West Bend Clinic to Move Into New Facilities Here Monday

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

The West Bend Clinic's newest facilities in Kewaskum will open its doors for business next Monday, October 21.

Construction of the two level, 5,600 square foot building began in May, and the clinic is now preparing for the big move from the Sison Building to its new location on the north side of the village.

The medical office structure can accommodate four physicians, expandable to eight physicians, should the need arise, with 12 examining rooms, two nurses stations, office, staff and administrative space, X-ray, lab, and blood work rooms, and large reception areas designed to accommodate children.

Dr. David Brown, Family Practice, will be joining Dr. Cesar Sison in the new offices on Monday. Brown is a recent addition to West Bend Clinic's professional staff, and has been working in the Kewaskum community since July.

Paradise Development Group Administrator Bruce Steinert said the new location offers potential future expansion for office and retail space, and the possible addition of OB services sometime in the future.

This week, barring rain, the building will be readied for the move with general cleanup, carpeting and final inspection. Landscaping will be minimal until next Spring because of the mud and the planned construction of the pharmacy, which will take place some time in April, 1997.

"We're really excited about the facility, and plans are in the making for a grand opening one Sunday afternoon in December," Steinert related, and invited the general public to stop by and visit the new clinic, once it opens.

The Kewaskum site mirrors West Bend Clinic's new offices in Jackson, which opened this past March.

School District is State Front Runner in Efforts To Initiate Standards

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

The Kewaskum school district is a state front runner in their efforts to initiate standards in schools, school board members lauded at their meeting this month.

Prompted by board member Neal Weare's recent appointment to a WASB committee designed to draft state standards and assessment policies for school districts, the board relayed its belief that the Kewaskum school district was ahead of the game, and had already put forth efforts to create policies that focused on "accountability measures," and student grade standards.

Weare told the board that the WASB committee had been working on drafting the policies for the past five months, and their recommendations will go through the WASB's Policy and Resolutions committee, to be voted on at the Delegate Assembly during the state convention in January of 1997.

"One of the provisions that we have in there is to have standards on a grade by grade level, that would be developed by the community," he stated, adding that he felt it was best to have standards set locally by school districts to represent the community's values and expectations.

Board member John Schulte recognized Neal for his leadership in education, but noted he was disappointed in the apprehensive response to setting state standards he perceived from school board members across the state at the recent Focus conference he attended in Stevens Point, as a representative of our district.

"The fears that this struck into the minds and hearts of so many board members there, to think that they should have the responsibility of developing standards and assessments for the students that they really have a charge over... it will be quite a topic, I'm sure, in January," he related. "If we don't set the standards and assessments through our communities and boards, the state will, and if the state doesn't, the federal government will. This is something our district is not afraid of, this is something our district looks forward to."

Another board member, Mary Andera, was of the same mind, set after attending a conference for "Parents Raising Educational Standards in Schools," with Lt. Governor Scott McCallum as the guest speaker.

"In looking through them (DPI Standards), they are ambiguous and vague at best, that's at best. They are so watered down, that it's impossible to assess whether you've met these standards," she asserted. She pointed out that the Virginia state standards, which are very specific, were heralded at the conference as the ideal model for other school districts.

"As I started looking through these standards, it occurred to me, this looks like our kid's program that we're already doing in Kewaskum." She told the board that this district has a lot to be proud of, as far as setting specific standards goes, and she did not fear state standards, as long as the district of Kewaskum can set higher ones. "We are basically setting the pace," she maintained.

The board indicated that they will continue to move ahead in this area of education, and that school standards and assessments will remain a hot topic of debate.

District Students Will Be Held Accountable for Their Grades

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

Students of the Kewaskum School District will be held accountable for their education, the school board announced at this month's regular board meeting. In other words, from now on they're going to have to prove they have really learned what they're supposed to be learning.

The idea of measuring accountability is part of the school district's new three part plan to put achievement test scores, and require students to measure up to their own abilities. In looking over last year's WSAS (Wisconsin Student Assessment System) test scores involving mandatory eighth and tenth grade testing, and voluntary fourth grade participation, results shown indicated Kewaskum students scored below state averages, and surrounding area school districts.

