KHS Celebrating Homecoming Week

This is the week of Homecoming at Kewaskum High School. All activities began on Tuesday with the first dress-up day being Plaid, Stripe and Polka Dot Day. The dress-up days for the rest of the week were Color Day on Wednesday, Hat Day on Thursday and on Friday the traditional School Colors Day.

All classes began work on their floats on Tuesday evening and are trying to have them completed by parade time on Saturday.

Each homeroom put up door decorations on their designated homeroom doors. These decorations were judged on Monday and the results will be announced at the Homecoming game.

A pep assembly will be held on Friday, beginning at 2 p.m. in the field house. At this assembly, all fall sports will be recognized, along with the introduction of the Homecoming Court and the Homecoming Queen for 1995. The cheerleaders will be leading the assembly with spirit cheers and class competition. Each class will also participate in a maze race.

The parade will be held on Saturday morning at 11:30 a.m. and will include the KHS marching band, the KMS combined seventh and eighth grade bands, several floats, court members riding in convertibles, as well as the football team wagon. The game against the Plymouth Panthers begins at 1 p.m. and the Indian fans are hoping for a victory.

The Homecoming Dance will be on Saturday night, October 8, from 8 to 11:30 p.m. with the Grand March beginning at 9 p.m. Ticket prices are $4.00 for singles and $8.00 for couples in advance, with prices going up $1.00 at the door.

All classes were welcome and encouraged to attend the dance, compliments of the Class of 1996.

Meetings Set for Organization of Haunted House

Two organizational meetings are being planned for the Halloween Haunted House that community members have expressed interest in.

Joy Kuhnke has been busily trying to promote the idea and arrange for volunteer help as well as donated materials. The Haunted House will be set up at Robert Kohn's gas station/mini mart on Main Street in Kewaskum.

All proceeds raised would benefit the Booster Club, and their ongoing project to light the football field. Booster Club members would help coordinate the Haunted House, but they still need help, lumber, supplies, and decorations.

The meetings are scheduled for Tuesday, October 10, and Thursday, October 12, at 7 p.m., at Kohn's. "Everything is a go if we can get enough manpower to make it work," Joy pointed out, and she hopes for a big turnout at these meetings. Anyone interested in helping with this event, please come and show your support.

For more information, contact Joy Kuhnke at 626-2506.

Library Board to Meet

The trustees of the Random Lake Joint Community Library will meet on Wednesday, Oct. 11, at 7:30 p.m. at the library. The public is invited to attend.

the village blacksmith. A fireplace is built around the remnants of the old blacksmith forge, once used by a man named Stark in the early 1900's. Berger believes that the building was erected in 1878, from research done by her sister-in-law, Diane Susen. The Bergers purchased the building in 1973.

"My daughter was the instigator of this whole idea," Judy points out at their opening this past weekend, but it's obvious the mother-daughter team know their business and have a handle on just what their customers are looking for. Daughter Shari Hanson got both of them started in ceramics ten years ago, when she wanted to paint unicorns, and they both began attending ceramic classes.

Their successful hobby has turned them into regular exhibitors at local craft shows, and keeps them busy year 'round trying to keep up with the demand for orders. "We really have to work to bring our stock back up," Judy states, "since we've used up most of it for the store, and now Kettle Kountry Kolors is coming up this

Shari and Judy have been regulars at Kewaskum's fall festival, and consider it their most successful show. Their ceramic work can also be found on consignment in several shops around the area.

"We had the space, and the knowledge, and I thought we might as well put it all to use," Shari points out, and Judy agreed that it would be a great location, with the high volume of traffic that flows along Highway 28.

With a lot of support and encouragement from other businesses within the community, remodeling began in mid-June and Judy's husband

Mike spent many late night hours trying to get the project completed by fall. "Mike worked day and night, doing all the interior and exterior work, with help from our son, Scott," Judy remarks.

The store was originally scheduled to open in spring, so they thought they had plenty of time. "After talking to some other business owners, we decided it would be advantageous to be open for Kettle Kountry Kolors, as well as the upcoming holiday season." So a race with time began to meet the new deadline.

