Newcomers Fechter, Timblin, Downs Take Over SB Seats

By Lana Harbeck Kuehl

The "silent majority" finally made their collective voice heard at the polls on Tuesday as newcomers Larry Fechter, Tom Timblin and Jon Downs decisively defeated incumbents Karen Sparks and Ruth Schmitt for the three vacant Kewaskum School Board seats.

Another newcomer, Lisa Maul, candidate from the Town of Wayne, came in strong sixth behind the two incumbents, being nosed out of the fifth position by only two votes. As expected, Maul garnered a good portion of the Town of Wayne votes, as Ruth Schmitt did likewise in the Town of Barton.

Larry Fechter received the most votes with 1,299. Timblin came in second with 1,183 and Downs was third with 1,029. Incumbent Karen Sparks was next with 901, followed by Incumbent Ruth Schmitt with 805 and Lisa Maul followed closely behind with 803 votes.

Contacted late Tuesday evening, Fechter was very pleased with the large voter turnout in addition to being the top vote-getter and stated, "I would like to think we represent the silent majority and tonight proves that. I would like to thank Ruth and Karen for all the years they served on the board and now it is time to move forward."

In his comments Tuesday evening, Timblin stated, "I'm extremely happy and I would like to thank the residents of the Kewaskum School District for showing confidence in my ability to help mend the fence and start us on the road back to respectability, both in academics and extra curricular activities. I think the way to reinstall public confidence in the school board will be by following prescribed procedure to a T at all future meetings."

Timblin added that even though he was very pleased with the outcome of the election, he was glad it was over and hoped that now all the hostility, rhetoric and innuendo could be put to rest and board members could get back to the business at hand.

Contrary to the opinion of some of the outspoken, the voters this reporter interviewed, did not feel the new board would revert "back to the sixties." Voting parents we contacted over the course of the election, are genuinely concerned that some of their children cannot add without the aide of a calculator and a good portion of honor roll students can't spell. This seems to be the message the voters are trying to impart.

The populace of our school district, the State of Wisconsin and possibly even this country, whether it is constitutional or not, are yearning and turning towards getting our children back to morality, values, respect for one another and good quality basic education. As one elected candidate stated, "Someone just has to take the first initiative."

It now remains to be seen whether voters have taken a step in that direction or as an incumbent stated in the Journal/Sentinel, "God help them." Ironical that now, finally God has been brought into play.

Stoltzmann Retains VB Post with New Additions Dums and Kenworthy

With a good voter turnout at around 42%, Incumbent Robert Stoltzmann retained his seat on the Kewaskum Village Board by securing the most votes in Tuesday's election. Stoltzmann, who received 461 votes, was followed by new faces Warren Dums with 380 votes and Jon Kenworthy with 369.

School Board Discusses Recent Low Achievement Test Scores

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

"It's not a time to over-react to numbers on a paper, but rather a time to act," interim administrator Dr. Charles Johnson said regarding the recent test score results of district students who participated in the Wisconsin Assessment Test this past fall.

No one at this month's school board meeting was happy with the results, and the discussion focused on what to do about the problem of low scores. Should the district model their curriculum to match state evaluations and coach the students prior to testing, or should the assessment be a true evaluation of the knowledge students retain?

Kewaskum's eighth and tenth graders participated in the third and final year of a three year study initiated by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction. This year, eighth graders received an average composite score of 152, seven points below the state average of 159. The tenth grade students scored 156, compared to the state average of 152.

Averaging the three years together, eighth and tenth graders both scored a 155, compared to the state's average score of 156. With a new group Kerlin was eliminated from the three available positions by coming in last with a strong showing of 289 votes. William Kulas and John Borland chose not to run for re-election to their previously held seats.

In the village vote for school board the candidates came in the same order they did in the district, with Larry Fechter receiving 425, Tom Timblin receiving 386, Jon Downs was next with 384, Karens Sparks was fourth with 244, Ruth Schmitt had 231 and Lisa Maul was last with 216.

Voters also overwhelmingly gave a vote of confidence to county supervisor Dan Stoffel who received an amazing 520 votes.

Kewaskum followed the lead of the rest of the state in the Presidential Preference as Robert Dole received 238 votes, followed by Pat Buchanan with 168 and Alan Keyes received 3 votes. President Bill Clinton received 200 votes.

and many other prizes. We can't name them all!

Bob Bonenfant from W.B.K.V. radio will be the illustrious Master of Ceremonies for the evening, and music will be provided by the popular band, Revival, from eight to midnight.

