Village Plan Commission Gives Favorable Recommendation to Apartment Complex

By Lana Harbeck Kuehl

Representatives of R.T.K.M., LLC, were in attendance at Tuesday evening's Plan Commission meeting to hear input and answer questions from the Commission members in regards to their proposed apartment complex to be located on the east village limits on land already zoned R-4.

Lengthy discussion ensued on the abandonment of a portion of Highland Drive, the Certified Survey Map and the items to be included in the Developer's Agreement.

Items brought up to be listed in the Developer's Agreement included maintenance of roads, outside lighting, drainage, retaining a line of trees, screening of the dumpsters, northwest buffers, and possibly a five-foot side-

The Commission made a motion for Village Administrator Daniel Schmidt to list the criteria discussed.

Following further discussion, the Plan Commission ultimately made a favorable recommendation to send the Conditional Use Permit back to the Village Board for Public Hearing, providing abandonment of the road procedures are completed.

School Sidewalks Slated for '96

The Kewaskum school board met with Kewaskum village officials Monday night in an informal session, to talk about issues regarding the installation of sidewalk along Reigle Drive.

The section of sidewalk under construction has been a topic of discussion since the mid 80's, and had previously been scheduled for installation by the village in 1994.

Approximately 700 feet of sidewalk needs to be installed at this location, with the village citing continual growth in that area to the north and northwest of the village as the main reason for implementing the project.

According to village reports, the growth and potential for growth within the village limits equals eleven family homes, two duplexes, and six multi-family buildings. This equals a total of 63 living units, of which 47 have already been built.

Also, the farm to the north is prime land for residential expansion, with two streets already designated for access. The area to the northwest has been recently annexed, bringing in an additional six homes. As yet, the area to the north has not been annexed, but does have seven homes using this as their access. More annexation could take place in the future.

Members of the school board expressed concerns, regarding costs, responsibility, and ownerships of the property. It was pointed out that sufficient right of way was not available because the road bed was extended to the ROW limits along that section of Reigle Drive. Several alternatives were discussed, with both boards looking at a 66-30 sharing agreement.

Under this type of agreement, the school would retain ownership of the land, with some type of sharing arrangement set up for the benefit of both parties, as well as expansion of the easement for the sidewalk.

Although the sidewalk within the village is generally five feet wide, because the street right of way is less than normal, a four foot sidewalk will be installed at this location, at an estimated cost of $6,000, or approximately $8.57 per lineal foot.

No votes were taken as both parties will take the discussed information back for approval at their regular business meetings. If all goes as projected, construction will begin during the summer of 1996.

Board Acts on Miscellaneous Items

By Lana Harbeck Kuehl

Besides the public hearing on the proposed apartment complex detailed in last week's issue, the Kewaskum Village Board also addressed many other agenda items during last Monday evening's meeting.

The board voted unanimously to hire Dennis Aupperle, 24, for the position of General Maintenance Worker within the Department of Public Works. Aupperle, who resides in the Town of Kewaskum, is expected to start March 7. It should be noted the person hired previously to fill this position, declined the job.

Chairman of Protection and Public Safety John Borland reported his committee is awaiting a recommendation by the electric company in regards to additional street lighting located in strategic village locations that appear to be dark spots.

Chuck Waala, Chairman of Parks and Recreation, announced his committee had approved a bid from Century Fence Company in the amount of $7,064 for the installation of backstops and fencing at Kiwanis Community Park. The board unanimously gave their final approval. Discussion was also held on the possible installation of volleyball courts at River Hill Park.

Trustee Robert Stoltzmann gave a report on a Mid Moraine Association meeting he had attended in which the Department of Natural Resources gave a presentation on recycling.

Stoltzmann stated many neighboring communities are experiencing difficulties with recycling. In answer to a question about what happens if residents don't recycle, Village Administrator Schmidt stated the garbage contractor will not pick up bags that obviously contain items that must be recycled, or if residents do not comply with state mandated recycling rules.

The Administrator also explained details on the Water Utility Rate adjustment. The board voted unanimously to affirm the action of the Public Service Commission.

Sister Ruth Battaglia To Celebrate Jubilee

Sister Ruth Battaglia

Sister Ruth Battaglia from Sacred Heart Cathedral in Gallup, New Mexico is celebrating her 25th Jubilee. She is the daughter of John and Josephine Battaglia of Kewaskum.

Twenty-five years ago on August 15, Sister Ruth Battaglia pronounced her first vows in the Congregation of the Sisters of St. Agnes in Fond du Lac.

The Sisters of Trinity in Kewaskum, where Sister Ruth attended grade school. It was the joyful spirit and dedication of the sisters that drew her to the Agnesian Community.

In 1963, she entered the Community's high school program, living at their motherhouse with 103 other high school aged girls and attending Saint Mary du Lac Academy in Fond du Lac.

After graduating from Marian College of Fond du Lac, Sister Ruth taught social studies and religion in secondary schools in Indiana, Kansas, Illinois and Wisconsin.

She graduated with a Master's of Arts degree in Religious Education in 1982 from St. John's University in Collegeville, Minnesota. It was the experience of the Benedictine community and the school of Theology at St. John's that led her to concentrate her degree work in the area of liturgy.

She is the Liturgy Instructor for the Diaconate Formation Program in the diocese.

Before coming to Sacred Heart Cathedral in Gallup in 1988, Sister Ruth directed a K-12 religious education program and coordinated liturgy at St. Fidelis Parish in Victoria, Kansas.

At the Cathedral, Sister Ruth is engaged in evangelization and pastoral ministry.

"It is a challenging time for religious in the church," she said. "It is a time of transition, the future uncertain. However, I am happy to be called to be a part of the journey. I am confident that there will always be people in the church desiring to live poor, chaste and obedient lives in the community, and willing to minister in the church."