They say some people work best under pressure, and Main Street Crafts reflects the adage, from the white pine exterior, with each board hand planed, to the decorative shutters and railing. Judy has trimmed the exterior with the festive fall look of pumpkins and gathered corn stalks, and the completed effect dresses up the street and appeals to customers.

The interior is lit with track lighting, that shows off rustic barnwood shelving laden with unique, one of a kind items. "Basically, everything we carry is hand crafted," Judy maintains, "except for the wildlife prints." Graphic artist Diane Susen has created a line of sweat-shirts with "The Gateway to the Kettle Moraine" logo, available at the shop, along with ironwork from Kewaskum's nationally known blacksmith, Dan Nauman of Big Horn Forge.

Also offered for the first time in the area, are antique photo reproductions and original antique advertisements, matted and framed (also using antique frames) by Dan Schmidt, our village administrator, who is also a well known history buff.

Main Street Crafts also features ceramics, wood crafts, dried floral arrangements, wreaths, pressed flower greeting cards, stained glass window hangings, collectible porcelain dolls, hand poured Door County candles, birch bark baskets from Park Falls formed without glue or staples, sunflower pieces, and the recently popular lighthouse collection. "They're really big around Port Washington and other places along the lake," Judy states, "and it's just now catching on in other areas."

Always in demand are Shari's ceramic wizards and dragons, that sparkle with an air of ancient fantasy. "I started making them for my husband, and when I tried bringing some of the pieces to shows, I sold out the first day," she relates. All of their ceramic work is dry brushed, and they try to offer pieces that are unusual and not seen everyday.

The store will display a permanent Christmas corner, as well as a seasonal point of interest that expands on a holiday theme -- right now you'll find Thanksgiving decor to brighten the home or give as gifts. In the future, Judy's working on increasing her selection of wood crafts, and wants to add a line of collectible birdhouses. And, of course, Mike is continuing to finish the rest of the building's exterior, and Judy is hoping to come up with some kind of deadline to give him, since it worked so well last time.

The new store also offers a tourist information center, carrying lake maps, snowmobile and biking trails, and tourism magazines.

"I'd like to thank all the business people who have encouraged me," Judy adds, "and I hope this will encourage others to open their own business. Kewaskum is so ideally located, and we could attract a lot of people to the area if we continue to work together."

Main Street Crafts fall hours are Monday, Thursday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

tary, while earning a bachelor's degree in biology from Saint John's University in Minnesota, a master's degree in human resources from George Washington University in Washington D.C., and his Ph.D. in administration, including policy analysis and education, from Northwestern University in Illinois.

Johnson has teaching experience in high school chemistry, math, and biology, and also taught three years at Northwestern University, serving as a counselor as well.

The school board had reviewed several applicants for the position, and selected Charles as the person they felt would best serve the district, but official approval of their selection will take place Monday evening.

The Superintendent contract will run from November 8 to June 28, with posting of a permanent position slated for January. "If everything works out as planned, we hope to turn his temporary position into a permanent one," said Board President Neal Wear. Johnson will begin working with Dr. Heather a couple of days a week, increasing his time to five days a week as he becomes acclimated to the new appointment. Dr. Heather will be officially stepping down on October 15, to take on his new administrative role in Sturgeon Bay.

"I've been interested in working in this field, and I'm excited and determined to serve the district," Charles stated. "My goal is to make this a permanent position, and I feel I have the knowledge to do this," he stated, pointing out his Ph.D. program was specifically designed for superintendent work.

He will continue to reside in Menasha, commuting temporarily until plans become more permanent. Married to his wife, Jan, since 1978, the couple has three children: Dan, age 16, is a sophomore in high school, Julie is 15, and Brian, the youngest, is eight.

Moraine Musicians To Meet Oct. 12

Moraine Musicians will begin their 1995-96 season of events on Thursday, October 12, at 7 p.m. at Immanuel United Church of Christ in West Bend.