Tickets are available at many businesses throughout the Kewaskum area, and at the following locations in West Bend; all West Bend Savings branches, including one located in Pick and Save south, Guaranty Bank on South Main, Super Saver, and Toucan Custard. Other locations include Marshall's Country Corner in Boltonville, and Baumann's in Waukega.

Reports coming into the newspaper office tell us Kelly is getting better every day. As one friend of the family pointed out, "when I think back to that first night, I am amazed at the little girl I see today. She is full of life again and I am so grateful. She still has a lot of work ahead of her, but I'm sure that she is going to go right on amazing me with her daily progress."

Prizes are still being accepted for this fundraiser. The donations coming in from people around the community have been astounding, and all the friends and family of Kelly Wagner hope everyone out there has it in their hearts to help one more time. Attend the benefit, not only to support a great cause, but also in celebration of her great strides up the road of recovery. Welcome back Kelly.

Support Persons Chosen for the Quarter

School Board President Neal Weare presents Mrs. Sally Schultz with her award for being selected as Support Person of the Quarter.

Mrs. Sally Schultz is the Support Person of the Quarter. She demonstrates work behavior that is a model for all other employees. Paramount among these are honesty, loyalty, dedication, pride in her work, and an outstanding work ethic.

There have been many occasions that Mrs. Schultz has come to work in spite of difficult circumstances. Included in these are days that she was ill but came to work because she knew there was no substitute available, and it would be a hardship on her fellow employees to do her work. It also includes days that weather, mechanical failure, and family needs have made the trip to work very difficult. Regardless of these problems, Sally has come to do her job.

The pride that Mrs. Schultz takes in her work is demonstrated by the efficiency with which she does the most unpleasant part of her job, cleaning restrooms. This same level of pride is demonstrated in the other parts of her job, including mail delivery to all buildings in the district, food delivery to KES, Farmington, and St. Lucas. She has also approached her principal on many occasions with ideas for improving the building and the ser-VICES she and her co-workers provide.

Finally, Mrs. Schultz's work ethic is a model for all district employees. She knows her job, does it with enthusiasm, and is rightfully proud of the quality with which she does it. If all of the support people took the same approach to their employment, many of the maintenance/custodial problems in our district would disappear.

Congratulations to Mrs. Sally Schultz, the School District of Kewaskum's Support Person of the Quarter.

Marilyn Terlinden, a member of the Kewaskum area community, and an active parent, has been chosen as one of two support persons for the quarter.

Always willing to lend a hand, Marilyn has put in countless hours of volunteer work at Kewaskum Elementary School. She is partly responsible for bringing in hundreds of dollars during fundraising efforts. Her help in the classroom improves the quality of education for elementary students.

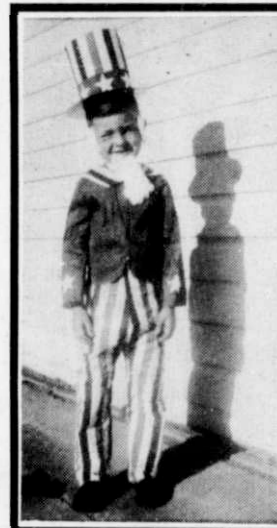

She has also played a big part in organizing several school programs at Kewaskum Elementary. "Marilyn never asks for anything in return," said KES principal Richard Zarling. "She is an extremely generous person in terms of time."

CELEBRATE YOUTH ART MONTH

March is Youth Art Month in the Kewaskum Schools. Displays of student art work can be seen at West Bend Savings Bank, Bank Wisconsin and the Post Office.

This year, students in all three elementary schools and the middle school will be doing an original work of art on a post card. The PTO's have generously contributed the postage so these cards can be mailed to district families and friends. This is a positive way to promote the arts in our schools.

This year for the first time, "HARMONY IN

THE ARTS," a creative display of classroom work that blends art and academics, will be held at Kewaskum High School in the cafeteria. According to Carol Zoerb, Gifted and Talented Education Coordinator, the display will show case classroom creativity for elementary students in grades Pre-K through five and demonstrate the way classroom teachers integrate art into all academic areas - reading, math, science, and social studies.

The display will take place at KHS on Monday, March 25, from 6:30 -

8:00. Between 7:00-7:30 there will be performance demonstrations by students including a choir, an Odyssey of the Mind performance by Farmington Elementary School, and other artistic demonstrations.

Please plan to Celebrate Youth Art Month and see how the arts make a difference.

Daggetts Win $3.9 Million Malpractice Suit

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

Wallace and Joan Daggett of Kewaskum were recently awarded $3.9 million dollars by a federal court in a malpractice suit against a law firm they had hired to fight their stray voltage case against Wisconsin Electric Power Company.

