Plan Commission to Send Bed and Breakfast Recommendation to Board

By Lana Harbeck Kuehl

The Village of Kewaskum Plan Commission reviewed three matters of new business at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening.

The first item was the review of a Certified Survey Map regarding the division of one lot into two. The lot currently houses the Heberer Brothers Shop at 118 Cth. H. Jerry Mehring was present to further explain his intentions to the Commission regarding the future Dairy Queen construction on that site.

The Commission members present unanimously voted to send their recommendation of the same on to the Village Board.

The next agenda matter was a review of the request of Jules and Gwendolyn Dreher for a Conditional Use Permit to allow for a three bedroom bed and breakfast establishment to be located at 1121 Fond du Lac Avenue in Kewaskum. Following discussion on the availability of parking, the Commission voted unanimously to send their recommendation to the Village Board.

The Dreher's are also requesting the rezoning of the same property from R-2 Single Family Residence

Wienermobile to Visit

Oscar Meyers Wienermobile will be visiting Kewaskum this Thursday, Sept. 29th at Subway in the Kewaskum Mall.

Come and see Little Oscar from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., the world's smallest chef. Kids will enjoy this special promotion, sponsored by Subway.

District to R-3 Two Family Residence District to accommodate a one bedroom apartment to be located in the former Dr. Edwards office quarters.

The Public Hearings for the Dreher's requests have been tentatively scheduled for the Village Board's October 17th meeting.

There being no further business on the agenda, the Plan Commission adjourned.

Village Tables Action on Various Agenda Decisions

By Lana Harbeck Kuehl

Many items were discussed at Monday evening's Village Board meeting, however, few were actually acted on but rather tabled until further information can be obtained.

Prior to the regular meeting at 8 p.m., the Administrative Committee met at 7 p.m. The Committee met to review and hold public discussion as to what future plans the Village Board has in regards to the Central Village Complex (former savings and loan building) at 114 Main Street.

Following debate on the possibilities, it was decided to do a feasibility study on what it would cost to upgrade the property to accommodate the suggestion of moving the library, etc. to the site.

The status of the village's rental property located at 1102 Fond du Lac Avenue was also discussed. The Village is considering whether to invest approximately $10,000 (just a ballpark figure) to renovate the two separate living quarters and continue to rent them out versus having the entire building razed.

By renovating the property, the Village would have the option of still being able to collect the rent money while still retaining the land for future expansion, rather than just sitting on the vacant land.

A decision on this building was also put off until Village Administrator Dan Schmidt can get some exact figures on what it would cost to upgrade the rentals. It should be noted the Village has collected rent on the property for many years without sinking any major expenditures into it.

At the regular meeting, Dianne Horlamus, Executive Director of the Washington County Humane Society, addressed the Board in regards to extension of services offered by the Humane Society to include cats. Action on this matter was also tabled until more specifics can be obtained.

Department heads gave their monthly reports and in other matters brought before the board, a bid from the Batavia Fire Department in the amount of $3,000 was accepted for the 1966 Fire Equipment Truck.

Village Administrator Dan Schmidt also presented preliminary 1995 budget data for the Board to preview.

United Way Continues Growth at a Steady Pace

"We passed the 24 percent mark in funds raised for the United Way campaign as of today," said Merry Mehring, Co-Chair of the Washington County annual drive. The announcement of $211,291 in gifts and pledges received to date was made at the Division Leader report meeting on Friday.

"We're pleased with the results of company contributions, employee campaigns and individual gifts to date, and expect the positive momentum to continue," he said.

Twenty-six divisions make up the campaign, which covered 10 communities in Washington County. Division leaders are assigned to each division, and manage their portion of the campaign. This includes soliciting gifts, recruiting and assigning volunteers to various accounts, coaching and working with the volunteers, and reporting their results at weekly report meetings.

Nancy Mehring commented, "The divisions are being led by outstanding volunteer leaders this year. We would not have the success we do with out the efforts of these men and women. In addition to helping United Way, they are also doing their full-time jobs."

The 26 divisions and volunteer leaders are: COUNTY-WIDE DIVISION: Accounts and Business Services - Glen Milkus; Nonprofits - Bruce Wilk; Attorneys - Lou Briska; Clergy - Rev. Terry Berg; Contractors - Art Falk; Dentists - Steve Domres; Real Estate - Wendy Coulter; Physicians - Mark O'Meara; Other Professionals - Janine Schaarschmidt; County Employees - Patty Stengel.

WEST BEND DIVISION: Key Firms - Jerry & Nancy Mehring; City of West Bend - John Reid; Commercial - Monica Kannel; Education - John Cain; Financial - Patrick O'Connor; Industrial and Manufacturing - Randy Bertram; Retail - Bob Gannon; Special Gifts -

Roger Stephenson Transportation - Karen Oleski.

Other Communities: Allenton - Kevin Volm; Hartford - Sandra Kelly; Jackson - Jenny Chemer and Lisa Karnitz; Kewaskum - Gayle Van Ess; Newburg - Ed Lehmann; Richfield, Hubertus and Colgate - Brian Hillstrom; and Slinger - Iris Hulbert.

The Mehring's compliment the efforts of all of the volunteers who work year-round for United Way. "Many people are unaware that volunteers raise the funds, and volunteers also decide how those funds are spent right here in Washington County," they said.

The campaign will raise funds for 65 programs provided by 26 member agencies serving more than 23,000 people in the coming year. It continues through the end of October.

Commended Students in The 1995 Merit Program

The principal, Chuck Heidner of Kewaskum High School recently announced that Susie Gauvin and Matt Kuehn have been named Commended Students in the 1995 National Merit Scholarship Program. A Letter of Commendation from National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which conducts the program, will be presented by the school to these scholastically able seniors.