This group is organized and sponsored by the Moraine Area Private Music Teachers Organization (MAPMTO). All music students, be they piano, organ, voice or string, are invited to attend, where they will be treated to the talents of those musicians who attended the summer camp held each summer at UWWC.

An added attraction will be reports and performances by those lucky students who won the scholarships awarded by Moraine Musicians and MAPMTO to music camps around the state.

Moraine Musicians has grown so much in the past few years that the basement at Immanuel is overflowing and happily so. The point being that if you want a good seat, or a seat at all, be there early so you don't miss any of the fun. See you on October 12.

Open House at Friends of Abused Families Transitional Home Oct. 14

On Saturday, October 14, 1995, Friends of Abused Families will be having an Open House at their Transitional Home at 5608 Highway 60 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

The transitional home was deeded to the agency by the State of Wisconsin in October of 1994. The home will serve as a transition point for women who want to attend school or build job skills before moving on.

Before the Transitional Home can be occupied there needs to be quite a bit of renovation. This Open House will give the community the opportunity to come and see the home and what Friends of Abused Families has planned for the home. Come join Friends for refreshments and a tour.

Friends will be having a "Name the House" Contest during the Open House. The winner will receive a bread-maker and will be contacted later by phone and then announced in the Friends of Abused Families newsletter. The judge's decision is final.

Friends of Abused Families has been providing services to victims of domestic violence since 1977. We are dedicated to providing aid and support to abused individuals and families in Washington County. In 1994, Friends assisted 1,141 individuals, a 30% increase since the year before and provided 2,811 nights of shelter to women and children.

Services are confidential and free of charge; services include, a 24 hour crisis line, shelter, one-on-one counseling, legal advocacy, help with Temporary Restraining Orders, Transitional Living Program, Children's Program, Women's Support Group, Batterer's Educational Program and a Speaker's Bureau.

Lego Mania in Children's Tent at Kettle Kountry

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

Lots of Legos will be coming to Kettle Kountry Kolors this year, thanks to architect John Peine from Wauwatosa, who thinks that using creativity and imagination is a neat way for kids to learn about design, structure, and how to plan a city.

Peine has his own business designing commercial and residential projects and is also a member of AIA of Wisconsin (American Institute of Architects). Fifteen years ago, the group wanted to sponsor a children's event at Summerfest in Milwaukee, and they contacted the Lego company who responded by sending them one million legos.

This was the beginning of Lego Mania, a children's program that has increased in popularity over the years. John has been chairman of this activity for the past five years, and he considers it a unique outreach program for his AIA chapter. "Teachers observed us at Summerfest, and asked if we would present the program at their school," John states. "Now I haul my Legos around on Fridays and travel to schools to teach the kids about architecture."

A typical class of about 25 students would participate in an hour long program, with each student receiving a box of 400-500 Legos. "Each child draws a card that tells them what to build, a bridge, playground, bank, store, etc.," John explains. "They're the architects." Meanwhile, Peine builds a city to accommodate the children's designs, including roads, rivers, lakes and parks, and talks to the class about architecture and what it takes to design a workable community.

Afterwards, the kids have to decide where their building or structure would be most appropriately located in the city. "You wouldn't put a plastics factory next to a playground," John mentions, and the students learn the fundamentals of building and planning, while having fun at the same time. Then the next class comes in, and by the end of the school day, Peine says the city ends up with 100 to 150 buildings, and the kids go away with a feeling of pride and accomplishment.

Offered for the first time at Kettle Kountry Kolors, work tables will be set up in the children's tent on both days, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and children can stop in and try their hand at architectural design. John will have the city set up on a big piece of carpeting, and spectators can wander in and watch the city grow throughout the day. Don't let your children miss this educational opportunity, at Kewaskum's fall festival of family fun on Saturday and Sunday, October 7th and 8th at River Hill Park.

Enter Video Tournament at Kettle Kountry

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

Calling all video game addicts --- the chance to test your hard-earned skills against other experts is coming this weekend to Kettle Kountry Kolors at River Hill Park.