The Daggetts consider it a victory of one battle in a long war to become debt free, after the couple and their family of 11 children lost their farm in Random Lake during a 12-year fight with utilities and lawyers to prove the utility's distribution line was defective, causing their dairy herd's milk production to decline.

In 1984, the Daggetts won their first case against WEPCO, and were awarded $1.1 million dollars by a Sheboygan County Circuit Court. Believing the electrical problems would be corrected, they invested a large percentage of their money back into their dairy business, but their herd's milk production again suffered severe decline when a nearby restaurant was electrical-ly rewired, a restaurant that happened to be on the same electrical system as the Daggett's farm.

As the Daggetts pursued a second lawsuit against the utility for failing to correct the problem, they were evicted from the farm they had fought so hard to maintain. In 1991, their attorney from St. Nazianz withdrew from the suit, claiming it would be too costly a case, but the law firm of Melvin M. Belli from San Francisco stepped in, recommending that Ralph Sirlin of Detroit, Michigan take on the Daggett's case. Sirlin, a nationally known stray voltage attorney, agreed to represent them, telling the couple it was one of the strongest cases he had seen.

WEPCO gained a dismissal of the suit, but Sirlin won a reversal of that decision in 1992, and a year later, when the utility again sought a dismissal, Melvin Belli's son, Attorney Melvin Ceasar Belli stepped in for Mr. Sirlin and successfully halted the dismissal request.

To the Daggett's dismay, WEPCO finally won their request for dismissal in December, 1993, in a Sheboygan County Court, after the younger Belli failed to make an appearance for several pre-trial depositions, costing the Daggetts another chance to retrieve damages sought against Wisconsin Electric.

With the help of a new law firm, Fox & Fox of Madison, the Daggetts appealed to a Wisconsin appeals court, and it's decision claimed the couple did have the right to appeal, and file a malpractice suit against their former attorneys, based on the facts that the law firm didn't follow the scheduling orders of the Sheboygan County Court.

Their new attorney, Thomas Halloran, had to prove two points to win the Daggett's case; first, that Belli and Sirlin did not meet the standards of legal representation for the stray voltage case, and secondly, that stray voltage did indeed cause problems for the Daggett's dairy herd. "We're not suing Wisconsin Electric Power Company personally," Wally Daggett pointed out, "but we have to prove their distribution lines caused stray voltage on the farm."

In the beginning of March, Wallace and his attorneys met in Tampa, Florida with representatives of the Bellin and Sirlin law firms for mediation negotiations, before retired Wisconsin Judge Robert Perrin, who is also known as a former president of the Green Bay Packers. Nothing was resolved and mediation failed.

On March 8th, U.S. District Judge John C. Shabaz called the Daggetts at their home where they were sworn in over the phone, before a pre-trial meeting in his court. That same day, Judge Shabaz signed the settlement against the law firm, after attorneys for them decided not to contest the case. The judge thanked the Daggetts for being willing to see if the case could be settled out of court, where the couple could have asked for triple the $3.9 million claim under state laws for malpractice.

Daggett will also be receiving an out of court settlement from the Sirlin firm, although at this point he is not allowed to discuss the case. He had previously rejected an offer while in Florida from Sirlin representatives.

The Belli Law firm is in Chapter 11 bankruptcy, and Melvin Ceasar Belli stated that the judges ruling would be contested in bankruptcy court of appeals. The Daggetts will appear on a list of creditors for Belli's bankruptcy filing, and may be paid when Mr. Belli receives fees for a great many clients he is representing in a nationwide breast implant suit.

Mr. Daggett, 67, is a farm credit mediator for the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection, and at this point in his life, doesn't see himself starting up a new dairy farm. But he feels that justice was served, and credits his "dream team" of dedicated people for winning a victory for stray voltage victims.

School Board Addresses Lengthy Agenda

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

This month's school board meeting addressed another three hour agenda with topics ranging from salary increases to summer school schedules.

The school district has contracted with MacNeil Environmental, a company recommended by CESA 6 and the district's insurance representative, to help manage and maintain environmental safety and health programs. The past several years have brought an increasing number of state and federal mandates in the area of environmental, health, and safety issues, and this company will address concerns such as asbestos, radon, underground storage tanks, hazardous waste, respiratory protection, and personal protective equipment, to name just a few. The three year contract amounts to $14,630.00, and requires two phases.