"After analyzing the test scores, it was the general feeling of the professional staff that some type of intervention was needed that involved student accountability," Curriculum Coordinator George Allmann stated, adding that the staff also believed the students were already capable of completing the objective.

The three part Accountability Measures plan includes: 1) The

Board Approves Football for KMS

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

Beginning next school year, seventh and eighth grade students will be able to participate in a full contact conference football program, with support from parents and community organizations.

The request was approved by the Kewaskum School Board at their regular monthly meeting, after several years of coaches and parents asking that the district initiate a program. Kewaskum schools are in competition with surrounding districts that already have a seventh and eighth grade football program, and as result, these schools have a definite advantage at the high school level, District Administrator Charles Johnson pointed out.

"I believe that any time we can offer co-curricular or extra curricular activities to students, we would be improving our attempt to provide a safe and drug free environment," Johnson told the board. The board allocated $3,200 to start up the football program, which will be self sustaining after the first year, paid for by a player fee, as well as contributions from local community groups, like the Kiwanis and the Booster Club. Parents have volunteered to run the program.

The Board was introduced to a visiting group of ninth and tenth grade students from the Schuler von Kathe Kollwitz Gesamtschule in Germany, as part of an exchange program between both schools. High School German teacher Terry Rosenthal stated that this was the fifth year Kewaskum has participated in the program with the German state of Hesse, matching students with host families.

In summer, Kewaskum students have the opportunity to stay with their host partners in Germany, and learn about their culture and school system. Herr Jochen Peter, who travels to Kewaskum each year as chaperone, thanked the Board for allowing this experience, and the staff, for being so helpful and open to the German students.

The board approved Rosenthal's request to send our students on the three week summer exchange program to Germany, at a cost of less than $1,200 per student.

The board will also be looking into the possibility of authorizing a ten day student trip to Germany, March 31 through April 9.

Although this German/History tour has not been taken since 1990, due to current involvement in the exchange program, Ms. Rosenthal felt that if enough students expressed an interest in going during the Easter break, it would be a beneficial learning experience for students in the district. The request was put on hold until more detailed information about the trip could be obtained.

Through recommendation from the Finance, Transportation, Buildings and Grounds committee, and per request from Food Service Supervisor Kathy Robinson, the board voted to increase temporary food service employee wages to $6.50 per hour, as well as the wages of temporary secretarial help, for those who have worked in the district for over two years. Substitute teacher pay was also increased to $67 per day, to stay in competition with the surrounding school districts, to be increased to $79 after five continuous days.

Other FTB & G committee business included the approval of a contract with Fischer Truck Service for snow plowing and removal; payment of the KMS emergency sewer repair bill, at a cost of $14,622; and a change in the district's Long Term Disability Insurance coverage, switching to Schools Insurance Fund, for a net savings to the district of

English Pastor Hosted by Peace Church

The Rev. Christopher Searle from England spent September 30-October 6 in the Kewaskum area with host members and Pastor James Bettin of Peace United Church of Christ. He represents an exchange informational pastor program of the Wisconsin Conference of the United Church of Christ. Kewaskum is part of the Southeast Association.

Hosted in the homes of the Dr. Stephen Van Ess family and James and Pat Reigle, Rev. Searle followed an agenda planned by Pastor Bettin. He spent a day at Cedar Lake UCC Campus for the elderly, where Bettin serves on the Board of Directors at West Bend.

He visited Lakeland College UCC Campus near Howards Grove, transported by Ray Skrentny of the Lakeland staff, who did university studies in London and still has relatives in England.

Wayland Tessar guided him on a walking tour of the Kettle Moraine State Forest area, and the Reigles toured with him in Door County. The Van Ess family hosted an Open House for Peace Church members wishing to meet Rev. Searle on October 1 in their home.

Scripture passages were read by Rev. Searle for the Worldwide Communion Service at Peace Church on October 6, with Pastor Bettin preaching and the Children's Choir, directed by Sherry McElhatton, singing.

He met many members personally at the coffee hour following the service. The visitor also had shared his experiences with Peace Church Confirmation students concerning his Christian service work in Thailand refugee camps with young adult volunteers from England. He described the horrors of churches burned, Christians killed, and families driven into exile by the invading Burmese army.