Video Square will be hosting their first video tournament on Saturday, October 7, in the former bingo stand at the north end of the park. "Our main goal is to have lots of fun," declares owner Dan Schroeder, and states he's looking forward to their first attempt at holding a tournament.

Expect to compete in exciting games like Mortal Kombat II, NBA Jam, and, for children seven and under, there's Loony Tunes and B-Ball.

They'll also have the Panasonic 3DO running with a Road Rash Rally contest, plus the latest in video gaming-- the Sony Play Station.

"All in all, we should have six to eight TVs operating, starting at 10 a.m. and running until about 5 p.m.," Schroeder stated. Prizes will be awarded for first place finish. Don't miss this opportunity to compete with the best... you could be the video champ at this year's Kettle Kountry Kolors.

YOU could soon be the new owner of this 1995 14' Starcraft boat and 25 h.p. Mariner motor with electric start, complete with trailer. The lucky winner will be drawn at 4 p.m. Sunday, October 8 at the close of the Kettle Kountry Kolors festivities in River Hill Park, Kewaskum.

There will be only 2,000 tickets sold at $5.00 per ticket. All proceeds from this raffle will be used to underwrite the cost of the vast variety of the free entertainment being offered at this year's family fun festival.

YOUR new boat will be on display at Sentry Foods or in front of Bank Wisconsin in Kewaskum prior to Kettle Kountry, and can be seen at the park during the festival. Whether you are taking care of business at Bank Wisconsin, buying groceries at Sentry, renting a movie at Video Post, golfing at Hon-E-Kor, or even paying your subscription at the Statesman, be sure to ask your salesperson for a boat raffle ticket to help support the annual Kettle Kountry Kolors Festival.

Tickets are now available at most businesses throughout Kewaskum and can also be purchased at the Chamber Information Booth located in the beer garden at the festival both days.

Kettle Kountry Kolors is sponsored by the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce. This boat raffle will be the only drawing offered at this year's festivities.

The regular meeting of the Robert G. Romaine Unit #384 will be held Monday, October 9, in the Subterranean Room of the American Legion at 7:30 p.m.

The ladies will be completing plans for the Washington County Auxiliary meeting to be held in Kewaskum on October 14. Plans will be finalized for the Veteran's Day Pot Luck Dinner to be held at the post on November 13th in a get-together with the post.

Visitors are always welcome to the meeting and prospective members are invited to attend. The hostess for the evening will be Elaine Stefanovic.

Ethnic Performances at Kettle Kountry Kolors

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

A unique and exciting lineup of children's entertainment has been scheduled for this year's Kettle Kountry Kolors Family Fun Festival, including a host of guests from the International Institute of Wisconsin. They bring with them a wealth of ethnic performances, including traditional dance, storytelling, and folk art, and people of all ages will enjoy the lively dancing done in native costumes.

Three different dance groups will begin their performance at noon on Saturday, October 7, in the Beer Garden, and those displaying their talents will include the Italian Dancers of Milwaukee, the Trisha Mid-East Dance Troupe, and the Syrena Polish Folk Dance Ensemble. Each group has their own history, and is an affiliated member of the International Institute.

Children can look forward to three different ethnic workshops that offer hands on experience in traditional decorating. The Art of Palm Printing is an East Indian tradition taught by Usha Bedi. It is a custom used for festivals and weddings, and it involves decorating the hand as a prediction or wish for future life. In India, ornamentation of the skin has symbolic significance, as anything done ethnically, is done for a reason.

Two Korean girls will be giving the children a chance to make feather fans, as they explain how they are used and when they're worn, which is part of their traditional dress and dance. They will be constructed using paper and feathers. The third workshop will explore paper cutting, which has a long history in Poland. Used as a decorative art form, it can become very intricate, often using six different colors of paper. The workshops are scheduled for 11 a.m., noon, 2 and 3 p.m.