Phase I will include a chemical inventory, studying and updating surveys, compliance and safety manuals, and looks into management planning. Phase II will cover assistance in operations, training, program updates, documenting safety activities, and 24 hour manager availability. Savings should be seen in areas such as chemical inventory, now being done by teachers, safety inspections, staff training, and the updating of manuals and management planning.

After surveying several area schools regarding salaries for janitors, the board approved an increase in substitute pay for janitors from $5.80 per hour to $6.50 an hour, and raised maintenance technicians from $7.75 to $8.45 per hour.

The bid from Byco Inc. was OK'd by the board to retille both the gym and hall floors at Farmington Elementary, at a cost of $8,418.00. The material will consist of 1/8" vinyl composition tile and a 4" vinyl base. Work on the gym will be completed during Easter vacation, with the remaining work scheduled through the summer months. Including previous costs for asbestos removal and management plans, this brings the total cost of the project to $22,205.00.

Summer School is once again being offered for students in the school district. The three and a half week session will end before July 4th this year, since many families are busy with vacations and summer practice schedules. A list of courses will be received after spring break. The enrichment courses will only be offered if they have at least eight students signed up for the course, although it may be possible to combine sessions to reach this requirement. Any student with three unexcused absences from summer school will be dropped from the session.

Entre P.C. Solutions, a non-vendor company, was hired by the board as an independent consultant to assess the district's technology needs, at a cost of $9,920.00. The recommendation was given by the JET Committee, who reviewed six potential candidates during a March 6th meeting at Regal Ware. The study should be completed before June 1, so it will be available for that month's board meeting.

The board also approved Dr. Anthony Evers, Director of CESA 6, as the Strategic Planning Facilitator to help the district develop a mission statement, along with philosophies, visions, and goals. Planning sessions have been scheduled for April 26, and 27th and Dr. Evers will be meeting with a special committee comprised of board members, administrative, professional, and support staff, high school students and one community member from each of the townships.

The Mission and Beliefs subcommittee has been changed to the Advisory Study group, formed to review and screen the best mission, beliefs, visions, and goals from surrounding districts. Meeting dates are April 3 and 17th.

A discussion centered around possible use the district may have for the village owned Central Village Complex at 114 Main Street. If the CVC were available to purchase, it could provide options for a new district office, training, meetings, or additional classroom space.

The district may also explore the possibility of looking into houses adjacent to school property to increase facilities or parking spaces. The board agreed to sending a letter to the village president, Robert Wagner, to inquire what future plans they may have for the building's usage.

Other approvals for the evening included additional aide time at Farmington Elementary for a special student, at an estimated cost of $2,700; a remedial math contract with Mrs. Elizabeth Hubbard from limited term to regular contract; and extended leave for Marilyn Krantz, CDS instructor, temporarily replaced by Elizabeth Isaacson.

Resignations were accepted from high school

The Rock

Against the wind, the rock stood strong, as water pounded all day long.
Waves dashed it with a vengeance that looked bound to destroy, and he knew in his heart this was no child's toy.

That's why, as a child, he'd loved it so much...
Why the rock, for him, held some special touch!
As long as he remembered, that rock had been there.
Batting the elements of wind, sea and air.

Not ever, he'd thought, would his rock die.
For the rock was alive in his mind's eye.
So once each year, in his own time, he'd come and upon the rock he'd climb.

He thought how invincible his rock seemed, stronger than anything he'd ever dreamed.
Things always looked different through the eyes of a child;
especially those things that were part of the wild.

He had come one year when he was much older, surprised to find his rock was just a boulder.
At a time when he'd needed something for strength, he'd walk toward the rock, thoughts dwelling at length.

Only to see it looking small and more weathered,
a great many things in life aren't feathered.
Nor are they cushioned against the knocks, not even for his cherished rock.

Now he watched as the water washed up, pounding the surface, covering the top.
It seemed the rock was slowly drowning, he gazed in wonder, frowning.

Yes, things are much bigger to the mind of a child.
Memories are still clear!
Thou that rock is not near,
in that man's dream, that rock does reappear.

Written in memory of those of yesterday of whom I held love and respect, especially my Irish ancestors for the pride, strength and dedication they showed and pursued in life. May St. Patrick's blessing sustain all of us the whole year through!

'Goin' to Mapledale'

By Holy Trinity School Third Grade

We worked for days and days, but it seemed like months, preparing our class service project with the third and seventh grade for Catholic Schools Week recently. We made valentines, practiced singing songs, saying poems, and the seventh grade did a play for the nice people at Mapledale Manor. The day finally came for us to go to Mapledale Manor. After we gave our valentines to them, in return, they gave us yummy goody cookies to thank us. Thank you Mapledale Manor, we had a great time! The end.