Rev. Searles serves four churches of the United Reformed Church in England. His home is in Tiverton, County of Devon, in southwest Britain. He was a registered nurse by profession in England before training for the Christian ministry.

His wife, a supervising nurse "Sister" and their six children were unable to accompany him on this exchange venture. His friendliness, sense of humor, and real dedication to Christian evangelism in Britain inspired all whose lives he touched in his week in the Kewaskum area.

The week following October 6 was spent in the Northeast Association, beginning with a retreat at Moon Beach UCC Camp at St. Germain.

$4,141.73, based on 1995-96 salaries.

The board and audience members were also introduced to the district's new Buildings and Grounds Superintendent, Chad Kyle, who arrived from California to take on the new position.

Accolades were in order for a variety of individuals as well as endeavors throughout the meeting. High School principal Larry Wilson highlighted a letter of recommendation received by KHS student Jennifer Hermann. Joining one million other college bound students throughout the nation, Hermann participated in the PSAT NMSQT (Preliminary SAT and National Merit School qualifying test.), and placed in the top 5% of all students who took the test.

School board member Jon Downs took a moment to recognize Larry Ammel for all the things he does for the schools, above and beyond the call of duty. "There's no question this district is a richer district for having Mr. Ammel here," board member Tom Timblin added. "He never asks for anything, he's so unassuming. We're lucky to have him."

Board member John Schulte put in a good word for fellow member, Neal Weare, who was chosen to serve on the WASB committee formed to develop some standards and assessment policies, which will be presented to regional meetings taking place throughout the state. Schulte said Weare was chosen as one of six committee members out of thousands of school board members from across the state.

High school student representative Jamie Gaffke reported on the success of Homecoming, due in part to great student participation and an abundance of school spirit.

Other positive accomplishments included the student council all night lock in, and the roundtable meetings with Principal Larry Wilson. A KHS high school student, Jeremy Hahn received the board's okay to enroll in post secondary education in advanced German, since he had exceeded German language four at the high school level.

On the flip side, audience member and parent Tom Cannestra asked the board to look into disciplinary problems involving the large KES fourth grade class. According to Cannestra, the teacher was spending more time disciplining students than should be required, and he had discussed the problem with principal Kieth Kriewaldt, but wanted the board to be aware of it.

Dr. Johnson reported that the annual audit, a state requirement, was in his view, uneventful. "The end result, I believe, a pretty solid year of management of the budget." The net effect was the district met its goals, and did not spend an approximate $200,000, which then went into a fund balance, he told the board.

Under new business, the board approved the contract for Curt Casetta, the Gifted and Talented/Public Relations Director, and payroll and accounts payable, in the amount of $1,185,856.72.

Letter to the Editor:

To: Whom It May Concern:

On Tuesday, night, Oct. 8, our home had a lot of Halloween decorations stolen off the lawn on Riverview Drive. This is very disappointing to have a small town like ours to steal from friends.

We feel there's a few honest people out to help solve this problem.

We're considering to discontinue our lawn decorations year round in the future. Seems a few people don't seem to appreciate it.

The entire eighth grade team should be proud of their individual accomplishments and team success for the season. Last year, as seventh graders, this team finished in third place. This year they worked hard and improved to become conference champions. Kewaskum's eighth grade team dual meet record was 5-0 this year.

Congratulations on a super season! Best wishes for success in the classroom and sports for the rest of the school year. To the eighth grade girls - plan on track at the high school for the spring of 1998! Be ready for the challenge.

The seventh grade girls track team also won the conference championship at the end of a great season. Their dual meet record was four wins and one loss. The conference relays were held in the middle of the season and Kewaskum won that as well.

The following are the individual placements in meet order at the conference championships for

The 800m relay team of Liz Rammer, Maria Cannestra, Nichole Fisher and Niki Dreher was second with 2:08; Lauren Schultz was the champion in the 400m dash with a spectacular time of 1:08.9 and Erica Kudek was sixth with 1:18.3.

In the 200m dash Liz Rammer took second at 31:05; the 1600m relay team of Becky Friedel, Kelly Jo Will, Erica Kudek and Lauren Schultz took third with 5:16.8.

Truly this was a team effort and an excellent end to a great season of hard work by talented athletes with positive attitudes.

