle country, the odds are that it would not be usable. Only 3 percent of all diamonds found are usable ornaments and the beauty of the stone is dependent on the cutting.

The Rev. William J. Mayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mayer of this village, was one of 15 deacons ordained to the holy priesthood at the ordination mass celebrated in St. John's Cathedral at Milwaukee November 30, by the Most Rev. At a meeting of the village board Tuesday evening, the tax rate for the village for 1943 was set at $22.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation, which is the same rate as last year. The village levied less taxes for village purposes this year by about $2,500, but due to the fact that the school levy has increased from $12,000 to $15,000, the tax rate is kept at the same figure as last year. The state and county levies are practically the same as last year.

The annual election of officers of the Kewaskum fire department was held at the regular meeting in the village hall last Thursday. All of the officers were re-elected. All officers were elected except that of fire chief in which capacity Harry J. Schaefer is serving for a five year term. Re-elected were the following: Assistant Chief, Arnold Martin; Secretary George Koerble; Treasurer, Bernard Seil; Foreman, Clifford Stautz; Assistant Foreman, William Schaub.

The War Department has made an announcement to the effect that all men who served in the army during the war, will be furnished with a bronze button, appropriately inscribed to wear in the lapel of his coat after he has returned to civilian life. The buttons will be smaller in size than the Grand Army of the Republic insignia, but sufficiently distinctive as not to be confused with those worn by men who served in the Civil War.

Wendel Petri and Andrew Kuehl of Camp Shelby, Mississippi, and Oscar Martin of Virginia returned to their homes in the Town of Wayne last Saturday, after being honorably discharged from military service.

Philip Fellenz, son of Mrs. Ph. Fellenz, living about two miles east of this village, met with an accident last week Friday. He was in the act of cutting feed at his mother's place when, in some manner he got his left hand caught in the feed cutter, losing the thumb and middle finger. Other fingers of the hand were also badly lacerated.

Since January 1st, it is unlawful for dealers to sell sleighs with the old narrow width runners. All sleigh runners must now be of the regulation width of wagons and automobiles. The old sleigh runners you have on hand may be used but cannot be sold.

Holy Trinity Christmas Concert Held

A musical welcome from representatives of grades two through eight.

Holy Trinity Music Teacher Terry Christie organized and directed the Christmas concert and served as an accompanist.

Dancers to "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," included Laura Weiss, Bridget Baum, Carrie Wiesner and Jeni Westerman.

The solemnity, joy and goodwill of Christmas was displayed at the Holy Trinity Grade School Christmas Concert held on December 20 in Holy Trinity Church at 7 p.m.

To a "standing room only" audience, the children, dressed in their Christmas finery, used their singing, oral and dancing talents to depict the many sights and sounds of the holiday.

Mrs. Terry Christie, Holy Trinity music teacher, using the theme, "The One Room School House," spent countless hours organizing, directing and practicing with the children. Her background music throughout the program, added an extra touch of beauty to the evening.

The finale was the living Nativity scene depicted by the first grade class. It left the audience with a feeling that Jesus truly is "the reason for the season."

Let's Go

By Isabelle Muckerheide

"I have five - who will give me ten? You'll hear that chant Again and again.

After the hub-bub of the holidays, sit back in your easy chair, and come along with me as I reminisce about going to an auction.

Some people like to go camping on weekends, or go fishing, but as for my late husband and me, we preferred going to an auction.

We've been west to Bagley, north to Plover, and Fremont on the Wolf River, East to Port Washington, and south to who knows where. One of our cars had 100,000 miles on it, and we were not out of the state!

It's a great way to meet old friends, and make new acquaintances. Some of my dearest friends are those we have met at an auction. Alas, several have since left the scene, and several auctioneers as well.

We know at least four father and son combinations, brothers, and those who operate alone. Each sale is a new adventure. You think you've seen it all, and then the next one is a complete surprise! I could write a book, but will confine it to a few columns.

It is wise to go at least an hour ahead of time to "case the joint" as they say. If you don't like what you see, you can go to another sale. The local papers usually have the ads published a week in advance, or you can subscribe to an antique newspaper.