About 35,000 Commended students throughout the nation are being honored for their exceptional academic promise. They placed among the top five percent of more than a million students who entered the 1995 Merit Program by taking the 1993 Preliminary SAT/ National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Although the qualifying test scores of commended Students are outstanding, they are slightly below the level required to continue in the competition for Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1995.

A Merit Program spokesperson commented, "It is important to acknowledge the attainments of academically talented students and to credit schools for the key role they play in their development. We hope the recognition received by the able young men and women who are commended in this rigorous, nationwide competition will encourage them to take advantage of their opportunities for higher education and to diligently pursue their professional goals. The nation will benefit from the full development of this precious intellectual resource."

Power Line Construction to Be Discussed at Public Hearing

CAMPBELLSPORT -- Residents will have an opportunity to comment on Wisconsin Electric Power Company's (WE) plans to construct a 138,000-volt transmission line between its Butternut Substation located in the Town of Lomira in Dodge County and its Auburn Substation located in the Town of Auburn in Fond du Lac County.

The Public Service Commission of Wisconsin (PSCW) will hold hearings on Tuesday, October 4, at 1:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. in the Ashford Town Hall, 1417 W. Highway 67, in Campbellsport.

Richard Darling, WE local relations representative, said the proposed line is necessary to strengthen the electrical system in the area by correcting existing overload and voltage problems in the area. In addition, the new transmission facilities will provide greater reliability for existing and future area needs.

WE filed a construction application with the PSCW in April 1992 to construct the approximately 12 miles of transmission line. If approved, construction is expected to begin in January 1995 and completed in December 1995. The estimated cost of the project is $5 million.

Property owners along the proposed routes have been invited to attend the hearing, and local officials have been informed of the proposed project.

To dial long distance within your area code, simply add your area code.

1+ (your area code) + the number

With so many new telephones, cellular phones, fax machines, modems and pagers, quite frankly, we need more phone numbers. So here's how GTE is freeing up a slew of new ones: Instead of dialing '1' plus a seven-digit number for long distance within your home area code, now simply dial '1' plus your area code, then the number.

Easy, huh? Oh, and don't forget to reprogram any auto dialing equipment you may have. Speaking of auto dialers, GTE offers "Speed Calling-8," a time-saving feature that stores up to eight frequently called numbers. To order, call 1-800-346-4300. Then, whether you're dialing long distance or not, it's even easier.

It's amazing what we can do together.

Jake Thull and Tudy Backhaus manned the clothes pin game, while Beth Herriges (back to camera) tried her luck at the St. Michael's Fall Festival held last Sunday at St. Michaels.

Turning to a Counselor for Help

Submitted by David M. Small, MS., NCC., CCMHC, CICSW. Director, Counseling and Wellness Center

We are sometimes surprised to hear that someone we know has sought out counseling services.

Seeing a counselor does not mean that we are crazy, or that something is wrong with us, or that we can't handle our own problems. In fact, counseling can be a very wise and courageous way of handling our problems. Our culture gives independence such a high rating that we forget that using help appropriately is a sign of strength, not weakness. We depend on teachers to learn, doctors for medical treatment and other specially trained professionals. Why shouldn't we seek out a counselor for emotional support and help in sorting out our situation and feelings? Professional counseling is a very potent source to help you deal with the complexities of life.

Counseling can benefit anyone, but you may have trouble deciding whether or not you need it. If you are experiencing any of the following feelings to excess, it would be wise for you to discuss them with a therapist: lonely and estranged, in crisis, confused about how you feel, over stressed, suffering a tragedy, unable to cope with daily problems, very anxious, depressed for more than a few days, lacking control over eating or drinking behaviors, uncontrollably angry, guilty, in chronic physical pain, or sexual/physical abuse in your past. These symptoms are signs that you have some unmet needs. They are clues that you need to examine your life, and if it is not measuring up to what you want for yourself, you need to take responsibility for making changes. Counseling can help you to assess the situation, clarify your options and achieve your goals.

You need to choose a counselor best situated to you and your particular problem. Psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers all offer counseling, but each offer specialized services. Psychiatrists have medical degrees and can prescribe medication. Psychologists are experts in counseling and testing. Social workers have expertise in counseling and linking people to community resources. Alcohol and other drug abuse counselors specialize in addiction and abuse services. In choosing a counselor you want to learn if the counselor has experience in working with people with needs similar to yours. Whether your counselor can respond to your individual needs with understanding and skill is more important than his other professional title or gender of the counselor. It takes research and persistence to find the right counselor for you. You want someone who has the proper training and experience. You want someone who inspires your trust.

You also want someone with a high level of common sense. Don't hesitate to shop. Some people recommend that you interview a few counselors before making your selection. Talk with your physician, your minister, your local mental health department, your friends and your family. In your exploration, do not hesitate to ask about fees, degrees and background. Also, most counselors will allow you to set up a phone conversation before you come in for a session. A lot of your questions can be answered at that time. Group therapy and self-help groups are also effective means of support. Be assertive with your perspective counselor, ask questions that pertain to you and if you feel uncomfortable with that counselor, seek out another one.

Know what you want from counseling. First, you have the right to expect honesty, confidentiality, and emotional support from your counselor. You will feel relief from unburdening yourself to someone who will really listen. You should also get a sense of your options, you will find that you do have choices and that you are not as trapped as you may have thought. This sense of choice can be both freeing and empowering. You determine what is of value to you and your counselor helps you set goals that are faithful to your values. Another objective of counseling is great self-responsibility. Part of the process may be painful as you are asked to look at your own part in your problems. If you are blaming your parents, your health, your bad luck or other outside factors for your difficulties, you may be challenged to examine your own beliefs and thoughts. This may be uncomfortable for awhile, but the regards are great.

To seek out counseling takes a very courageous and strong person. The stigma of counseling is not what it may appear to be. A recent US News poll showed that 81 percent of Americans think that counseling for personal problems would be helpful "sometimes" or "all of the time." The hardest step is making that phone call to admit to yourself that things are out of balance in your life. You may benefit from the experience of developing a relationship with your counselor to help you clarify your goals and your situation.