Sister Ruth will celebrate her jubilee with the people of Sacred Heart Cathedral at the 9 a.m. Mass on Sunday, May 7, and with her community and family at the Agnesian motherhouse at a time still to be decided in July.

She was also one of the jubilarians who was recognized at the annual appreciation Mass and dinner which was held at the Cathedral on February 4.

A preacher walked into a tavern in the course of his welfare work and ordered a glass of milk. By mistake he was served an eggnog. After drinking it to the last drop he raised his eyes upward and was heard to say, "Lord, what a cow!"

Zoning Ordinance In Relation to Home Occupations Amended by Town of Scott

By Bernadette Mondloch

The Town of Scott has amended its zoning ordinance by an addition relating to home occupations.

The amendment indicates that no home occupation shall be established, altered or enlarged unless it is in compliance with all of the standards which apply to the district in which it is located. Other restrictions limit employment of not more than one non-resident part-time employed.

Other regulations include the following: Only a limited number of retail sales may be conducted on the premises, the building (residence) may not be altered giving it a business character, the home occupation shall be conducted within the principal residential building, and in a permitted private accessory building if necessary. Outside storage of equipment or materials used in the occupation may not be stored outside and home occupation does not include automotive business.

The board emphasized

"common sense" be used in defining the restrictions. This came about relative to a question concerning a baby-sitting business having a swing set in the backyard. The question was, "Is that type of equipment referred to in the restrictions or would it be necessary to remove such items from the premises?" Common sense was the answer. The same answer was given on trucks and equipment which returns to the home each evening in a business such as landscaping or tree trimming.

A zoning request by Shaun and Kim Eckmann was tabled.

The location of a recently drilled well will be taken up at the March meeting. It appears that the well has been drilled in the right-of-way of Church Street, east of the Church. There is some question about the width of right of way along with other questions which are being researched by town supervisors.

A request from Tom Hickenbotham, Cherry Hill Road, for a lower speed limit between Cedar Road and State Highway 28. Hickenbotham is concerned about the safety of children boarding the school bus. His home is located on the east side of the hill (east of Cedar Road) with four other homes, each with small children, and in an area where the bus is required to make several stops.

A check with the Sheboygan County Sheriff's Department shows that since 1990, there have been three accidents on Trout Spring Road, but only one in that area. The other two involved deer in an area to the west.

Market of recyclables is beginning with plans to haul newspaper which has accumulated to be sold in West Bend. Other recycling plans were discussed which include purchase of a fork lift, new or used, a baler for paper, and plastics and other small equipment necessary for a complete recycling and market operation.

A certified survey map presented by Floyd Klug was approved and a picnic license for the April 2 brat fry sponsored by the Beechwood Diamond Club was approved.

Kewaskum Juniors Deliver Valentines

Minerva Martin chooses a special Valentine from Patrick Enright.

Katie Schroeder delivers a big Valentine hug to Nellie at Mapledale Manor.

Hoping to make their Valentine's Day extra special, members of the Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club, with their children and friends, delivered over 200 Valentines to residents at Mapledale Manor I and II on Sunday, February 12.

The Valentines were made by club members and their children and happily delivered along with special hugs and warm smiles. The two groups interacted by playing a variety of games together and sharing refreshments.

EW Crowns One Champ

By Statesman Sports Writer

MADISON - The Eastern Wisconsin Conference was well-represented at the WIAA State Wrestling meet held here, last weekend.

Only one EW grappler was able to come away with a state title. That came at 152 pounds, where New Holstein's Jesse Buechel outlasted Mike Winn of White-water, 8-4, for the Division 2 title.

Several other EW wrestlers also fared well, however. Two Rivers' Jason Smogolewski finished second in the Division 2 103-pound class, losing to Matt Baehrman of Weyawega-Fairmont, 8-6. Also, Chilton's Chad Ott finished fourth in the 171-pound bracket, losing to Jason Maas, 5-3, in the third place match.

Campbellsport's John Dexter won another state title at 119 pounds, beating Troy Freeman of Nekoosa 4-2 in the title bout. Also the Cougars' Clint Dexter who has become a top rival of Kewaskum's Joel Dziedzic, finished fourth in the 112-pound division.

Chris Voelker, who defeated Dziedzic in the first round of this year's tournament, ended up third in the 112-pound bracket, beating Clint Dexter. Nekoosa's Josh Jensen won the 112-pound title, beating Carl Opalt of Neilsville-Granton, 14-5 in the title match.

"It was some good wrestling down there," KHS coach John Nell said of the tournament. "There were some outstanding wrestlers there."

Nell was particularly impressed with the grapplers from Athens High School. Kraig Underwood, a senior at Athens, became just the second wrestler in state history to win four state titles in the sport, beating Carl Gerber of Bruce, 5-3 in the Division 3, 125-pound championships.

Even more impressive, according to Nell was Athens senior Shawn Ange, who won his third straight state championship with a 20-5 whipping of Mineral Point's Joe Terrell. The win capped off another perfect season (44-0) for Ange, whose only high school loss came in the championship match his freshman year.

"He's a monster... just invincible," Nell said of the impressive fighter. "I don't think there's anyone at any level, in any weight class, that could touch this kid. He's so tough. Whichever Division 1 (college) school gets him is getting a gold mine."

"I don't know what they put in the water down there, but I'd like to get some," Nell said, referring to Athens' five state finalists, and two consecutive state team titles.

Small Engine Service Is Building a Steady Clientele

Dave and Judy Curry of Small Engine Service

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

In business since last October, Small Engine Service, located at 2979 Newark Drive in the Town of Barton has been building a steady clientele of customers from the surrounding area.