Everyone likes something different (thank goodness!) It may be jugs, primitives, coins, old magazines, jewelry, post cards, cast iron toys, etc.

After winter months, sales are usually held outdoors at the farmstead or household, whatever the case may be. We are fortunate to have several halls in the area where sales are held, regardless of the weather.

You register for a bidding number, and raise your card if you wish to bid. As one auctioneer used to say: "you have to bid to buy."

Sometimes it goes for more than what you hoped to pay, but if you really want it, it's worth it. Like the time a lady kept bidding when her mate didn't approve. "Going, going, gone - sold to the lady in the back row whose husband has his hand over her mouth!"

See you at the next auction.

When English chemist Joseph Priestley discovered in 1770 that material made from latex could be used to rub out pencil marks, he named the substance "rubber."

Saint Hillary And The Private Enterprise Dragon

By Felix R. Livingston (NAPS)—It is ironic that while other nations of the world are repudiating the tenets of socialism and central planning, the Clinton administration is advancing a political agenda that would create a seven-member National Health Board responsible for managing "the entire $900 billion U.S. health care system." Politically appointed health care commissars would establish and enforce budgets, premium targets and quality standards for regional health alliances and would otherwise regulate virtually all aspects of the health care system. For the ostensible purpose of "giving every American...health care that can never be taken away," President Clinton is poised to destroy a market which he admires as having the best professionals, institutions, research and technology in the world.

The 20th Century lessons of socialism seem to have been lost on the Clintons. Regardless of how intelligent and well-intentioned the First Lady is, or how knowledgeable the health care commissars are likely to be, a system which emphasizes vertical coordination and control with orders coming from the top is guaranteed to create numerous bottlenecks, stifle innovation and suffocate personal economic enterprise. The pursuit of profit, which is a synonym for greed in the Clinton lexicon, maximizes social intelligence by coordinating the activities of millions of individuals, each of whom possesses only a sliver of the total knowledge required to produce and distribute the nation's health care products and services. It is prospective profits alone that guide health care providers to satisfy the demands of consumers and that compel producers to continually search for new and improved methods and products.

A National Health Board that fixes prices will not lower total health care costs. It will merely cause a greater portion of those costs to be hidden through higher taxes, shorter and more superficial visits with doctors, and lost income incurred by patients awaiting medical treatment.

The Clintons have told us how appalling it is that 14 percent of America's GNP is spent on health care. In fact, demand in this market will increase even more as Americans become older and wealthier. To "protect" us from entrepreneurs who would dare offer more and better health care products and services, the Clintons are advocating a centrally controlled system that will only be efficient in its production of stagnation and despair. Animated by the long-discredited medieval notion of "just price," Saint Hillary is doing her best to slay the dragon of private enterprise.

Dr. Livingston is President of the Institution for World Capitalism, a nonprofit educational and public policy center at Jacksonville (FL) University.

A Message from the Postmaster

Hello Kewaskum Statesman readers and Happy 1994 to you all! As promised in last week's column, I have some questions and answers that hopefully you will find interesting and informative.

QUESTION: I really love the self-adhesive stamps. Are you planning on selling them all the time or will they be "phased out"?

ANSWER: Like many of you, I think the "no-lickers" are the best thing that the Postal Service has come out with. We have squirrels, roses and eagles available in this format. Slated for issue in the self-adhesive for 1994 will be: Love stamps in January, Eagle in February, Statue of Liberty in July and Santa in October. Do remember that you do NOT pay any extra for these "no-lickers." I think the love stamps should be a big seller especially for those with wedding plans.

QUESTION: I received a letter back stating "no such number." Checked the address and EVERYTHING is correct. Should I put it in another envelope, put a stamp on it and re-mail?

ANSWER: NO! Every now and then, mistakes are made and letters are returned to the sender in error. All you have to do is bring it to the Post Office (or call me and your rural carrier can watch for it in your mailbox). We have a special form that we can send to the Postmaster of the city stating "our customer states that address is correct... please advise." You paid 29 cents, correctly addressed the envelope and for some unknown reason, the letter was returned. We do not want you to pay any additional postage for an error made by us.

QUESTION: Is insurance automatic when mailing a parcel?