The International Institute of Wisconsin is a prime source of ethnic education, offering their programs to schools throughout the area. Their annual Folk Fair is coming up November 17, 18 and 19 at Mecca in the city of Milwaukee.

The entire family will enjoy this diverse group of cultural entertainers, and the community can look forward to their special presentation on Saturday, October 7, during this year's Kettle Kountry Kolors Festival in River Hill Park in Kewaskum.

Letters to The Editor

Letter to the Editor:

Thank you Kewaskum for your continued support of the United Way campaign! Volunteers are continuing to call on businesses to ask for their generous gifts in this worthy cause. Nearly 23,000 people in our area alone have benefitted by services provided by the 26 designated agencies. And the need continues! American Red Cross, Big Brothers and Big Sisters, Friends of Abused Families, Full Shelf Food Pantry, The Salvation Army and the Threshold are directly affected by your donations. Families in Washington County find hope in the help received through these and other agencies.

Donors this week include Orv and Ruth Behnke, Bonne Belle Motel, Kettle Moraine Electric, Yahr Oil, Video Post, Miller Funeral Home, Bartelt Insurance and employees, Village Hair, Jaeger Sewing, Family Hair, and Jalas Tax Service. This puts our total pledged at $10,203, or 29% of goal. Employee campaigns are currently underway at Regal Ware, Kewaskum Frozen Foods, Best Trailer, Sentry Foods, Village of Kewaskum, Miller's Fine Furniture, Holy Trinity School and Bank Wisconsin.

If your business has not been contacted, and you would like to join in support of the United Way, please call Gayle Van Ess, Kewaskum Area Chairman at 626-4669. Again, thank you. "Our Help Gives Hope."

Gayle Van Ess,
Kewaskum
Area Chairman

Dear Editor,

The Kewaskum Middle School would like to thank the Kewaskum High School

Booster Club for their help during the girls conference relays at Kewaskum. The Booster Club arranged for a concession stand to be set up with the proceeds going to the Middle School.

The Middle School will now donate the $193.00 proceeds to the "Let There Be Lights Fund" for the support the Booster Club and volunteers gave the Middle School. Again, thank you Booster Club and together we can reach our goal.

Dear Editor,

I am writing in regards to the Beechwood School issue. The school has been closed since 1986. It is very evident that the school district does not want to reopen this school. Now we have a chance to lease the school and open it as a Christian school. I'd like very much to see this happen.

I think it's just what we need in this day of drugs, gangs and weapon abuse: The teaching of the word of God along with regular studies. It costs the district $14,000 a year to upkeep the empty school. Let's fill the school with children who want to learn.

Cindy Krause,
A Beechwood Resident

Town of Scott Board Discusses Recycling Attendant Position

By Bernadette Mondloch

"There is more to it than meets the eye." This was the statement made by Town of Scott Chairman, Lester Benzschawel, after having the experience of assisting at the towns recycling center for a few weeks.

Back in June, the town announced that it was creating a new position at the recycling center and that the original recycle attendant wage was being changed to $5 per hour once the second attendant is hired. It had been previously $6.50 per hour.

Benzschawel said, "I think cutting the wage was wrong. There are too many things the attendant is responsible for. She must have people sign their names, watch what is being dumped, sell bages and write receipts." He suggested that the $6.50 per hour for the job be continued. A committee will be meeting on September 28 to discuss recycle personnel, wage review and to review applications before hiring a second attendant. Five applications have been received, two of them Town of Scott residents.

A zoning change from A-1 to A-2 was granted to David Stange for a 10.43 acre parcel which is being divided to accomodate two lots. The parcel is located on the east side of State Road 28 where it intersects with County Road SS. Stange's son will be building a house on one of the lots while the other one will be idle for the time being.

James Ramel has been reappointed to a three-year term on the Planning

The jackrabbit is a hare and not a true rabbit. Hares are larger, have longer legs and ears than rabbits.

Commission, James Sprosty, a four-year term.

Orville Mileager questioned the board on why Trout Spring Road remains unpaved. He was told that the plan was to have it done next spring. Because of the amount of use it is getting at the present time, plans are to complete the hard surface before winter.