Owners Dave and Judy Curry have spent the past year renovating a large out-building on their property into usable area, which includes a shop, office and showroom. "I wish I had before and after pictures to show you," Judy declares, remembering the building's disrepair before their project began.

Their new business offers all aspects of repair and maintenance of small engines, such as lawnmowers, snow blowers, weed eaters, generators, cement mixers, and all lawn and garden equipment.

Dave Curry has been involved in the small engine profession since 1984, when he started at Kohler, after earning an Associate's Degree in Engine Design and Technology. In 1986, he changed employers and began working at Tecumseh, a manufacturer of small engines.

There he specialized in troubleshooting, as a sales rep selling to manufacturers. If a company is going to be building a product that uses a Tecumseh engine, Dave's the man they deal with, including parts and service. He is also skilled as a service coordinator, dealing with customers and dealers who have any problems with the engines themselves. Dave's territory includes all of eastern Wisconsin.

The couple are both originally from the area, so they have a feel for the needs of the community, and view their evening hours as a plus, not a drawback. Since they work full-time during the day, Small Engine Service is open Monday through Friday from five to nine, and Saturdays from nine to three.

"Our hours are geared for the homeowner who works, and needs to find a place that's open when others aren't," Dave points out. "That's always bothered me... when you're working and you need something repaired, and the businesses are closed at that time."

One of their goals is to target the contractors who need repairs immediately, but are normally put in line with the rest of the customers. "Their business revolves around their equipment and they depend on it," Dave explains. "A lot of these guys try to fix it themselves, because they can't deal with a two week waiting period." Small Engine Service understands their concerns and is ready to offer prompt service when the need arises.

He also does repair work for masons on cement mixers and power finishing equipment, as well as hedge trimmers, chain saw and cut-off saws for landscape companies. "We can supply parts for power tools. If there's something a contractor can't find in the area, we'll get it for them." This includes the "do it yourself repairman." Anyone can come in and order supplies, from concrete saw blades to mower blades, belts, trimmer heads, as well as other related accessories.

Dave's expertise includes rebuilding small engines, and putting in new replacement engines. If the engine on your lawn tractor goes, there are other options besides going out and buying an expensive, new tractor.

As the business continues to grow this year, the Currys plan on building up their supplies in stock, selling new engines, parts, generators, etc. "I'm not going to compete with Fleet Farm," Dave maintains, "but I will offer specialty items not sold by the 'chain' stores, and I will service what I sell."

Their showroom includes used snow blowers, string trimmers, new replacement parts and accessories. Customers can come in and order new items such as chain saws, trimmers, and other power tools. "In the future, we'll eventually become dealers for a number of different companies," Judy adds.

Small Engine Service stresses that they aim to keep turn around time down. "It won't take two weeks to get your job done," Dave asserts. Offering pickup and delivery makes access to repairs relatively easy for people in the community to get those seasonal tune-ups on their outdoor equipment. Oil changes and maintenance work is done on snow blowers, lawn mowers and tractors. Now is the perfect time to get that equipment ready for spring.

As the business grows, so will the Curry's plans for extending hours to include days, and hiring additional help.

Offering Childbirth Preparation Class

St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend is holding a prepared childbirth class on Saturdays, March 4 and 11, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the hospital's New Life Center classroom and on Tuesdays, March 7, 14, 21 and 28, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in the hospital's fourth floor east conference room.

Classes provide information to help parents make informed decisions for the last trimester of pregnancy, labor and childbirth. Topics discussed include nutrition, common discomforts of late pregnancy, labor and delivery, Cesarean birth, what to expect in the hospital, emotions, newborn characteristics and basic infant care. Each class includes breathing patterns that are helpful for labor and delivery. Expectant parents also tour the New Life Center.

The fee is $20 which is refunded if the baby is delivered at St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend. To register or for more information, please call the hospital's New Life Center at 334-8361.

Wicklund Addresses Kewaskum Kiwanis

Across the nation, chapters of the American Red Cross are conducting an awareness and financial campaign during March. Jackie Wicklund, Executive Director of the West Bend chapter, explained the mission of the Red Cross and the campaign to the Kewaskum Kiwanis on February 27 at the Glacier Inn.

Wicklund indicated that the campaign slogan, "Help Can't Wait" describes much of the work of the Red Cross. For example, the Red Cross provides the community with such assistance as disaster aid and safety courses. She cited assistance with recent home fires in the area. Other assistance includes service to military families and community service such as transportation for medical care.

Church Women United to Meet Friday at Wayne

Women throughout the Washington County area will gather at SALEM UCC CHURCH at Wayne located near the intersection of highways H & W on Friday, March 3, in observation of the annual World Day of Prayer service, sponsored by Church Women United of Washington County.

This year's service, part of a global celebration observed by Christian communities throughout the world, has been prepared by Christian women of Ghana and explores the theme, THE EARTH IS A HOUSE FOR ALL PEOPLE. Coffee hour will precede the service from 9:00 a.m. until 10 a.m. at which time the service will start.

The 1995 service, based on the parable of the Prodigal Son found in Luke 15, tells the stories of Ghanaian refugees in their struggles to maintain their traditional extended families in the midst of national and community upheaval.

Through prayer, song, and symbol, the service calls participants to recognize their interconnectedness as dwellers in God's world.

Women of all Christian faiths are invited to participate in this prayer service.

'Lac Lawrann Legacy' Now Available at Stores

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

It was 1955 when Ann and Lawrence Maurin invested some money in a 20 acre parcel of Kettle Moraine hills and wetland to use as their own private campground, when it became increasingly difficult for the Milwaukee couple to find secluded campsites.

