KES Receives Special Recognition Award

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

Kewaskum Elementary School received a special recognition award at this month's school board meeting with a letter of appreciation from the board for the "selfless efforts of the administrative officer on charge, the professional team of teachers, and superior support staff.

The letter pointed out the school's recent efforts in hosting a Grandparents Day, which was well received and enjoyed by students, their grandparents, and teachers, with the hope that this event could become a districtwide occurence. For this, and numerous other efforts, Principal Richard Zarling accepted the plaque on behalf of the candidates vying for positions on the school board in the upcoming spring election were announced as follows: Donald Nowak, Lisa Maul, Richard Welsh, Larry Jon Downs, Karen Sparks, Thomas Timblin and Ruth Schmitt. The elections will be held March 19, 1996. Board member Karen Sparks said she was pleased to see so many candidates on the ballot, which expressed a renewed community interest in the welfare of the school district.

The board approved the purchase of six replacement doors for WES, KES and KMS, at a cost of $5,058. The doors will be purchased from Sheboygan Glass. with payment coming out of the maintenance pro-

School Board Decides to Earmark Remaining Monies for Roof Repair

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

The Kewaskum School Board had a chance to pat each other on the back and score some points with a restless district at this month's board meeting, after they voted to earmark all remaining referendum monies (except $10,000) for much needed school roof repairs.

According to a construction report from Brian Cohen of Hunzinger Construction, the middle school has been completed, but the high school has a few unfinished projects left, requiring about $10,000 in funds to complete. Working with interim superintendent Charles Johnson and administrative secretary Jeanne Jacak, numbers were finalized for the project, and the closeout report indicates $204,077.35 of combined interest and contingency money is left for the district to use for the schools.

Board member Jeanne Goeden asked the board to specify these funds be set aside for roof repairs, and gave approximate figures for repairs, based on a cost of $3.50 per square foot. The list of roofs would include the Kewaskum Middle School ($161,000), the KHS Field House and Shop ($104,000), and the 700 Building ($30,000).

Goeden asked the board to earmark $180,000 for this project, but Board President Neal Weare stated he would prefer the motion read, "funds remaining," and not be tied in to a dollar amount, in case more could be added at a later date as interest continues to be earned on the Fund 45 balance.

Roof repairs will also be needed at the KES library, at an approximate cost of $23,000, but since the district lacks the funds to complete all the repairs, Goeden felt the money could be concentrated on KMS and the 700 Building for starters. "I'm only trying to guarantee we have that money," she told the board.

Finance, Transportation, Building and Grounds committee member Larry Fechter pointed out that this job would be done in spring or summer, so the addition of perhaps six months worth of interest could be added to the future of this project. Goeden pointed out that they had until October 12, 1996, to disburse all of the remaining funds.

Home Decorating Winners

Judges from the Kewaskum area community took time out of their busy holiday schedules on Sunday evening to tour Kewaskum and set themselves to the task of trying to choose the seven homes in the community they found the most decorative and attractive.

The home decorating contest, sponsored by the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce, is now being judged a little differently than in previous years. Instead of trying to determine exactly which homes are the first, second and third best, judges now pick out seven homes they like the best and do not choose the "best of the best." They simply pick the seven they like the best.

Everyone's tastes are different and with four people judging, this process eliminates the need for blackened eyes and bloodied fists trying to determine which is the

The decorations were very pretty and unique, to say the least, this year. According to the judges, as in previous years, there was a large variety of different decorations, which still made choosing just seven a very dubious task.

After visiting, and revisiting their top picks, the judges finally disclosed their seven favorites, not listed in any particular order. Take a drive through our town and see if you agree with these choices. If you have a particular favorite, give the Statesman a call at 626-2626, and weather permitting, perhaps our photographer can go out and take some additional photos of your favorites.

Five photos of the judges' picks are shown on pages 8 and 9. Because the pictures must be taken at night to show the full effect of the lighting, it is very difficult to get good shots, especially if the photos must be taken from a distance. Two of the winners could not be photographed close enough to show the whole holiday scene of the homes, and therefore, they did not reproduce light enough for the paper. We apologize, but hope you will drive around and appreciate the effort everyone made to decorate.

The winners not pictured were Bob and Ruth Butler at 1554 Fond du Lac Avenue and the

The FTBG Committee brought to the board's attention a problem at Farmington Elementary School regarding flooring in the gym and hallway. Apparently, old asbestos tiles have been cracking and chipping, creating a safety hazard for the students and staff. Many of the tiles are missing, and new principal Kieth Kriewaldt brought up the fact that the gym also doubles as the school's cafeteria.