Building inspector, Frank Mayer, reported 67 building permits issued in 1995, valued at $2,573,133. Seventeen of those permits were for new homes.

Food for Families at Kettle Kountry Kolors

This year when you attend the Annual Kettle Kountry Kolors Festival in River Hill Park you can help the needy at the same time.

The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce will have several barrels marked for "Food for Families" in front of their information located in the beer garden. When you come to the park, bring along a non-perishable food item to place in these barrels. All the food donated will remain in local food pantries.

foods being offered this year at Kettle Kountry, you can help someone else enjoy a warm meal at another time.

Halloween Protection For Children

(NAPS)—The custom of Halloween was handed down to us from the ancient Druids who on that day prayed for deliverance from evil spirits. The concern for Halloween safety has survived.

Today, smart parents take precautions to ensure their children's Halloween safety. The following common sense safety tips can help you relax and enjoy the holiday:

- The perfect costume will be your child's concern, but be sure it's safe. When choosing a costume, try to find one with bright or light colors. With a dark costume, use reflective tape to ensure that motorists see your children. Attach a label with name, address and phone number.

- Stress the need for safety to your children. Make sure they know their phone number. Accompany young children as they go door-to-door. Instruct older children to travel only in familiar neighborhoods and plan a route ahead of time. Tell them to knock only on doors where porch lights are visible.

Set an exact time for them to be home and make sure they have change to call in an emergency.

- Make sure everyone has a flashlight. Flashlights help navigate in the dark and warn cars that people are afoot. If someone gets separated from the group, looking for a light source on a dark night will help you find him or her. Eveready® Halloween flashlights have festive designs that make carrying a flashlight fun. The Jack O'Lantern and Monster Light designs are ideal for small hands because they're lightweight and sturdy.

Whether you are doing the rounds with younger children or your older children are trick-or-treating without you, make sure everyone has a flashlight.

- Instruct children not to eat any goodies until you have examined them at home. Make sure items have not been tampered with and throw away anything that is not safely sealed, is unwrapped or homemade.

- Light Jack O'Lanterns with flashlights rather than candles to prevent fires. Remove any breakable items from your yard and porch. Make sure you leave a light on to welcome trick-or-treaters. Do not give out fresh fruit or homemade treats such as cookies; only hand out pre-packaged goodies or non-food treats.

Make it a memorable time for any little ghosts, goblins and ghouls that come to your door.

Brewers? Yes. Stadium? No.

Grothman Denounces Stadium Plan as Unconstitutional

By Rep. Glenn Grothman

By Rep. Glenn Grothman

Last week the state legislature voted to impose a one-tenth of a percent sales tax to build a new Brewers' stadium on five counties (Milwaukee, Waukesha, Ozaukee, Washington and Racine).

Much of the debate focused on players' salaries, whether we should help the Brewers' ownership and whether baseball was still popular in Milwaukee. Is it better for the state to have people spending their entertainment dollars on Brewer tickets, parking, brats and beer, or at local restaurants, taverns, movie theaters and golf courses? Will people who never go to the games still miss listening to the Brewers on the radio or reading about them in the paper?

While I feel we must try to keep the Brewers in Milwaukee, there was a much larger issue which caused me to vote no: this plan is unconstitutional. The State of Wisconsin should not be able to tax one county differently than another without that county's approval. That is why we have county boards.

This plan is contrary to Article VII of the State Constitution which forbids the state from levying a different tax on a geographic area. The proposal is opposed to the equal protection clause of our federal constitution as well.

Our taxpayers and business community were outraged three years ago when groups who would like to see more government spending tried to change the uniformity clause of our Constitution. We understood at the time that if government could raise taxes on only some people but not everyone, the government would find it too easy to approve new spending programs.

The stadium proposal, which allows outstate legislators to vote for a tax without our approval, sets a very dangerous precedent. While this tax is small, Milwaukee will want more expensive projects (i.e. light rail) in the future. Would it be right to force a special tax on us without our approval then? Like all constitutional guarantees, we must be vigilant to the first efforts to erode our rights.