Little did they know this special place would someday prove to be their legacy, and grow into a 104 acre conservancy that's host to 236 types of plants and 234 different species of birds.

How Lac Lawrann Conservancy was transformed from a dumping site into a nature refuge is the subject of a recently published book, based on the journal writings of Ann Maurin. "Lac Lawrann Legacy," a 202 page soft cover book, chronicles 25 years worth of work the couple engaged in, planting over 8,000 trees, shrubs, and flowers and dredging a shallow lake to restore open water.

Weekends were spent on the property, sleeping in their Nash car with the fold down seats and screened in windows. The land bore the scars of years of grazing, dumping, and water level changes, and their first endeavors included hauling out car loads of trash and developing a restoration program, with birds and their habitat as top priority.

Ann wrote in her book, "although we had no real plan for development when we began our purchases but to give ourselves a place of peace and quiet from the tensions of city life, it soon became evident that BIRDS would be our emphasis."

The core of the book contains, "Ann's Log," whose journals writings continue from 1955 to 1980, and includes colorful stories of life among wood ducks, warblers in spring migration, adopted rabbits and injured Osprey, violent storms and the cruelty of nature, and Fritz the Squatter, who came with the land.

The Maurin's crusade to restore and replenish their piece of heaven included hand planting 2,500 rose bushes, 850 Norway pine, 500 white cedar, 500 white pine, 100 bittersweet vines and 500 cranberry bushes within a five year planting schedule. Two hundred forty-five diseased Elm trees were removed, while rabbit brush piles, bird houses, and duck loaf sites were constructed.

The saying goes, "if you build it, they will come," and in this case, they did. Vast numbers of birds and a variety of wildlife began inhabiting the property as a place to raise their young. For others it became a stopping place along their migratory route.

Ann and Lawrence never ceased to enjoy their creation, and avidly skied and hiked in the surrounding Kettle Moraine area, logging nearly 100 miles each year -- well up into their 80's. Ann writes, "a century or two ago, such an adventure would have been routine. Americans rested their claim to liberty and rights that flowed from it in Nature and God."

Today, America's greatness still lies in the simple things that make human hearts beat faster... planting a tree, helping a neighbor, doing an honest day's work, stopping to watch the fire of the sun reflected in a pond or a skyscraper's window. America the beautiful shines in the hearts of each of us who is willing to respond to her splendor and its Creator, and who performs acts of awareness and appreciation that make a man, or a woman, or a nation mighty."

As the years passed, they eventually built their home on the land, and remained there until 1979, when Ann's health began to fail. It was then the Maurins offered their home and land to the City of West Bend to be part of the park system, and to be preserved as a conservancy.

Ann died in 1991, a victim of Alzheimer's Disease. Lawrence, now 88, still lives in his house on the edge of the lake, acting as a resident caretaker, watching over the birds, animals and plants. He had wanted his wife's journal published over ten years ago, but funds and volunteers weren't available.

Over the years, a hundred with publishing firms across the United States and Canada, to take the book on at their expense and copyright, and one looked promising until the firm fell apart, leaving Lac Lawrann volunteers disappointed and exhausted.

Bette Poulos, volunteer naturalist for the conservancy and one of the book's editors, says, "that's when the park director asked the park commission for a major portion of the Lac Lawrann Trust Fund to be spent to pay for the printing. This included some donations, but mostly money raised by volunteers at fund raisers over the past ten years."

Produced by DeRaimo Publishing in West Bend, the book sells for $12.95, and includes wildlife sketches as well as some beautiful color photos. Three thousand, two hundred copies were printed, and the Friends of Lac Lawrann hope to sell enough books to repay the $18,000 borrowed from the trust fund.

The book is available at the Kewaskum Pharmacy, bookstores in West Bend, and through the Park and Recreation and Forestry Department in the West Bend City Hall, and at the conservancy after public tours. For tour information, call 335-5080.

"At Lac Lawrann we have come to know that life is such a simple thing, if we but live it so. Silently, the stars swing out through gorgeous space. Seasons move without a sound to their appointed place. Fields stand still and wait for sun, for purifying rain. We who move hurriedly are learning to go softly - step by step - with things that grow - with trees and stars, and flowers that pierce the sod." (Ann Maurin - 1978)

To Celebrate Youth Art Month Grocery Bags Stenciled

5th grader, Noah Koch, at Kewaskum Elementary School is stenciling grocery bags for youth Art Month.

Josh Repovsch, a 5th grader at KES is stacking stenciled bags to dry.

March is Youth Art Month in the Kewaskum Public schools and in preparation for that, grocery bags are being stenciled by students. The stenciled bags will be decorated by art students in every grade, K-12, in the district.

Sentry Food Store, for the third year, has donated 1000 plain brown grocery bags for this project. The bags will be decorated with a variety of student art work, returned to the store, and groceries will be packed in them. Imagine getting an original piece of signed art work at the same time you do your grocery shopping!!

This project is an annual event for the district art teachers, Mrs. Peggy Henke, Ms. Kris Schumacher-Rasmussen, Mrs. Deb Stone and Mrs. Carol Zoerb, the Gifted and Talented Education Coordinator.

Letters to the Editor

February 27, 1995

Dear Kewaskum School District Residents,

My decision to run for the Kewaskum School Board has taken me on a very enlightening journey into the workings of our school district. I'd like to share two observations with you this week.

I have been attending a number of not only School Board meetings, but Policy Committee and Building and Grounds Committee meetings as well. These two committees are made up of School Board members and two community members. It is in these committee meetings that policies, expenditures and referenda are discussed. Discussion eventually leads to a vote and from that vote a recommendation is made to be taken up by the full Board at the regular School Board meeting. Most of the time, though not always, the Board accepts the recommendations of the committees because the committees have done most of the topic research.