The first steps to remedy the situation calls for removal of the asbestos tiles, at an estimated cost of $2,560.00. The board approved the request, and were told that the cost of new flooring depended upon whether they purchased a "chevette" or a "cadil-

Quality Medical Transports Serves the Needs of People

Jocelyn Bruckert of Quality Medical Transports.

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

Being in business means serving a community of people, trying to meet their needs by providing a product or a service. Sometimes being in business means helping someone else, and part of the payback is a grateful smile or a new friendship.

Jocelyn Bruckert of Kewaskum makes a living transporting special needs children and the elderly to therapy sessions and doctors' appointments. Her business, Quality Medical Transports, just turned three years old in November, and her list of clients continues to grow, although, she states she won't take on more than her business can handle.

"Right now we are up to twelve vans, but I won't overextend the service and make people wait," Jocelyn expresses. "I've seen some elderly people wait two hours for a ride home from the doctor's office. I can not do that to people who deserve respect and kindness, so we don't take on more than we can transport."

Her interest in the business developed when she was employed for five years as a driver for Nichols Transport Service. "It was really my husband Bob who came up with the idea to start our own service," she explained. Her husband owns and operates his own semi, and liked the idea of running a business out of their home, located on Ironwood Lane.

The majority of clients are children, and a big part of Jocelyn's profits come through them by way of accomplishments. "You watch these kids grow up, and it's a big part of my life to be able to see their improvements and share this with them. You get to know them."

The majority of their traveling takes them down to Racine and Kenosha, where another service pulled out, and parents were left wondering how they'd get their children to therapy sessions. "With both parents working, it's difficult for them to leave their jobs, and that's why we stepped in and let the therapy services know we were here," she points out. The need is out there, and Wisconsin alone has over 250 transport companies working to meet those needs.

It takes a special kind of person to drive for the children, and Jocelyn makes sure that they meet her high standards. "We hire people type people, who like being around others, and they especially have to love children." Her drivers carry toys and books in the vans, play with the kids, and get involved in their lives. "It's not just a job," she states.

Sometimes they meet with difficult situations that she says, "makes you want to pull your hair out." Signs of abuse and neglect is an eye opener for this mother and grandmother, who once became attached to a little girl who looked like a "China doll," and rode to therapy in Jocelyn's van. "Everyone loved her," she recalls, but after being removed several times from an abusive mother, she was returned to her home and later died, once again from abuse. "We see the courts returning children to homes they shouldn't be in," she asserts.

Quality Medical Transports also works with Beechwood Rest Home, Cedar Lake, and the Samaritan, taking elderly clients to appointments, and working out specific schedules to meet people's needs. "The hard part is our clients are always changing. You get to know these people, and it's hard when you don't see them anymore."

All their vehicles operate under a special medical vehicle license, and the business has to notify doctors to acquire certification for Title 19

Job Shadowing: What is it? Who Does it?

Job Shadowing is an abbreviated work experience program designed for students who are interested in observing a specific job or career. 100 students in the class have a job shadowing experience.

Students Kewaskum High School have job shadowed with the Wisconsin State Patrol, local radio and television stations, the Department of Natural Resources, at day care and child care facilities, with a cosmetologist, the Air National Guard, a goldsmith/jeweler, in the medical field, with an architect, with a school psychologist, a teacher, a data processor, a restaurant owner, a farmer, and at a fish farm, to name a few.

Kewaskum High School students say it

"Job shadowing is a goodway to get the inside on a certain career and help you make the right choices for the future," Matt Lieven, pilot.

"It definitely gives kids a feel for their future job," Aaron Kurth, teacher. "I learned a lot and this made me realize that I want to go to college and major in this," Heather Amerling, occupational therapy.

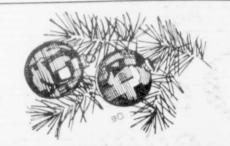

"Job shadowing is the best way to learn about a job," Maureen Leitheiser, school psychology.

"It is a good experience to see if you may or may not like this occupation," Troy Zehren, business management.