ANSWER: Insurance MUST be purchased separately. When mailing a package and wanting insurance, you will notice this message on your "customer screen"... INSURE FOR ACTUAL VALUE. If your parcel is lost or damaged, you can only be reimbursed for actual value of the items. If you receive an insured package and it is damaged, please bring the entire package (including wrappings) to the Post Office for inspection and to initiate a claim.

QUESTION: With the Christmas season behind you, it must be a "little slow" at the Post Office... right?

ANSWER: Believe it or not, January is a VERY BUSY time for us. Glancing through your mail, you will notice tax items and numerous sweepstakes. Having been a Postal employee for over 19 years... my feeling is that Christmas is the "fun time" with the colored envelopes and parcels and all. January means an "upswing" of the bulk business mail but be assured that each and every Postal employee is doing their best to provide SERVICE to each and every one of you.

QUESTION: I am a stamp collector. In years past, the Postal Service had a listing of stamps to be issued in the coming year. Do you have some information on this?

ANSWER: You may want to "cut this out" for future reference. These are the stamps tentatively being planned for 1994: JANUARY - Winter sports, Edward R. Murrow, and Love. FEBRUARY - Dr. Allison Davis, Eagle, Chinese New Year and Abraham Lincoln Home (postcard). MARCH - Legends of the West and Myers Hall/Wittenberg University (postcard). APRIL: Silent screen stars, Buffalo soldiers and Summer garden flowers. MAY - World Cup soccer, "The Surrender," Blues and Jazz. JUNE - World War II (1944 series), "Washington and Jackson." JULY - Locomotives, Norman Rockwell, Statue of Liberty and Moon Landing. AUGUST - George Meany and Canyon de Chelly (postcard). SEPTEMBER - Popular singers, James Thurber and St. Louis Union Station (postcard). OCTOBER - Wonders of the Sea, Chinese Joint issue, Virginia Apgar and the Christmas (Traditional and Contemporary). Stamp designs may change slightly due to adjustments required during production. Issuances and anticipated times of release are listed above BUT dates are subject to change.

Well, it is Sunday, shortly before the Packer game. WHAT ABOUT THOSE BADGERS?? Like all of you... sure proud to be a WISCONSINITE! Hopefully, the Packers will come through for us also.

Before I forget... how about a big HATS OFF to the children of Kewaskum? Our Postal lobby was made just a little cheerier through the holidays thanks to the efforts of Holy Trinity School and My Little Friends Day Care Center. What about those 27 entries on the "Eternal Tree?" What creativity, huh? Your votes will be tabulated and winners announced in next week's column. To EACH AND EVERY entrant... as the Postmaster, I feel that I speak for many of the community when I say... "You are all WINNERS... just for participating. Each and every ornament is unique and special and WE ALL THANK YOU."

That is about it for this week. Tax time is upon us and forms are available at the Post Office. Until next week, please drive carefully, stay warm and try to have a good day... a HAPPY EVERY DAY!

Your Postmaster,
Bonnie

Special thanks to Pastor Lance Lacklore for allowing to use the fellowship hall for our celebration.

Members were encouraged to sign up for the annual Bowl-a-thon which will be held on March 20th. Registration forms will be in the newsletter, and pledge sheets will be available at the next meeting.

The club sold about $1200 in products from the county fruit sale. Congratulations to Melissa Ritger for selling over $300 worth of products - highest for the club. Thanks to Nancy Schulz for coordinating the fruit sale. The Wayne Crusaders will be collecting and packaging personal care items for an orphanage in Bosnia. Jeanne McCue, a nurse from Wauwatosa, will be taking the items to the orphans on her upcoming trip. Members were told that the climate in Bosnia is much like that of Wisconsin, but the orphans there don't have shoes or warm clothes to wear. The war has left them with nothing. The club is collecting tooth brushes, toothpaste, socks, combs, lip balm, wash clothes, soap, shampoo, kleenex, and hard candies, which will be packaged in plastic bags and distributed to the orphans. Used tennis shoes (washed and in good condition) are also being collected for the orphans. Mrs. McCue will be attending the Jan. 11th meeting to talk to the club about her trip.

The next meeting will be held on Jan. 11th at 7:30 p.m., at the Kohlsville fire department.