After attending several Policy meetings and Building and Grounds meetings, one thing became very obvious to me. Some of the recommendations coming out of committee may not represent you. Whether I am elected to the School Board or not, I want to say that we need to see you at these meetings!

It is in committee that important topics -- topics that directly affect you -- are discussed and for the most part, decided. Your input is sorely needed. I have the distinct impression that if more of our district residents had been at recent Policy or Building and Grounds meetings, perhaps a stronger message would have been sent to some committee members as to what YOU desire. However, unless you are present, a clear message by you is not being sent and your lack of input can be misconstrued as apathy.

I realize the tight schedules we are all under but the days of "Let George do it," are over. You must become involved. After all, the committees and Board have their hands all over your children and your wallets! Make sure the decisions that they make are the decisions that represent your views.

I also had the experience of attending the grade 1-5 curriculum meetings. Each grade level group of teachers met with the curriculum coordinator for all-day brainstorming sessions regarding the expectations of their students.

Curriculum is something that is near and dear to my heart. I am very concerned that as a district we improve our curriculum by making it more challenging for our students. My reason -- life is challenging. We must prepare our students to be able to cope with the competition they will be facing by maintaining high expectations.

I heard some very positive ideas and plans in these various grade level meetings. On the whole, I observed some very dedicated teachers hammering out their expectations for our kids.

One thing that somewhat concerned me was what I considered to be an over emphasis on improving self-esteem and self-worth in the classroom (and possibly not being as demanding) as opposed to emphasizing challenging work and establishing regular homework routines.

Building self-esteem is important, but I believe that one of the best ways to accomplish this for people of any age is through successfully completing challenging work. Think about it. You know how good you feel after successfully completing something that was difficult for you.

Children need that sense of accomplishment, too. It's crucial to their becoming successful adults. I further believe that some homework every night helps prepare our youngsters to become more responsible and better prepared for the more demanding assignments they will encounter in the upper grades.

It seemed to me that the overwhelming concern of our teachers is the lack of parent involvement in their children's school work. It was discussed as being a major factor in the difficulty some of the students were experiencing. Of course, none of the teachers seemed to expect the parents to do the work for their child (lucky for my seventh grader!) -- but the overriding opinion seemed to be that for reading and spelling assignments, a parent could spend as little as 15 minutes just listening to their child read or review a word list, or at the very least, to ask their child about their homework assignment. A little goes a long way.

In closing, I hate to sound as though I'm saying that the buck stops with you, but it does! You own this district. Act like a hand-on owner, not an absentee owner -- and parents, speak with your child's teacher if you have any concerns about what is expected of you, your child or your child's teacher.

Sincerely,

Mary P. Andera
Candidate for Kewaskum
School Board

THANK YOU

My sincere thanks to friends and family for their phone calls, cards, gifts and visits during my recent hip surgery. Special thanks for the excellent care received from the 3rd floor staff at St. Joseph's and Dr. Schneider and Dr. Mosley for their specialized care. Heartfelt thanks to Rev. Bettin for his prayers and visits. My nurse Harold is making my recover a success.

Board of Education November Student of the Month

Nicole Kardaris

Senior Nicole (Nikki) Kardaris, daughter of Rona and David Bergdorf, is our student of the Month for December.

This semester Nikki is taking record keeping one, auto service, human relations, dairy industry, world history, leadership, social issues, beginning foods, and a correspondence course. Outside of class she is a member of Future Homemakers of America and Future Farmers of America.

Ms. Kardaris' teacher nomination for this honor reads, "Nicole is retaking a freshman history class this, her senior year. I taught her as a freshman and now again as a senior. During that time she has changed dramatically for the positive. She is very conscientious and is doing quite well (B+ first quarter). she earned a 3.3 GPA first quarter despite the fact that she has eight classes and a correspondence course.

Except for the sun, the star nearest earth is Proxima Centauri, discovered in 1915. It's a mere 25 trillion miles away.

Conservation Patron License Renewals

Those present holders of Conservation Patron licenses should have received a renewal application in the mail within the last week.

The renewal application is to be filled out and returned to a Milwaukee address, which is not a DNR station, but has been contracted out to process the renewal forms. Make sure that the information on the application is correct, and correct any changes which may have occurred since last year's license was issued.

Be sure to mail the application back as soon as possible. By doing so you will receive your new license before the old license expires on March 31st.

In the past, a number of patron licensees have put off mailing in the renewal until late in March and have nothing to show when the new license is required on April 1.

If at the present time, you are not a Patron license holder, but would like to switch to the Patron license, applications will be available at DNR stations the first part of March. Again, with these applications, be sure to mail them in as early as is possible to make sure you have your new license by April 1.

The cost of the Conservation Patron license will remain at $100 this year and includes $200 worth of privileges for fishing users.

Fishing licenses expire on March 31st and the new licenses will be available for the 1995-96 license year about the first week of March at local vendors.

If you have any other questions on this topic or any other topic feel free to give me a call.

Named to West Bend Savings Bank Board

William D. Gehl, President and Chief Executive Officer of The Gehl Company, West Bend, has been named to the board of directors of West Bend Savings Bank. Gehl will be filling the vacancy created by the death of Ronald J. Larson, who served on the bank's board since 1968.

William Gehl, grandson of a Gehl founder, joined the Gehl Company as its President in 1992 and has served on its board of directors since 1987. The West Bend Gehl Company designs, manufactures, and markets agricultural, light industrial and construction equipment. Prior to joining the company, Gehl was Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer for the Ziegler Company, Inc. of West Bend.