This time intensive opportunity is extremely valuable as evidenced by the fact that the job shadowing experience involves two thirds of the senior class. According to Carol Martin, "Students can develop a network in a field of interest and learn first hand about a career before they spend time and money on something that may not be for them."

payments for their clients. "Generally doctors are very cooperative, but once and awhile we'll have someone who has a problem getting certification," she mentions. Payment is done through private and state funding, with the state assigning set rates, and Jocelyn's proud of the fact her prices have not changed since they started in business.

None of this would be possible, she points out, without the help of her dedicated employees, who oftentimes change their busy schedules around to help out someone who needs a ride. Verna Fickler, her dispatcher and office manager, is an indispensable part of the team. Her daughter, Kristen, helps out in her spare time, after her full time job at Regal Ware. The business employs twelve drivers, and sometimes Jocelyn herself fills in when the need arises. "I also do all the oil changes and grease jobs on our vans," she proudly maintains.

Summer is a busy time for them, as they provide service for a group of 30 special needs children who attend camp at Cedar Ridge in West Bend. The work is fulfilling and they get a boost from seeing all those smiling faces enjoying a part of life all children should be able to experience.

The rest of Jocelyn's family includes a daughter, April, who is employed at Dean's Foods in Fond du Lac, and one grandson, Jesse.

Quality Medical Transports runs Monday through Friday, and is open weekends and holidays on a volunteer basis. "I won't ask my employees to work holidays, but some of them volunteer if it is a special situation," she adds.

NEW ACOUSTAL CEILING CLEANING

To All Concerned:

With the coming of Christmas, our family, the parents of Kelly Wagner, would like to take this time to thank each and every one for their thoughts and prayers that were said for our family.

Christmas was a long way off at the time of Kelly's accident and now with this very special holiday upon us we realize just how important the thought of giving really is. For this reason we are sending our sincere thanks and prayers to all of you and yours for the holidays. The thought of giving came from many of you. From your hearts you reached out to our family at a time when your own families are very important. Financially, spiritually, you helped our family get through a time of pain and sorrow we had no idea we could get through a time of pain and sorrow we had no idea we could get through. We believe your prayers have truly helped Kelly bounce back and get to where she is now. Kelly has an extremely rough road ahead. The amount of time Kelly will spend in rehabilitation over the coming new year will take it's toll on our entire family, but you opened your hearts and helped us through the most difficult time. The power of prayer is unbelievable.

As of Sunday, Dec. 17th, Kelly remains in rehabilitation on the 5th floor of Children's Hospital. Although she is awake physically, mentally she remains in a coma, but in a softer state. She is able to respond to some commands, but is still unable to focus and unable to talk. We are told because her condition has improved greatly, they will allow Kelly to leave the hospital on Christmas Day for the day, but will have to return in the evening, a very special day indeed.

We would also like to thank those special people who found it in there hearts to donate funds to the account set up in Kelly's name at West Bend Savings and Loan. Because of people like you, the prayer lines, the churches praying for Kelly, and any individual who thought of us at this time, we give thanks.

Thank You All;

Merry Christmas and a Very Happy and Healthy New Year!!!

HT Boys 'B' Team Loses to Eden

Holy Trinity's boys 'B' team looked as cold as the building in the start of the game against the ferocious Knights of St. Marys of Eden late in the weekend on Sunday, December 10. The score at the half was overlooked by this writer, but the exasperating final was 46 to 31, with Eden winning the game.

This is not to say the Golden Boys didn't put forth a good effort. They gave us a few surprises as they opposed the St. Mary's team. Justin Wessing, new to the Wildcats this year, was top scorer with nine points, including a magnificent three point shot. Joshua Timblin, also his first year playing, racked up eight points with three baskets and two free throws.

Adam Hubacek, Nick Thorn and Josh Repovsh each made two baskets and Brian Kraft made one.

Holidays Can Bring Behavior Problems for Children and Adults

Your five-year-old opens a gift from an aunt, bursts into tears and announces she already has this game at home. Or your eight-year-old refuses to entertain himself, instead asking you repeated questions as you try to write notes in holiday cards.

You find yourself snapping at everyone as you try to finish a long list of holiday-related tasks.

While the holidays are an exciting time for children and adults, they also can bring out the worst behavior in every-

Children who don't have the structure of a school day may find themselves bored and in need of diversion. Late nights and the frenzy of visiting friends and family may make your normally reasonable preschooler prone to tantrums and whining.

When your child behaves differently and suddenly causes problems, there's usually a reason.