Respectfully submitted,

3. Ordinary citizens have very little influence over how the government operates (a) True (b) False?

Answers

The answers, according to the experts at the National Treasury Employees Union (NTEU), are: 1. (b); 2. (c); and 3. (b). In fact, the NTEU has created materials that explain just how the government works—and what you can do when it doesn't seem to be working for you.

In the Service

Cody A. Ernest

Navy Seaman Recruit Cody A. Ernest, son of John H. and Linda L. Ernest of 707 Steeple View Road, West Bend, recently completed basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the cycle, recruits are taught general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 occupational fields.

Studies include seamanship, close-order drill, naval history and first aid.

Although the Navy is getting smaller, the state-of-the-art ships, aircraft and high tech systems in today's fleet require bright, talented young men and women to operate them. The navy has over 60,000 job openings this year, most of which include guaranteed training.

He is a 1993 graduate of West Bend East High School.

The "pieces of eight" supposedly so popular with pirates, were actually the eight reals that once made up a Spanish peso.

Tracks

by A.Mi

Recently I had the pleasure of traveling some distance with one of our Washington County aging rural natives. After a good many miles of travel, and after going over a railroad crossing he suddenly exclaimed: "Boy, we just missed that train!"

"How do you know that?" I inquired? "I see no signs of a train."

"How dumb," he laughingly retorted. "You mean you do not see that the train left its tracks?"

Apparently this was one of the county jokes handed down over the ages. One that I had never heard before, but it brought to mind the fantastic array of animal tracks to be found after each snowfall. Like fine embroidery, delicate animal tracks left behind embellish hill and dale, river banks and even our auto driveways. Once hooked on the reading of those tracks, it is really a joy to examine them and decipher just who left them behind.

Suddenly we have proof that in the neighborhood: there are mice, opossum, mink, weasel, mole, muskrat, raccoon, and the neighbor's dog and cat! Plus a pheasant or two and birds, a' plenty. Then, if we really wish to be challenged...hike a meadow or forest trail after a fresh snow. It is amazing as to the number of and variety of wildlife Washington County provides home to!

The natural beauty which abounds around us is truly phenomenal. And free for the enjoying. Last evenings snow provided me hours of entertainment both just in the viewing and in the reading of "tracks left behind." Try it, you will never cease to be amazed at what NATURE has out there for you and me to enjoy.

AAA Offers Tips for Driving on Ice, Snow

Motorists who learn to overcome winter's poor visibility, skids and braking difficulties reduce their risk of involvement in a weather-related collision, reports the American Automobile Association's Wisconsin Division.

"Studies indicate stopping distances are increased three to nine times on ice or snow, and vehicles take twice as long to stop in melting ice or snow than on hard surfaces," said Richard Skwierawski, director of field operations for Triple-A Wisconsin.

Skwierawski offers the following winter driving tips:

*Improve visibility by clearing all snow and ice from the entire car... hood, roof, trunk, turn signals, tail lights, headlights, windows, mirrors, and fender wells. Driving with headlights on low-beam provides better road illumination in snow and fog than using high-beams.

*Remember that posted speed limits are set for ideal road and weather conditions. Slow down when visibility and road conditions are impaired by bad weather or traffic.

*Avoid sudden starts, stops and turns. Accelerate carefully so car wheels don't spin.

*Don't brake hard. The best technique for braking under icy or snow conditions is to use "threshold" or "squeeze braking." This is done by applying the brakes firmly to a point just short of lock up, and then easing off the brake pedal slightly. Applying steady pressure is better than "pumping the brakes" and should be practiced on dry pavement prior to driving on snow.

*Anticipate potential danger such as ice on bridges, snow-covered lane markings, stalled cars and poor visibility. Adjust speed, increase distance between other cars or change lanes to avoid trouble. Watch out for other drivers who may be unprepared for changing road conditions.

*In a skid, ease off the accelerator and don't lock up the brakes. Carefully steer in the direction you want the car to go and straighten the wheel as soon as the car begins to go in the desired direction.

To help inform motorists about the intricacies of safe winter driving, Triple-A offers a free pamphlet, "How to Go On Ice and Snow." For a free copy, send a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to: AAA Wisconsin, Public and Government Relations, 8030 Excelsior Drive, Madison, Wisconsin 53717.