The Kewaskum Middle School girls track coaches, Eric Christie and Jerry Gosa, wish both the seventh and eighth graders success in the classroom and in sports for the rest of the school year. The coaches would like to thank all the parents, teachers, Mr. Pearson, the KMS principal; and all the people who worked the dual meets and the conference meet, for their support of the girls track program.

District Students

 development of a high school proficiency exam; 2) Demand the completion of certain credit requirements per grade (beginning in ninth grade), and 3) Additional instruction required for students who fall below the 25% mark (roughly two grades below peers) as a composite on WSAS scoring.

According to Allmann, development heads will be working on a pilot proficiency test, with plans to try it out on senior students in April, 1997. Regular proficiency testing will begin next school year.

"The whole idea is for the student to get a sense of where they are," district administrator Dr. Charles Johnson told the board, although board member Neal Weare voiced his concern over the voluntary aspect of student testing.

"How many students, or parents of students are going to exercise their right to exempt?" Weare asked. "My sense of that is that isn't how most parents operate," Johnson answered. "These tests are positive things, they help the student," he indicated, and emphasized the need to keep the focus of the test on the resulting useful information for the student and their parents.

Board member Mary

Andera expressed that the district has a responsibility to provide students with some standards. "Sometimes you aren't helping a child to move them ahead. Sometimes you are doing them a favor by holding them back," she told the board.

Beginning in ninth grade, students will also be required to complete a certain number of credits each year, before they will be allowed to advance to the next grade, which may involve increasing credit requirements, Mr. Allmann explained.

The demand for certain credit requirements per grade level will force students to plan ahead, and account for their achievements throughout the four years of high school. Those who fall below the district's new requirements may be taking more courses offered in the summer school program.

Mushrooms Star In Quick Pasta Dish

(NAPS)—The following dish celebrates the easy elegance of two wonderful ingredients—fresh white mushrooms and pasta. Home cooks know that you can always count on mushrooms to add that extra panache to any dish, while pasta can form the base of endless simple satisfying meals.

Pasta With Fresh Mushrooms, Ham, Tomatoes and Artichokes is composed of bow tie pasta and a wonderfully chunky sauce that comes together in under 10 minutes. Earthy fresh mushrooms are sauteed along with pieces of smoky ham, convenient canned pasta tomatoes, jarred artichoke hearts and frozen peas. The result is an appealing riot of color, texture and flavors.

Mushrooms are easy to clean. Simply remove any clinging particles with a damp cloth or soft brush. Or, place them in a colander and rinse quickly with cold water, then pat dry with paper towel. The stem ends only need a trimming if they look dry.

Pasta With Fresh Mushrooms, Ham, Tomatoes And Artichokes

- 4 cups (about 8 ounces) bow tie pasta (farfalle), uncooked
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 2/3 cup diced onion
- 8 ounces fresh white mushrooms, sliced (about 3 cups) or a mixture of white

- and shiitake mushrooms
- 1 cup (about 4 ounces) diced cooked ham
- 1 can (14-1/2 ounces) chunky seasoned tomatoes for pasta
- 1 jar (6 ounces) marinated artichoke hearts, drained
- 1 cup frozen peas
- 1/2 cup ready-to-serve chicken broth
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

In a large saucepan cook pasta in salted water according to package directions. Drain and rinse under warm water; cover to keep warm. Meanwhile, in a large skillet over high heat, heat oil until hot. Add onion; cook, stirring occasionally, until translucent, 1 to 2 minutes. Add mushrooms and ham; cook, stirring frequently, 3 to 4 minutes. Stir in tomatoes, artichoke hearts, peas, chicken broth, salt and pepper; bring to a boil. To serve: In serving bowls place reserved pasta, ladle mushroom mixture over pasta; serve immediately.

Yield: 4 portions, 8 cups.

Holy Trinity Students Tour Holy Hill

The students of Holy Trinity's eighth grade went to Holy Hill to see how the Carmelite friars live and walk the stations of the Cross.

The students learned how the church was formed from a log cabin about 100 years ago, to now, a large church. The students also learned the history of the hill and about the replica of the grotto of St. Bernadette.

The students also admired the beautiful stained glass windows and the mosaic of St. Teresa of Avila.