Annual Pancake Breakfast Held at Salem U.C.C.

Salem United Church of Christ in Wayne recently held their Fifth Annual Pancake Breakfast in the church hall. Members of the parish are shown above serving the many hungry customers. The pancake breakfast was an immense success, serving over 493 patrons, which is 65 more than was served in 1995.

Due to the large crowds this year, parishioners, James Hammen, left, Roger Mertz, right, and Shelly Pennington (behind organ) decided to partake of some good old fashioned impromptu entertaining, much to the delight of those waiting to eat and those who had already eaten.

AG WEEK

In Recognition of American Agriculture
March 17th - March 23rd

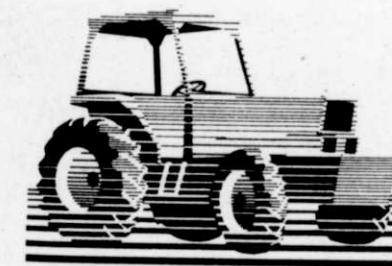

AG WEEK
 March 17th- 23rd

AG DAY
 March 20th

On the first day of spring the nation pauses to honor our farmers, the ones who fill our country's breadbaskets.

With less than two percent of Americans living on farms these days, National Agriculture Week helps to remind us of the importance of American agriculture and the men and women who feed and clothe us. We urge all Americans to take a moment to celebrate the enduring partnership farmers and ranchers have made with nature.

Businesses listed on these pages would like to add their salutations honoring our area farmers.

Farmington Elementary School Celebrates Dairy Days

"Bessie the Bossie" made a special appearance at Farmington Elementary School's Dairy Days.

How many glasses of milk does an average cow give a day?

During the last days of February, Dairy Days was celebrated in the Kewaskum School District. The schools each chose a different day to dress in cow colors, try new cheese, and play dairy games.

At Farmington School, Wednesday was the day chosen to dress up. Many children wore black and white, tan and brown, and one child said, "I'm chocolate milk!"

Some students sported costumes, homemade spots, cow bells, and even a real ear tag from a local herd. Mrs. Klahn surprised the students as "Bessie the Bossie" for a few days and many of the staff members wore outfits such as t-shirts and even a whole jumper suit to pay tribute to the local bread and "butter."

On Thursday, the children were treated to different types of cheeses that they might not normally try such as the famous "holey" Swiss, the dry Italian provolone, and spicy pepper jack. They were served by "Bessie" and Mom volunteers, Mrs. Becker and Mrs. Grager. Mrs. Baughman graciously agreed to dress up as Mrs. Milk Carton as a special guest to visit the lunchroom. The children enjoyed their treats and all agreed, "That pepper jack was hot!"

About half of Ms. Kowalski's fifth grade class performed a "rap" version of a healthy dairy verse for the first through third grade students during their lunch period. They dressed alike in black and white shirts, or a costume. A representative from the Dairy Council, Charlotte Leach, joined them for the performance and took their picture. The children were also given stickers and puzzles and coloring pages, or word searches.

On Friday, Farmington first and second graders hunted for dairy-related items or pictures such as a barn and cow, pictures of products made with milk or cheese, and containers of cottage cheese, sour cream and yogurt. "I didn't know that yogurt was a dairy product," reported one second grader.

The upper elementary students hunted up dairy trivia facts such as how much milk does the average dairy cow give? (about 100 pounds), or what type of cow gives the richest milk? (Jersey), on cow-shaped question pages hidden around the halls. Winners were Mitchell Paulus and Maura Boyd, who received gift certificates to Video Post.

Mrs. Kowalski's fifth grade class performed a "rap" of a healthy dairy verse. Mrs. Milk Carton (Mrs. Baughman) is shown to the left.

The students enjoyed dairy treats.

After the children finished eating lunch, they could try to answer more dairy trivia questions posted on the walls of the cafeteria. Winners with the most right answers were Jamie Williams and Sarah Bandler, who also received gift certificates.

In all the Farmington Elementary School students had a "dairy mooing" experience and would like to thank Kewaskum School's Food Service and Kathy Robinson for providing them with an informative, nutritious few days. As for the answer to the number of glasses of milk, the average cow gives per day: 100.

School Board

of students being tested each year, high school principal Charles Heidner pointed out, "it's not realistic to think each class of students will have the same academic performance." District Assessment Coordinator George Allmann also felt it was more important to look at the overall three year average. "You can't take one year as a sample and say 'this is it,' you have to take an average," he stated.