Not ignorance, but ignorance of ignorance, is the death of knowledge.

Peace Church Vacation Bible School

Peace United Church of Christ held their Vacation Bible School on Aug. 8th to 12th. The week's theme was "I Am a Special Person." As a culminating activity, the older children went to Meadowcreek Manor on Friday to play Bible Bingo with the residents. They had snacks prepared and also sang some of their songs from the week. Everyone enjoyed themselves, and the residents invited them back SOON! Pictured is Pat Becker and Dan Kletti preparing snacks and prizes for the residents of Meadowcreek Manor.

The children enjoyed a day outside decorating the parking lot with self-portraits.

Yeska Family Reunion Held

On Labor Day weekend, the descendants of Anton and Stella (Paluka) Yeska gathered at the homestead in Neshkoro for their annual reunion.

Luckily, we missed the damaging tornado that passed a couple miles south of the village a few days before.

Soon a small group of tents and campers were assembled in an open field. The festivities began with a parade on Saturday at 1 p.m. Young and old participated, some on foot, and us older ones rode in a decorated trailer to the strains of Jim Kerhin's banjo. We took mostly side streets to the amusement of local residents.

Then a ball game was held at Stan-O-Gene Park. Some stayed behind for a game of "Sheepshead." At 6 p.m. a pot luck feast was held with Italian sausage, brats, Kewaskum summer sausage, corn on the cob, and other goodies.

Then came the best part. Around a roaring campfire, each family presented a poem about our origin to rhyme with a familiar tune. We sang other songs while the children toasted marshmallows. The older ones retired early, while some stayed up until 2:30 a.m.

Sunday morning was a fishing contest. We were a short distance from the Mill Pond with boats available. Joe Herhin was the winner with a casting rod as his prize.

At 11 a.m. on Sunday, Father Joe Schlaefel of St. James had a family Mass for us with about 60 people in attendance.

After lunch, there were games for the little ones, and a contest of identifying family photos. Lucy Kurz was the winner of that with a jug of wine as her prize. It sprinkled most of the day, but it did not dampen our spirits, however. Several enjoyed dinner at Silvercryst in Wautoma.

Sunday evening, we played Bingo with cash prizes awarded. The blackout of $25 was won by Joe Kurz of Eau Claire.

My poem, sung to the tune of "Home, Sweet Home" is as follows:

It was in 19 hundred seven
The family knot was tied,
Ever since the six of us
Were filled with Polish pride.
First it was Eddie born in 1910

After two years Helen came,
Walter, or Sonny, as he was known

Followed next as cars on a train.

Next came me, Isabelle, by name

So in 1924

But lo and behold, came two girls more.

Dorothy became number five,
Lucy was number six

That rounded out our family.
To make it more, Ma said

"nix."

We all eventually married,

The results you can see here
Our family kept increasing,
With new faces every year.
Alas, our folks have passed away

In 19 hundred seventy three
After 66 years of marriage
A tribute for you and me!
The two boys followed later,
With several spouses as well,
Other sorrows we have known,
There is so much to tell.
So that leaves the weaker sex,
To carry on the tradition,
We each go our separate ways,
To fulfill our particular mission.
As once again we gather,
In harmony and love.
God bless us each and everyone,

With those who are above.

Dancers to Perform at Kettle Kountry Kolors A Step in the Right Direction... With The 'Country Club' Western Line Dancers

Bill Guell and Jan Reuter lead the way to one of the many couple dances at The Amerahn.

By Laurie Ottery

Step forward, touch left, step back, touch right, slide, skuff, cross, turn and vines all make up some of the steps to learn as the many couples and line dancers were taught recently at The Amerahn. Over 300 people come from many walks of life and all ages to join in the fun of Country Western dancing.

In January of 1991 Richard and Sandy Heismann of Plymouth started teaching Country Western dancing at Frank's of Kettle Moraine Lake. Richard designed the logo and came up with the name, "The Country Club Western Dancers." Lessons were later moved to the Recreational Building in Plymouth.

Among the many interested students were Bob and Joanne Stageman, Bill and JoAnn Guell, Dan Del Ponte, Jan Reuter and Carole Snyder. The Heismanns moved to Jackson, Tennessee for a new job in May of 1992. At that time, Earl and Marie Kleinke were prepared to have lessons start in their hall, The Amerahn, in Kewaskum.

On June 8, 1992, lessons were offered at Amerahn. Students Bill and JoAnn Guell and Bob and Joanne Stageman became the instructors. Bill picks out the music, the dances to be taught and makes all of the tapes for lessons. Dan prints out the dance sheets with all the steps, and plays the music at the lessons. Jan became the club photographer. Carole helps with the teaching. Ready or not, The Amerahn started packing in the students anxious to learn how to do Country Line Dancing.

Occasionally Two Step Lessons are offered to interested couples. Every Monday night basics are taught from 7 to 7:30 so you can start dancing whenever you'd like. Bob credits the large crowds they draw to this policy. "We teach basics, one of the few clubs from Milwaukee to Oshkosh, that do basics every night before moving on to the feature dance," stated Bob.

At 7:30 review is done on the last dance taught. It is a complete going over so you can refresh your memory, or learn the dance for the first time. A demonstration is then done on the feature dance for the night. The Club has lots of dedicated dancers willing to do the demos to help people learn.

One week a line dance is taught, the following week, a couples dance. Occasionally, a night of review is done, going over various dances. Over 150 people turn out for each type of dances being taught. Some people prefer to learn only the line dances, others just couples. There are also the many who do both. Many of the students come alone and find partners to dance with when the lessons begin.