Sun Finally Shines on ALL

It took seven years for Mother Nature to share her sunshine on all of the Kewaskum Kettle Kountry Kolors festival, but share it she did. The beautiful weather indeed contributed to the massive crowds shown above that could be seen throughout the park on both Saturday and Sunday. That, and the fact the Packers saw fit this year not to give us competition. It is estimated that River Hill Park saw nearly five thousand visitors this weekend and many food vendors ran out of food already on Saturday and had to scramble to food stores to stock up for Sunday's hungry festival attendees.

Seven was a very lucky number for Kewaskum's Jeanne Marchant. She was the lucky golfer that finally hit a hole in one during Hon-E-Kor's Hole-In-One Golf Contest. Hon-E-Kor has been running the contest throughout Kettle Koun-try's seven years, and never before has anyone hit the hole in one. Jeanne received a prize of $500 for her skill. Here's just another reason Jeanne remains a unique individual.

New to Kettle Kountry this year, was the exciting jumps of the parachutists on Sunday. You missed a fantastic show if you did not see these gentlemen drop out of the skies. Shown to the left is one of the four in mid-air.

Middle Eastern Ethnic Dance Troupe performed in front of the gazebo and in the beer garden.

X marks the spot and that is exactly where the parachutists landed.

Results of all Kettle Kountry Kompetitions, Sporting Events, Runs, Ticket Raffle Winners and more photos will be published in next week's issue.

Due to the large number of excellent photos shot, a special photo layout on the Buckskinners Encampment will also be published next week.

Thank You

L of Kettle Kountry Kolors

Chefs Dennis Kuehl, Lee Kempf and Moochie Kuehl grilled the steak for those yummy Chamber of Commerce steak sandwiches. I know a terrific joke about how many people it takes to pop popcorn, but I think I'll keep it to myself or I'll be the griller next year.

A member of the Kewaskum Sno Chiefs keeps flipping pancakes as fast as the crowd could put them away.

Crowds packed the beer garden to watch the Italian Ethnic Dancers perform on Sunday.

Cole Roberts and Dad, Wade, partake of the pancake breakfast on Sunday morning. Cole said, "Try the pancakes Dad... they're GOOD!" Remember Wade you have to keep up your strength for those midnight feedings.

Former Postmaster Bonnie Eldredge picked up another item of Packer memorabilia to add to her collection at one of the craft booths at Kettle Kountry Kolors.

The "mouth behind the microphone" all weekend was Andrew Kuehl, Kewaskum's version of Reichman and Miller. Needless to say, Andrew was pretty quiet by Sunday evening if you can believe that!

Life's Conundrums

by A.Mi

I am sharing my feelings, and strong they are, with you because perhaps you can help me understand the human - world - folk a little better!

I am a squirrel. A gray squirrel, that is, and I reside in Butternut Grove just off super Highway 41 in Washington County. I have been saddened today because my dear Aunt Louise was just run over by one of those highway speed demons. I cannot believe the cruelty we animals must endure at the hands of men and women who profess to be "made in the image of the Divine."

For a while, a really short while, things improved for us. We had a few hours of liberation, after the erection of signs stating a fifty-five mile an hour speed limit was being mandated for the highway occupants. But each day thereafter things grew worse and worse for it seems that NO ONE believed in the mandated limit. Anyone fine enough to keep it was readily passed. And those hired to see that folks KEEP WITHIN THE LAW some how or other did not seem to care. Fifty five mile an hour wheels are moving fast, but we really could manage counting on a bit of luck. Then they ups and raises the limit to sixty-five...and wouldn't you know it, now those fine enough to keep that speed also ARE being PASSED by the seventy and eighty mile an hour speedsters; and as before, those hired to see that the folk-laws ARE to be kept just do not seem to care.

Even our deer friends are not able to cope with this new set of unkept rules and they can outrun even the fastest of the fastest grey squirrels. So if you can explain away this conundrum, surely you will make the squirrels of the world a happy lot. And perhaps, then, we will better understand our human neighbors. Now, please forgive me, I have to help with the laying to rest of our kind Aunt Louise.

Instead of being paid a salary, Jack Nicholson chose to receive a percentage of the profits made by the Warner Brothers' film Batman. By 1994, Nicholson, who played the Joker in the film, was laughing all the way to the bank with earnings of over $60 million.