"Roads of Winter," a new video produced by the Wisconsin Department of Transportation (WisDOT), provides motorists with additional tips for driving safely on Wisconsin's winter roads. "Roads of Winter" may be borrowed from Triple-A Wisconsin by calling at (800) 236-1300, Ext. 2486.

'Da Yoopers' Promote Snowmobile Safety

MADISON, Wis. -- Where you find snowmobilers, you'll find the message. Dozens of snowmobile clubs and businesses catering to snowmobilers are urging the use of common sense on the trails this year. Beginning on New Year's Eve, a new voice will be added to the chorus.

Da Yoopers, a band from Michigan's upper peninsula, which is known for its hits including "Rusty Chevrolet" and "The Second Week of Deer Camp," has produced a series of three public service announcements for the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, and DNR Public Information Officer Bruce Neeb said the department is excited to be working with the band.

"Anyone who's been driving along and heard a song by Da Yoopers on the radio knows how you tend to tune in and listen to the words," Neeb said. "They're fun songs to listen to, and I think the 'Up North' flavor to music by Da Yoopers is something snowmobilers can identify with."

Neeb said the department has purchased air time for the spots on a number of northern Wisconsin radio stations, and has sent additional copies to radio stations throughout the state. The PSAs were first released in the Hurley and Ironwood areas on December 10 and have received extensive play in that market, Neeb said.

Jimmy DeCaire of "Da Yoopers" said he and other members of the band were happy to be asked to produce the safety messages and quickly volunteered their services and use of their recording facilities.

"A lot of folks know us for the crazy stuff we put in our songs," DeCaire said. "But the fact is, if you go bombing down the road in a car with no brakes, or fall off the back of a snowmobile, you're going to get hurt. Sometimes you have to remind people of that."

DeCaire said the radio spots encourage people to take responsibility for their actions and to operate their snowmobiles at safe speeds. Similar messages are being promoted by clubs, businesses and organizations throughout the state in a continuing effort to reduce snowmobiling accidents and fatalities.

"Broadcasters, tavern and restaurant owners, the brewing industry all understand that snowmobiling is an important part of Winter in Wisconsin," Neeb said. "It's great to have Da Yoopers working with us on this."

1993 Annual Fishing Licenses Good Through March 31

MADISON -- Anglers who have a 1993 Wisconsin annual resident or non-resident fishing license will not need to purchase a new license until April 1, 1994. Because of changes the Department of Natural Resources is making in license expiration dates, 1993 fishing licenses are good through March 31, 1994.

"In essence, anglers are getting three months of free fishing with the '93 license," says Douglas Poole of the Department of Natural Resources licensing section. Until this year licenses have expired on December 31.

The department is changing the starting date for fishing licenses, Poole says, in order to have all DNR hunting and fishing licenses, with the exception of trapping licenses and turkey licenses for spring and fall hunts, begin and expire on the same dates of April 1 and March 31.

Anyone who has not purchased a 1993 license and intends to fish between January 1 and March 31, 1994, will need to purchase a 1993 license. Poole says non-residents who do not have a 1993 non-resident annual license may want to consider a non-resident four-day or 15-day license if they plan to fish in Wisconsin during that period.

As of January 1, 1994, anglers must abide by rules set in the 1994 Wisconsin Hook and Line Fishing Regulations, which are now available at many DNR offices and will be available shortly at other locations that sell fishing licenses.

Lake Trout Season on Southeastern Lakes Now Open

MADISON, Wis. -- The lake trout season on Lake Geneva in Walworth County, on Green Lake in Green Lake County, and on Big Cedar Lake in Washington County opened on January 1, 1994.

The 1994 Wisconsin Trout Fishing Regulations and Guide incorrectly states that the late trout season opened January 4 on these waters. The trout fishing regulations and the 1994 Wisconsin Hook and Line Fishing Regulations are now available at DNR offices and other outlets that sell fishing licenses.

For more information contact: Larry Clagget (608) 267-9658.