When asked what he enjoys most about teaching, Bill said, "I enjoy watching people learn, doing the dances to the music I've selected. I get a lot of satisfaction out of students learning how to get the most out of Country music," he added.

The Country Club has an informal structure with no yearly dues. They do demonstrations at picnics and other events, and will be performing at Kewaskum's Kettle Kountry Kolors Festival in River Hill Park on Saturday, October 8. (The festival is being held on both October 8 and 9.) Members participated at the State Fair this past summer in a Line Dance Challenge.

They have adopted the theme, "Country Club" and have a "Country Club Dance." If you take lessons with them, you are automatically a Country Club Dance member. Many Friday nights bands playing country music perform at Amerahn. Country dancers from all over get together to do the many dances they have learned.

Dance etiquette is taught to all of the students. It is important to "Country Club" members to show respect to others at dance events. The last couple of years, Country Club has taught lessons in Eden as a fund raiser for the Firemen's Auxiliary. Club members helped beginners catch on to the steps of many country dances.

When asked what he has gotten out of teaching and dancing himself, Bob replied, "Satisfaction! It is a big thrill for me to see people learn so easily how to dance and enjoy the music," he added.

Bob and Joanne Stageman teach the steps to the couples dance, "Sidekick" at The Amerahn in Kewaskum, for the Country Club Western Dancers. Lessons are held on Monday nights.

Photos by Laurie Ottery

The Club credits part of their success to being able to work with such good people like Earl and Marie Kleinke. Bob stated, "The Amerahn is a great place to hold lessons. There is lots of room, and we have a mutual respect."

The instructors donate their time. Donations are requested at the door. All of the money goes right back into the club paying for everything from equipment to the parties held for members. Recently over 300 people gathered for the annual picnic held in Campbellsport. At Christmas time another party is held with all the entertainment, door prizes and food being furnished to members.

The Country Club Western Dancers consider Richard and Sandy Heismann their founders, and parents of country dancing. The club has hatbands, T-shirts, sweat-shirts, jackets, mugs and name tags available.

If you're looking for some fun exercise, and you'd like to learn how to do country dancing, come and join the friendly people at The Amerahn. Simple steps, skuffs, vines and turns are easy to learn, even if you think you have two left feet. Country Club Western Dancers welcome new students at any of their lessons on Monday nights at The Amerahn. And don't forget to catch their demonstration at Kettle Kountry Kolors. For more information, contact Bill Guell at 477-5581 or Bob Stageman at 533-4890.

Another popular feature of the annual Kettle Kountry Kolors Festival is the Civil War encampments. Pictured above are two Union soldiers and an original Civil War cannon. The Cushing's Battery cannon and the Ernestine Frankenburg cannon collection will be on display at the Festival being held October 8th and 9th in River Hill Park, Kewaskum.

An "Angel of the Battlefield" ministers to the injury of a young Civil War soldier. The "Angels" will return again this year to Kettle Kountry to care for the sicknesses and injuries inflicted upon the Civil War soldiers in battle.

'Make It and Take It' Craft Area Will Be New Feature At Kettle Kountry Kolors

A special new feature at the Kewaskum Kettle Kountry Kolors Festival Saturday and Sunday, October 8 and 9 at River Hill Park will be a "Make and Take It" craft booth.

This special craft area will be located in the South Pavillion (beer garden), near the entrance to the craft tent. It will be open both days from 10 a.m. to dusk.

JoAnn Hall of Campbellsport will be on hand to assist children and adults with crafting their own wall decorations, jewelry and ornaments. Prices will range from $1.00 to $12.00, depending on the craft item you choose to make.

Some of the craft items that will be available to create are currently on display in the front window of the Kewaskum Statesman at 250 Main Street.

Spend the weekend at Kettle Kountry Kolors and while there, you can get a jump start on that extensive Christmas list by visiting the various craft booths of some of the finest artisans in the state.

And... you'll also have the chance to uncover your own artistry and say, "I made it myself" at the "Make It and Take It" craft area... another new feature at this year's Kettle Kountry Kolors.

Falling Rain

The spirits of the night call out to me

I hear them speak my name
The cloudy skies talk to me
In the sound of the falling rain
The moon enchants the conscious mind

But the subconscious will remain

Untouched by all until it hears
The sound of the falling rain.

And if you try to fight it
The effort will bring you pain
For no mere mortal can resist

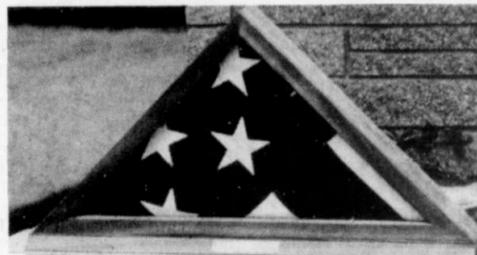

The sound of the falling rain.
Your thoughts are taken from you

Your memory it will drain
All your fears are given tongues
In the sound of the falling rain.

And when I'm taken from this earth

My blood shall leave no stain
My voice alone will linger
In the sound of the falling rain.

Small-Business Owners Improve Success Rate Through Training

Small businesses have accounted for more than 60 percent of the jobs created in Wisconsin in the last decade, according to a recent report from the Department of Development. However, with only one out of five new businesses lasting more than five years, small-business owners and potential business owners are looking for guidance to improve their chances for success.

Moraine Park Technical College, along with other technical colleges across the state, is offering small-business owners the training needed to improve those odds.

"You can be an expert in your field," Tom Evenson, Moraine Park small-business instructor, said, "but without the knowledge about how to run a business, you won't last."

Evenson said the marketing of huge corporations gives the impression that they are more important to the economy than small businesses, but the reverse is actually true. "Eighty percent of Americans are employed by small businesses," he said. "We're recognizing that the economic development prospects of small businesses are very significant at both the national and local level."