The test covered subjects such as reading, math, language, science, and social studies, along with a writing test asking for samples of both imaginative and expressive forms. Board member Ruth Schmitt didn't feel the writing portion could be accurately evaluated when students were only given one topic to write about, and if they drew a blank on that particular topic, they had no alternate writing choice.

Kewaskum students were compared to 18 other schools throughout Washington County, the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, and the area, and ranked last in the 8th grade assessment, and third to last in the tenth grade assessment, scoring above Port Washington and Random Lake. Allmann stated that Campbellsport would be closest to Kewaskum, as far as cost comparison per student goes, and they scored a 167 in tenth grade results, and 164 in eighth grade testing, for this school year.

"The main criteria is students have to take ownership on these tests, whether they're second graders, eighth graders, or tenth graders," Allmann asserted. "Some students finish the test in five or ten minutes." He went on to explain that these national standards are benchmarks in all disciplines, and is the criteria for how curriculum is established. The district needs to take a thorough look at how different subjects are being taught. "We scored below the state average," he emphasized.

Board member Karen Sparks explained the importance of a positive testing environment, which other school districts go to great lengths to create, including serving breakfast, intensive coaching, with one district setting aside an entire week to prepare their eighth and tenth graders for the state assessment.

Principal Heidner admitted that this past year they didn't go to any great lengths to prepare for testing. The previous year, past Curriculum Coordinator Connie Strand and the high school guidance counselors talked to the students regarding the importance of doing their very best, and the students were tested in the classrooms where they were taught the specific subjects.

That year, eighth graders scored a 164, eight points above the state average, and 17 points above their first year score of 147. This year, with Mr. Allmann taking over a new position, as well as the hiring of a new interim District Administrator, the testing was lost in a shuffle of reorganization. "There needs to be some curriculum alignment, or we have to accept the fact we're not going to do very well against districts that align theirs (to the test)," Heidner stated.

Mr. Allmann made three recommendations, based on his analysis of the test data received.

1. The District should re-institute an assessment program to complement the State Assessment program. Grades to be assessed should be determined by both an administration and faculty study.

2. The District institute a comprehensive program for K-12 writing. The staff would be in-service and trained to score student writing samples as required in the state program.

3. The District assess 4th, 6th and 10th grade curriculum against the objectives measured by the state WSAS testing. By using the process of curriculum mapping, the professional staff should review current curriculums to determine where core concepts are introduced, maintained and mastered. "This is not a Band-Aid approach," he told the board. "It's a long term type of effect."

Dr. Johnson said that the test results were not acceptable to him, and it was time to take responsibility, be accountable, and move positively ahead with corrective measures. "We will not fall into the trap of making excuses or of suggesting that a temporary change in the testing atmosphere will make things right. The academic atmosphere we need in this district must be lived daily and all year long, not artificially created for a specific test. The district administrator is responsible and accountable to the board for student academic achievement, and I accept that accountability."

Kewaskum Elementary Schools also participated in the Standard Achievement Test with the following results. Second graders participating from all three schools should score between 2.2 and 2.4 to be at grade level. Kewaskum Elementary - 2.48, Wayne - 2.38, and Farmington 2.05. Third grade reading test results showed no students falling below performance standards. Farmington and Wayne - 100% scored above state standards, KES - 95.7% scored above the standards.

Selected classes in the sixth grade were given either the entire test or individual sections. One class which took the entire test scored a median grade equivalent of 7.2, well above the grade level score of 6.2 to 6.4. Significant areas of weakness were found in the areas of language and social studies, where students only scored 5.1, and 5.0. Additional class samples in language arts and study skills reflected above level grade performance.

District to Survey Residents On Building and Space Issue

Within the week all residents of the Kewaskum School District will receive a survey concerning several issues facing the District.

Results of the survey will be used by the K-5 Feasibility Study Committee as it begins to collate data for future consideration by the school board.

The survey will ask residents their opinions on the following topics:

1. Should the District continue to maintain elementary schools at Farmington and Wayne?
2. In the future, should there be one central elementary school for the District?
3. Should Beechwood Elementary be reopened?

District Performance Report Will Be Available Shortly

The annual School District of Kewaskum Performance Report will be available for district residents in the next week.

The report summarizes a number of statistical reports compiled by the various schools within the District.

4. If needed, should additions be made to the outlying elementary schools?

5. On what one goal should the District now focus?

Surveys were to be mailed to residents on March 20. They should be returned by March 30th. Postage will be paid by the addressee. Once the surveys are collected, they will be collated by the Madison Opportunity Center which will present a summary to the committee.

If you do not receive a survey in the mail by March 23rd, please contact the school administration office at 626-8427 and one will be sent to you.