Sadly, the proposed plan was not necessary to build a new stadium.

There were two ways to ask for local approval without being forced in by the rest of the state.

We could have had a five-county referendum.

The results of the sports referendum held last April at the worst possible time -- as games were being suspended because of the strike -- indicated approval in four counties. The referendum lost by only 3,000 votes in Racine, but in the more positive environment of today would have passed as well.

A better way to get local approval would be to condition approval on a vote of the county boards.

Indications were that four county boards would have volunteered to approve the plan if they were asked.

Ozaukee County rejected a resolution opposing the stadium 20-10. We received a letter supporting the stadium from Waukesha County Chairman on the eve of the vote. Milwaukee County will have to vote to approve infrastructure costs. I personally talked to over 25 Washington County supervisors and am sure Washington County would have voted for the stadium, too.

Yet, instead of setting a referendum for December or asking for county board approval, the State Assembly plunged ahead without either.

I support the Brewers. I would have voted to have a referendum in each county or a four-county tax conditioned on county board approval. But, an unconstitutional tax imposed from Madison sets a precedent we will long regret.

A Cure For Cold Sores?

(NAPS)—Cold sores, those ugly blisters that crop up around the mouth, are a lot like an unpleasant relative—they show up when you least expect them, and nothing can keep them away forever.

Eight in ten Americans will get a cold sore at some point in their lives. Unfortunately, once you've had a cold sore, it will keep coming back.

According to Dr. Pol Vandembroucke, director of medical affairs for Bayer Corporation, the makers of Campho-Phenique® Cold Sore Gel, there is no cure for cold sores.

"Medical evidence has shown that so-called cures based on diet or vitamin therapies simply do not work," he said. "The only thing cold sore sufferers can do is try to avoid things that cause a recurrence and, if the blisters do reappear, apply a treatment to speed them on their way."

Cold sores are caused by a type of herpes virus. Colds and flu, excessive exposure to sun and wind, menstruation, stomach problems and stress can all cause a recurrence.

Dr. Vandembroucke advises the use of a skin protectant to reduce cracking, plus a local anesthetic or counter-irritant to control discomfort. Cracked cold sore blisters are subject to infection, which can slow down the healing process. Antibiotics have no effect.

To receive a free brochure on cold sores and their treatment, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Campho-Phenique Cold Sore Guide, 99 Cherry Hill Road, Parsippany, NJ 07054.

On Sunday morning, you can join in another worthwhile effort that directly benefits our community with scholarship monies, the KEYS 5K Family Walk/Run. Everyone will want to participate in this easy to do activity that's great exercise and fun for all. It begins at 10:30 a.m., so sign up now by calling 626-2184.

The Kewaskum Sno-Chiefs will once again be hosting the beverage center in the beer garden, where they will be serving their delicious Pancake Breakfast from 8 to 11 a.m. on Sunday. It's a great way to start off the second day of the festival, and while you're up at the park early, you'll miss the beautiful Living Waters Sunday Worship Service, led by Pastor Joe Brath. The service will take place at 9 a.m. in the children's tent, and is a moving family experience.

The community looks forward to the arrival of Larson's Clydesdale horses from Ripon at 11:30 on Sunday. Watch them hitch up the magnificent steeds, while they prepare for a short parade through the east end of town. The parade will begin on Parkview Drive and turn east on Main Street where it will continue to the end of town. They will then turn around and return back to the park via the same route. Children of all ages will want to witness this grand performance and watch the beautiful animals be hitched and unhitched.

Other Sunday highlights are too good to pass up, including wool spinner Marilyn Jacobson from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. At 2:30 p.m. an exciting Aerobatics biplane demonstration will draw crowds to the Hon-E-Kor grounds, again, if weather permits, and we're praying it will, because this is another first for Kettle Kountry Kolors.