Of the 7,400 public and private sector businesses in the Moraine Park District - which consists primarily of Dodge, Fond du Lac and Washington counties - 96 percent employ 50 people or less. The Small Business Administration defines a small business as employing 500 people or less.

Evenson said small businesses have made Wisconsin unique in the nation. "Small businesses give Wisconsin a business diversity that makes us an almost recession-proof state," he explained. "We hardly notice when the rest of the nation is feeling a recession because we have so many different types of businesses. When one area of an industry is hit with a recession (in Wisconsin), not many people are affected."

Evenson said the state government sees the importance of small businesses and is dedicated to encouraging their growth, but added that community support is also vital. "Every community should sponsor a (small-business) class because it helps the development of that community," he said. He said cooperation between communities and two-year colleges across the state will help both the small-business owner and the community as a whole.

"Small businesses are the lifeblood of our economy," Evenson said, "but without the small-business owner getting proper training, the odds are against their survival." He said Moraine Park's Small-Business Training program can offer people preparing to own their own business or people already in business the broad-based range of skills needed to succeed.

Small-Business Training is a less-than-one-year vocational diploma offered at various locations throughout the Moraine Park District. The program consists of five classes: small-business development, financial management, marketing, employee/customer relations and small-business planning. Each class meets for 24 hours of instruction - usually one night a week for six weeks - and are worth one college credit each.

Tom Jacobs, continuing education coordinator at Moraine Park's Beaver Dam campus, explained the value of small-business training. "The goal of taking the five classes is to develop a business plan," he said. "This is important because it gives small-business owners guidelines to follow and lets them know exactly what they need to do to make their business run smoothly."

He said having a business plan is advantageous when applying for loans because banks take loan applicants with a business plan more seriously than those who walk in with only an idea. "Banks need to see a business plan before they'll approve a loan. Participating in the small-business program shows the bank they'd be taking a safe risk (in approving the loan)," he explained.

Jacobs said the classes can be taken individually for people already in business who only need help in certain areas. "We survey small-business owners who only need help in certain areas. We survey small-business owners in our district every year to see what areas they're looking for assistance in. Their needs are the same as those found nationally," Jacobs explained. The results show small-business owners are looking for skill improvement in areas such as supervisory management, computers, communications, technology and safety.

Moraine Park offers seminars and workshops concerning these issues as well as tax information, Jacobs said, explaining that the seminars and workshops allow small-business owners an opportunity to compare problems and offer each other solutions. "They (the seminars) can serve as a sort of support group," he explained.

Jacobs said Moraine Park also offers individual services for companies. "We can analyze a company and find areas that could use improvement. We then customize a program for that specific business," he said. "Moraine Park had 262 contracts last year with small businesses in our district."

Basic skills assessment and training are also available through Moraine Park's Small-Business Training program. Jacobs said this training is beneficial because they can improve the efficiency of the business by either refreshing the employees' memories in subjects such as basic math or teaching them something completely new.

Technical assistance is another service Moraine Park offers to small-business owners. Jacobs explained that Moraine Park finds experts in areas that small-business owners need assistance in.

"People want to get into business," Jacobs explained, "but just an idea isn't good enough. They need a broad range of skills."

For more information about Moraine Park's Small-Business Training program, call Tom Jacobs at (414) 887-4427.

A Message from the Postmaster

Hello Kewaskum Statesman readers and how are you all doing today? Your Post Office has "changed its decor" and went "all out" for the re-opening of the school season a while back. As most of you know, the office and "eternal tree" is decorated for the changing seasons -- not only by the office personnel, but also, sometimes by school groups and/or organizations. If you or your group would like to decorate the office and/or tree for any holiday -- please stop in to see me or call me. Will be more than happy to keep your Post Office community involved.

Have a couple of subjects to discuss this week, so, will get right into that, okay? The first one is on addressing:

Complete address is the KEY to delivery. No one likes to have a letter delayed, returned, or misdelivered. To avoid these possibilities, please make sure the mail you send has the complete and proper address of your receiver. Mail that is not correctly addressed requires additional handling by postal employees and this can cause delay in mail delivery. Some of the most common problems concerning incomplete and/or incorrect addresses are:

-- Just putting the rural route number. In Kewaskum, as in many cities, towns and villages; rural routes "grow" and may need adjustments. Customers that used to live on one rural route are now on another rural route. Correct addressing would be:
JOHN DOE
1176 SUNNYVALE DRIVE
KEWASKUM, WI 53040

-- Post Office box patrons using ONLY a street address. Frequently, we receive mail for customers only showing the street address and we "have no idea who they are" as the address depicts that they should have a post office box. We do hold this mail for 30 days -- hoping to locate the individual. If you are "new" in Kewaskum and require a post office box, please stop in and acquire one so that we can properly deliver your mail. Present Post Office box patrons -- PLEASE use your post office box number as much as possible. Next time you order checks -- have them put this information on your checks -- it does not cost anything extra. You may want people to know where you are physically located so correct addressing would be:
1176 SUNNYVALE STREET
PO BOX 700
KEWASKUM, WI 53040

-- Illegible and/or incorrect zip codes. If you sit down and address a letter to Fond du Lac and then, inadvertently use the wrong zip code; your letter will go the erroneous zip code. This will cause delay of your mail. Zip code information is readily available at the Post Office or by calling us at 626-2575 and we will be more than happy to give you correct information. A "tip" on using the zip code books at the post office -- The first pages of the state will give you those cities, villages and towns with only one zip code. Larger cities having more than one zip code? It will give you the page number to turn to and then you will see the "break-down" by individual streets, etc. Please insure also that your addressing is legible. If you make a five look like a three, your mail could head down to Florida instead of within the state.

We have some free handouts that might assist you on complete addressing. Interested? Please stop in and we will be more than happy to give you one. Making sure to use a complete address will help prevent the chances of mail delay. Postal Service employees will continue to make an attempt to deliver mail regardless of the "quality" of the address -- however, a complete address can help them get the mail to both you and your recipients in a more consistent and reliable manner.