Many families are stretched too thin during the holiday season. Even young children can sense added stress in the family. If you are uptight, more prone toward shouting or punishing your children or are unable to give your children some undivided attention, your children may act out as a result.

Taking your children's needs into account and planning in advance for possible behavioral problems can minimize family stress.

These strategies for coping with schedule changes, exhaustion and other problems that can cause children to act out:

Plan some structure for every day your children aren't in school. Kids are used to their school schedule, so may find it difficult to spend long hours entertaining themselves while on vacation. Plan trips to Set aside time exclusively for your children each day. If you are preoccupied and unavailable, your children may act out to get your attention. Plan to choose a Christmas tree together, go shopping as a family, play games or watch a video together.

Be aware that children (and adults) who don't get enough sleep can be crabby. Avoid late-night outings if you can help it. If not, prepare yourself for some whining or other difficult behavior. Be sympathetic, rather then annoyed or upset.

children about your own feelings. If you are feeling pressured, uptight or overburdened, tell them. Ask for their help or tell them you need to get away for a walk, or need a time out in your room. If you do get upset and yell, apologize and move on. It's important for children to understand that you are human and make mistakes, but that you can admit your mistakes and ask forgiveness.

Don't sweat the small stuff. Minor issues will arise. Assess whether it's really important, or whether you can ignore it. If you are concerned about gift-receiving etiquette, talk to your children in advance about appropriate behavior. But don't feel societal

Just Say No Clubs Donate Gifts

Jenny Harter, Kewaskum Elementary fifth grader and Just Say No Club Captain, sorts through some of the many presents Club members are providing for children and their families in need in Washington County.

The three clubs from Kewaskum, Farmington, and Wayne wrapped over 125 presents at their meetings this week. Most of the gifts were purchased through the sale of candy and lollipops. Club members donated many more.

Farmington Just Say No Club Secretary, fifth grader Jessie Krahn said, "I feel that this is a good cause because kids who don't have things can get them with this program. Also it makes me feel good about myself for doing something for others." Jenny Harter agreed, adding, "I would like these presents if I needed them. It's caring and helpful."

Club Leader and Guidance Counselor Cheryl Taylor hopes to continue the Christmas gift sharing next year. "This has been one of our most successful projects. It gives the children a chance to perform a community service, using their energy and idealism in a positive way," she said.

Village Board Meeting Minutes

Regular Meeting November 27, 1995 8:00 p.m.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in Regular Special Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

President Robert Wagner presided. Trustee William Kulas arrived late; 7:50 p.m. and Trustee John Borland asked to be excused and was absent, all other Trustee Members were present. A quorum was present.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion by Trustee Robert Stoltzmann, seconded by Trustee Harry Roecker and unanimously carried by voice vote, the minutes of the November 6, 1995 meeting were approved as printed.

The public hearing was held on the proposed budget for 1996 as noticed in the November 9, 1995 Kewaskum Statesman, It was noted one reporter was present. It was noted that the meeting, if canceled, could not have rescheduled December 18, 1995, because of notice requirements. A review of both the revenues and expenditures were gone over by the Administrator with questions being asked and answered. The budget as proposed and heard, would equal a general budget decrease of 10.4% or $173,577. The tax levy as discussed would equal an increase caused from the real growth within the Village, while the Village tax rate would equal a 0% or zero dollar per $1,000 assessed value increase or decrease. The Village's rate as proposed would equal $5.258 per $1,000 assessed value. On a motion by Trustee Robert Stoltzmann, seconded by Trustee David Goeden and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board closed the public hearing. Roll call vote was 5 "Aye" 0 "Nay" 2 "Absent." Administrator Daniel Schmidt reviewed the assessment process as determined by the State of Wisconsin, Department of Revenue and also looked at what has happened and what has been accomplished over the last 20 years as well as looked at where the Village will be going in the future was discussed. A comparison as to how the Village is doing financially with reference to the other taxing entities was also reviewed.

The public hearing was held on the proposed Library Fund, TIF Fund, Capital Projects Fund, Debt Service Fund and Special Revenue Fund budgets for 1996. A review of the funds revealed no major changes on the accounts and it was pointed out that the TIF district has had substantial growth. It was noted the TIF district should be able to be closed in May of 1996 and that the Village will proceed with the necessary work. On a motion by Trustee David Goeden, seconded by Trustee Robert Stoltzmann and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board closed the public hearing. Roll call vote was 5 "Aye" 0 "Nay" 2 "Absent."