IN MEMORY

In memory of MICHAEL STERN, who passed away thirteen years ago, October 18, 1983:

We think of you in silence
And often say your name
answer us
Is your picture in a frame
We often look at your picture
And your smile seems to say
"Don't grieve for me, I'm only resting.
And you'll see me some day."

Girls Cross Country Team Places Sixth at Cougar Invite

Paced by the strong efforts of Marni Lynn and Carol Neumann, the Kewaskum High School girls cross country team placed sixth at the eleven team Cougar Invitational last Thursday in Campbellsport.

Three members of the team were able to post personal best times for the season. Marni Lynn, coming back from an illness, led the team with an eighth place finish with a personal best time of 16:13.

Carol Neumann, nipping at Marni's heels, placed ninth with a time of 16:17. Another personal best was run by Emma Chambers with a time of 18:40 for 44th place, followed by Jenny Jagielski in 21:00, a personal best for 68th place. Competing in her first race for the team, frosh Michelle David Mertz, left, rounds the flag, as he begins to overtake a runner from Shoreland.

KMS Cross Country Runners Compete in Final Meet

Paced by seventh grader Josh Repovsch with a time of 13:45, the Kewaskum Middle School harriers finished up their season on Thursday at the Cougar Invitational in Campbellsport.

Next in line, with a personal best for the 3200 meter course, was Brian Wall in 14:47 for eighth place, and Darrell Waubbeking with 15:03 for 10th place.

Colleen Gosa battled to an 11th place finish in 15:05, followed by Tony Keeley in 15:33 for 14th place, and Andrew Lickel with 16:18 for 17th place.

Another personal best was run by Mike McKee in 17:20 for 19th place and Adam Waubbeking with 17:22 for 20th place.

"I'm very pleased with the improvements that these runners made over the season," said Coach Drexler. "It takes a lot of determination to do what these young runners have done."

Zingsheim posted a 21:45, good for 73rd place.

The boys team was short one runner because of injuries, however, individually, each ran close to their personal bests. Henrik Lorenz had a 20:23 time, good for 54th place, followed by Danny Wall, 20:42 for 56th, David Mertz, 21:30 for 65th and Chris Weninger, 22:27 for 74th.

"The cooler weather had some effect on the runners today," said Coach Drexler. "We haven't had any days of practice when it has been cold to allow for the muscles and the breathing to adjust."

The next cross country meet is Friday, October 18, when Kewaskum will be hosting the Eastern Wisconsin Conference Cross Country Championships at the Hon-E-Kor golf course. Starting time will be 4 p.m.

Holy Trinity Eighth Graders Visit Riveredge Center

The eighth graders at Holy Trinity School traveled to Riveredge to examine the quality of water. They went above and below the Newburg Dam to see if there was a difference in water quality.

They found that below the dam there were more living organisms, more oxygen in the water, clearer water, and faster moving water even though it was more shallow. They worked in cooperative groups and found crayfish, mayfly nymphs, leeches, fresh water clams, and other aquatic organisms.

Above the dam, the water was dark and hard to see through. They mostly found frogs and crayfish. There were not many other living aquatic organisms. The water pressure, they found, was much greater than they expected. The undertow of the river was strong and they were not allowed out past their knees.

The eighth graders had a great time, even though some of them didn't like their river friends.

Steroids Are For Losers

(NAPS)—An increasing number of high school athletes, mostly boys, are turning to anabolic steroids to improve their performance on the field or just to "beef up." In college, steroid abuse is even more prevalent.

Pathologists, doctors who treat patients through laboratory medicine, say that steroids can build muscles, but they often cause a cascade of physical and emotional side effects, including baldness, acne, swollen breasts, or shrunken testicles. Users may experience symptoms ranging from nausea to violent mood swings, to the development of blood filled cysts that can be life-threatening.

Athletes who get caught using steroids can lose their eligibility for future sports and have awards they won in previous competitions taken away.

Steroids are derivatives of testosterone, a natural male hormone. While some types of steroids may be prescribed by physicians for specific illnesses, the type found on the street or in locker rooms— anabolic steroids—is illegal and dangerous.