Problem with your mail? Misdelivery and/or delay? A big thank you to the customers that do take the time to give me a call concerning this. We want to know when we make a mistake! As your Postmaster, my firm feeling is that the carriers and/or clerks do not intentionally misdeliver. Mistakes do happen, but you, as our customers can assist us in non-reoccurrence just by letting us know. Many of you are aware of my policy... I talk to the carrier or clerks and do get back to you after a two week period to make sure that the problem has been corrected and the service improved.

TIPS FROM YOUR POSTMASTER

Change... change... change... yes, you may now deposit letters in the front of the Post Office (outgoing mailbox) on Sundays and they will be taken to Milwaukee. Please insure that you make your mail deposits not later than 5:30 on Sunday for this service.

For those collecting the World War II books. The 1944 book is "on order" and should be available in your post office now.

Well, that is about it for this week. Thank you... thank you... thank you to the many customers that supply feedback from this column. You let me know what you want to hear about and I love it. I totally enjoy writing this column and once more... thank you to Lana and the Statesman "crew" for allowing me space in your newspaper. Until next time, try to have a good day... a happy everyday.

Your Postmaster,
Bonnie!

Indian Netters Win Own Invitational

By Statesman Sports Writer

KEWASKUM - With the Eastern Wisconsin Conference schedule winding down, the Kewaskum girls tennis team can use some extra court time to get ready for their post-season run.

Thus the results from last Saturday's Indian Invitational tennis tournament were very encouraging for KHS coach Glenn Eichstedt.

The Lady Indians won their own invitational "in very convincing fashion," according to Eichstedt, who noted that his team dominated Two Rivers and Germantown in accumulating 11 team points.

Two Rivers ended up second in the tournament with six points, while Germantown was third (4). Slinger, which was to be the fourth team in the meet, had to cancel because of another competition.

Most encouraging was the play of the Lady Indians against their EW rival Purple Raiders. KHS rolled over Two Rivers 6-1, thus avenging a defeat to the Raiders earlier this season.

That followed a 5-2 win by the Lady Indians over Germantown in the opening round, easily giving KHS the championship. The Indians had five different singles or doubles players go 2-0 in the matches.

Missy Rohrer had little trouble at No. 1, winning her first three sets by 6-0 scores before finally allowing TR's Jenny Bowe to win five games in the second set of their match.

Margaret Feind, at No. 3 singles, did even better. The sophomore sensation didn't lose a single game in her two matches, blanking both Jenny Madsen and Ann Stone.

Meredith Frac also had little trouble, dropping just three games in her matches. Jamie Lynn and Anne Mertz, at No. 1 doubles and Sabrina Maul and Jenni Weston, at No. 3 doubles, also won two matches apiece.

"The players all benefitted from the additional tournament competition," Eichstedt pointed out. "We were able to win due to the great contributions of our doubles pairs."

The KHS coach also wished to thank both players and parents who helped out with the tournament.

Raiders Down KHS Girls

By Statesman Sports Writer

TWO RIVERS - It looks like all that it will take for the Kewaskum girls tennis team to win their matches is one doubles victory. The problem is coming up with that one win.

For the third time in less than two weeks, the Lady Indians won their matches at the top three singles positions and still were unable to come up with a team victory, losing to Two Rivers 4-3 here, last Saturday.

Problems in securing a doubles victory has been a weakness for the Lady Indians as of late, and it once again led directly to a loss in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

With wins by Missy Rohrer, Meredith Frac and Margaret Feind at the top three singles spots, the Indians needed just one of the three doubles combinations to come out on top.

The closest any duo came,

Holy Trinity Second Grade to Orchard

The second graders from Holy Trinity School spent a morning at the apple orchard of Tom and Lori Schoofs on Highway 28 west of Kewaskum. The children saw all the different kinds of apples grown there, learned how trees are grafted, and learned how to pick apples correctly. The Schoofs also showed their many animals - horses, turkeys, chickens, and rabbits. A highlight was a hayride at the end of the tour.

however, was at No. 3, where the team of Tristin Olson and Danielle Slaughenhoup forced tiebreakers.

Rohrer and Frac remained unbeaten in EW competition with their victories. Rohrer didn't lose a single game in her win, while Frac dropped two games in each set against Carlann Hurley. Feind also was impressive, not losing a single game.

The team loss dropped the Indians to 3-3 in the EW.

Different Lineup Boosts Lady Indians

By Statesman Sports Writer

KEWASKUM - Having lost a couple of close matches this season because of a lack of success in doubles competition, Kewaskum girls tennis coach Glenn Eichstedt did the unthinkable here, last Thursday afternoon.

The KHS boss made some lineup switches, putting his top singles player, Missy Rohrer, into a doubles duo with another former singles competitor, Jamie Lynn.

The move paid off, with the Rohrer-Lynn combination easily winning their match. That victory, along with another doubles win from Danielle Slaughenhoup and Tristin Olson, helped the Lady Indians secure a 4-3 victory over Two Rivers in an Eastern Wisconsin Conference contest.

The victory by Olson and Slaughenhoup gave the Indians two wins in doubles competition for the first time in several weeks. That drought was a major factor in Eichstedt inserting Rohrer into the No. 1 doubles spot with Lynn.

Sophomore Margaret Feind, normally the No. 3 singles player for KHS, moved up to take Rohrer's spot at No. 1, and did a commendable job.

Feind had little problem with the Raiders' Anne Stone, winning 6-2, 6-0.

"It was maybe her best performance," Eichstedt said of Feind's effort. "Her steady and heady play never allowed her opponent to get going."

Meredith Frac also played well, beating Carlann Hurley

6-1 and 6-2.

The win gave KHS a 4-3 record in the EW, with one conference match against Plymouth left to play on Thursday. The Lady Indians will then take part in the conference tournament, Saturday afternoon at Two Rivers.