The public hearing was held on the proposed Water Department budget for 1996. The Board reviewed the budget and it was noted the utility was meeting the PSC's requirement in reference to a rate of return. No rate adjustment is needed at this time and the utility is in fair financial condition. It was noted that prior to the rate adjustment the Village was 4th from the bottom regarding rates of 41 utilities surrounding us and moved to 19th from the bottom after the adjustment. It was further noted several other utilities also received adjustments during 1995 which would lower our status. On a motion by Trustee Harry Roecker, seconded by Trustee Robert Stoltzmann and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board closed the public hearing. Roll call vote was 5 "Aye" 0 "Nay" 2 "Absent." The public hearing was held on the proposed Water Pollution Control Depart-ment budget for 1996. The Board reviewed the budget and noted that a continued review of the existing rate structure will take place during 1996, probably during the third quarter. It was noted that there would be an estimated $11,000 short fall of revenue compared to expenditures for 1996 but that reserved fund would be used if needed. The Sewer rates were compared to those of the 41 surrounding utilities and the Village's came in 3rd from the bottom as to having the most reasonable rates. On a motion by Trustee David Goeden, seconded by Trustee Harry Roecker and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board closed the public hearing. Roll call vote was 6 "Aye" 0"Nay" 1 "Absent."

Assistant Fire Chief Mark Herriges indicated the October report would be given at the next meeting. The Board was informed that the advertisement for bids on the proposed tank truck have been mailed. It was also noted that the Fire Contract from the Town of Kewaskum has been received and will be brought to the Board on December 11, 1995.

Chief of Police Richard L. Knoebel, October 1995 monthly report:

Criminal arrests - 30, Criminal investigations - 66; Traffic warnings - 151, Traffic citations - 32; Adult arrests - 23, Juvenile arrests - 23; Property stolen - $380, Property recovered - $150; Parking violations -28, Parking tags - 7.

Director of Public Works, Jerry Gilles reported that the Christmas decorations have been installed for the holidays. The snow plows opened the streets to allow everyone to get home, but would again go out to widen the streets early Tuesday morning. Director Gilles distributed a Drug and Alcohol Testing Policy as mandated by the Federal Government for the Board to review prior to the next meeting.

Administrator Daniel S. Schmidt reviewed the following with the Board:

WE Offers Last Minute Lighting Decoration Tips

Make this holiday season merry and bright, but also make it a safe

"We've already seen some beautiful and impressive outdoor holiday lighting displays," says Don Coe, Wisconsin Electric Power Company public safety director. "We want to remind everyone planning holiday lighting displays -- both indoors and outdoors -- to follow several electrical safety tips."

Check light cords and replace any that are frayed," Coe advises. "Use extension cords outdoors only if they are approved for outdoor use, and buy extension cords that are long enough so you don't have to connect several shorter cords. Indoors, lights never should come in constant contact with draperies or furniture, and remember to turn off decorative lights when no one is in the room or if no one will be home for a long period of time. The longer lights are on around a natural Christmas tree, the sooner the tree will dry out. Natural trees can burn. so it's essential to exercise care when using them."

Coe suggests that you can hold down the costs of running those lighting displays by using midget lights to decorate your tree and your home. "Midget lights use less than half the electricity of regular lights, and it only costs about one cent to run 200 midget lights for three hours. By comparison it costs about 21 cents to run 200 standard holiday lights for three hours," he says.

A six- to seven-foottall tree may be decorated with approximately 300 miniature bulbs, which use about the same amount of electricity as a 100-watt light bulb.

"You can save even more by using shiny ornaments and tinsel or garland to reflect the tree's lights," Coe added. "Placing the Christmas tree in front of a mirror will seem to double the visual impact and brightness of the lights. The tree can also help light the outside of your home as well as the inside if it's placed in front of a window."

Using energy-efficient floodlights outdoors also can help hold down energy costs. They come in holiday colors and typically use 85 watts of electricity but provide almost the same amount of illumination as a 100-watt floodlight.

"Keep safety and energy efficiency in mind when planning your lighting displays, and you'll enjoy the holiday season that much more," said Coe.

Wisconsin Electric serves more than 945,000 customers in southeastern, east central and northern portions of Wisconsin, as well as in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. The company is a wholly owned subsidiary of Wisconsin Energy Corp.

WHAT IS SHARE?