According to pathologists, signs of anabolic steroid use may include:

- Rapid muscle and weight gain
- Puffiness or bloating, especially in the face
- Behavioral changes, including aggressiveness, exaggerated mood swings, and uncontrollable anger
- Hyperactivity, insomnia, or irritability
- Rapid onset of severe acne
- Preoccupation with body image

Athletes who use steroids won't ever be sure if they are really the best...they will only be sure that they have risked their health and possibly their lives.

For more information about anabolic steroids, call the College of American Pathologists at 1-800-LAB-5678.

This Saturday, October 19, will be Stefanie Brettingen's last flag football game in Kewaskum.

Stefanie was the first girl to play in the Kewaskum Flag Football League. She has played all three years with the Cowboys. In her three years, she has played every position on defense and offense besides playing on the kicking and punting teams. She also was the first girl to ever play quarterback in the league. Stefanie has played under her dad the last two seasons.

Next season, she will be helping coach the Cowboys offense and she hopes to be a head coach in the league in the future.

Stefanie is in the eighth grade at Kewaskum Middle School.

KMS Girls Track Teams Win Conference Championship

Kewaskum eighth graders Tina Lindgren handing off to Amber Averill during the 800m relay that Kewaskum won in 2:01.8.

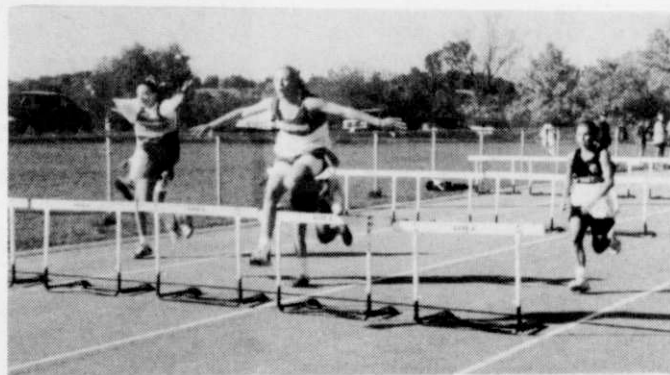

Kewaskum's Heather Rieder winning and setting a new conference and school record in the 400m dash in 1:05.9.

Kewaskum's eighth grader, Colleen Gosa, wins the eighth grade 1600m and sets a new school record with a time of 6:19.1.

Sarah Williams of the Kewaskum eighth grade team wins the high jump with a jump of 4'8".

Emmy Foerster of the Kewaskum eighth grade winning the 75m hurdles at the conference meet in 13.5.

Kewaskum's eighth grader Jody Wichtoski long jumping 13'6 1/2" at the Conference track meet.

The competition was tough Tuesday night, October 8, at the Kewaskum track, but the individual host school's track teams won out in the Moraine Conference Track Championships. The seventh grade team might have had a little easier time winning their championship, but the eighth grade team rallied in the running events to also become conference champions.

For the Kewaskum eighth grade team, every point counted. Kewaskum edged Slinger 104 to 103 to win the conference meet. For Slinger's eighth grade it was their second year in a row to finish runner-up.

Last year, as seventh graders, they finished second to Pewaukee, who placed third this year with 83 points. Placing fourth was Germantown with 70.5, Waupun fifth with 24 and Hartford sixth with 15.5 points.

"We knew that it would be between Kewaskum, Slinger and Pewaukee for the championship," commented Coach Jerry Gosa.

Kewaskum had edged Pewaukee by one point in the first dual meet of the season and then edged Slinger in the last dual meet of the season by beating them in the 1600m relay. Not to be forgotten was the fact that Pewaukee had won the Conference Relays with Kewaskum and Slinger finishing second and third respectively.

After the points for the four field events were totaled, Kewaskum was in fourth place with 16 points and Slinger was in first place with 32 points. "I actually told the girls after the field events that they were the best team in the conference in the next nine running events," reported Coach Gosa. Little did he know that each of his athletes would run their personal best and that Kewaskum would win seven out of those nine events!

Without other athletes placing, those seven wins would not have been enough points to defeat Slinger. Unsung athletes like Sherry Maul ran a personal best and won her heat of the 200m dash and picked up four points by placing fourth overall.