WIAA Regional action gets underway next Tuesday, October 4, at Whitefish Bay.

Trees Beginning to Turn Colors Across Wisconsin

MADISON -- Trees across Wisconsin are beginning to paint the forests in vivid autumn colors of golden yellows, rich reds, brilliant oranges and deep purples.

"We are already seeing the leaves of trees that are stressed or that grow in the lower lying areas of northern Wisconsin turning brilliant fall colors," says Trenten Marty, forest geneticist with the Department of Natural Resources Bureau of Forestry.

Marty says the colors come from three types of pigments -- chlorophyll, carotenoids and anthocyanins -- found in the leaves of trees, and that weather plays a role in the intensity and duration of colors.

Chlorophyll gives leaves their green color throughout the growing season and is present in the chloroplasts of the leaves. In the process called photosynthesis, chlorophyll takes the sun's energy and produces simple sugars -- the tree's food -- from water and carbon dioxide. During the summer, chlorophyll is continually produced and broken down within the leaf.

Carotenoids are also present in the leaf chloroplasts, but because the chlorophylls predominate, they are not visible through the growing season. Carotenoids are responsible for the yellow, oranges and brown fall colors in leaves.

As fall approaches and day length shortens, production of chlorophyll subsides, veins that transport sugars out of the leaf close, and sugars are trapped within the leaf. As the chlorophylls break down, the carotenoids reveal their yellow pigments.

Anthocyanins develop in the early autumn when the excess sugars trapped within the leaf cells are exposed to bright light. These pigments are responsible for the intense reds and purple coloration in the leaves of certain species, like sugar maple in Wisconsin, Marty says.

"The length and intensity of the fall color season is really dependent on our late September and October weather. We have the most brilliant and intense fall colors when we have a series of bright sunshine-filled days and cool, but frost-free evenings."

These conditions cause sugars to be trapped in leaves, enhancing the production of anthocyanins in the leaves.

Marty says some of the best areas for viewing fall color in Wisconsin include the Bayfield Peninsula in northern Wisconsin; Rib Mountain and the Wausau area in central Wisconsin; Door County in eastern Wisconsin; Kettle Moraine State Forest in southeastern Wisconsin; the Wisconsin River Valley, Baraboo Hills and the driftless area of southwestern Wisconsin; and the Mississippi River Valley in western Wisconsin.

"It is extremely difficult to precisely predict the peak fall color times in the state as it varies slightly from year to year, depending on the weather conditions," Marty says. However, he adds that peak fall colors generally occur about the following times in Wisconsin: the last week of September and first week of October in the northern third of the state; early October to mid October in central Wisconsin, and mid-to late-October in southern Wisconsin.

Lady Indians Fade Against First Place Two Rivers

By Statesman Sports Writer

TWO RIVERS - The Kewaskum girls volleyball team had a chance to get back into the thick of things with a victory over Eastern Wisconsin Conference leader Two Rivers here, last Thursday night.

But after a strong opening game, the Lady Indians fell apart against the league-leading Purple Raiders, who came back to win 11-15, 15-8, 15-3.

The win improved Two Rivers' record to 6-1 in the EW, while the Indians dropped to 4-3.

A victory by the Indians could have pulled them into a tie for first place with the Raiders. New Holstein and Sheboygan Falls also would have been right in the thick of the race, each with a pair of losses.

As it stands now, Kewaskum can't afford to lose another EW match if it intends to even earn a share of the regular-season title.

"The league is really balanced at the top," KHS coach Dave Rizzardi said of the logjam. "It's kind of like a merry-go-round, with teams beating each other. I think it is just a matter of one team matching up better with another."

KHS looked to have been matching up quite nicely in the opening game. The Lady Indians looked sharp in downing Two Rivers and seemed to be in control.

"We played a nice, relaxed first game," Rizzardi said. "We made very few mistakes."

But that stellar play faded in the second game, as KHS was within striking distance at 8-10 late. Some tentative play by the Lady Indians, however, allowed the Raiders to pull away and even the match.

"Our passes started to break down," Rizzardi explained.

Everything broke down for KHS in the third and deciding game. The Lady Indians fell behind early and never was able to stop the host's momentum.

"We just weren't in that third game," Rizzardi said, disappointingly. "We didn't come out with any intensity. We were never in it from the start."

With matches this week at home against Plymouth and Chilton, Rizzardi is hoping that his team can get back on track, and still challenge for the EW crown.

"We're really fighting now," he said. "We can't afford another loss. I'm not counting us out. I think we have a good team. We just haven't won that key match yet."

"I think it has been a mental thing," Rizzardi continued. "We just don't believe in ourselves right now."

In addition to this week's action, the Lady Indians also have matches remaining against Sheboygan Falls and New Holstein. Those contests should go far in determining what unfolds at the top of the standings in the league, according to Rizzardi.

KHS Girls Blank Tiger Netters

By Statesman Sports Writer

CHILTON - The Kewaskum girls tennis team needed a shutout to get back into the thick of things in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference race. Fortunately for the Lady Indians, Chilton obliged.

The Tigers, experiencing a tough season thus far, were no match for the Lady Indians here, last Tuesday. KHS wasn't forced to a third set in the match, which it easily won 7-0.

The win helped the Lady Indians keep pace with league-leading Plymouth, which unofficially has 30 points in EW action. Kewaskum is second with 25 points, while Two Rivers is a distant third with 16.

"It is critically important for us to gain team points over the last two weeks of league play," KHS coach Glenn Eichstedt said of his team's goal the rest of the season. "Picking up seven (against the Tigers) may have allowed us to creep back into contention."

The Lady Indians had little if any problems against the much-weaker Tigers, whose only real threat for a win came at No. 4 singles.