KMS Eighth Grade Boys End Basketball Season

The Kewaskum boys eighth grade basketball team completed their 1996 season in the Scenic Moraine Conference by winning the Conference Championship. Coach Clark Pearson's team finished the season with an overall record of 12-1 (11-1 in conference play).

The 29 players who participated on the team all found playing time during the season and helped secure this year's championship. The large numbers did cause practice problems for Coach Pearson however, as the team had only three baskets and 1/2 a gym to practice with.

Because of the large numbers, a second coach, Coach Brian DeRuyter, was hired halfway through the season.

Pearson felt the team's strength was its defense and said, "The boys were a very unselfish team featuring excellent passing." The following boys finished the season:

Long Lake Represented at Wisconsin Lakes Convention

Dick and Marilyn Edwards, Long Lake, Bob and Marge Mackinson, Milwaukee, and Bob and Barb Buday, Fond du Lac, representing the Long Lake Fishing Club, Inc., and Dick Clemens, Long Lake, representing the Kettle Moraine Water Sports, attended the 18th annual Wisconsin Lakes Convention on March 7, 8 and 9.

They joined students, leaders from business, government and lakeshore communities across the Badger state at this important lakes summit. This convention is the annual crowning event in a unique alliance called the Wisconsin Lakes Partnership.

This combination of concerned citizens, academics, agency personnel and government leaders is recognized as one of the nation's best examples of a working partnership designed to protect our state's significant water resources.

The convention gave the opportunity to learn and exchange ideas on a wide variety of pertinent topics. These included: Septic Solutions; Metallic Mining in Wisconsin; Carp Control; Exotics, The Control and Impact of Eurasian Water Milfoil and Zebra Mussels; Water Patrol; Groundwater; Weed Control; Shoreline Landscaping; and Recreational Effects. Middle and high school students gave presentations on the Adopt-A-Lake Program, environmental education and the pontoon classroom.

The Long Lake organizations have been actively addressing the environmental and educational concerns regarding their lake. Shoreline and pontoon education is offered annually to people of all ages at Long Lake and at the Kids Fishing Day at Sandy Knoll Park in West Bend every April. Water testing is performed throughout the summer months. They have been instrumental in all but eradicating the noxious weed, Purple Loosestrife, from lake shorelines. Fish cribs have been installed and walleye are "planted" each year.

Persons interested in the projects on Long Lake or the Lakes Convention may contact Dick Edwards at 533-4430.

DNR Cautions Not To Feed Deer Hay

MADISON -- People feeding deer this winter should be sure to provide proper feed to help the deer make it through the winter, according to Department of Natural Resources wildlife ecologists.

Wildlife managers across the north have been checking on winter deer yarding areas, and those in the northwest part of the state have confirmed that some deer, primarily fawns, have not survived this winter, says Bill Mytton, DNR deer and bear ecologist.

"So far the numbers are low," Mytton said. "A majority of the deer seem to have died during the recent extreme cold snap."

An examination of 12 deer carcasses showed that only two appeared to have died from winter starvation, Mytton said.

"Several other deer appeared to have died by being fed the wrong food," he added. "We've found deer dead right next to hay bales in the north."

Providing hay for deer at this time of the year is the wrong thing to do, he said, because deer that have not had hay or corn as part of their diets cannot digest this food and literally die with a full stomach.

Deer are browsers feeding on the buds and thin leader shoots of trees and various species of brush. Their digestive systems are set up to turn this type of food into nourishment. Wildlife managers report that loggers have been helping by continuing to cut at various log jobs, which make tree tops available for deer food.

One feed store in the north has reportedly stopped selling baled hay to individuals who were using it to feed deer.

"Generally broadcasting straight hay and grain along roadsides now for deer will do more damage than good," Mytton said. "A special deer pellet blended from alfalfa, corn, oats, soybeans, molasses and other minerals is available if people are going to start feeding deer now. It is costly, but it is the right stuff and will not kill the deer now."

Wildcat 'A' Girls Finish Season With Double Overtime Defeat

The Holy Trinity girls' basketball team ended a very successful 95-96 season with a heartbreaking 38-30 loss in double overtime to the girls from the Consolidated Waukesha Catholic Schools in the Padre Serra Tournament.

The tournament, which consists of mostly conference champions from the Milwaukee Archdiocese, was played at the Cousins Center in St. Francis.

The Kewaskum squad hung in there tough against the third-seeded team from Waukesha and with inspired defense, held a 16-11 halftime lead.