Gehl is a member of the board of directors for the Equipment Manufacturers Institute, Chicago, Illinois, director of the West Bend Urban Redevelopment Corporation and member of the State Bars of Wisconsin and Florida.

In being named to the bank's board, Gehl commented that he was "looking forward" to working with Washington County's largest depositor owned bank, a bank well known to area families for providing low cost, affordable financial products and services. West Bend Savings Bank has assets of $151,000,000 with seven offices serving Washington County.

Time for Wisconsin to Stand Up to the Federal Government

By State Rep. Glenn Grothman

Last month, Washington County residents got their first taste of the federal Clean Air Act of 1990.

Reformulated gasoline was required for use in six southeastern Wisconsin counties. The immediate result was lower gas mileage, higher fuel prices, damage to two-cycle engines, and possible headaches and other health problems.

The secondary problem has been the arbitrary effect of the required sale of this fuel on local gas retailers and the Ozaukee and Washington County economies, as people travel to neighboring counties to fuel up. Taking into account the extra trips to buy gasoline, coupled with the reduced gas mileage, it is not even clear that reformulated gas actually reduces air pollution.

But this is only the start. Shortly, if you work at a company with more than 100 employees, your employer will have to try to find a way for 25% of his or her employees to get to work, other than with their own cars. Your employers have already been wasting countless employee work hours planning and preparing for that fiasco.

The final and worst irony is that all of this preparation, cost and suffering is unnecessary. A careful review of ozone reporting data shows that we do not have a serious pollution problem in Milwaukee County; we have no pollution problem in Washington County. The Washington County testing site is at Slinger, the only site in Washington County, has not been out of compliance with federal ozone standards once since 1989.

Before that, the county had already established a much better-than-average record, falling out of compliance more than one hour per year only in 1980 and 1987, and achieving perfect compliance in 1986 and 1988.

In part, this is because of new cars built after 1981. Nationwide, the introduction of computer-controlled ignition and fuel delivery systems into cars has reduced emissions of hydrocarbons by 66 percent, carbon monoxide by 59 percent, and nitrogen oxide by 21 percent over the past twenty years, despite a doubling of the total miles driven in the same period!

Washington County has met the federal ozone attainment standards each year since 1989. Even western Milwaukee County, in which one would expect to find air quality problems, has consistently been in compliance. Away from the lakeshore, on Appleton Avenue, there has been just one day since 1989 that legal compliance levels have not been met. Even at the Bayside testing site, which has logged the worst record in Milwaukee County, there were just three days last year in which the limit for ozone concentration was exceeded.

This is a foolish federal law, passed in 1990 by a Congress afraid of environmentalists and unaware of the side-effects of its actions, and the details of a long and complicated law. The time has come for Wisconsin to stand up to the federal government and insist that Washington County be ruled an attainment area.

Areas closer to the lake should be redesignated as moderate non-attainment zones. This would allow us to get exemption from the reformulated gasoline, as well as other requirements of the Clean Air Act.

If the EPA does not immediately grant Wisconsin's request, the state should force the issue and refuse to allow the DNR to assist the federal government in these efforts.

It is apparent that, in Washington, as in Madison, politicians are afraid to stand up to environmental zealots, no matter how foolish the laws they propose. Voters should remember in the future that it is not necessarily good when a politician is endorsed by an extremist environmental group.

I welcome your comments on this or other issues. Please call me at 338-8061, or at my office, (608) 264-8486. You may also write to me at P.O. Box 8952, Madison, WI 53708.

PRAYER OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN

(Never known to fail). Oh, most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven. Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, Assist me in my necessity. Oh Star of the Sea, help me and show me here you are my Mother. Oh Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (Make request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh, Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (three times). Holy Mary, I place this prayer for your hands (three times). Say this prayer for three consecutive days and then you must publish and it will be granted to you. Grateful thanks. T.M.

HENRY WESSING

Henry Bernard Wessing, 75, of 990 N. Water St., Lomira, died Tuesday, Feb. 21, 1995, at St. Agnes Hospital.

He was born on Nov. 1, 1919, in LeRoy, a son of John and Elizabeth Meis Wessing. In April 1941, he married Audrey Schill at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Lomira.

Mr. Wessing attended Lomira Schools. He farmed and was an agent with Wisconsin Life Insurance. He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Lomira, Knights of Columbus Council 664 and a 25-plus-years member of Associated Milk Producers. He enjoyed traveling and vacationing, as well as his family, children and grandchildren.

Survivors include his wife; four sons, William J. and his wife Penny of Random Lake, John and his wife Joan of Lomira, James and his wife Sue of Kewaskum, and Steve and his wife Cheryl of Byron; four daughters, Judith Towne and her husband Charles of Greendale, Sherry Zickert and her husband Jim of Eldorado, Diane Larson and her husband, James of Waupun, and Mary Beth Dixon and her husband John of Platteville 24 grandchildren, Todd Michelle, Tim, Melissa and Troy Wessing, Eric, Sara, Heidi and Brian Towne, Brett and his wife Peggy, Scott and Cory Zickert, Brad and Matt Larson, Chris, Nicki and Justin Wessing, Ann, Amy and Ashley Wessing, Kaitlyn and Emily Wessing and Molly and Tanner Dixon; one great-granddaughter, Alyssa Zickert; and two nephews.

Preceding him in death were his parents; one sister, Catherine and one nephew.

Funeral services were held at 8 p.m. Friday at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Lomira. The Rev. Steve Stradinger officiated. Entombment was at Shrine of Rest Mausoleum in Fond du Lac.

Visitation was from 4 to 7:30 p.m. Friday at Kietzer Funeral Home in Lomira.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of MERLIN PROST, who passed away two years ago, February 22, 1993:

God looked around his garden and found an empty place.