Wisconsin Council of Sport Fishing Recognized by DNR

MILWAUKEE -- The Wisconsin Council of Sport Fishing Organizations and its 21 member group were recognized by the Department of Natural Resources for their work with kids' fishing clinics in southeast Wisconsin.

At the awards ceremony held recently, the Department expressed appreciation to the groups for volunteering countless hours and introducing the sport of fishing to thousands of urban youth.

Ron Piening, district fisheries biologist, presented engraved plaques and certificates of appreciation to representatives of the member organizations. "On their own initiative, they originated the fishing program in 1986 with five clinics in Milwaukee County. As of this year, there are 19 clinics in six counties. The dedication and personal contributions by these groups have made the angler education program a big success," Piening said.

In southeast Wisconsin, the Wisconsin Council of Sport Fishing Organizations include: Pewaukee Lake Sportsman's Club; Bass Anglers Ltd.; Salmon Unlimited; K Town Bass; S.E. Wisconsin Muskie Hunters; Wisconsin Sports-woman's Club; Wisconsin Bass Fisherman's Association;

Wisconsin Fishing Club Ltd.; Walleyes Unlimited, U.S.A.; Lake Shore Fisherman's Sports Club; Lunkers Unlimited; Milwaukee Casting Club; Great Lakes Sportsfishermen; Badger Fisherman's League; Bayview Rod and Gun Club; Okauchee Fishing Club; Long Lake Fishing Club; Bass Phantoms; Little Muskego Anglers; Lakeridge Boat Club; South Milwaukee 1400 Fishing and Hunting Club.

Flooding, Cryptosporidium Were Top Resource Issues for 1993

MADISON... Flooding and drinking water contaminated with a microscopic protozoan top the list of natural resources and environmental issues in Wisconsin during 1993, according to Department of Natural Resources Secretary George E. Meyer.

"Water was definitely a key factor in our agency's activities over the last year," Meyer said. "Unfortunately, it was key because we had too much of it statewide and because the largest public drinking water supply in the state became contaminated."

Meyer said DNR staff from the dam safety, floodplain, fisheries, forestry and wildlife bureaus devoted thousands of hours to emergency flood response efforts this past summer.

There was more than $600,000 in flood related damage to Wisconsin state parks, trails and other properties, including $100,000 to Devil's Lake State Park near Baraboo, Meyer said. The park was closed for a week after nearly a foot of rain fell on the park Saturday, July 17.

"Department staff did a fantastic job repairing the extensive damage at Devil's Lake and other facilities, so there was minimal inconvenience to the public," Meyer said.

Floodplain and emergency management officials throughout the country have begun looking at non-structural alternatives for managing future floods, and Wisconsin DNR floodplain management staff have assumed a leadership role in this national debate, Meyer said.

CRYPTOSPORIDIUM IN DRINKING WATER

More than 400,000 people developed flu-like symptoms and more than 50 people died of complications from drinking Milwaukee water in April of 1993. The water was found to contain the microscopic protozoan Cryptosporidium.

The public health crisis, blamed on inadequate treatment of water laden with heavy spring runoff, prompted the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to review drinking water treatment standards. The Legislature funded a $280,000 statewide survey of the protozoan's presence in rivers and in drinking water treatment systems used by 20 Wisconsin communities.

Other major natural resource issue for 1993 included:

SAFEST DEER HUNT ON RECORD

Wisconsin enjoyed its safest gun deer hunting season in recorded history, with 17 injuries and a single fatality attributed to gun-related accidents. The figures represent a drop of roughly 50 percent from the injuries and fatalities recorded last year.

BIODIVERSITY

The department issued a draft report discussing the concept of biological diversity and what it could mean to future management of the state's natural resources. The agency will begin a statewide dialog in 1994 to gather a wide spectrum of public views on the topic.

TEAM DEER

The department initiated a new program called Team Deer to involve hunters and other conservation-minded people in managing the state's deer herd. Team Deer relies on volunteers to conduct deer population surveys, age deer at hunter registration stations and assist in other activities.

WILD TURKEY RESTORATION

Wildlife staff completed the last of 17 years of wild turkey transplants, successfully reestablishing this native species throughout southwestern and south central parts of the state.