Amber Averill ran in the winning 800m relay and then ran very well, all on guts, in the very next event, the 400m dash, and picked up two badly needed points by finishing fifth. Jacki Broecker and Joyce Wagner, gave 100% effort and placed third and fourth respectively in the 800m run and picked up a total of 10 points equaling the 10 points Slinger got by winning the event.

In the next event, the 200m dash, Kewaskum's Tina Lindgren ran a personal best and edged out a first place finish for another 10 points for Kewaskum. With only one event to go, the 1600m relay, Slinger led 95 to 94 over Kewaskum.

Kewaskum needed to place ahead of Slinger to win the conference title. Only four days earlier, Kewaskum had beaten Slinger's 1600m relay team by one second, 4:44.5 to 4:45.5. Kewaskum was up to the task as they won the 1600m relay in 4:47.9 and Slinger finished second in 4:59.7.

All the scores were checked and rechecked and then the team totals were read and the Kewaskum girls eighth grade team had won the Conference Championship. "This conference championship was definitely a team victory," stated a very happy Coach Gosa.

Placing for the Kewaskum eighth grade girls conference champions were the following individuals, their place, event, time or distance:

Sarah Williams - first place and Conference Champion for the second year in a row in the high jump with a jump of 4'8" and fifth place in the 100m dash with a time of 14.7. Sarah set the school record in the high jump earlier in the season with a jump of 4'11".

Panthers Attack Indians

It was Plymouth's Homecoming game and the Panthers were everything they were billed to be, as they played host to the Kewaskum Indians last Friday night.

Plymouth has not lost a conference game in the last three seasons and were 3-0 this season. The Indians were 2-1 entering this contest but knew they would need to be at full strength to beat the talented Panthers.

Things did not work out that way however, as starting right tackle Mike Danielson was absent from school due to an illness, and did not play, and running back Eric Kopecky, who is nursing several leg injuries, did not play on defense or special teams.

Early in the first half, there was more bad news for head coach Perry Koth, as one of their two big play receivers, Ryan Rammer, left the game with a pulled hip flexor. Rammer is also a key defensive back and the leading punt and kickoff returner.

Kewaskum has also been without their defensive coordinator Randy Westerman for over three weeks now, and that has hurt the improvement of the defensive personnel.

The Indians fell behind 14-0 by the end of the first quarter, but managed to score an early second quarter touchdown when Kevin Martin snuck the ball in from the one, to make it a 14-6 (Cotters kick was wide left) game. It looked like the Indians were going to give the Panthers all they could handle, but on their first play from scrimmage after the touchdown, Nick Mueller (6'2", 230 lb. tailback) raced 84 yards for a touchdown, for a 21-6 lead.

The score seemed to break the spirit of the Indian defense as they gave up two more scores before the half for a 34-6 Panther lead.

The start of the third quarter saw the Indians recover a Panther fumble at the 35 yard line. After a long pass to senior Dan Jeserig put the ball inside the ten yard line, junior Tim Vetter scored from the one for the Indians only other score of the night. The Panthers managed three more TD's for a final score of 54-12.

"It was the poorest we've played this year," said Coach Koth. "Our tackling was terrible...we just did not execute the fundamentals of the game." Koth also cited the out of season weight lifting program that Plymouth has, as a major reason for the lopsided defeat.

"They have excellent facilities for their athletes to work out and lift in during the year, probably four times the amount of equipment that we have right now. They are a much stronger team than we are and that really makes it tough."

But Koth also added that, "It would not have mattered who we were playing, when you don't catch the ball, tackle or block, you are not going to beat anybody. We need to find out who wants to play this week."

The Panthers rushed for 382 yards and passed for 110, while Kewaskum had 86 passing and 66 rushing. Dan Jeserig led the teams in receptions with five catches for 41 yards, while Kevin Martin rushed five times for 44 yards.

The Indians host the New Holstein Huskies (2-2) on Friday for parents' night with kickoff scheduled for 7 p.m. and this game is a must win for both teams. The winner will stay alive for a play-off berth, a 4-2 conference record automatically qualifies a team for the playoffs, while the loser will be forced to win their last game and then hope they qualify with a .500 record. Koth promised his team would play at a higher level this week.