He looked down upon this earth and saw your tired face.

The road was getting rough, the hills were hard to climb.

With the suffering and pain, God put His arms around you

And took you to His heavenly home to stay.

Everytime we see your picture you seem to smile and say,

"Cheer up and carry on!"-- Memories are our keepsake With which we will never part.

God has you in His keeping, We have you in our hearts...

Sadly missed by wife Doris, children and grandchildren.

CARD OF THANKS

Sincere thanks to all who paid their respects to FRED KEMPF and to the Rev. Robinson, the pallbearers, organist, Immanuel Lutheran Church Ladies Guild, the staff at Rocky Knoll, those who donated food and to the Miller Funeral Home.

Special thanks to all those who sent cards and visited while he was a patient in the hospital and to anyone who helped in any way.

The family of Fred Kempf

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our friends, relatives and neighbors for sharing our sorrow with us during the death of our beloved family member, NORMA HORNING. Our thanks for all the flowers, donations, cards and food sent to us. Also, thanks to Pastor Robinson, the Wittkopp Funeral Home, the Rocky Knoll Health Care and the Ladies Guild of the Scott Immanuel Church. A special thank you to Dolores Peters for the many years she helped care for Norma.

Once again our sincere thanks and appreciation.

Sincerely
The Larry Horning Family

HT Fifth Graders Travel Back in Time

Maggie Herriges, Bridget Teofilo, Stacy Muckerheide and Shelly Zehren listen while Kathy Nyhof, program director, describes the schoolhouse of the early 1900's.

On January 23, the fifth graders of Holy Trinity School, Kewaskum, received a taste of what it was like in the "good old days." They traveled back in time to Ye Old Schoolhouse in West Bend.

This day of school began with filling a canteen-type cooler full of water, so the kids would not get thirsty. The children learned that not only did this one-room schoolhouse accommodate all eight grades, but some students had to walk three to four miles to school each day!

Mr. Wagner, a former student of the school, told the children that in 1917, the teachers would discipline with rulers on the knuckles, dunce caps and other embarrassing situations. Once one child was disciplined, the others generally got the idea.

The students started their day with a penmanship lesson, using old-fashioned quill type pens, with black India ink. The math lesson and reading lesson followed. Each student then got a chance to ring the school bell. The children finished with a map-reading and geography lesson.

Most students learned

through the course of the day that times were a lot tougher 75 years ago than they are today!

Gosa to Compete in National Junior Olympics in Alaska

David Gosa, son of Gerald and Mary Gosa of Kewaskum, will be leaving on Saturday, March 4th, for Alaska to compete in the National Junior Olympics Cross Country Ski Championships in Fairbanks.

The races will be held the week of March 5th through March 11th. David will compete in a 10 K classical race, a 15 K freestyle race, and a relay race. David is representing the Midwest District and will be skiing against skiers from the other five districts in the United States.

David would like to thank the people who have made donations to help sponsor his trip to Alaska. This generosity has been greatly appreciated. Anyone wishing to help defray the cost of the trip, can still make a contribution by calling David at 626-8246 or by sending a contribution to David Gosa at 1536 Stark Street, Kewaskum, WI 53040.

The entire Kewaskum community is proud and honored to have David represent us at the National Junior Olympics in Alaska.

KHS Gymnasts Score High

By Tom Menger

Although their won-loss record does not show it, the Kewaskum girls gymnastics team has had a great season thus far. The team has repeatedly put up scores in the 90 point range, a good average for a Division II team. High team score for the season was 102.

Because of a lack of Division II teams in the area, the Indians compete against strong Division I schools.

"The girls have done a great job of helping each other out and giving each other encouragement," Coach Irene Heather said of her team. "We are all proud of what they have accomplished," she added.

Many of the girls have achieved personal bests this year, and several have earned medals for their accomplishments.

The Indians will compete on March 3, at 7 p.m. in the WIAA Division II sectional at Valders. There, Kewaskum will be competing against girls from Clintonville, Columbus, Markesan, Waupun, and host Valders.

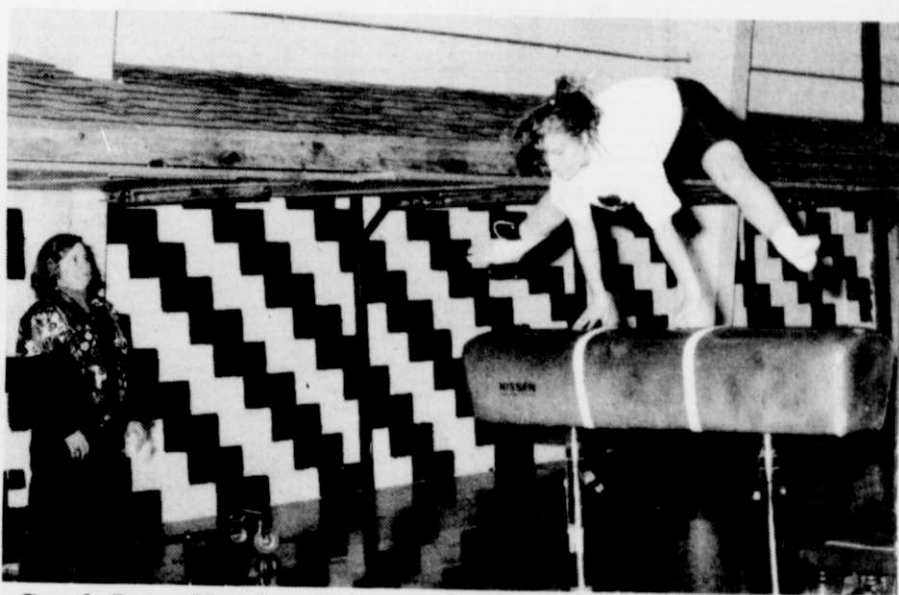

In a triangular meet against Waupun and West Bend West, Kewaskum scored a strong 92.1 points. The Indians are hopeful to place high in their sectional, and advance several to State competition. Lincoln High School, Wisconsin Rapids will be the site for the State Meet on Friday, March 10. Timed warm-ups begin at 5:20 with competition at 7:15. Awards will be presented at 10:15.