ENDANGERED SPECIES

Wisconsin experienced its most successful year yet in efforts to restore trumpeter swans, with nine pairs nesting in the wild, seven of which successfully hatched young; and seven young peregrine falcons fledged from Wisconsin nests in 1993.

FISHERIES

The floods of 1993 had a positive affect on the state's fisheries resources, with summer fish surveys finding abundant hatches of gamefish in lakes and streams.

TOURNAMENT FISHING

The department strengthened its partnership with sport fishing groups by working on a voluntary program to sanction fishing tournaments.

FOREST INVENTORY

In cooperation with the U.S. Forest Service, DNR foresters began a detailed inventory of forest lands in Wisconsin. This will be the fifth statewide forest inventory in Wisconsin. The last inventory showed Wisconsin had 15.4 million acres of forests, 44 percent of the state's land area.

FOREST NURSERIES

DNR nurseries grew more than 18 million trees and 266,000 wildlife shrubs for distribution to property owners and to be planted on state lands in 1993, bringing the total tree and shrub production at state nurseries to 1.3 billion since 1960.

FOREST FIRE SUPPRESSION

Wisconsin experienced its third consecutive year in which the number of wild fires and number of acres burned was below the seasonal average; however, fire control specialists caution that fewer fires combined with abundant rainfall have created conditions where there has been a lot of grass and plant growth, increasing the potential for wildfire during dry periods.

SNOWMOBILE SAFETY

The department initiated efforts to work cooperatively with tourism and local officials, snowmobile clubs, snowmobile manufacturers, the brewing industries, broadcasters and prominent public figures to lay the groundwork for safer and more enjoyable snowmobiling.

MAJOR ENVIRONMENTAL ISSUES OF 1993 INCLUDED:

CLEAN AIR

Federal Clean Air Act requirements targeted commuters for the first time under the Employee Commute Options program, which requires between 800 and 1,000 employers and their estimated 500,000 employees in southeastern Wisconsin to reduce the number of single-occupant vehicles employees use to commute to work.

BOIL-WATER ADVISORIES

The number of boil-water advisories the department issued in 1993 because of bacteria or other contaminants in public drinking water supplies rose to more than 300, up from about 200 annually in previous years. The increase was due to 1986 amendments to the federal Safe Drinking Water Act that required about 3,000 more Wisconsin systems to routinely test drinking water. In 1994, 9,000 more systems must monitor for bacteria, so state drinking water officials predict the annual number of boil-water advisories issued is likely to continue rising.

RECYCLING

Wisconsin communities successfully collected piles of recyclables from enthusiastic residents as required by the 1990 recycling law. The Legislature made several changes in the recycling law to beef up market development, including creation of a state recycling markets board.

YARD WASTE BAN

On January 1, 1993, a ban on disposal of yard waste in state landfills took effect. Composting, chipping, shredding, land spreading and other methods should reduce the amount of yard waste going to landfills or incinerators 460,000 tons by 1995.

WASTE REDUCTION

To encourage consumers and businesses to go beyond recycling, the public-private Waste Reduction Coalition was launched to help Wisconsin consumers learn how to reduce waste by "shopping smart." To reward and encourage such efforts, Gov. Tommy G. Thompson presented the first reduction and recycling awards to 19 residents, businesses, non-profit organizations and local units of government.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

In a voluntary pledge, the Wisconsin Paper Council and its 28 member companies announced their intent to reduce environmental pollution through a pulp and paper Pollution Prevention Partnership with the Department of Natural Resources. The council will be meeting soon with DNR officials to develop a list of pollutants upon which to focus prevention efforts.

ENVIRONMENTAL CLEANUPS

The Natural Resources Board approved major portions of an environmental cleanup rule package known as the NR 700 series. The Wisconsin Legislature is expected to act on the rule in February 1994. The new rules will apply to environmental cleanups involving spills of hazardous materials, abandoned drums, leaking underground storage tanks and contaminated industrial facilities.

The 2,000th leaking underground storage tank (LUST) site in Wisconsin was cleaned up in 1993, a significant achievement in efforts to protect vital groundwater resources. Altogether, almost 9,000 LUST sites have been identified in Wisconsin, leaving about 7,000 sites to be cleaned up.