SHARE is a non-profit community building organization, offering a nutritious food package ($25-35 value) to anyone for $13.00* plus two hours of volunteering in your community (*Host Sites may charge an additional, minimal amount for each SHARE package for their expenses, such as trucking and gas.)

SHARE is not a government program and is funded solely by the price of the food package.

WHAT'S IN THE FOOD PACKAGE?

Containing frozen meat, fresh fruits and vegetables, and staple items, the package is designed to supplement a family's food budget.

HOW DOES SHARE WORK?

By pooling thousands of dollars across the nation, SHARE purchases food at wholesale prices and passes the savings on to participants. Volunteers distribute the food through a network of 365 Host Organizations throughout Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and Northern Illinois.

WHO PARTICIPATES?

SHARE is unique because it includes everyone. There are no qualifications to participate in SHARE. People become involved with SHARE to save money and because they enjoy helping others. Volunteering in your community means big savings for you and your family.

Wildcats Short of Manpower Needed to Defeat St. Matthews

Holy Trinity's B team hosted Campbellsport's St. Matthews last Friday. December 15. Part of the team was struck with illness and so instead of 23 players, Coach Herriges had only 16 Wildcats to battle the Lions.

For all their intense effort, Holy Trinity lost the struggle through St. Matt's ability to intercept a good portion of passes made by the home team.

Josh Repovsh redoubled his usual endeavor scoring 14 points, including a three point shot and one free throw. Noah Koch and Joshua Timblin each made three baskets, with Brian Kraft and Nick Thorn making one bucket apiece.

Holy Trinity kept the Campbellsport lads on their toes throughout the entire game, even though they were down by four points at the half, 17 to 13. They were able to tie it up at the third quarter, 21 to 21, but couldn't quite keep that level of play, with the final score ending up 36 to 30.

After the Christmas break they will again be the home team, with St. Mary's of West Bend coming to Kewaskum Middle School on Friday, January 5 at 6:30 p.m.

Holy Trinity Boys Win Third Game

The Holy Trinity boys' A team got off to a rather sluggish start against St. Matthew's of Campbellsport on Friday, December 15. Because of bad weather on the two preceding Fridays, this was St. Matt's first conference game, so the Wildcats had no idea of St. Matt's strength.

Cold shooting kept the Wildcats from scoring. Nineteen attempted field goals resulted in only 10 points for the Wildcats at halftime. However, hot defense kept St. Matt's from scoring also. They had eight points at halftime.

The second half was a whole new game for the Wildcats. They came out of the locker room fired up and took control of the game at this point. Nine consecutive points by the Wildcats took the wind out of St. Matt's sails. They could only play catch-up at this point. At the end of the third quarter, the score was H.T., 21 and St. Matt's, 15. The final score was Holy Trinity 35, and St. Matts, Holy Trinity won the rebounding battle. Pat Bohn and Jesse Boegel each had seven while Jason Strobel had six. Jason Strobel also had seven steals which was a game high for him. Those scoring for Holy Trinity were: Jason Strobel - 17 points; Pat Bohn - six points; Jason Gruber four points; Chris Boden two points; Luke Piwoni two points; Mitch Strobel - two points and Jesse Boegel - two points.

The Wildcats will not play again until January 5, 1996, when they will try to make it four straight by defeating St. Mary's of Barton.

Wildcat Girls Win Third Straight

The Holy Trinity girls basketball "A" team remains undefeated with a 35-12 win over St. Matthew's of Campbellsport on Friday evening.

After a slow start where defense played a key roll, the first quarter ended in a 4-4 tie. The Holy Trinity bench provided a spark starting the second quarter. Leading the surge was Lynn Wiesner with eight of her game high nine

Also instrumental were Bridget Polzean's and Aileen Chambers' tenacious defense in holding St. Matthews to zero second quarter points.

At halftime, the score was 14-4. The third quarter continued to follow form with Holy Trinity increasing their lead to 21-9 because of an inspired defensive effort.

The fourth quarter saw the Wildcats utilize their speed with a number of fast break baskets. Emily Rinzel led the way with two steals resulting in two easy layups.

Scoring for Holy Trinity were Wiesner with nine points and Rinzel with eight. Following them were Amy Piwoni with five, Polzean with four, Jenny Kraft with three, Lisa Schickert, Katie Kopecky and Amber King with a basket apiece.

After Christmas break, the Wildcats will be taking on St. Mary's of West Bend on January 5th at the Kewaskum Middle School.