Girls earning bronze medals this year were Heather Reindl on vault; Holly Reindl, floor, JoAnne Thull, vault; Becca Wolf, vault and Becky Yogerst, vault.

Silver medals went to Julie Buddenhagen, floor, and Kathy Deshotels, bars.

Nadalie Reindl broke the Kewaskum High School record on floor with a 8.7, earning her a gold medal. The old record of 8.6 was set by Ingrid Ankerson in 1990.

Other gymnasts include

JV, Frosh Boys Win In Non-Conference

By Tom Menger

The Kewaskum JV and freshmen boys basketball teams both cruised to easy victories over non-conference opponent Cedar Grove recently.

After falling behind 16-10 in the first quarter, the Jayvee boys relied on the sharpshooting of Phil Friedel to pull them to a 29-27 half-time lead, and eventually to a 48-36 victory.

Friedel was hot from the outside, connecting on 5-6 "treys," for a game high 17 points for Kewaskum. Andrew Laatsch and Jason Bartelt also added 14 points apiece for the Indians, who improved their record to 7-12.

The freshmen boys jumped out in front early, using a 2-2-1 press to create turnovers and give them a 22-6 first quarter lead.

Cedar Grove mounted a small comeback in the second quarter, holding the Indians scoreless and cutting their lead to 22-14 at the half, but Kewaskum held on in the second half, and coasted to a 49-37 win.

Ryan Martin led the Indians with 12 points, while Tim Breitag added eight.

Holly Reindl performs a floor walkover.

Dziedzic Sixth at State

By Statesman Sports Writer

MADISON - Kewaskum wrestling coach John Nell said that his prize 112-pounder knew better. Still he knows about anything can happen in the heat of competition.

That was about the only explanation that Nell could give for a mistake made by Joel Dziedzic in his opening match at the WIAA State wrestling competition here, Friday. That mistake led to the first-round loss, and led to a sixth-place finish by the KHS sophomore in the tournament.

Dziedzic had his first round opponent, Ellsworth's Chris Voelker, in a precarious position late in their match, with the score tied at 2-2. But instead of trying for a simple takedown, Dziedzic tried for something more, and was penalized for an illegal hold.

That penalty point turned out to be the difference in the match, which Voelker won 3-2. The loss prevented Dziedzic from competing in the winner's bracket, and meant that a top-four finish was out of the question.

Nell explained that Dziedzic had Voelker in what is called a figure four position, while the two wrestlers were still standing. In that type of hold, Dziedzic's leg must be directly behind Voelker's knee. Dziedzic was trying to get more leverage for a subsequent takedown and slid his leg around Voelker's calf, instead, constituting a scissors hold, which is illegal.

"A lot of times, you're not going to hit it just right," Nell said of the move. "What he should have done is stepped right over (Voelker's) head for more (leverage). That would have put Voelker right on his back. That's what he should have done, and he knows that."

The loss sent Dziedzic into the consolation bracket, where he met Tyson Karchefski of Kimberly. Dziedzic had faced Karchefski earlier this season in the finals of the Oshkosh Tournament, and Dziedzic had beaten him in a closely-contested match.

In this encounter, once again the two grapplers seemed evenly matched. Dziedzic was holding on to a 3-2 advantage late in the second period when he shot in for a single-leg takedown. Karchefski, trying to counter the takedown attempt, got caught off-balance, according to Nell, and was taken to his back. Shortly thereafter, Dziedzic put Karchefski's shoulders down for a 3:59 pin.

The victory gave Dziedzic an opportunity to match his fifth-place finish of last year. In the fifth-place match, Dziedzic was pitted against Ladysmith's Toby Swanson, who Nell knew coming into the match, was a master of the cradle move.

Swanson and Dziedzic battled scoreless into the third period, when Swanson caught Dziedzic in a cradle, and put him to his back for three points. Dziedzic escaped from the hold, but Swanson quickly got the KHS soph in the hold once again, this time only for two points. Still, the 5-0 lead held up, and Dziedzic went home with a sixth-place showing.

"That kid loves to cradle," Nell said. "He's so good at it," adding that Dziedzic got close to a takedown in the opening period, but ran out of time.

Despite finishing sixth after coming home a fifth last year, Dziedzic still had a successful year, according to his coach.

"I think he's better all around," Nell said of Dziedzic, who finished with a 28-5 record. "He had a great year. I really felt that Joel was the better wrestler in that first match (against Voelker)."

Nell said that he had spoken with Dziedzic about moving up a couple of weight classes next season. He noted that Dziedzic had had some problems making the weight in the 112 pound class this year.

"I would expect him to move up a couple of classes next year," Nell said. "It gets hard towards the end of the year (to make the weight). It won't matter with Joel, though. He'll be tough at any weight class."

KHS Receives Donation of Nailer

Bill McCord of Senco Products, Inc., Cincinnati, Ohio, recently donated a Senco SLP20 Brad Nailer to the Kewaskum High School Tech. Ed. Department.

KHS would like to take this opportunity to thank Jerry Priesgen at Zuern Building Products of Allenton for arranging for the donation to our school district. Shop teacher David Stradman stated, "it is very encouraging to see support for the education of our young adults. We will use the nailer for many years and be grateful for its donation each time it is used."