The weekend also promises to fill your souls with a wide array of great music. On Saturday, enjoy the Mayville Steel Drum Band, playing for your enjoyment from noon to 1 p.m. at the gazebo. The KHS jazz band will also be entertaining at the gazebo at 11 a.m. on Sunday. For all those German music fans out there, head for the beer garden at noon on Sunday, and you'll delight in the sounds of Die Sterne Der Heimat, playing until 4 p.m.

If you're strolling along the river, the Twin Hill String Band will be strumming some country sounds at 1 and 4 p.m., and you'll probably run into Shear Delight, a barbershop quartet crooning some tunes as they stroll through the park around 2 p.m. on Sunday. You won't be able to stop yourself from singing along. For one more musical treat, there's Premium Sound, who will be performing on the gazebo beginning at 1 p.m. on Sunday.

Now for all you sports fans... whether you are an active participant or a couch potato... walk up to the Hon-E-Kor grounds and try your luck at Hon-E-Kor's Hole-In-One Golf Contest and win a chance at super prizes.

Over 50 crafters will be exhibiting at the festival this year, outside and inside the huge tents. Some have been coming to Kettle Kountry for years, while others are artisans new to the festival. Each offers unique, hand-crafted items from throughout the state, making it easy to get in some early Christmas shopping.

Another popular craft feature this year by popular demand is the Make It and Take It Craft Booth for all ages, located at the entrance to the children's tent. Children (and adults, too) loved making their own crafts last year and being able to take them home with them. The booth will be manned by JoAnn Hall of Campbellsport who will be on hand to assist wannabe crafters and show them how to make professional looking crafts. Prices will range from $1.00 to $10.00, depending on the craft you choose to make. This also will give Moms the perfect opportunity to shop in the craft tent while the children are busily making their own gifts.

The children will be kept busy the entire weekend. The children's tent has a high quality lineup of activities promised for both days. Saturday brings the kite making skills of Don Palmer and the chance to make your own kits, from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Pre-registration is needed to participate in this, so if you are interested, call Jane at 626-2520. There's also Lego Mania from 10 to 4, where kids can add their talents to a growing city of Legos. The International Institute will be hosting some ethnic storytelling, along with children's workshops on palm painting, feather fans, and paper-cutting from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., and again from 2 to 3:30 p.m. A magic and ventriloquist show by Bruce Dicker of Sheboygan is scheduled for 1:15 on both days and the popular Wheel of Wisdom game will be featured Sunday morning at 11 a.m.

Kids are always ready for some video fun, and thanks to Video Square, they'll have the opportunity to test their hand and eye coordination at a special video contest beginning at 10 a.m. on Saturday. The contest will be located in the former bingo stand on the north end of River Hill Park.

Also located in the bingo stand, and back for the second year, will be the popular B-B Gun Shoot, sponsored by the Gateway Gobblers Chapter of the National Wild Turkey Federation. Over 300 children, accompanied by an adult, participated in the shoot last year with guns and ammunition being provided by Crosman Air Guns.

As if that weren't enough to keep all ages happy, there will be clowns, balloons, free carriage rides by Paul's Ponies and hay rides by Bud Schmidt of Schmidt Acres. There will also be the Dawn Haase roving mimes, and a remote control airplane demonstration hosted by West Bend Hobby Shop's Sky Ranch Flyers on the Hon-E-Kor grounds and a water balloon sling will be held along the river. Holy cow! There's just too much to list!

There's only one requirement... and that is, you must bring along your appetite. There will be a variety of all and regular foods of all varieties for you to sample and savor, home-cooked by some of the area's finest chefs. But leave room for a dessert or two, and leave your diet at home for the weekend. Of course, there always the Kettle Pedal and or the KEYS Walk/Run, so... what the heck... have another piece of pie.

It's all a part of the great weekend, brought to you by those hard-working, Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce members, who delight in bringing you Washington County's biggest and best entertainment festival... Kettle Kountry Kolors! We hope we haven't left anything out... but if we did, you'll just have to come and find out for yourself. The weekend promises to be filled with surprises... maybe even sunshine! See you there!