In the third quarter, the defense was not quite up to the task as the Knights overcame the deficit and went into the final stanza ahead by two. The Wildcats showed their resilience by bouncing back and tying the game in regulation at 26.

In the first two minutes overtime, the Wildcats and Knights traded two baskets apiece with the Holy Trinity girls missing an opportunity to win in the final seconds.

The second overtime was all Waukesha with the Knights hitting two three pointers to put the game out of reach. The loss by the Wildcats was only their fourth of the year, as they finished the season with an overall record of 16-4.

The team and coaches would like to thank all the parents, relatives and friends who have supported them all season long. This season will be remembered for a long, long time.

KHS GIRLS' TRACK PREVIEW

By Perry Koth

These is good news and bad news for the Kewaskum girls track team this year.

The good news is that they are the defending Eastern Wisconsin Conference track champions and have 13 girls returning from that team and the bad news is that they lost four state qualifiers from last year's championship squad.

Lost from last year's team are Greta Kuphal, Mary Yahr, Becky Yogerst, Julie Froemming, Missy Rohrer, Suzy Gauvin, and Tracy Jacak. Kuphal, Yahr, Rohrer and Yogerst all participated in the state meet at one time or another during their high school career. But all is not lost, as the Indians return some very talented young ladies.

Heading the list are Jenny Strobel, Erin Stockhausen, Jenny Jagielski, and Marni Lynn. All four of these girls participated in the state meet last year, while Rachel Nysse (discus), Carrie Wiesner (300m hurdles), Strobel, Stockhausen, Jagielski (400 relay), Jagielski (200m dash) and Lynn (800m run), were all individual conference champions.

This year's strengths should be the throwing events, hurdles, sprints and relays, and to a certain degree, distance. In the throwing events, juniors Rachel Nysse and Katie Yogerst will for the third year, provide a strong 1-2 punch in both the discus and shot put.

The hurdles may be as strong as they have ever been with Carrie Wiesner, Joanne Thull and Heather Downs combining to create a very strong trio, while freshman Jackie Michaels has also looked very impressive so far in practice.

While the potential for an outstanding group of hurdlers exists, there have been some injury problems which are delaying the progress of this group. Heather Downs, who made the varsity as a freshman hurdler, then missed the end of the season and all of her sophomore season with an injury, sprained an ankle last weekend playing volleyball and will be out for three weeks.

Joanne Thull, who hurdled varsity last year as a freshman, is still recovering from a gymnastics injury and has not practiced yet. In the sprints, Jenny Strobel, Erin Stockhausen, and Jenny Jagielski will lead the way, while Jamie Gaffke and Laura Weiss will provide for a strong showing in the 400m.

In the relay events, the Indians have three of the four state qualifiers (Strobel, Stockhausen, Jagielski) from both the 400m and the 800m relays returning, while in the 3200m relay Marni Lynn, Carrie Wiesner and Jamie Gaffke return. The 1600m relay will be led by Jamie Gaffke, Laura Weiss and Carrie Wiesner.

In the distance events, Marni Lynn will once again be tough to beat, in fact the hardest part of having Marni on the team may be deciding which events she should run. While Marni is the leader of the pack, the question will be who will be running with her. There are several young runners which the team will be counting on to fill the extra positions.

The high jump will be led by veteran jumpers Kelly Schreffler and Jamie Gaffke while sophomores Sarah Bausch and Jessica Repovsch return also as letter winners. This event will be very competitive as all four jumpers have fairly equal talent. Carrie Wiesner returns in the long jump, along with Jill Wichtoski, while the triple jump also has Kathy Deshotels returning.

Each year, KHS graduates some outstanding girl track athletes and each year some new athletes step up and take their place. Although it is very early in the season, some other athletes have caught the coaches eye. Ann Bodden has looked very good so far in practice and Bridget Baum, who showed some good running strength as a freshman, will concentrate more this season on the running events.

Other runners who have shown some early promise are, sophomore Kenzie Downs, freshman Jenny Fettig, Jami Froemming, and Jackie Michaels.

The only thing certain at this point is that there are a lot of good athletes to choose from and the competition for every spot will be intense. The head coach is once again walking around with a big smile on his face.

This year's coaches and their events are: Sprints - Joe Kinney, Jumping Events - Keith Amundson, Throwing Events - David Rizzardi, Distance - Jerry Gosa, Relays and Hurdles - Head Coach Perry Koth.

The Kewaskum girls track team will open its 1996 track season tomorrow, Friday, March 22, with the annual Bob Buel Indoor Track Invitational held at the West Bend fieldhouse. The field events start at 4 p.m., while running events begin at 4:30 p.m.