The Indians' Renate Wilke, however, "controlled the crucial points," according to Eichstedt. That control helped the KHS junior beat Kristy Mayer 6-4, 7-5, thus sealing the shutout.

No other Indian player or tandem lost more than three games in any set.

Eichstedt knows, however, that teams will be jockeying lineups the rest of the season, hoping for that one extra victory.

"There continues to be a good amount of lineup changes," he said, which "makes it difficult to anticipate results."

Rueth Wins KM Amateur

By Statesman Sports Writer

KEWASKUM - With an opening-day round of 72, Hartford's Jocko Rueth showed that he would be the man to beat in last weekend's Kettle Moraine Amateur golf tournament, held at Hon-E-Kor Country Club here.

That opening-round score, which turned out to be the low round of the tournament, helped propel Rueth to his third KMA title. Rueth's total of 146 was two strokes better than fellow Hartford native Bob Talajkow-ski.

Hon-E-Kor championship runnerup Teresa Dreher easily outdistanced the field in the women's competition. Dreher's total of 192 was low enough to edge Debra Schaub and Hon-E-Kor champ Tracey Schaub, who posted respective scores of 196 and 197. Tammy Halfmann took women's low net honors with her 139 total.

Other winners of the respective flights included: Bruce Halfmann, first flight (154); Jeff Koth, second flight (154); Bill Wuebben, third flight (161); Jim Dorn, fourth flight (179); and Ken Robl, fifth flight (170).

Two KMA golfers, Jim Buehrens and Lou Santini, didn't win their flights, but nonetheless will never forget the tournament. Each recorded a hole-in-one while competing.

Buehrens aced the No. 4 hole on the Blue nine, using a five iron for the 165-yard shot. In finding the cup, Buehrens also automatically won the closest to the pin contest on that hole.

Santini, meanwhile, used a 2-iron for his ace, on the No. 7 hole on the White nine. He also won the closest to the pin contest on that hole.

Jim Volesky and Tracey Schaub won the long drive contest, while other winners of the events included: Closest to the pin - No. 5 white nine - Craig Anderson and Dale Puestow; Closest to the pin - No. 5, blue nine - Joe Doherty; Men's bestball winners - Joe Doherty and Craig Anderson - 137.

Indians Edged by Two Rivers, 20-14

By Statesman Sports Writer

KEWASKUM - This day football thing doesn't seem to be agreeing with the Kewaskum football team.

Playing home day games for the first time ever, the Indians dropped to 0-2 at home last Saturday afternoon. KHS fell behind Two Rivers 20-6 in the third quarter, and never was able to overtake the Raiders, losing 20-14 in an Eastern Wisconsin Conference matchup.

The loss dropped the Indians to 1-1 in the EW, and to 3-2 overall. Two Rivers improved to 2-1 in conference play.

KHS coach Clark Pearson wasn't able to blame the game's starting time for the loss, and instead credited the Raiders for timely execution.

"They made some big third-down plays to keep drives going," Pearson said of the Raiders. "It was a tough loss, but a real good football game. They just had a better time of possession."

The Raiders also had better balance offensively, mixing 139 yards rushing with 146 passing. Raider QB Tim Klinkner was 12-of-17 passing, and hooked up with split end Chris Menden for several crucial completions.

The final one occurred late in the fourth quarter, with the Raiders clinging to a 20-14 lead. Facing a third-and-long, Klinkner found Menden for a 13-yard hookup, giving the Raiders a first down, and allowing them to run out the rest of the clock.

"He really made a nice catch," Pearson said of the play. "(Cory) Rammer was all over him," but the 6-2 Menden outjumped the KHS defender for the ball.

Another stellar Menden grab helped the Raiders extend their lead in the second quarter. Klinkner hooked up with Menden on a 44-yard pass play, taking the ball to the KHS three-yard line. One play later, Kevin Smogoleski scored on the short run, giving Two Rivers a 14-6 cushion.

Smogoleski got the Raiders on the board first, capping a 16-play, 65-yard opening drive with his eight-yard run.

The Indians came right back, however. KHS didn't hold on to the ball quite as long, using only seven plays to go 73 yards. Rammer accounted for the final nine yards with his scamper, but the extra point was missed, and the Indians trailed, 7-6.

After Smogoleski's second touchdown, the Indians looked to be driving for an answering score. But their drive stalled inside the Two Rivers' 10-yard line.

"That really hurt," Pearson said of the missed opportunity. "I think we lost a little bit of intensity after that."

Jose Garcia put the Raiders ahead 20-6 with his short touchdown run early in the third quarter. Things looked to be well in hand for the Raiders soon after, when a KHS fake punt was unsuccessful and Two Rivers once again looked to be driving for a score.

But a fumble by Klinkner, the only turnover of the contest, gave KHS some life. Taking over at their own 15, the Indians drove the length of the field, with Rammer again scoring, this time on a 25-yard run.

KHS QB Dan Survis found Paul Reis for the two-point conversion, and the Indians were right back in the game, trailing 20-14.

KHS held Two Rivers on their next possession, but the Indian's subsequent drive stalled at the TR 33 after a pair of Survis' passes fell incomplete.

It seemed KHS would get one last try after stuffing the Raiders on their first two plays after the change of possession, but Merden's grab over Rammer sealed the victory for the guests.

"I thought we played pretty well," Pearson said, complimenting his defensive unit. "We had some big games from a lot of guys," noting Craig Erdmann, Andy Mathias, Brian Herman, Joe Rettler, and Tim Strigenz. "They all played very well."

Rammer led the Indians with 130 yards rushing on 13 carries. Fullback Rich Farchione added 76 in 12 rushes, helping the Indians outgain TR 221-139 on the ground.

The loss was a setback to the Indians' EW title hopes, although Pearson isn't conceding anything yet.

"We obviously can't afford to lose anymore," he said, hoping the Indians get untracked this Friday against league-leading Plymouth.
